the school as it is to the candidates.
No one, if he really has the interest of the school at heart, likes to see a bitter fight, for that fight invariably is carried on into the school year in form of ill will and discord. There are often contests that end when the usual case, especially in school do was to set the two cars out and let them burn. The fire in one car was so far beyond control that it was

WHEN FOOD IS WASTED

Food is wasted when we eat more than our bodies need for growth and repair and to supply energy for our work-

When food is burned or spoiled in cooking-

When too much food is prepared for a meal-When too much food is served at a meal-

When anything eatable is allowed to go to the garbage pail or allowed to spoil for lack of proper handling-

When food is handled carelessly. Say to yourself now, Mrs Housewife: "For one month I am going to purchase, prepare and serve the food for my family on the basis of the most rigid economy consistent with health. I am going to do my part toward conserving the world's deficient food supply. I am going to demonstrate thrift in my home, to make saving, rather than wasting, my household standard." Then at the end of a month carefully analyze the result and unless we are greatly mistaken, you will never be satisfied to go back to the old wasteful methods.

Now that we are at war-a war that may last for years it is the patriotic duty of every man, woman and child in the nation to do everything possible to make victory certain.

Food conservation is one of the vital elements in the tremendous problems that now confronts the nation.

"Waste no food!" This should be our motto from today until the end of the war.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now-Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff-that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die-then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight-now-any time-will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair-new hair-growing all over the scalp. He was not drunk. He had not even been drinking; but his vitality was gone. He tried to speak. It was impossible. His tongue would not frame words, nor his throat utter them. He could only look helplessly at De Spain as De Spain hastily made him stand up on his shaking knees, threw a big blanket around him, sat him down, kicked open the stove drafts, and called to McAlpin for more whisky to steady the wreck of it crouching over the fire.

And when Lefever, after conferring with Scott, put up to De Spain a proposal that the three should ride into the gap together and demand Nan at the hands of Duke Morgan, De Spain had reached another conclusion.

"I know you are willing to take more than your share, John, of any game I play. In the first place, it isn't right to take you and Bob in where I am going on my own personal affair. Rats and Fires.

At a time when everyone is complaining of the high cost of living it might be well to see if we cannot eliminate two great sources of waste-fires and rats. Most fires are needless. All rats are so. Some years ago a study of the rat problem in Philadelphia arrived at the conclusion that the rodents of that city ate more than a million dollars' worth of food each year. At that rate, the disgusting creatures can hardly cost less than $100,000,000 per year to the whole country. This is a pretty high price to pay for the companionship of impish pests which, besides their other bad habits, undermine floors and carry the most dreaded of all diseases, bubonic plague.

Yet fires are more expensive than rats. In 1915—the last year for which figures are at hand—the American people paid out in premiums for me insurance $419.361.346. Of this vast sum at least three-fourths could be saved by reducing our fire record to the rate prevailing in England, France or Germany; and even in our time and nation $300,000,000 per year is a saving worth noting, and one which would have a perceptible effect on the cost of living.

THE WORRY HABIT.

It Not Only Kills Peace of Mind, but

Is a Menace to Health.

The protective instinct is present in the human mind and when properly directed is a great source of prosperity both to the individual and the nation In order for man to store up and lay by, to gain advancement either in honor or material things, it is necessary that he take some forethought of the morrow, but just so soon as he carries this beyond the normal point the mental process becomes an exaggerated and abnormal one. The normal protective instinct is stimulated by a normal fear of those events which are reasonably sure to happen in the future unless means are adopted against them. The moment that this fear becomes abnormal or exaggerated it overstimulates this protective instinct, and to no good purpose, because it results in worry. This worry continues long after the necessity for the normal stimulus of fear has passed, with the result that there is an impairment in mental power and a dissipation of the nervous forces. In fact, worry is an abnormal state. Not all worry is preventable, but for the most part it can be avoided. Most of our fears are never realized, and, as a rule, if we meet our troubles day by day as they come without worrying about them before they arrive or fretting over them after they have passed we will find that we have the strength to rise above them. Worry undermines the health to a certain extent, and every victim of the worry habit owes it to himself to crush it out of his life. Bulletin of Public Health Service.

GENOA LUMBER CO. TELEPHONE NO. ONE

ARE YOU AJUNT

Perfect health, greater life and power of any kind will not come to those who simply "wait." The world is full of average people and those who do get at the top physically and mentally are those who help themselves when opportunity presents itself. You must make yourself better thru your own efforts. I can show you that you may acquire greater muscular and nervous energy, improve your personality, eradicate that sluggishness of mind and body, in short how you may acquire perfect health, and this without drudgery, loss of time, inconvenience. You will need no apparatus of any kind and yet will derive benefits that can not be obtained in a gymnasium.

It may seem like a broad statement to say that only a few people out of the many are more than half alive. But if you are just an ordinary mortal, I can and will guarantee to prove to you that you have been leading an inferior life. From my own experience and thru the experience of others who have followed the system that I teach, I know that few people are fully alive.

There is no reason why one should not add years to his life and still better ADD LIFE TO THE YEARS.

As soon as the student begins EVOLUTIONARY EXERCISE, life takes on an entirely different aspect for him. The cells and tissues that have been dead for years (or perhaps never were called into use) are brought to life. The student becomes happy, cheerful, optimistic and more successful in anything attempted. Worry and depression will leave and in the place of those life destroyers come hope, confidence and happi-

There is nothing in this course to which any man or woman, girl or boy can object. It requires no time from business or the regular routine of the day; no apparatus. There is no dieting, no cold plunges, no literature to study. On the contrary, the system is simplicity itself, the movements are not difficult and yet with every new lesson the student becomes more enthusiastic and actually grows faster physically than he could by any other form of exercise. And with the development of the muscles and nervous system, the brain power keeps pace. This can not be said of any other form of exercise, for one knows that in acquiring great muscles by means of heavy weight lifting, the brain becomes sluggish.

