

GENOA WATER SUPPLY IS GOOD

So Says State Engineer in Reporting to Dept. of Survey Discussion

VERY LITTLE FOREIGN SUBSTANCE

A Complete Summary of the Water Supply of Genoa Shows the Plant Is Second to None

Genoa was visited by S. I. Strickhouse on June 26, 1923. Information was obtained from H. A. Perkins, clerk, and William H. Heed, superintendent of Water Works. Samples of water were drawn from the pressure tanks for complete analysis.

A well has been drilled since the city was visited in 1913, and now furnishes a large part of the public water supply. Water is pumped from this well into the pressure tanks and distribution system by an American Well works two stroke deep-well pump with a size 4 pump head, belted to a Wagner 30-horsepower motor. The pump is automatically controlled by the pressure in the pressure tank.

A blow off valve was placed in the line from the old pump in January 1923 and the pump can now discharge directly into the mains at 76 pounds pressure with connections to pressure tanks closed. This pump is run by a 20-horsepower Fairbanks-Morse motor. The gas engine is used only in emergency.

About 3,000 feet of 4-inch mains have been put into service since the last visit. Power to operate the motors is transmitted from Waukegan. Four hundred three consumers are supplied with water. The rates are as follows:

$2.50 for the first 5,000 gallons
.25 per 1,000 gallons for the next 5,000 gallons
.22 1/2 a 1,000 gallons for the next 10,000 gallons
.17 1/2 a 1,000 gallons for the next 30,000 gallons
.15 a 1,000 gallons for the next 50,000 gallons
.10 a 1,000 gallons for all over 100,000

The minimum charge is $2.50 per quarter.

Water is obtained from two wells located 25 feet apart in the pumping station. The ground surface at the well is about 25 feet lower than the elevation of the Coast and Geodetic bench mark, or about 810 feet above sea level.

The north well, 1500 feet deep, was drilled in 1900 and is described in the 1912 report. The depth to water is said to be 45 feet. The pump cylinder is at a depth of 88 feet.

From the above test it was computed that the well yielded about 250 gallons a minute. This pump had been in regular operation for two weeks and sufficient data was not available to compute the total amount pumped per day.

No trouble is experienced with meters scaling. An odor of hydrogen sulphide was noticeable when drawing water from the pressure tanks. A mineral analysis of a sample of water from the south well drawn from the tanks, is appended. The water is similar to the sample analyzed in 1913 from the well 1500 feet deep.

S. L. Neave, Chemist. The following statement concerning Genoa's water supply was made in 1913:

"The quality of the water is very excellent both as to its sanitary quality and mineral content. The residue is very low, the total amounting to a little over 300 parts per million and all hardness is in the form of carbonates. Iron and other objectionable minerals are absent."

BOARD SUPERVISORS MET LAST WEEK

Appropriation of $60,000 For DeKalb County Sanitarium Asked

REFERRED TO FINANCE BOARD

Several Men from near Fairdale Want Community High School There Disbanded

The board of Supervisors of DeKalb county, in session at the court house in Sycamore since last Tuesday afternoon on Thursday afternoon until next December. The meeting of the Board just closed was the annual meeting at which taxes are levied and most important business of the year is transacted.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Alvin Warren of Victor township and on roll call the following members of the board reported present: Messrs. Anderson, Bartlett, Branch, Colby, Conrad, Dettmer, Dole, Hemenway, Hayward, Hipple, Horan, Jarboe, McKenzie, Pooler, Robertson, Safford, Stewart, Still, Storey, Townsend, White, Wright and Warren. Then followed the reading of the minutes of the proceedings of June 13th, all of which were approved. Charles H. Talbot, Clerk of the Board, read a communication from the State Highway Dept. concerning a resolution adopted regarding the addition of Route 4A to the State Aid System passed by the Board June 13th. The Dept. advised the resolution is being investigated and would advise of action taken. The Board was then excused for committee work and later adjourned until Wednesday at 9:30.

On Wednesday morning when the board again convened the resignation of Judge William J. Fulton as member of the Board of Directors of the County Tuberculosis Sanitarium of DeKalb county to take effect immediately was read. A communication was read regarding the 37th Annual Convention of Supervisors, county Commissioners, County and Probate Clerks to be held October 9, 10 and 11 at Decatur, Illinois and also a communication with reference to change in Route of State Bond Issue Route 23 between Leland and Wisconsin State Line. On motion of Mr. Jarboe these communications were ordered placed on file.

Senator H. G. Wright appeared before the Board and explained conditions at the Tuberculosis Sanitarium. He further requested cooperation from the Board in the way of appropriations and that a committee be appointed to make an investigation. Dr. Cuiver and Charles E. Bradt of the Sanitarium also spoke to the Board and it was suggested to the Board by the Directors that the minimum amount be levied for the purpose of raising the sum of about $60,000 for running expenses of the Sanitarium and for building purposes. On motion of Mr. Jarboe the matter was referred to the finance committee.

Warren Hubbard Supt. of Schools was given the floor at the opening of the session on Wednesday and spoke to the Board and explained the new method of apportioning State Education fund and requested that he be allowed additional funds for clerk hire. The matter was referred to the education committee.

Cassius Conrad then presented a resolution regarding the claims of Ogle county and DeKalb county in the matter of the Mohr family. The resolution approved gives the State's Attorney power to compromise or bring suit on the claim against Ogle county. It appeared that Ogle has a claim against DeKalb and DeKalb has one against Ogle. Hence it was resolved that the matters be adjusted.

Mr. Robertson then presented a comprehensive report of County Treasurer, William H. Decker, showing that the sum of $280,594.86 was collected during the past year. The report was ordered approved and filed. The resolution of Judge Fulton as Director of Tuberculosis Sanitarium was again presented and was accepted. The Chairman of the Board, Mr. Warren, then appointed S. M. Henderson, former clerk of the county of DeKalb to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Fulton.

On Thursday the board again met pursuant to adjournment and selected the Grand Jurors for the October term as well as the petit jurors. Mr. Robertson of Sandwich then presented a resolution requesting that the State reimburse the county for roads con-

ED TAYLOR LOSES HAND

Genoa Man Seriously Injured Wednesday Afternoon when Caught in Silo Filler

While filling a silo on a farm near Kingston on Wednesday afternoon of this week, Ed Taylor of Genoa had the misfortune to become entangled in the machine in such a manner that his hand was severed at the wrist.

At this writing it is not known just how the accident occurred but it is supposed that some of the corn became clogged in the machine and he reached in to relieve the congestion when he met with the painful accident described.

A doctor was hurriedly called and the wound was given a temporary dressing, enough that he could be removed to the Sycamore hospital where better care could be obtained.

O. E. S. TO GIVE DANCE

Local Chapter of Star Will Sponsor Dance and Cafeteria Lunch Sept. 28

Golden Star Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star will give a public dance and serve a cafeteria lunch on Friday evening, September 28, in Slater's Hall.

