

ILLINOIS' NEW ROAD MARKING SYSTEM

Will Give This State Some of The Best Marked Roads in World

DETOURS MAINTAINED BY STATE

Routes Thru Cities and Villages Will Be Marked—Curves and Railroad Crossing Signs

Springfield, Oct. 9.—The official marking system which is designed to give Illinois the best marked highways in the world, will be completed in its enlarged form within the next 30 or 40 days it was announced by the Division of Highways here today.

The new system which has been under consideration for several months, was decided upon at a conference of Governor Small, Director of Public Works and Buildings, C. R. Miller, State Superintendent of Highways, Frank T. Sheets, State Highway Engineer, Clifford Older and other engineers of the Division of Highways. It was decided that the new system with certain enlargements and alterations which were settled upon at the conference with the Governor, should be completely installed at once, and be completed within the next 30 or 40 days.

Maintain Detours

Another important decision reached was that beginning with the traffic season next spring detours would be completely marked and maintained by the State. All State bond issue routes neither completed nor under contract will have installed upon them temporary route markings, guiding the traveling public over the best routes which will follow as closely as possible the final route of the pavement. These routes will be maintained under authority of the state highways act.

Standard traffic warning signs of boards of uniform size, 24 inches by 42 inches, will be erected at all points on the highway at which the attention of the driver, either for guidance or safety should be arrested.

The signs will establish the three degrees of safety and convenience.

The sign bearing the word "Look" will convey to the motorist that he should proceed with proper care and alertness past the point indicated. These signs are to be erected at crossroads, side road and other points where there is no immediate danger but where care should be exercised.

The "Caution" signs will indicate that the traveler should proceed with a greater degree of care. These are placed at certain side roads and sharp curves.

"Danger" signs will be in red. All other inscriptions will be in black. "Danger" signs will be placed only at railroad crossings, very sharp curves and other points of imminent danger. The policy of the Highway Division in the use of the "danger" sign is worthy of note. Frank T. Sheets, Superintendent of Highways explained that the danger sign would appear at comparatively few points and only at points in the road where going is more than ordinarily hazardous. "The department is opposed to placing danger signs promiscuously along the highways because it leads to a reckless disregard for all signs where there is a real danger," said Mr. Sheets.

Route Marking

The route marking will consist of an outline of the state in which will be placed the route number. At all main cross-roads the mileage to the northern and eastern terminus of the route will be indicated on the sign in small red figures. The outline of the state, the route number and the mileage will also be stenciled on the back of all warning signs. In addition the outline of the state and the route number will be painted on poles at frequent intervals so that the traveler will always have one of the standard signs in view.

Where continuous care for a certain distance is necessary, because of railroad crossings, curves, narrow bridges, schools, etc., "Caution Zones" have been established. These zones will be marked with a board lettered "Caution Zone" and distinguished by a boarder of diagonal black and white stripes.

Cities and Villages

The routes thru the cities and villages will be marked with a metal

FARM BUREAU MEETING

80 Farmers Attended 4th of a Series of 15 Meetings

Cooperative marketing rather than price fixing was looked upon as the solution of farmers' marketing problems at a conference of farm bureau and cooperative marketing association leaders of the Twelfth Congressional District, October 3.

The meeting was the fourth of a series of fifteen district conferences called by the Illinois Agricultural Association to find the weak links of cooperative marketing organizations and farm bureau work. Eighty farmers from six counties were in attendance.

A summary of crop production in the district, presented by J. D. Bilsborrow of the University of Illinois, showed that live stock, grain and dairy products produce the largest income. According to a survey of the audience there are 87 local cooperative associations doing business in the district, most of them cooperative live stock shipping associations and farmers' elevators.

In a discussion on the operation of cooperative live stock shipping associations it was found that many of them are handling ninety per cent of the business; few associations are falling off in amount of business and some are standing still. In connection with these problems it was found that little definite effort had been made to widen their business. Many of them have no means of reaching members other than the annual meetings which are poorly attended, according to statements of managers and farm bureau officials.

