

GENOA NATIONALS TURN THE TRICK

Take the Undeclared Elburn Team into Camp Sunday

WILLIAMS REGISTERS HOME RUN

Beltz Fans Fifteen of the Visitors—Bad First Inning Causes Excitement

The invincible Elburn team, which boasted an unbroken string of victories since the first game early this spring, came over to Genoa last Sunday and suffered the first defeat at the hands of the Genoa Nationals. It really was no great disgrace for the visitors for they were up against a real base ball team. And by the same token, it would have been no discredit to Genoa had the Elburns carried home the bacon, for the visiting team was composed of a husky bunch of old timers. When the smoke of battle had cleared away the score board showed eight runs for the Nationals and six for the visitors.

There was grave apprehension in the bleachers before the first inning was over; those Elburn huskies slugged the ball without regard for the previous record of Beltz. Perhaps the visitors did not know who was in the box for Genoa and lacked the proper respect due a professional. They learned later, however, for those four runs gathered in the first caused Beltz to tighten up, and during the other eight innings only two more visitors crossed the home plate. Fifteen of them fanned out, this being six short of the strike-out record of a week previous.

And while Beltz was tightening up, he was receiving some glit edge support behind the bat. Williams was on his toes every minute of the game and at bat he was the whole show. Besides registering the only home run of the game he is credited with two two-baggers and four of the eight scores.

John Sell starred at third, being credited with three put-outs but he had hard luck with the stick. Vern Getthman takes second honors at the bat, there being three hits to his credit.

There was as per usual some kicking over decisions, but everyone who knows him, is fully aware of the fact that Charles Sager has been too long in the game and too good a sport to do anything but the right thing as he sees it. The visitors made a desperate effort to get Sager's goat, but that same goat was safely tied years ago and has never been released.

There was a large crowd in attendance and the grounds were in ideal condition. Base ball in Genoa is sure coming back and with such a team as we now have there is no reason why the old time base ball fame might not again be ours. In the old days of Dempsey, Bagley, Sager, Sisley, Patterson, Meehan and others who are now out of the game, Genoa was known throughout Northern Illinois as the blue ribbon base ball town. Perhaps history will repeat itself. In those days every man, woman and child in the city was a loyal booster and the organization never had to go begging for funds. We need just that kind of loyalty now to maintain a winning team.

The score for last Sunday's game follows:

BROTHERS IN CRIME ONLY

Two Kirkland Thieves are Sentenced Monday

State's Attorney Poust made an investigation as to John Smith and Edward Smith who were arrested a short time ago for breaking into the store of Mr. D. Turner at Kirkland, and carrying off a large quantity of jewelry and merchandise. They were indicted by the June grand jury and were arraigned a week ago before Judge Cliffe. They repeatedly stated that they were brothers and that their parents were both dead and in general gave a good hard luck story. They neglected however to get together on the name of their mother and one gave it as Barbara and the other Mary but when cornered they said it was Barbara Mary. They both plead guilty before Judge Cliffe who deferred sentence pending an investigation of their previous record if any. Friday State's Attorney Poust received a letter from the Bureau of Detectives of Allegheny County, Pittsburg, Pa. advising that they were, not brothers and their names were John Schutzmen, age 17 years and Michael Mathews, age 14 years. They both have parents living at Pittsburg who are neighbors. Accompanying the letter was a photograph of the older boy which positively identified him to be John Schutzman.

On Monday of this week Schutzman was sentenced to the reform school at Pontiac and Mathews to the St. Charles school for boys.

TAKES OWN LIFE

Ex-Service Man of Chana thus Resents Jilting

Carlton Gilbert Wall of Chana, ex-service man, 23 years old, after a quarrel with Miss Ethel Knapp of Ashton, fired a bullet into his head Saturday night about 11 o'clock after the girl had refused to go for a ride with him.

According to a story from Ashton this morning, the young man and lady had been keeping company for some time, but the parents of the girl had raised strenuous objections to the young man.

Saturday night the Knapp girl was en route to her home and Wall drove up and asked her to go for a ride. She refused. Wall turned to go toward town and about ten minutes later returned to the girl's house. She came toward the automobile and told Wall that if they had to break up it might just as well be done then as any time. This news didn't agree with Wall and he quickly jerked a revolver from his pocket and fired a bullet through his brain.

LITTLE ONE DROWNED

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis Falls Into Water Tank

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis fell into a tank of water this (Thursday) morning and drowned. The little one was still alive when taken from the water. Doctors were called, but despite every effort at resuscitation the child did not regain consciousness.

Mr. Lewis, brother of Ezra Lewis, resides on the latter's farm north east of Genoa.

BLOOMER GIRLS

The famous Bloomer Girls base ball team will play at DeKalb Sunday, June 26. This is the best girls' base ball club in the country. This will be their first and last appearance in this section of the state.

AFTER CANADA THISTLES

At the recent meeting of the board of supervisors of this county, the Canada thistles committee reported that they find that the Canada thistle law is not being complied with in this county; that while there should be 19 thistle commissioners in the county there are only 11; that but one of these has made a report as by law required; also that the work of weed control is important and should receive serious consideration. The committee therefore recommended that identification cards and other blanks be supplied, and that the town auditors appoint a thistle commissioner in each township and the law be enforced. The report was adopted by the board.

Borden (2), Warn, R. Winderhalter, Home run-Williams, Umpire, Sager. Next Sunday the Genoa Nationals go to Kirkland for a return game, and many rooters will follow the team. Kirkland is still smarting under the humiliating defeat of two weeks ago and will undoubtedly be prepared to retaliate.

On Monday, July 4, the Nationals play Sycamore at Electric park.

BOONE COUNTY ADOPTS NEW PLAN

Assists the State Department in Keeping Down Costs

ESTIMATE ROAD BUILDING COST

Supervisors' Committee Finds that Eleven Miles Can be Built for $232,285

Belvidere Republican: The board of Supervisors of Boone county voted to guarantee to the state of Illinois that if bids are called for by the state for the three sections of Grant Highway spanning Boone county there will be at least one bid coming within the limits prescribed by the governor in relation to the price which the state will pay for the building of cement roads. In other words, the county will sponsor the bids and if outside bidders do not come inside the price limits the county will itself will be a bidder within the limits.

In the view of the committee appointed by the board to investigate road building, and in the view of the board, the only way to make sure that Boone county will get any of the $60,000,000 hard road building fund which has been paid in through automobile licenses, is to act now. The great increase in the cost of road building threatens to use up the sixty million dollar fund at no distant date, and unless Boone county gets under the wire before that eventuates this county would be left with out her rightful share and yet with no recourse. The committee appointed by the board to investigate the matter made an exhaustive survey of the situation and reported the estimates of construction to the board, their report being published in full below. The matter was discussed at some length, and it appeared to be the consensus of opinion on the board that the state should be asked to advertise at a near date for bids on Grant Highway across Boone county with the understanding that the county would stand back of the guarantee that the cost would come inside the limits set by the state that this course should be taken to insure early construction of the highway and to secure a proportion of the road money which has been paid into the state treasury by the automobile owners.

