Chinese women of aristocratic families presided at the tables where refreshments were served at the reception given by the Chinese residents in Shanghai to Secretary Taft on his recent arrival in that city. This is the first time that women have taken such a part in a social function in China. The spirit of progress is evidently working in the orient.

That was a novel experience enjoyed by the two men who went up in a balloon from North Adams and descended in New Hampshire. At one time they struck a snow squall, but were falling so rapidly that the flakes were falling so rapidly that down. That seeming reversal of natures's practices must have given the impression for a moment that the world was turning topsyturvy.

Panama is the place for unattached women to go if they wish to marry, says Miss Boswell, who lately returned from a tour of the canal zone which she took at the request of Secretary Taft. Many bachelors are there and they are all lonely, she declares. Of course if any young women visit Panama ater this, it will be understood that their motives are purely altruistic. Nothing distresses a woman more than the thought of a TERRIBLE DISASTER OCCURS IN THE DARR SHAFT AT JACOBS CREEK, PA.

Men Probably All Dead-Number of Fatalities Comparatively Small Because Many Miners Were Celebrating Festival at Greek Church.

Jacobs Creek, Pa., Dec. 20.-An exolosion of gas in the Darr mine of the Pittsburg Coal company, located here, Thursday, entombed between 200 and 250 miners, and there is scarcely a ray of hope that a single one of them will be taken from the mines alive. Partially wrecked buildings in the vicinity of the mine and the condition of the few bodies found early in the rescue work indicate an explosion of such terrific force that it seems impossible that any one could have survived it.

All of the 13 bodies taken out up to this time are terribly mutilated and

This is the third mine disaster since the first of the month in the veins of bituminous coal underlying western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, for the Naomi mine near Fayette City and the two mines at Monongah, W. Va., in which the earlier explosion happened are in the same belt as the local workings. Thursday's catastrophe swells the number of victims of deadly mine gas for the 19 days to between 550 and 600.

Many Miners Were at Church. That this disaster does not equal or even surpass in loss of life and attendant horrors the one in West Virginia is due to the devotion to church duties of a considerable number of the miners. In observance of a church festival many of the 400 or more men regularly employed at the mine did not go to work Thursday morning. As far as known, only one man who went to work Thursday morning escaped. Joseph Mapleton, a pumper, emerged from one of the side entries shortly after the explosion. He had left the part of the mine where most of the men were working and was on the way to the engine room for oil.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Secretary Taft, accompanied by his son, Charlie Taft, arrived in Washington over the Pennsylvania railroad Friday evening at 6:35 o'clock.

Mr. Taft met newspaper men by appointment at his residence Friday night, after which he called at ten o'clock at the White House to discuss with the president his trip abroad. Mr. Taft talked freely with the newspaper men concerning his long trip abroad. He declined to be drawn into a discussion of the political situation, stating that he had been absent for so long a time that he was not familiar with the trend of events. He made an appointment to meet Arthur I. Verys, his campaign manager, early next week in Washington to talk over the situation. Four Persons Injured-Pennsylvania's Chicago Mail Runs Into Piled-Up Freight Cars - Miscreant Causes Fatal Wreck in Georgia.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 23.-Four persons were injured, heavy property loss was sustained and three tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad were blockaded for the night by two wrecks near Bolivar, Pa., 58 miles east of here, at seven o'clock Sunday night.

Extra freight train No. 3084 left the rails of track No. 1, because of a broken rail, it is believed, and 20 cars vere smashed and piled up over tracks 2 and 3. Almost immediately after the accident to the freight, No. 18, known as the Chicago mail, running at high speed to make up lost time, reached the point on track No. 2 and plowed into the debris with terrific force. Every one on the train was badly jolted and shaken up, many of the passengers being thrown from of the International Brick, Tile and their seats. None of the passenger Terra Cotta workers, was arrested at cars left the tracks, but a number of Athens, O., on the charge of inciting windows were broken and several per-

WORKERS NEED PROTECTION

Much, However, Has Been Accomplished by the Factory Inspection Department Under the Present Administration.

labor law and the manner in which it has been enforced under the present administration has brought words of commendation from many organizations interested in the child-saving problem. Among such organizations may be mentioned the Illinois State Federation of Labor, the Chicago Federation of Labor, the Federation of Women's Clubs and the Cook County Child-Saving league. Outside of the state the Illinois law and its administration has attracted the attention of statesmen and legislators. In his great argument in the United States senate Senator Beveridge of Indiana made frequent reference to what had been accomplished in this state in preventing the exploitation of children and in giving them a chance to take up the battle of life physically and mentally equipped for the struggle.