Not all shipping associations are sending all of their shipments to the Producers' Cooperative Commission Company at Chicago, representatives stated. In some instances not over half of the shipments are sent to the cooperatives commission company. Local stock buyers and old-line commissions were accused of spreading false stories about cooperative companies. Cooperative companies were criticized for not getting the facts to farmer shippers. It was announced by C. A. Stewart, Live Stock Marketing Director of the I. A. A. that plans have been made to place three men in the field to help local associations overcome these problems.

On the question of grain marketing, representatives stated that farmers are ready and waiting for a program to go forward, in the face of the fact that the U. S. Grain Growers organized several years ago, is not doing business.

An unsatisfactory condition exists in the marketing of milk in DeKalb county, Thos. Roberts, Farm Adviser of DeKalb county stated. Many dealers are refusing to purchase on account of a large surplus production. A similar condition exists in Boone county, the largest dairy county in the district.

A sound financial policy was upheld as one of the first business principles that should be followed by both cooperative marketing associations and farm bureaus, by Secretary Geo. A. Fox of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Walton Peteet, Marketing Director of the American Farm Bureau Federation said that the individual farmers can never market their products for their worth. "The aim of cooperative marketing is to merchandise farm products the same as the manufacturer does," said Mr. Peteet.

"Cooperative marketing is the solution of the problem facing agriculture," said S. H. Thompson, President of the Illinois Agricultural Association who was chairman of the meeting. "It is one of the several problems facing farmers that can not be solved by individual effort," he said.

NOTES FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Shabbona Boy Committed to Dixon State Hospital

WESTLAKE SUIT TO U. S. COURT

Caroline Heeg of Shabbona Secured Divorce from Husband on Desertion Charges

Judge Clinton F. Irwin who has not held court in DeKalb county for some time due to illness, sufficiently recovered so that on Saturday, October 6, 1923, he presided at a short session held in the morning at which several orders and decrees were entered.

The first matter to come before the court was the divorce case of Caroline Heeg against William F. Heeg, 2nd, of Shabbona. The divorce was obtained in record breaking time. The bill for divorce was filed by Caroline Heeg in the office of the clerk of the circuit court, Geo. A. James, on Saturday morning, October 5th, and the appearance of the defendant was entered the next day. In the bill the complainant charged the defendant with the statutory period of desertion.

On Saturday the case was heard by Judge Irwin and from the complainant's testimony it appeared that she was married to the defendant on February 2, 1904 and lived with him until September 15, 1921 when she claimed the defendant wholly regardless of his marriage vows, deserted her and had not lived with her since. At the conclusion of the hearing the court entered a decree of divorce, that the marriage be dissolved and that the complainant be allowed to resume her maiden name of Caroline Quilhot. No children were born of the marriage and property right had been adjusted between them.

The mechanics lien proceedings which were instituted in the circuit court some time ago by A. H. Hall, W. A. Drake, John A. Binder, Matteson & Babcock, and others, against Louis W. Leithert and Alice E. Leithert some time ago, were referred to Edward M. Burst, Master in Chancery of the circuit court to take testimony in the case and report his conclusions thereon.

An inquiry was held on Monday last into the alleged feeble-mindedness of Edward Winterton, 19 years of age, of Shabbona, Illinois. Judge Pond of the county court before whom the hearing took place appointed Doctors J. W. Ovitiz and A. C. Kane as a commission to examine this boy and he was adjudged feeble-minded. While 19 years of age the boy was developing tendencies which made it dangerous and consequently the action was necessary. At the conclusion of the hearing he was ordered committed to Dixon State Hospital at Dixon, Illinois. He was taken there immediately after the hearing by Sheriff Crawford.

The defendant St. Paul Railway company, prayed a removal of the Mark H. Westlake suit to the U. S. Court in Chicago and after hearing the affidavits read the court granted the motion.

