Postage Stamps to Commemorate Founding of Jamestown will be Issued Next Week

Danville, Ind., has three licensed saloons, the first in 48 years.

The peach crop and the peek-a-boo shirt waist have had a set back in the recent cold snap.

The fine new Methodist church at Sandwich was dedicated last week and subscriptions were received sufficient to cover all indebtedness.

It is announced that the DeKalb Daily News has suspended publication. The paper was launched in October last and lived six months.

At the Woodman convention in Rockford, Beloit was chosen as the place for holding the picnic next year. The date of this year's picnic is June 6.

The Hampshire Register states that there are a less number of votes in that village now than there were ten years ago when 215 was considered a field poll.

A model and finely equipped bottling plant is to be erected north of the east side factory at Elgin, adjoining the Borden Condensing company at the cost of approximately $100,000.

A Kansas man sent the following testimonial to a patent medicine company: "Dear Sir—My wife took a bottle of your medicine and died. I am married again; please send me another bottle."

Hon C. H. Backus was elected president, A. Reid vice president and C. S. Backus cashier of the State bank of Hampshire at the first annual meeting of the directors. A dividend of 6 per cent was declared.

Saloons are to be banished from the university communities of Champaign and Urbana as a result of the municipal elections. Both towns are slated to go dry on May 1. The anti-saloon proposition won out by a majority of 79 votes in Champaign.

The Postoffice department has informed the postmasters throughout the country that the special series of stamps to commemorate the founding of Jamestown will be issued beginning next Monday for sale to the public during the term of the Jamestown exposition from April 26 to Nov. 30, 1907.

Farm values in Ogle county still keep soaring. George Schabaker has sold his 200 acre farm west of Rochelle to the Hohenadel-Stocking Company of that city for the high price of $188 per acre. Mr. Schabaker in return purchased the 160 acre Dean farm in the same vicinity for $150 per acre.

The horses in Sterling are affected with a disease similar to pneumonia and many of them are dying. If the disease is taken in hand in the start, a cure can be effected, but let run nothing can be done to relieve the animal. One of the veterinary surgeons of that city said that the disease is contagious and seems to be spreading at a lively rate.

Evangelist Milford Lyon, who has made a signal success of his meetings just closed at DeKalb, has been engaged to hold a series of meetings at Sycamore. Mr. Lyon's engagement in Sycamore begins September 8 and continues for four weeks. This was the first open date and the committee selected this in preference to next February, which was the next available date.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Rev. Loomis Springs Surprise on Friends Everywhere

The marriage of Rev. W. T. Loomis was as much of a surprise to his friends at Hamburg, Iowa, as it was here. The ceremony took place at the M. E. parsonage at Sidney, Iowa, Saturday, April 14, the bride being Miss Minnie Brown.

Regarding the event the Hamburg Republican says in part:

This marriage which unites the lives of these two well known and popular young people came as a surprise to their many friends, who though suspecting such ultimate intentions on the part of the contracting parties, dreamed not of its immediate occurrence.

"The bride is a popular and successful teacher in our public schools where she has been continuously employed for several years. The queenly grace and dignity with which she has presided over the destinies of her school room are evidence of her fitness to do her part in establishing a home with the man with whom she has plighted her vows. She has lived here all her life and possesses an amiable disposition which has made the multitude her friends. She has departed herself with conscientious devotion to duty and strict compliance of the dictates of established propriety. She enters upon her new life voyage with cordial good wishes for a balmy sail and a stormless destiny.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Loomis, who moved from here to Monticello, Minn., in February, and he is a brother of Mrs. H. A. Nobie, of this place. For the past three years he has been attending school at the Advent Christian Seminary at Mendota, Ill., preparing himself for the work of the ministry in that church. For the last few weeks he has been pastor in charge of the church of his choice at Genoa, Ill., where he goes to prepare a home for his bride. He will remain here this week and then return to his work while the bride will continue her duties as teacher to the end of the present year, when she will join him at Monticello.

"Mr. and Mrs. Loomis went to Omaha Monday and returned Monday evening. An impromptu reception was prepared for them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Smalley."

Her Birthday

On Saturday, April 20, the uncles, aunts and cousins of Miss Jessie Griggs surprised her at her home reminding her that it was her fourteenth birthday. They took with them well-filled baskets with all the good things one could wish and proceeding to make themselves at home soon had dinner, followed by a good social time. Miss Jessie was presented with a fine Roman gold bracelet, a beautiful bouquet of carnations besides some smaller gifts as tokens of love and esteem. Those present were E. H. Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Corson and three children, Zada, John and Maynard; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patterson and two sons, Dillon and Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Patterson and two daughters, Irene and Evelyn; Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, Mrs. Abbie Patterson, Floyd Stephens, Guyla Corson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Clark of Mayfield, will leave Sycamore next Monday and will sail from New York on the Roumania the following Saturday for Rome, Italy, where they will attend the International Sunday school convention. They will visit Mr. Clark's relatives in England and tour that country, and will visit the Madeira islands and other points of interest before returning.—True Republican.

TEAM IS ORGANIZED

GENOA WHITE SOX LEASE GROUNDS FOR SEASON

GEORGE EVANS MANAGER

First Game on Home Grounds to be Played Saturday, May 4—McHenry Sunday

Genoa will have a regular team of base ball players this season in the reorganized White Sox with Geo. Evans as manager. A permanent organization has been effected and Mr. Evans is now making up his schedule for the season. The old grounds have been leased and a new grand stand will be erected this week. Next Sunday the Sox will go to McHenry to play the initial game of the season. On Saturday, May 4, the first game on the home grounds will be played, the Elgin Circles being the team that will appear for a trimming. An effort will be made to make the White Sox a strong team. If it is seen from the start that the manager intends to put men into the game for their playing qualities, and keeps a good man when he gets him, the fans will surely fall in and support the team.

GENOA HIGHS WIN

Take the Sycamores into Camp by Score of 7 to 5

The Genoa high school base ball team won its first game at Sycamore last Saturday, the score being 7 to 5. The Genoa lads put up a good game considering the limited opportunities of putting in practice owing to cold weather. Claude Senska gives promise of pitching his team to several victories this spring and his support will be gilt edge. No regular score of the game was recorded, however we give below the line-up of the Genoa team, runs hits and errors:

America Needs Mothers

The most powerful factor today in the upbuilding of society is the mother. The men who are doing the world's work are largely what they are through the goodly teachings and spotless lives of their mothers. The potent influence in bringing men back from sin and ruin to a life of virtue and service is that of mother. When all other reformatory agencies have failed, the love of a mother has come in to transform a life. The need of America is mothers. We can dispense with the females whose only ambition is to win the smiles of society, to dress, to dine, to attend clubs and nurse poodle dogs. But of virtuous, industrious, intelligent mothers there is not one to spare. The mother is the homemaker, and the nation is what the home is.—Rev. Orrin R. Jenks, Advent Christian church.

Scholarships

I have on file in my office several circulars from the University of Illinois and the State Normal, stating how general assembly scholarships, county scholarships and scholarships in agriculture and household science and in Ceramics may be obtained by pupils desiring to take the examinations for same. Anyone interested in this matter may call upon me or write to me regarding same and I shall take pleasure in giving them full information.

Very truly,

W. W. COULTAS, Co. Supt.

Mrs. Olinger

The body of Mrs. Olinger, who died at a hospital in Rockford last week, was brought to Genoa for interment last Friday. Funeral services were held at the Lutheran church, Rev. Molthan officiating. Mrs. Olinger is survived by her husband and two sons, aged three and five years.

Sells Building

Geo. W. Johnson on Tuesday sold his building at the corner of Main and Genoa streets to A. E. Pickett, the consideration being $3,500. Mr. Pickett will take possession of the new quarters about the fifteenth of May. He intends to open a first-class restaurant in connection with his candy and tobacco business. Johnson & Marquart, who now occupy the building as a barber shop, will move into the building to be vacated by Mr. Pickett.

STRONGLY ENDORSED

POLICY OF PRESENT BOARD OF EDUCATION

PEOPLE DON'T WANT CHANGE

Three Hundred Eighty-nine Votes Cast at the School Election Last Saturday

The result of the school election last Saturday is nothing more or less than a strong endorsement of the policy of the present board of education, the old members being re-elected by an avalanche of votes. Following is the detailed result, showing the votes for each candidate on the straight ballot, split tickets and totals:

FOR PRESIDENT			Total
	Straight	Split
A. G. Stewart.....	252	13	265
John Hadsall.....	78	10	94
FOR MEMBERS			Total
H. A. Perkins.....	252	13	265
A. L. Holroyd.....	252	13	265
H. Olmstead.....	78	18	96
S. S. Slater.....	78	8	86

Those voters who cast their ballots for the Stewart ticket knew when they did so that it was an indorsement of the present excellent condition of the school and of the way in which it is conducted. It was known that the members whose term expired desire to keep the present superintendent if possible and this fact was sufficient to cause action on the part of the voters.

It was the warmest school election in Genoa for years and aroused the interest of persons in all walks of life. The women turned out 142 strong, being conveyed to the polls in autos, hacks and carriages.

