There was no shame in the eyes of George Bouverie. A kind of proud light leaps into them for a moment; then he puts his mother gently into the doctor's arms, saying softly:

"Whatever happens, believe I am innocent." Then he turns to the sergeant. "Now, then, I am ready to go with you."

CHAPTER VIII.

The assizes are going on, and the county town is full of barristers and attorneys; and all interest is centered on the Portraven bank robbery case, for the man to be tried is a gentleman, a member of one of the oldest families

Mrs. Bouverie is staying in the same hotel as the judge who is to try her son. She will stay near George to the dock, the man with the handsome, last; and Doctor Carter, fuming and miserable face, that gets paler and fussy, has taken up his quarters at the Royal Arms too. He is beginning to lose heart. The evidence is so dead | world of sorrowful pity in his gaze, against George, and the great counsel and his self-control deserts him for a engaged can wring nothing from the moment. silent lips of the prisoner. With a sad, stern face of George confronts him, but refuses to speak—refuses to account for the money that had been in his possession that day. He will make no defense whatever, beyond declaring his innocence. His counsel is in despair. Without doubt the jury will bring in a verdict of guilty.

Worn out with great anxiety, Mrs. Beuverie lies on a sofa in a private room of the hotel. In the garden below the windows great bunches of lilacs scent the air, and the light breeze rustles the golden sprays of laburnum; but the mother's eyes see them not. She can only think of her boy within the cold, gray walls of the jail waiting for his trial. Mr. Saville is in the town too, with a look of satisfaction on his His landlady hurries to tell him that face; also Mr. Grey, the cashier, who, r. Bouverie has been taken. And the day dawns for the trial of stubborn ...ngs and honorable the bank robbery. Dr. Carter makes one more desperate effort.

Mrs. Bouverie, you are not strong enough to stand this. I promise to send you word every half-hour as the case son!" she moans, as David did, and can goes on. Besides, it would only distress poor George to see you.'

"Dr. Carter, you mean well, but I must go. I will be very brave," Mrs. has never wavered. George said he was Bouverie says, looking at the doctor's kindly face with eyes that are dim with tears and want of sleep.

"It will kill her, poor soul!"

Crowds are flocking to the courthouse. It is an exciting case. The counsel retained for George is in the depths of despair. He cannot see the chance of an acquittal unless some wonderful evidence turns up, which is not likely, at the eleventh hour.

Mr. Grey, the cashier, is prepared to identify George Bouverie as the man who attacked and drugged him.

The case is not very exciting after all. In vain Mr. Jarvis cross-examines Mr. Grey; he sticks to his statement without wavering. Limp and ghastly looking he is, but firm; and yet he never once looks at the pale, set face of the man in the dock, who holds his golden head up bravely. Once once, when the judge says:

George gives him one look-a look of deep and bitter anger and contempt. Mr. Dale, the chemist, adds his quota to the mass of evidence, and the chloroform is accounted for.

The crowd of persons Hstening to the case come to the conclusion that George Bouverie must be a very wicked young man indeed, in spite of his noble figure and kingly head. He is nothing better than a common thief. And public sympathy goes with the bank clerk, whose nervous system has been shattered.

Truly it had been a bold robbery indeed, and an example should be made! To walk boldly into the bank, choosng a moment when there was no one present but the cashier, and to immediately chloroform him and make off with a hundred pounds was the act of a villain!

Dr. Carter's face grew longer and longer as the case proceeds. Mr. Jarvis makes but a lame defense. Mrs. Bouverie turns an agonized face on the doctor, and whispers, with white lips "It is going against him, and yet he is innocent."

Dr. Carter is trembling visibly. "Let me take you away, Mrs. Bouverie. My dear lady, be guided by Breaking Horses in South Africa.