In the Schnur divorce case Judge Fulton entered the agreement for a lump sum in lieu of the periodical payments heretofore decreed and the payment of the same in open court satisfied the decree.

Guy Motz, western representative of the Society of Automotive Engineers of Cleveland, Ohio, and New York, spent Wednesday evening at the home of his cousin, Mrs. C. C. Schoonmaker.

Mr. Roberts states that it should be gratifying to DeKalb county people especially the farmers, to know that wheat raised in this county took first prize and also the grand champion over 300 specimens sent in from all parts of the state.

DeKalb county was among the first to establish a soil improvement association, also a seed association, a county pig club, and the results of all these associations are now coming to the fore. DeKalb county has been in the limelight many times through the efforts of the soil improvement association, but the prizes awarded at the state fair at Springfield are among the top-notchers.

GENOA HANDED WALLOP

Local Gridiron Warriors Fall Before Marengo 75 to 0—McHenry Saturday

The pigskin tossers from the local high engaged in combat with the Marengo team Saturday afternoon and when the fracas was ended there was nothing left but the squeal for Genoa, Marengo scoring at will and showing over 75 counters.

Both teams played ragged games but the locals, handicapped as they are without sufficient material, to practice against, fared badly at the hands of their knowing opponents.

Even at that it is better than most expected when it is considered that this is the first year that Genoa has ever had a team and nine out of eleven of the fellows never held a football in their hands until a month ago. The coach and the men have done exceptionally well in so short a period, for as the old saying goes: "Rome wasn't built in a day." Next year, providing the men keep at it, Genoa should have a fast team and altho it will be light, the second teams of the other cities could get rubbed in most instances.

The fault of the men Saturday was three-fold. First, they stood up, rather than crouched when in line formation, thereby having little or no resistance for the charging backs of the Marengo team. Second, the ends were continually drawn in on end plays when they should have been out far enough to keep the man with the ball on the inside and run him in toward the backfield, instead of away from them. Third, the attack was woefully weak and the tacking was punk. Time and again the boys had the opponents within reach only to let themselves slip thru and gain a few yards.

All this of course can be remedied and will be, no doubt, within the next few days.

After the game with Marengo the McHenry team was taken on for a half and the locals showed to much better advantage. In fact the score ended 8 to 6 in favor of Genoa. On this Saturday the boys go to McHenry to engage in a tussle there.

The tackling and all around playing of Fern Bartle was the feature playing on Genoa's side, while the backfield work of Claude Bartle comes in for much commendation. However, the boys all played as good as they could and this one defeat is not to be taken seriously, for we know of reputable college teams that have suffered worse defeats than this, this year.

QUICK THOMAS AVERTS INJURY

Gerald Thomas Run Over by Tractor, Wheel—Narrowly Escaped Plows

Gerald Thomas had a very narrow escape from serious injuries and possible death last Thursday morning when the rear wheel of a tractor ran over him inflicting severe bruises about the legs.

A bunch of weeds had become imbedded in the plow and without stopping the machine the man jumped off and removed the obstruction. However, as he was getting on the tractor, his jacket was caught in the lug of the large rear wheel and he was thrown under it, the machine passing over his legs. By quick prescience of mind he managed to drag himself away before the plow reached him and thus avoided injury.

No bones were broken in the accident, but several black and blue spots denote the position of the tractor lugs on the legs while it was passing over them.

A good many accidents could be avoided if simple precautions were taken to eliminate them. In this case the stopping of the tractor for a minute would not have caused any great inconvenience and the bruises that followed would not have been received.

TAG DAY SATURDAY

Philathea Class Will Sell Tags Saturday at 10c for Japanese Relief Fund

The Philathea Class of the M. E. church will hold a tag day Saturday at which time they will sell tags at 10 cents a piece the proceeds of which will be given to the Japanese as a gift toward their relief in the catastrophe which recently befell their land.

This is not asking much of the people and ten cents won't break anyone, while it will go a long way in helping some destitute family in that stricken country.

