There was nothing else for him to do from the mere standpoint of his own protection. But that did not remove the blight or ease the gnawings of conscience that had racked him in all the hours of his convelescence. He could not obliterate the deeds of the year past nor did he feel that he was immune to the penalties. He had been keenly aware of them in his waking hours, as before, and again they had haunted him in his sleep. "Whatsoever ye sow—" That was the text that had pounded constantly at the door of his befuddled brain. Only the stupor of his weakness had acted as a mute. The stronger he grew the clearer the future seemed to him. He had sown and he must reap. But he smiled bravely now and patted his wife's hand.

"Wait till I'm up, Jane," he said. "We will decide on something. Let us hope that it will come out all rightat least, for you."

"For me," she exclaimed. "Don't hope for me, Bob. I will do anything in the world you want me to; anything that you do. Whatever comes it will come to us alike."

Must Have Healthful Sleep. Edison, the inventor, has been quoted as saying that little sleep is necessary, and that the time will come when mankind will not sleep at all, and therefore not waste a fourth or fifth of valuable time in the 24 hours of the day in a condition equivalent to death. At the moment, of course, Mr. Edison was breaking into the role of the professional humorist. All of the things called nature demands rest, and the most eloquent description of misery ever written was that in Macbeth," when it was declared that the murderous thane should sleep no more -that he had murdered sleep. There has never been given the impression that farming in Western Canada could be carried on without effort or labor, but it has been successfully stated that better results can be secured with less outlay of capital, either in money or labor, than anywhere else on the continent. This has been proven time and time again. Hundreds of cases could be cited where men have taken up farms, either a homestead, or purchased from railways or land companies, and with little capital at the start have acquired a competence, have established good homes for themselves, and provided a sure future. Remembered Old Formula.

The late Mayor Gaynor of New York related a little anecdote while in hospital after an anarchist's attempt upon his life. "I knew a man over my way," he said with a smile, "who had formerly been a bartender. Going into politics, he was elected police judge. Mary McManus was up before him for drunkenness. The ex-bartender looked at her for a moment and then

Theres' a Decided Advantage in

Buying Easter Apparel Now

Easter is only a month away, so that in a few weeks the Easter business will be at its height, with the usual hurry and bustle. If you buy now, you will receive much better service, you'll have more garments to choose from, and we will have more time to make any necessary alterations satisfactorily. Why run the risk of being disappointed later? Our complete stocks are now on display—you can choose now from the entire collection of the new styles, and at your leisure. Our Style Show held yesterday proved a tremendous success, and served to demonstrate the Big Store's leadership as the fashion center of Elgin.

The Widest Assortments of Coats and Suits And an Endless Variety of Styles to Choose From

The great advantage of choosing from this store's immense stocks of the new coats and suits will be apparent to you when you come in and inspect our displays. We show so many new and different models that we can only suggest a few of their prominent features.

In both suits and coats the belted styles are prominent. Many have smart collars in modified military effects, others have colored collars and cuffs. Both normal and high waist lines.

The fashionable materials are wool poplins, gabardines, serges, coverts and many fancy mixtures. The leading colors are sand, putty, black and white checks, black and white stripes, battleship gray, Belgian blue, fancy plaids and mixtures. We'll take great pleasure in showing you the new styles, whether you care

Wonderfully Pretty Styles in New Blouses

Our large and beautiful blouse section now has on display the whole range of pretty new models that have been brought out for spring. Our saleswomen are so enthusiastic about them—they say these are by far the daintiest creations that have been shown in years. You'll enjoy the time spent looking over these pretty blouses.

The lingerie blouses are unusually dainty this season. The sheer, pretty materials are trimmed in many new effects that are quite charming. Come with long and three-quarter sleeves, and low or high neck. For the low prices at which we have marked them, they certainly are superior values.

Prices $2.00 to $5.50

The fashion creators were at their best when they turned out these lovely dresses—you'll just fall in love with them when you see all these pretty models we're now showing. You'll have to come and see these dresses—words simply can't do them justice.

The materials are beautiful silk poplins, crepe de chines, messalines, plain and changeable taffetas and fine wool challies. All the new colorings are represented, including all the new shades, such as putty, sand, battleship gray, Belgian blue, etc.

Some of the new dresses come in rich floral patterns, with novelty trimmings that render them so different from last season's dresses. Altogether, you'll be delighted with the wide variety of pretty dresses that are here now for your inspection.

NEVER SAW HIS FAMOUS FOE

Wellington at No Time Caught Even a Glimpse of Napoleon.

In an article on Waterloo in the Newfoundland Quarterly the Right Hon. Sir Edward Morris, prime minister of Newfoundland, tells the following story:

King Edward VII. as a boy worshiped Wellington, who lived for eleven years after the birth of the future king. One morning the young Prince of Wales displayed with pride a drawing which he had made representing Napoleon on horseback leveling a pistol at the head of the duke, who was advancing with sword drawn to cut down his enemy. Just at this moment the Duke of Wellington entered the prince's room.

"You are just the man I want to see," cried the boy, holding up his picture in delight.

