

Governors of Illinois

CHARLES S. DENEEN—1905—

Charles Samuel Deneen, the present governor of Illinois, was born May 4, 1863, at Edwardsville, Ill. His father, Samuel H. Deneen, Ph. D., was professor of Latin and history at McKendree college at Lebanon, Ill., of which institution Governor Deneen is an alumnus and at the present time president of the board of trustees. The young man taught school in Jasper and Madison counties for three years after his graduation. He then began to practice law in Chicago. He served one term in the legislature in 1892. In December, 1895, he was appointed attorney for the sanitary district of Chicago, which position he held until April, 1896, when he was nominated for state's attorney of Cook county. He filled this office two terms. He married Miss Blma Day Maloney of Mount Carrol, Ill., May 10, 1891. They have four children, one son and three daughters.

M. W. A. MEMORIAL

Rev. F. F. Farmiloe in His Usual Happy Mood Last Sunday

More than one hundred members of Genoa Camp No. 163 M. W. A. attended services at the M. E. church last Sunday morning in memory of departed neighbors. After the services they marched to the cemetery and decorated the graves.

Rev. Farmiloe was in his usual happy mood and preached one of his characteristic sermons, which always please a Genoa audience. We call his sermon characteristic, because it was of the Farmiloe style when he appears before a Genoa audience. He did not use a text from Scripture, but rather based his sermon on his knowledge of the ways of Genoa people and the moral teachings of Woodcraft. He sympathized with his old friends in their sorrows, rejoiced with them in their progress. He spoke of Woodcraft from a Christian standpoint and pointed out its many advantages to the living as well as to the beneficiary after death. His entire sermon could be boiled down to three words as a text "Help One Another."

A GOOD COMPANY

Fred Raymond's Troup Makes Good as Usual

Fred Raymond's Sycamore stock company presented the comedy drama "Maud Muller" at the local opera house last Thursday evening and appeared in "A Gay Old Boy" on Wednesday evening of this week. Both shows were full of fun and still had enough seriousness mixed in to make them just what the people want. Raymond is at his best this year and has a company of accomplished players.

The company will present a drama in Genoa every Thursday evening during the season providing the patronage is good. The play for next week will be "Old Eckles' Daughter" and patrons may be sure that it will be good.

CLASS HEARS SERMON

REV. W. B. SLAUGHTER ADDRESSES CLASS OF 1908

"REWARD OF PROMPTITUDE"

A Masterful Sermon in Which are Words of Advice for the Class Members

The baccalaureate sermon by Rev. W. B. Slaughter last Sunday evening elicited many words of commendation from those who were fortunate enough to be in the congregation. It was an address worthy of publication in full, but lack of space forbids. We will however give a few extracts which are particularly interesting: "Promptitude in doing your best never mortgaged the future. When you waste the opportunities of today, you mortgage tomorrow; and the misspent energies of the years of youth leave a mortgage upon the future which can never be lifted."

Some men never see opportunities until they are past, while others see them coming, anticipate them, and are on the alert to seize them.

"I have heard some say 'This world owes me a living.' But in truth, and by right nothing is coming to the man who has nothing to his credit. One thing this world does owe every man, and that is a chance to live, by being given a chance to produce. But when man has this opportunity given him and produces nothing, the world owes him nothing."

"Life is an arrow, therefore you must know what mark to aim at, how to use the bow; then draw it to the head and let it go."

"Young men and women, success is in the fulfillment of some high and holy purpose. Live for some considerable purpose, some splendid achievement which may be measured with profit to yourself and your fellow men."

"I deem it a high privilege to speak to you upon this occasion and I truly feel it is no small place I am called upon to occupy for he who addresses the young men and young women of today is speaking to the heart and brain that is to move and control the energies of the twentieth century; and as I believe it is to be the greatest century in intellectual growth, in the extension of the highest and holiest liberties, of justice and moral reform, the world has ever seen; and in the battles and conquests of Truth, you may have an important place and part; I again feel the responsibility placed upon me at this hour."

"What is your life? And what is worth while? The first thing for you to possess is a noble and worthy purpose in life. There is an ambition that is worthy of the expenditure of all your manly and womanly powers; and there is an ambition far below the dignity of your being."