A NEW GRIST MILL

The firm of Zeller & Son will soon open a grist mill in which they will do all kinds of custom grinding. The machine will be set up temporarily in the building now used to store fence (the Squire Dingee Pickle Factory) and later moved into the building recently purchased by Mr. Zeller from Mrs. Tyler across from the Hotel May.

SHERIFF ORR DEAD

Sheriff Orr of Kane county died last week Wednesday night of intestinal trouble at the St. Joseph hospital in Elgin. He had been ill only a few days.

Sheriff Crawford, Judge Adam G. Cliffe and Judge Fulton attended the funeral at Geneva Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Linda Ludwig left for LaMont, Ill., for two weeks' visit with Dr. J. B. Ludwig and family. Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Detroit, Michigan visited Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. K. Williams, Thursday. Mrs. Laushe, Mrs. Keen and Mrs. Livingston spent Tuesday at the home of Mrs. K. Williams.

ESSINGTON CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR

State Senator of Streater Has Clear Field in Race for High State Office

CHOICE OF ANTI-SMALL MEN

Is Highly Recommended by All People; Even His Enemies in Politics Are His Friends in Private Life

The leading members of the state senate met last week and endorsed State-Senator Thurlow G. Essington of LaSalle county as the candidate for governor to run against Small in the primary campaign next April.

The leading metropolitan newspapers of the state as well as the best posted Republicans express themselves as satisfied with the choice of this clean, bright and strong young man whose possibilities of defeating Small are the brightest, say his adherents.

Practically all of the other men who had been in the running refused to use their names to the extent of becoming candidates and withdrew in favor of the senator from our neighboring county.

In going into the "elimination" meeting it was agreed that the candidate who should receive eight of the twelve votes should have the unanimous endorsement of the anti-Small wing of the Republican party. This choice was made after twenty-four votes had been taken by men representing Mr. Essington, Attorney-General Brundage, State Senator Glenn John Harrison, S. S. Tanner and former Lieut. Gov. John G. Oglesby.

Mr. Essington is regarded by all factions as a man of high character and of eminent qualifications for governor. He is a member of the law firm of Essington & Hoflin of Streater, Illinois and graduated from the university of Illinois in 1906.

A convention will soon be held in Peoria, it is thought, to ratify the action taken at the Chicago meeting.

ROCK RIVER CONFERENCE ENDS

Rev. Robeson Will Return to Genoa, C. A. Briggs of Freeport Goes to Wis.

The eighty-fourth annual session of the Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held in Grace church, Locust and LaSalle streets, Rockford, ended on Tuesday evening of this week with many changes taking place in the pulpits throughout the country.

Rev. Robeson returns to Genoa; H. B. Crawford, for a number of years superintendent of the Rock River District takes charge of the First M. E. church in Freeport. C. A. Briggs, formerly of the First M. E. church of Freeport transferred to the Wisconsin conference and becomes pastor of the First M. E. church of Racine; L. B. Lott of Downers Grove remains in the social service work with headquarters in Chicago; C. A. Gage of the Centennial church in Rockford goes to Hyde Park church in Chicago and Charles K. Carpenter, former pastor of the Ravenswood church is now superintendent of the Rockford District. L. L. Hammit is the new pastor in DeKalb and Rev. O'May remains in Sycamore. J. V. Madison will return to Kingston.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson, who presided and read the appointments, was invited to return to the Chicago area for another four years following next May. Many new changes were added and the stand of the Methodists on theaters dancing was softened.

HAMPSHIRE HAS NEW WELL

Will Yield 150 Gallons of Water per Minute—Sufficient for Village's Needs

The contractor who has been digging the well at Hampshire for the past two years was rewarded last week when sufficient water was reached to yield a steady stream at the rate of 150 gallons per minute. Water was first reached at a depth of eighty feet but the contractor went deeper until sufficient quantity for the village's needs would be assured. The present depth of the well is 1176 feet.