It was therefore voted to authorize, instruct and empower the committee to arrange with the state officials for the advertising for bids on this section of the Grant Highway, under a guarantee by the county of Boone that that construction will not exceed the specifications set forth by the governor. The course has been taken by several other counties, and in the view of those conversant with the situation puts this county in line for an early construction of the highway and at the same time the county is protected from loss by the fact that the state road fund is now available for the payment of the contract county to step into the breach, although it is expected that outside bidders will get under the figures set down by the governor as the outside limit and will relieve the county of any responsibility in the matter.

Regardless of who takes the contract, construction on the road this season will give assurance of work to many now out of employment. The committee which made the investigation of costs and reported its estimates to the board yesterday afternoon consisted of Supervisor A. Gates White, chairman, and Supervisors Bert Hewer and John Fair. Their estimates submitted to the board are as follows.

Your committee first learned that in order to get Sections 13, 14, and 15 advertised for bids that they must first be able to show the governor that we would be able to submit a bid for $30,000 a mile or less on the three sections. The proposition, being so large, it was hard to find local men who could furnish the capital to handle such a proposition. Your committee then decided to investigate local materials and did so finding that seventy five per cent at least of the cost aggregate can be secured locally. Working on that basis your committee, with the assistance of the state engineers, have figured the three sections of eleven miles can be built for $309,000 or less than $30,000 a mile.

Treat Kindly the Stranger Within Our Gates

Learn that 50% Assessment Was a Business Necessity

The season of auto touring is here and with a general reduction in the price of cars and gasoline at the lowest figure it has been for many months there's every reason to believe that this section will be visited by more motorists this summer than at any time in its history.

With this in mind we want to call the attention of all Genoa citizens to the advisability of showing strangers every possible courtesy, not only because they are as a general rule entitled to it and expect it just as we do when we go away from home among strangers, but because it is one of the very best things we can do to advertise our town and community and place our advantages in a still better light before residents of other states. Almost every stranger coming through forms an opinion of the town and its people by the manner in which questions are answered and information given. They remember it, and as they pass along they speak a good word for us and the community in which we live. Then, too, at most all of them are in need of accessories or repairs, food or refreshments, and our trades people profit by their visits. So it is not a bad idea at all to court the visits of the auto tourists, to invite them this way and to give them to understand and make them feel that they are welcome during their stay here.

Fifteen hundred milk producers who market their milk through their own company, the Farmers Co-operative Marketing company, learned at a meeting in Chicago Friday why they have been assessed at various times on their sales. They learned that when their company had to sell some of their milk at a lower price than the company gave them the assessment was made to cover the difference. They were satisfied that the procedure was all right and told the marketing company to "go ahead and do the best you can."

The co-operative company has been marketing the milk of its 17,000 members in northern Indiana, Illinois and southern Wisconsin for some time on the same basis. If a farmer sold his milk to another dealer and got a lower price the company deducted a certain per cent of the first farmer's price to equalize the amount received by the second farmer, so that both got the same. The amount of the "spread" had been 10 per cent.

MARRIED AT GENEVA

Edwin B. Albertson of Genoa Takes Sycamore Girl as Bride

Miss Grace Isabelle Bastable, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bastable of Sycamore and Mr. Edwin B. Albertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Albertson of this city, were married at Geneva, Ill., Wednesday afternoon, June 15, 1921, at 3 o'clock, by the Rev. Mr. Snyder of the M. E. church.

The bride was gowned in a midnight blue embroidered tricot suit. Following the ceremony the bridal couple left for Chicago and will return in a week. On their return they will reside in Genoa, where their home will be in readiness for them, and where Mr. Albertson is engaged with the Leich Electric Co.

Mrs. Albertson was born and raised in Sycamore, is a graduate of the S. H. S., afterwards attending the DeKalb Normal. Until recently she was stenographer in the office of Dr. Thompson and Cleary. She is very prominent in the M. E. church circles and being a bright and attractive young lady has many friends who will miss her.

HAD BEEN ROBBED BY EXPERTS.

"You state in the first paragraph of your story that this was the most sensational robbery we've ever had here," said the city editor. "Well, wasn't it?" asked the new reporter. "Certainly not! Why, our banks have been robbed by some of the most noted crooks in the country."

A WILD BOY TELLS WILD STORY

Lad Escapes from St. Charles Home and Caught in Genoa

THIEF AND SOME PREVARICATOR

Implicates a Pal in Crime but Said Pal did Not Materialize

A bold holdup was staged at Sycamore on Wednesday morning which created a lot of excitement, by an escaped inmate of the St. Charles school. He was captured the same night by Marshal Crawford at Genoa and on Thursday was brought to Sycamore by Sheriff Decker and confessed his guilt to State's Attorney Poust. His name is Otto Sauk, and his age 18 years. About two years ago he made his escape from St. Charles, was arrested at that time in Sycamore for shooting and was returned to St. Charles.

According to his story, about a week ago he again made his escape with another boy named Albert Chambers and both headed for Sycamore where they had been for the past week hiding. Sauk on Wednesday about nine o'clock in the morning armed with a club broke into the house of Mrs. William Lineaur on Sacramento St. and stole a coat, shirt and a pocket book containing about $8.00. Hearing some one coming he made a dash for the door and was met by Mrs. Lineaur who was returning home. He knocked her down and made good his escape. He spent all the money except $1.67 which was found on his person on his arrest together with the pocketbook.

Then he says, he joined his confederate on the railroad tracks where they made arrangements to meet at midnight at the Charter school house. The Chambers boy failed to show up however. The Sauk boy stated that his pal is a dangerous character and is armed with a revolver and had committed several holdups outside the county since they escaped. He wears a blue suit and a grey cap and limps slightly.

Late Thursday afternoon one of the officials from St. Charles arrived in Sycamore and stated that white there was a boy named Chambers in the St. Charles school who was known to be the Sauk boy, the Chambers boy had not escaped.

The Sauk boy evidently manufactured the entire story about the other boy helping him out and was a lone wolf.

A BIG CONTRACT

Gang of Men to Work on Central Trestle All Summer

About twenty men will be at work in putting in new abutments and pier work at the Illinois Central trestle this summer and it will be near fall before the work is finished. A car load of reinforcing iron is already on the ground and hundreds of barrels of cement and car loads of gravel will be used. The false work alone will require weeks of time and car loads of heavy lumber.

A steam concrete mixer is already on the ground and the engineers are now doing preliminary work. The construction work as it progresses will be interesting in that unusual methods are to be employed. In preparing the foundation for the contractor the Illinois Central bridge gang drove nearly two hundred piles down to hard pan. These piles were not sharpened but driven with blunt butts so that they will never sink another fraction of an inch.

