JAPANESE LABOR ON FARM

Harvard Man Advocates Importing of Colony of California Japs as the Solution of Help Question

A Harvard man has solved the farm help question. His idea is to import a colony of Japanese from California. The gentleman in question, who has had much experience among the Japs in California, says that with a little experience the yellow race could be made a valuable help to the Illinois farmer.

More than one hundred men and boys of Sterling have been summoned to appear before the Whiteside county grand jury as a result of the employment of a detective by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and a sensation is expected. Sterling is certainly having a hard time.

Marengo News: While the little ten-year-old son of Henry Gluth, of Riley, and a companion were shooting pigeons last Sunday, the former was accidentally shot in his right arm, inflicting quite a flesh wound. The ball hit the bone in the fore arm and glanced off without doing any serious damage.

After several months discussion the Government has finally selected a site for the Post Office building in Belvidere, which will be near the National Sewing Machine Factory. Uncle Sam is to pay $13,000 for the site as it is centrally located for the entire city.

DeKalb Review: Last week we had a man come in and settle for 19 years' subscription to this paper. And yet some people say that this world is not growing better. We trust that the world will get so good that the other ten on our list who owe a similar amount will come.

Snyder & Warren of Rockford have bought of James Coffee 80 acres near Henrietta for $120 an acre. Mr. Coffee has moved to the Joshua Siglin farm at Charter Grove, which he will conduct.

The people of DeKalb have erected a large tabernacle and will begin next Sunday a series of revival meetings which will be conducted by the well known exhorter singer Lyon and Stentz.

Congressman Frank O. Lowden has purchased a $70,000 building lot in a fashionable section of Washington, and it is said that he will build a $100,000 residence for use while congress is in session.

A Tennessee preacher says that drink, baseball, the theater, tobacco and peek-a-boo waists will all be found in Hell. This perhaps accounts for the difficulty of arresting men who are started in that direction.

An Iowa man who recently returned from Texas sized it up as follows: "There is more land and less grass, more rivers and less water, and more cows and less milk than any state in the Union."

A German scientist says that water will be worth fifteen cents a brink three hundred years from now. But some of us may not be able to get a drop then for love or money.

Again the rumour is going the rounds that the Elgin electric road is going to extend its line north to McHenry the coming summer, says the Plaindealer.

The total tax of DeKalb county for the current year is $456,743 25. This is an average of $15 per person.

LITTLE ONE DEAD

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearson of Ney

Esther Marie Carolina Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearson, was born in the city of Chicago on the 9th day of September, 1903 and died at her parents' home on Friday, March 15, 1907. Esther was 3 years, 6 months and 6 days of age at the time of her decease.

Little Esther besides leaving her father and mother who are bowed down in sorrow over her departure, also leaves one older brother and a little sister younger than herself. The entire home circle will feel the unspeakable loss of a precious little daughter and a cheerful happy little sister from their midst.

Esther has been in poor health for the past four or five weeks, and during the last week of her sickness passed through a great deal of suffering. But in His infinite mercy and tenderness God called her from all her suffering to that home where sickness and suffering are unknown. In her infancy she was baptized in the Christian faith.

The funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. T. E. Ream officiating. Members of the Ney M. E. church choir furnished the singing. The burial took place at the Riley cemetery.

NISS-HADSALL

Marriage of Genoa Couple takes Place at Elgin

Mr. Geo. Niss and Miss Belle Hadsall went to Elgin Wednesday morning and returned on Thursday evening as Mr. and Mrs. Niss. The event was no surprise as friends were aware that the couple intended to plight vows sometime this spring. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hadsall of this city and has resided in Genoa all her life. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Niss who reside on a farm north of Genoa.

The Last Bulletin.

The editor of a newspaper in a small eastern town had occasion to visit Washington a day or two after President McKinley was shot and was greatly impressed by the bulletin boards containing the hourly condition of the president. Immediately after his return he had a bulletin board made and placed in front of his office. For awhile he had no use for the board, but the opportunity came when Deacon Jones, one of the leading men of the town, became ill. The following is the way the board appeared:

Monday, 10 a. m.—Deacon Jones quite sick.

Monday, 1 p. m.—Deacon Jones has slight rally.

Monday, 5 p. m.—Deacon Jones worse.

Tuesday, 9 a. m.—Deacon Jones very much worse—family has been summoned.

Tuesday, 11 a. m.—Deacon Jones has died and gone to heaven. Funeral at 3.

When the mourners returned from the funeral they were startled by another notice made by a wagging traveling man:

Tuesday, 5 p. m.—Great excitement in heaven. Deacon Jones not yet arrived.

Reuhlman Now Leads With the Highest Individual Average—Tel. Dept. Makes Good Showing

The Cubs took another tumble last Wednesday, losing two games to the Kishwaukeees. The Telephone Dept. team jumped to the front while there was a general awakening among the tail enders. A decided improvement is noticed every week in the playing as a whole. Last week some good scores were made by several players. Durham made the highest score for one game, 191, while McIntyre has the highest average for three games, 176 1/2. Following is a list of those who have maintained an average of 160 or over during the series:

What Joaquin Said.

It is related that when Joaquin Miller was asked to go to the races he poetically replied: "Piano! Piano!" As no diagram accompanies the puzzle, we are forced to put our own construction on the poet's enigmatical remark. It may be that Joaquin meant to convey the idea that it was all right to play the races. On the other hand, he may have wished to have it inferred that races were not his forte—the lyre being more in his line of business. Of course the meaning is there, all right, only we haven't the optical afflatus to spot it. In the dogeose of the Florentine, piano means soft, and it is barely possible that Joaquin merely meant to have the person who extended the invitation speak softly, lest the female members of his household take cognizance of his proposed whereabouts. Perhaps we'd better let it go at that.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PASSENGERS SHAKEN UP

Train No. 7 on St. Paul Road Rans into Southwest Limited

Train No. 7 which leaves Chicago at 5:15 and is due in Genoa at 6:50 p. m. crashed into the southwest limited train in Chicago last Sunday evening, giving the passengers a shaking up.

The train was about ten minutes late out of the Union depot and at Oakley avenue, through a mistake in the switches, the engine crashed into the side of the through train's locomotive. Both engines were badly smashed but no one was injured. A new engine was obtained and the passenger arrived in Genoa at 10:00 o'clock. All traffic was delayed and the trains were forced to run around by the North Chicago route.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

Nearly all Business Places will Close on Six Evenings

(Contributed)

The revival meetings at the M. E. church have been full of interest and blessings for all who have attended. The congregations have been large from the beginning. Last Sunday evening the auditorium could not hold the congregation which assembled and it was necessary to open the Sunday-school rooms also.

Many of the boys and girls of the Sunday-school, started to live the Christian life last Sunday during the Sunday school hour, and several adults have also indicated their desire to live a Christian life.

The business men of Genoa in twelve different lines of business have agreed to close their places of business at 7:30 p. m. during three evenings of this week and three evenings of next week. They will close on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of this week and Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week. This kindness on the part of the business men will be very much appreciated by the Christian people and many others of Genoa and vicinity.

Evangelist Dow will be in Genoa up to and including Easter Sunday. The subject for this (Friday) evening is "A Mantle of Shame." The Sunday subjects are as follows: 10:30 a. m., "On the Witness Stand;" 2:30 p. m., "A Sure Thing;" 7:30 p. m., "Lost." On next Monday night Mr. Dow will speak on Popular Amusements," from sixteen years experience.

Stones in Queer Places. A round stone is found in the joints of certain kinds of bamboo. This is called "tabasheer" and is supposed to be deposited from the siliceous juices of the cane. Another curiosity of this sort is the "coconut stone," found in the endosperm of the coconut in Java and other East Indian islands. It is a pure carbonate of lime, and the form of the stone is sometimes round, sometimes pear shaped, while the appearance is that of a white pearl without much luster. Some of these stones are as large as cherries and as hard as feldspar or opal. They are very rarely found and are regarded as precious stones by the orientals and as charms against disease or evil spirits by the natives. Stones of this kind are also found in the pomegranate and in other East Indian fruits. Apatite has also been discovered in teak wood.

Insects and Odors. The ordinary perfumes of everyday life have a distinct use in the destruction of microbes, and this is especially the case with some of the essential oils which are used in cooking and in medicine. Cinnamon, which is so universally used for flavoring, will kill some microbes within a quarter of an hour, and it has long been reputed as advantageous in the destruction of the bacillus of typhoid while still out of the body, perhaps a very different thing from the bacillus when it is inside our anatomy. Cloves, too, can destroy some specimens of bacteria in rather more than half an hour, and the common wild verbena has a similar action in about three-quarters of an hour, while geranium flowers have a similar action, though it takes rather longer to develop it.

The salve that acts like a poultice is Pine Salve Carbolyzed. No other salve so good for cuts, burns, boils and chapped skin. Ask about it. Price 25cts. Sold by Geo. H. Hunt's Drug Store.

William L. Pierce was nominated for mayor of Belvidere at the Republican primary last Saturday.

VERDICT IS AFFIRMED

IN THE CASE OF RIDDLE VS. CITY OF GENOA

CITY MUST PAY THE $1,550

Verdict of the Circuit Court, Giving Mrs. Riddle Above Sum Stands Good

It now looks as tho the city of Genoa must part from the little sum of $1,550 in a manner that will not show up in local improvements, and it will be a case of extracting which will not leave a pleasant effect at this time when many improvements are needed and some yet unpaid for. But then it will be a great relief to the citizens to have the case settled anyway.

In the circuit court some months ago, after a trial lasting about one week, Mrs. Jennie Riddle of Elgin was awarded $1,550 damages for injuries sustained in falling thru a defective sidewalk. The accident occurred in front of F. E. Well's property when the new building was in process of erection, her claim being that the cellar way was not properly covered when she fell into the excavation. The jury agreed with her on that point, but allowed her only $1,550 of the $5,000 asked for.

The case was carried to the appellate court by the city and last week that court handed down a decision affirming the verdict of the lower court.

ROAD ASSURED

Electric Line Between Harvard and Marengo will be Built at Once

It can now be stated on the best of authority that the electric road between Marengo and Harvard will be constructed.

Hamilton Brown, president of the Elgin & Belvidere Electric Co. has completed arrangements for the purchase of the Harvard & Lake Geneva electric line, which will be rehabilitated and put in first class condition.