Beljean's Orchestra has been engaged for this festive occasion and they say it certainly is good music. Dancing will begin at nine o'clock and continue until eleven-thirty when a cafeteria lunch will be served until twelve. Then dancing will be resumed until one o'clock.

This is bound to be one of the best dances of the season, so don't miss it. Everyone is cordially invited to come and bring friends.

ANTHRAX IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Outbreak near Minnesota Line Affects Stockmen—Forty Counties Affected

Stockmen of eastern counties in South Dakota are alarmed in the new anthrax in Minnehaha county which is on the eastern border up against Minnesota. While only one heard is affected, the new outbreak is two or three counties removed from the main infection spots and stockmen feel that laxity exists among the state sanitary officials or the disease would not have jumped so far.

Total losses to date are given to the board as 1000, and this figure is undoubtedly the truth as state officials would want to make as favorable a showing as possible.

Over forty counties are known to have had cases of the disease.—Chicago Drivers' Journal.

FRIEDENS CHURCH DINNER

A real Banquet will be Served in that Church on Thursday Evening Sept. 27

The members of the Friedens church will give another of their bounteous feasts next Thursday evening, September 27, commencing at 5:00 o'clock and lasting until 7:30 o'clock. The people of this parish are noted for their excellent dinners and we are sure that a large number will enjoy this opportunity to partake of chicken and all its trimmings.

HAS FINGER CUT OFF

Al Gabriel suffered a painful accident on Wednesday afternoon of this week when his finger was cut off in a machine at the piano factory. A doctor was hurriedly called and the injured man made as comfortable as possible until the wound could be dressed.

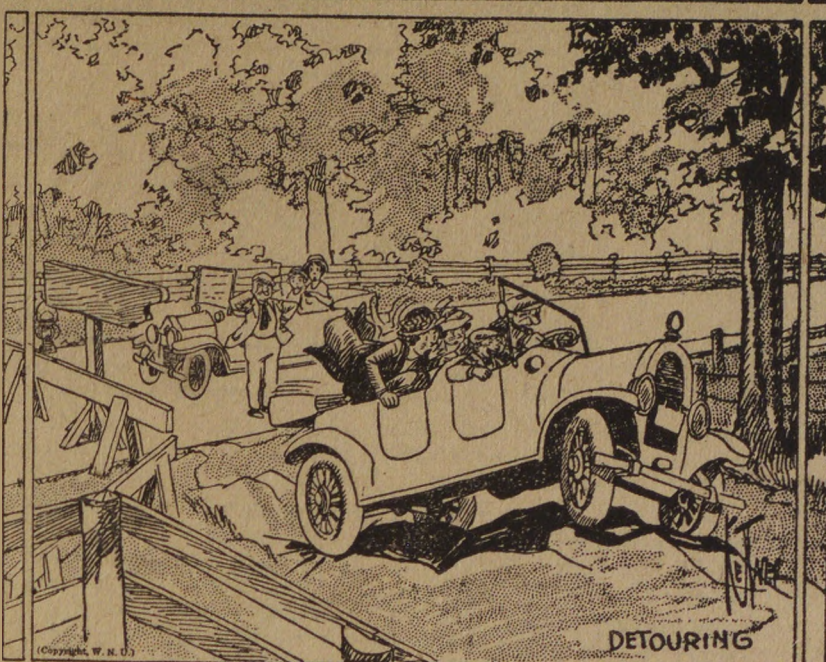

He was able to walk home late in the afternoon, but it will be quite a few days before he is able to resume work at the plant.

SURPRISE MRS. PATTERSON

Mrs. J. A. Patterson was pleasantly surprised at her home Monday evening when the Jolly Eight club and Mrs. Blanche Alfors came to spend the evening with her. "500" was enjoyed for several hours after which a delicious luncheon was served by the self invited guests who departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Patterson a safe and pleasant trip to Florida.

Constructed by the county to the extent of $60,841.26, which the legislature recently appropriated. The refund money to be used in the construction of a State Aid Road between Sandwich and Somonauk. The resolution was approved. The money was appropriated by the board for the purpose of constructing this road and in order to expediate matters it was also resolved that the highways committee be authorized to cause a survey to be made of this road so that it will not delay matters when the money is received from the state.

SYCAMORE PEOPLE IN ACCIDENT

H. Burchfield, the Dooley Family and Party from Chicago in Collision

Hayes H. Burchfield of the firm of Dooley, Burchfield & Nelson, under the firm name of Dooley Motor Sales of Sycamore, dealers in automobiles, lies in the Sycamore hospital with a fractured skull and other injuries incurred in an auto collision on Lincoln Highway at Cortland corners last Saturday evening about 5:30 o'clock.

In the same hospital are Mrs. Dooley, wife of J. A. Dooley and their son, John, aged seven, and daughter, Louise, nine years old. In the DeKalb hospital lie three women companions of Harry C. Buckmaster, who escaped with slight scratches, and the owner of the other car involved in the accident.

The Sycamore party had reached Lincoln highway at Cortland corners and Mrs. Dooley seeing a passing car, stopped to let it pass. Coming east on the Lincoln highway was another car, that seemed to be about a half mile distant. The engine of Mrs. Dooley's car was running and she started to cross the highway, thinking that she had plenty of time when the oncoming car from the west crashed into them and being a heavy machine fairly lifted the Ford from the pavement and carried it for many feet, knocking down fence posts and a telephone pole so terrific was the impact.

Mr. Burchfield was rendered unconscious, Louise Dooley was unconscious for several hours, John Dooley was stunned and Mrs. Dooley was severely shaken.

The occupants of the other car were all severely hurt except the man. They were taken to DeKalb and the Sycamore people were taken to their local hospital where everything that could be done was tried to relieve the suffering. As late as Tuesday morning Mr. Burchfield had not regained consciousness but the rest of the party had practically recovered.

Harry C. Buckmaster of Chicago, driver of the big machine from Chicago is held under a $5000 bond for manslaughter and $2000 bond for reckless driving.

THE MEANEST MAN WE KNOW

Destroyed Eyes of Supt. Mackenzie's Dog Last Friday

One of the lowest and meanest tricks imaginable was performed last Friday night when some person of an exceptionally low mental order destroyed the eyes of one of H. Mackenzie's dogs. The animal suffers continually and anyone with the least of gray matter in an otherwise dormant head should know better than to injure a dumb animal in such a manner. The huge dog of Joe Gallagher's was poisoned last week also and some party helped themselves to all the grapes after the animal had been made away with.

There is only one thing that should be done in such cases, if the perpetrator of the crimes is found, and that is, a good shot of buckshot where it will hurt the most.