An Honorable Record

Marengo can without doubt lay claim to having the oldest assessor in point of continuous years' service of any like official in the state. Geo. D. Beldin, who is now taking the assessment in that town, has held the office over forty years, and each year when the voters come to decide who they shall have to fill the assessor's office they are unanimously for Mr. Beldin. It is also claimed that Mr. Beldin's father held the office before him for a life time almost and that the town of Marengo has never had but two assessors, both of whom have been Beldins—the father and son. A situation of this kind is hard to find anywhere in the state.—Harvard Herald.

JAMESTOWN FAIR WILL OPEN FRIDAY

MANY OF ITS FINE BUILDINGS, HOWEVER, ARE NOT COMPLETED.

Clearing the Grounds—Naval Display in Hampton Roads Will Be Greater Than Has Ever Before Been Attempted.

Norfolk, Va., April 22.—Despite the efforts of a corps of energetic, efficient, painstaking officials and thousands of carpenters, masons, cement walk builders and landscape gardeners, the Jamestown ter-centennial exposition will be opened this week unready.

Many of the magnificent structures that are to house domestic and foreign commercial exhibits and shelter the achievements of the industrial arts are incomplete. Yet while this is acknowledged by the directors of the exposition with keen regret, the sum of what has been done, as compared with the unfinished work, forms a result of which they are justly proud.

In the beauty of the water show, with its amazing gathering of foreign fleets representing the most formidable types of naval fighting machines of nearly every power of the world, and in an opening program with President Roosevelt in the leading role, with diplomatic, military and naval representatives of great and small foreign nations participating, the public will have its recompense. So vast and complete is this program that exposition visitors will not have time to take notice of the unfinished state of the buildings and grounds.

One Reason for Delay. The grounds and building at the exposition are about 80 per cent. finished. No exposition ever before has presented such a permanent appearance, and this in a great measure is responsible for the delay. Several of the most important buildings are built solidly of brick, cement and iron, and these are intended to remain on the grounds as a nucleus of a great park.

The exterior of most of the buildings will be ready when the exposition is formally opened on Friday next. The unfinished state that annoys the eye at the present time is due almost wholly to unsightly debris of all kinds which with the exposition grounds are strewn. No effort has yet been made to clear away surplus building material, but hundreds of wagons and men will be engaged Monday and continue through the succeeding days and nights until Friday, when assurance is given that there will not remain a trace of unnecessary debris.

Great Naval Display. The state buildings have been grouped along the historic shore of Hampton Roads, and they command an excellent view of the navies of the world. It is this great naval display that will prove the crowning glory of the exposition. Nothing like it has ever before been attempted. There have been gatherings of fleets before, but not on such a tremendous scale as will be accomplished here. In fact, there are few harbors in the world that could accommodate so large an assemblage of warships.

It is expected that the vessels will attract world-wide attention, for the fleets will number, in addition to several of the best types of each of the foreign naval powers, the Atlantic fleet of the United States navy under command of Rear Admiral Evans, which is conceded to be the finest organization of fighting machines afloat. This fleet is already anchored in Hampton Roads, but the ships have taken the positions furthest from the water front, in order to give the commanding locations to the foreign visitors.

STARTS FOR PEACE CONFERENCE. Gen. Porter, Delegate to The Hague, Sails for Europe.

New York, April 23.—Gen. Horace Porter, of New York, is the first of the United States delegates to The Hague conference to leave for Europe. Gen. Porter sailed Monday on the Kronprinz Wilhelm. After visiting his daughter in Switzerland and making an automobile trip, he will proceed to The Hague for the sessions beginning June 15. The other American delegates and the technical staff will sail so as to assemble at The Hague shortly before the day of opening.

Santo Domingo, Republic of San Domingo, April 23.—Congress Monday authorized the government to accept the invitation to send a delegation to the second peace conference at The Hague and Francisco Henriquez Carvajal and Apollinar Tejera were appointed to represent San Domingo at the conference.

M. J. Oppenheimer Falls Dead. Baltimore, Md., April 22.—During the progress of the annual meeting of the board of directors of the Hebrew Orphan asylum Sunday afternoon the president, Moses J. Oppenheimer, began to read his annual report. He had finished the first page, when he suddenly fell dead, a victim of heart disease. At the meeting interrupted by his death he was to have been re-elected president of the institution for the eighth term. Mr. Oppenheimer, who was 65 years old, was the head of a prominent firm of wholesale jewelers.

Former President Loubet of France complains that the people of that country have forgotten him. It is evident that he finds it impossible to get any of the magazines to publish his articles on fishing.

TOLEDO TRUSTS HARD HIT

MEN AND CONCERNS IN BUILDING TRADES ARE INDICTED.

Leaders in the Business and Financial Circles of City Accused of Conspiracy.

Toledo, O., April 22.—The grand jury's investigation into the alleged trusts blamed for the increased cost of building operations and high rents in Toledo resulted Saturday in the return of 245 indictments against 93 leading business men and the following combinations: Toledo Master Plumbers' association, Toledo Brick Supply company, Toledo Lumberman's bureau of credit, National Supply company and Toledo Supply company.

The indictments charge conspiracy in restraint of trade. The wide scope of the investigation and the great number of persons accused make the grand jury's report more sensational than the ice trust indictments. Some of the men named in the indictments are among the most prominent business men in the city. Several of them are not actively engaged in the businesses which have been under investigation, but are interested indirectly and are included in the charges made against the firms.

In the list of lumbermen and brick men indicted are the names of men high in local financial circles. The head of the local lumber trust is said to be the Toledo Lumbermen's Credit association, with offices in the Spitzer building. This trust is alleged to have had complete control of the lumber market, raising the prices when it saw fit and compelling outside concern to sell only to them, making it impossible for the independent dealer to get material outside the trust.

The Toledo Brick Supply company, alleged to be an illegal combination of brick manufacturers in restraint of trade, is declared to have been organized for the purpose of controlling the price of the product of local brick manufacturers. Since the passage of the Valentine anti-trust law it has changed its form, but Prosecutor Wachenheimer expects to show that it has continued to monopolize the local brick business.

Another Marvin Clew Fails. Lad at Groversville, N. Y., Is Not the Kidnaped Boy.

Groversville, N. Y., April 22.—Myles Standish, a nephew of Dr. H. M. Marvin, of Dover, Del., father of Horace Marvin, Jr., the kidnaped child, arrived in Groversville Sunday morning to see the child held here on suspicion that he is the kidnaped Marvin boy.

Mr. Standish went at once to the place where the boy was stopping with the woman alleged to be the wife of Al H. Allen, the suspected kidnaper, and saw the child. He made a minute examination of the lad, romped and played with him for half an hour before he became thoroughly convinced that the boy was not Horace Marvin, and so announced to Chief Smith, who accompanied him.

Riot in an Ohio Church. Followers of Factions Exchange Blows and Women Faint.

Portsmouth, O., April 22.—A faction opposing their pastor, Rev. Freeman Chase, made an attempt to depose him and hold services with another minister, causing a riot in the Free Will Baptist church here Sunday. The followers of the different factions came to blows, women fainted and others fled screaming into the streets. When the police authorities were appealed to they refused to interfere.

Order was finally restored by the new minister and elders withdrawing. A majority of the church officers are opposed to Chase, who has withdrawn from the conference and has been conducting the church independently.

P. J. Kennedy's Body Found. Theatrical Manager Drowned Himself, as He Threatened.

New York, April 22.—The body of Peter J. Kennedy, a well-known theatrical manager, who disappeared in December last, was found in the water Sunday night off South Brooklyn.

Mr. Kennedy disappeared December 28. His hat and overcoat were found on a ferryboat which landed at Thirtieth street, South Brooklyn, from the Battery, Manhattan. The same night Mrs. Kennedy received a special delivery letter from her husband in which he stated he was about to drown himself.

Fixes Bond for Lawbreakers. Toledo, O., April 23.—Judge Morris Monday morning fixed a bond of $250 for each of the men indicted by the grand jury Saturday for violations of the Valentine law. The bonds cover all indictments returned against each individual. The report of the grand jury caused a tremendous upheaval in the lines of trade affected.

Terrorists Kill in Battle. Warsaw, April 23.—Armed Terrorists made an attack on soldiers and police officers, killing one policeman and two soldiers. All the terrorists escaped.

"LORD BARRINGTON" TO DIE FOR CRIME

"LORD BARRINGTON" TO DIE FOR CRIME

FEDERAL SUPREME COURT DECIDES AGAINST FREDERICK SEYMOUR.

He slew James P. McCann—Prisoner, Who Claimed an English Title, Greatly Depressed by the News That He Must Hang.

Washington, April 23.—In an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller, the supreme court of the United States Monday dismissed the case of Frederick Seymour, alias "Lord Barrington," under sentence of death in St. Louis for the murder of James P. McCann in June, 1903, thus affirming the decision of the supreme court of Missouri and sustaining the verdict of guilty returned by the trial court.

This case has been before the public for several years, and has attracted great attention, largely because of Barrington's pretense of bearing an English title, under which shortly before the tragedy with which his name is connected he married a young woman of good family residing in Kansas City.

Made a Hard Fight. Barrington made a vigorous fight in the St. Louis courts, contending that his conviction was the result of prejudice and that the charge was not sustained by proof. When the Missouri supreme court decided against him he brought the case to the federal supreme court on a writ of error, contending that his trial had not been fair.