Surveyors will soon be here to select the route between Marengo and Harvard and work will be commenced as soon as possible and the road completed this year. In fact, it is confidently believed it will be in operation inside of four or five months.

It is now only a question of time before the road will be extended south from here and north from Lake Geneva, making it possible to reach almost any point by electric cars.

So says the Marengo Republican. Here's hoping that the project will materialize quicker than has the Genoa-Sycamore line.

OPTION BILL LOST

Illinois House Defeats Measure by a Vote of 75 to 70

Local option with the county and precinct features was defeated in the Illinois House by a vote of 70 to 75 last week, and a new bill substituted providing for local option by cities, towns and villages only.

The great fight on the Anti-Saloon League measure was made against it because it provided that the saloon question might be decided by a vote of an entire county and not by the vote of the city where saloons might be located. The League bill also provided that any ward or precinct in any city could vote separately on the question of having saloons in such ward or precinct.

The new bill which will probably become a law provides:

For the submission to the voters of any incorporated city, town or village of a proposition to create anti-saloon territory on the petition of 25 per cent of the legal voters—the question to be submitted at any election held in the territory to be affected. The vote in a township shall not include any incorporated city or village within the township. Each city or village must vote as a unit on the question within its own boundaries. The election may be contested in the same manner as other elections. If a majority of those voting on the proposition shall vote "yes," the territory shall become anti-saloon territory and no liquor shall be sold within it under penalty of fine or imprisonment in jail, and no dramshop licenses may be granted. The proposition may be resubmitted every eighteen months. Persons holding saloon licenses in territory that votes anti-saloon shall be allowed to continue sale of liquor until the expiration of their licenses. Druggists in anti-saloon territory may sell liquor for medical and sacramental purposes only.

Clearing Sale

Kellogg & Adams are obliged to make a large clearing sale and leave for California about the 10th of April. This sale will consist of buggies and carriages of all styles and grades, harness, whips, robes, blankets, nets, grooming tools and numerous other articles. Mr. Kellogg will sell household goods, residence, farm land and twelve town lots. The sale will commence at one o'clock sharp, March 30. First household goods, then home, 80 acres of farm land, located two miles east and one-half mile north of Genoa, a part of home farm and city lots. Then follow carriages, etc. Anyone is at liberty to look over this property at any time before the sale. The farm land is an excellent piece of property and is all well seeded. Everything will be sold without reserve. Those who do not attend will regret letting the bargains slip by. Satisfactory terms will be made in every case where the purchase price makes credit necessary.

Postal Card Ruling

The postoffice department has issued a new ruling which will effect the sale of a certain brand of souvenir postal cards. The law prohibits the sending thru the mails cards which are embellished with particles of glass, mica or other like substance, unless enclosed in an envelope.

DUVAL THE CHOICE

IS NOMINATED FOR SUPERVISOR OR AT SATURDAY'S CAUCUS

IDE TO BE NEXT COLLECTOR

J. H. Vandresser Defeated Chris Awe in Highway Commissioner Contest

There were 381 votes polled at the township caucus last Saturday, about two-thirds of the possible vote in the precinct. Considering the condition of the roads, farmers turned out well, in fact, considering all things, did better than the citizens of the corporation where there are alone over 400 possible votes.

The contests for supervisor and highway commissioner were the chief attraction and the rivalry between the friends of the candidates was keen but good natured thruout the afternoon.

F. W. Duval was the choice for supervisor by a decidedly safe plurality. Altho J. H. Vandresser defeated C. H. Awe for the highway commissioner nomination the margin was narrow enough to make the outcome a doubt until the last fifty votes were counted.

E. D. Ide was nominated for collector by an overwhelming majority over all the other candidates, despite the fact that he was pitted against some good, deserving men.

For the offices of town clerk, assessor and school trustee there was no opposition.

Following is the results in detail:

FOR SUPERVISOR
F. W. Duval	151
J. E. Stott	119
B. C. Awe	110

FOR COLLECTOR
E. D. Ide	212
J. G. Stoll	51
Henry Leonard	41
B. H. Thompson	31
A. T. Hewitt	28
G. W. Burbank	18

FOR COMMISSIONER
J. H. Vandresser	204
C. H. Awe	176

Town Clerk—T. G. Sager.
Assessor—J. W. Sowers.
School trustee—M. J. Corson.

Trustees Ney Cemetery—Cole Kitchen, Geo. White, Geo. Eichlor.

There are two petition tickets in the field, J. E. Stott for supervisor and C. H. Awe for highway commissioner. This will make things interesting and gives assurance that there will be few "stay-at-homes" on election day.

Attempt to Cause Wreck. An attempt was made to wreck the Burlington fast mail train No. 15 between Sandwich and Plano Tuesday evening by placing a steel rail across the track. The rail used was about thirty feet long and was placed at right angles across the track just east of the creek bridge between Sandwich and Plano so if the train had left the track it would have went down the deep embankment to the creek below, which would have undoubtedly caused the loss of several lives. Robert Campbell and Louis Miller, both of Sandwich, were arrested and confessed their guilt in the affair. Both were drunk at the time.

Citizens' Caucus. Public notice is hereby given that a caucus of the citizens' party will be held at the village hall in the village of Genoa, on Saturday, March 30, from 2:00 until 7:00 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination one president of the board of trustees and three village trustees, and to elect three committeemen.

Another Canal Project.

Another canal project is to be mentioned. Germany in the Keil channel has a waterway by which she can shift her warships from the North sea to the Baltic or vice versa at will, and she is also developing her interior system, showing she is giving attention to the needs of peace and commerce as well as those of war and national defense.

A farmer who has just driven into Vermilion, Saskatchewan, in a dog sled brings word that he is running the most northerly wheat-raising ranch in the world, and he submits specimens of fine grain to prove the statement.

The toll roads once so numerous all over the country are gradually but surely becoming free public highways. The toll system was recognized as a necessity of earlier times, but the modern spirit will not submit to the restrictions involved in being compelled to pay tribute to private ownership.

The official figures, just forthcoming, show that leather takes an important place in the commerce of the United States, the aggregate having amounted to $150,000,000 in 1906. This represents a rapid growth, our leather dealings ten years ago having been but $55,000,000.

There is an enormous number of small landholders in Egypt, 5,000,000 acres being cultivated by over 1,000,000 landowners, of whom 6,000 are Europeans, owning, on an average, a little over 100 acres.

THAW VERDICT MAY BE REACHED FRIDAY

FAMOUS TRIAL OF STANFORD WHITE'S SLAYER IS IN ITS LAST STAGES.

Hummel Affidavit Read—In It Evelyn Accuses Thaw of Stripping and Lashing Her Repeatedly—More Aliens Heard.

New York, March 19.—When the Thaw trial was adjourned Monday afternoon there remained but four expert witnesses to be examined before the taking of evidence closes. Three experts were disposed of Monday in a little more than an hour, so it is generally believed that the last word of evidence may be uttered in the famous case Tuesday.

The case for the people was finally closed Monday by the introduction of the much discussed Hummel affidavit, which, with the consent of the defense, was read in full to the jury. The affidavit proved a surprise only in the alleged severity of the assaults Harry K. Thaw is said to have made upon Evelyn Nesbit during their trip through Europe in 1903.

Said Thaw Often Beat Her. In this affidavit Miss Nesbit charges Thaw with having attacked her with a cowhide whip while they were stopping at an old castle in the Austrian Tyrol and lashed her bare skin until she became faint from the pain and swooned. He repeated the attack the next day, according to the affidavit, and afterward in Paris he beat her at half hour intervals throughout one entire day, leaving off only when she would faint away and could no longer understand what was happening.

The affidavit was in some ways a direct contradiction of Hummel's recent testimony upon the stand. In order that the defense might not prevent him from telling the story of the making of the affidavit he stated positively that he was not acting as Miss Nesbit's attorney when he drew up the document; that he was acting solely in the interest of Stanford White and that no legal action was contemplated in behalf of the young woman who is now Harry Thaw's wife.

Gives the Lie to Hummel. There was considerable surprise consequently when Mr. Jerome read the opening words of the affidavit, which were: "Supreme court, county of New York: Evelyn Nesbit, plaintiff, against Harry Kendall Thaw, defendant." It is said the action contemplated when the affidavit was made was the recovery of certain property which it was alleged Thaw had wrongfully taken from the girl. In dictating the affidavit Hummel referred to himself as Miss Nesbit's attorney, she being reported to have said:

"I have received certain letters and cablegrams from Thaw, which I have turned over to my attorney, Mr. Abraham H. Hummel."

The affidavit is also indorsed "Howe & Hummel, attorneys for plaintiff."

When Mr. Delmas began the introduction of testimony in rebuttal he introduced first of all the record in the trial and conviction of Hummel on the charge of conspiracy.

MORE GRAFT IN FRISCO.

Grand Jury Believed to Have Uncovered Vast Corruption.

San Francisco, March 19.—The action of the grand jury in bringing before it Monday the members of the board of supervisors aroused the greatest interest. The Bulletin published an "extra" declaring that further exposures of municipal corruption had been made and that many indictments would soon be made.

The Bulletin says that a plot involving the granting of valuable street railway privileges were laid bare. It is charged that the sum of $450,000 was paid to high officials to permit of the conversion of street railway systems into electric lines and that the bulk of this money was retained by "a mysterious man" and that small sums of money were parceled out to minor officials.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 19.—The United States grand jury in session at Santa Fe Monday returned six indictments against persons charged with fraudulent land transactions in the coal lands of San Juan county, New Mexico. Most of those indicted are employees of the Rio Fuel company and the Denver & Utah Grande railroad, the corporations which recently were the subject of inquiry in Salt Lake City, Utah.

FOUR RIFLES OF COMPANY B USED

RESULT OF EXAMINING SHELLS FOUND AT BROWNSVILLE, AFTER RAID.

Confession Story False—No "D. W. Gray" Was a Member of Disgraced Battalion—Branded as a Fake at San Antonio.

Washington, March 19.—Four rifles from Company B, Twenty-fifth infantry, were used in the Brownsville affair, if the ordnance department of the army can substantiate reports sent to the senate committee on military affairs Monday concerning the microscopic examinations of the 33 shells picked up in the streets of the town on the morning following the shooting.