Sycamore Woman Wins Suit in Rockford Court

It required only fifteen minutes for a jury in Rockford last Thursday to find a verdict of $5,000 for Miss Jesse Carlson of Sycamore, Ill., who sued Charles Anderson of Rockford for alleged breach of promise to marry. Miss Carlson told the jury Anderson courted her for six years and that on the eve of the wedding day he telephoned her the marriage would have to be postponed. He never set another date, she testified.

Buick Cars Driven from Flint to Northern Illinois

In the most impressive sales demonstration in the history of the automotive industry, 500 Buick representatives from the company's Northern Illinois territory one afternoon last week took their places in 500 Buick cars to participate in an unparalleled driveway.

The driveway was the convincing method used by the Chicago territorial dealers to show their faith and belief in the industry and also to demonstrate the popularity with the general public of the product which they are handling.

An appreciation of the size of the driveway may be gained from the realization that when the last car was leaving Flint the first car was nearing Durand, a road distance of 26 miles.

BURLINGTON'S MISTAKE

Turns Down Township High School Proposition Saturday

The boosters for better school facilities in the town of Burlington are disappointed—in fact some of them are decidedly peeved over the election of last Saturday when the town voted on the high school proposition. The boosters lost by a majority of seventy votes, or nearly two to one. Burlington made a serious mistake, but it is thought that in another year when financial affairs look brighter for the farmer, the vote will be different.

FINE SMALL ENOUGH

Fred G. Hambridge of Belvidere was fined $50 and costs Monday afternoon by Justice J. W. Fox on a charge of reckless driving. The fine followed a smashup on West Lincoln avenue about 9:00 o'clock Sunday evening, when an automobile driven by Hambridge ran into a rig driven by Chas. Stegeman, living in the country, wrecking the buggy and throwing out himself and children. The two children were bruised and cut, but none of the party sustained serious injury. The horse was not injured.

Flowers Are Dangerous.

The odors of many familiar flowers are poisonous. The old self-colored tulips, particularly those of a deep crimson hue, have a powerful odor which is dangerous when inhaled. This odor is of saffron flavor, and affects many people in a very peculiar manner. If breathed deeply, it has the effect of producing light headedness, which continues for some time, causing the sufferer to do and say all manner of remarkable and mysterious things. Its influence often lasts for an hour or two, and is followed by deep depression.

WAS OUT TO SAVE MONEY

Mrs. Newbride Had It All Figured, to Her Own Satisfaction, at Any Rate.

"Yes, it does, as you say, give rather an air to the flat," agreed the almost new husband. His wife had seated herself on the arm of his chair surveying their latest acquisition, the baby grand piano, which filled three-fourths of the living room.

"And now if we only had one of those nifty one-arm floor lamps," mused the almost new husband's bride.

"Why, Bettina, it was only yesterday that you argued the piano would finish the room without buying another thing," protested the almost new husband. "That was one of the arguments you used to wheedle me into buying!"

"Well, of course, it saves us buying a luscious blue plush bed-davenport, or a graceful chaise longue or a library table," she defended. "There simply isn't room in this apartment for much besides the piano. It really is an economy in the end. But a lamp is different. You know that a grand piano is not complete without a floor lamp. And while we are at it we might as well get one of the newest kind. Just think how cozy we would look with you sitting peacefully under the new lamp while I play to you every evening!"

"Hum!" groaned the almost new husband. "The next thing you'll be telling me that a grand piano requires an oriental prayer rug under the pedals, a Persian scarf thrown across the bench and a vase of dollar-a-smell roses in constant attendance. I'm rather surprised that you haven't mentioned another apartment with a piano room for your pet!"

"It would be nice," agreed the bride failing to note the touch of sarcasm in the voice of her husband. Then she rallied her forces once more. "But think how much money it will save us on movies. By staying home to play and sing we save—let me see—exactly 63 cents a day!"

"By the way," said the almost new husband, "we mustn't forget our sorrow on Friday night. Last week left Harry Hairbreadth in an awful fix. Do you think the piano would mind if we left it alone just once?"

"Oh, I guess not," answered Betty absent-mindedly. Then she launched her final attack. "You know, Billy, I can't expect you to give up going out entirely, at least until I learn to play better. I have heard of a splendid teacher at $10 an hour and I really think to be worthy of such an instrument, I should take lessons!"

"It's not the original cost, it's the upkeep!" said the almost new husband. "Come along, my dear, to the movies."

House of 1,000 Rooms.

A maze which forms a happy hunting ground for robbers, is the house formerly occupied by the ministry of war in Vienna, says a correspondent. The great size of the thousand roomed house evidently attracts the attention of thieves and the military and police seem unable to keep them out. Ornaments, pictures, typewriters, everything and anything, even to the door knobs and knockers are constantly being carried away. When a thief, in the course of his wanderings, meets anyone, he simply pretends to have come on business, and goes on until he comes to an unoccupied room, there he quickly gathers together anything he can lay his hands on, and departs. In many cases the robbers have an accomplice in the street to whom articles are thrown from the window.

Cream-Colored Moles.

It is rather curious to find dead moles lying about dykesides when mole-fur prices are so high, writes a correspondent from Scotland. I crossed a field, and at the exit I counted no fewer than 22 moles in a heap. These had evidently been thrown there by a local trapper as useless lumber. More curious still, I came on what may be called the unique in moles. A gardener had trapped four of these rodents of a decided cream color. No portion of the bodies gave signs of normal coloring. The gardener said he surmised there were more on his premises, but he had failed to catch them at the date he exhibited the four referred to.

Continental Camp Rediscovered.

"Connecticut Village," one of the camps of Washington's soldiers in the Hudson highlands, the site of which has long been unknown, has been rediscovered by members of the New York Historical society. The unearthing of a bayonet blade, a grapeshot, buttons of the Continental infantry and artillery, bullets, gunflints and other military relics, together with topographical characteristics that tally accurately with records in Continental documents, have placed the camp on the farm of James Smith, about a mile and a half from Cold Spring village.

Cow Gives 42 Tons of Milk.

A British Friesian cow, owned by an English farmer, gave more than 2,000 gallons of milk during 1919, and promises to repeat the performance this year. In the two years her output of milk amounted to considerably more than 4,000 gallons and weighs more than 18 tons. In less than six years Moss Rose has had seven calves and given more than 42 tons of milk.

More Trouble.

A firm of music publishers have produced what they describe as a three-quarter one-step. It will soon be impossible to get a dance without being accompanied by a professional arithmetician.—London Punch.

Happiness.

"Happiness," said Uncle Eben, "is what a man thinks he'd maybe have if he was somebody else's thinkin' de same way about him."

Balance of Power.

"Balance of power" is an expression used to denote a principle in European politics that forbids any one nation to have such a preponderance of power as may endanger the independence of the rest. There was such a principle in the days of Athens, Sparta and Thebes and the rival states of Greece. It does not now play the part it did during the Eighteenth century and the first half of the Nineteenth.

Will It Pay?

