

NOTES FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Judge Irwin Convenes Circuit Court, Grand Jury Chosen

STATE'S ATTY. TURNS IN $3,193.11

Sheriff Crawford Made Raid Tuesday Night and Confiscated About 75 Gallons of Mash

Judge Irwin of Elgin, convened the February term of the circuit court on Monday, February 26. The morning was taken up with examination of applicants for citizenship papers. The successful applicants were: James Nicholson of England, Emil Haas of Germany, Adolph Victor Odle of Germany and John Hall Hunter of England. All received their second papers and became full fledged citizens of this country. The applications of Ross Emery Hilsley and Peter James Flynn were dismissed and those of Hubert Strong, John Evan Edwards and Antanas Taloga were continued.

State's Attorney Poust filed his report of fees, fines and forfeitures earned and imposed and the amount collected by him as State's Attorney from October 23, 1922 to February 24, 1923. According to the report 44 cases were disposed of by him during that time in which he earned $915 in fees. There was collected by him in 48 cases, fines and fees totalling $3,193.11, all of which money was turned over by him to the county treasurer. Judge Irwin approved the report and ordered it filed.

The Grand Jury was convened in the afternoon and B. A. Bark of Sandwich was appointed as foreman and sworn. Judge Irwin thereupon spoke to the jury as to their various duties after which he turned them over to State's Attorney Poust for further instruction. The following grand jurors then retired to consider presentments to be made. Stanley Benson of Paw Paw; James J. Hammond of Genoa; C. W. Nicholson of Shabbona, James Sheridan of Milan, A. A. Speckerman of Malta, J. E. Bridger of South Grove, Charles Jones of Franklin, Leslie Johnson of Victor, W. A. Congdon of Clinton, John Grube of Afton, John G. Lundberg of DeKalb, E. E. Pooler of DeKalb, O. P. Painter of DeKalb, Geo. Thompson of Mayfield, R. S. Tazewell of Kingston, William Coultrop of Somonsauk, Thomas Mahaffey of Sandwich, Ernest Granart of Squaw Grove, John Flood of Pierce, Frank Blade of Cortland, John Hallett of Sycamore and Arthur Smith of Sycamore.

After hearing evidence in several cases the Grand Jury late in the afternoon went in a body to inspect the county jail. Judge Irwin thereupon asked for an expression from the bar regarding the postponement of the coming petit jury scheduled for March 12. The judge stated he believed it unwise on account of the recent epidemic of grip and colds to bring together 50 men and suggested that the petit jury be put over until next April. He further stated he had done the same in Kane and Kendall counties after conference with several physicians. This suggestion met with the approval of the attorneys present and an appropriate order was entered whereby the petit jury will be postponed until April 9, 1923 at 10 a. m.

William Kooneke, complainant in the partition proceedings against Philip Kooneke, et al., made a motion through his attorney for the appointment of a receiver which motion was granted and Mary Hamsmith of Sycamore was appointed receiver and empowered to rent the farm in question for a sum not less than $7.00 per acre.

A report of sale was made by Master in Chancery Fulton of the premises sought to be divided in the case of Julia F. Kelley against Mattie Kelley Smith and others. The farm in question located in Genoa township was sold for $12,060 to George Naker. A decree of distribution was entered whereby the money realized from the sale will be distributed among the heirs, after the payment of expenses. Mike Balin was brought up before Judge Pond in the county court on Monday on information filed against him by State's Attorney Poust charging him with possession of 72 gallons of mash. Balin was arrested by Sheriff Crawford last Tuesday after a raid on his premises disclosed the quantity of mash. Balin pleaded guilty and

HINCKLEY HAS BAD FIRE

M. E. Church and Parsonage Burned Last Thursday—$23,000 Loss

The First Methodist church and parsonage at Hinckley burned to the ground last Thursday forenoon with an estimated loss of $23,000 dollars. Only the efficient work of the firemen in charge saved the homes of many others from destruction.

The church caught fire from an overheated furnace in the basement. It had gained so much headway that it was communicated to the parsonage close by before the firemen got into action. Hinckley's protection from fire lies in a big water tank and it was but a short time before 5 streams of water were playing on the fire, which, because of the great headway the fire had gained, made little or no impression. The city was in a fair panic for fear the blaze would spread to other buildings in the vicinity, many of which were catching fire, but soon extinguished, from the sparks. At 12:45 the Hinckley chief called on the Aurora fire department and asked for help and Co. No. 5 of that city was sent. The fire was under control when the Aurora company arrived, the blaze having been confined, after great effort, to the two buildings that lay in ashes.

The church, a twenty-year-old substantial brick building, was valued at $13,000 and the parsonage was valued at $5,000. Rev. Roy Crocker is the pastor.

KLU KLUX KLAN IN SANDWICH

Representatives of the Ku Klux Klan of the United States were in Sandwich last week and performed an organization of the much-talked-of society here. They came without any blare of horns, or bands, silent as the eagle of day into night, and no one saw those who took the oath were apprised of the meeting place.

The acquisition of the new members brings the strength of the white robed organization up to nearly seventy-five in this vicinity.

"Duty without fear and without reproach," is the slogan, and the following creed:

The tenets of the Christian religion. White supremacy. Protection of our pure womanhood. Just laws and liberty. Close relationship of pure Americanism.

The upholding of the Constitution of the United States. The sovereignty of our State Rights. The separation of church and state. Freedom of speech and press. Close relationship between capital and American labor.

Preventing the cause of mob violence and lynchings. Preventing unwarranted strikes by foreign labor agitators. Prevention of fires and destruction of property by lawless elements. The limitation of foreign immigration. The much needed local reforms. Law and order.—Free Press.

MACQUEEN ON HUNTING TRIP

Kirkland Man and Party of Friends Enroute to Central America

John MacQueen, Kirkland stockman and capitalist, left last week for central America where he will spend some time on a hunting expedition. MacQueen was accompanied by Secretary of State Lewis L. Elmer, coal dealer of Aurora, W. Weidenheimer, general superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., and Wallace McQueen of Rockford.

INFORMATION ABOUT TAXES DUE

County Treasurer W. H. Decker requests the press to again call the attention of the taxpayers to the fact that taxes are only payable at the court house and that no bank is authorized to receive taxes for him. Any person paying taxes to a Bank is not making payment to the Treasurer or his legal deputy, but merely makes the bank his or her agent for paying the money to the treasurer. Receipts for payments are only issued at the Court House, either by mail or in person.

ANGEL OF DEATH HOVERS OVER FOUR

Patrick Travers and Charles Chase Buried Wednesday

JOHN HASLER FUNERAL THURSDAY

Mrs. Kattie Durham Faircloe Passed Away Tuesday at the County Infirmary

Patrick Travers, a resident of Genoa for many years and an employee of the L. C. railroad for over fifty years passed away at the county infirmary Monday at the age of 80 years, death being due to advanced age and general infirmities. He received all rights from Father Solon of DeKalb.

"Pat" Travers as he was known among the people of Genoa with whom he had associated for over two decades, was a kindly old gentleman and as such was looked up to and respected by the rising generation. His wit and humor were the cause of many a laughter and his passing takes from this world a person of jovial disposition and pleasing manner.

Obituary Patrick Travers was born in Collins Town, Ireland, Co. West Meath in 1843 and died on Monday, February 26 at the county infirmary, being at the time of his death 80 years of age. For over fifty years he was an employee of the L. C. railroad and at the time of his death was drawing a pension.

He leaves to mourn his death his sister, Mrs. Ryan of Chicago, and a sister and brother in Ireland. Burial was in the Genoa cemetery beside his brother, Michael. Funeral services were held at 10:00 a. m. at St. Catherine's church, Father O'Brien officiating.