All of the rifles in the possession of the battalion at Fort Brown on the night of August 13 were sent to the Springfield arsenal and two shots were fired from each. The shells were then compared with those picked up at Brownsville, and the officers making the tests reported that it has been demonstrated beyond dispute that four guns of Company B were used in discharging all of the 33 shells.

Galveston Story Denied. The alleged confession of "D. W. Gray," supposed to be a member of Company B, which was printed at Galveston, Tex., was formally denied Monday in a telegram from Maj. Blockson at San Antonio, to the war department. Maj. Blockson said in his dispatch that he had received a telegram from the chief of police at Galveston saying that the publication was a fake.

Senator Foraker had the alleged confession put in the record with the denial which had been furnished to Chairman Warren by the war department. The Ohio senator also had recorded the fact that there was not a man named "D. W. Gray" in the discharged battalion, but that there were two men named Gray, one G. W. and the other J. H. Gray, in Company C. Both of these men were heard from denying that they had made confessions. One is in West Virginia and the other in Pennsylvania.

No members of the Twenty-fifth infantry were examined Monday, and no testimony was given which had any direct bearing on the shooting, except that of Henry Watson, a private of Company M, Twenty-sixth infantry.

Branded as a Fake.

San Antonio, Tex., March 19.—Very little new testimony was taken Monday in the Penrose court-martial. The story of Gray's alleged confession is considered here as a fake. A telegram to the department headquarters here from Lieut. Fred Van S. Chamberlain, recruiting officer at Houston and Galveston, says: "Gray story a fake. Gray has worked in Galveston seven years and has never been in the army."

YOUNG MARVIN MAY BE FOUND.

Authorities of Erie, Pa., Think They Have Kidnaped Child.

Dover, Del., March 19.—The authorities of Erie, Pa., sent for Dr. Horace Marvin Monday night and notified him by telephone that they believed they had little Horace, the missing child.

There were two exhaustive interviews over the telephone between the Erie authorities and Dr. Harvey Marvin, who was in Dover awaiting messages and telephone calls for his father. Neither the Marvins nor the detectives would divulge any of the conversations. The boy, it has been learned, has been shadowed from Canada down through Port Huron and finally to Erie.

The state legislature passed a resolution Monday asking that "President Roosevelt be requested to issue an order instructing postmasters in various parts of the country, who may receive notices intended to aid in the recovery of Horace Marvin, to hang such notices in their respective post offices and to see that such notices are not torn or destroyed."

One of the most liberal offers ever made by a responsible business man, has been announced by M. R. Zaegel, of Sheboygan, Wis., a leading chemist of that city.

It has been the aim of scientists for years to find some liquid preparation which would possess anodyne, astringent and antiseptic properties and yet be of such a consistency that it would penetrate, first, through the skin, then through the muscles and finally to the very bones, exerting on its way down, healing and pain destroying properties.

A few years ago Mr. Zaegel, in the course of his scientific investigations, discovered this long sought secret.

The fame of Z. M. O., as he calls it, soon spread far beyond the confines of his home city and thousands of persons in all parts of the country have been convinced of its merit.

Z. M. O. is a mixture of vegetable and mineral oils forming an amber colored liquid of pleasant odor and taste, which, when used as directed, gives prompt relief to pain.

Applied to cuts, sores, burns and bruises, it heals, as owing to its antiseptic properties, no pus or matter can form in any wound where this wonderful oil is used.

Mr. Zaegel has retired from his drug business and will devote his entire time to extending the blessing of Z. M. O.

He has determined to give away absolutely free a sample bottle of Z. M. O. to all who suffer from Wounds, Backache, Rheumatism and Piles.

Take advantage at once of this free offer, as every household should have a bottle of Z. M. O.

Write Mr. Zaegel, 117 Main street, Sheboygan, Wis., state the nature of your complaint, and a free trial bottle will be mailed at once, all charges paid.

THE LIONS OF THE LORD

A TALE OF THE OLD WEST
By HARRY LEON WILSON

On the women, too, the quick attack had been almost instantly successful. The first great volume of mad shrieks had quickly died low as if the victims were being smothered; and now could be heard only the single scream of some woman caught in flight,—short, despairing screams, and others that seemed to be cut short—strangled at their height.

Joel Rae found himself on the line after the first volley, drawn by some dread power he could not resist. Yet one look had been enough. He shut his eyes to the writhing forms, the jets of flame spitting through the fog of smoke, and turned to flee.

Then in an instant—how it had come about he never knew—he was struggling with a man who shouted his name and cursed him,—a dark man with blood streaming from a wound in his throat. He defended himself easily, feeling his assailant's strength already waning. Time after time the man called him by name and cursed him, now in low tones, as they swayed. Then the man whose allotted victim this man had been, having reloaded his pistol, ran up, held it close to his head, fired, and ran back to the line.

He felt the man's grasp of his shoulders relax, and his body grow suddenly limp, as if boneless. He let it down to the ground, looking at last full upon the face. At first glance it told him nothing. Then a faint sense of its familiarity pushed up through many old memories. Sometime, somewhere, he had known the face.

The dying man opened his eyes wide, not seeing, but convulsively, and then he felt himself enlightened by something in their dark color,—something in the line of the brow under the black hair;—a face was brought back to him, the handsome face of the jaunty militia captain at Nauvoo, the man who had helped expel his people, who had patronized them with his airs of protector,—the man who had—

It did not come to him until that instant—this man was Girway. In the flash of awful comprehension he dropped, a sickened and nerveless heap, beside the dead man, turning his head on the ground, and feeling for any sign of life at his heart.

Forward there, where the yells of the Indians had all but replaced the screams of frantic women—battered already perhaps, subjected to he knew not what infamy at the hands of savage or Saint—was the yellow-haired, pink-faced girl he had loved and kept so long imaged in his heart; yet she might have escaped, she might still live—she might even not have been in the party.

He sprang up and found himself facing a white-haired boy, who held a little crying girl by a tight grasp of her arm, and who eyed him aggressively.

"What did you hurt Prudence's father for? He was a good man. Did you shoot him?"

He seized the boy roughly by the shoulder.

"Prudence—Prudence—where is she?"

"Here."

He looked down at the little girl, who still cried. Even in that glance he saw her mother's fineness, her pink and white daintiness, and the yellow shine of her hair.

"Her mother, then,—quick!"

The boy pointed ahead.

"Up there—she told me to take care of Prudence, and when the Indians came out she made me run back here to look for him." He pointed to the still figure on the ground before them. And then, making a brave effort to keep back the tears:

"If I had a gun I'd shoot some Indians;—I'd shoot you, too,—you killed him. When I grow up to be a man, I'll have a gun and come here—"

He had the child in his arms, and called to the boy:

"Come, fast now! Go as near as you can to where you left her."

They ran forward through the gray smoke, stepping over and around bodies as they went. When they reached the first of the women he would have stopped to search, but the boy lead him on, pointing. And then, half-way up the line, a little to the right of the road, at the edge of the cedars, his eye caught the glimpse of a great mass of yellow hair on the ground. She seemed to have been only wounded, for, as he looked, she was up on her knees striving to stand. He ran faster, leaving the boy behind now, but while he was still far off, he saw an Indian, knife in hand, run to her and strike her down. Then before he had divined the intent, the savage had gathered the long hair into his left hand, made a swift circling of the knife with his right,—and the thing was done before his eyes. He screamed in terror as he ran, and now he was near enough to be heard. The Indian at his cry arose and for one long second shook, almost in his face as he came running up, the long, shining, yellow hair with the gory patch at the end. Before his staring eyes, the hair was twisting, writhing, and undulating,—like a golden flame licking the bronzed arm that held it. And then, as he reached the spot, the Indian, with a long yell of delight and a final flourish of his trophy, ran off to other prizes.

He stood a moment, breathless and faint, looking with fearful eyes down at the little, limp, still figure at his feet. One slender, bare arm was flung out as if she had grasped at the whole big earth in her last agony.

The spell of fear was broken by the boy, who came trotting up. He had given way to his tears now, and was crying loudly from fright. Joel made him take the little girl and sit under a cedar out of sight of the spot.

He was never able to recall the events of that day, or of the months following, in anything like their proper sequence. The effort to do so brought a pain shooting through his head. Up to the moment when the yellow hair had waved in his face, everything had kept a ghastly distinctness. He remembered each instant and each emotion. After that all was dark confusion, with only here and there a detached, inconsequent memory of appalling vividness.

He could remember that he had buried her on the other side of the hill where a gnarled cedar grew at the foot of a ledge of sandstone, using a spade that an Indian had brought him from a deserted camp. By her side he had found the scattered contents of the little bundle she had carried,—a small Bible, a locket, a worn gold bracelet, and a picture of herself as he had known her, a half-faded daguerrotype set in a gilt oval, in a square rubber case that shut with a snap. The little limp-backed Bible had lain flung open on the ground in the midst of the other trinkets. He remembered picking these things up and retying them in the blue silk handkerchief, and then he had twice driven away an Indian who, finding no other life, came up to kill the two children huddled at the foot of the cedar.

Some of the men had camped on the spot. Others had gone to Hamblin's ranch, near the Meadows, where the children were taken. He had sent the boy there with them, and he could recall distinctly the struggle he had with the little fellow; for the boy had wished not to be taken from the girl, and had fought valiantly with fists and feet and his sharp little teeth. The little girl with her mother's bundle he had taken to another ranch farther south in the Pine mountains. He told the woman the child was his own, and that she was to be kept until he came again.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Host of Israel Goes Forth to Battle.

He went north in answer to the call for soldiers. He went gladly. It promised activity—and company. The day he reached Salt Lake City, Joel Rae was made major of militia. The following day, he attended the meeting at the tabernacle. He needed, for reasons he did not fully explain to himself, to receive fresh assurance of Brigham's infallibility, of his touch with the Holy Ghost, of his goodness as well as his might; to be caught once more by the compelling magnetism of his presence, the flash of his eye, and the inciting tones of his voice. All this he found.

Joel Rae was again under the sway of his old warlike feelings. Brigham had revived his fainting faith. He went out into the noise and hurry of war preparations in a sort of intoxication. Underneath he never ceased to be conscious of the dreadful specter that would not be gone—that stood impassive and immovable as one of the mountains about him, waiting for him to come to it and face it and live his day of reckoning,—the day of his own judgment upon himself. But he drank thirstily of the martial draught and lived the time in a fever of tumultuous drunkenness to the awful truth.