Read carefully the following answers:

June 20, 1921

I believe that the school for instruction in principles, precepts and practices in AMERICAN GOVERNMENT, now started by the Genoa Post of the American Legion, is one of the greatest movements of the day, and, if carried out as contemplated, will be of value beyond computation to the Legion and the Nation. It seems to me that every person who has arrived at age of understanding will give this undertaking his hearty, whole-souled support and attend every session possible for him to do so.

Adam C. Cliffe, Judge 16th Judicial District.
Cassius Poust, States Attorney.
Henry Decker, Sherriff.
Warren Hubbard, Supt. of Schools.
Major Wm. T. Hemenway.
Major Goodison.

FIRST SESSION

THURSDAY EVG.

June 30, 1921

Genoa Opera House

The Reverend Thomas O'Brien, Reverend John E. Robeson and Reverend Bramscher, busy men, fully imbued with the Spirit of America, express their belief in its full value by complying with the request for devotion of much of their time and energy to it.

These able and patriotic men have profoundly studied, and are competent to teach these subjects.

This school is open to all and everyone is invited, and urged to attend every session.

With good music to delight and able Speakers to interest and instruct. Coffee and Doughnuts after.

Every Legion Post in the County has been invited to attend and it is expected that members from every one of them will be present at the first meeting.

Major Goodison, Captain Poust, Major Hemenway, Judge Cliffe, Supt. of Schools Warren Hubbard and many other prominent men expect to be here.

If you are a Real American get behind this movement for better Organization and Administration of Government.

Turn out and show the boys that you appreciate the Services they have rendered, their present efforts and that you have not forgotten them.

MEANS BIG CROP

Wheat in Western Canada Has Excellent Start.

Germination, in the Rich Soil of That Country, Is Speedy—Farmers on Road to Wealth.

It was on the 18th of May that the writer received a letter from a friend in Western Canada dated the 15th of the same month. Information was conveyed in the letter that its author had traveled over a considerable portion of Western Canada. He had covered most of the settled portions, and from those he had not covered he had secured information that amplified his own observations of conditions throughout all the vast area of that country.

He found seeding of wheat practically completed, and placed in a bed of earth that was in a condition that warranted speedy and healthy germination. This was borne out by evidence that he was a witness of wheat that had been in the ground four days that was already breaking through, and that which had been seeded for a week was well above the ground, the field being as green as a new pasture plot. Everywhere this condition existed. It will be pleasing information for those who have friends in Western Canada—in any part of it, no matter where they may be—to learn that conditions have opened up in such a splendid way, and to be advised that the prospects were never brighter than now.

When it becomes known that conditions are so satisfactory, many who were waiting, uncertain what to do in the matter of moving, will doubtless now come to a decision. With the opening of thousands of homesteads, which took place on the 1st of May, there was a rush to take advantage of the opportunity to secure 160 acres of excellent land free, within speaking distance of a railroad. The low railway rates granted by means of a certificate issued by Canadian government agents, located at different points in the States, make it possible to make a trip and inspect at small cost.

One of the most interesting features of the trip is that it is possible to see the land that is being settled. The farmer who desires to make money quickly, that these grains can be grown so successfully, and easily, makes it possible to go into other branches of farming industry, that give stability to it, wherever they are carried on. They are dairying and cattle-raising. There is an excellent market for the product, and the climate aids materially in assisting it, while the native grasses, as well as cultivated varieties, bring the cost of production to a much lower figure than is possible on lands that are much higher in price, with no better yielding qualities. Then, again, it is simply shown that fodder corn can be grown with great success, and that sunflowers, which have been fully proven little behind, if any, in food quality, thrive wonderfully. In fact, these two foldings, in addition to which may be added that of alfalfa and sweet clover, in which Western Canada farmers are well placed with growers elsewhere, have brought about a period of silo-building which promises to eclipse any effort in this line made anywhere on the continent. In Manitoba alone, one firm is building two hundred this year. In Saskatchewan, many orders have been placed; in one small district in Alberta, where fifty were erected last year, another fifty will be built this summer. That there will be a thousand silos erected in the three provinces this year seems to be a conservative estimate. To the farmer in the States, who knows the advantage of the silos, who is interested in the fodder to be grown to fill them, what does this mean?—Advertisement.

INTRODUCED A COMIC SCENE

Player Unwittingly Interjected Comedy Into Gloomy Tragedy of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar.

When I was in high school we gave an entertainment—"Julius Caesar," in which I had a minor part. Without coat or collar, sleeves rolled up high, and a blanket for a toga I was a Roman citizen. I was also one of the stage managers.

After one scene the curtain stopped about two feet from the floor. I stepped on the stage to right the difficulty. Without warning, the curtain came down in a wreck on my poor defenseless head. I was stunned for a moment. Then I began to realize what a grotesque figure I must be. I had discarded my toga while shifting scenes, and there I was standing alone on the stage amid the ruins, feeling the bump on the top of my head.

But I smiled in spite of myself, gave a professional bow, and stalked with dignity to the wings. It was several minutes before the audience quieted down so that the play could go on.—Chicago Tribune.

EVERYBODY SEES A CHANGE IN FATHER

Grateful Son Says His Father Looks Like Different Man Since Taking Tanlac.

"My father has suffered from chronic stomach trouble for over twenty years and has paid out thousands of dollars for medicines and doctors," said G. W. Slayton, a well-known Cobb County farmer, living a short distance out of Atlanta, Ga.

"We tried nearly everything trying to cure him and he went off to the Springs, thinking maybe the water might help him, but it just looked like nothing would reach his trouble. Then he tried dieting and lived on liquid food until he almost starved, but even that failed to do him any good and he just kept going from bad to worse."

"I don't guess there ever was a case as stubborn as his, and if there ever was a confirmed dyspeptic he was one of them, and I guess he would have been one yet if it hadn't been for this Tanlac."

"The first we heard of this medicine was when my father saw an advertisement in the papers from parties he knew in Tennessee, who were friends of his and he knew what they said about it was the truth, so he got it right away and began taking it. Well, sir, it acted just like magic—everybody notices the change in father. Why, he is just like a different man and sits down to the table and eats like a farmhand. Only yesterday he ate pork and turnips for his dinner and ate so much we were actually afraid he was going to overdo the thing, but he laughed and said nothing hurt him now and that he was hungry and expected to eat and make up for lost time."

"Now, when a medicine will do things like that I think people ought to know about it, and I want to say right now that I would not give one bottle of Tanlac for all the other medicines and health resorts in the country put together."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

If You Need a Medicine
You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

"AH, SENORITA!"

Synopsis.—In a New York jewelry store Philip Severn, United States consular agent, notices a small box which attracts him. He purchases it. Later he discovers in a secret compartment a writing giving a clue to a revolutionary movement in this country ostensibly seeking the overthrow of the Chilean government, but evidently international in character and in any event threatening the welfare of the United States. The writer mentions a rendezvous and Severn, temporarily at leisure, determines to investigate on his own account.

CHAPTER I—Continued.