Prisoner is Depressed. St. Louis, April 23.—When the information concerning the United States supreme court's decision, sustaining the verdict of guilty of the murder of James McCann rendered by the trial court, was conveyed to "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington, who is confined in the county jail at Clayton, Barrington was apparently greatly depressed but endeavored to conceal his feelings.

"I expected the decision Monday," he said, "and I had a feeling that the ruling of the court would be against me. As I see it, there is nothing left but the fixing of the date of execution by the Missouri supreme court. The United States supreme court passed only on a question of jurisdiction. It seems hard that a man's life should be taken away on a mere technicality like that."

Prosecuting Attorney Johnston of St. Louis said: "As soon as the mandate of the United States supreme court is placed on record here, the state supreme court will fix the date of the execution. That is all that remains to be done."

AMERICA LOSES AND WINS. Two Big International Prize Fights at London, England.

London, April 23.—The announcement of two big international contests attracted a great crowd to the National Sporting club Monday night. The first fight was between Owen Moran, of Birmingham, and Albert Delmont, of Boston, 20 rounds, for the bantam championship of the world and a purse of $2,000. Moran was a warm favorite in the betting and proved the winner on points, but only after the fight had gone the full 20 rounds.

The second contest was between Sam Langford, an American, and "Tiger" Smith, a Welsh fighter, 20 rounds, for the middleweight championship of the world and a purse of $2,000. Langford was victorious in the fourth round.

Russian Priest is Wounded. Tambov, Russia, April 23.—Father Simeon, rector of the Ecclesiastical seminary here, was shot and seriously wounded. The seminary was recently closed as the result of political disorders and it is thought that the would-be assassin is an ex-student.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Fire destroyed a large part of the native quarter of Manila. Four children of John H. Green were burned to death at Fulton, Ky. Secretary of War Taft and party returned to Washington from their Caribbean trip.

Sir George Armstrong, proprietor of the London Globe, died at his residence in London. The vice governor of the prison at Rostor-on-Don, Russia, was assassinated in the street.

Fruit in eastern Colorado was nipped by a sharp drop in temperature following a snowstorm. Paris is menaced by a small famine, due to a scarcity in the department of Yonne, the principal source.

Samuel Conkle, was arrested at Chester, W. Va., charged with selling tickets of a Mexican lottery. The British torpedo boat Ariel struck a breakwater at Valetta, Malta, and sank, one man being drowned.

William Sandler, a student at Columbia university, was drowned in the swimming pool of the gymnasium. Two trainmen were killed by a collision between a passenger train and a freight at Woodlawn Junction, Ala.

Thomas W. Bishop, one of the best-known newspaper men in South Dakota, died of paralysis at Salem, S. D. M. Pak Yong Wha, chief of the board of auditors of the imperial Korean household, was assassinated at Seoul.

William T. Havens, messenger of the Independent Packing company of Chicago, disappeared with $7,000 given him to deposit. A Minnesota senate committee valued the railroad property in that state at $215,000,000 and said the roads earned 18 per cent. on that basis.

Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana, lost papers worth $300,000 in an accident in the Las Animas river, near Trinidad, Col., when he fell into the stream. Edward L. Somers, freight traffic manager of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad since 1903, died at his home in New Haven, Conn., of neuralgia of the heart.

Rev. Leroy A. Belt, D. D., aged 71, ex-president of the Ohio Northern university and prominent in the Methodist church, died at his home in Kenton, O., of heart disease. Several thousand skilled workmen who had been discharged from the arsenal at Woolwich, England, marched to London and protested to the premier and war secretary.

William T. Davidson, an actor who tried to kill Miss Rosalie D. Wilbert, a trained nurse, when she refused to marry him, was sentenced in New York to one year in jail. The entire plant of the Seacoast Canning company, leased to the American Can company of New York, at North Lubec, Me., was burned. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

The Chinese government has ordered 2,000,000 rifles through a German firm in Shanghai, with the object of arming the troops throughout the empire with the same type of weapon. The temperature at El Paso, Tex., fell to 32 degrees and heavy frost covered everything, doing much damage to gardens and fruit. It was the coldest April weather in El Paso's history.

Serious disorders have occurred in Cairo, Egypt, as a result of a strike of the cab drivers and tramway employees of the city. British troops are patrolling the chief thoroughfares to preserve order. William January, who was sent to the penitentiary at Leavenworth 12 years ago for robbing a post office and escaped three years later, was arrested in Chicago. He had married and become a prosperous business man.

Kills His Friend by Mistake. Chicago, April 23.—Louis Meyers, a hide inspector at the stock yards, shot and killed his friend and former roommate, John Maklaska, 26 years old, early Sunday morning in a boarding house at 4620 Ashland avenue, mistaking him for a burglar.

GIMBEL'S BODY IS GIVEN TO FAMILY

RICH PHILADELPHIA MERCHANT SUCCEEDS IN KILLING HIMSELF.

Dies to Avoid Disgrace—Had Been Arrested in New York on Boy's Accusation and Tried to Bribe Detectives.

New York, April 23.—The body of Benedict Gimbel, the Philadelphia merchant who died in St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, was taken to Philadelphia Monday afternoon.

The coroner was called to the hospital, but as the case was plain, a certificate of death giving suicide as the cause was given and the body was turned over to the family.

Gimbel died about three o'clock Monday morning. His wife was with him and his two brothers, who came here at once on receiving word of his trouble—one from Milwaukee and the other from Philadelphia. His personal physician, summoned from Philadelphia, also was at his bedside.

Sensational Arrest Made. The arrest of Benedict Gimbel, a man of wealth, member of a prominent and prosperous firm, married, and of hitherto spotless reputation, caused great surprise. Thursday afternoon he was taken from a cab in this city while in company with Ivor Clark, a 16-year-old boy, by two detectives, who acted on the complaint of Clark's parents. Gimbel, according to the detectives, resorted to an attempt at bribery and offered the detectives $2,000 if they would release him. The detectives apparently consented, and, demanding cash, were driven with Gimbel to his banker's office here and given $2,000. They then informed Gimbel that the additional charge of attempted bribery would be placed against him and took him to the district attorney's office, where, it is alleged, Gimbel who keenly felt his predicament, offered Assistant District Attorney Krotel any amount of money to gain his release.

Seeks Death; Not Home. Later Gimbel was released in heavy bail and started ostensibly for his home in Philadelphia. He never reached there. Instead he went to the Palace hotel in Hoboken and there, with jagged glass, obtained from a water pitcher which he broke, he cut his throat and gashed his left wrist. He was discovered several hours afterward, almost dead from the loss of blood.

At St. Mary's hospital, to which place the patient was removed Friday night, it was thought for a time that his life might be saved, but yesterday he began suddenly to fail and late last night hope was abandoned.

It became evident before midnight that Gimbel could not live unless heroic treatment was attempted. Oxygen was administered to him all Sunday afternoon and late into the night. He failed to respond to this treatment and Charles Gimbel then suggested that, as a last resort, his blood be infused into the veins of his brother. While the physicians could hold out little hope even with this infusion of blood to strengthen the patient, it was determined to try it as a last resort. However, it is said that Gimbel did not revive sufficiently after midnight to test the experiment.

The wife and two brothers showed confidence and devotion to the husband and brother. They went to his bedside late Friday night and remained near him until the end. In a statement the family notified the public that Benedict Gimbel had been ill for some weeks as the result of overwork and that this had undoubtedly dethroned his reason.

No Change in Corporation. Philadelphia, April 23.—In connection with the death of Benedict Gimbel in Hoboken Monday the following statement was made by Gimbel Brothers, Incorporated: "Gimbel Brothers is a corporation managed by the seven brothers, deceased being the youngest of the number and owning a small minority block of the stock. His demise will have no more effect on the business than the death of any one director of a railroad."

ALFANO TO BE DEPORTED. Leader of Camorra Will Be Sent Back to Italy.

New York, April 23.—Enrico Alfano, alleged leader in Italy of the secret and criminal Camorra society of Naples, who was arrested in this city last week during a police raid on the east side, was turned over Monday to the immigration authorities, by whom he will be deported to Italy. Alfano escaped from that country shortly after the mysterious murder of one Cucculo and Cucculo's wife, crimes of which Alfano and other workers in the ranks of the Camorra are accused. Fear of Cucculo's ascendancy in power in the Camorra is mentioned as the motive for the murders.

Boat Upsets; Three Men Drown. Chester, Pa., April 23.—Three persons were drowned Monday in the Delaware river a few miles below this city by the capsizing of the schooner Eben. The drowned men were Archibald McBride, George Edgar and Edward Murphy, all of Philadelphia. Six other persons who were on the schooner when it capsized were rescued.

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST
BY HARRY LEON WILSON

CHAPTER XXV.—Continued.

It was a love story; again that strangely moving love of one man for one woman, that seemed as sweet as it was novel to her. But there was war between the houses in the play, and the young lover had to make a way to see his beloved, climbing a high wall into her garden, climbing to her very balcony by a scarf she flung down to him. To the young woman from Amalon, these lovers' voices came with a strange compulsion, so that they played with her heart between them. She was in turn the youth, pleading in a voice that touched every heartstring from low to high; then she was the woman, soft and timid, hesitating in moments of delicious doubt, yet almost fearful of her power to resist,—half-wishing to be persuaded, half-frightened lest she yield.

Feverishly she followed the heart-breaking tragedy to its close, suffering poignantly the grief of each lover, suffering death for each, and feeling her life desolated when the end came. But when the dull curtain shut her back into her own little world, where there was no love like that, and beside the little bent man she went out into the night.