Forces were sent into Echo canyon, the narrow defile between the mountains through which an army would have to pass. On the east side men were put to building stone ramparts as a protection for riflemen. On the west, where the side was sloping, they dug pits for the same purpose. They also built dams to throw large bodies of water along the west side of the canyon so that an army would be forced to the east side; and here at the top of the cliff, great quantities of boulders were placed so that a slight leverage would suffice to hall them down upon the army as it marched below.

When word came that the invaders had crossed the Utah line, Brigham sent forward a copy of his proclamation and a friendly note of warning to the officer in command. In this he directed that officer to retire from the Territory by the same route he had entered it; adding, however, "should you deem this impracticable and prefer to remain until spring in the vicinity of your present position at Black's fork or Green river, you can do so in peace and unmolested on condition that you deposit your arms and ammunition with Lewis Robinson, quartermaster general of the Territor, and leave as soon in the spring as the roads will permit you to march. And should you fall short of provisions they will be furnished you upon making the proper application." The officer who received this note had replied somewhat curtly that the forces he commanded were in Utah by order of the President of the United States and that their future movements would depend wholly upon orders issued by competent military authority. Thus the issue was forced.

In addition to the defense of Echo canyon, certain aggressive moves were made. To Joel Rae was allotted command of one of these. His orders promised all he could wish of action. He read them and felt something like his old truculent enthusiasm.

"You will proceed with all possible dispatch, without injuring your animals, to the Oregon road near the bend of Bear river, north by east of this place. When you approach the road, send scouts ahead to ascertain if the invading troops have passed that way. Should they have passed, take a concealed route and get ahead of them. On ascertaining the locality of the troops, proceed at once to annoy them in every possible way. Use every exertion to stampede their animals and set fire to their trains. Burn the whole country before them and on their flanks. Keep them from sleeping, by night surprises; blockade the road by felling trees, or destroying river fords where you can. Watch for opportunities to set fire to the grass on their windward, so as to envelop their trains if possible. Leave no grass before them that can be burned. Keep your men concealed as much as possible and guard against surprise. God bless you and give you success."

"YOUR BROTHER IN CHRIST."

Forty-four men were placed under his command to perform this work, and all of them were soon impressed, even to alarm, by the very evident reluctance of their leader upon the God of Israel rather than upon any merely human wisdom of his own.

The first capture was not difficult. After an all-night ride they came up with a supply-train of 25 wagons drawn by oxen. The captain of this train was ordered to "go the other way" until he reached the states. He started; but as he retraced his steps as often as they moved away, they at length burned his train and left him.

And so the campaign went forward. As the winter came on colder, the scouts brought in moving tales of the enemy's discomfiture. Colonel Alexander of the Federal forces, deciding that the canyons could be defended by the Saints, planned to approach Salt Lake City over a roundabout route to the north. He started in heavy snow, cutting a road through the greasewood and sage brush. Often his men made but three miles a day, and his supply-train was so long that sometimes half of it would be camped for the night before the rear wagons had moved. As there was no cavalry in the force the hosts of Israel harassed them sorely on this march, on one day consecrating 800 head of their oxen and driving them to Salt Lake.

Albert Sidney Johnston, commanding the expedition, had also suffered greatly with his forces. The early snows deprived his stock of forage, and the unusual cold froze many oxen and mules.

Lieut. Col. Cooke of the Second Dragoons, with whom traveled the newly appointed governor, was another to suffer. At Fort Laramie so many of his animals had dropped out that numbers of his men were dismounted, and the ambulances used to carry grain. Night after night they huddled at the base of cliffs in the fearful eddies of the snow, and heard above the blast the piteous cries of their famished and freezing stock. Day after day they pushed against the keen blades of the wind, toiling through frozen clouds and stinging ice blasts. The last 35 miles to Fort Bridger had required 15 days, and at one camp on Black's fork, which they called the "camp of death," 500 animals perished in a night.

Nor did the hardships of the troops end when they had all reached what was to be their winter quarters. Still a hundred and fifteen miles from the City of the Saints, they were poorly housed against the bitter cold, poorly fed, and insufficiently clothed, for the burning of the trains by the Lord's hosts had reduced all supplies.

Reports of this distress were duly carried to Brigham and published to the Saints. Their soldiers had made good their resolve to prevent the Federal army from passing the Wasatch mountains. Aggressive operations ceased for the winter, and the greater part of the militia returned to their homes. A small outpost of 50 men under the command of Major Joel Rae—who had earnestly requested this assignment—was left to guard the narrows of Echo canyon and to keep watch over the enemy during the winter. This officer was now persuaded that the Lord's hand was with them. For the enemy had been wasted away even by the elements from the time he had crossed the forbidden line.

In Salt Lake City that winter, the same opinion prevailed. They were henceforth to be the free and independent State of Deseret.

"Do you want to know," asked Brigham, in the tabernacle, "what is to be done with the enemy now on our borders? As soon as they start to come into our settlements, let sleep depart from their eyes until they sleep in death! Men shall be secreted along the route and shall waste them away in the name of the God of Battles. The United States will have to make peace with us. Never again shall we make peace with them."

CHAPTER XVIII.

How the Lion of the Lord Roared Soft.

But with the coming of spring some fever that had burned in the blood of the Saints from high to low was felt to be losing its heat. They had held the Gentile army at bay during the winter—with the winter's help. But spring was now melting the snows. Reports from Washington, moreover, indicated that a perverse generation in the states had declined to accept the decrees of Israel's God without further proofs of their authenticity.

With a view to determining this issue, Congress had voted more money for troops. Three thousand men were to march to the reinforcement of the army of Johnston on Black's fork; forty-five hundred wagons were to transport their supplies; and 50,000 oxen and 4,000 mules were to pull these wagons. War, in short, was to be waged upon this Israel hidden in the chamber of the mountains. To Major Rae, watching on the outposts of Echo canyon, the news was welcome, even enlightening. The more glory there would be in that ultimate triumph which the Lord was about to secure for them.

In Brigham and the other leaders, however, this report induced deep thought. And finally, on a day, they let it be known that there could no longer be any thought of actual war with the armies of the Gentile.

When he heard that the new governor, who had been in the snow with Johnston's army all winter, was to enter Salt Lake City and take his office as a Gentile officer to sit on the throne of Brigham—he felt that the Ark of the Covenant had been thrown down. "Let us not," he implored Brigham in a letter sent him from Echo canyon, "be again dragged into servile obedience to any one less than the Christ of God!"

But Brigham's reply was an order to pass the new governor through Echo canyon. According to the terms of this order he was escorted through at night, in a manner to convince him that he was passing between the lines of a mighty and far-flung host. Fires were kindled along the heights and the small force attending him was cunningly distributed and duplicated, a few of its numbers going ahead from time to time, halting the rest of the party and demanding the country sign.

Grief Causes Attempt at Suicide.

Pana.—Despondent because of the death of his six-year-old daughter, D. M. Smith cut his throat with a razor and is in a critical condition. His daughter died a few days ago, since which time he has been crazed with grief.

Former Mayor Nominated.

Danville.—In the Republican primary Mayor John H. Lowman was renominated in a three-cornered race against W. F. Baum, a druggist, and S. W. Oixon, a lawyer.

QUARREL ENDS IN KILLING.

John Collier Shoots His Father-in-Law at Pana, Ill.

Pana.—John Collier shot and killed his father-in-law, Alphonzo Jolly, as the result of a quarrel. It is alleged that Collier abused his wife, and Jolly caused a warrant to be issued for his arrest. The trial was set for March 12, but Jolly and Collier settled the difficulty and Jolly agreed to pay the cost and withdraw the suit. Jolly went to the home of his daughter to talk over the matter and after a few heated words Collier shot Jolly. Collier was hurried to Taylorville for safe keeping.

JURORS WHO DRANK ARE FINED.

Light Penalty Imposed on Men Who Slipped Out to Saloon.

Paris.—Judge Thompson, of the circuit court, fined Jurors Conner and Williams $18 each, the amount of their fee for jury service, for contempt, because while the jury was out all night in a $10,000 damage suit against the Big Four road, they slipped out of a courtroom window and got drinks at saloons. They pleaded that they were not drunk and the court was convinced that they did not know the gravity of their offense.

Gambling Causes Downfall.

Decatur.—Officers, local and elsewhere, are still looking for Lee Brown, the Bement man who skipped out after having forged several checks. Up to the present there is no clew as to Brown's whereabouts and with the good start he has, there is little chance of his being intercepted. It is reported that Brown gambled freely and to this fact is ascribed his downfall. If he is caught he will probably be given the limit as regards penal punishment, as the brother-in-law is said to be emphatic in the statement that he will push the matter to the end.

Jurors Drew Big Sum.

Peoria.—The grand jury, which made its famous grafting report, was an expensive luxury, but much good and lasting work was accomplished. It is probable that the expense of the grand jury will be saved over many times at each session of the board of supervisors, for now that their attention has been brought to the true state of affairs the people will brook no more foolishness. The total cost of the jury was about $3,000.

Baby Laughs as Mother Burns.

Kewanee.—Mrs. William W. Mulligan, aged 22, while sleeping with her two-year-old child, was aroused by the sputtering of a night lamp burning in the room. The lamp exploded, setting fire to her clothing. Mrs. Mulligan was fatally injured and the husband badly burned. The child sat up in bed and clapped its hands at the fiery spectacle, which it thought was for its amusement. Mrs. Mulligan died at the hospital.

Offers Reward for Murderer.

Springfield.—Gov. Deneen has issued a proclamation offering a reward of $200 for the apprehension, arrest and conviction of David Ray, a negro, charged with murder. Ray is accused of having shot and killed John Johnson on August 13, 1906, at Joppa, in Massac county. He made his escape and the efforts of the authorities to locate him have so far proved vain.

Good Work for Y. M. C. A.

Kewanee.—March 14 was boosters' day for the Young Men's Christian association here, and the efforts to raise the membership from 300 to 600 proved successful. The city was divided into sections, which were assigned to committees, and bulletins in the business district noted the hourly progress. The whistles of the factories blew whenever 50 new members were secured.

Hurt in Sewer Cavein.