The whole affair looked hopeless. About all I could do would be to send the torn note to the proper authorities in Washington, with a statement of how it came into my possession, and let them dispose of the matter in any way they deemed best. I wrote such a letter carefully on hotel stationery, and went down to mail it in the lobby. Before disposing of it in the mailbox I encountered the manager, Burke, and stopped for a word. We were still talking when a bellboy came up hurriedly with a message. Burke turned.

"What is it, George?"

"That Gans street party is on the wire, sir."

"Oh, all right. Excuse me, Severn, but I've been trying to get connection for an hour."

"But wait a minute," my veins tingling. "Did he say Gans street? Where is that? There is no such name in the city directory."

"Gans! Why, over in Jersey. Yes, I'm coming."

I thrust the unmailed letter into my pocket, and sat down, staring at the crowd in the lobby, but entirely indifferent to their presence. Here at least was an opening, a chance—Gans street was in Jersey City. Then it was not all a dream. I would at least look over the ground before I gave up in despair, for I had stumbled upon a way out of the blind alley—Gans street, Jersey City.

CHAPTER II.

A Man and a Woman.

It was late in the afternoon, the day dark with a chilly wind blowing off the river, when I reached Jersey City. The first policeman encountered gave me all necessary directions, so that I alighted from a street car within a block of my destination. A saloon on the upper corner of the block furnished me the necessary clew, and, using it as a marker, I succeeded in tracing back until satisfied I had thus safely located "876." It was an abandoned factory, built of brick, two stories high, evidently extending over considerable ground at the rear, but with a frontage not to exceed forty feet. The lower windows were boarded up, a number of those in the second story broken, and the main entrance, large enough for the passage of a motor truck, was tightly secured by an immense iron bar. A smaller door to the right alone offered any possibility of entrance, although it was tightly closed.

To all outward appearances the place had been unoccupied for months, and perhaps years. From the sidewalk it was impossible to gain any glimpse within. Only one discovery served to convince me that I might be on the right track—that I had not been entirely deceived. A small sign, so covered with dust and dirt as to be almost unreadable, was nailed over the smaller door. In the growing dusk I was obliged to study it intently to decipher the words, but finally made them out letter by letter:

"OFFICE ALVA MALLEABLE IRON COMPANY."

Here was a strange coincident, if nothing more, for Gustave Alva had been one of the names signed on the hotel register. Beyond doubt this old, abandoned iron foundry was his property, and what better spot could be selected in which to meet and concoct a scheme of crime? What a place to hide arms for shipment. Whatever doubt I may have felt regarding my venture vanished in the presence of that unusual name. This was unquestionably the place named in the letter as a rendezvous; here was where the recipient of that letter was to go and receive instructions; where he was to use the mysterious raps, and the countersign "Cervantes," in order to gain admittance. The knowledge that I was actually upon the threshold of such a discovery brought with it a determination not to lose the advantage. But what could I do? What further steps might be safely taken alone?

The night was dark, a slight drizzle in the air, no one abroad except from necessity. No sign of life was visible for the full extent of the block, until the saloon on the further corner came into view. Its gleaming hospitality invited me, and I strolled along the opposite walk, my coat collar turned up to shut out the drizzle, and finally crossed over to where I could peer in through the dingy windows. The man behind the bar was unmistakably Polish, and of no high type, and at first I saw no other occupants of the place except two roughly dressed men at a table just inside, who were playing cards silently. The room was clean enough, and quiet, yet I felt no inclination to enter. Those were not fellows I would have turned away, but at that instant I perceived the indistinct figure of a young woman in the further corner, sitting beside a table alone.

Her presence stimulated my curiosity. She appeared to be young, not badly dressed, and her being in such a place unattended rendered her of some interest. It surely could do no harm if I dropped in for a sandwich and a glass of beer. I crossed to the bar, furtively watchful, but no one except the proprietor apparently paid the slightest attention to my entrance. The two men never glanced up from their cards, and the girl—for she was scarcely more—merely turned her head and stared at me without interest. I spoke to the barman in English. We exchanged a few words—his own speech very broken—while he prepared the sandwich, and the only thing unusual I noticed was the passage of a slight signal between him and the woman across the room. I could not be sure even as to that, but gained the impression that he shook his head negatively, as though to some mute question.

Unless it might be the intense brunette blackness of hair and an extremely clear complexion, there was nothing typically Spanish in her appearance. Indeed she impressed me as thoroughly American in features, dress and manner, somewhere in the twenties I should judge, with brown eyes, and a face decidedly pleasant to look upon, although with a firmness to it, expressed by mouth and chin, not to be mistaken. I noted these things hurriedly, never venturing to stare at her, though she apparently gave me no attention whatever. Somehow the girl seemed strangely out of place in that dingy saloon—she did not in any sense belong. She was evidently not there seeking company, nor was she drinking; and yet there must surely be some meaning to her presence.

The proprietor approached me, leaning one hand on the table.

"There is nothing more?" he asked.

"No, this will answer very well."

He lingered, tempted to question me.

"You have not been in before? Perhaps you do not live near?"

"I do not," I replied frankly. "I travel out of Boston, and sell lumber. I have been doing some business with the yard down below."

"I see. You are not from New York, are you?"

"No; Boston has always been my home."

"Once I live there, too; when I first come north from Rio. What you think about this war? We lick Germany—hey?"

"Oh, I don't know; she seems to be more than holding her own."

"Ach, yes. But now this country go in; what then?"

I looked up quickly into his face, with a swift desire to test his real sentiment.

"This country! Why should it go in? There are Germans enough over here to stop that."

"Not Germans—no. But Internationals, revolutionaries. They are more than you think. 'Tis time for them to strike a great blow."

"You are Polish, are you not?"

"Yah, from Warsaw. I come over six years."

"Naturalized?"

"I have first papers—why you ask?" suspiciously.

"I merely questioned from curiosity." My eyes wandered once more to the girl across the room, and he noticed the glance.

"You wonder what she do in here?" he asked. "I tell you. She was my niece, an' sit here to wait for a friend to walk home with her. It is not a good neighborhood, this, for a woman alone in the dark."

"Her home is some distance?"

"Five—six blocks. It is a dark, bad way."

He moved back toward the bar, apparently satisfied with his examination of me, as well as his explanation. I wondered grimly why he had taken the trouble to tell me all this, and ordered another glass of beer as an excuse to linger there a while longer. What was the party like who was to call for the girl? I did not have to linger long to gratify my curiosity. The side door opened silently, and a man stepped briskly inside, shaking the raindrops from his coat as he greeted the barman cheerily.

"A dirty night, Jans," he said, glancing swiftly about, his eyes sweeping over me sharply. "Business not very good, I suppose?"

"Dead. It's no good now any more, with all the factories closing up because of the war. Just some salesman drops in for a beer. That makes me nothings."

The newcomer laughed, evidently put quite at ease by this quick explanation. I was watching him. A rather thick-set fellow with a turned-up mustache and a disfiguring scar on one cheek, which gave to his eye a peculiar expression. Watching the fellow I must have missed some signal, for he whirled about suddenly and confronted the girl, who had already risen to her feet and stood expectantly, one hand yet resting on the table.