But in Illinois the people do not seem fully to realize what the enforcement of the child labor law has meant to them and the duties it has imposed on the factory inspection de-

Illinois is the third manufacturing state in the union, New York and Pennsylvania only surpassing it in the nois stands at the top in the matter of child-labor legislation, but far behind in other legislation calculated to protect the lives and limbs of the workers and make their surroundings more healthful and cheerful. A few humane and far-seeing employers are voluntarily taking up welfare work because they have found by experience that employes will produce more and better work in healthful and agreeable surroundings. Such employers are, however, few in number, and legislation is required to compel those not so enlightened to treat their employes hu-

Took Children from Mines.

The factory inspection department. acting on an opinion rendered by the attorney general that the child-labor law applied to the mines as well as mercantile establishments, had 2,100 children taken from the coal mines and sent to school. Illinois was the first state in the country to set an age limit of 16 years under which no boy could work in a coal mine.

Last year the factory inspection department made 70,539 inspections. Of that number, 64,978 were for child labor alone, and 356 employers were prosecuted for violations of the law. Vigorous enforcement of the law has gradually brought employers to a realization of the fact that it was placed on the statute books to be obeyed.

When the law was amended prohibiting the employment of children between the ages of 14 and 16 years more than eight hours a day it had a salutary effect. Many employers who were running their establishments ten hours a day discontinued the employment of children altogether rather than suffer the annoyance of having a portion of their help report for work one hour later in the morning and leave one hour earlier in the evening.

New Legislation Needed.

NEED LABOR LAWS ern commercial juggernaut, legislation in the interests of working men and vomen has kept pace with the state's ndustrial development. One of the ILLINOIS IS DERELICT IN SUCH greatest needs in this direction is a aw requiring greater safeguards to be thrown around the worker engaged in handling hazardous machinery. From the standpoint of economy it would appear that employers would voluntarily adopt safety devices rather than run the risk of having to pay damages in personal injury suits, but such is not the case. Owing to the operation of the so-called "fellowservant law" it is almost impossible for a workman to recover damages for Springfield, Ill., Dec. 9.—The child personal injury. Employers, as a rule, carry insurance with some casualty company against such accidents. It is unknown just what proportion of the cases of destitution that are relieved by county boards and charitable institutions is due to the head of the family being killed or injured in following his vocation, but the proportion is undoubtedly large.

The Illinois department of factory inspection was instructed by Gov. Deneen to prepare and introduce a bill in the last legislature which was calculated to relieve the conditions complained of. It had the endorsement of practically every association of workingmen in the state and of other persons interested in such legislation. The bill was vigorously opposed by a lobby of employers, who refused to listen to any amendments and who insisted that the entire bill be killed. The bill failed of passage, although it was similar in nature to laws which are on the statute books of a number of states throughout the country.

Among other bills introduced by the factory inspection department under Gov. Deneen's administration, but which failed to pass the legislature, were: A bill to regulate the sale and volume of manufactured products. This is a heavy toll when it is considered that England's death rate per 1,000 coal miners during last year was only one. Every 190,353 tons of coal mined in this country last year cost one life.

The principal causes of death were falls of roof and coal, and explosions. The deaths due to the former numbered 1,008; gas and dust explosions, 228; powder explosions, 80; miscellaneous, 732.

The number of men killed in Pennsylvania mines during 1906 was: Anthracite, 557; bituminous, 447; total, 1,034, or more than half of the number killed in the 20 states and territories in which coal was mined. But Pennsylvania produced more coal than all the other states and the territories combined.

During the same period the number of persons injured in accidents in Pennsylvania mines was: Anthracite, 1,212; bituminous, 1,160; total, 2,372. Of those killed in Pennsylvania mines, 583 left widows and 1,294 children were made fatherless. Pennsylvania's death rate per 1,000 miners was. Anthracite, 3.43; bituminous, 3.14.

The state which made the lowest record in the death rate per 1,000 for 1906 was Maryland, with 1.09. Colorado had the highest death rate, 7.74 per 1,000; West Virginia, second, with

The Crooked Genesee.

Do you ever stop to think what a crooked old river the Genesee is? It is said that by way of the river it is twenty-eight miles from Geneseo to Mount Morris against six miles by the road. It runs along the west side of the valley until it nearly strikes Piffard, then crosses the valley to Geneseo, runs on the east side about a mile and a half, then turns and runs back again nearly to the village of Piffard. The two points at Piffard are only about half a mile apart, but to follow the course of the river from one point to the other a person would travel from five to six miles. It is a crooked stream, all right enough.-Livingston Democrat.