The way in which horses are broken to saddle in South Africa is one which I have never seen practiced in any other country, says a writer. It is charmingly simple, and has its good points as well as its bad ones. It consists of tying the head of the neophyte close up to that of a steady horse by means of a cord connecting the respective headstalls worn by these animals. After they have both been saddied and bridled, the 'schoolmaster" is first mounted, and then another man gets on the young one, who is powerless to buck, rear, or run away, on account of his head being fixed. Besides this, the fact of his being alongside another horse gives him confidence, and, no matter how wild he may be, he will earn in a short time to carry his burden and regulate his pace according to hands in her lap, a small, pitiful figure that of his companion. As he settles down quietly to work, the connecting cord may be gradually loosened out until at last it can be taken off alto-

TALK ON ONE OF THE MISSIONS OF CHRIST.

Efficacy of Divine Power in Healing the World's Wounds and Deformities-The Intimate Relations of Surgery and Theology.

(Copyright, 1900, by Louis Klopsch.) In this discourse Dr. Talmage (who is now traveling in Europe) puts in an unusual light the mission of Christ and shows how divine power will yet make the illnesses of the world fall back; text, Matthew xi, 5, "The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the deaf

"Doctor," I said to a distinguished surgeon, "do you not get worn out with constantly seeing so many wounds and broken bones and distortions of the human body?" "Oh, no," he answered, "all that is overcome by my joy in curing them. A sublimer and more merciful art never came down from heaven than that of surgery. Catastrophe and disease entered the earth so early that one of the first wants of the world was a doctor. Our crippled and agonized human race called for surgeon and family physician for many years before they came. The first surgeons who answered this call were ministers of religion—namely, the Egyptian priests. And what a grand thing if all clergymen were also doctors, all D. D.'s were M. D.'s, for there are so many cases where body and soul need treatment at the same time, consolation and medicine, theology and therapeutics. As the first surgeons of the world were also ministers of religion, may these two professions always be in full sympathy! But under what disadvantages the early surgeons worked, from the fact that the dissection of the human body was forbidden, first by the pagans, and then by the early Christians! Apes, being the brutes most like the human race, were dissected, but no human body might be unfolded for physiological and anatomical exploration, and the surgeons had to guess what was inside the temple by looking at the outside of it. If they failed in any surgical operation, they were persecuted and driven out of the city, as was Archagathus because of his bold but unsuccessful attempt to save a pa-

The Surgeon in History.

But the world from the very beginning, kept calling for surgeons, and their first skill is spoken of in Genesis, where they employed their art for the incisions of a sacred rite, God making surgery the predecessor of baptism. and we see it again in II Kings, where Ahazlah, the monarch, stepped on some cracked latticework in the paiace, and it broke, and he fell from the so hurt that he sent to the village of wrought such wonders of surgery, that he was deified and temples were built for his worship at Pergamos; and Epidaurus and Podelirius introduced for the relief of the world phlebotomy. and Damocedes oured the dislocated ankle of King Darius and the cencer of his queen, and Hippocrates put successful hand on fractures and introduced amputation, and Praxagoras removed obstructions, and Herophilus began dissection and Erasistratus removed tumors, and Celsus, the Roman surgeon, removed cataract from the eye and used the Spanish fly; and Heliodorus arrested disease of the throat, and Alexander of Tralles treated the eye, and Rhazas cauterized for the prevention of hydrophobia, and Percival Pott came to combat diseases of the spine, and in our century we have had, among others, a Roux, and a Larray in France, an Astley Cooper and an Abernethy in Great Britain and a Valentine Mott and Willard Parker and Samuel D. Gross in America and a galaxy of living surgeons as brilliant as their predecessors. What mighty progress in the baffling of disease since the crippled and sick of ancient cities were laid along the streets, that people who had ever been hurt or disordered in the same way might suggest what had better be done for the patients, and the priests of olden time. who were constantly suffering from colds, received in walking barefoot over the temple pavements had to prescribe for themselves, and fractures were considered so far beyond all hu- out his right foot, then his left foot, man cure that instead of calling in the and then stood upright, as though he surgeon the people only invoked the had never been prostrated. But notwithstanding all the surgical and medical skill in the world, with what tomacity the old diseases hang on to the human race, and most of them are thousands of years old, and in our Bibles we read of themthe carbuncles of Job and Hezekiah, the palpitation of the heart spoken of in Deuteronomy, the sunstroke of a child carried from the fields of Shunem, crying, "My head, my head!" King Asa's disease of the feet, which was nothing but gout; defection of teeth, that called for dental surgery, the skil of which, almost equal to any. thing modern, is still seen in the filled molars of the unrolled Egyptian mummies; the ophthalmia caused by the juice of the newly ripe flg, leaving the people blind by the roadside; epilepsy, as in the case of the young man often falling into the fire, and oft into the water; hypochondria, as of Nebuchadnezzar, who imagined himself an ox and going out to the fields to pasture; the withered hand, which in Bible times, as now, came from the destruction of the main artery or from paralysis of the chief nerve; the wounds of the man whom the thieves left for the good Samaritan nursed, pouring in surgeon who never loses a case! cil and wine-wine to cleanse the wound and oil to soothe it. Surgery Without Pain. But the world wanted a surgery without pain. Drs. Parre and Hickman and Simpson and Warner and Jackson, with their amazing genius, came forward, and with their anaesthetics benumbed the patient with narcotics and ethers as the ancients did with hasheesh and mandrake and quieted him for a while, but at the return of consciousness distress returned. The world has never seen but one surgeon who could straighten the crooked limb, cure the blind eye or reconstruct the drum of a soundless ear or reduce a dropsy without any pain at the time or any pain after, and that surgeon was Jesus Christ, the mightiest, grandest, gentlest and most sympathetic surgeon the world ever saw or ever will see, and he deserves the confidence and love and worship and hosanna of all the earth and halleluiahs of all heaven. "The blind receive their sight and the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear.' I notice this surgeon had a fondness