Mr. Porcella of Maple Park assisted Mrs. Goding in the choir.

Chas. Chase Another old-time resident of Genoa passed away Monday when Chas. Chase former resident of Genoa and for the past few years an inmate in the Elgin State Hospital answered the final summons on Monday, February 26. He had been a sufferer for a number of years.

Obituary Chas. Chase, son of Jacob and Nancy Chase, was born in New Lebanon in 1853 and died in the Elgin State hospital Monday, February 26, 1923 at the age of 70 years. In 1875 he was married to Carolina Shire and to this union were born three daughters and four sons, all of whom are living.

Soon after his marriage he moved to Burlington and then moved to Iowa. About seven years ago he returned to Illinois and made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Elvi Smith of Hampshire, later going to the hospital where he lived when life departed.

The deceased was a mason and a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and at one time made his home in this city.

He leaves to mourn his death his three daughters, Mrs. Smith of Hampshire, Mrs. Myrtle Cummings of Iowa, and Mrs. Sallie Patrick of Castana, Iowa; four sons, Lewis of Canton, S. D.; Henry of Adams, Minn.; Earl of Craig, Mo. and Arthur of Miles City, Montana besides one brother in California and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in the chapel of S. S. Slater & Son Wednesday, February 23 at 2:00 p. m. Interment in Genoa cemetery.

John Hasler John Hasler, for many years a farmer near Genoa and of late a resident of Sycamore, passed away at the colonial hospital in Rochester, Minnesota, Monday February 26 after several weeks of patient suffering.

Obituary John Hasler was born at Bridgeport, Wis., May 1, 1857 the son of John Hasler and Lucy Kroder Hasler. He came with his parents to Illinois on November 28, 1878 and was united in marriage to Miss Eliza Heath of Genoa and for many years this couple made their home in Hampshire and Elgin, later moving on a farm near Genoa where Mrs. Hasler died on November 21, 1914.

For several years he has been employed as an engineer at the Borden's plant in Sycamore.

The deceased was a member of the Masonic lodge and the M. W. A. He is survived by five brothers and two sisters. They are Geo. of Genoa, Fred Naker and Elmer Naker of

WASHINGTON DINNER A SUCCESS

Event Sponsored by Philathea Class Well Attended

The Philathea Class of the M. E. Church took advantage of Washington's birthday last Thursday and served a delicious dinner to the public in honor of the event. Chicken and biscuits with cherry pie and coffee were the main articles of diet for the large crowd that gathered and from all accounts that was enough; the plates being filled to capacity.

In the evening, after the dinner was finished, W. J. Fulton, who had been invited by the Friendship class of the church to make a few remarks, spoke about the character of Washington and the greatness of Lincoln. County Superintendent Warren Hubbard, Attorney L. B. Smith, Cassius B. Conrad and F. E. Stevens were in attendance with Mr. Fulton. After the speaker had concluded his dissertation, the chairman, Mr. Clark, asked Messrs. Hubbard and Smith to speak, which they did, taking for their subjects the two men, Washington and Lincoln.

Musical voice numbers by Klea Schoonmaker and A. F. Morehouse followed and in turn the audience sang "America".

Rev. Robeson, who had just recovered from an attack of the flu delivered a poem on the doleful subject which was greeted with applause. His talk was followed by D. C. Morehouse which concluded the really enjoyable program and made the whole affair a huge success.

GENOA'S FIVE IN TOURNAMENT

High School Boys Open Contest In Rockford This (Thursday) Afternoon

The Genoa high school basketball team went to Rockford today (Thursday) to participate in the district tournament in the place. With a little good luck and real playing on the part of the Genoa boys they should be in the finals with Rockford. The team is composed of the fastest men that ever graced a Genoa floor, they know basket ball and they can play when the occasion demands—here's hoping. They will open the tournament with Pecatonica at 3:30 this (Thursday) afternoon. The pairings are as follows:

- 1. Pecatonica vs. Genoa. 2. Dixon vs. Rockton. 3. Franklin Grove vs. Stillman Valley. 4. Rochelle vs. Rockford. 5. Lee Center vs. Monroe Center. 6. Oregon vs. Rock Falls. 7. Kingston vs. New Milford. 8. Byron vs. Mt. Morris. 9. Harlem vs. No. 1.

P. E. O. SISTERHOOD MET

AURORA-DEKALB LINE DISPUTE

Kaneville Citizens Seek to Compel Israel Joseph to Run Cars on Line

The Kaneville Grain & Supply Co. of Kaneville, Ill., a co-operative firm financed by farmers with a $100,000 capitalization, filed a petition with the Illinois Commerce Commission on Monday, February 19 asking that the commission issue an order restraining Israel Joseph, purchaser of the property of the Chicago, Aurora & DeKalb railroad company, from dismantling the property and for the continuance of service between Aurora and DeKalb.

It will be remembered that a few months ago Mr. Joseph purchased this property from the hands of a receiver for the sum of $90,000 dollars with the object in view of running the cars on a schedule if a way could be made clear that both ends would meet, that is if the line would make expenses. After long consideration on the part of the owner, it was decided to abandon the enterprise and sell the equipment for junk. This aroused the inhabitants of the village of Kaneville for without this railroad they are entirely shut off from the rest of the world in regards to transportation. The farmers are worried because of the $100,000 Grain and Feed business that will be ruined if the tracks are torn up; hence we have the plea before the Commerce Commission.

ESKIMO LIFE PRIMITIVE

"Nanook coming to the Grand Theater in Genoa Friday and Saturday, Mar. 9 and 10 of next week, produced for Revillon Freres by the noted explorer and engineer, Robert J. Flaherty, F. R. G. S., is the real true story of a great Eskimo hunter and his family. The huge and very dangerous walrus, the polar bear and the seal Nanook catches in hand to hand encounter, killing with nothing more formidable than his harpoon on the end of a seal-hide line. He fishes without bait, luring the fish within range of his spear with two small pieces of ivory dangling on seal-hide cords.

His knife is of shining ivory from the tusks of the walrus. So as to cut more easily, Nanook licks it and it is instantly glazed with ice. It is his tool in the building of his winter dwelling—his igloo of snow and ice.

The household belongings of Nanook, his wife and three children consist of a few robes of bear and deer skin, a stone pot and stone lamps. These he carries wherever the search for food takes him on his dog-sledge, made of wood, which is very precious to Nanook. He sometimes walks miles along the beach to find a log that has drifted, perhaps from Winnipeg, a thousand miles away! For light he uses moss for wicking and seal oil for fuel.

Yet, in spite of the hardships of life and its single purpose—food—the Eskimo is the happiest, most content and kindest creature in the world.

Note:—This picture has been advertised for Friday and Saturday of this week, but late Thursday morning Mgr. Goding of the Grand theater received word that the picture could not be sent until next week, March 9 and 10.

FRIENDSHIP CLASS WILL MEET

The Friendship class of the M. E. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Wm. Jeffery on Monday evening, March 5. The following men have charge of the refreshments: G. L. Couch, chairman, John Evans, Arthur Elklor, Wm. Jeffery and Manly Clark.

THE GENERAL IDEA OF THE BANK

The Relationship Between Farmer and Banker - An Inseparable Unit

ADDRESS DELIVERED TO G. T. H. S.

The Following Article is Prepared and Written by the American Bankers Association

This series of Talks on the work of the bank would not be complete unless it included the Relationship of Farmer and Banker. Yet no one would claim that all banks and all farmers, are actively linked. City banks, the lacking in personal contact with the farmer, are giving much thought and attention to the work of developing our farm resources. Farmers are realizing more and more this genuine interest in their welfare. One of the most important commissions of the American Bankers Association is the Agricultural Commission. Much good must come from the cooperation of bankers who take a real interest in rural welfare movements and of farmers who likewise are interested in all projects for the betterment of farm life.