"How is that?" asked the veteran

"Why, because you can best criticise my drawing," said the prince.
"Now, can you tell me who is on the left?" he went on, showing the picture to the duke.

"Well," said the latter, "from the waistcoat and the hat I can see it is meant for Napolcon."

"Right," said the prince. "And who is the other?"

"By the cut of the features 1 should say it was myself."

"Right again," answered the prince. "Now, what I want to know is-is the drawing accurate?" The old duke put down the drawing and impressively answered: "My boy, I am going to tell you something that the English people don't know. I never in my life set eyes upon Napoleon! Once, in the midst of a battle, some one cried, 'Look, there is Napoleon!' Before I could get the fieldglass to my eyes the smoke from a field gun had enveloped him."

BRYAN WARNS AMERICANS TO FLEE-PROMISES TO AID ALL WHO OBEY.

ZAPATA RULES THE CAPITAL

Obregon's Troops Evacuate Mexico City and Carranza Replies to Wilson, Denying Aid Periled Foreigners -Freet on Way to Vera Cruz.

Washington, March 10 .- Developments came swiftly in the Mexican crisis. Here they are:

1. Secretary Bryan announced he had warned all Americans in Mexico City to depart, promising to keep open communications for them.

2. Secretary Daniels ordered the battleship Georgia and cruiser Washington to Vera Cruz in consonance with this program and the plan of the administration to bring Carranza to

3. Carranza resented latest United States note, but told Consul Silliman he would reply to it formally. He said Obregon had not kept food supplies out of capital.

4. Obregon and his Carranza troops reported to have evacuated Mexico City and Zapata forces to have occupied the place.

Repairing Railway North.

Dispatches came through an embassy from three newspaper correspondents in Mexico City announcing the receipt of the Bryan warning, but stating it was impossible for anyone to depart even if he wanted to do so.

Colorado has been using convict labor for the last seven years. So successful has it proved in this state that others have modeled their laws and plan of operation after those of Colorado and the governors during their annual conference at Colorado Springs last August spent much time in studying at first hand the wonderful highways that Colorado has built by convict labor. Twentyfour governors made up a party for a trip of inspection over the Colorado Springs-Canon City highway and the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean road in Ute Pass, two of the most perfect mountain roads in the United States and two of the best examples of the results of convict labor.

The Colorado Springs-Canon City highway is one of the best examples of scientific road building in the state; perhaps the country. For a distance of twenty miles or more south of Colorado Springs the road winds around the foothills and mountains. practically the entire roadbed having been cut out of the hillside and in many places blasted out of solid rock. For the remaining twenty-five miles to Canon City the way is over foothills and through undulating country. Besides being a marvel in engineering, the road is one of the best scenic and picturesque in the West, passing as it does through Red Rock Canyon, Dead Man's Canyon and many other mountain beauty spots. It culminates in the far-famed highway to the top of the Royal Gorge and the unique and spectacular Sky Line Drive, at Canon City.

The road averages eighteen feet in width and is perfectly crowned and drained. Although it offers a succession of climbs, so skillfully was the engineering work done that heavy grades have been eliminated and the motorist is confronted with only one grade as high as six per cent.

Ute Pass is one of the historic gateways of the mountain country and down its sides centuries before Columbus discovered America, the Ute Indians had worn, with soft mocassined tread, a plainly distinguishable trail. In building the first road across the range to freight supplies to Leadville, Aspen and the other mining camps, the white man followed the trail of the Indian. A few years ago the main portion of this road between Manitou and Cascade was entirely rebuilt by convict labor. It has been pronounced a most splendid example of road building. It has a wide, well crowned roadbed surfaced with disintegrated granite from the mountain sides. Grades have been reduced and although the road overcomes an elevation of 1,125 feet in a distance of five miles the climb is gradual and is easily negotiated. It is over the Ute Pass road that the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean highway enters the mountains after striking straight across the plains of central Colorado to Colorado Springs and Manitou. Thence it continues westward through South Park over Tennessee Pass down the valleys of the Eagle and the Grand rivers to Grand Junction and the Utah line.

Pueblo county also has employed convicts to advantage, and a notable piece of road is the stretch just north of Pueblo on the road to Colorado Springs. Garfield county, on the western slope, last year engaged 50 convicts for a period of four years, and they have just completed work on the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean highway west of Glenwood Springs and are now engaged in rebuilding the road through the Canyon of the Grand river. Weld and Larimer counties, in northern Colorado, also have many miles of splendid road to show for the work of convicts during the last two years.

Wherever tried, the results have been satisfactory. This applies especially to the benefits derived by the convicts themselves. Under the Colorado system, the convict is allowed ten days off his sentence for each month of labor on the roads. This is in addition to the usual reduction for good behavior. Besides, in Colorado, the employment of convicts on the roads has been singularly successful because the cost of building many of its mountain roads would be almost prohibitive if the state were compelled to construct them under ordinary conditions. The entire country has reaped the benefits of Colorado's pioneering because it has been able to open to travelers from all sections of the country some of its most splendid mountain scenery; it has furthermore set the example for many of the other states in the adoption of some system for the employment of convicts on state and county roads.