Theosophy's Flourishing College

Theosophy, which here claims to be, practically, pure Hinduism, has established a great college at Benares, the "Central Hindu College," with 700 students and a fine equipment of buildings. Mrs. Annie Besant, herself, whom the late Col. Olcott nominated at the direction of the "Mahatmas" as president of the Theosophists (although not all of the Theosophists seem inclined to ratify this choice), resides here and is the head of the college. The day of my visit to the college she was in Madras, the world headquarters of theosophy, so my interview was with her assistant, an Englishwoman dressed in a salmoncolored kimono, with a white philosopher's robe draped over it. She wore the sacred Brahman cord about her neck and her bare feet were thrust into sandals. Mrs. Besant claims to have been a Brahman in a previous incarnation A revival of pure Hinduism is one

The Turning of the Glass

T has come once more to the turning of the glass. The sand is all but spent, and the days of the old year are as chaff in the wake of the wind. By the gray light in the western shack, at the heaped tables of the rich, within the great places of exchange, and even amongst those who go out upon the high seas, men will give pause. For it is the time of reckoning, and sober thought must go to the balance against mirth and merrymaking. It is the supreme hour of resolution. May the trend of worship be not towards the god of gold. May men not overlean towards the side of materialism. May there be reverence for simple things, for the young babe in the cradle and the old man nearing the valley. May the milk of human kindness and the good hand of common sympathy go forth to the natal feast. Then might the New Year dawn bright, and people the world over could repeat with the poet:

"Turn again the wasted glass, Kingly crown and warrior's crest Are not worth the blade of grass God fashions for the swallow's nest."

THE NEW YEAR WHAT WE MAKE IT

By Ada C. Sweet

"The only consistent pessimist is a dead pessimist," but unfortunately there are a good many of these hapless brethren of ours alive. Never are into irreconciliable sections, England they more active, and happily unhapwould not be able to hold India for six py, than toward New Year's day, when all the rest of the world is looking hopefully and cheerfully forward, in expectation of good luck and kind for tune during the next 365.

The pessimist delights in deriston of the good resolutions which mark the celebration of New Year in the minds of many people. Shame upon the man or woman who would dull the bright ambitions and desires for the better of any human being! But there is little time to give to habitual mourners and augurs of evil. The new year will be what we make it, so far as our individual lives are concerned, and the man or woman who resolves to be happy in a healthful, unselfish way, is taking the first road toward happiness.

We are all after happiness, in one way or another. Even the recluse, even the martyrs of old, were on the the joy of heaven rather than that of earth was the goal fixed upon in the eyes of those who sacrificed the present for the future. Eternal happiness was what they desired.

Unselfish happiness is always waiting, right around the corner, if we will only take our eyes off the far distance and look nearer home. The resolve to make next year a happy one for those nearest us will bring a good deal of real joy and satisfaction to the maker of the resolution, if he holds Silent resolve is a good thing, too. Sometimes one's enthusiasm evaporates when it is much spoken of. But don't let us allow the enemies of the race of man to discourage us in making good resolutions; and then don't let us fail to keep those that we make to the best of our ability.

There is room for improvement in all of us, and when we have acknowledged that, and set ourselves to improve, why, we are on the nearest road to success and happiness.

Noticed the Omission. Some dramatic authors seem to regard construction as unnecessary frills. On the first night of the only drama that the novelist, Miss Bradden. wrote, a scene was introduced in which a child was kidnaped from its mother. At the end, when all were made happy, so much had been left to the general imagination that no pains had been taken to effect the restoration of the stolen child. Of course it was an unworkmanlike lapse on the part of the dramatist, and it seemed to have passed unnoticed until a god leaned over the gallery rail and solemnly inquired: "Hi! What about that kid?" The piece was swamped in a flood of inextinguishable laughter.

When The Year & Begins

One of the queerest features of the first day of the year is the fact that it has been celebrated on many different dates. With us the year begins on January 1, according to the calendar prepared by order of Julius Caesar, and later revised from time to time as necessity seemed to require. Hardly a month in the year but what has been regarded at some time, by some people, as the first of the 12, and consequently the beginning of the new year. Sometimes the date was logical, determined by the position of the sun in the heavens.

Sometimes it was fixed by agricultural or industrial conditions, sometimes by a great historical event, and occasionally it was merely arbitrary, determined without any special reason being assigned. At one time the Greeks began their year September 1; at another on the first day of July, the beginning of the Olympian games. In what is called the Alexandrian era the year began on August 20. Jewish chronology assigns October 1 as the date on which the creation of adopts that New Year's day. At one time the Romans began their year on dealer or Lewis' Factory, Peoria, Ill. April 24, at another on March 1, and finally as we do now.