Awaking to Our Opportunities

Only within the last few decades has the truth been brought home to bankers, to farmers, and to people in general that the nation's greatest single business opportunity is the improvement of our farm methods and resources. Agricultural schools in the important agricultural states have done much to show how larger returns are to be had from soil cultivation—facts, which once demonstrated and understood, are bringing greater profit to the farmer. So many fine results have followed the use of new methods on the farm, that no one longer doubts their value. We all realize that even our best farming sections can be made to yield greater profits through more scientific knowledge and handling. Bankers everywhere are striving to do what they can to help farmers in their localities. They are trying to loan them the money they require, and, what is even more important, they are studying the farmers' problems, and are taking an active part in all movements for the benefit of the farming community.

The Bank and the County Farm Agent

Out of the greater interest that has been developed in rural life in nearly all farming sections, there have been established county farm bureaus. Banks have been glad to help, and a great many of them contribute to the support of the county farm agent. Bankers are working hand in hand with them for the good of the entire community, and are helping to direct the farmer and his family, from the more or less narrow habits of former days, into the broader, more scientific, and more satisfactory methods prevailing at the present time. The banker may justly claim that he has with great effectiveness favored and supported the work of the county agent.

Personal Contact

In farming sections the banker and the farmer are in close personal contact. They believe in each other and are perfectly frank about their desire to work together. It pays the farmer to talk over his business affairs with his banker, and it pays the banker to be in the confidence of his customer.

Banking Along Broader Lines

There is a time-honored idea that the typical banker is a man dealing in dollars who has no human interests, although he may, now and then be persuaded to grant a small loan. In the olden days there were, it is true some bankers who felt that the only satisfactory way to conduct the banking business was to have all borrowers make their approach with fear and trembling. Perhaps such a banker could be discovered somewhere today, if a long search were made. The modern bank is everywhere operated on the principle that it helps itself only when it helps others. The bank customers worthy of the name need never contend with any coldness, or holding at arm's length, on the part of the banker. The bank that renders the same financial service to each patron gets the business.

The message that needs to find its way into the home of every farmer in America is that the banks of America are learning how to cooperate

Lithuania and Poland Fighting Over the Vilna Zone and the Railway Line.

RUSSIA MAY BE INVOLVED

Bonar Law's Policy of Hands Off in the Ruhr Sustained by Parliament—French Organize Transport There—Fillbuster Against Ship Subsidy Is Effective.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

DO YOU think the senatorial filibusters are serving the best interests of the American public in preventing a vote on the ship subsidy bill, or are they only playing a selfish political game?

LITHUANIA and Poland have started another little war of their own, which might conceivably disturb the so-called peace of much of Europe. Already the condition is so serious that members of the council of the League of Nations believe the league will be compelled to intervene. The council on February 2 defined the frontier between the two countries, and in so doing it awarded to Poland a strip of territory that includes Vilna and the very important Kovno-Vilna railway. Lithuania was counting on possession of this rail line to provide a connection between Russia and East Prussia whereby she could create a lot of commercial business for herself and especially for the port of Memel, which had been given her after she seized it few weeks ago. Moreover, the Lithuanians were determined not to relinquish their claim to Vilna. Therefore, when the Poles undertook to take possession of the strip in controversy, the Lithuanians immediately started hostilities, at first with "irregulars" and then with their regular army, the claim being made that the Poles were attempting to occupy territory that was incontestably Lithuanian. Proceeding from skirmishes to real battles, the conflicts have resulted in many casualties already, and by the middle of the week heavy artillery had been brought into action. Russia is much disturbed by the affair, and Foreign Minister Tchitcherin sent to both Poland and Lithuania a note stating it was Russia's opinion that Lithuania was right in the controversy and offering Moscow's friendly assistance in settling the dispute. France is so tied up to Poland, financially and otherwise, that her sympathies and perhaps material assistance cannot but go to the Poles.

On Monday the British and French warships left the harbor of Memel, carrying the French troops that had garrisoned the district for two years. The award of Memel to the adjacent district to Lithuania is regarded as a diplomatic victory for Russia over the allies. The Lithuanians have announced their intention of building a new railroad which will unite Russia and Germany. They also expect a great deal of trade with America to pass through the port of Memel.

THOUGH still contending that the French policy in the Ruhr is bad, the British government forces in parliament prevented the adoption of the amendment to the address on the king's speech, calling for action by the council of the League of Nations to submit the whole matter to a conference of experts in which America, it was hoped, would participate. A vote sustaining the amendment would have meant the downfall of the ministry. Instead, the house voted 305 to 190 to sustain Prime Minister Bonar Law's policy of "hands off in the Ruhr." The premier said that intervention at the present time was impossible without destroying the entente; that to refer the matter of reparations to the league would arouse the hostility of France, and probably of Belgium and Italy, against the league. Replying to Lloyd George's appeal to "let America in at all costs to help save France from the consequences of her folly," Mr. Bonar Law said there was "no word spoken or written by any representative of the American government which suggests it is willing to intervene in quarrels in Europe."

So far the French show no signs of desiring to be "saved" by intervention. It seemed last week that one of their greatest problems, the operation of the railways in the occupied region, was about solved. Though the British declined to aid directly in this, they did surrender to the French a strip of the Cologne zone including the rail line from Dusseldorf to Treves and Metz, giving a direct outlet from the Ruhr to France. General Payot, the French chief of communications, said Wednesday: "France has so organized the rail and water transport of occupied Germany that it now is prepared to insure international trains, food supply trains for troops and civilians and trains for coal and necessary military communications. After three weeks of efforts and negotiations we are prepared to handle the normal transport of coal. With French and Belgian workers and those Germans who have not left their posts we have sufficient personnel to meet all our own needs." It was reported the French would expend 5,000 German rail workers who have been active in the campaign of sabotage. Many railway officials have been sentenced to imprisonment for disobedience and inciting the employees to strike.

Premier Thiels of Belgium conferred with Premier Poincare and gave his approval to plans for additional military measures designed to force Germany to submission. These will absolutely shut off the occupied regions from the rest of Germany. Special paper currency for the Ruhr and the Rhineland will be issued, guaranteed by requisition bonds put out by the reparations commission and held against the German government.

The Socialist and other opposition to the Poincare policies has been strengthened in France by the official statement of the costs of the adventure in the Ruhr. The government puts the minimum monthly cost at 50,000,000 francs. The coal France has obtained since the occupation began has cost her $450 a ton. Germany, also, is getting tired of the struggle, and though the Cuno government is still vigorously supporting the industrial magnates in their passive resistance, there are indications that the renewal of negotiations with France may not be far off. Meanwhile government officials in considerable numbers are defying the French order to keep out of the occupied region and are stirring up all the trouble they can for the enemy.

NEITHER night sessions nor any other expedient has, up to the time of writing, had any effect on the senate filibuster by which a small minority is preventing the taking of a vote on the ship subsidy bill. Reed, Caraway, Brookhart, Williams, Heflin and others of this precious gang relieve one another in making long-winded speeches on Russia, Tut-Ankh-Amen, the West Indies—any subject under the sun except ship subsidy; and their efforts seem so well organized that it is generally admitted that the measure is really dead. Majority leaders in the senate planned, if the filibuster did not end with the week, to ask permission of the President to abandon the bill so that pressing business might be transacted during the final week of the session.