The next morning had come a further delight, an invitation to a ball from Brigham. Most of the day was spent in one of the shops, choosing a gown of wondrous beauty, and having it fitted to her. When she looked into the little cracked mirror that night, she saw a strange new face and figure; and, when she entered the ball-room, she felt that others noted the same strangeness, for many looked at her until she felt her cheeks burn. Then Brigham arose from a sofa, where he had been sitting with his first wife and his last, and came gallantly toward her; Brigham, whom she knew to be the most favored of God on earth and the absolute ruler of all the realm about her,—an affable, unpretentious yet dignified gentleman of 70, who took her hand warmly in both his own, looked her over with his kindly blue eyes, and welcomed her to Zion in words of a fatherly gentleness. Later, when he had danced with some of his wives, Brigham came to dance with her, light of foot and full of zest for the measure as any youth.

Others danced with her, but during it all she kept finding herself back before the magic square that framed the land where a man loved but one woman. She remembered that Brigham had sat with four of his wives in one of the boxes, enthusiastically applauding that portrayal of a single love. As the picture came back to her now, there seemed to have been something incongruous in this spectacle. She observed the seamed and hardened features of his earliest wife, who kept to the sofa during the evening beside the better favored Amelia, whom the good man had last married, and she thought of his score or so of wives between them.

Then she knew that what she had seen the night before had been the truth; that she could love no man who did not love her alone. She tried to imagine the lover in the play going from balcony to balcony, sighing the same impassioned love-tale to woman after woman; or to imagine him with many wives at home, to whom would be taken the news of his death in the tomb of his last. So she thought of the play and not of the ball, stopping the dances abruptly, and when it was all over, she fell asleep, rejoicing that, before their death, the two dear lovers had been sealed for time and eternity, so that they could awaken together in the Kingdom.

They went home the next day, driving down the valley that rolled in billows of green between the broken ranges of the Wasatch and the Ouquirrh. It was no longer of the Kingdom she thought, nor of Brigham and his wives; only of a clean-limbed youth in doublet and hose, a plumed cap, and a silken cloak, who, in a voice that brought the tears back of her eyes, told of his undying love for one woman—and of the soft, tender woman in the moonlight, who had trusted him and let herself go to him in life and in death.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Lion of the Lord Sends an Order. They reached home in very different states of mind. The girl was eager for the solitude of her favorite nook in the canyon, where she could dream in peace of the wonderland she had glimpsed; but the little bent man was stirred by dread and chilled with forebodings. To him, as well as to the girl, the change in the first city of Zion had been a thing to wonder at. But what had thrilled her with amazed delight brought pain to him. Zion was no longer held inviolate.

And now the truth was much clearer to him. Not only had the Lord deferred His coming, but He had set His hand again to scatter Israel for its sin. Instead of letting them stay alone in their mountain retreat until the beginning of His reign on earth, He had brought the Gentiles upon them in overwhelming numbers. Where once a thousand miles of wilderness lay between them and Gentile wickedness, they were now hemmed about with it, and even it polluted the streets of the holy city itself.

One morning, a few weeks after he had reached home from the north, he received a call from Seth Wright. "Here's a letter Brother Brigham wanted me to be sure and give you," said this good man. "He said he didn't know you was allowing to start back so soon, or he'd have seen you in person."

He took the letter and glanced at the superscription, written in Brigham's rather unformed but plain and very decided-looking hand. "So you've been north, Brother Seth? What do you think of Israel there?"

The views of the Wild Ram of the Mountains partook in certain ways of his own discouragement. "Zion has run to seed, Brother Rae; the rank weeds of Babylon is a-goin' to choke it out, root and branch! We ain't got no chance to live a pure and Godly life any longer, with railroads coming in, and Gentiles with their fancy contraptions. It weakens the spirit, and it plays the very hob with the women. Soon as they get up there now, and see them new styles from St. Looney or Chicago, they get down-right daft. No more homespun for 'em, no more valley tan, no more parched corn for coffee, nor beet molasses nor unbolted flour. Oh, I know what I'm talkin' about. That reminds me, you had Prudence up to Conference, and I guess you don't know what that letter's about."

"Why, no; do you?"

"Well, Brother Brigham only let a word or two drop, but plain enough; he don't have to use many. He was a little mite afraid some one down here would cut in ahead of him."

Joel Rae had torn open the big blue envelope in a sudden fear, and now he read in Brigham's well-known script: "Dear Bro. Joel: I was anxious to see more of your daughter, and would of kept her here at my house if you had not hurried off. I will let you see her to me when I come to Pine valley next, late this summer or after Oct. conference. If anything happens and I am to busy will have you bring her here. Tell her of this and what it will mean to her in the Lord's Kingdom and do not let her company with gentiles or with any of the young brethren around there that might put notions into her head. Try to due right and never faint in well doing, keep the faith of the gospel and I pray the Lord to bless you. "BRIGHAM YOUNG."

The shrewd old face of the Bishop had wrinkled into a smile of quiet observation as the other read the letter. In relating the incident to the Entablature of Truth, subsequently, he said of Joel Rae at the moment he looked up from this letter: "He'll never be whiter when he's dead! I see in a minute that the old man had him on the bark."

"You know what's in this, Brother Seth—you know that Brigham wants Prudence?" Joel Rae had asked, looking up from the letter, upon which both his hands had closed tightly. "Well, I told you he dropped a word or two, jest by way of keeping off the Princes of Israel down here."

"I must go to Salt Lake at once and talk to him."

"Take her along; likely he'll marry her right off."

"But I can't—I couldn't—Brother Seth, I wish her not to marry him."

The Bishop stared blankly at him, his amazement freezing upon his lips, almost, the words he uttered. "Not—want—her—to marry—Brother Brigham Young, Prophet, Seer, and Revelator, President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in all the world!"

"But he wouldn't be so hard—taking her away from me—"

Something in the tones of this appeal seemed to touch even the heart of the Wild Ram of the Mountains, though it told of a suffering he could not understand.

"Brigham is very soft in his ways," he said, after a little, with a curious soft kindness in his voice,—in fact, a soter man I never knew!"

He drove off, leaving the other staring at the letter now crumpled in his hand. He also said, in his subsequent narrative to the Entablature of Truth: "You know I've always took Brother Rae for jest a natural born not, a shy little cuss that could be whiffed around by anything and everything, but when I drove off he had a plumb ornery fighting look in them deep-set eyes of his, and blame me if I didn't some way feel sorry for him,—that warped up, like an old water-soaked sycamore plank that gits laid out in the sun."

But this look of belligerence had quickly passed from the face of Joel Rae when the first heat of his resentment had cooled.

After that he merely suffered, torn by his reverence for Brigham, who represented on earth no less a power than the first person of the Trinity, and by the love for this child who held him to a past made beautiful by his love for her mother,—by a thousand youthful dreams and fancies and wayward hopes that he had kept fresh through all the years; torn between Brigham, whose word was as the word of God, and Prudence who was the living flower of her dead mother and all his dead hopes. Presently he saw Prudence coming across the fields in the late afternoon from the road that led to the canyon. He watched her jealously until she drew near, then called her to him. In a few words he told her very gravely the honor that was to be done her.

When she fully understood, he noted that her mind seemed to attain an unusual clearness, her speech a new conciseness; that she was displaying a force of will he had never before suspected.

Her reply, in effect, was that she would not marry Brigham Young if all the angels in heaven came to entreat her; that the thought was not a pretty one; and that the matter might be considered settled at that very moment. "It's too silly to talk about," she concluded.

Almost fearfully he looked at her, yielding a little to her spirit of rebellion, yet trying not to yield; trying not to rejoice in the amused flash of her dark eyes and the decision of her tones. But then, as he looked, and as she still faced him, radiant in her confidence, he felt himself going with her,—plunging into the tempting wave of apostasy.

CHAPTER XXVII.

A New Face in the Dream. Prudence had to be alone to dream her dreams of a love that should be always single. Brigham's letter, far from disturbing these, had brought them a zest hitherto lacking. Neither the sacrifice of refusing him, its worldly unwisdom, nor its possible harm to the little bent man of sorrows, had as yet become apparent to her. Each day, when such duties as were hers in the house had been performed, she walked out to be alone,—always to Box canyon, that green-sided cleft in the mountain, with the brook lashing itself to a white fury over the boulders at the bottom. She would go out of the hot valley into its cool freshness and its pleasant wood smells, and there, in the softened blue light of a pine-hung glade, she would rest, and let her fancy build what heaven-reaching towers it would. On some brown bed of pine-needles, or on a friendly gray boulder close by the water-side, where she could give her eyes to its flow and foam, and her ears to its music,—music like the muffled tinkling of little silver bells in the distance,—she would let herself go out to her dream with the joyous, reckless abandon of falling water.

It was commonly a dream of a youth in doublet and hose, a plumed cap, and a cloak of purple satin, who came in the moonlight to the balcony of his love, and sighed his passion in tones must have yielded—as did the girl in the balcony who had let down the scarf to him. She already knew how that girl's heart must have fluttered at the moment,—how she must have felt that the hands were mad, wicked, uncontrollable hands, no longer her own.