NOTES FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Another Marriage on The Rocks—Action Will be Taken At October Court

QUO WARRANTO PROCEEDINGS ON

$280,594.86 Was Collected Last Year by County Treasurer, W. H. Decker Fulton Resigned from Board

The good ship "Matrimony" went on the rocks after a peaceful cruise of about five weeks, according to the bill for divorce filed in the office of Geo. A. James, Clerk of the circuit court of DeKalb county on Tuesday last, by Bessie Taylor of the city of DeKalb against Ray Taylor. According to the bill filed, the parties were married March 15, 1921 at DeKalb and the complainant lived with her husband until April 22, 1921, when she alleges that wholly disregarding his marriage vows he left her and has not lived with her since. On grounds of willful desertion Mrs. Taylor seeks to have the marriage dissolved and also asks that her husband be compelled to pay for her support and maintenance. The case will be heard at the October term of court.

The First Trust & Savings Bank of DeKalb obtained a judgment by confession in the circuit court against Aaron J. Plapp of Cortland in the circuit court for the sum of $3,641.60 and costs. The judgment is the result of three judgment notes executed by defendants, two for $1,500 each executed Aug. 16, 1919 and one for $310, signed Feb. 1, 1921.

In the quo warranto proceedings brought on behalf of Baiser Kline, Daniel McNeil and Wesley Keith, George Barnes and Herbert Johns against William Meyer, Fred E. Koch, Ray Taylor, Frank Johnson, William Coffey and Fairdale Community High School District No. 416. Amended information was filed before Judge Slusser, in which they set up among other numerous things that Community High School District No. 416 as a de facto district has and is conducting a school and has attempted to levy and collect taxes on the property in said pretended district for the sum of $6,000 for school year of 1922 and 1923, and is maintaining the school at Fairdale at which there are but eleven pupils enrolled; also that a pretended high school for the education of high school students has been conducted illegally at the village of Fairdale because the village of Fairdale is not a community center and is not located within said Fairdale District No. 204 at a point in the territory as to constitute a community center, and is not a community center for the territory embraced in the pretended District No. 204 either for social purposes, religious worship, schooling or education for children, delivery of farm produce or for any other purpose. The hearing in this school litigation will probably be held some time during the coming October term of the circuit court.

Early this year he came to visit his children in Illinois, and was stricken with an illness which resulted in his death. Funeral services were held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. E. Stott, on Saturday, September 13th, at one o'clock in the afternoon, and his body was laid to rest beside that of his wife at North Clinton Cemetery near Waterman, Illinois, the Reverend J. E. Robeson officiating at the services.

NEW FORDS ON DISPLAY

The first of the new type Ford cars which recently arrived in this city are now on display at the showroom of E. W. Lindgren, local Ford dealer.

The higher radiator, now standard in all Ford types, has brought a general improvement throughout the entire line and the new radiator apron blending with similar apron effects on the fenders gives the front of the cars a highly finished appearance.

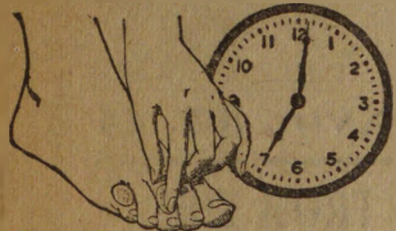

The Touring car shows a decided improvement having a more streamline effect. It is lower in appearance a feature adding much to the attractiveness of the slanting windshield and one-man top.

The Ford runabout is likewise much improved and looks more sturdy.

The coupe is entirely new in body design and construction. There is a more trim exterior appearance, more comfortable seating arrangement and greater luggage carrying capacity. From the dash there is a graceful sweep in the cowl to the radiator. The doors are wide and heavily framed. A larger compartment at the rear gives increased room for luggage and the new type rear fender is more secure. Ventilator in the cowl and a visor over the windshield add to the exterior appearance, effecting a high quality aspect.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Italy Promises to Evacuate the Greek Island of Corfu on September 27.

FIUME DISPUTE DANGEROUS

Chancellor Stresemann's Plan to Mortgage All German Property—Relief Work for Japan—Spanish Army Revolts Against Government—American Destroyers Wrecked.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

ITALY—which means Premier Mussolini—became more reasonable last week in the matter of the occupation of Corfu and the dispute with Greece. In the council of ambassadors Lord Crewe intimated that Great Britain could not permit the Italians to hold Corfu until Greece had executed all the terms and demands, including the arrest and punishment of the murderers of the Albanian boundary commissioners, and there were unofficial references to the British fleet, which was supposed to be concentrated at Malta. Baron Avezana thereupon agreed reluctantly that Italy should evacuate Corfu on September 27, and the ambassadors accepted this promise.

Italy, however, insisted that if the assassins were not discovered by the interallied commission of inquiry and duly punished, Greece shall pay heavy indemnity, not to exceed the 50,000,000 lire she has deposited in a Swiss bank. If the murderers are found and punished, the payment to be exacted will be nominal. To this also the ambassadors agreed. Baron Avezana said his government fully believed Greek officers were responsible for the crime and that the Athens government would do all it could to hide the criminals and save them from punishment.

Early in the week it seemed that the Italo-Greek row had been ended by the decision of the ambassadors, who imposed on Greece conditions almost identical with those in Mussolini's ultimatum. Both nations accepted these, but the quibbling that followed almost exhausted the patience of the League of Nations, and the little powers in the league saw in Italy's tactics a threat against their own future safety. Mussolini complained that Greece was doing nothing to find the murderers of the boundary commissioners. Thereupon Greece arrested a number of men and also, asserting that the real criminals were Albanians, called on Albania to capture them. Albania replied that the Albanian authorities would be pleased to cross over into Greece and arrest them if the Greek government was not able to do it.

OF ITALY'S two quarrels, that with Jugo-Slavia held the greater possibilities of expanding into actual hostilities. If it should result in warfare, however, Greece also might well be involved. M. Nitschich, head of the Jugo-Slavian delegation in Geneva, said he had not yet gone beyond the stage of negotiations. In Paris it was asserted that Italy was about to proclaim the annexation of Fiume and that Jugo-Slavia would make no serious protest provided Sussak and Porto Barros, adjacent towns, were not directly affected. Italian troops are concentrated at Trieste and the Italian navy is ready at Taranto. The Serbs are hurriedly reorganizing their army on French lines and are getting great quantities of ammunition from France, purchased with part of their new French loan of 300,000,000 francs. Colonel Gonatus, head of the Greek government, says Italy is sending large quantities of arms and ammunition to Varna to equip the Bulgarians for war if Jugo-Slavia and Greece combine against Italy. Rumania and Czechoslovakia show indications of remaining neutral or siding with Rome.

AS MAY be supposed, the sessions of the League of Nations last week were not especially pleasant. Delegates of the lesser nations were impatient and dissatisfied, and representatives of the great powers, especially Lord Robert Cecil, were on the defensive. For several days, at the request of President De la Torre, the Corfu and Fiume affairs were not openly discussed, and the league devoted itself to the Austrian situation, concerning which it could properly congratulate itself. But finally Hjalmar Branting of Sweden broke loose when the commission for disarmament was debating the proposed treaty of mutual guarantees. Declaring this to be a coercive instrument, he asserted the covenant already has shown itself to be rather fragile in practice, and he questioned the wisdom of taking steps toward more stringent measures when the league cannot enforce those it has. Other severe critics of the league's general policy and especially of the alleged failure of the great powers to live up to the covenant were Dr. Christian Lange of Norway and Prince Arfaed Dovleh of Persia.