Just before taking a recess for Washington's birthday the senate did get a chance to approve the conference report on the army appropriation bill, which carries the $56,000,000 rivers and harbors pork provision.

In the house another filibuster developed over the bill for the purchase by the government of the Cape Cod ship canal. But that sort of thing can be stopped by the house rules.

per bill to extend and liberalize the credit facilities of the federal reserve system for the benefit of agriculture. The house banking and currency committee was scheduled to report only the Capper measure, and the leaders of the farm bloc said in that case they would present the other bill on the floor of the house as an amendment.

CONTENTIONS of organized labor and the position taken by the federal railway labor board were sustained by the Supreme court in a decision in the "company union" case involving the Pennsylvania railroad. The opinion, delivered by Chief Justice Taft, held that the labor board did not exceed its powers when it condemned the methods adopted by the Pennsylvania railroad to establish employee representation in dealing with questions of wages and working conditions. Chairman Ben Hooper of the board said the decision was a long step toward industrial peace on the railroads. "The contention of the employees was in harmony with the spirit of our republican institutions," he said. "Upholding the principle of majority rule in organized labor will greatly conduce to the supremacy of law over force in the adjustment of industrial controversies."

WISCONSIN Socialists came to the front rather startlingly last week. In the lower house of the state assembly they, in combination with the administration forces, put through a bill to abolish the Wisconsin National Guard. The measure was passed by acclamation, the opposition being negligible in numbers. It was taken for granted that the bill would be killed by the senate or vetoed by Governor Blaine, but this did not materially lessen the frantic joy of the Socialists, who felt they had put over something on the so-called progressive majority justifying their claim that the Wisconsin assembly is the most radical of all the state legislatures. The radicals are threatening to pass so many bills that would hamper capital that the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association laid before the legislature a list of 65 manufacturing establishments which have planned large extensions and additions but which will not go forward with the work if pending bills go through. George Kull, secretary of the association, read a formal statement that passage of radical measures, including tax bills now before the legislature, would place an "unfair, discriminatory and unbearable burden upon industry."

THE New York house of representatives, by a vote of 78 to 64, adopted a resolution asking congress to liberalize the Volstead law, and next day the senate approved it. Under an amendment adopted the resolution must be signed by Governor Smith to be effective. The Democrats rather resented this way of "making the governor a clerk for the transmission of the memorial," but it was said Mr. Smith would comply with the requirement.

THEOPHILE DELCASSE, one of the most eminent French statesmen of this generation, died last week in Nice. He became minister of foreign affairs in 1898 and held the post eleven years in five successive cabinets. Among his great achievements was the creation of the entente cordiale between France and Great Britain. Apparently foreseeing the World war, he succeeded in forcing Italy and the central empires apart and in conciliating the opposing interests of Russia and England, thus preparing the ground for the quadruple entente.

Another notable figure passed away last week in the death of Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the famous cavalry general of the Civil war, in her home in Washington. She succumbed to influenza. Mrs. Logan, who was eighty-six years old, never lost her active interest in public affairs.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY was made the occasion of gatherings, in Chicago and New York, of several thousands of hyphenates who hotly demanded that France be compelled to drop the Ruhr invasion. Nominally "German-American" meetings, they were addressed especially by certain "Irish-Americans" who are notorious as haters of England and lovers of Germany, and who formerly tried to induce America to fight England for Ireland's sake.

WALLACE ACTS IN PACKER DEAL

Takes Steps to Prevent Merger of the Big Chicago Interests.

SECRETARY FILES COMPLAINT

Alleges Proposed Purchase Violates Law and Tends to Lessen Competition—Test Case Says Head of Armour Company.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace took steps to prevent the merger of the big packing interests of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. Acting under the packer control law, the secretary served a formal complaint against the two packing interests, alleging that the combination would be in violation of this law.

Information received by the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Wallace said, is that a tentative agreement for the merger had already been reached. The two packing companies will have an opportunity to present their case before the Secretary of Agriculture on April 2. If upon the basis of evidence then submitted the secretary is of the opinion that the combination is in violation of the packer control law an order "to cease and desist" from its consummation will be entered.

From this decision the packers may appeal to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago and then the case may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. Expedition of the legal proceedings is provided for by the law and heavy penalties for violation of the "cease and desist" order may be imposed by the court.

The main basis of Secretary Wallace's complaint against the proposed combine is that it would lessen competition, particularly in the buying of live stock, and this would injure the American farmer, whose rights the control law protects.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., issued a statement saying that the government's complaint against Armour & Co., and Morris & Co. to prevent the proposed merger of the two firms was filed merely to allow the courts to pass on the legality of the proposed merger, to which the administration seems to see no objection.

CONFESSES TO KILLING BABY

Philadelphia Man Leads Police to Body of Little Victim in Tree Stump Hole.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 27.—Wylie Morgan, the prisoner held in connection with the kidnaping of six-year-old Lillian Gilmore and her five-year-old sister, Dorothy, confessed and led the detectives to a spot on the Heshaminy creek, near Croysdon, Pa., where the body of Lillian was found in a tree stump hole on the bank of the stream. Croysdon is twenty miles north of this city.

The condition of Dorothy, who, after having been put out of the motor car in an isolated section, made her way home and identified Morgan as the man who had carried her and her sister off, was reported as improved.

Gotham Police Are Baffled by Strange Crime—Detectives in Hunt for Woman.

New York, Feb. 27.—Frederick Schneider, wealthy contractor and builder of "The Theodore Roosevelt," the largest apartment house in the world, was shot to death in his automobile at a lonely spot at Clason Point. Thirty detectives are hunting for a woman who hurried away from the automobile as it stopped.

PROBES SMUGGLING ALIENS

Secretary Davis Declares Steamship Companies Leave Excess Members of Crew Here.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Secretary of Labor Davis ordered an investigation of the widespread smuggling of aliens into the United States. Wholesale violations of the immigration law are being reported from nearly every port, he said. He says foreign steamship companies leave members of crews in America.

French Punish Bochumites.

Bochum, Feb. 27.—This city is completely surrounded by French troops, all business and traffic is suspended, and only women and children are allowed on the streets. These measures were taken by the French to punish the Germans for boycotting the soldiers.

Britain's Arable Area Reduced.
The arable area of Great Britain since 1918 has been continuously reduced. Land now under the plow is not much greater in extent than immediately before the war, according to a report from the board of agriculture. The total area under crops and grass showed less change in 1922 than for several years past, the figures being 26,025,000 acres in 1922, against 26,140,000 in 1921. The arable area, however, was reduced by 308,000 acres, while the permanent grass area was increased by 189,000 acres.

INTERESTING FACTS

106,327 FORD CARS and TRUCKS RETAILED IN NOVEMBER

Approximately the same number scheduled for delivery this month

What Does This Mean?

This volume of deliveries to actual owners is entirely unprecedented for this time of year—
It has taxed the manufacturing ability of the Ford plants working at full capacity.—

It indicates a volume of business during the rapidly approaching months of "heavy demand" which will be far beyond the maximum production schedule which the Ford Motor Company has set—

And that means a Ford shortage even more acute than the one which existed last Spring and Summer—Dealers' stocks all over the country are low—there are no reserves to draw upon to meet the demands for delivery—

There is no way in which dealer reserves can be built up, as deliveries have been made to customers as fast as cars could be manufactured since last April—

The only way you can protect your desire to obtain prompt delivery of a Ford even at this time is to place your order immediately—

This emphasizes more strongly than anything we could possibly say the necessity of your making prompt arrangements with a Ford Dealer for listing your order, particularly if you are contemplating the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for this Spring or Summer.