Chicago.—Sixteen tunnel miners narrowly escaped being buried alive in the collapse of a portion of the Lawrence avenue intercepting sewer. Six were thrown to the bottom of the brick sewer conduit under tons of dirt, timbers and bricks and were seriously injured, two almost drowned in rushing water, and all 16 were bruised and cut.

Coal Miner Injured.

Pana.—Homer Dilbeck was seriously injured at the Penwell mine. He was engaged in pulling a chain when in some manner it was pulled and throwing him against a car with such force as to crush the head very badly. He is not expected to survive.

Boy Who Shot Companion Is Held.

Vandalia.—Albert Depew, the 12-year-old boy who shot and killed his companion, Frank Hicks, aged 14, was given a preliminary hearing here and was bound over to the grand jury. Depew claims he did not know the gun was loaded.

Killed by Machine Belt.

Centralia.—Samuel Andreck, brother of Alderman Isaac Andreck, of this city, was killed by being caught by a large belt in the Sandoval Zinc works.

SALOON TO OFFSET SNAKES.

Men of Town Say Antidote for Poison Should Be Easy of Access.

Williamsport, Pa.—Tioga county has long been known as the home of the "bellybird," or rattlesnake. They are very common there, particularly on the high huckleberry mountains, where parties go and camp several days at a time, gathering the big blue berries and laying in their winter supply of rattlesnake oil, a common household remedy.

There is a new mining town in Morris township, about ten miles south of the county seat, built by Aylesworth Bros. of Blossburg, and so frequently were these poisonous Tioga county "singers" found in its construction and about the mines that the town has by common consent been called "Rattler."

There are rattlesnake stories told about the settlement of the place that make one's blood run cold—how a woodsman awoke and found one in bed with him, and another coming into a log stable at night slammed the door after him on account of a storm and a big yellow fellow was jarred off the beam over the door and dropped about his neck like a necktie.

A prosperous little town has grown up about these mines, and an enterprising citizen has applied for a wholesale license, against which there is said to be no remonstrance. Among the arguments advanced for the necessity of a license at "Rattler" it is said that the liability of the inhabitants to snake bites is so great that a plentiful supply of the never failing popular remedy as a preventive and cure is an absolute necessity. What weight it will have if made to the court is to be determined.

CARRIAGE 125 YEARS OLD.

Belonged to General Henry Knox. Is Still in Good Repair.

Boston.—Doubtless the oldest private carriage in existence in the United States to-day is that which belonged to Major Gen. Henry Knox of Thomaston, Me. The vehicle is about 125 years old, and in it Gen. Knox used to drive over his vast estate. It is now owned by Frank B. Hills, first selectman of Thomaston, who purchased it of the Alden Gay estate in 1895. After the death of Gen. Knox, which occurred Oct. 25, 1906, Alden Gay's father bought the carriage of the Knox estate, and it remained with the Gays until Mr. Hill made his purchase. The carriage, coming as it does from so famous a man as was Gen. Knox, first secretary of war under Washington, makes it a decidedly more valuable relic. Nor is it a relic in the sense that it is something that has become useless, for Mr. Hill takes a ride in this ancient carriage once in awhile, and it is in almost as good condition as the day it came from its builders. It was probably manufactured in Boston, as General Knox operated a packet line of small sailing vessels between Boston and Thomaston, and at that time there were no carriage builders in Thomaston.

KILLS WIFE WITH FUNNY STORY.

New Jersey Man Makes His Spouse Laugh Herself to Death.

Trenton, N. J.—A hearty laugh over a funny story related to Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Bennett a few days ago by her husband, Frederick H. Bennett, resulted directly in the woman's death. She continued to laugh several minutes so violently that she burst a blood vessel. The husband's mirth was cut short by his wife's sudden illness.

A physician was summoned, but he could do nothing for Mrs. Bennett. She suffered excruciatingly for three days before she died. The fatal joke, which was told while the Bennetts were at dinner, was as follows:

"A young fellow came into the office this morning and asked if he could have the telephone. I said he could if he didn't take it away with him. So calling up his home, he telephoned to his wife: 'Say, Mame, Uncle Bill, Aunt Sallie and grandma and Cousin Em, Cousin Liz, Cousin Tom and Uncle Joshua and the Brown family are all coming over for dinner.'"

"The young fellow paused long enough to get his breath, and then concluded: 'Go out and get a slice of ham, and we'll have a big dinner for 'em.'"

BLUE ARMY WAGON NO MORE.

Painted Olive Drab Now to Match the Uniform of the Soldiers.

Fort Sam Houston, Tex.—The army men at this post are bemoaning the fact that the blue army wagon is no more. The order recently came from the war department to paint every army wagon an olive drab color.

It was with regret that the order was carried out. It was like attending the funeral of an old friend, army men say.

Ever since the United States had an army wagon blue was the color they were painted. It was a color that appealed to the patriotism of the soldiers and was the pride of the teamsters.

No matter how hard the service, how long the trip or how muddy or dusty the road, the wagon always retained enough of its original color to be quickly recognized as belonging to the army when it hove in sight. Blue has come to seem as much a part of the service as the wagon itself.

It is supposed that the change was made from a desire that the color of the army wagon should be in harmony with the drab uniform of the soldiers.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. MOUNT PELATTO.

How the Dazzling Peak of Pumice Stone is Mined.

Coming from Stromboli, as we approach Liparia we see a mountain so dazzling white that the eyes cannot rest upon it—Mount Pelatto, the mountain of pumice stone. It stands out against a background of dark volcanic mass under an intense blue sky. Below it lies the beautiful emerald green Eolian sea.

The pumice mines are worked with as little expense as possible. There are no galleries, no stays or pillars. There is no woodwork of any kind. The men who mine the stone are paid in proportion to the quality of the stone mined. Therefore their only care is to produce fine, light stone. When a man finds a vein of fine stone he follows the lead whether it is safe or not. If the roof caves in, so much the worse for him. The work is dangerous, but it pays relatively well. The stone is carried on the backs of the women and children of the miners to the workshops of Canuto. As soon as it reaches the shops it is sorted and put together according to quality. The lighter, finer stone is called "foam." The second choice is known as "first white" and the third choice as "second white," etc.

The pieces are packed just as they come from the mine, excepting one very careful treatment—all the sharp edges are filed down, because they cause breakage, and breakage lowers the mercantile value of the stone. The files used are very large, and the filing is done by women. As soon as a piece is filed it is wrapped separately in paper and then placed in the tun to be shipped. Pieces of inferior quality are not wrapped in paper. They are placed in the tuns in fine shavings. It is claimed that the filing is healthful work, but this is hard to believe. In the room where the women wield the files the air is a dense, powdery white. The fine pumice dust (silicate of alumina) is held in the air, and in such an atmosphere every act of respiration must load the mucous linings of all the air passages. The women who file the stone breathe the air from morning till night. Even a very brief inhalation causes an exceedingly disagreeable sensation of desiccation. So it is presumable that the industry is less harmful to the women who pass their lives inhaling silicate of alumina. It has been said that the work brings in "relatively good pay." The expert filer's pay is 15 cents a day, but to earn that much a woman must work very fast. The pay is "relatively good" because labor is scarce in that country—scarce and ill paid.—Exchange.

Painters' Colic.

The painters and decorators were at work in the dining room, and the good housewife was anxiously sputtering about, giving orders as to how this and that should be done. One of the "artists" was telling about his attack of painters' colic when she said: "I should think you would get sick! Why don't you keep your mouth closed while you work?" "Huh, missis," replied the man, "I'd like to know what kind of painter you'd make. You'd be dead with colic inside of a year. Your mouth is open all the while." The rest of the job was finished in silence.—New York Press.

A Puzzle.

"'Twas a glorious night, and two lovers sat upon the cliffside, with the eternal ocean flowing at their feet with a calmness and placidity that was almost appalling. They were looking at the stars above, and he turned to his girl and said tenderly:

"My darling, I don't understand what you can see in me to love me so."

She replied, "That's what everybody says."

The silence was greater than ever.—London Telegraph.

A Witty Retort.

A motorist who was touring in Ireland one day met a native on the road who was driving a donkey and cart. Thinking he would have a little fun at his expense, the motorist began:

"What is the difference, Pat, between your turnout and mine?"

The native looked at the questioner a minute or so and then replied:

"Not a great deal. The donkey is in the shafts in the one and on the seat in the other."

His Retort.

The famous John Randolph of Roanoke, as he was called in his day, once met, while walking on a narrow pavement, a political opponent of his. The man pushed rudely against Mr. Randolph with his elbow, saying as he did so, "I never make way for scoundrels."

"I do," said John Randolph, stepping to one side and making his most courtly bow, as he allowed the man to pass.

THE VALENTINE.

We Can Find Its Origin in an Ancient Roman Feast.

A fact in natural history—to wit, that birds in southern Europe put about the middle of February—is said to have inspired a custom of the ancient Romans to which the origin of the modern valentine card undoubtedly be traced. At the feast of the Lupercalia, held in honor of the great god Pan, the names of the virgin daughters of Rome were put in a box and drawn therefrom by the young men. Each youth was bound to offer a gift to the maiden who fell to his lot and to make her his partner during the time of the feast. How this secular custom became allied to the name of a saint is altogether a different matter. St. Valentine was a bishop of Rome during the third century. He is said to have been a man of very amiable nature and most eloquent of speech, wherefore he was very successful in converting the pagan Romans to Christianity. Marcus Aurelius was then emperor, a relentless persecutor of the Christians, and by his order the bishop was beheaded. The date of his death was Feb. 14, 270 A. D. We find the statement in Archbishop Wheatley's "Illustrations of the Book of Common Prayer" that "St. Valentine was a man of admirable parts and so famous for his love and charity that the custom of choosing valentines upon his festival took its rise from thence." But probably the connection of name is wholly due to a coincidence of date. When the saint's name was placed in the church calendar the day of his death was made a festival to offset that of the Lupercalia, on the 15th.

In Allen Butler's "Lives of the Saints" we read that the zealous Christian fathers tried to substitute the names of the saints for those of girls in the lottery game, but without success. So the "valentine" custom spread from Rome through Europe to Great Britain, always in high favor, and later, in the form of sending tender missives, came to America and down to the present time.—Housekeeper.

Of Doubtful Import.