SEIZING the opening presented, the Republican national committee last week issued a statement to show at length how the "failure" of the League of Nations to function in the Italo-Greek dispute has completely vindicated the opposition of the Republican party to American membership in the league and to American entanglement in any such European affairs. The committee made no direct mention of the world court.

CHANCELLOR STRESEMANN, in an address to a group of editors, made public his plan for reparations and settlement of the Ruhr problem. He said in part:

"According to the Versailles treaty, Germany's indebtedness is guaranteed by national property. What I propose concerns direct collaboration of private property and therefore goes beyond the Versailles treaty. Our calling upon private property in Germany creates realizable security, whereas the securities under the Versailles treaty cannot be cashed at present.

"If mortgages are inscribed as first mortgages on state and private property of the entire economic system of Germany in favor of the German state—to a certain percentage—these mortgages can be considered realizable and movable value—and brought into a trustee company in the administration of which reparations the creditors would participate. The interest on this mortgage would go to the trustee company, which would take up the loans after issuing obligations based on these mortgages and their interest. This would give France possession of big sums as well as turn the interest payments into cash in a set time.

"Such fulfillment certainly is not theoretical nor general guarantees, but real facts, free from ambiguity. This offer can place France in possession of payments, upon which all the conditions the French made for withdrawing from the Ruhr are fulfillable.

"In order to make it actual, it is required that the Ruhr again be under German control and the German sovereignty restored in the Rhineland. Our offer can bring a solution to the passive resistance if we are given a guarantee that after an agreement has been reached the Ruhr will be evacuated and the old rights restored in the Rhineland."

Herr Stresemann tacitly admitted Germany had lost out in the Ruhr but made no direct reference to the government's readiness to call off passive resistance.

France still insists that passive resistance must be officially ended, and also that evacuation of the Ruhr can only be effected in proportion to payments made.

JAPAN'S earthquake disaster has lost nothing in gravity or horror with the receipt of more complete details. Numbering the victims is still impossible, and probably always will be, but the total casualties are estimated by the Japanese home office at considerably over a million, and it is thought the deaths are more than 200,000. Having restored order quickly, the Japanese government is devoting itself to the vast work of relief and reconstruction, with the co-operation of the rest of the world, especially America. Our Red Cross relief fund is far over the $5,000,000 mark and increasing daily, for an immense sum will be needed. The organization, besides enabling $1,000,000 for immediate purchases in nearby markets, is buying and sending large quantities of supplies and clothing, and also corrugated iron and other building materials.

SPAIN'S internal troubles reached a climax last Thursday when the long threatened revolution began with the revolt of most of the army, led by the captain general of Barcelona, Gen. Primo-Rivera. That officer declared a state of siege in the district, seized the communications and issued a proclamation declaring the army called on the sovereign to save Spain and asking the dismissal of the present ministers. Garrisons in other cities adhered to the military movement, which thereby assumed the importance of a real coup d'etat. The revolt is not directed against the king. The cabinet declared itself in permanent session and said it would abandon its position only under force.

ONE of the most tragic epochs in American history relative to law enforcement" is what Attorney General Daugherty calls the 41 months that have elapsed since the enactment of the Volstead act, in a report submitted to President Coolidge concerning the work of the federal judiciary in enforcing prohibition. An official synopsis says the report "reveals, among other things, that the Department of Justice has been called upon to prosecute a member of the judiciary, prominent members of the American bar, high officials of the federal and state government, millionaires, scions of the nation's aristocracy—a sordid story of assassination, bribery and corruption that found its way into the very sanctuaries wherein the inviolability of the law was presumed to have been held sacred."

PART of the general lack of respect for the dry law may well be laid to the pettiness of many of the enforcement officers. For instance: Last week the British yacht Frontiersman, commanded by Roger Pocock and manned by members of the Adventurers' club of London, entered San Pedro harbor, California, in the course of her trip to find a round-the-world path for British aviators. Federal officers promptly raided the little vessel and seized its private store of liquors and attached the boat. That sort of thing only disgusts those who know the prevalence of bootlegging and moonshining by our own citizens.

ANTHRACITE operators and miners settled all their differences and signed a two-year agreement, and mining is about to be resumed. The pact gives the men a 10 per cent wage increase, the eight-hour day, collective bargaining and revision of wage rates and schedules. The workers gave up the check-off system of collecting union dues. As usual the public will pay for this, as anthracite coal will be advanced 75 cents or $1 a ton. That is, unless Governor Pinchot's plans to avert this are successful. He believes the interstate commerce commission should consider a new anthracite freight rate to help absorb the wage increase, and wants the federal coal commission to make public its findings on profits and costs of mine operations and in wholesale and retail distribution. He suggests the other governors join him in seeking methods to prevent the higher prices. President Coolidge has let it be known that he and the federal agencies will do all they can in this line, and when congress assembles the President will recommend such legislation as the coal commission sponsors.

ONE of the most serious disasters that ever befell the American navy was the wrecking of seven destroyers off Arguillo light, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, Cal. The vessels were traveling south in formation, at 20 knots, in a heavy sea and dense fog. They crashed on the rocks, and were a total loss. Twenty-three members of their crews lost their lives. The destroyers were of the latest models and cost, when put into service a few years ago, $500,000 apiece.

THE eclipse of the sun was a dismal failure, so far as the scientists were concerned. It came off according to schedule, as eclipses have a habit of doing, but the phenomenon was so obscured by clouds that all the photographs taken in the path of totality, at the southwest corner of the United States and in Mexico, are practically useless.

FLAMES SWEEP BERKELEY, CAL.

Sixty Blocks in University City's Residential Sections Left in Ruins.

FIVE HUNDRED HOUSES BURN

Brush Flames Fanned by High Wind Start Conflagration—Other Towns Menaced—Scores Injured, but No Loss of Life Reported.

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 17.—Fire, sweeping over the hills east of Berkeley, laid waste to the Cragmont and Euclid avenue districts, destroying at least five hundred residences in an area sixty blocks in extent, in one of the choicest residential sections of the city.

No lives are known to have been lost, although two University of California students were seen to plunge into a vortex of fire when the roof of a house upon which they had climbed collapsed.

Hundreds of frenzied residents fled from the burning area as the fire burned its way through the closely settled district and eventually died down to a smoldering ring of flames encompassing the entire area which it had devastated. The section was a smoky waste.

Many fraternity and sorority houses of the University of California were destroyed, as were the homes of several instructors, although the institution's instructors themselves were not harmed.