Newago, Mich.—"Some years ago I was troubled with dizziness, palpitation, loss of appetite and sore and painful stomach. I tried the best physicians I could hear of, and also several put-up medicines, but nothing did me any good. Some physicians said it was my heart; some said it was my stomach; while others said it was my nerves. I got so bad I could not work very steadily, when a friend came to see me and insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was discouraged, but tried it anyway, and after taking the second bottle I felt much better. I then bought six bottles and I believe the 'Discovery' saved my life. It was rightly named 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I would recommend it to all who need such a medicine.—Chas. E. Backus.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Governor Walton, Beaten in Oklahoma Election, Refuses to Give Up Fight.

FOES WANT HIM INDICTED

German Cabinet Resigns and Chancellor Stresemann Plans Directorate—Monarchy Due Soon in Bavaria—Federation of Labor Conventions—President Coolidge and World Court.

By EDWARD W. PACKARD

IT WAS the turn of Governor Walton to get walloped last week, and he did get walloped. But he didn't take the blow lying down. To those who enjoy a stand-up and knock-down fight, the news from Oklahoma these days may be pleasant reading, but it really is not edifying. It would seem that when such conditions can continue for a long time there must be something lacking in our democratic institutions.

Having obtained court sanction for the special election called for last Tuesday, the people of Oklahoma insisted on holding it. At first, Walton declared it should not be held, insisting that, as he had called it, it was his election and he could call it off if he desired. He reconstituted the state election board so that it might obey his behests; ordered the entire National Guard of the state mobilized and then recalled the order; called another special election for Dec. 6; yielded at last in the face of various restraining orders from courts, and said he was willing to vacate his office if the people of the state preferred the rule of the "invisible empire" to that of the constituted authorities.

In several counties the governor's efforts prevented the citizens from casting their votes in the usual manner, but many of them mailed their ballots to the capital and others used improvised election machinery. But the election was held, and by a majority of about four to one the voters approved of the constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to convene itself to consider impeachment charges against the governor and other state officers.

Though he was thus knocked through the ropes, Walton climbed back into the ring and obtained from District Judge Tom G. Chambers, one of his appointees, a temporary restraining order forbidding the state election board to certify the returns to the secretary of state. Hearing on the application to make this order was set for October 9. The governor asserted the election was illegal because the proposed amendments submitted had not been properly advertised, and that thousands of voters were intimidated by deputy sheriffs and by the influence of the Ku Klux Klan. The opposition countered with a petition for a grand jury in Oklahoma City to investigate charges that Walton has misused public moneys and to inquire into the appointment of thousands of state "secret service" agents of the executive.

Governor Walton is issuing a stream of proclamations and statements. In one of the latest he says: "The klux guns of the nation are trained on me. I am daily in receipt of threats of assassination, but I had rather die by the hand of an assassin than die the death of a coward. The fight is to a finish. There will be no compromise."

Representative McBee, leader of the anti-Waltonites in the legislature, asserts there is no Klan issue in Oklahoma, "except in the hallucinations of a disordered brain."

HAVING failed utterly to come to terms with the Social Democrats, who opposed the abolition of the eight-hour day and the reorganization of the cabinet to include the Nationalists, Chancellor Stresemann of Germany dissolved his ministry and was directed by President Ebert to form a new cabinet. The chancellor's spokesman announced that there would be no new party cabinet, but a small ministry similar to a directorate, and it was assumed the reichstag would be dissolved. Various cabinet offices will be left unfilled and others will be uned and put in charge of direct representatives of the chancellor. The directorate's policies, it was said, would include the seizure of economic values, the control of prices, increased production and the giving up of the eight-hour law. It is asserted that the Bavarian dictatorship is not a subject of controversy.