"Young people, to what port are you steering? What port are you determined to reach? Many things are within the reach of an unyielding determination."

"What is your life? And what is worth while? Have you yet seriously asked yourself the question, 'What is the object of my existence and what shall be the chief purpose of my life?'"

"Wendell Holmes said, 'I find the great thing is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of success we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it. But we must sail and not drift, nor be at anchor.'"

"Young men and young women, you are but fairly setting sail. Soon you will be sailing the restless ocean of life, and it is a question of vital importance, 'What port?'"

"Freighted with splendid brain and heart power and with magnificent possibilities before you—'What port?'"

"The greatest thing in your life is to know what direction you are moving. You have not many lives to live—you have but one chance. How important that you should be headed in the right direction! How sacred should be the one life, the one chance! Let no false principles defeat you. Let not sin sum up your history in these words, 'Vanquished Victor.'"

"May each of you find a noble and useful place in the world's activities. Be the friend of every noble and right cause. Never waver in your fidelity to truth. Take your place among the world's lifters. With might of mind and heart, showing sympathy to our fellow-men, aiding some great enterprise, assisting some great cause, giving moral and material support to some great right—that's to live."

"Feel that your life is of importance, (I did not say your material possessions) if you should be favored with wealth. I said your life. What the world needs is the touch of a useful, pure and good life. The cry everywhere is for men, men of honest energy, of sterling integrity, men of thought and purpose true, men of nerve and soul, of push and grit."

"Close not your eyes to the greatness of life, and that the soul only grows great when God and Truth become the center of all man's thoughts and plans and hopes and lifts man above the material to contemplate the spiritual and at last to enjoy the eternal and develop with the ages."

WAS A MIGHTY CLOSE CALL

Seven Year Old Girl Is Run Over by a Pulverizer

Annie, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. (Tony) Eschbach, had a narrow escape last week. She went to the field with some water for her father who was pulverizing with a disc pulverizer. While her father was drinking, Annie stepped in front of the pulverizer, and the horses started up. The little one was knocked down and the pulverizer, which had been sharpened but a short time before, and with the weight of Mr. Eschbach and about 200 pounds of stone, passed over her. As soon as the horses started, Mr. Eschbach grabbed the lines, hoping to stop them before the cruel blades could reach his daughter, but the horses did not stop until she was under the blades, and the team had to be started again to rescue her.

The little one was taken to the house, and a doctor was quickly called. Two cuts on her head required seven and three stitches respectively, and there were bruises in various parts of her body.—Hampshire Register.

New Factory at Hampshire

Hampshire will possibly secure the factory of the American Dehydrating company, a New York canning and preserving concern, recently incorporated. C. S. Crary of Hoopston, formerly identified with the Hampshire Canning company is one of the principal stockholders and it is through him that the town expects to secure the new industry.

SCHOOL ART EXHIBIT

EXCELLENT WORK A SURPRISE TO MANY

PROFICIENCY IN DRAWING

School Shows Wonderful Advancement in Hand Work as Well as Head Work

The rooms of the Genoa public school were thrown open to the public between the hours of three and five last Thursday afternoon, when the work of art produced by the pupils was exhibited. The work as a whole was a revelation to many. Parents were there who were surprised that their children had attained such proficiency in drawing and water color productions. Some of the work by young boys and girls would be a credit to persons who have given it years of study. In fact these pupils are producing work of which their parents know not the first principle, because it was never taught in the schools in our days. Pupils who enter the school with no more taste for drawing than a rabbit are taught to do fairly good work, and no one can estimate the value of this training in the years to come. It is the point in the public schools these days to teach the child not only the three R's but to use its hands. How well this end has been accomplished in the Genoa schools was evidenced at the exhibition last Thursday. It not only fits the pupils better for the practical life, but keeps them more interested while in school. The herbarium work in Mrs. Quick's room is deserving of special mention. The pupils have preserved leaves and plants with great care and neatness. The drawing and water color work in this room was also characteristic of exceptional quality.

A SHUT-OUT

Elgin Y. M. C. A. Team Gets a String of Goose Eggs

The Elgin Y. M. C. A. base ball team was presented with a string of nine goose eggs by the Genoa highs last Saturday while the latter scored six times.