There was one place in the dream that she managed not without some ingenuity. It had to be made plain that the lover under the window did not come from a long, six-doored house, with a wife behind each door; that this girl, pale in the moonlight, with quickening heart and rebellious hands on the scarf, and arms that should open to him, was to be not only his first wife but his last; that he was never even to consider so much as the possibility of another, but was to cleave unto her, and to love her with a single heart for all the days of her life and his own.

There were various ways of bringing this circumstance forward. Usually she had Brigham march on at the head of his great family and counsel the youth to take more wives, in order that he should be exalted in the Kingdom. Whereupon the young man would fold his love in his arms and speak words of scorn, in the same thrilling manner that he spoke his other words, for any exaltation which they two could not share alone. Brigham, at the head of his wives, would then slink off, much abashed.

She had come naturally to see her own face as the face of this happily loved girl in the dream. She knew no face for the youth. There was none in Amalon; not Jarom Tanner, six feet three, who became a helpless grinning child in her presence; nor Moroni Peterson, who became a solemn and ghastly imbecile; nor Ammaron Wright, son of the Bishop, who had opened the dance of the Young People's Auxiliary with prayer, and later tried to kiss her in a dark corner of the room. So the face of the other person in her dream remained of an unknown heavenly beauty.

"There was a young lady came a-tripping along,
And at each side a servant-O,
And in each hand a glass of wine
To drink with the Gypsy Davy-O."

"And will you fancy me, my dear,
And will you be my Honey-O?
I swear by the sword that hangs by my side
You shall never want for money-O."

"Oh, yes, I will fancy you, kind sir,
And I will be your Honey-O,
If you swear by the sword that hangs by your side
I shall never want for money-O."

The singer seemed to be making his way slowly. Far up the trail, she had one fleeting glimpse of a man on a horse, and then he was hid again in the twilight of the pines. But the music came nearer:—

"Then she put on her high-heeled shoes,
All made of Spanish leather-O,
And she put on her bonnie, bonnie brown,
And they rode off together-O."

"Soon after that, her lord came home
Inquiring for his lady-O,
When some of the servants made this reply,
She's a-gone with the Gypsy-O."

"Then saddle me my milk-white steed,
For the black is not so speedy-O,
And I'll ride all night and I'll ride all day
Till I overtake my lady-O."

She stood transfixed, something within her responding to the hidden singer, as she had once heard a closed piano sound to a voice that sang near it. Soon she could get broken glimpses of him as he wound down the trail, now turning around the end of a fallen tree, then passing behind a giant spruce, now leaning far back while the horse felt a way cautiously down some sharp little declivity. The impression was confused,—a glint of red, of blue, of the brown of the horse, a figure swaying loosely to the horse's movements, and then he was out of sight again around the big rock that had once fallen from high up on the side of the canyon; but now, when he came from behind that, he would be squarely in front of her. This recalled and alarmed her. She began to pick a way over the boulders and across the trail that lay between her and the edge of the pines, hearing another verse of the song almost at her ear:—

"He rode all night and he rode all day,
Till he came to the far deep water—
Then he stopped and a tear came a-trickling down his cheek,
For there he saw his lady-O."

Before she could reach a shelter in the pines, while she was poised for the last step that would take her out of the trail, he was out from behind the rock, before her, almost upon her, reining his horse back upon its haunches,—then in another instant lifting off his broad-brimmed hat to her in a gracious sweep. It was the first time she had seen this simple office performed outside of the theater.

Recent Happenings of Interest in the Various Cities and Towns.

FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD.

Officials of Failed Chicago Bank to Go to Penitentiary.

Chicago.—Abner Smith, for ten years a judge on the circuit bench of Cook county, was found guilty in the criminal court of entering into a conspiracy to cheat and defraud the stockholders and depositors of the Bank of America, the institution of which he was president during its career of two months.

The penalty fixed by the jury is imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding five years and the payment of a fine of $1,000.

The jury also found Gustav F. Sorrow, vice president of the wrecked bank, guilty on the same indictment as President Smith, and he was given the same penalty.

Jerome V. Pierce was found guilty and fined $500.

F. E. Creelman, the lumberman, the fourth defendant, who was a stockholder in the bank, was declared not guilty and was discharged by the court.

BALDWIN'S TRIAL GOES OVER.

Postponed Until Close of Civil Suit Hearings on Docket.

Bloomington.—Thomas Baldwin has been granted a postponement of trial until the close of the hearings of the civil suits on the April docket. This postponement was made by Judge Myers as a substitute for a motion for continuance which was made ready for presentation by the attorneys for the defendant.

At the instance of Messrs. Gillespie and Franklin, the attorneys for Baldwin, Doctors Noble and Godfrey visited the jail and examined Baldwin. This visit was made after the attorneys had notified the court and the state's attorney that a motion for a continuance would be presented.

Will Drill for Oil at Medora.

Medora.—The first of a series of three prospect drill wells has been sunk by the Shipman Oil and Gas company, a branch association of the Western Illinois Oil and Gas company of St. Louis. This company has leased 10,000 acres of land between Medora and Shipman. Great confidence is expressed by farmers of the presence of oil and gas in paying quantities in this part of Macoupin county.

Jurgens Will Return.

Springfield.—Gov. Deneen has issued a requisition on the governor of New York for the return to Chicago of Carl Alfred Jurgens, alias Jurgenson, who is wanted in Chicago on a charge of embezzlement. Jurgens was a deputy clerk in the municipal court and it is alleged that on December 28, 1906, he misappropriated $374 and fled from the city. He was recently arrested in New York city.

Woman Burns to Death.

Lincoln.—A fatal accident occurred on a farm north of this city near the village of Lawndale when Mrs. Martin Peifer, aged 60 years, was terribly burned as the result of her dress catching fire. William Head, her farm hand, heroically fought the fire with bare hands and tore the clothes from the body of Mrs. Peifer. The woman is dead and William Head is in a serious condition.

Voids Contempt Conviction.

Springfield.—Charles H. McIntyre, who was fined $50 and costs for contempt of court in refusing to appear before Elmer E. Ledbetter and make a deposition in a chancery case in the superior court of Cook county, is freed from the penalty by the supreme court, which holds that Ledbetter is not a master in chancery, but merely a notary public.

Danville Girl Is Shot.

Danville.—Just as she had seated herself at the piano to play a selection, after having been importuned to do so, Belle Carr was shot and fatally wounded by Victor Johnson, white. According to the girl's mother, the cause that led to the shooting was the fact that a few months ago Mrs. Carr had Johnson ejected for non-payment of rent.

Fire Destroys Plant.

Bellefonte.—Fire destroyed Plant No. 1 of the Ittner Brick company, at Bellefonte, entailing a loss of about $35,000. The pumping system of the plant was ruined early, thus destroying all means of fighting the blaze. Anthony Ittner of St. Louis is president of the company. The loss is covered by insurance.

Breaks Neck in Fall.

Rockford.—Mistaking the cellar door for a closet she wished to enter, Mrs. John Mitchell, an aged woman residing at Winnebago, plunged head-down a flight of stairs to the floor and was instantly killed.

Robbers Blow Bank Safe.

Peoria.—Safe Blowers wrecked a safe in the Bank of Weston, Ill., with dynamite. About $2,000 was secured, and the robbers escaped after holding the town in terror for more than an hour.

ASSIGN EVANGELICAL CLERGY.

Appointments Announced by the Illinois State Conference.

Freeport.—The state conference of the Evangelical association announced the appointments of ministers as follows:

Chicago district—W. A. Schutte, presiding elder; Douglas Park, N. Wundtlich; Englewood, J. Zipperer; Chicago Heights, J. A. Byas; Humboldt Park, J. C. Kiest; Lane Park, W. Schmus; Logan Square, W. C. The conference showed a disposition to be favorable toward a union with the section that seceded some years ago and is now known as United Evangelicals.

ARRESTS FOLLOW ELECTION.

Saloon Question Excites Marion, Ill., and Contest Is Probable.

Marion.—As a result of the hotly contested election in this city between the anti-saloon men and the citizens' tickets, Mayor-elect James H. Mitchell, H. H. Gopher and George H. Goodall were arrested on warrants charging electioneering within the 100-foot limits. Mitchell is cashier of the First National bank and all the others are stockholders in the Williamson County Savings bank. The anti-saloon committee is making investigations and the election will in all probability be contested.

Conductor Given Banquet.

Mount Sterling.—Conductor George R. Hough, of the Wabash, who has been in the service of the road for 50 years, 20 as engineer and 30 as conductor, was honored by a banquet at the opera house in Clayton, planned as a surprise by his friends. A special train was run from Decatur and about 250 guests, including all the officials of the Springfield division, were present. Mr. Hough was presented with a purse of $100 in gold.

Armed Men Seek Incendiaries.

Freeport.—The town of Lena, in this county, which has recently suffered to the extent of $50,000 from incendiary fires, had another disastrous blaze. The town hall, which housed a fire engine and other fire-fighting equipment, was entirely destroyed, causing a loss of $8,000, with only $3,000 insurance. As a result of the fire armed men patrolled the streets for hours.

Two Bound Over at Lincoln.

Lincoln.—Before Police Magistrate Rosenthal Earl Furr was held in bonds of $250 for the alleged theft of $35 worth of brass car boxings from the Illinois Central Railroad company. Eugene White, of Elkhart, was arrested and released on bonds of $250, charged with assaulting with intent to kill Patrick Hanahan, also living at Elkhart.