The fraternity houses destroyed included Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Sigma, and Theta Phi. Among the sorority houses destroyed were the Zeta Tau Alpha, Delta Zeta, and Alpha Sigma Delta. On Hearst avenue firemen used dynamite to check the flames that had approached the residence of President Wilbur of the university. Among the residences burned were those of Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president emeritus of the university, and John Howard Taylor, architect. The loss amounts to several millions.

The fire which so greatly damaged this city of 60,000 persons was but one of a series of forest and brush fires which caused destruction in all sections of California. More than twelve counties were affected. The fires are in all sections of the state. Continued extremely hot and dry weather was followed by high winds which are spreading the flames over thousands of acres of timber land, threatening many towns.

The Berkeley fire started in the brush in the hills of Contra Costa county.

Anthracite Mine Workers Ratify Peace; Return to Work

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 18.—With hundreds of citizens in attendance, the five hundred delegates to the special tri-district conference of anthracite mine workers here ratified the tentative agreement reported by the sub-committee at Harrisburg on September 12. There were no extraordinary demonstrations as the vote of the men was taken, and, as a result of the conference's action, the underground workers will return to their tools at once.

Serbs Mobilize to Strike Army From Bulgaria, Report

Paris, Sept. 18.—Macedonian irredentist bands under leadership of Todor Alexandrov, reported to number 8,000, are concentrated within a couple of hours' march of the Jugo-Slavian frontier. Serb troops are massing at Nish and along the railway towards Tzaribrod, and airplanes are observing the movements of the Bulgars. One airplane flying over Bulgarian territory was shot at but not hit.

Two Men Killed in Chicago's Beer War; Riddled With Bullets

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Shotguns and pistols wrote another chapter in the O'Donnell-Torrio beer running feud Monday night when "Georgia" Meighan, an O'Donnell agent, and his companion, "Spot" Bucher, were killed riddled with bullets and stung from a passing machine as they sat in a roadster at Laflin street and Garfield boulevard.

Snow, 30 Inches Deep, Falls Over Wyoming

Sheridan, Wyo., Sept. 18.—Thirty inches of snow has fallen at Down lake, a summer resort in the Big Horn mountains, since Sunday morning. Various ranger stations in the Big Horn mountains reported snow depths ranging from two feet to twenty-eight inches.

Senator Ladd Sees Russian Cadets.

Moscow, Sept. 18.—United States Senator Ladd was a spectator at a review of several thousand cadets being trained to become units in the territorial army Russia is building up. The cadets are of the peasant class.

Coal Analysis Urged.

Washington, Sept. 18.—All industrial consumers of coal are being urged by the bureau of mines to make careful analyses of coal in an effort to save fuel bills and conserve the national supply.

ALL HAD ORIGIN IN EAST

Architectural Ornaments in Use Today First Designed by Mesopotamian Builders.

The blue-domed mosque of the Imam Shahzade Husain, in Kazvin, carries on a tradition that extends back to the days of the Sassanid sultans of Persia, back even to the remoter times of Assyria, according to a writer in Asia Magazine. The cupola and the ogive, distinctive marks of Moslem architecture, be it in Egypt or India or Turkey, had their origin in Mesopotamia, where wood for rafters and lintels has always been scarce and construction has been chiefly in brick. The minarets that rise gracefully above every Mohammedan city have been reflected through time from the Chaldean observatories and the Tower of Babel. The rich ornamentation of enameled tiles on dome and walls and the overlay of brilliant metals that marks the lofty cupolas of many mosques, are also heritages from antiquity. The columns of mosque interiors are derived from classic Greece and Rome. The designs worked in tiles or in stucco may in many cases be traced back to ancient models, and they are found, repeated over and over again, in the pottery, the textiles, the carpets of the East. The wars of the Crescent carried this architecture into the West through Spain and Byzantium; into the East through India. Its influence may be traced in buildings the world over.

RAT "BARRACK" GOOD TRAP

Odd Idea Used by Irishman Said to Have Had the Merit of Effectiveness.

A correspondent of the British Medical Journal has unearthed the following ingenious method of dealing with rats, which he found in Hall's book, "Ireland," published in 1841:

"Mr. Russel has a 'rat barrack' on his premises. It is about 12 feet long, 6 feet broad and 4 feet high, with a coping-stone on the top that projects a couple of feet inside the wall. The inside of the wall is full of holes that just admit a rat's body, leaving the tail outside. The whole is covered with old boards. There are two passages for them to come out into the yard, where they are fed and never disturbed. The consequence is they never go into his store where the bacon is.

"Once every three months he closes the holes that communicate with the yard. He uncovers the walls, and the rats all run into the holes. Their tails are hanging out. A man goes in, takes them one by one by the tails and throws them into a barrel, where they are all destroyed, to leave room for a fresh supply."

Where Washington Wooded.

Yonkers, N. Y., has an interesting history. It is connected indirectly with the "sparking" days of George Washington, before he yielded to the charms of Widow Custis. Washington at one time paid very ardent court to one Mary Philpse. Her father, the Detroit News recalls, was one of the big landed proprietors of pre-revolutionary times. His premises extended from what is now Phillipse Manor station, three miles above Tarrytown, and close to Washington Irving's loved Sleepy Hollow, to what is now Getty square, in the heart of Yonkers.

The original manor house was at the former location. It is still standing, and a few years ago was bought and occupied by Elsie Janis, who has restored it to its early splendor and filled it with colonial furniture, much of which was there when Mary Philpse used to entertain the handsome young officer.

Use of the Time-Ball.

In the Middle Ages the time-ball as a means of marking the passing hours was popular. For the convenience of the men and women of the various courts of Europe a great ball was dropped from the ceiling of the palace throne room at certain intervals. Today, many cities have time-balls in prominent places which drop at noon to warn the citizens of the time. Many harbors, Montreal and Quebec, for instance, still use the time-ball to mark noon and other hours.

But it remained for a little country in South America, Uruguay, to inaugurate a really modern and efficient system for sending broadcast over the capital city, Montevideo, the time at exactly eight o'clock at night. At that hour every electric light in the city grows dim for a few seconds, and the residents set their clocks and watches.

Why Insects Can Walk on Water.

What makes it possible for the long-legged water flea to run right over the surface of a sheet of water? If we observe it closely, says "Science Siftings," we see that the end of each of its six long legs makes a slight depression where it rests upon the surface. The surface is elastic in fact and acts like a springy mattress. The physical basis of this mode of action may be explained as follows: The separate molecules of water cohere with considerable firmness and therefore offer a certain degree of resistance to penetration by any solid matter—but this is true only in case the body cannot be wet, i. e., if it has a composition like that of the fats. This resistance is a result of the surface tension of the liquid, which acts like a stretched membrane. This is sufficient to support the weight of the water flea, though it would be practically negligible for ourselves.