It was a good game all the way thru, the locals being full of ginger every minute. All the boys did good stick work and nearly made the visiting pitcher tired.

Claude senska, the Genoa twirler, never was in better condition. He made the Elgin chaps look like two cents whenever he saw fit to tighten up and send in the real benders.

Next Saturday the highs will meet the Genoa high school alumni team for the closing game of the season. There will be all kinds of excitement at this contest and a large crowd should turn out and root for one side or the other.

Terrible Disappointment

Rockford Republic: A large number of Rockford people who took advantage of the holiday to go to Beloit after liquor, incidentally learned a few things about the laws of that state. When they struck the Wisconsin city and headed for the saloons they must have thought that that city had suddenly gone dry for every drink parlor was closed. It is a law in the state of Wisconsin that the saloons shall be closed on Memorial Day.

Butter Market

The price of butter remained unchanged at the session of the Elgin Board of Trade Monday and the product was declared firm at 23 cents. The output for the Elgin district the past week was 973,600 pounds.

OBITUARY MRS. HEPBURN

Born at Hopwell, N. J., Seventy-eight Years Ago

(Contributed)

Mahala Ege Stout was born near Hopwell, N. J., September 22, 1830, and died at her home north of Genoa June 3, 1908. She was the youngest of a family of nine children. While she was still a little girl the family moved to a farm on the banks of the Delaware, near Lambertville, N. J., where on May 5, 1852, she was married to William Hepburn. After her marriage she and her husband settled on a farm near Washington's Crossing, N. J. There they lived until 1866. After living in the village of Titusville, N. J., one year they moved to Illinois and settled on the farm in Genoa township where she has lived the forty-one years since 1867.

By the death of her son John's wife in 1891, the four grandchildren, the youngest just entering upon its first day of life, left motherless, have been the object of her thought and labor and love, almost to the last hour of life. The youngest grandchild, Jessie, died in 1900. Between her and her grandma there was a very tender affection and when the little girl was taken away the grandma was almost inconsolable.

Nelson, the grandson, who is at Illinois University came home to spend Christmas. The hearth-fires burned warm and bright and grandmother's heart was glad to have the home-circle more complete for a few days. Not long afterward she was taken sick and although at times she seemed to be on the way to recovery it became apparent some weeks ago that she was gradually failing. Many kindnesses from friends helped to brighten the long days of her illness. Beautiful, fragrant flowers brought by loving hands brightened the sick-room. Letters and messages of sympathy and love cheered and strengthened from day to day.

On Tuesday she volunteered to go out and sit at dinner with the family and through the dinner-hour conversed cheerfully and cheerily and at evening she told her sons about the pleasant afternoon she had spent with Phila and Eleanor. Early Wednesday morning she fell into a semi-conscious condition from which she did not rally. She did not open her eyes nor speak during the day but twice she reached out her hand feebly and clasped the hands that met hers in farewell. At a quarter-hour after eight o'clock in the evening she fell asleep and a life of singularly unselfish effort was ended.

Two sons were born to Mrs. Hepburn, John G., and Jonathan S., both of whom live on the farm where the family located when they moved to Illinois. Her father and mother died some thirty-five years ago. A sister 87 years of age living in Pennington, N. J., and a brother who has reached the age of 89 living near Lambertville, N. J., are the only members living of her father's family.

Auto Smashed

Amory Hadsall, in his Oldsmobile, last Thursday evening had a head-on collision with a large car on the Sycamore road, near Chamberlain's corner. The Olds got the worst of the mix-up, being thrown to the side of the road and badly wrecked. However, if there is no more than the spokes and smell left Amory will soon have it on the road again. He knows some things about an automobile.

WE WILL CELEBRATE

EAGLE WILL SCREAM IN GENOA JULY FOURTH

PLENTY OF FUNDS RAISED

Street Vaudeville Will Again be Principal Feature—Parade and All Kinds of Sports

Genoa will celebrate the fourth of July, the soliciting committee having raised sufficient funds to guarantee the best of attractions. A detailed program has not yet been arranged, but the several committees are now at work.

It has been decided to make a free street vaudeville the chief attraction, and for this purpose a large sum of money will be expended. There will be no end of street sports, at least two ball games, band music, dances, merry-go-round, and all the other trimmings. Full particulars will be published later.