Italian Killed at Girard.

Girard.—Saverio De Pinto, a laborer on the Northwestern railroad, was killed at Vaniman's crossing. He was walking in the middle of the track when struck. He was a native of Italy, having been in this country three years. He is survived by a wife and four children in the old country. His body was found $105.

Killed in Election Brawl.

Champaign.—"Ted" Allen, a Champaign resident, was shot and killed by Charley Moore in an election brawl at Pesotum, in this county. The men quarreled over the license issue. Moore was a saloon adherent. He pulled a revolver, it is alleged, and shot Allen. There were threats of lynching.

Supervisors Are Surprised.

Mount Vernon.—Rev. A. L. Smith, the newly elected chairman of the board of supervisors, established a new precedent in that body when after the organization of the board, he opened the further proceedings of the meeting with prayer.

Prof. Joseph Smith Dead.

Jacksonville.—Prof. Joseph Smith, of Dudley, England, father of Countess Alcide Gallano, of Madrid, Spain, died here. He was president of the Routt Musical college of Jacksonville.

The Evolution of Household Remedies.

The modern patent medicine business is the natural outgrowth of the old-time household remedies.

In the early history of this country, EVERY FAMILY HAD ITS HOME-MADE MEDICINES. Herb teas, bitters, laxatives and tonics, were to be found in almost every house, compounded by the housewife, sometimes assisted by the apothecary or the family doctor. Such remedies as picra, which was aloe and quassa, dissolved in apple brandy. Sometimes a hop tonic, made of whiskey, hops and bitter barks. A score or more of popular, home-made remedies were thus compounded, the formulae for which were passed along from house to house, sometimes written, sometimes verbally communicated.

The patent medicine business is a natural outgrowth from this wholesome, old-time custom. In the beginning, some enterprising doctor, impressed by the usefulness of one of these home-made remedies, would take it up, improve it in many ways, manufacture it on a large scale, advertise it mainly through almanacs for the home, and thus it would become used over a large area. LATTERLY THE HOUSEHOLD REMEDY BUSINESS TOOK A MORE EXACT AND SCIENTIFIC FORM.

Peruna was originally one of these old-time remedies. It was used by the Mennonites, of Pennsylvania, before it was offered to the public for sale. Dr. Hartman, THE ORIGINAL COMPOUNDER OF PERUNA, is of Mennonite origin. First, he prescribed it for his neighbors and his patients. The sale of it increased, and at last he established a factory and furnished it to the general drug trade.

Peruna is useful in a great many climatic ailments, such as coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, and catarrhal diseases generally. THOUSANDS OF FAMILIES HAVE LEARNED THE USE OF PERUNA and its value in the treatment of these ailments. They have learned to trust and believe in Dr. Hartman's judgment, and to rely on his remedy, Peruna.

HOW CLASSIC WAS WRITTEN.

Bret Harte's Great Poem Result of an Inspiration.

The war correspondent, Frederic Villiers, has recorded a talk with Bret Harte apropos of the poem, "Dickens in Camp." "We all felt his loss most keenly in the States," said Harte:

"On hearing of his death (I) sat down about three in the afternoon to write an editorial on the great author. I wrote one and then tore it up. Then another, after much pains, was written. This did not please me, so I tore it up. I wrote yet another and threw it into the waste paper basket; it would not do. It was getting late, and I was now keeping the paper waiting for press. I was drumming on my desk, absolutely without another thought in my head; I had run dry. Suddenly mechanically began to write and the result was the thing you seem to like so much. Well, Mr. Villiers, you are not far out. I like it, too."

SKIN SORE EIGHT YEARS.

Spent $300 on Doctors and Remedies but Got No Relief—Cuticura Cures in a Week.

"Upon the limbs and between the toes my skin was rough and sore, and also sore under the arms, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affection. Up to a week or so ago I had tried many other remedies and several doctors, and spent about three hundred dollars, without any success, but this is to-day the seventh day that I have been using the Cuticura Remedies (costing a dollar and a half), which have cured me completely, so that I can again attend to my business. I went to work again to-night. I had been suffering for eight years and have now been cured by the Cuticura Remedies within a week. Fritz Hirschclaff, 24 Columbus Ave., New York, N. Y., March 29 and April 6, 1906."

French Sailors Use Drugs.

The extent to which the narcotic habit prevails in the French navy was illustrated a few days ago by the proceedings of a court-martial at Brest. The defendants were half a dozen seamen of ordinary rating, who were charged with a considerable number of robberies. All the men were victims of opium or the ether habit, or both combined, and were in the habit of bemuddling themselves daily with these drugs and the robberies had been committed to gratify their passion. Severe sentences were passed.

Bishop Potter's Answer.

A young clergyman in a remote country district wrote last Easter time to Bishop Potter, saying that he was about to take a wife, and asking if, to save some other clergyman a long and weary journey, he could not marry himself. The bishop's reply was marvelously concise. It said: "Could you bury yourself?"

Take Garfield Tea in the Spring—it will save you many days of headache, lassitude and general ill health. This natural laxative purifies the blood, cleanses the system and establishes a normal action of liver, kidneys and bowels.

Some people are too conscientious to preach what they practice.

New York.—The way to a man's heart—through his stomach—that's a dead letter now. The new love route is through his fingers.

If you doubt the suggestion read the facts.

All the pretty manure girls seem to be winning husbands just now because they can polish and pink up the finger nails of the rich young men who wouldn't dare to be seen at any dance or dinner after candlelight without having their fingernails immaculately groomed.

The latest capture is William A. Dunlap, son and heir of the millionaire merchant—"Billy" Dunlap, as he is known around where men-about-town-most do congregate, says the World.

Just before Easter there was a tentative announcement of his engagement to Miss Lavender Byers, the prettiest girl in a fashionable manure establishment on Broadway, which is conducted by Miss Mary E. Peart. And Miss Byers is not the first who has been won from that resort of the young men who feel that it is absolutely essential to have their nails carefully tended.

Two other pretty young women have already put aside the nail paste and the polisher for the pleasanter duties of running some rich young man's home. Two others of Miss Peart's staff have become the wives of wealthy patrons.

Young Mr. Dunlap, who has been around town now these fifteen years,

There was one quarrel after another. Finally after a particularly serious rupture, the young wife left her husband, and later there was a divorce.

For a time the young man devoted himself strictly to business. His father died, leaving a large estate, in which he shared very generously. He invested heavily in Nevada mining properties, and his judgment proved sound. He turned over the money his father had left him with such care that he largely increased his own wealth; he became one of the most prominent young men in the Western mining field.

Of course, he couldn't stay in Nevada always.

He heard the call of the Great White Way and he answered it. Some months ago he ran overland for a few weeks in New York, and of course he had to have his nails fixed up after so many months in the wilds of Nevada and its mining camps.

By chance Miss Byers was assigned to take care of young Mr. Dunlap's fingers. He found himself facing a tall, Gibsonesque young girl, barely 18, who treated his nails so deftly that he was captivated at once. He glanced for a second time at the young woman who held his big hand so lightly in her own, and he was smitten very, very badly.

Became Regular Visitor.

He paid his fee and went away. Next day he was back again. His nails seemed to be bothering him very much, though the polish which Miss Byers had put upon them had hardly worn off at all.

There was another polishing and another trimming, and the young millionaire went away neither heart whole or fancy free. In fact, he was very much in love. And so Miss Peart's parlors saw the young millionaire there every day.

But there was a fly in the ointment—not the nail ointment, which was irreproachable.

It was a much more serious proposition. Just about the time that the young man got ready to lay his heart and his fortune at the feet of the pret-

Mr. Dunlap promised to marry her, but that he eventually told her that he couldn't. So she sued. Unless the suit has been since settled in secret, just as Mr. Dunlap's divorce was obtained, the case is pending yet.

But this didn't seem to upset the young wooer. He told all and proposed to Miss Byers. She confessed her love then and there, and promised to marry the young millionaire any time he choose, no matter what came of the breach of promise suit.

It was all a whirlwind courtship. There was a daily manureing and dinner or the theater at night.

Then the young people told Mrs. Byers. She was taken completely by surprise. She hardly knew the man any more than that he sometimes care of an aunt in New Orleans, who moved to New York.

When she was old enough to support herself Miss McDonald became a manure and went to work in a barber shop. But she won't have to manure nails any more, and she will bring the young man—his name she won't tell—enough dowry to keep the wolf from both the front and the back doors.

Then there was dainty little Miss Hannah Becker, who worked as a manure in a John street shop.

There came there one day young Edward Sohmer, son of State Senator William Sohmer. He wanted his nails polished and Miss Becker was assigned to the task. He was 21, good look-brought Miss Byers home after the theater. But so persuasively did her daughter plead and so ably did young Mr. Dunlap aid and abet her that Mrs. Byers readily gave in.

Went to West to Wed.

Mr. Dunlap was suddenly summoned West. He went to Nevada, leaving word for Mrs. Byers and her daughter to meet him in Chicago. They were there on time; so was he. Even then the two young people tried to keep the engagement a secret. In fact, both denied it, and so did Mrs. Byers. But the flowers and the notes that were constantly going up to Miss Byers' apartments told their own story. So mother and daughter quit Chicago, and so did Mr. Dunlap.