I. C. CHIEF IN ADDRESS

Re-affirm Faith in Prosperity by Ordering Much Equipment

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 20.—Those who would unite the farmers and the laboring men of the country in attacks upon the railroads are working at cross-purposes, declared President C. H. Markham of the Illinois Central System in a noon-hour address at the luncheon of the Sioux City Kiwanis Club today. "Almost half of every dollar the farmer pays the railroads is devoted by the railroads to the pay of their employes," he explained. "Labor also enters largely into the cost of railway supplies. In this connection, it is extremely difficult to understand the mental processes of those who go about the country promising the farmer lower rates and at the same time promising the laboring men of the country higher wages.

After affirming his belief in the future of the railroads and calling attention to the records set up this year in handling traffic, Mr. Markham referred to the heavy investments now being made in railway improvements. "If it were not for the constant threat of radical legislation," he said, "I feel sure that the country could rely upon a continuance of satisfactory railway service and upon the likelihood of constantly increasing investments in extensions and improvements to the railroads. The only thing that can stop the ambitious plans of the railroads to expand in keeping with the growth of the country and its commerce is the unconstructive agitation of the radicals who are striving with all their might to bring about government ownership of the railroads by making it impossible for the railroads to be operated successfully under private management.

"I believe in the future of our country, and that faith gives me a distinct feeling of optimism in regard to the future of the business in which I am engaged. If I thought the development of the United State had reached

Some Facts About Railroads

It is alleged that Railroad Revenues are protected by a Guaranty:

The fact is: "Determination of the percentage implies, or carries with it, no guaranty. Read in connection with the provisions for recapture of one half of the excess above 6 per cent it is, instead, a limitation." Quoted from Interstate Commerce Commission rate decision May 24, 1922.

It is alleged that the Valuation figure named by the Interstate Commerce Commission was based on high War prices:

It is alleged that Stocks were included in the Valuation and that this causes high freight rates:

The fact is: "The principal figures that were used in our Valuation are as of 1913 and 1914. We fixed the unit price on a given railroad valuation as of June 30, 1914." Quoted from testimony of E. E. Clark, then chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, before Senate Committee in January 1921.

It is alleged that Railroad Service has broken down:

The fact is: "Stocks and bonds were not considered at all. The question of capitalization was not thought of. It is the fair value as closely as could be estimated and approximated at that time of the physical property which was devoted to the transportation service." Quoted from testimony of E. E. Clark, then chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, before Senate Committee in January 1921.

It is alleged that Railroad Stockholders are profiting at the expense of shippers:

The fact is: Only 77 of all the Class One railroads paid dividends for the year 1922. Of these 21 did not earn enough net income last year to pay the dividends and had to draw upon previous surplus. Instead of a balance for improvements and dividends, 62 roads showed deficits. This means that less than one-third of the Class One carriers (excluding switching and terminal roads) earned the dividends paid for 1922, while over two-thirds did not earn or did not pay dividends—but—shippers are profiting to the extent of over $700,000,000 per year by rate reductions made since January 1, 1922.

The railroads are doing their best to give good service regardless of unsatisfactory financial returns, but they are not being assisted nor are you being benefited by those who bear false witness against the carriers.

Paint this car for less than $3.50

ONLY 1½ quarts of Certain-teed Auto paint are needed to make such a car as this look like new. 1½ quarts of Certain-teed Auto Top dressing will give the top one coat and the seat two coats. That means less than $3.50 for the paint and dressing. You can do the job yourself. Why drive a shabby looking car when it costs so little to keep it attractive? Whether it be metal, enamel, or wood work that needs brightening up, come in for the special Certain-teed paint for the purpose. You will be surprised at the small amount of Certain-teed paint required for any job. That's because Certain-teed has body and covers more surface than ordinary paint.

WE recommend Certain-teed paint because it gives our customers more for their money. Our experience is that Certain-teed paint has more body and wears longer than ordinary paint.

Exide BATTERIES

Automobile Batteries

LOWER PRICES

An Announcement of Interest to Every Automobile Owner

Effective August 15 the cost to you of the famous Exide Battery for your car was materially reduced. The following comparison of old and new prices will give an idea of the extent of these reductions:

Car	Type	Old	New
Buick 4, Chevrolet, Cleveland	5 volt 11 plate	$21.40	$17.00
Durant 4, Essex, Ford, Gray, Maxwell, Nash, Oakland, Overland, Star, Studebaker, Velie and others	5 volt 13 plates	28.40	21.25
Auburn, Buick, Chandler
Durant 6, Hudson, Hupmobile, Jewett, Nash 6, Oldsmobile	6 volt 15 plate	34.05	25.50
Dodge, Franklin, Maxwell and others	12 volts 9 plate	39.75	29.75

These low prices have been made possible thru the adoption of certain changes in merchandising methods by the manufacturers based on the present day requirements of car owners.

The quality remains unchanged. The new low prices put the Exide with in reach of any car owner who wants the comfort and satisfaction driving with the rugged, long-lived Exide Battery.

SAFE ROAD LIGHTING SYSTEM
Cure for Glare Seen in Permanent Road Lights

"Legislate against the glaring head-light fiend," says the motorist. But legislation doesn't cure the evils of glare, mainly because the law which cuts down the glare so it is "safe" also cuts down the light so much that its use is unsafe.

Comparatively speaking, glareless lights can be, and are made, but their use requires a scientific adjustment of the lens, reflector and lamp, each to each and the whole to the running car. Such an adjustment does not remain permanent; variations in tire pressure alter it, and jars, jolts and looseness of parts alter the relations of the lamp and reflector.

For the present, better designs of lenses, greater strictness in regulations as to tilt of headlights, and newer and better designs of headlights must be depended upon to minimize, if not to cure the evil. But in the future, the complete cure will come in lighted highways.

A hundred years ago cities were unlighted, or, if lighted at all, were very poorly illuminated. In thousands of small towns today the street lamps are so few and far between that the neighbor pays his evening visit equipped with a lantern. Yet our cities are well lighted; so well lighted that the "glare" trouble of headlights is easily solved by forbidding, in cities, any but signal headlights.

Exactly as the Post Office Department maintains beacons to guide its mail fliers at night, so will the National Government eventually light its national highways at night. With the volume of traffic which will inevitably flow over national highways between great centers, it will be more economical to light them from the side, than to permit the motorist to light his own section of the road with an illumination which causes accidents.

the limit of its capacity, that the expansion of agriculture, industry and transportation had ceased for all time, that a settled policy of repression and restriction was likely to be maintained toward the railroads, chief carriers of the nation's commerce. I would not have the heart to address you today."

Those who would make the farmer believe he is paying an undue proportion of freight rates also came in for Mr. Markham's attention. "One fallacy connected with this subject of the relation between the farmers and the railroads is the idea that the farmers have to pay freight charges both going and coming," he said. "The evidence usually cited in support of this idea is that the prices farmers receive for their products are central market prices less the cost of transportation, while the prices they pay for manufactured products are factory prices plus the cost of transportation."