Not long ago a fond and rather romantically inclined father was approached by a young man whose intention was to ask the parent's consent to the marriage of himself and the other's daughter.

After considerable stammering and confusion the older man grasped the other's meaning and beamed benevolently upon him. He rose and placed one hand upon the youth's shoulder in a kindly way.

"So, so. Yes, after all, I guess my little girl is grown up and must have a mate," he said. "Tell me frankly, young man, is it her heart or her money that you are after?"

The young fellow blushed painfully, but with a thrill of pride he threw out his chest and answered, "I already have her heart in my keeping, sir!"—Leslie's.

Much Broken by Misfortune.

Mrs. Cartwright, in search of a painter to touch up her kitchen walls, was directed to Napoleon Lamere. "Do you think," asked Mrs. Cartwright, eying tottering Napoleon doubtfully, "that you could paint the side walls of my kitchen?"

"But yes, madam," returned Napoleon, "ceef dose appartment eet ees not of a too large highness. Bef you 'ave som w't you call low down job, me, I can do heem de mos' bes' of hannybody else."

"But, madam! Heh! No more can I do dose up high ceiling, dose steep roof, dose so elevate church steep, dose skyscraper. Me, I 'ave hon ma two foot too great of de shake. Beho! Already, madam, me, I 'ave de large misfortune to broke seex of ma haig."

A Narrow Escape.

First Traveler—So you have returned from Africa? Second Traveler—Yes. First T.—Any narrow escapes, eh? Second T.—Only one—a regular prize winner, I should think. First T.—Let me hear it. Second T.—Well, I was chased by a big lion, and, having no cartridges left, I threw away my rifle and faced the brute, but as he sprang at me I caught him by the lower jaw with one hand and by the nose with the other, and there I stood and held his mouth wide open until he starved to death. A narrow escape, eh?

An Exploded Theory.

"My dear," remarked Mr. Grouch when the argument threatened to reach a climax, "it has occurred to me that a single man is a wise man. A woman to gain knowledge must be married."

"I could readily support your theory," replied Mrs. Grouch, "but unfortunately I recall that Solomon, the wisest man, had 700 wives. And perhaps, dear, you might also have an inkling of the fact that Minerva, the goddess of wisdom, never married."—Brooklyn Life.

15 DAYS' FREE TRIAL

We will deliver a GREAT WESTERN SEPARATOR to your house, set it up for you, have our man stay with you and skim one milking, and show you all about the machine. You may keep it 15 days without paying one cent down. At the end of the trial if you find the machine to be the closest skimmer, the easiest to run, the most simple, the easiest to wash, the least liable to get out of repair, and in fact, the best cream separator by far that you have ever seen, you are to buy the machine if you want it, but you are under no obligation to take the machine whether it is all that we claim for it or not. You may have this machine on 15 days' free trial without paying one single cent in any way, shape or manner.

This machine is manufactured by the SMITH MANUFACTURING COMPANY whose main office is at 158 E. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill., with factory located at DeKalb, Ill. If you write, address your letter to the Chicago office and ask for Catalogue No. 83. If you are in a hurry for the separator and want it at once, telephone to DeKalb, Ill., Telephone No. 34 and ask for Mr. Fred Smith. He will make arrangements to have a man call on you at once with a machine. When the man gets there he will show you all about it and leave the machine there for 15 days without your depositing one single cent. Remember that you are under no obligation to buy the machine at the end of the 15 days.

3 Necessary Points in a SEPARATOR

—IT MUST Be a Clean Skimmer
—IT MUST Run Easily
—IT MUST Be Durable

IF a separator does not have these points it is not what it should be. It is easy to say of any machine that it is the best skimmer, the easiest to run, the most durable; but a claim without proof never freed nor convicted a criminal.

THE BOWL of the GREAT WESTERN separator is built on scientific principles. The whole milk is fed into the bowl so that it is sprayed between the disks and the greatest portion is delivered toward the top half of the bowl, so the cream has but little distance to travel after it is separated before it is delivered into the cream spout. The skimmed milk travels down the sides of the bowl where the centrifugal force is the greatest.

THE NATURAL gravity system is for the cream to rise and the milk to fall. In the GREAT WESTERN we carry out the same principle, combining the force of gravity and the centrifugal force as we draw the cream from the top and the milk from the bottom of the bowl. In other bowls where both cream and milk are delivered at the top, the whole milk is carried to the bottom of the bowl, and when the cream is liberated it must travel back the full length of the bowl before it can arrive at the cream spout. It travels side by side with the skimmed milk and in doing so there is great liability of them becoming mixed again. This is always true where there is slight vibration of the bowl. Also, when the milk and cream are both traveling upward side by side there is not the opportunity for separation that there is when the cream is traveling up and the milk down. The volume of milk drawn from the bowl is fifteen times greater than the volume of cream. The large flow of milk from the opening so close to the cream in the bowl often carries with it a portion of the cream.

You can now understand why the GREAT WESTERN separator skims so much closer than any other machine. It is the only machine that is absolutely guaranteed to take out practically all of the cream and not re-mix it. We make a claim of the cleanest skimmer and when you try the GREAT WESTERN you will understand the principle to know that the GREAT WESTERN is made absolutely in accordance with scientific principles.

NO MACHINE can run easily unless it has the right kind of bearings, is made simple and strong so it will not creep or bind, and the bearings on the GREAT WESTERN separator are the most improved style and cause the least friction. Seven of these eight bearings are ball bearings. The bearings are turned out of crucible steel, they are hardened so the race that the balls travel in is perfectly true and almost as hard as a diamond.

THE BALLS are the highest grade and are guaranteed not to vary one ten-thousandth of an inch. The ball bearings used in the GREAT WESTERN separator cost more than twice as much as the bearings used on any other separator, but they will last a lifetime if properly cared for. They cause no friction but make the machine run easy.

The Work of The Red Cross

By Clara Barton

"That Little Meeting at Geneva"—Red Cross Work in Foreign Countries—No Red Cross in Our Civil War—Flag a Compliment to Switzerland—No Religious Preferences Indicated—Not Connected with "Red Cross" Secret Societies—Japan an Advanced Red Cross Nation—How Interest in the Work Was Stimulated in America—Relief Rendered at Times of National Calamity—In Wartime.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Dowles.)

(The name of Clara Barton is known throughout the world through her efforts to alleviate the horrors of war. She was president of the American National Red Cross from its organization in 1881 to 1904. During the American civil war she did relief work on the battlefields. During the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 and 1871 she was associated with the International Red Cross. She has represented the United States in many international conferences. During the Russian famine of 1892 and the Armenian massacres of 1896 she distributed relief. At the time of the Spanish-American war she carried relief to Cuba.)

It is probable that there are few terms in general use among us, or few subjects so frequently referred to of which so little is correctly known as the so-called Red Cross.

The causes for this obscurity are many. Among the great movements of civilization the Red Cross is comparatively new. It is of foreign birth, consequently its literature is in foreign languages and in many languages, while we are notably a one-language people. The subject with which it was born to deal—namely, human warfare, was, until the Spanish-American war, experimentally unknown to our present generation, and the desire for and the certainty of a perpetual peace for the future had begotten an indifference, not to say repulsion, in the minds of the public, which turned it instinctively—often impatiently—away from all topics bearing upon the subject of war.

The history of the world is largely a history of its wars and through the 4,000 years, until three and a half centuries ago, there is no official record of any movement to lessen the woes of those who fought them. At that date a medical service was attached to armies, and was thought to be sufficient for any emergency that could ever arise. Through all the terrible wars of Napoleon I, this service was never changed, increased or questioned. But when the doors of Sentara opened for Florence Nightingale and her 40 nurses, the flood of light which followed them revealed serious defects. Still so slow is the march of improvement that the war of Lombardy in 1859 showed no amendment. On June 24 of that same year the armies of Napoleon III, equipped with every facility then known to military medicine, stood face to face with the foe in northern Italy, 200,000 combatants in a line five leagues in length, and fought 15 hours without cessation or rest. The horrors of the field, through the suffering of its wounded from want of care—scarcely one surgeon for 50 men, bleeding, fainting and famishing—were witnessed by a humane Swiss gentleman, Henri Dunant, who stayed his traveling carriage in the vicinity of the battle and worked among the wounded. The memories of the suffering he had witnessed, haunted him, until at length he wrote and published them, and the "Souvenir de Solferino" in a few months had been translated into the leading languages of the world, and lay on the tables and on the hearts of the best of Europe.

The seed had been well sown, and in 1863 it took root in a conference at Geneva, Switzerland, which sought to find if some way could be devised to lessen the needless suffering of soldiers on the field, which seemed to be largely the result of customary military restrictions. It was proved that no army ever had been found equal to the needs of its wounded in a battle. It was equally decided that this never could be, as no army could move, march and fight, while burdened with sufficient medical material or personnel to meet the needs of its wounded in and after a battle. The remedy suggested struck a blow at one of the strongest, time-honored rules of war—namely, that no civilian be allowed upon a field, especially in time of battle; the proposition of civilians being that societies of civilians be formed in the various countries whose duty it should be to provide whatever might be lacking in the medical department of an army in the field, either of material or personnel, and whose privilege it should be, to go under proper restrictions, and use them.

The plan further proposed that each country should have one central society, that this society should have the power to form other societies, to provide surgeons and equip them, to establish hospitals, to train nurses; in short, to be a civil arm of war in the name of humanity, if wars must exist—or, rather, while they must exist—for no one saw any immediate way of preventing them. Further, it proposed that these societies should keep themselves prepared to accompany their respective armies, with the same readiness for emergencies as those in the pay of the state, and yet they would be no expense to the state nor to any but themselves. Singularly, of this conference of only 36 persons 18 were official delegates, representing 14 powerful governments. The historian has aptly said that "the eyes of all Europe were turned toward that little meeting at Geneva."

Kindly keep in mind the date—1863, just the middle of our civil war. Three thousand miles away, we knew little of European movements; in war ourselves, we had little time to study them. Our sanitary commission was struggling into active life and Europe knew nothing of it. The Red Cross had not even a name. Please let this answer the mistaken, misleading and constantly recurring question of the "Red Cross in our civil war." There was none.