According to the meteoric cycle, the year began on July 15. During the period of Alexander's empire the comnencement of the year was on September 1; the era of the Maccabees was dated from November 24. The people of Tyre began their year on October 19, while the so-called Sidonian era commenced on October 1. and the Augustan era made February 14 the first day of the new year. The ancient Egyptians began their year with the overflow of the Nile, whenever that might occur, while in India the annual flood of the Ganges furnished a date for popular chronology, and the Mexicans, although they had a complicated system of calculating time, popularly reckoned their year to begin with the spring planting.

The Jewish rabbis had four beginnings of the year, the first of the month Nisan, supposed to be the date of the Exodus; the first of Tishri. which began the agricultural year: the first of Elu, the day on which the cattle were numbered, and the first of Shebat, which was called the new year for trees. Christmas day, Easter, the beginning of each solstice and many other dates have been observed at different times by various nations; even now in Russia the day of the new year is 12 days behind that of our calendar, the Russians having never adopted the Gregorian calendar, which, indeed, did not come into general use until about the middle of the eighteenth century.

X-Rays and Pearls.

An interesting application of the Xrays is for the detection of the pearl inside the closed shell of the mullusk. In a paper contributed to the Comptes Rendus of the Biological society of Paris R. Dubois gives an account of radiographs which he has made, showing a pearl inside a species of pearlbearing mussel. He notes also that a similar radiograph of a pearl inside a shell was made by Auguste Lumiere and exhibited at the Colonial exhibition at Marseilles in 1906.

"My little boy, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch. Sores broke out from his head to the bottom of his feet. He would 1tch and claw himself and cry all the time. He could not sleep day or night, and a light dress is all he could wear. I called one of our best doctors to treat him, but he seemed to get worse. He suffered so terribly that my husband said he believed he would have to die. I had almost given up hope when a lady friend told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and he at once fell into a sleep, and he slept with ease for the first time since two months. After three applications the sores began to dry up, and in just two weeks from the day I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies my baby was entirely well. The treatment only cost 75c, and I would have gladly paid $100 if I could not have got it cheaper. I feel safe in saying that the Cuticura Remedies saved his life. He is now a boy of five years. The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

A passer-by, who had been watching him, however, intervened: "I know your heart's on fire," he observed, "but I think you had better use the box at the next corner."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous aurfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. But the second year of ive preparations for it must begin custom of deference. The people up finally and forever.

long in advance. Late in that second spring Burbank made a tour of the country, to give the people the pleasure of seeing their great man, to give himself the pleasure of their admiration, and to help on the congressional campaign, the result of which would be the preliminary popular verdict upon his administration. The thinness of the crowds, the feebleness of the enthusiasm, the newspaper sneers and flings at that oratory once hailed as a model of dignity and eloquenceeven he could not accept the smooth explanations of his flatterers. And in November came the party's memorable overwhelming defeat-reducing our majority in the senate from 20 to 6, and substituting for our majority of 93 in the house an opposition majority of 67. I talked with him early in January and was amazed that, while he appreciated the public anger against the party, he still believed himself personally popular. "There is a lull in prosperity," said he, "and the people are peevish." Soon, however, by a sort of endosmosis to which the densest vanity is somewhat subject. the truth began to seep through and to penetrate into him.

He became friendlier to me, solicitous toward spring-but he clung none the less tightly to Goodrich. The full awakening came in his third summer when the press and the politicians of the party began openly to discuss the next year's nomination and to speak of him as if he were out of the running. He was spending the hot months on the Jersey coast, the flatterers still swarming about him, and still assiduous, but their flatteries falling upon ever deafer ears as his mind rivetted upon the hairsuspended sword. In early September he invited me to visit him-my first invitation of that kind in two years and a half. We had three inself to brush aside the barriers between him and me.

His Son's West Side.

"How are you, Mr. Smith? How that son of yours making it with his new motor bicycle?"

"Oh, he had quite a tumble the other day," replied Mr. Smith. "He was speeding at about forty miles an hour along a rough macadam road when all of a sudden the darn machine stopped stone still, but my son kept on going from the momentum and slid along the road for about fifty feet before he could stop himself.

"You don't say! Did it hurt your son?

"No, it didn't hurt him to speak of, but he tore the west side of his pants.

"Tore the what?"

"Tore the west side of his pants." "Well, in the name of whizzing wheels, what side of your son's pants is the west side?"

"Why, the side the son sets on." -Philadelphia Inquirer.

Work Fit For Sunday.

ECONOMY

To get heat one must burn coal and plenty of it, but there is a way to make the coal last longer and still give off as much heat. This can be done by banking the fire in furnace and other open fire pots

PEA COAL

This is a good quality hard coal in small chunks, not larger than hazel nuts. When placed on top of the large coal it reduces the draft. A crust forms and in this manner the heat is retained while the coal lasts one-third longer. Where a hot fire is desired in a range Pea Coal is the coal to use. Try it.