We believe you are entitled to know these facts as they actually exist

ODD DISHES OF OLDEN TIME

Sample Menu of William the Conqueror included "Dainties" Which Make No Appeal Today.

William the Conqueror brought from Normandy a full kitchen force with him to England. An example of one of his meals runs:

First course: Boar's head with its tusks in its snout, garnished with flowers.

Second course: Venison, cranes, peacocks, swans, wild geese, kids, pigs and hens.

Third course: Spiced and seasoned meat, with wine, red and white.

Fourth course: Pheasants, woodcocks, partridges, larks, plovers.

Fifth course: Sweetbreads, white powder (sugar).

After a joust-at-arms a banquet was often served. Among other foods a peacock, still in its plumage, was placed in a "coffin of paste," the neck erect, tall expanded about the crust and comb richly gilded. Carried into the hall on a silver dish, heralded by a blast of trumpets, it was placed before some knight, victorious in the day's tourney. "Rising, it was the custom to break the crust, vowing at the same time to rescue some captive lady from some mythical monster or die, though his vow, like the pie crust, was made to be broken."

The pastries and loaves of bread were not forgotten. Wine, ale and beer were served. Three hours or more were given over to the feast, while jesters, tumblers, jugglers and minstrels amused the guests.

CALLED "CRADLE" OF CHURCH

Edifice in Kent County, Delaware, of Peculiar Interest to Methodists of the United States.

Barratt's chapel, in Kent county, Delaware, is sometimes called the cradle of American Methodism. This chapel, now as solid as the day it was finished, was built probably in 1780-81 upon land deeded for the purpose by Philip Barratt in Murderkill Hundred. Here in 1874 Bishop Thomas Coke of the Methodist church met Bishop Francis Asbury, the latter the first man in America ordained by the Methodists to the episcopal office. Out of the meeting grew a plan to carry Methodism all over the United States.

The first native Methodist minister in America is said to have been Richard Owen of Maryland. One of the most famous of such ministers was "Father" Joshua Thomas, who for the better part of a half century traveled up and down the Chesapeake in a big "bugeye," as the long, narrow, and very staunch boats of a certain type are called, preaching to the islanders, most of whom were and are fishermen.

Father Thomas preached to the British army on Tangier Island in 1814 on its way to besiege Baltimore.

Camel Is Horse, Cow and Sheep.

Without the camel the hot deserts of the Old World would lie unpeopled and unknown. In the hot, dry desert regions the camel is the horse, the cow, and the sheep of the herders and traders. He carries all the burdens, he furnishes flesh and milk for food, and his hair or wool furnishes material for weaving cloth. At night in camp the little children of the chief get cups of the camel's thick, cheesy milk, mixed with water. On the chief's table is cooked camel flesh. The herders wear robes and turbans of brown camel's-hair cloth. The master sleeps under a camel's-hair tent.

For many hundreds of years the camel has been one of the most useful animals to men, because of his great strength and his ability to endure heat, thirst and hunger.

No Antique Rugs in Smyrna.

The antique rugs of Smyrna have entirely disappeared. It is said to be impossible to find a rug in that country that is more than twenty years old. Of course this fact is concealed from prospective buyers by various tricks which make the rug look like one of ancient origin, but the deception becomes apparent after a short time. The rug business of that country has been all "shot up" by the war and the prospects are that good specimens of Smyrna rugs will soon be rare and valuable. While one hears Oriental rugs referred to generally as Turkish, the fact is that the rugs of Turkey are the coarsest and most indifferent from every standpoint. It was the Armenians who did the best work in rug weaving and next to these are the Greeks.

Best Book Was Labor of Love.

"Unc' Edinburg's Drownin'," which Thomas Nelson Page considered the best picture of life in old Virginia which he had ever drawn, was written to obtain money with which to purchase his engagement ring to the lovely bride of his youth, Anne Seddon Bruce, daughter of Charles Bruce of Stanton Hill, Charlotte county, Virginia.

The description of the heroine, although not identically the same, was that of his fiancée, while the setting of the scenes was the home of Mrs. Bruce's brother, the late Seddon Bruce of Richmond, which she often visited in her girlhood.

Got on His Nerves.

"Why did you rise up and hit that man who was complaining about the discomforts of traveling in a Pullman?"

"Less than a week ago," said the belligerent person with a shudder, "less than a week ago I completed a trip across the continent in a flivver."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Progress.
The man who is ready to give pledge that the opinion he will hold tomorrow will be precisely the opinion he holds today has either thought very little, or to little purpose, or has resolved to quit thinking altogether.—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Sagacity of Wild Creatures.
Wild animals know where to find protection, says the Department of Agriculture. In places where there are game sanctuaries, wild creatures hasten to them at the beginning of every open hunting season.

First "Trust" in United States.
The first of the industrial trusts was formed in 1879 by the Standard Oil interests under the guiding genius of S. C. T. Todd, later vice president and general counsel of that unusual aggregation of properties and brains. The success of the Standard Oil trust was so pronounced that within the decade immediately following a half-dozen other trusts were formed and began operation.

Mirror Not New; Looking Glass Is.
In Greece and in Rome wealthy people adorned the walls of their houses with polished, shining plates of copper, gold or silver. The pieces were square, provided with a nicely carved frame and were polished afresh by slaves every day so that their masters and mistresses might look at themselves in the metal mirrors.

Up to the Fifteenth century Europe did not know the glass mirrors. These were first made in Venice and acquired an enormous fame which they have held to the present time. It seems as though no other city is able to rival Venice in the manufacture of mirrors.

Names.
A writer has just issued a list of girls' names and what they stand for in most people's minds. Lucy, he says, suggests to most people a girl who is tender and clinging. Margaret and Elizabeth carry a cross, but bear it with patience and courage. Olive is successful and hard. Susan and Sally are bewitching. Ethel has no imagination. Madge has a brilliant wit. But for a truly womanly woman, says the writer, choose Anne.—Exchange.

Womanly Interest.
Small Susan, the youngest niece, was taken by the Woman up to Lincoln park to view the animals. Though she was deeply interested in all, especially the fierce ones, like lions and tigers. It was at the elephant that she gazed longest and hardest. At last she turned to the Woman and whispered, anxiously: "Auntie, aren't his trousers awful loose?"—Chicago Journal.

Hebrew Weights and Measures.
According to a table of Hebrew weights and measures, given in Smith's Dictionary of the Bible, the cubit was a measure of length and was equal to 19.0515 inches of our measure or approximately 1 foot 7 inches. The reed for measuring buildings was equal to 6 cubits, that is, to 114.3 inches. However, the dictionary states that the values given in the table are to be accepted with reservation for want of greater certainty.

Fingers Made Musical.
Musicians need long and supple fingers. Those whose fingers are short, and who have musical ambitions may be interested to know that a European has invented a machine that will make musical fingers. The hand is inserted in the machine and pressure is applied in such a way as to stretch the bone and flex the joints, without pain or injury, so the inventor says.

was fined $130. He is from DeKalb.

Oscar Vatne of Genoa was brought up before Judge Pond on information charging him with selling rabbits after the close of the season. Vatne shipped some rabbits to a commission house in Chicago on February 5 which were seized by a deputy game warden. The season closed January 31 but this Vatne explained to the court he did not know. He was fined $15.00 and costs or a total of $41. He had shipped 42 rabbits. However he can consider himself fortunate as according to law the shipping of each rabbit constitutes a separate violation subject to a fine of $15 in each case.