All the surgeons have failed, and all the prescriptions have proved valueless, and I move hand nor foot nor head. Oh, if I could only be free from this pain of thirty-eight years!" Christ the Surgeon could not stand that. Was there ever such another oculist? That he was particularly sorry for the blind folks I take from the fact that the most of his works were with the diseased optic nerves. I have not time to count up the number of blind people mentioned who got his cure. Two blind men in one house; also one who was born blind; so that it was not removal of a visual obstruction, but the creation of the cornea and ciliary muscle and crystalline lens and retina and optic nerve and tear gland; also the blind men of Bethsaida, cured by the saliva which the Surgeon took from the tip of his own tongue and put upon the eyelids; also two blind men who sat by the wayside.

Unloosing the Barred Tongue.

Our surgeon, having unbarred his ear, will now unloose the shackle of his tongue. The surgeon will use the same liniment or salve that he used on two occasions for the cure of blind people-namely, the moisture of his own mouth. The application is made, and lo, the rigidity of the dumb tongue is relaxed, and between the tongue and teeth was born a whole vocabufor chronic cases. Healing the World's Wounds.

What a grand thing for our poor human race when this surgeon shall have completed the treatment of the world's wounds! The day will come when there will be no more hospitals, got worse and worse, and I can neither | for there will be no more sick, and no more eve and ear infirmaries, for there will be no more blind or deaf, and no more deserts, for the round earth shall be brought under arboriculture, and no more blizzards or sunstrokes, for the atmosphere will be expurgated of scorch and chill, and no more war, for the swords shall come out of the foundry bent into pruning hooks, while in the heavenly country we shall see the victims of accident or malformation or hereditary ills on earth become the athletes in Elysian fields. Who is that man with such brilliant eyes close before the throne? Why, that is the man who, near Jericho, was blind, and our surgeon cured his ophthalmia! Who is that erect and graceful and queenly woman before the throne? That was the one whom our surgeon found bent almost double and could in nowise lift up herself, and he made her straight. Who is that listening with such rapture to the music of heaven, solo melting into chorus, cymbal responding to trumpet, and then himself joining in the anthem? Why, that is the man whom our surgeon found deaf and dumb on the beach of Galilee and by two touches opened ear gate and mouth gate. Who is that around whom the crowds are gathering with admiring looks and thanksgiving and cries of "Oh, what he did for me! Oh, what he did for my family! Oh, what he did for the world!" That is the surgeon of all the centuries, the oculist. the aurist, the emancipator, the Savior. No pay he took on earth. Come, now, and let all heaven pay him with worship that shall never end and a love that shall never die. On his head be all the crowns, in his hands be all the scepters and at his feet be all the

The Father of Printing.