IN ITE PASS, NEAR MAINTION, COLO.

In speaking of what can be accomplished in the way of road building by the use of convict labor, under whose supervision the work the last three years has been done, recently said:

"The benefits in this or any other state from a broad and scientific system of convict road building can scarcely be estimated. Basing our figures on actual experience we are confident that we can construct in the next ten years more than five thousand miles of the very finest roadways for less than $500,000 and this without adding anything whatever to the burden of the taxpayers.

"During the period of ten years the internal revenue fund of Colorado should amount to $2,000,-000. After deducting $500,000 for road construction, the remaining amount should be wisely expended in bridge building, road repairing and for similar uses. Add to this the financial assistance from the different counties, and it would enable us to construct not less than 10,000 miles. It can be done in Colorado. Why should not the same conditions apply to other states under more favorable conditions where the roads are naturally better and where cost of construction would not necessarily be so high as in our mountainous sections?

"To illustrate better the great saving to the taxpayers on this class of work and its possibilities, let me quote a few figures from one of our road camps. During one month we worked 35 men on the road not including the camp help. The number of days employed was 24%. Each of these 35 men rendered to the state, labor equivalent in value to $2 and $3 a day. The labor for each man cost the state exactly 25 cents per day. Had this number of men been employed at the regular standard of wages of say $2.00 per day per man the cost of wages alone would have been $1,632.50. Each day's work thus represented a net saving of at least $1.75 per man. The total cost of all the work for the month, including salaries, care of stock, feed for teams and cost of equipment was $515.15, or 471/2 cents per day per man. When these figures are considered no one can doubt for a moment the economy of building roads with convict labor. The roads are carefully and thoroughly inspected by competent engineers who testify to the completness and high character of the work. 'What is the incentive for the men to create such great work?' is a question often asked Coloradoans. It is just this: the man who is allowed to leave the prison for the road camp has practically seen the last of prison life if he conducts him-elf properly: his food is better; his elections is better; his self-respect is preserved and he is taught selfreliance and sustained applications. He earns an additional ten days a month during the time he works, which very materially reduces his sentence. Eliminating the policy of armed guards. the men have been placed under skilled and competent overseers and guarded only by their word of honor not to run away. They remain faithful and loyal to their pledges. The success of such an honor system was instantaneous; the plan has worked out better than its originators expected. During the last three years we have had more than one thousand individual prisoners in the convict camps. These men without guards-some 300 miles away from the prison-have created a national reputation for loyalty. Less than one per cent have violated their pledges and made suc-healthy, hearty outdoor labor. We have built the prisoners up both physically and morally. Men discharged from our road camps do not have the prison pallor, the physical weakness and the hesitating, hang-dog appearance of the typical discharged convict. They are bronzed, sturdy, healthy, efficient laborers and are in demand as such. About 20 per cent of those we have sent out upon the completion of their sentence have made good. The other 20 per cent have mostly found their way back into prison elsewhere.

In his last biennial report Warden Tynan had the following to say with reference to the fluancial side of convict road building:

"Our largest item of labor performed by the convicts was, of course, the road work. The pris- When separated, both were inconsoloners have been employed in the construction of roads in Mesa, Fremont, Larimer, Weld, Boulder, with a "Wild West" show. ### DRINK LOTS OF WATER TO FLUSH THE KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts for Backache or Bladder Trouble-Neutralize Acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like tumps of ead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the aidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatio twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine. so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

But when the pressure of an advancing vessel coming in contact with the mine tilts it over the mercury also is tilted so as to come into contact with the other end of the gap in the electric circuit, the circuit is completed and the mine

Certain other mechanical devices are employed to make the mines safe as long as the mine laying vessel has them on board. Thus, for instance, an extra gap in the circuit is provided by inserting two brass plates, kept apart by some substance which melts in water. Not until the mine has been for some time in the sea will this substance disappear, allowing the brass plates to come together and so set up the circuit completely except for the final gap.

The operation of "sweeping for mines" depends chiefly upon the fact that the mines are moored, or at least have sinkers attached to the bottom by a cable. The sweeping is carried out by two ships steaming parallel with one another at some distance apart, with a wire rope between them. This rope is sunk in the sea at about the level to reach some distance below the mines. This rope, coming in contact with the cables of the mines, has the effect of tilting the latter over so as to bring about the explosion. The danger in the operation is in the possibility of the ships engaged upon it striking mines themselves. There is no danger from the explosions of the mines by sweeping .-Philadelphia Press.

Kitchen Philosophy.

A Philadelphia man was in great distress one morning not long since by reason of the long delay in serving his breakfast.

wish you'd go to the kitchen," said he to his wife, "and see what the trouble is. I'm late."

The wife complied with his request. When she returned to the dining room the husband observed a strangely melancholy expression on her face.

"Well," asked he impatiently, "did you tell the cook that I wanted my breakfast immediately?"

"I did."

"And what did she say?" "that 'we all of us have our disappointments."—Harper's.