That conference of 1863 accomplished prodigies of successful labor within a year. It drew into its compact the concurrence of two-thirds of the important countries of Europe, which proceeded to establish aid or central societies for relief in war; as, for instance, Austria, Spain, France, Great Britain, the Netherlands, Prussia, six German states, Sweden, Switzerland, Italy, Portugal and Denmark. Although thorough advocates, these societies were merely single-handed and national, each ready to act with all humanity and generosity to friend and foe; but there was no bond between them; internationally they had no existence. The established laws of war held its impensurable mantle over them and internationally there was no link between these civil aid societies and the military of even their own countries. The surgeons whom they would send could still be left on the field to suffer and die, the material could become the spoil of the conqueror; hospitals could be robbed and their inmates either left destitute or dragged off to prison, according to the caprice of the conqueror. International law sanctioned these things.

It was clearly, therefore, international law that must be remedied in this respect. This conference of 1863 bravely called for another to be held in 1864, which should take on the character of a convention, consisting exclusively of delegates from the crowned heads and rulers of the world—the makers of war—armed with treaty powers, regarding the conduct of armies in the field and the treatment of sick and wounded soldiers. This convention was held at Geneva in August, 1864.

A compound international treaty was entered into, known as the treaty of Geneva, for the aid of the sick and wounded of armies. The first clause of this remarkable document of ten articles strikes the keynote of all that was sought, by declaring neutral all persons disabled on a field, all persons properly authorized to care for them, as surgeons, chaplains, attendants, all materials sent or designed for the use of the wounded in hospitals and the hospitals themselves. Wounded prisoners were to be given up if desired; the sick and wounded were to be taken care of regardless of nationality, friend and foe receiving the same care from all belligerents. A sign was created by which all persons engaged in the relief of the wounded of either army might be known. All material, as food, clothing and vehicles, having this sign, should be sacred from capture. One flag bearing this sign was instituted for all military hospitals and all hospitals flying that flag should be held sacred from attack.

To return to the national societies. Strengthened by the convention of 1864, and the protection of the treaty, no time was lost by them. In 1866 Austria, Italy and Germany afforded opportunity for trial. The hard field of Sadowa testified as to their need. Italy and Germany were in the treaty; Austria was not.

That made no difference in the treatment of Austria's wounded. Paralyzed and dressed the wounds of 600 to 800 a day for two months, regardless of friend or foe.

In 1870 under Napoleon III, France marched to its eastern borders, while Germany watched the Rhine. Both were leading Red Cross nations. The German Red Cross, like its army, was ready. Its central committee received and applied $10,000,000 as an aid to the medical department of the army. The Red Cross of France, like its army, was not ready, and yet its alacrity surprised the world. In one month France raised and equipped 17 movable field hospitals, which were sent to the army and went with it to Sedan. During the siege and commune at Paris a vast number of sick and wounded soldiers had been massed together and the famine of the last days of the siege rendered their condition pitiable beyond description. The Red Cross, by full approval of the Prussian authorities, removed 10,000 of these and brought back 9,000 prisoners from Germany. I speak of this from personal observation and participation.

In July, 1876, Servia and Montenegro entered Turkey. All were in the treaty. The Turkish officials, intelligent and educated, understood the origin of the Red Cross and respected it, but prudently feared to place a cross in the sight of their ignorant, fanatical soldiery, and the Red Crescent was substituted, which remains until to-day. In 1877 Russia came down and crossed the Danube. Plevna tells its terrible tale. The Serbian Red Cross, young and poor, established its wonderful hospital at Belgrade and Roumania nursed 1,042 wounded Turks. Fifteen million dollars in Red Cross relief was spent by Russia alone.

The Japanese are one of the most advanced Red Cross nations, the emperor being the active head of the central society. Their work for the relief of suffering during the late war with Russia aroused the wonder and admiration of the world.

Of civil wars there has been no end. Italy had its Garibaldi and papal war, Spain had its Carlist war, Russia led its armies to the region of Persia and its Red Cross even in 117 persons after them, who followed the advanced guard, six being wounded and 12 killed.

The Dutch established its Red Cross in the Malay war in 1878. Bolivia and Peru entered the treaty during their civil wars of 1879 to 1881.

In the early Transvaal war the Boers, without being in the treaty, lived up to its highest precepts.

Civil wars are usually considered the most cruel and yet, singularly, the Carlist war in Spain was said to have been exempt from cruelties; doctors and nurses were respected, prisoners were well treated and even the wounded insurgents were set at liberty at Pampluna. Spain has always regarded its Red Cross and even in the height of the Spanish-American war sent its official testimonial of regard to the president of the Red Cross of America.

It will be recalled that although officially invited to every conference the United States was too sadly occupied to give attention to anything outside itself, until the close of our civil war. Then it was too worn, tired and glad of the end of war to ever want to hear of it again. Thus it happened that when Dr. Henry W. Bellows, the great apostle of war relief, and president of our sanitary commission, having come in contact with the Red Cross at the Paris exposition in 1868, and perceiving its great utility, undertook to interest the American people and induce the government to unite with the treaty and actually formed a society, failed both with government and people, was compelled to abandon his project and relinquish his efforts. Foreign nations regretted this and continued their efforts to interest America. At length, in 1877, a second effort was made, during the administration of President Hayes, and continued successively through a term of five years. In 1882, during the administration of President Arthur, following out an expressed desire of his lamented predecessor, Garfield, and the advice of his cabinet, the treaty was adopted by our government.

We had no wars, no battlefields to attract their sympathy and help, but we had great disasters constantly occurring, as pitiable oftentimes as a battle, and then it was our custom to call upon the government to give relief through appropriations from the treasury. Here was a legitimate opportunity to apply the first great principles of the Red Cross, namely, "people's help for national need." To this opportunity the perplexed committee turned and on presenting the treaty for acceptance it prayed the ratifying powers at Bern to accept the United States, with the privilege of relieving in great national calamities, other than war, confining its operations to disasters beyond local relief and requiring governmental aid. The committee frankly gave its reasons, admitting that it was an innovation. Still, the request was kindly considered and granted. Thus in 1882 America stood alone among the Red Cross treaty nations with the official privilege of rendering aid in great calamities in civil life.

A Doctor's Brother Thought Postum Was Coffee.

A wise doctor found out coffee was hurting him, so he quit drinking it. He was so busy with his practice, however, that his wife had to write how he fooled his brother, a clergyman, one day at dinner. She says: "Doctor found coffee was injuring him and decided to give Postum a trial, and we have used it now for four years, with continued benefit. In fact, he is now free from the long train of ills that follow coffee drinking."

"To show how successful we are in making Postum properly I will relate an incident. At a dinner we gave, Doctor suggested we serve Postum instead of ordinary coffee. "Doctor's brother, a Clergyman, supposed it was old fashioned coffee and remarked, as he called for his second cup: 'If you do preach against coffee, I see you haven't forgotten how to make it.'" This goes to show that well-made—fully boiled—Postum has much the flavor and richness of good coffee although it has an individuality all its own. A ten days' trial will prove that it has none of the poisonous effect of ordinary coffee, but will correct the troubles caused by coffee. "There's a reason." Secret of Japan's Success.
Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton of the British army wrote the evening after one of the great battles which he had witnessed between Russians and Japanese in the recent war in Manchuria: "To bed! Although it is with reluctance that I prepare to lose my grip of the exciting consciousness that I have to-day seen the most stupendous spectacle that it is possible for mortal brain to conceive—Asia advancing, Europe falling back; the wall of mist and the writing thereon." Then as to the meaning of this retreat of Europe before advancing Asia: "The more I think the more certain I am that it was not strategy or tactics, or armament or information, which won the battle of Liaoyang for Oyama, but that it was rather the souls of the Japanese troops which triumphed over the less developed, less awakened, less stimulated qualities of the Russians."

THE ARTISTIC WALL.

One of Solid Color Will Always Give Best Effect.

The dearest, daintiest, most artistic wall is a solid colored wall. It furnishes a perfect background for all kinds of pictures, it throws them out in their correct proportions, and does not detract from their artistic value. The solid colored wall is also much better as a background for furniture, and harmonizes much more artistically with carpets and rugs than any other method of wall treatment. The less breaking up of color on a wall the more artistic it is.

The most successful form of the solid colored wall is an alabaster wall. There is as much difference between tinted walls, as there is between shoddy and all-wool goods. The shoddy good holds its color for a few days, while the all-wool keeps its color to the very last thread, so also in solid colored walls, there are shoddy walls and permanently colored walls which retain their color down to the very last particle. The ideal wall coating never rubs off, never flakes nor chips off and is always ready for a fresh coat. If there is wallpaper on the wall, soak it off with warm water, then go over the plaster after you have removed the paper with warm water to remove every trace of paste. Have the wall thoroughly clean for a clean wall cannot be built on an unclean foundation. If there are any particles of foreign matter adhering to the wall scrape them off with a putty knife. Then if there are any discolorations on the wall, size it with a material made from cheap varnish, thinned down with benzine and japan added for a drier, then cover your wall with your tinting material. Be sure your man uses a tinting material mixed with cold water. If he comes to you and asks for warm water, you can make up your mind that there is glue in the material which he proposes to put on your wall; and you can be certain that you are going to have a shoddy wall, for glue means shoddy. Glue means that it will hold its color long enough for the man to collect his bill and not much longer. Insist on your tinting material being mixed with clear, cold water. Be sure that your wall is made from pure materials, then you will have a permanent, artistic, sanitary wall. A wall that will be a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

WOMEN IN HOSPITALS

Experiences of Mrs. Rockwood and Miss Tierney

MISS MARGARET TIERNEY

MRS. CHAS. A. ROCKWOOD

A large proportion of the operations performed in our hospitals are upon women and girls for some organic trouble.

Why should this be the case? Because they have neglected themselves, as every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in those dragging sensations, pains at left or right of abdomen, backaches, nervous exhaustion, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, and other organic weaknesses.

All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female system and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation—but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has saved hundreds of women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has cured more cases of feminine ills than any other one remedy. Such letters as the following are constantly being received by Mrs. Pinkham to prove our claims.

Mrs. C. A. Rockwood, teacher of Parliamentary Law, of 58 Free St., Freedom, N. Y., writes: "For years I suffered with female trouble. It was decided that an operation was necessary, and although I submitted to a serious operation my sufferings continued, until Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and it proved a marvelous remedy, so quickly did it restore my health, I cannot thank you sufficiently for the good it has done me."