HISTORY OF WOODCRAFT

W. A. Northcott will Tell the Story in Three Volumes

Past Head Consul W. A. Northcott of Springfield, Ill., who was the Head Consul of the Modern Woodmen from November, 1890, to July, 1903, has been employed by the Executive Council to write a history of the society, and he has already done much work upon the same. He expects to have it completed in the next year. The history will be in three volumes. One of the volumes will contain photographs and biographies of the leading Woodmen who have taken part in the upbuilding of this society. This list will include delegates to the Head Camp, officers and deputies. Another volume will contain the statistics of the society, and also statistics of other fraternal societies, giving the figures as to fraternal insurance in the United States of America. The third volume will be the history proper of the society, giving a full account of its birth, growth, achievements, splendid victories and results. This volume will also contain mention of the principal events in the history of the society. When completed the history will be sold through the supply department of the society. Past Head Consul Northcott is a great champion of the principle of the co-operation of men, and he has given earnest study to this subject. His intimate knowledge of the history and affairs of the Modern Woodmen of America makes him peculiarly well fitted for the task given him by the Executive Council, and we predict that the history will be not only a credit to the Modern Woodmen of America, but will tend to the advancement of the great system of fraternal beneficiary societies. Past Head Consul Northcott, at the Indianapolis Head Camp, was made a life member of the Head Camp, and he will be present at Peoria and glad to greet his old friends.

Sunday's Success

"Billy" Sunday closed his revival at Charleston, Ill., Sunday evening with a total of 2,500 converts and a free will offering of $5,500 for himself. The final day witnessed 450 conversions and an attendance of 15,000 at three services. With the $5,500 given at Charleston, $11,379 at Decatur and $9,000 at Bloomington, Billy's income during the last fifteen weeks from his revival meetings alone—to say nothing of the hundreds of dollars he has earned in delivering local option addresses in surrounding towns—figures up $24,879.

OPPORTUNITY TO KNOW ME BETTER

My Testimonial Booklet Explains All--Every Reader of The Republican-Journal Can Have It

Life Magnetism as Healing Agent

You will know me better by having my testimonial booklet. It contains the unsolicited testimonials of Northeastern Illinois people and others who were happily cured by my Magnetic Powers. I will gladly send it to persons suffering from any ailment whatever who are interested in knowing how easily they can be restored to perfect health. In writing for it, if you will tell me with what you believe you are suffering I will mail you letter copy of testimonials of patients I have cured of trouble similar to yours. There is no charge for the booklet, no charge for my opinion of your case, or no charge for diagnosis at the office. My time against yours. Proof of what I have done I want you to have.

The mode of treatment deals entirely with the blood. Disease is almost invariably caused by impure blood and poor circulation. My treatment causes good, wholesome nourishment to be carried to the weak nerves. No medicines are used, nothing but vital magnetism, as no artificial power is equal to natural power, simply because the latter is the power of natural life, which restores and sustains.

A Good Hair-Food

Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, is a genuine hair-food. It feeds, nourishes, builds up, strengthens, invigorates. The hair grows more rapidly, keeps soft and smooth, and all dandruff disappears. Aid nature a little. Give your hair a good hair-food.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle Show it to your doctor Ask him about it, then do as he says

You need not hesitate about using this new Hair Vigor from any fear of its changing the color of your hair. The new Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents premature grayness, but does not change the color of the hair even to the slightest degree.

THE VERY BEST

$1 Corsets

WE'VE EVER KNOWN

To the many women who want a Corset for $1.00 we want to say that we consider their trade important enough to call out our best efforts in securing them fullest value for their money.

The J. C. C. "PEERLESS" and "COLLEGE GIRL" are the very best $1.00 Corsets to be found anywhere. Either one or the other of these corsets will suit the average figure to perfection.

THE "PEERLESS" is a medium high bust, curved hips and straight front line.

THE "COLLEGE GIRL" moulds the hips beautifully but is low bust, affording perfect freedom above the waist.

We put these corsets way out of the class of the ordinary dollar corset. They are splendidly shaped, well boned, built to hold their good lines through long service. The dollar paid for either of these corsets gives you many times return in style, comfort and satisfaction.