The city of Mayence, in Germany, has recently celebrated the five hundredth anniversary of the birth of Johann Gutenberg, who is commonly believed to have been the first man to make and use movable types. Gutenberg was a native of Mayence. It was in that pleasant city by the Rhine that he executed the "Gutenberg Bible," one of the rarest gems of the great libraries. In Mayence he died-in povertyat about the age of fifty-eight.

A festure of this Gutenberg festival was an exhibition of the best things the printer's art has produced during blade-carrying spindle by a simple five hundred years. Poking Fire for A Living.

The trades of London are many, and some of them seem very strange to an American. One occupation by which a score of Britons are said to earn their livelihood is that of "poking fires." It is thus described by a London exchange, and whatever else may be thought of the story, it speaks well for the Jews of England, as faithful keepers of their law. By the Rabbinical law, no Jew is allowed to kindle or mend any fire on the Sabbath; and in certain places in England, where Jews are very numerous, this prohibition makes it necessary that persons shall be employed from sunset on Friday to the same hour on Saturday, in going from house to house lighting fires and lamps, and attending to them. One woman in the East End of London often has as many as fifty houses to attend to, and draws small fees from each of them. It is not long since a male "fire-poker" in that quarter died worth more than three hundred pounds which he had saved out of his earnings. It often happens at the East End that a strict Jew goes out into The 'fire-poker' has failed me." Many a tip do the police constables get for services of this kind. It is said that coal was mined prior to 1113. In the Liege district coal was first found about 1199. In 1214 coal was attracting some attention on the southern side of the Frith of Forth. This was a hundred years after the mines in the Worm district are said to have been opened and regularly worked. It is not likely that coal was mined in Great Britain before the thirteenth century.

Rubber culture was first scientifically undertaken at the botanical gardens at Peradeniya in 1876 by Dr. Trimen and in 1897 Cevlon boasted of 250,000 trees of the Brazilian variety which yielded an amount of one pound and a half per tree, fifty trees being planted monly than those who are older or to the acre. It is fortunate for Brazil that little of the east possesses the soil, climate and conditions necessary for such competition. Is the Queen an O'Connor? The queen is of the old Irish royal strain. She is not only a Guelph and a Stuart, she is one of the royal O'Connors. The last Irish sovereign of the whole island was Roderick O'Connor. His sons were slain. His daughter married Hugo de Lacy. Their daughter married a De Burg, earl of Ulster; from them descended Ellen, wife of Robert Bruce, king of Scotland. The granddaughter of Robert Bruce, the Princess Margery, married the lord high steward of Scotland, and through her the Stuarts claimed the Scottish crown. It is an everyday occurance that people drive into their Feed Barn, showing up a new Cheap Manufactured buggy they have purchased from dealer, or sent away by a catalogue and got'en. They find their mistake, regretting they did not add a little to the price and get something Fully Guaranteed that would be a source of delight, in place of a cause for Irritation from its numerous defects.

Although these cheap goods are fully guaranteed, the guarantee is No Good.

KELLOGG & ADAMS have learned from years of experience there is no buggy on the market for the same money equal to the H. C. STAVER BUGGY of CHICAGO formerly the Staver & Abbott Buggy Co.

Mineral Wealth of Britain.

Returns have just been laid before the British parliament showing that during 1898 the British Empire as a whole yielded about one-third of the world's output of gold, more than onequarter of the sait, one-ninth of the silver, and seven-elevenths of the tin. Of coal the yield was 220,000,000 metric tons, only about one-fifteenth of which was contributed by mines outside the United Kingdom,

Denies Boers Will Emigrate.