"Ah, senorita! You were waiting for me to come," he exclaimed. "Yet I have not kept you long."

"Oh, no," she answered quietly in Spanish, her voice so low the words barely carried to where I sat. "You were delayed?"

"A car blockade at the wharf. No, thank you, Jans, nothing tonight. You would go, senorita?"

"There can be nothing to remain longer here for, surely."

I watched them disappear through the side door, marking his grasp on her arm and her quick glance aside into his face. There had been something wrong about this meeting, something undeniably awkward and constrained. These two were not what they pretended to be—old-time friends meeting incidentally to walk home together. They were strangers, coming together there for the first time by appointment. Neither had previously known the other. I had even detected fear, doubt, in the expression of the girl's face.

Yet I dare not move, or attempt to follow them. I could only sit quietly, my eyes on the window fronting the street. I watched intently, but no shadows passed that way—the two had not turned down Gans street.

My mind worked rapidly as I sat there motionless, afraid to make the slightest move lest it arouse suspicion. Whatever the object of the meeting might be, Jans was more or less involved. He had signaled to the girl twice, and his words, however innocent they may have sounded, must have brought a warning to the man. Beyond doubt he had questioned me with the distinct purpose of thus discovering why I had drifted into the place. I dismissed utterly his statement that the young woman was his niece—her very appearance gave that lie.

Something was wrong, perhaps not criminal, perhaps in no way associated with the affair which had brought me into that neighborhood, and yet suspiciously wrong, and I felt inexorably driven to find out what it meant. I finished my beer slowly, and then selected a cigar from the case and lit it deliberately. Jans leaned over the bar, speaking confidentially, and I had to remain, although I cursed inwardly at the delay. Yet I broke away at last, assured that I had finally lulled every suspicion to rest and passed out through the front door.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

FOUND VALUABLE WAR RELIC

Oregon Legion Man's Best Trophy of Big Conflict, Is Worth Large Sum.

Souvenirs varying from a chip off Eiffel tower to a German beer stein captured in Sedan, were brought back from France by the returning Americans. But few of the mementoes stored in a doughboy's pack are as valuable as that belonging to George D. Foster, formerly a corporal of the Fourth Engineers, Fourth Division, who found a rare Roman coin that is perhaps worth several hundred dollars.

While looking for a safe and soft spot in the ruins of an old house near Sergy, France, Corporal Foster, now a peace-loving member of the American Legion in Cottage Grove, Ore., found an old gilt case containing a coin. He thrust it into his pack and recently turned it over to a college professor who pronounced it worth more than its weight in gold. Its date is 806 A. D. On one side it bears the inscription "Magnus," the title given the Emperor Constantine. On the other side are the inscriptions "VOTES XX," "Beatus Truquillus," and "Percusa Treveris." The latter words, the professor declares, indicate that the coin was minted in Thier, Germany, formerly a seat of the Roman empire.

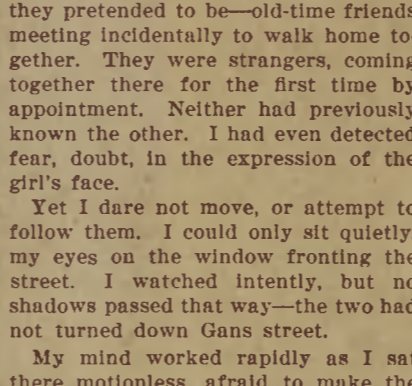

LEGION MEN BURY COMRADES

Organization Officers at Almost Every Reinterment of Men Who Fell on Battlefields.

With the thousands of bodies being returned to the homeland from the battlefields of France, the American Legion has justified its existence if for no other reason than the display of proper respect for the remains of the country's heroes. In almost every instance in which the body of a soldier who died overseas has been reinterred in American soil, Legion members have taken part.

Funeral for Indian Comrade.

The photograph shows the ceremonies of the military funeral held by Carl Anderson Post of the Legion at Cloquet, Minnesota, for John DeFoe, the first American Indian from the state to be killed in action. The tribe to which the dead soldier belonged was glad to allow his white comrades to bury him in a manner befitting his brave career in the service of his country.

EX-SERVICE BOYS GET JOBS

President of Chicago Grain Concern, Trench Experienced, Does Not Forget His Buddies.

When Private Paul J. Healy, 33rd Division, A. E. F., was waiting in the trenches of France for the shell with his initials on it, he vowed that if he got out alive he would never forget the bravery and sacrifice of his comrades. Now President Paul J. Healy of the Chicago Grain Products company, Rockford, Ill., is living up to the pledge he took on the field of battle.

The company, which Mr. Healy heads recently began the construction of a new distillery. Mr. Healy ordered that none but ex-service men be employed in the construction work, and informed all concerned that when the plant is constructed, veterans of the World war will be shown all the preference on the company's pay roll. "My hope is to build an organization of former soldiers," Mr. Healy announced.

Mr. Healy enlisted as a private in the infantry and was discharged a sergeant. He was gassed at Albert, on the British front. He is one of the most active workers of Brophy post of the American Legion in Chicago.

To Remove Grit From Eye.

Small foreign bodies which are not imbedded in the eyeball may often be removed by going into a dark room, looking up toward the lighting fixture, then turning the light on quickly, writes a correspondent. If the light is strong enough, it will cause a violent reaction which will cause the particle to be washed to the corner of the eye. It is then easily removed by means of a clean handkerchief.

Proverb Analyzed.

A proverb hopes nothing, fears nothing that the eyes do not see, the ears do not hear. It is the doubting Thomas of life, of literature. "A man of the world is," as Mr. Balfour once neatly epitomized him, "one who does not believe anything good of the world." Well, so is a proverb.—V. H. Friedlaender, in Country Life.

HOW WOMEN AVOID SURGICAL OPERATIONS

Some Are Extremely Necessary, Others May Not Be

Every Woman Should Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill.

A Vermont woman adds her testimony to the long line of those fortunate women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after it had been decided an operation was necessary:

Burlington, Vt.—"I suffered with female trouble, and had a number of doctors who said that I would never be any better until I had an operation. I was so bad I could hardly walk across the floor and could not do a thing. My sister-in-law induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it certainly has helped me wonderfully. I keep house and do my work and have a small child. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to a number of my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. H. R. SHARON, Apple Tree Point Farm, Burlington, Vt.

In hospitals are many women who are there for surgical operations, and there is nothing a woman dreads more than the thought of an operation, and the long weary months of recovery and restoration to strength if it is successful. It is very true that female troubles may through neglect reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but most of the common ailments of women are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. In fact, many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SAVE SHOES AND STOCKINGS

They will last twice as long if you shake into your shoes ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, the powder for the feet. It takes the friction from the shoe and gives quick relief to Corns, Bunions, Calluses, sore, aching, swollen, tender feet. Shake Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes and enjoy the bliss of feet without an ache.

Love.

"Love" is one of the most frequently used—and abused—words in our language. There are almost as many definitions of it as there are people who speak the language. This little monosyllable may be said to be immeasurable in its potentialities.