"A simple case will illustrate the fallacy of this idea. A farmer is often the consumer of manufactured product for which he has himself furnished the raw material, as for example, flour made from his wheat. The price the farmer or anyone else pays for flour is a composite of the cost of the grain, the cost of transporting it to the mill, the cost of milling, the cost of transporting the flour back to him, and the cost of distribution. As a consumer of flour, he pays all of those costs. He indirectly pays himself for the grain he produced, the miller for turning the grain into flour, the merchant for carrying a stock of flour on hand to supply his needs and the railroad for hauling the grain to the mill and the flour back to him. If the cost of transportation could be reduced, would the farmer profit as a producer or as a consumer? Would he net more for his grain or would he pay less for his flour? It must be apparent that the farmer could not profit in the full amount both as a producer and as a consumer. If he succeeded in increasing the net price of his grain by the amount of the freight rate reduction, he could not at the same time reduce the price of his flour a like amount.

"All goods are produced, manufactured and distributed for consumption. The old saying that the ultimate consumer pays the bill is founded upon fact. He does pay it, necessarily. The cost of transportation is not paid by the producers of the country, but by the consumers, just as the cost of manufacturing and distribution is paid by the consumers. To argue that the farmer as a producer pays the freight on his wheat to the mill would be the equivalent to arguing that he pays for the milling of the wheat or any other service connected with the production and distribution of flour, which in this case is the form in which the raw material is consumed."

Mr. Markham pointed out the encouraging features of the farm situation, including Farm Bureau Federation estimates that the total farm income for this year will exceed that of last year by about $200,000,000, despite the losses in a few crops, such as wheat. In encouragement of diversification of crops, he said:

"Unlike the railroads, the farmers have retained their freedom of management and that should be their surest defense against loss. They can plant what they choose, withhold their crops from the market and sell them when they please, and no government agency tells them how much they shall pay for labor and what they shall take for their crops."

COUNTY PROSPERING

Papers in Local Territory Reflect Interest of Retailers and Consumers

Sycamore Tribune: Advertising in the county seems to have taken a stimulant. Down Sandwich way the Sandwich Free Press is putting out a ten and 12 page paper with many display ads and is chock full of good reading stuff, news of its town and vicinity. It is good to look at and for that reason the Sycamore Tribune shears have made many savage foraging expeditions into its insides, lately. As for advertising here in Sycamore you may have noticed that a fine spirit for more publicity has overtaken us. When newspapers can have the honest attention they deserve nothing pleases them so much as to jump into the harness and boost and a boost from a newspaper is a real boost. Over at DeKalb, too, a noticeable increase in the columns of display advertising is appearing in The Chronicle and The Independent. Why down at Hinckley and Shabbona the Review and Express put up papers that would do credit to a place of 2,000 and drop over to Somanauk a small town and the same boom appears. In Kirklund and Genoa one cannot help but express surprise at the substantial evidence of real awakening to the demands of customers to know what their merchants are offering. It's fine! The papers, all of them, certainly appreciate the change.

SEN. WRIGHT BANKER

Will Hold Position in DeKalb Bank as Trust Officer—Formerly an M. D.

Word reached the Republican office last week that Sen. Harry Wright had accepted a position in the DeKalb Trust and Savings bank of which Robert McCormick is the president. The stock of the bank is to be increased from $50,000 to $75,000; and the state has licensed the bank to administer upon estates and titles and Wright will have charge in this sphere.

Before entering the medical profession we understand that Mr. Wright was an expert accountant, so the job will hold no new terrors for him.

RUSCO-Tractor Belts

are more economical and serviceable

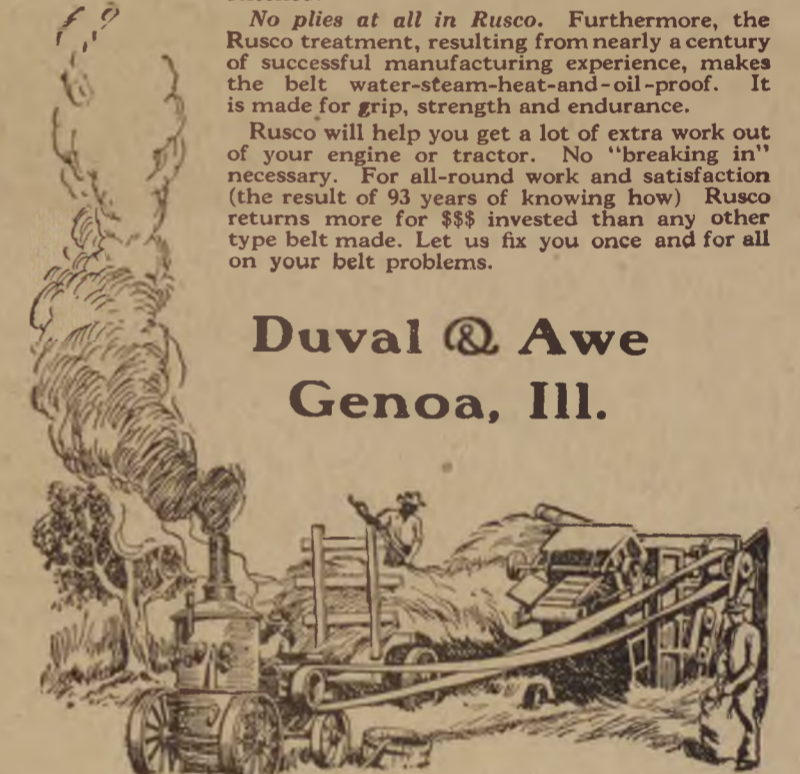

THE Mellon Institute of Industrial Research in a scientific test of all types of belting, proved the superior worth of Solid Woven as against all other types.

Leather belting is made of many strips of hide cemented at the joints (about every 50 inches) or between the plies. Rubber belting of the better grades is made of canvas or duck which is folded into separate plies and rubberized. All stitched canvas belting is folded into separate plies and stitched.

No plies at all in Rusco. Furthermore, the Rusco treatment, resulting from nearly a century of successful manufacturing experience, makes the belt water-steam-heat-and-oil-proof. It is made for grip, strength and endurance.

Rusco will help you get a lot of extra work out of your engine or tractor. No "breaking in" necessary. For all-round work and satisfaction (the result of 93 years of knowing how) Rusco returns more for $38 invested than any other type belt made. Let us fix you once and for all on your belt problems.

WOMEN BUY MEN'S APPAREL Purchase Eighty Per Cent of Haberdashery—Necktie Joke Used to Hide True Facts.

Men are popularly supposed to be very independent creatures when it comes to selecting their own wearing apparel. Mothers, wives and sisters, indeed, are held to have such poor taste in the matter that the Christmas necktie joke has come to be one of civilization's most honored and ancient bits of humor.

The inevitable statistician tells us that 80 per cent of the trading done in the country's haberdasheries is done by women. So now the secret is out. It may be that the necktie joke has been perpetuated as a sort of smoke screen to hide the true facts.