Charles D. Pierce, consul-general of the Orange Free State, at New York, 'My attention having been called to a statement that 10,000 or more Boers are about to emigrate from the South African Republic and the Orange Free State to the United States, I wish to state in the most emphatic language possible that there is not one word of truth in such statement. Stories of that kind emanate from British sources, to make it appear in America that the Boers are discouraged and that the war is about over, but I say 'No.' The Boers are as determined today as they ever were that they will gain their independence from British rule, and everything points in that direction. I have the most encouraging news from the republics. British have lost 60,000 men, and their weekly average of losses is now from 1,500 to 1,800 men, killed in battle, taken prisoners, invalided home or died from disease."

In a collision outside Belfast Lough between the local passenger steamers Dromedary and Alligator five passengers were killed and more than thirty more or less seriously injured, in many cases the amputation of legs being necessary. There were 600 passengers on board the two vessels and terrible scenes followed the collision. It is feared that some others have been

Granite Cutter's Eight-Hour Day. Nearly all the granite manufacturers of New England have accepted the eight-hour agreement of the Granite Cutters' National Union, and the strike of the organization for the general establishment of the eight-hour day is being rapidly brought to a close. Col. Liscum's Record. Col. E. H. Liscum, the commander of the 9th infantry, who was instantly killed in the charge on Tien-Tsin, was a popular officer with his men. In the Santiago campaign he commanded the 24th infantry, one of the two colored regiments, or "blackbirds," as they were called. For five minutes during the San Juan fight before Santiago, July 1, 1898, he commanded the 3d brigade of Kent's division of the 5th army corps. Col. Wikoff, who commanded the brigade in the early hours of the fight, was killed; the next senior officer was Col. Worth of the 13th infantry. A few minutes after he took command he was wounded and the command then devolved upon Col, Liscum. Five minutes after Lieut. Simpson of the 9th infantry, who was acting adjutant-general of the 3d brigade, had notified Col. Liscum that he was a brigadier-general, the colonel of the

Col. Liscum was born in Vermont in 1841. He entered the volunteer service as corporal in the 1st Vermont infantry in May, 1861, and was appointed second lieutenant Feb. 19, 1863. Insurance Rates Advance.

The New York insurance officials have ordered an advance in rates ranging all the way from 50 to 100 per The losses during the last twelve months have been so unpeecedentedly large that the companies not only have been unable to earn any profits but have been unable to draw upon their surpluses. Of course the advance must be a heavy burden both to property owners and temants, but if this precaution had not been taken it would only be a question of time how soon many of the companies would have to go to the wall.

Wearing Sandals in London. The women of Lendon have taken to the Grecian and Roman sandals this year and at the watering places the most fashionable dames and misses are wearing them. "It is children who wear them principally," a maker of these sandals acknowledged, "children and women. Women have them mostly for indoor wear, but the children's sandals are for general use, and it is astenishing how tremendously this trade has grown during the last few years. Personally I have an idea this sandal-wearing is more of a passing sancy than a permanent institution. You see, this climate is so changeable. It might rain at any moment, and the child's feet get very wet, and if in the summer it is not wet it is usually extremely dusty, and the dust gets through the stockings to the feet and is very uncomfortable, especially as dust or grit works its way on to the sele of the sandal, and that hurts the obild's foot."

Bavaria's Royal Family.

The forthcoming wedding of Prince Rupert of Bavaria to the Duchess Marie Gabriel, daughter of Duke Charles Theodore, brings to notice the strange career of the royal family of Bavaria. Three men stand between Prince Rupert and the throne of Bavaria-first, his father, Prince Ludwig Bavaria the last fourteen years in place of the mad King Otto, who is the third man in the way.

Otto, imprisoned in Furstenried castle, is not only mad, but of recent years a ornel internal disease has had its grip on him. He came into the world with a sad heritage. His grandfather, Louis I., had to abdicate a month before Otto's birth, for he had allowed the Irish-Spanish adventuress, Lola Montez, to lead his country almost to disaster. His son, Maximilian II., gave way in turn (1864) to his son, Ludwig II., the craziest king who ever wore a crown—the patron of Wagner, the builder of endless palaces—who drowned himself and his physician in the Starnberger lake, near his palace of Berg, one day in June, 1886.