In the German language the word is "Liebe." The exact Russian equivalent is "Lienboy." The Sanskrit word that expressed the idea—or the primitive conception of it—is "Lobha." The exact and original definition of that word, however, is "Covetousness." So you see.—Chicago Journal.

Juvenile Logic.

Time to spare is not the surplus of industry, but the deficiency of idleness.

To Be Exact.

"When does the last train leave for Brooks Junction?" asked the fussy old lady.

"I was reading in a newspaper this morning," said the ticket agent, dreamily. "There's a celebrated soothsayer predicted that the world would come to an end in 1950, barring unforeseen developments, the last train for Brooks Junction may leave here on or about that date."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Disinterestedness.

"Are you sure that your career has been distinguished by usefulness?" "I am," replied Senator Sorghum; "I've worried myself into brain-fag over the people in Europe, not one of whom could come out and vote for me even if I offered to pay his expenses."

HOW MUCH IS BILLION

Its Purchasing Power Seems Almost Unbelievable

How much is five billion dollars? Can a person's brain comprehend it? When America's great electrical industry announced a few days ago that the five million dollars already invested in plants and equipment should be doubled in the next five years if the nation's demand for power is met, the statistical sharks got busy with their pencils.

Here is a picture of what five billions of dollars is:

It is enough to build 600,000 homes at a cost of $5,000 each, or enough homes for everyone in a city the size of Chicago.

Enough dollars would be left over to purchase an electric fan for every family in the country whose house is wired.

To buy all the baseball tickets sold during the last ten years by both the National and American Leagues.

To pay for the Panama Canal.

To purchase a freight train 100 miles long at the cost of $200 a foot.

To build 1,000 hospitals worth $100,000 each.

To buy the entire state of Connecticut at a cost of $50 per acre.

To construct a road from San Francisco to New York at a cost of $20,000 a mile.

And—

To build 1,000 submarines for the navy at a cost of $1,000,000 apiece.

To build 1,000 hospitals worth $100,000 each.

To buy the entire state of Connecticut at a cost of $50 per acre.

To construct a road from San Francisco to New York at a cost of $20,000 a mile.

And—

To build 1,000 submarines for the navy at a cost of $1,000,000 apiece.

In the United States today the output of the Central Station industry is about 45,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy.

If used with ordinary Mazda lamps this would be sufficient to light every square foot of the state of Texas as bright as a well-lighted dining room and keep it lighted through one entire night, and there are 262,000 square miles of territory in Texas, and every one of the square miles contains approximately 28,000,000 square feet.

All of this great system has been built since 1882—or within the life time of every middle-aged citizen.

In 1885 the total investment of the electrical industry of the nation was but $10,000,000. In the brief intervening period it has been swelled to $5,000,000,000; one million four hundred men and women of the country having invested their savings in the securities representing this vast sum.

WHERE IS BELOIT?

The boundary line between Illinois and Wisconsin is to be surveyed by federal authorities. Several surveyors have long made the claim that the boundary line is a quarter of a mile north of the line now recognized. If this is found to be true a large slice of Beloit will be in Illinois. This slice will include twenty city blocks, 3,500 population and much valuable property.

The daily output of watches at the Elgin national factory for the year ending May 1 averaged about 2,900. The factory officials are now planning on a larger output with smaller profits.

The Salt in the Sea.

The saline matter in the ocean is sufficient to make a block of salt measuring 4,800,000 cubic miles. If spread over the entire surface of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, it would form a crust more than a mile and a half deep. One per cent of the content of salt in the ocean would cover all the land areas of the globe to a depth of 290 feet.—United States Geological Survey.

Coal Facts 1921

No. 4

The price you pay for coal in your home is made up of:

Mine prices for domestic coal will, we believe, not be lower than they are at present and they may be higher. It has been customary, in anthracite, for the mine prices to advance 10 cents a ton each month through the summer months.

Freight rates are higher than a year ago—an average of 35 per cent higher. Here, that means over $2.50 per ton.

Our cost of doing business has not receded to any extent.

Inquiry from your own coal merchant will convince you, however, that now is the most advantageous time to buy.

Order your coal now; take it in early deliveries and in reasonable quantities; and thus enable us to place our orders, keep the mines operating, and avoid—

A very pleasant social evening was spent at the Methodist church June 8, when the losers of a contest in D. C. Morehouse's class gave a banquet to the winners and invited guests. Covers were laid for 150. Mr. Clark, president of the class, acted as toast master and several responded. Rev. Materdon of Sycamore was the principal speaker of the evening and commented most highly on the splendid work of Mr. Morehouse in this large class which will rank with any church with a much larger membership. This being Mr. Morehouse's birthday anniversary, Rev. Robeson, in behalf of the class, presented him with a beautiful chair in appreciation of his interesting manner in teaching the class. Mr. Morehouse responded in his usual pleasing manner.

Curfew Has Worked Well.
In the Middle Ages a bell was rung as a signal for fires to be covered up for the night and consequently for the people to go to bed. The word curfew is derived from the French words, couvrir, to cover, and feu, fire. In the United States a curfew has been sounded to warn young people to be within doors unless accompanied by adults. It is said that over 2,000 towns and cities in this country now have curfew ordinances and some of them report as large a decrease as 80 per cent in juvenile delinquency since the enactment of such laws.—Exchange

Farm Implement of Value.
Our word hoe, in the French "hoe" has its root in the verb to hew or to cut, and so the implement designed for stirring up the soil, cutting weeds, and singling out turnips and other root crops is called the hoe. Horse-drawn implements with adjustable tongues like cultivators, have been called horse-hoes, but they are hoes only in name. The true hoe is the blade with a handle at right angle, welded by a man's two hands. It is the friend of true farming—of mixed farming, at any rate. The brighter the hoed on a farm, the fewer the weeds that go to seed.

Make Odd Collections.
The eccentricities of collectors make amusing reading. Kate Vaughan, the famous English dancer, used to collect penny toys. Small cannon had an attraction for Lord Powerscourt, while Miss Rothschild had a partiality for pipes. Dolls, women's stockings, langman's ropes, and instruments of torture fascinate some collectors, while others spend time and money in acquiring royal relics—the handkerchief on which Charles I blew his nose, the table napkin on which William III wiped his hands, the teacup from which George III drank tea.—London Mail.

Monarch of the Monkey Tribe.
The Chinese king of beasts is a monkey, which is said to be 20 feet high, with arms 10 feet long. He belongs to the tribe which is tailless and which is well known for its great intelligence. This tribe is regarded as entirely different from the brown monkey. The former is distinguished among other things by its white face and breast.

For the Tired Business Man.
Here is a little quotation from Robert Louis Stevenson, perpetual fount of literary purity, which a reader suggests is intended for "tired business men." Here it is: "Perpetual devotion to what a man calls his business is only to be sustained by perpetual neglect of many other things. And it is not by any means certain that a man's business is the most important thing he has to do."