That didn't keep Mrs. Byers and Miss Lavender from going to Milwaukee, and there the young millionaire met them. Mr. Dunlap promptly went to the proper authorities and got a marriage license. Then he went to the circuit court and induced one of the judges there to grant a special dispensation from the five day's limit. In a few minutes the young people were married. They took the first train for New York.

Bride Is English.

Mrs. Dunlap No. 2 is considered one of the handsomest girls who has ever been a manure in New York. She is tall, slender, with perfect poise and exquisite carriage. She was born at Hackney Downs, a suburb of London. Her family lost their money and came to this country when Miss Lavender was only a little girl in pigtails. When she grew up she found it necessary to support herself.

She will have to do so no more. Right on the heels of this comes the announcement of the marriage of Miss Annie McDonald, who has inherited $25,000, and now intends to marry a poor young man to whom she had given her heart long before she ever dreamed of being an heiress.

For four years Miss McDonald polished nails at No. 57 West Twenty-third street, a barber shop, where she was the only woman employee. Last week she received a very formidable looking legal document from Duncan & Fitzgerald, solicitors, the Strand, London. It bore the comforting news that she had inherited 5,000 pounds sterling from her grandfather, Angus Kibbe, and that the money was waiting for her upon proof of identity. This didn't take long.

To Marry Man She Loves.

"Now I can marry the man I love," announced Miss McDonald to the head barber as she resigned her position. Behind all this, too, is a romance.

Twenty-five years ago Miss McDonald's mother eloped with a poor young student, Henry McDonald. Old Mr. Kibbe promptly disinherited his daughter. As for his granddaughter, he never laid eyes upon her. Her father died before she was born and her mother followed him to the grave soon afterward, leaving the little girl to the ing, rich. She was 28, good looking, poor. Wasn't that enough material for Cupid to work upon?

Disparity of age? Fiddlesticks! Wasn't she the prettiest girl in New York?—that is, if young Sohmer's opinion counted. Well, at any rate, he fell head over heels in love, and he asked the pretty manure to be his bride. She said the "Yes" he craved, but then there was the senator.

But with him the young man pleaded his suit equally well, and the father capitulated. He summoned his family, took them all to the "Little Church Around the Corner," and there Dr. Houghton tied the knot. Then in a shower of rice the pretty bride went away on a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City and Richmond, Va., where her people live. By this time the family must know well the young and ardent bridegroom, who carried his suit by storm from manure table to the very altar. When they came home Mr. and Mrs. Sohmer will live at No. 60 West One Hundred and Twenty-eight street.

"If she can make biscuits as well as she can manure my nails, she's the girl for me," laughed the young bridegroom, as they started on their wedding journey.

Then there was Spencer G. Prime, just graduated from the University of Syracuse. As soon as he got his sheepskin he married Miss Julia Burr, who had manured his nails throughout his college course. Some day the young man will inherit the millions of his father, S. W. Prime. But what young Prime did was in no way different from another of his classmates, Homer Wheaton, who married a dainty little manure, Miss Florence Carahan.

Wealthy Brewer Smitten.

Then there was Miss Lydia C. Moore, manure girl of the famous Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. Hers was a romance indeed. F. W. Schmidt is one of Philadelphia's millionaire brewers, and is regarded as one of the best dressed men in the city. He met Miss Moore at one of the Clover dances—among the smartest affairs in the slow city by the Schuylkill.

Imagine his surprise a month after when he went to the Bellevue-Stratford to have his nails fixed up to find that his cotillon partner was nothing but a manure. Then he became interested.

He found it necessary after that to have his nails manured every day. And so deftly did Miss Moore do it that finally she came into the hotel; one day with a big diamond solitaire on the third finger of her left hand—she was engaged to Mr. Schmidt. That very afternoon she gave away all her manure implements to the other girls and now she is Mrs. Schmidt, wife of a millionaire and mistress of a splendid country estate at Radnor, Philadelphia's smartest suburb.

And who'll deny now that the way to a man's heart is not through his finger tips?

ZEAL WITHOUT COMMON SENSE.

Striking Example Related by the Late Dr. Field.

A Presbyterian clergyman was praising the late Dr. Henry Martin Field of Stockbridge, who for 44 years edited the Evangelist.

"Dr. Field did so much good," he said, "because he went about his work diplomatically, sensibly reasonably. I once heard him declare that reformers failed often because the moment they started a reform they dropped common sense. Common sense was swallowed up in zeal. He said that a nerve cure faddist once entered a shop and leading the proprietor to one side whispered mysteriously: 'Ah, my friend, you can do the race untold good if you will only take the agency for our anti-epilepsy preparation. It is warranted to cure in a week the most confirmed and nerve-racked tea tippler. Never again.'"

"But the dealer laughed and drew away. 'You have made a mistake,' he said. 'I can't take such an agency as that. Don't you see that this is a teashop?'"

"Oh, no mistake," said the reformer eagerly. "It is because you run a teashop that I have sought you out. You come into constant contact with the very people we are trying to reach."

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Gives Advice and Tells of Simple Home Mixture.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the Kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying urinary afflictions.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

This simple home-made mixture will force the Kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent. red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health.

GONE FOREVER.

Ten years ago a farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce and three times he heard of it in the pocket of his neighbors.

The last time he got it back four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He never has seen that dollar bill since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the circle of usefulness to himself and his neighbors.

Patrol your local merchant who helps you to pay your taxes, support your schools and churches, and lends a helping hand in times of sickness and trouble.

No Offense.

First Stranger (on train)—Do you ever quarrel with your wife?
Second Stranger—Never.
First Stranger—Have any trouble with the hired girl?
Second Stranger—Not me.
First Stranger—Don't your children worry you at times?
Second Stranger—No, indeed.
First Stranger—Say, I don't like to call you a liar, but—
Second Stranger—Oh, that's all right. I'm a bachelor.

APPENDICITIS.

Not at All Necessary to Operate in Many Cases.

Automobiles and Appendicitis scare some people before they are hit. Appendicitis is often caused by too much starch in the bowels. Starch is hard to digest and clogs up the digestive machinery—also tends to form cakes in the oecum. (That's the blind pouch at entrance to the appendix.)

A N. H. girl had appendicitis, but lived on milk for awhile—then Grape-Nuts and got well without an operation.

She says: "Five years ago while at school, I suffered terribly with constipation and indigestion." (Too much starch, white bread, potatoes, etc., which she did not digest.)

"Soon after I left school I had an attack of appendicitis and for thirteen weeks lived on milk and water. When I recovered enough to eat solid food there was nothing that would agree with me, until a friend recommended Grape-Nuts.

"When I began to eat Grape-Nuts I weighed 98 lbs., but I soon grew to 115 lbs. The distress after eating left me entirely and now I am like a new person."

(A little Grape-Nuts dissolved in hot water or milk would have been much better for this case than milk alone, for the starchy part of the wheat and barley is changed into a form of digestible sugar in making Grape-Nuts.) ### DON'T GRUMBLE AT TRIFLES.

Twenty-five Bushels Wheat and Forty-five Bushels Oats Per Acre Are in Western Canada.

Salcoats, Sask., 8th December, 1906.

To the Editor, Dear Sir,

I willingly give you the result of my four and a half years' experience in the District of Salcoats.

Previous to coming here I farmed in Baldwin, St. Croix County, Wisconsin, and as I have heard a great deal about the Canadian North-West, I decided to take a trip there and see the country for myself. I was so impressed with the richness of the soil that I bought half a section of land about five miles from the town of Salcoats. I moved on to the land the following June and that year broke 90 acres, which I cropped in 1904, and had 39 bushels wheat per acre. In 1905, with an acreage of 160 acres, I had 24 bushels wheat and 35 bushels of oats per acre. In 1906, with 175 acres under crop, I had 25 bushels wheat and 45 bushels of oats per acre.

From the above mentioned yields you can readily understand that I am very well pleased with the Canadian West. Of course, I have had to work hard, but I don't mind that when I get such a good return for my labor.

To anyone thinking about coming to this country I can truthfully say that if they are prepared to work and not grumble at trifles, they are bound to get on. Some things I would like different, but take the country all round, I don't know where to go to get a better.

Yours truly, (Signed) O. B. OLSON.

AGE TOLD BY THE PULSE.

From Birth to Death the Beats Have a Steady Decrease.

How old are you? Ask your pulse. The human pulse has a wide range, even in perfectly healthy persons. The female pulse always beats faster than the male, and from birth to death the pulse beats steadily decrease. It has been said by great authorities that the age and sex of a person could be ascertained by the rate of the pulse alone. Babies at birth have a pulse beat of 160 times a minute in case of a girl and 150 in the case of boys. At the age of four or five the pulse beats will have fallen respectively to 110 and 100. Males' and youths' pulses average 95 and 90. Mature men and women average 80 and 75. Elderly men and women have an average of 60 and 50. An old woman's pulse rarely, if ever, sinks below 50, but among men a pulse beat below 50 is quite common. There are, however, great variations consistent with health. Napoleon's pulse is said to have beaten only 44 times a minute.

A MISSOURI WOMAN

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says: "Following an operation two years ago, dropsy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain and a gurgling sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was disordered and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not reappeared. This is wonderful, after suffering two years."

Queen's Most Prized Decoration.