Dynamite Hard to Explode.
Curiously enough, one of the safest cargoes is dynamite, which is amongst the most violent of all explosives. Except in very exceptional circumstances, dynamite will not explode unless it receives an intensely hot flash from some kind of detonator. For taxes	$ 9,000,000
For employes in payrolls, over 80,600,000
To other industries—large and small—for materials or services, about 49,000,000
Total—excluding rents and interest	$138,600,000

This great sum turned back to the public (Merchants, manufacturers, employes and the state) indicates the importance of the transportation industry to the material welfare of the Nation.

These expenditures absorbed nearly all the earnings of the Milwaukee Road during 1922, and, after paying rentals and interest, there was nothing left for its 22,000 stockholders who have received no dividends since 1917.

This result, typical of railroad operation in recent years, shows there is no foundation for the charge that what is called "Wall Street" gets a large part of the money taken in by the railroads.

Little Banking Stories

A Very Easy System

One of our patrons has tried several plans for keeping a record of all his income and expense during the year—but he has found all of them a lot of trouble to keep up-to-date.

But he has a fine system now.

The bank is keeping this record for him. He deposits all of his earnings in the bank and then he writes checks for all the money he spends. Even for his pocket money he writes a check once in a while and marks it "Misc. Exp."

When he wants to know the amount of his income he looks at his bank book.

When he wants to find out what he is spending, he looks over his canceled checks. The plan is easy. Try it!!

Classic Slang

Considerable so-called slang is classic. "Escape with the skin of my teeth" is from Job. "He is a brick" is from Plutarch. That historian tells of a king of Sparta who boasted that his army was the only wall of the city, "and every man is a brick." We call a fair and honest man a "square man," but the Greeks described the same person as Tetragonous—"a four-cornered man."

"Every dog has his day" is commonly attributed to Shakespeare, in Hamlet's speech, "The cat will mew and the dog will have its day." But 40 years before "Hamlet" Heyworth wrote, "But, as every man saith, a dog hath his dale."

A man soon gets used to the distrust he has of himself.

AGRICULTURE

Farming Factors in Illinois

By DEAN H. W. MUMFORD, University of Illinois.

We know that there are certain parts of Illinois that are particularly noted for the large production of dairy products, others beef cattle and hogs, others corn and oats, and others fruit and vegetables. Within these various districts, the problem of the individual farmer in the selection of the system of farming is an individual problem, but in leading up to this conclusion, it is clear that the question of systems of farming has its district, state and regional, its national and its international, as well as its local aspects.

The determination of the type of farming in a locality or region rests upon a number of factors, physical, biological and economic. The same factors that have determined the type of agriculture of the region pertain to a greater or less extent in the determination of the system of farming upon the individual farm. The tendency of agricultural practice in the large is statistical. For a variety of reasons, it is difficult for the individual, or for the region, to deviate to any great extent from the commonly accepted "good practice." Some of the physical, biological and economic conditions which affect systems of farming are the topography of the land, the fertility of the soil, the climate and weather, the markets, the population, both on the farm and in the surrounding easily accessible territory, the availability of labor, transportation—including roads, railroads and waterways—insect pests, diseases of both plants and animals, and competing areas. Even the question of the tariff is a large determining factor in giving direction to the agricultural practice of a region. In some cases, some one of these considerations is much more important than in others. Just so, a marked change in any one of these conditions may have an important influence on the agriculture, or its influence may be but slight. Wherever these conditions are in a state of flux, the agriculture of the region becomes disturbed. It is the progressive farmer, who, under such circumstances, quickly adjusts his farming system to the new conditions.

We have used land extravagantly, but as we begin to feel the limitation of our land supply a great premium has been placed upon good land. As a result, land in Illinois is now high priced. Success in farming depends upon the most intelligent use and care of the soil. The Illinois farmer now has a wide range in the choice of products which meet some demand in the market, but his problem is complicated through the necessity of combining crop and live stock enterprises on the farm in a way which makes the farm an economical production unit, and on the other hand by determining the relative future demand for products in the market. In other words, to put the whole matter briefly, the problem is one of securing as wide a margin as possible between the cost of production of all products raised on the farm and the market price. In choosing a rotation of crops, his problem is not one of simply determining the crops that will return the largest gross value of product per acre, because different crops make different demands on the fertility of the soil, and have different labor demands. The economy of production depends upon combining the maximum paying crop of the area with other crops and introducing legumes which, when combined in proper proportion, give the maximum profit combination. Nor is the problem fully solved when the crop rotation is determined. Investigation and observation indicate that the most profitable type of farming is the combination of live stock and crops. Any rational system of crop production produces a large amount of unsalable crops or crop product. Many crops can be marketed to best advantage only when consumed by live stock. Likewise, a large percentage of the farms have a considerable area of pasture to be marketed. We frequently overlook the fact that over half of the weight of crops produced in such a rotation as corn, oats, wheat and clover is made up in roughage in the form of corn stover, straw and legume hay, which is unprofitable to sell from the farm either from the standpoint of market demands or in accordance with good farming practice. Hence, the problem of the farmer is to secure the balance between crops and live stock enterprises which will harmonize the market demands, the adaptation of the individual farm, and the organization of the farm for economy of production.

It is because of the desire of the Illinois farmer to improve his individual efficiency that he is constantly studying his problem and that he is more earnestly seeking information that may or may not be available. The reason for the maintenance of the experiment station is that new problems may be investigated in order to accumulate new facts, and working in co-operation with the extension service, these new facts, together with the old, may quickly affect the agriculture of the state and that the individual farmer may make his a more profitable enterprise. The problem of the individual farmer in determining upon the system of farming adapted to his local conditions, is necessary in order to provide, first, for the economical maintenance of the fertility of the soil, thus providing for a permanent agriculture; second, the efficient use of man and horse labor, which makes up a very large part of the cost of production of farm products; third, the physical and economic organization of the farm, which will provide for the most economical use of equipment in the way of fences, buildings and machinery. The importance of the size of the farm fields and the arrangement of buildings as important factors from the standpoint of economical operation of the farm have not been sufficiently stressed; fourth, in order to provide the best use of credit facilities.

Some of the more important changes in our Illinois systems of farming needed to accomplish these results are:

1. A very large increase in the acreage in legumes, such as clover, sweet and common, alfalfa, soy beans and cow peas.
2. The more general introduction of live stock. On most Illinois farms, particularly in the so-called corn-growing areas of the state, a suitable combination of crops and live stock in a system of diversified farming, combining live stock and crop enterprises in such a way as to use to the best advantage crops and crop residues.
3. The greater use and more general development of the minor farm enterprises, both to increase the farm income by a further use of all the resources of the farm for productive purposes, and to raise the standard of living.
4. The planting to forests of lands adapted to forestry, upon which farming cannot be made a profitable enterprise.
5. The development, where practicable, of systems of farming in harmony with local demand.

More Good Farm Horses

Farm communities should breed their own replacement stock with a few good ones to sell, says J. L. Edmonds of the University of Illinois. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace lists over-production of many farm crops first among six factors in causing the abnormal relationship of farm prices to prices of other goods. The diverting of the necessary feed, grain, roughage, and pasture to grow horses and keep work horses will prevent the dumping of such large quantities of grain on the market. The reduction of surplus thus brought about will do much to prevent ruinous prices for farm products. Selling horse feeds and buying other fuel to do the horses' work, not only involves the paying of two freight charges, but the crop surplus (which would be created if many farmers were to sell coarse grains) might so reduce the market price as to return to the farmer less cash for the total grain crop than he would have received for the rest, left after providing the grain for his work stock.