You will be delighted with the work that I give you and from the very first will become conscious of a new force working within you. You will begin to LIVE the life that you should. It will build up the chest, reduce the waist line, increase the chest expansion, strengthen the muscles in every part of the body and make more alive every organ in the body. I guarantee this. If one is not satisfied with the results after three weeks, the money paid for insruction up to that time will be refunded.

A large class has already signed up for the course. The living room at my home is being used as the place for class instruction at the present time. The ladies' class meets on Monday evening and the gentlemen's class on Tuesday evening. If you are incrested, do not delay another day. Begin right now to get all that life has to offer in real health pleasure. One does not necessarily have to join the class. I will give instruction in your home, in your office or in my office at any time of the day or evening.

Remember, I know what I am talking about, I know what evolutionary exercise has done for me and I know what it will do for you. Remember, it will cost you nothing unless I can prove every statement made. I will be glad to call on you and give more details regarding this or you may call at my office for further information. I can prove to you that I have the best developed muscles in Genoa (I do not mean brute strength, but the kind of muscles that are untiring) and will explain to you why perfectly developed muscles and a strong nervous system will ward off old age and

There is the famous example of Lord Stair and Louis XIV. when his lordship, being bidden by the king to precede him into one of the royal carrlages, immediately complied. The politeness was equal on both sides. The French sovereign gave proof of so magnanimous a monarch by abandoning his prerogative of preredence in his own dominions to the Scotch viscount. The English ambassador returned the compliment by yielding immediate obedience to the behest of a king who was not bis master. Neither sacrifice was outdone by the other.

Early Railroading.

Some seventy five years ago when two trains of the Western Atlantic railway met on the road's single track line violent discussions ensued between the conductors as to which train should back up and take the sidetrack, and the engineers frequently joined in the dispute. Rule 14, issued March 1, 1852, says: "As a general rule when trains meet between stations the train nearest the turnout will run back. Any dispute as to which train is to retire is to be determined at once by the conductors without interference on the part of the engineman. This rule is required to be varied in favor of the heaviest loaded engine or worst grades if they meet near the center." Conductors were admonished never to leave either terminal point without the mail or at least first sending to the postoffice for it.

One day a British party had drunk somewhat freely and, happening upon a French sergeant of the guard, insisted upon making him a prisoner. The man was brought before the Duke of Wellington and lost no time in acquainting him with his plight.

"All right," said the duke good naturedly. "Of course you shall go, but you must have something to eat first.' And, turning to an orderly, he said, "Have this man taken to the kitchen and given a good meal." The Frenchman saluted, but made no attempt to express his thanks. Noticing his looks. the duke said:

Getting the Air. I have known city men, hundreds of hem, who had a firm conviction that one of the greatest obstacles in their way to becoming healthy lay in the fact that city air has less ozone in it than the air up state or at the seashore. True, the air down by the sidewalks would not assay as high in ozone as that in the Catskill mountains, but the difference chemically is so slight that t isn't worth talking about .- Dr. L. R. Horse Chestnuts.

Certain chemists are endeavoring to idapt the horse chestnut to the human dietary. The nuts are more than half starch and sugar, with some proteid and fat, and are nutritious. Their value chiefly depends on the elimination of the bitter elements and the irritating saponin-like glucosides.

What this means to the farm laborer does not fully appear on the surface. He will get good wages, he can secure a homestead worth at the end of three years about $1,600, while working for wages he can put in residence duties, and can also look around, and find a good location.

Besides the homesteading attraction of Western Canada, there remains the other fact that other lands can be purchased at from $15 to $30, while improved farms may be had at reasonable figures.

The desire to have a piece of land of one's own is a natural instinct in the heart of every properly developed man and woman. In earlier years, on account of the great areas of land available in the United States, no great difficulty was experienced by any ambitious settler of that country who wished to become his own landholder, but the rapid increase in population, combined with the corresponding rise in the price of land, has completely changed this condition. Land, which a generation ago might be had for the homesteading, now commands prices ranging to $100 an acre and over. At such prices it is quite hopeless for the tenant farmer or the farmer's son in moderate circumstances, or the city man with limited capital, to attempt to buy a farm of his own. To pay for it becomes a life-long task, and the probability is that he will never do more than meet the interest charges. If he is serious In his desire to secure a farm home, he must look to countries where there is still abundant fertile land available at moderate cost, and where these lands are to be purchased on terms which make it possible for the settler small bottle for you from his whole with small capital to become a farm owner as the result of a few years' labor. He will also want land in a country where the practices of the people are similar to those to which he has joke he may get off. been accustomed; a country with the based on the same principles as those he has been accustomed to from lands at $100.00 an acre. He wants this land where social conditions will be attractive to himself and his family, and where he can look forward with confidence to being in a few years independent, and well-started on the road to financial success.

All these conditions he will find in Western Canada, and nowhere else. No Eggs, Milk or Butter

The following recipe shows how an appetizing, wholesome cake can be made without expensive ingredients.

In many other recipes the number of eggs may be reduced one-half or more by using an additional quantity of ROYAL Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

EGGLESS, MILKLESS, BUTTERLESS CAKE

1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
5 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

The old method (fruit cake) called for 2 eggs DIRECTIONS—Put the first eight ingredients into saucepan and bell three minutes. When cool, add the flour and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Bake in moderate oven in loaf pan (round tin with hole in center is best) for 35 or 40 minutes. Ice with white icing.

Booklet of recipes which economize in eggs and other expensive ingredients mailed free. Address Royal Baking Powder Co., 125 William Street, New York.