Explaining Farmer's Missing Ducks.
Near Mountain View there is a creek that plunges into a hole and disappears. It reappears on the other side of Blue mountain. Several years ago a farmer who lived near the point where the creek disappears into the earth missed a large flock of Pekin ducks. He found them on the other side of the mountain. They had ridden through on the subterranean stream.—Arkansas Gazette.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Dependable Ford Quality

Ford durability began back in 1903 when Henry Ford started experimenting with Vanadium steel and heat-treating processes. He knew that a more exact tempering of steel for motorcar building must be worked out. Vanadium, it was learned, when added to molten steel, gives to that steel a greater toughness and adhesiveness. And now other alloys have been found which are superior to Vanadium. With the Ford Motor Company constant progress is the daily companion. The Ford products—Car, Truck, Tractor—grow in quality daily. Heat-treating tempers each part so that it will best withstand the wear or tear to which it is subjected. Ford chemists and analysts have created formulas and standard specifications for every individual part of the Ford car—not only for the steel but for everything from pneumatic tires to top.

Ford durability isn't a matter of accident, it is a matter of painstaking thoroughness in laboratory and factory. The Ford is a car of precision—of standardized values. Order your Ford car now. No matter how fast they may be made the demand multiplies faster. Order today for we can make fairly prompt deliveries—Runabout, Touring Car, Coupe, Sedan, Truck and Fordson Tractor.

SANDWICH SCHOOL
Board Lets Contracts for High School Building

The board of education of the Sandwich Township school has placed the general contract for the new high school building with the Great Lakes Construction Co., of Chicago. Their bid is about $125,000. The heating and plumbing contracts have not been let, and will not be for a short time. The board is not satisfied with the bids covering this part of the building. The board has carefully investigated the responsibility and competency of the Great Lakes Construction Co. and is satisfied that it will erect a first class building and strictly in accordance with the specifications.

The company promised to go ahead with the work immediately and have the building under roof by the 1st of December, and have it completed by the 15th of next May.

THE FOURTH AT ELECTRIC PARK
Genoa will not celebrate the Fourth of July. The nearest celebration will be at Electric Park where Manager Murphy promises an airplane exhibition and two ball games, one between the DeKalb Maroons and Clare Sluggers and one between Sycamore and Genoa. Community singing under the leadership of Bill Hart accompanied by the DeKalb band and a flag raising will be new features. The usual greased pig, sports and games will be provided. Free dancing will be a feature. Read the Want Ads.

KANE AFTER SPEEDERS
Special Motorcyclic Cops in Neighboring County

If you take a chance and hit 'er up on county highways of Kane county you'll do it at your own risk. Campaigns against speeders were ordered Tuesday by the county board of supervisors when Sheriff Claude Poole was instructed to employ two special motor-cycle cops.

So you had better look out. Complaints will be made on state warrants. This means that the minimum fine in each case will be $25 and costs.

Under provisions of the resolutions passed, motorcycle riders will patrol the north-south road. At the discretion of the sheriff, however, their services can be diverted to the east-west roads. A resolution was adopted giving the sheriff authority to hire automobiles in serving writs and chasing violators.

RAGTIME EVANGELISM
Presbyterian General Assembly Says It is Passing

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: The passing of ragtime and circus evangelism as announced by the Committee on Evangelism of the Presbyterian General Assembly at Winona Lake, Ind., will cause no mourning except among the ragtime and circus evangelists and the addicts to that sort of evangelism who have given it pretext and gospel and made it profitable.

Giving all credit to the Evangelism of this type for all the good that it may have done, it is not too much to hope that with its passing, if indeed it is passing, as the Presbyterians say, there may come back to take its place an evangelism which will do all that the other kind did and much more, without the heavy discount of disadvantage with the disappearing type involved.

The new evangelism, whatever form it takes, should part company forever with the financial methods which have been the scandal methods of the old evangelism and which have probably done more than anything else to bring it into discredit. The financial plan has been due to the well-known proclivity of religious people. They pay their pastors usually less than a living wage and give their evangelists more than they earn and more than they should earn in any other way. A great many have to think that there is more religion in being just to pastors than in being generous to evangelists. And there is more religion in all-the-year-round goodness than in noisy spasms of revival.

COMMUNITY CLUB PICNIC
The Charter Grove Community Club held a picnic last Saturday. The crowd was all there in time for the "spread" which was entirely in keeping with the reputation of the Charter Grove cooks.

County Farm Advisor Thos. Roberts was present and gave a talk of interest to farmers.

There were all kinds of stunts in the afternoon to keep the people entertained, a ball game, one of the main attractions, was a good exhibition of the national pastime.

TRAFFIC RULES NEEDED

Crowds on Main street in Evening Suggest Some Regulations

Many cities and villages throughout the country are enforcing rigidly traffic rules which are essential to the welfare and safety of drivers and pedestrians. The state law now regulates the speed one may travel in city or village streets, but the matter of turning about in the street is left to city regulation. There is altogether too much traffic in Genoa now, not only on busy nights, but at any time of the day, for an automobile to turn around in the middle of the block. This regulation is strictly enforced in most every city and it is to the interests of everyone to have such an ordinance in Genoa.

COUNTY FEDERATION

DeKalb County American Legion Posts Start Something

A county federation of the American Legion Posts of this county is among the possibilities. A few representatives from several of the posts of the county met at Sycamore Tuesday evening to discuss the plan and it was decided at that time to set a date for organization. On the date to be named every Post in the county will be asked to send representatives empowered to participate in the proceedings and adopt a constitution and by-laws.

The scheme is a good one and will no doubt make the Legion work more interesting.

EVEN IN KANE?

Someone Bungled in Handling Public Funds

Over in Kane county a big smudge is being raised over the purchase not long ago of a site near Aurora for a county tuberculosis plan. The sum of $150,000 was paid for it. When a protest was raised it was discovered that somebody got $15,000 commission for securing it. That raised rurore and suddenly and noiselessly the $15,000 commission was returned to the county. All the subsequent noise has failed to secure the name of the person returning it. Some of the supervisors want a grand jury investigation. But the opposing ones have been able to prevent it so far.

MORRIS DRAWS YEAR

Kirkland Man Sentenced to House of Correction in Federal Court

Joseph Morris of Kirkland, who was recently arrested for "shaking down" Chicago druggists for selling liqnor, posing as a federal officer, was convicted in the federal court in Chicago last week and sentenced to a year in the house of correction.

At one time Morris was in the employ of the government as a "dry" agent. He was later dismissed from the service, but retained his credentials. These credentials were used in extorting money from the guilty druggists.

RICHMOND AFTER THEM
The village of Richmond has set out to enforce her automobile speed laws and as a result of this movement ten young men of Hebron were the first to feel the arm of the law. The young men were arrested on a charge of speeding, disorderly conduct and driving their car with open cut out. Their case was heard by Police Magistrate Bowers, who assessed a fine of $5.00 and costs each, the grand total amounting to $80. Since their arrest the boys have declared that never again will they visit Richmond.