Miss Margaret Tierney, of No. 329 W. 25th Street, New York, writes:

"When only eighteen years of age our physician decided that an operation was necessary to permit of my womanly organs performing their natural functions. My mother objected and being urged by a relative to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I soon improved in health, the proper conditions were established and I am well and strong, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

No other remedy has such unqualified endorsement as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No other remedy in the world has such a record of cures of female ills.

FADED TO A SHADOW.

Worn Down by Five Years of Suffering from Kidney Complaint.

Mrs. Remetho Myers, of 180 South Tenth St., Ironton, O., says: "I have worked hard in my time and have been exposed again and again to changes of weather. It is no wonder my kidneys gave out and I went all to pieces at last. For five years I was fading away and finally so weak that for six months I could not get out of the house. I was nervous, restless and sleepless at night, and lame and sore in the morning. Sometimes everything would whirl and blur before me. I bloated so badly I could not wear tight clothing, and had to put on shoes two sizes larger than usual. The urine was disordered and passages were dreadfully frequent. I got help from the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills, however, and by the time I had taken four boxes the pain and bloating were gone. I have been in good health ever since."

"I've got the whooping cough," he answered, splashing about vigorously."

SCIATIC TORTURE

A Locomotive Engineer Tells How He Was Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Pain that seems almost unbearable is a characteristic of sciatic rheumatism. In some cases the pain is knife-like, sharp or shooting; in others it is dull and aching. Sciatica is stubborn in resisting treatment and the patient frequently suffers for years. This was the case with Mr. Herbert E. Spaulding, a locomotive engineer on the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway, whose home is at Longview, Texas.

"While running an engine some years ago," he says, "I fell off and hurt my knee and spine and I have always considered this to be the cause of my illness. The sciatica took hold of me from my heel to the back of my head. The pain was the worst I ever suffered in my life and my leg and back were twisted out of shape. I was under a physician's care for several months and for six months could not get out of bed. I also went to Hot Springs but came back in a worse condition than when I went."

"It was when I was down in bed that I heard of the case of a Mr. Allison, a much older man than myself, who had been cured of sciatica by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking the pills and soon was able to get out of bed. When I had taken six boxes I was able to work about the house and yard. I kept right on with the pills until I was cured and I have never had any return of the trouble. I have been running an engine ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

DYNAMITE SHAKES A CITY

VAST DAMAGE IN CINCINNATI BY TERRIFIC BLAST.

Hospital, Houses and Stores Shattered—Believed to Be Work of Incendiaries.

Cincinnati, March 18.—By the explosion of 250 pounds of dynamite in a shack on the site of the new city hospital early Sunday enormous damage was done to residences and buildings all through the surrounding section, people all over the city and suburbs were awakened and excited, and it was feared for a time that patients in the Jewish hospital might suffer serious results from the shock.

The German Old Men's home and the Jewish hospital were the largest buildings near the explosion, which occurred in Avondale, one of the best known residence sections, and both suffered seriously. The cause of the explosion is unknown, but incendiaries is feared, a number of men recently discharged by the hospital contractors being said to have made threats. The dynamite was stored in a little shack near the Old Men's home and was in five 50-pound packages.

An immense cavity was torn in the ground and the shock blew out windows and store fronts for a mile along the Reading road, while chimneys were shaken down more than a mile distant. Sunday night special watchmen and the residents of the wrecked section of the city guarded the wrecked houses, reports that gangs of thieves were planning to take advantage of the opened houses being received by the authorities and the people warned.

NABBED WITH RICH JEWELS.

Two Alleged Smugglers Are Wanted for Big Theft Abroad.

New York, March 18.—Arthur Preston Green and Charles Rohrer, passengers on the steamer Amerika, were arrested when the vessel arrived from Hamburg Sunday, charged with attempted smuggling. Diamonds and jewelry to the value of nearly $25,000, which the custom officials alleged the prisoners had failed to declare, were taken from them. The valuables were confiscated and the men held for extradition.

Though only the charge of smuggling was preferred against the prisoners here, it is stated by the police that they are wanted abroad in connection with a theft of some $35,000 worth of jewelry and precious stones, and the London authorities have been notified. On Wednesday the police received a cablegram from Scotland Yard asking that Green and Rohrer be detained upon their arrival on the Amerika.

Green described himself as a salesman, 31 years old, with a home in this city. The police allege that he has repeatedly been arrested for shoplifting and served three years' imprisonment in Wisconsin.

Rohrer gave the same age and occupation, but said that Philadelphia was his home. According to the police he has a record including arrests in Philadelphia and for robbing Miss Evelyn King at Atlantic City; and again on March 19, 1898, for robbing Miss Theresa Schwartz on a street in Philadelphia.

WAS NOT TO BOOM TAFT.

Loeb Denies Story About President's Conference with Deneen.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Loeb Sunday night denied published statements that the White House conference Saturday, in which Gov. Charles S. Deneen and Attorney General Stead of Illinois participated, was for the purpose of promoting the candidacy of Secretary Taft for the presidency. The story originated, it is said, from the fact that Secretary Taft and his brother, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, called at the executive office while the president was in conference with the Illinois officials and were introduced to the president's visitors.

President Charles S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad will call on the president Tuesday afternoon, and it is still the belief in official circles that the other three railroad presidents, with whom J. Pierpont Morgan requested the president to discuss the railroad situation, will come to Washington this week.

Inspecting the Mississippi.

St. Louis, March 18.—The members of the Mississippi river commission departed Sunday for New Orleans on the steamer Mississippi to make their semi-annual inspection of the river en route. The party expects to reach New Orleans on March 25. The party is composed of Col. Clinton D. Sears, United States corps of engineers, president; J. A. Ockerson, Henry B. Richardson of New Orleans, Homer P. Ritter of Washington, Col. William T. Russell of Cincinnati, Maj. James G. Warren of Cincinnati and Capt. G. R. Lukesh, secretary, St. Louis. Judge Robert S. Taylor, the other commissioner, is abroad.

A Remarkable Operation.

Wichita, Kan., March 18.—A pair of five-inch surgeons' scissors were taken from the thigh of Mrs. W. R. White, of Braman, Okla., at the Wichita hospital Saturday. She was operated on for a tumor four years ago and the scissors were left in the abdominal cavity. The scissors worked through her body to her thigh, causing excruciating pain. They were discovered with the aid of the X-ray.

GREAT BOOM IN JOLIET

Public Improvements and New Industries Make a Big Demand for Labor, and Growth in Population Makes a Demand for Houses.

Last fall the mills of Joliet demanded 2,000 additional men. Business was greatly hampered by the lack of employees. The business men of Joliet were uncertain how to get the required help, but by judicious advertising succeeded in supplying the want. Now comes the demand for more places for the people to live in; more houses, more apartments. Notwithstanding the healthy growth of the city in the last few years there is a scarcity of houses. This is the house-builder's golden opportunity.

The latest industrial development is the determination of the United States Steel corporation to construct 400 coke ovens at Joliet so as to supply coke direct to the great steel plant and to utilize the gas from coke manufacture in generating steam and for other uses. The steel plant employs over 3,000 men, and produces 5,000 tons of steel daily. The construction of the coke ovens will require hundreds more workmen, and when they are in operation many men must be employed to tend them. All these men must have homes.

The work of track elevation in Joliet is going rapidly forward. The new work of the Chicago sanitary district in extending the drainage canal through the city, widening and deepening the channel, requires the outlay of large sums of money for labor. Another stupendous project is the removal of the state penitentiary farther down the river. New factories are continually springing up in Joliet, while old ones are enlarging and extending their business. The labor outlook was never brighter.

Yet in the midst of all this commercial and industrial activity very little attention has been given to the exploitation of real estate. No town or city has ever presented such an opportunity for the shrewd real estate man to enlarge his fortune. All around the city, and even within the city are places ripe for subdivision, which may be obtained at fairly moderate prices, waiting the touch of the master hand. The homes are now inadequate for the 50,000 population, and many more are coming who will want new homes.

It is a fact that under present conditions there are over 4,000 more adult males than adult females in Joliet, who will sooner or later marry and demand homes. The prospect of rapid growth is therefore probably unequalled by any city of the United States. Conditions indicate that the real estate business will be the next to feel the impulse of these great industrial activities. If you are interested write to the Citizens' Alliance, Joliet, Ill.

Put Bismarck in Hole.

When "Bull Run" Russell, who died a short time ago, was with the German army in 1870, he reported a long interview with the crown prince (Friedrich), some expressions in which gave umbrage to Bismarck. Bismarck sent for him, lost his temper and said: "I suppose you couldn't resist showing your importance by reporting all that that 'dunderhead' confided to you?" Russell replied: "Your excellency knows that I always respect confidences; there is much that you have said to me myself that I have not reported." Bismarck: "Pouf! Anything I say to you may bawl from the top of St. Paul's." "I thank your excellency," said Russell. "I shall use that permission to record your opinion of the crown prince."

Simple Advice Which May Prove of Untold Value.

At the first sign of Backache or pain in the region of the Kidneys, or weakness and Urinary trouble, the following simple prescription should be used:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Any good prescription pharmacy will supply these three ingredients at small cost, which can easily be mixed by shaking well in a bottle. This is said to force the Kidneys to filter the "our acids and poisons from the blood, overcoming the worst cases of Rheumatism.

SEE THE SOUTHWEST

One great advantage the Southwest has is its equable climate. Here farmwork goes on practically the year round and there is rarely ever a need of providing shelter for stock. The growing season is longer and another crop is frequently grown on the same land after the first has been harvested.

Go Southwest Now

On March 19th, April 2nd and 16th you can see the Southwest very cheaply. Tickets are good 30 days and permit stop-overs. One very desirable feature of the trip via the M. K. & T. Ry. is the diverse route through Oklahoma—you can go through Indian Territory and return through Oklahoma City, or vice versa.

Cheap Trips Round trip tickets to San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, etc., on the first and third Tuesdays of each month: From Chicago $25.00 From St. Paul 27.50 From St. Louis 20.00 From Kansas City 20.00

To Oklahoma and Indian Territory the rates are less in many cases. One way tickets at half the regular rate plus $2.00, e. g., from St. Louis the fare to San Antonio is $15.35; intermediate points in proportion.