The Custard Cup

By Florence Bingham Livingston Copyright by George H. Doran Company CHAPTER XVII.—Continued.

Little had never had anything to do with stores. This was the first time in her life that she had ever bought anything. The bustle, the glitter, the endless array, wrought havoc with her imagination, filled her with a frenzy of intoxication.

"I don't care!" Little burst into frantic sobs that carried over a wide circle. "I don't care! Do you hear? I don't care!" Tears streamed down her face.

"Little, dear," expostulated Mrs. Penfield hurriedly, "remember where you are." "I do," shrieked Little. "That's what's the matter. I don't care. Some day I'll have things—oceans and heaps and oodles of things—millions more'n they've got here. I don't—"

"No, Little," interposed Mrs. Penfield, as they went on slowly, "they wouldn't be one mite happier. Land, the world wasn't never fixed up so unfair as that. 'Tain't the folks that have things that's happy; it's the folks that know they don't want things."

"Goodness, no, I don't mean they wouldn't like 'em; but I mean they'll be just as happy without 'em if you don't go and stir 'em all up with thoughts that you've twisted in your own head. Christmas ain't presents; it's feelings. And there's one thing you ought to keep in mind: it's a waste of good food to board any girl if there ain't at least two other folks happier 'cause she's living."

"Yes, Little, dear, it's up to you right now, today." "Ain't I the limit!" cried Little in disgust. "All time forgetting what I'm trying to remember! Gee, I know I'm lucky. I'll show you, Penzie; honest, I will."

It was long past lunch time when Crink returned with the tree, and he tried many hours before he accomplished a base that would support it in a corner of the living room. But no sooner was the fragrant fir in place than every little Penfield felt that Christmas was an assured fact.

Little meantime was making picture puzzles—mounting illustrations from Weatherstone magazines on pasteboard from old boxes and cutting them into fantastic shapes. Each puzzle was put in an envelope and inscribed with the name of a Custard Cup tenant who would be a guest at the party.

Little leaned confidentially across the table. "Say, Miss Happgood," she inquired pleasantly, "are you having a pretty good time?"

"Lettle, 'tend to your blots," put in Mrs. Penfield firmly. "Yes'm," Lettle subsided, but with the vague feeling that her geniality had not been received in the right spirit.

CHAPTER XVIII Christmas in the Custard Cup.

"I'm going to invite Bonnie Geraldine to the tree," caroled Lettle on the final morning of the Christmas preparations. "They're for the children," she smiled.

"Oh, my dear," said Mrs. Penfield, overwhelmed. "Why, it wasn't right for you to bother 'bout—"

"Don't say that," interrupted Mrs. Sanders. "It's been the best thing for me that ever happened. Mind how I ain't called you over for one of those—those attacks lately? Well, when I've felt one coming on, I've gone to work on these things—hard."

"You're a dear friend," acknowledged Mrs. Penfield warmly. "I hope you'll have a brighter New Year."

"I'm planning to do different; that's one thing sure. I'll tell you about it pretty soon."

"What does he think of me?" Lettle repeated slowly. "Why, I never thought of that. My landy Goshen! I'm gonta study it out after Christmas and see what there is in it."

"It'll be a good scheme," agreed Mrs. Penfield briskly. "And now see here, children, I'm going to let you open these here presents right now, if you want to, 'cause there may be something in 'em that you'll want tonight."

Everything was ready for the party, and the financial score ran like this: Carfare for tree20 cents 3 yards tinsel10 cents 6 candles and holders10 cents Candy10 cents Popcorn10 cents Tablet paper10 cents Manila envelopes10 cents Spool of thread5 cents Stick of candy1 cent Total85 cents

"Oh, Uncle Jerry," protested Mrs. Penfield. "I got ev'rything planned. We're going to have—"

Repeated countings failed to shake the conclusion that Plain Mixed had yielded only forty-eight candies. Three were apportioned to each tiny net bag of popcorn, since only the younger guests were to receive this particular treat.

Early in the afternoon Mrs. Sanders rang the bell at Number 47 and brought three parcels tied with red ribbons.

"Oh, my dear," said Mrs. Penfield, overwhelmed. "Why, it wasn't right for you to bother 'bout—"

"Don't say that," interrupted Mrs. Sanders. "It's been the best thing for me that ever happened. Mind how I ain't called you over for one of those—those attacks lately? Well, when I've felt one coming on, I've gone to work on these things—hard."

Of the Earth Earthy. The lady had just lost her husband and had gone to a summer hotel to rest. She often dreamed of her husband and she would sometimes get up in the middle of the night to see if he wasn't walking about. Any little disturbance caused her to be frightened. One night mysterious raps were heard on the wall of the summer hotel.

MANY WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

Through the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Two Interesting Cases

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the common ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

Wilson, N. C.—"For about a year I was not able to do anything, not even my housework, because of the pains in my sides and the bearing-down pains. I could only lie around the house. The doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, but I tried different medicines which did me no good, until my sister insisted on my trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She said there was nothing like it. I know that she was right, for I began to improve with the first bottle and it has done me more good than anything else. I am able now to do anything on the farm or in my home and I recommend it to my friends."

Another Operation Avoided Akron, Ohio.—"I can never praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I had such pains and weakness that the doctor told me nothing but an operation would help me. But my mother had taken the Vegetable Compound and she told me what it had done for her, and so I took it and I am glad to tell every one that it made me a strong woman, and I have had two children since then."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Strange Experience. One day a friend wanted to go swimming and asked me to keep $30 for him until he returned. I wrapped it in a handkerchief with $20 of my own money and pinned it inside my dress. An hour later I went to the post office and upon returning, saw something lying on the sidewalk. I picked it up and discovered it to be my handkerchief containing the $50. The pin had become unfastened, but I had not noticed it.

Alabama Mayor Out With Strong Facts

Judge G. W. Thomason, Mayor of Tarrant City, Alabama, widely known and highly esteemed pioneer citizen, recently gave his unqualified endorsement to the Tanlac treatment.

"Great goodness," cried the frightened woman in room 13. "I wonder if that could be my departed husband?" "No," growled the man in room 14. "It's the people on the other floors killing mosquitoes with their slippers."

There are 18 universities in Great Britain and Ireland.

Sleep was often impossible, and I gradually weakened so I could hardly attend to my office duties. "The first bottle of Tanlac improved me wonderfully, and each successive bottle gave added impetus to my returning strength. I felt ten years younger when I finished the sixth bottle a short time later. Tanlac gave me new zest in life that still remains with me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists.

HAY FEVER Sufferers from this distressing complaint can secure quick relief by using GREEN MOUNTAIN ASTHMA COMPOUND. "I had such pains and weakness that the doctor told me nothing but an operation would help me. But my mother had taken the Vegetable Compound and she told me what it had done for her, and so I took it and I am glad to tell every one that it made me a strong woman, and I have had two children since then."