Another Conference.

International conferences have nowadays become the panacea for curing the ills of this world. The Hague conference was designed to bring eternal peace, but war in all quarters followed. The London conference for the protection of the animals of the forest in Africa limited the killing of the latter to certain times, but Slatin Pacha, who has just returned from central Africa, reports that the killing is merrily continued. Now come the German papers with a new conference. They want an international regulation of the export business in arms. It grieves them to know that German Mausers have been marines in the Boxer riots in China.

Three Officers Killed by Desperate Negro.

The Murderer Was An Agitator Who Believed the Negro Race Was Being Imposed Upon-A General Man Hunt by a Posse.

A trifling incident began early Tuesday morning at New Orleans, La., a series of tragedies which it was feared for a time would culminate in an outbreak similar to the Italian lynching several years ago. A lynching is likely if a negro fugitive is caught who is now being pursued by officers and citizens. The dead:

Day, John T., police captain. Lamb, Peter J., policeman. The wounded:

Mora, August T., policeman. Two suspicious negroes were hangng around a quiet neighborhood and somebody informed the police. Several officers went to the scene and a fight ensued. Pistols were soon in play and Officer Mora was seriously shot. One of the negroes was arrested, but Robert Charles, although wounded, escaped. He was located in a shanty and destroyed it. Windows in Bottom of a Boat. Captain James Corrigan, millionaire owner of the yacht Idler, which was wrecked twenty miles from Cleveland July 7, has equipped a remarkable boat with which to search the bottom of the lake for the bodies of his two daughters, Ida and Jane, who were drowned when the yacht went down. Capt. Corrigan has had a scow built with circular plates of glass in the bottom. That the search might reach to greater depth the craft has been equipped with electric lighting apparatus so that lights can be used to illuminate the bottom of the

ELIZA WISE'S CONFESSION. Eliza Wise, the younger of the two Wise girls, whose father and mother were murdered recently at Anoka, Minn., has solved the murder mystery by a confession in court under sensa tional circumstances. When asked last week to give the names of the men she saw outside the house the night of the murder she refused to tell unless the courtroom was cleared. When this was refused she wrote out a statement accusing James Hardy and

Elmer Miller, of the murder, and practically admitting that the plot to shoot her parents was formed with the knowledge of herself and her sister. The mother had $1,500 n the bank, which was to go to her daughters in case of her death, and

Much Disease at Nome.

Twenty thousand people at Cape Nome City, Alaska, are in danger of death by disease. Writing from Nome Harbor on June 29, Surgeon R. G. Ebert reports in a letter received at Washington by Surgeon General Sternberg that within three weeks this little settlement of tents and shacks has grown from a scattered village of 2,700 to a place of 20,000 people-set tlers mad with the fever for gold and entirely without regard for the welfare or the condition of their neighbors. "Already," says the surgeon in his report, "there are 700 cases of enterio fever and thirteen known as cases of smallpox. Even these figures cannot be vouched for because there is no truth-telling in this country." Measles is also reported as having broken out.

Three Children Are Killed. Through the explosion of a steam tube connecting the boiler in the steam yacht Trilby, owned and commanded by Fred L. Spink of Seriba, Oswego county, New York, three young children lost their lives, one more was frightfully scalded and three other people were more or less burned. The dead are: Spink, Iva, 9 years old; Spink, Gladys, 7 years old; Spink, Fern, 2 years old. The wounded: Spink, Captain Fred, left arm and hand scalded; Spink, Mrs. Fred, scalded about the legs and abdomen: Spink. To Wipe Out the Color Line.