One of the decorations of which the queen of Portugal is proudest is the medal of the British Humane society, which she was asked to accept after she had leaped into the harbor at Lisbon and saved a drowning man. On all great occasions this decoration is to be seen pinned on her dress. Her majesty, who is a sister of the Duchess d'Aosta, recently visiting us, is another special favorite of the royal family, and, like her sister, was born at York House, Twickenham. Queen Amelia was one of the very first women to qualify herself as an M. D. She laughingly tells her friends that her most trying patient is King Carlos, whom for years she has tried to diet for "too solid flesh."—Tit-Bits.

Back to the Club.

The honeymoon was on the ragged edge of the last chapter. "My dear," said the ex-bachelor, "I believe I'll teach you to play cards."

"That will be just too lovely for anything, darling," rejoined the young wife. "What game will you teach me?"

"Solitaire," answered the heartless wretch, who promised to love, honor, and pay the groceryman.

HENS KNEW THEIR BUSINESS.

Never Would They Lay Anything but the Freshest of Eggs.

There is a German dairyman and farmer, whose place is not far from Philadelphia, who greatly plumes himself upon the absolute superiority of his products above all others in the vicinity.

On one occasion he personally applied to a Germantown housekeeper for a transfer of her custom to himself. "I heard dot you had a lot of trouble with dot dairyman of yours," he said. "Yust you gif me your gustom and der will be no trouble."

"Are your eggs always fresh?" asked the woman. "Fresh!" repeated the German, in an indignant tone. "Let me dell you, madam, dot my hens nefer, nefer lay anything but fresh eggs!"

WEIGHT AND HEALTH

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED THE TONIC TREATMENT.

This Woman Took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Gained Thirty Pounds and Has Been Well Ever Since.

How many women—and men too—are suffering from a general decline in health which the ordinary remedies seem unable to check! How many husbands see their wives wasting away, steadily losing health and beauty, and are powerless to help! Consumption and other germ diseases find in these debilitated systems easy prey, for the lowered vitality is unequal to the task of fighting off the infection of these diseases which most of us are almost daily exposed to.

The symptoms indicating the decline which may have results so fatal could scarcely be better described than in the statement of Mrs. William Manley, of 92 Court street, Utica, N. Y. Her case is a typical one. She says:

"For six months after the birth of my baby, I suffered from sick, dizzy headaches, which seemed to be a rush of blood to my forehead, just back of my eyes. Some days they twitched so I could hardly see and black spots floated before them. The least exertion brought on this sickness. My appetite was poor and I was often sick to my stomach."

"If I tried to work my feet soon became swollen, paining me terribly. I had sinking spells and grew pale and nervous. I was so thin that I weighed only 95 pounds."

"One day when at the drug store to get headache powders I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon noticed that my headache was disappearing and my nerves gradually grew stronger. The pills gave me a hearty appetite and I now weigh over 130 pounds. I believe the pills to be the best tonic and builder a woman can take, as they certainly helped me when my condition was critical and I have never been seriously ill since."

The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills lies in the fact that they actually make new blood and this carries health and strength to every portion of the body. The stomach is toned up, the nerves are strengthened, every organ is stimulated to do its work.

If you are ill and the treatment you are taking does not cure you, write for proof of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done in similar cases.

Your druggist sells them or they will be sent by mail, postage on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE AMERICAN MISSIONARY

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

This Distinguished American Journalist is Traveling Around the World for the Purpose of Investigating the American Foreign Missionary from a Purely Disinterested, Secular and Non-Sectarian Standpoint. Illustrated with Drawings and from Photographs.

ONE OF AMERICA'S LARGEST ENTERPRISES

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)
Mid Pacific.—Am on the trail of the American missionary. His foot-prints are large and deep and many, and I shall certainly come up with him. Then we shall know what sort of individual he is—whether a haloed saint, as the religious papers represent, or a double-dyed knave, as many other papers and people assert, or a plain, every-day American, trying to do an extraordinary job to the best of his ability.

Rather queer, isn't it, that after having been in the business of exporting missionaries for well-nigh a hundred years, America should actually know so little about the article himself, and be so decidedly divided as to his value?

For the American missionary has been more a subject of controversy than American canned beef. Hundreds of persons who have visited foreign parts and say that they know, and thousands who declare that they have their information "straight," declare that the missionary is a sort of pious bunco-man; that he is not wanted where he works; that he is an unmitigated nuisance; and that he is keenly alert to the welfare of number one.

Contrariwise, a vastly larger number of persons, in every part of the land, firmly believe, and support their conviction by their coin, that the missionary is a saint and a hero, and the selfless servant of a thankless world's welfare. All criticism of him they sweepingly resent; and are loath to hear aught to his disparage. The apotheosis of the missionary is a characteristic of modern religious life.

On a Still Hunt for Facts.
Curiously enough, the public hears only two opinions of the missionary, one of which represents him as a scoundrel or a fool, the other of which exalts him as a demi-god. So far as I am aware, nobody has ever set out, independently, and representing no board, society or cause, to find out, impartially, the exact facts in the case. This is the mission I have undertaken. My journalistic integrity is pledged to the duty of ascertaining, without favor or fear, exactly what sort of person the missionary is, how he works and amid what conditions, and whether the task he has imposed upon himself is worth doing at all, and if so, whether he is doing it well.

To that end I shall personally examine, on the ground, representative enterprises of all denominational and undenominational missions. I shall attempt to study the workers themselves, and hear their own side of the story. With equal diligence I shall consult qualified native opinion and search out the foremost foreign critics and ascertain their views. In a word, with no other purpose than to give the American public a fair, frank, full story of this controverted subject, I have started on this journey around the world. Whatever the conclusions I may report, they will at least be honest.

The Largest American Business Abroad.
The biggest single foreign enterprise in which America is engaged is this one of foreign missions. The rest of the world, and especially the Orient, knows the Western Continent chiefly by its missionaries. Figured in dollars, the business last year cost the American public $5,807,165, paid in by an organization with approximately 12,000,000 shareholders of all religious denominations, Protestant, Roman Catholic and Mormon. (The foreign mission work of all countries costs $15,000,000 yearly.) For all this enormous output the tangible returns to America were practically nothing. True, the missionary helped to create a market for the American packers' products, and for American locomotives,

ADVICE TO RHEUMATICS

(From The Chicago Tribune.)

Noted Physician Tells How to Prevent and Cure Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

(By Geo. Edmund Flood, M. D.)
If you would avoid Rheumatism and Kidney and Bladder Troubles, be moderate in the consumption of heavy, rich foods, substitute as far as possible soups, broths, fresh milk and drink water—lots of water. Take plenty of time to eat, and don't eat after you have had enough, even if it does taste good. If your work is confining take a moderate amount of exercise each day in the open air.

Of course, neither diet, water, rest nor exercise will cure these afflictions. I advise them as preventives only. For the benefit of the readers of this article who are now afflicted with Rheumatism, Kidney, Bladder or Urinary trouble, and desire to be cured quickly, I give below, complete in every detail, the famous prescription which has made me so successful in the treatment of these diseases. It is the most certain cure for these diseases that I have ever used. It is pleasant to take, it is not expensive, it can be filled by any druggist, and I believe it is the greatest prescription for Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Trouble ever written.

It is also a valuable spring tonic and blood purifier. If you are a sufferer, save this, take it to your druggist and have it filled, or get the ingredients and mix them at home.

Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 1/2 ounce.
Concentrated Barkola Compound, 1 ounce.
Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, 1/2 drachm.
Aromatic Elixir, 4 ounces.

Adult dose, take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

After you are cured follow the advice I have given you in regard to diet, exercise and water, and you will not need the services of a physician again for these ailments.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

New Banks Last Year.
Four hundred and sixty-two new national banks were created in 1906. For the last seven years the average has been within a fraction of 40 a month. We now have 6,345 national banks, with $77,099,275 capital and $96,343,022 circulation. Seven years ago the banks numbered 3,617, with $616,308,995 capital and $254,462,730 circulation.

Custom Strict in Japan.
Society is very strict in Japan about the little matters of hairdressing, and we betide the woman who would neglect to abide by the prevailing custom. Not alone in the better classes, but among the poorer people as well, the eligible young woman, the widow who wishes to marry again, and the widow who doesn't, may always be distinguished by the way in which they dress their hair.—Modern Society.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

Sensible Advice to Women from Mrs. Henry Lee, Mrs. Fred Certia and Mrs. Pinkham.

Owing to modern methods of living more than one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

This is the most critical period of her whole existence and every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time also cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularities, constipation and dizziness are promptly headed by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when this great change may be expected.

Mrs. Fred Certia, 1014 So. Lafayette Street, So. Bend, Ind., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ideal medicine for women who are passing through Change of Life. For several months I suffered from hot flashes, extreme nervousness, headache and sleeplessness. I had made up my mind there was no help for me until I began to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, my bad symptoms ceased, and it brought me safely through the danger period, built up my system and I am in excellent health. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound unsurpassed for women during this trying period of life."

Mrs. Henry Lee, 60 Winter Street, New Haven, Conn., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"After suffering untold misery for three years during Change of Life I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wrote you of my condition, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and followed your advice, and today I am well and happy. I can now walk anywhere and work as well as anyone, and for years previous I had tried but could not get around without help. I consider your medicine a sovereign balm for suffering women."

Women passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If there is anything about your case you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free and has guided thousands to health.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health, actually thousands of women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." It is your duty to yourself and family to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