Since the use of horses is sound economy and since a large proportion of our work horses are old, unsound, and never were of a desirable type, it would seem that now is a logical time to increase the production of the right kind. The prices of really good ones are not so low when compared with present grain prices. If only desirable mares and stallions are mated there need be no fear of over-production. Attention must be paid to individual merit. Some communities have given their horses so many crosses of inferior, unsound, draft stallions, stallions almost entirely lacking in the features which make a work horse useful, that it is no wonder farmers are turning to mules and tractors. A good test of a work horse is his ability to stand hard work during hot weather.

Mildew in Lettuce

Gardeners who have a hotbed for the purpose of raising lettuce indoors for winter use should beware of the "downy mildew," a disease which attacks the young plants, especially after a period of wet weather and which stunts the growth so that the plants are of no value.

This disease can be controlled easily if it is detected in the soil by the use of the bordeaux mixture. Mix the preparation at the rate of 4-5-50 and apply to the plants as soon as they are up. The second spray is applied at the time the plants are picked off and if a third application is necessary it is put on at the time the small plants are transplanted to a permanent bed.

Where dark, damp weather prevails it is necessary to keep the hotbed and house properly ventilated. Also see that the plants are kept as dry as possible during this time, and the mildew can be controlled.

Good name in man or woman, dear my lord,
Is the immediate jewel of their souls;
Who steals my purse, steals trash;
'Tis something, nothing;
'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been

But he, that filches from me my good name,
Robs me of that, which not enriches
him,
And makes me poor indeed.

DISHES FOR THE CONVALESCENT

The convalescent should be given as much variety in food as possible, as weak digestions and poor appetites are apt to tire of food served in the same way much quicker than persons in health.

It is hard to realize that a person who is ill or is recovering from illness is out of balance mentally as well as physically, so it is necessary to be patient and humor them as much as is possible. Persons recovering from a fever are apt to be ravenously hungry and will eat more than is good for them. The liquid food may be given in larger quantities, but the solid food must be given in small quantities.

Bisque of Clam and Sago.—Boil an ounce of sago in salted water—the water in which the sago has soaked over night. Cook until perfectly transparent, then add one-half cupful of boiling milk and a teaspoonful of butter. Pass the clams through a meat chopper, bring them to a boil in their own liquor, add the sago, season to taste with salt and pepper, thicken with cracker crumbs and serve in a pretty bowl with thin toasted bread.

Prune Whip.—Stew a half-dozen prunes with a little sugar and lemon juice, in the same water in which they have been soaked over night. Put them through a sieve, add the beaten white of an egg and serve heaped in a glass with a dot of whipped cream.

Pineapple Pudding.—Place in a double boiler a half cupful of water. When boiling add a tablespoonful of sugar and stir in the yolk of an egg mixed with a teaspoonful of cornstarch. Stir until smooth and thick, then add one-half cupful of grated pineapple or pineapple juice. Beat to the boiling point, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and chill. Heap up in a glass or pretty pudding dish and top with whipped cream.

Plum Pudding Sauce.—Put one-half cupful of butter and one tablespoonful of flour into a saucepan and stir until thick; then add one-half cupful of water or canned fruit juice, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, the grated rind of half a lemon. Separate the yolks and whites of four eggs. Beat the yolks and add to the sauce, beating briskly; let the sauce cook over the fire at a simmering point, fold in the stiffly beaten whites and serve.

Let us be better men!
In a world that needs so much
The lotter spirit's touch.
Let us grow upward toward the light
Wedded to wanting to do right.
Rather than wedded to human might

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A salad which is especially good at this season and of materials found in the home and market is:

Peach and Grapefruit Salad.—On heart leaves of lettuce arrange halves of canned peaches, fill the centers with finely-shredded celery and arrange sections of grapefruit around the peaches; sprinkle with chopped pecan meats and serve with the following dressing: Beat until firm one-half cupful of cream, add paprika, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Place a spoonful of this dressing on the peach and garnish with a candied cherry.

Oatmeal Bread.—Take one-half cupful of boiling water, let stand until lukewarm, then add one-fourth of a cupful of molasses, one teaspoonful of salt. Dissolve one-fourth of a yeast cake in a little water, stir in all the flour it is possible to put into the mixture, using a spoon; let rise over night or until light. Pour into a bread pan and let rise until twice its size. Bake in a moderate oven for two hours.

Shredded Eggs With Bacon.—Into ramekins, brushed with butter, place a tablespoonful of cooked bacon, break an egg into each cup, sprinkle with seasoning and set into the oven to bake just long enough to set the egg.

Raisin Gruel.—Take a dozen large raisins, seed, place in a double boiler and pour over them a pint of boiling water; cook for an hour. Strain off the water and thicken it with one teaspoonful of cornstarch dissolved in a tablespoonful of milk; stir constantly while adding, cook ten minutes or longer, add salt and sugar to taste. Let stand until cool, then add one-half cupful of good milk.

Cold roast pork, cut into dice with a cupful of apple and one-half cupful of celery to a cupful of the pork, served with a salad dressing, is a very nourishing and substantial salad combination.

SINGS WITH JOY WHILE AT WORK

Mrs. Banes Says Tanlac Ended Indigestion, Sourness and Palpitations and Made Labors Light.

"Tanlac has helped me so much I wish everyone suffering like I did would follow my suggestion to use it," said Mrs. Sadie Banes, 2037 Washington St., Kansas City, Mo., the other day. "Before I took Tanlac my appetite was so poor it seemed beyond cultivation, and the little I managed to eat gave me indigestion and caused awful sourness and palpitation. I was simply miserable from nervous headaches, dizziness and knife-like pains in my back, always slept poorly, and felt so bad that at times I just had to quit my housework and lie down.

"Tanlac was so well suited to my case that it has only taken three bottles, half of the full treatment, to restore me to perfect health. It makes me so happy to be without an ache, pain or trouble of any kind that I go about my work humming and singing. I just can't help rejoicing over what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

Where "Flapper" Idea Came From.

It is said that the original flapper was the Haytian girl who adopted short skirts decades ago and who used to "roll her own" as far back as 1915. The girls of that island make regular trips to market and it is their custom to ride on the back of burros. They carry their stockings and slippers under their arms until they reach the outskirts of the city and then as they ride along they don their footwear, the stockings being held in place by a deft twist about the tops just as our girls have been doing lately. As they return home the footwear is removed and laid away.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

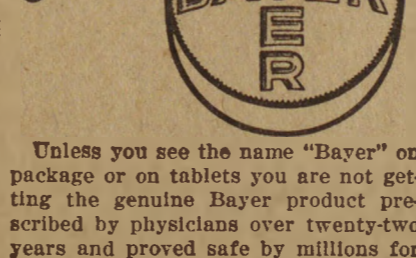

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

CHILDLESS HOMES MADE HAPPY

Presence of Little Ones a Great Blessing

Four Interesting Letters

Cortland, N. Y.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was weak and wanted to become strong and have a child. My husband read about it in the 'Cortland Standard' and thought it might help me. It certainly did for I now have a lovely boy fifteen months old who weighs forty pounds. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends and you can certainly use my testimonial in your little books and in the newspapers, as it might help to make some other childless home happy by the presence of little ones as it has done mine."—Mrs. CLAUDE P. CANFIELD, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N. Y.

A Message to Mothers

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound since girlhood, having taken it when I was younger and suffering from a weakness and backache. Lately I have taken it again to strengthen me before the birth of my child, as I was troubled with pains in my back and a lifeless, weak feeling. I think if mothers would only take your wonderful medicine they would not dread childbirth as they do. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman."—Mrs. JOS. FALCON, JR., 622 S. 11th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

Falseness's Many Faces.
If falseness had, like truth, but one face only, we would be upon better terms; for we should then take the contrary to what the liar says for certain truth; but the reverse for truth hath a hundred faces, and is a field indefinite without bound or limit.—Montaigne.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion.
Nothing better than Cuticura. Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, scalp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me seven years ago. I was run down and had a weakness such as women often have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after being married sixteen years became the mother of a sweet little girl. I now have four lovely children—three, fine boys and the little girl six years old. I had longed for children all the while and wept many a day and envied every woman with a child. I was 36 years old when my first baby was born. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is ailing with female weakness."—Mrs. J. NAUMANN, 1517 Benton St., St. Louis, Mo.