Efforts to remove the color line in Pythianism have been undertaken by the colored grand lodge of the state which held its convention in Peoria. Fraternal greetings will be sent to the white Pythians' grand lodge of Illinois together with a request that "our white brethren do all in their power to strengthen the principles for which Pythianism stands among men." The promoters of this idea have little hope that the scheme for uniting the Pythians of all races will be received with favor. The contention advanced for its adoption is that it will place the colored Pythians "right before the world on the question of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man." The principal business done was the revision of the mortnary law of the Pythian branch and the election of officers in the Court of Calanthe. Mrs. O. A. Purl of Chicago was chosen grand worthy counselor, Mrs. Margaret Taylor, Chicago, grand worthy inspectrix; Mrs. Anna Walker, grand worthy inspector: Mrs. Ida Hagen, Chicago, grand senior directress; Mrs. Josephine G. Randall, Peoria, grand junior directress; grand conductress, Mrs. Jennie Thompson, Springfield; grand deputy, 3d district, Mrs. Diffie Lewis, Champaign.

Anxious to Fight China. Colonel J. S. Culver, commander of the Fifth regiment at Springfield, has received numerous offers from persons anxious to accompany his regiment to China, in case it is called into service. Rev. R. G. Hobba, who has spent several years in India, China and the Philippines is anxious to be made chaplain of the regiment. Harry McKnight of Chicago aiso is anxious to accompany the Fifth to the frent. Battery D, at Chicago, now a provisional battery, has petitioned Governor Tanner for permission to go to China in case President McKinley issues a call for volunteers. The battery has a full complement of men and is now recruiting to put it upon a war footing. General "Joe" Wheeler, commander of the department of the lakes, would neither affirm nor deny a report that reached the city that he had formally asked President McKinley to assist him to active duty in China. Mrs. Lamb was appointed postmistress of the Annawan office in 1864 and remained in charge for thirty-six suc cessive years. She was 68 years of age at time of death, but attended personally to the distribution of the mail until a short time ago. Alexandder Pam, father of Hugo and Max Pam, attorneys, of the firm of Pam. Murdered by Mohammedans.

George Shimoon, a Persian student, who has been attending college in Illinois for several years, and is passing the summer in Peoria, has received a cablegram from his home at Oroomiah, Persia, stating that his brother Averam had been murdered by Mohammedans, and that a general massacre of the 3,000 Christians in Oroomiah was expected. The cablegram states that the feeling of the Mohammedans against the native Christians is growing and that there have been several hand-to-hand battles with fatalities on both sides. Mr. Shimoon's father is a native missionery, and this fact adds to the wrath against him and his fam-

The other events of the day resulted as follows: Five furlongs, running, Scornful, first; Trillum, second—time 1:031/2, 1:04, 1:05, Rosila, Wild West, Good Knight and Rhea also ran.

Offer to Fight China.

The Alton naval militia, with a membership of sixty seamen and six commissioned officers has tendered through Governor Tanner to President McKinley its services for China. The company served through the war with Spain, eight of its members going into Shafter's army of invasion and the others serving on the Yale, Harvard, Newark and Cincinnati. None were injured, though those in the army were in the hottest of the fighting at San Juan and El Caney.

It is a Settled Fact

In the minds of the People that

KELLOGG and ADAMS

Are Certainly taking the Lead in First Class Buggies and Harnesses.

It has been noted that people with the most brains, and best thinkers go there and select from goods that are right.

It is an everyday occurance that people drive into their Feed Barn, showing up a new Cheap Manufactured buggy they have purchased from dealer, or sent away by a catalogue and got'en. They find their mistake, regretting they did not add a little to the price and get something Fully Guaranteed that would be a source of delight, in place of a cause for Irritation from its numerous defects.

Although these cheap goods are fully guaranteed, the guarantee is No Good.

KELLOGG & ADAMS have learned from years of experience there is no buggy on the market for the same money equal to the H. C. STAVER BUGGY of CHICAGO formerly the Staver & Abbott Buggy Co.

They are also having a large HARNESS trade, buying in large lots of 100 sets, enabling them to UNDERSELL any ordinary dealer. And their FLY NETS will beat the band.

There is No Flies on their LIVERY STOCK.

People seem to appreciate their large 10 CENT HITCHING BARN fully as much during the hot fly time as in snowtime.