Was Weak and Run Down

St. Louis, Mo.—"My mother took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl, and when I was troubled with cramps I took it, and later when I married I again took it to make me strong as the doctor said I was weak and run down and could not have children. I took it and got along fine and now I have three girls. So you know why I keep the Compound in the house. I am a well woman and do my work and sewing too."—Mrs. JULIUS HARTMAN, 2501 W. Dodder St., St. Louis, Mo.

A PROCLAMATION

Governor Small, by virtue of the power invested in him by the state and General Assembly has designated Friday, April 13 and Friday October 26 as Arbor and Bird Days respectively. It is his request that these days be observed throughout the state by the planting and care of trees, shrubs, and vines, and by the holding of suitable exercises by community bodies, in the public schools and elsewhere, in order to stimulate the interest and enlarge the activities of our people, men and women girls and boys in the propagation and care of tree and plant life, and in the protection of the native song and game birds.

CANNIBALS NOT ALL SAVAGES

Herman Melville Has Left on Record a Description of One Almost Lovable Individual.

Cannibals are not always the fierce warriors we imagine them to be. So at least Herman Melville tells us in Typee, that delightful story of the South seas. As an example of a gentle man-eater he mentions Marheyo, an eccentric old man at whose house he stayed during his four months of captivity among barbarians in the valley of Typee.

Frequently, says Mr. Melville, you might have seen Marheyo take a nap in the sun at noonday, or a bath in the stream at midnight. Once I beheld him eight feet from the ground in the tuft of a coconut tree, smoking, and often I saw him standing up to the waist in water engaged in plucking out stray hairs of his beard; he used a piece of mussel shell for tweezers; I remember in particular his having a choice pair of ear ornaments that were made from the teeth of some sea monster. He would alternately wear them and take them off at least 50 times in the course of a day; on each occasion he would go to and come from his little hut with all the tranquillity imaginable. Sometimes slipping the ornaments through the silts of his ears, he would seize his spear and go stalking beneath the shadows of the neighboring groves, as if he were about to meet some hostile cannibal knight. But he would soon return again and, hiding his weapon under the projecting eaves of the house, and rolling his clumsy trinkets carefully into a piece of tapa, would resume his more pacific operations as quietly as if he had never interrupted them.—Youth's Companion.

WERE ONE IN MISFORTUNE

Guests of Forgetful Man Had Somewhat Peculiar Introduction, but It Turned Out Right.

A certain gentleman in London used to entertain a great deal. Every Friday night, writes Mr. G. B. Burgin in his "Memoirs of a Clubman," he would invite us to meet some celebrity at his house. Sometimes, however, the gentleman would forget and ask two social hions for the same evening; then something amusing might happen.

One night a bronzed and bearded solitary man, very much bored, was sitting on a divan in the charming Japanese room at the end of the host's suite. Another bronzed and bearded man entered and sat down close to him. For a time they watched the crowd in silence through the Japanese curtains.

"I say," one said to the other at last, "I've just come from Africa and don't know a soul here."

"Same with me," the first replied promptly and pulled a card out of his pocket. "I'm invited to meet a silly ass named—"

The other man puled a similar card out of his pocket. "That's my name," he said and grinned delightedly. "I'm invited to meet a silly ass named—"

"I'm that silly ass. Come out with me and have some supper."

And they went off arm in arm.

Where Birds Go to Die.

It is often regarded as remarkable that so few dead birds are found in the country. What, we are often asked, becomes of the thousands of birds that must die annually. A little reflection will show that there is no great mystery in the matter. As death draws near all wild creatures, with the singular exception of shrews, seek the deepest seclusion, and in our fields and woodlands there are innumerable nooks and recesses where the tiny bodies would evade attention. A correspondent recently stated that he found in a hollow tree no less than the remains of 200 sparrows. Again, in the country, rapacious beasts—rats, stoats and weasels—are for ever on the prowl, ready to pick up anything in the way of a meal that may fall by the wayside.

The Best Cosmetics.

Many years ago an old New England lady wrote out the following list on toilet articles and advised all women to acquire and use them:

First—Self-knowledge, a mirror showing the form in the most perfect light.

Second—Innocence, a white paint beautiful but easily soiled and requiring continual care to preserve its lustre.

Third—Modesty, a rouge giving a delicate light bloom to the cheeks.

Fourth—Contentment, an infallible Fifth—Truth, a salve rendering the lips soft and delicious.

Sixth—Gentleness, a cordial imparting sweetness to the voice.

Seventh—Good humor, a universal beautifier.—Boston Transcript.

Apt Expression.

In a recent story occurs the phrase: "The living room fairly leaped through the door to greet you." Living seems to be the correct word, in the circumstances.

A Big Economy For Small Car

The two things that make a tire economical are:

First—The amount of value built into it.
Second—The amount of mileage taken out by you.

With the largest Clincher tire building organization in the world: Goodyear can build Clincher tires as cheaply as any one can.

Instead of building tires as cheaply as possible, Goodyear makes them as good as possible.

With Goodyear tires on your Overland, Ford Chevrolet, Maxwell or Dort, you can enjoy greater satisfaction and less tire trouble and best of all, lower final cost.

Because of this lower final cost More People Ride on Goodyears than on any other kind.

We sell Goodyears which give you the greatest tire value today, and our service helps you get all this value out of them.

Illinois Central System Directs Attention to Its Territory as a Superior Location for Industries

When a community sets out to impress its desirability upon those who are planning to open a new industry or to relocate one that has already been established, the citizens of that community find that their best talking point is efficient and reliable railway service. Since an industry must have good railway service, the certainty or uncertainty of this service is often the deciding factor in the selection of a suitable location for its plant.

The territory of the Illinois Central System—a railroad reaching from the Great Lakes at Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico at New Orleans and from the upper Missouri River valley at Omaha, Sioux City and Sioux Falls to the Atlantic seaboard at Savannah, with a network of feeder lines woven through the fertile and incomparable Mississippi Valley—as a location for industries offers advantages of a superior nature. In addition to its splendid transportation facilities, this territory embraces the greatest food and cotton producing section of the country. It is also rich in mine and forest resources and is rapidly becoming the manufacturing center of the United States. Any size or kind of town or city that an industry could seek is to be found on the Illinois Central System.

By exerting every effort for producing uniformly efficient service, the Illinois Central System is striving to do its part in making communities on its lines desirable as industry locations. But that is not all. A Development Bureau is maintained by the railroad, one of its duties being to see that the desirability of the Illinois Central System territory is impressed upon those planning to establish new industries or to move old ones. This bureau is prepared to advance complete and reliable information as to the commercial advantages of any community on the Illinois Central System.

For example, the Development Bureau has industrial surveys on file covering population, transportation lines, availability of raw materials, electric and water power service, rates on gas and electricity, water supply, labor and housing conditions, taxes, resources and deposits of banks, fire protection, schools, churches, recreation facilities, available sites and industries already located. The bureau's representatives are available to all those seeking industry sites. Their expert advice is an introduction to the personal touch in service that patrons of the Illinois Central System have come to rely upon.

The Illinois Central System is anxious to serve its patrons, the citizens of the communities upon its lines. Every attention possible will be given to building up business for these communities.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.