Under the plan of Minister of Finance Helfferding, the time has arrived for the Industrialists headed by Stinnes to begin paying real taxes with which the government intended to start paying reparations to France so that an adjustment in the Ruhr might be accomplished. Stinnes and his crowd asserted they could not pay these taxes or permit a part their property to be confiscated, and insisted a ten or twelve-hour day for workmen was necessary if reparations were to be paid, for it would be necessary for Germany to undersell the rest of the world.

In Bavaria Dictator von Kahr is defying the Berlin government and the civil commissar it appointed for his state. He also defies the Socialists and to their threat of a general strike retorts with an order forbidding strikes and making them punishable by imprisonment. For terror acts or sabotage penal servitude without limits is ordered, while for endangering lives or treason to the new system the penalty is death.

"The monarchy in Bavaria will not be proclaimed now," said von Kahr, "but it is growing, and it will come by itself when it is ready." It is probable that Crown Prince Rupprecht will be placed on the throne. This is the aim of Hitler, chief of the Bavarian Fascists, who is supported by General Ludendorff and to whom it is said von Kahr has been making friendly advances.

Royalist uprisings took place in several parts of Germany last week, the most important being at Kustrin, Prussia, where an organized band captured the fortress, only to lose it next day. There was some bloodshed, and the leaders of the revolt were imprisoned.

In the occupied regions miners and post office employees resumed work generally, but the French officials negotiated in vain with the railroad workers. The cities of Dusseldorf, Essen, Dortmund, Wirtlen, Horne and Bochum began paying the expenses of the French and Belgian armies of occupation. The separatists of the Rhineland staged a demonstration in Dusseldorf which developed into a battle with the German police in the course of which a number were killed and hundreds wounded.

ONCE again the attempt was made last week to persuade organized labor in the United States that it should form a national labor party. At this writing it seems certain to fail. Delegates from Illinois and Minnesota to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor in Portland, Ore., introduced resolutions calling for adoption of "independent political action for workers."

Two fraternal delegates from Great Britain, without trying to influence the action of the federation, told of the recent great successes of their Labor party, which is now the official opposition in parliament and is not unlikely to get control of the government before long.

President Sam Gompers was as always quick and forceful in reply. He outlined the distinctions between the American and British political schemes, showing that in England the labor men had only to drive at one objective—control of parliament—while here there are congress and all the legislatures. He spoke of the vast difference in citizenship.

"We are wage earners," he said. "To have a dominating influence in determining the laws emanating from the employers' officers is of greater importance to the men and women who toil than any laws passed by congress or legislatures."

Dennis Lane, international president of the meat cutters and butchers' union, announced that an intensive campaign would begin at once to reorganize the workers in the meat packing industry. The International Plasterers' union pledged its co-operation in aiding ex-service men to become efficient building trades mechanics, and it was believed other building trades unions would take similar action.

Secretary Frank Morrison reported that the defense fund of the federation amounts to $183,094. The total receipts for the year were $667,880, and the expenditures $602,398. Total membership of the federation was announced as 2,926,468, showing a loss for the fourth consecutive year, and of more than 200,000 in the past twelve months.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has let it be known that he will hold a series of conferences with influential Democratic senators, as well as with Republican leaders, to obtain their ideas as to the best way of getting action on the proposition of American membership in the world court. Because he has pledged himself to carry out Mr. Harding's policies, the President will remind the senate that the protocol still awaits its action, but it is understood in Washington that he will not attempt to force its adoption. He wants the question out of the way early, however, so that congress shall be free to devote its attention to domestic problems.

Among the friends of Hiram Johnson the announcement of the President's intention to consult the Democrats was taken to mean that he would exert his influence in favor of the world court plan, and they believe this will bring the California senator out as an avowed candidate for the presidential nomination. Indeed, Mr. Johnson has said as much, though he declares he will not yet do anything to embarrass the President.

OUR other Senator Johnson, Magnus of Minnesota, has been in the East talking, being interviewed and calling on President Coolidge. The "effete" part of the country seemed disappointed to find that Magnus wasn't a freak, but was well dressed, benevolent appearing and quite civilized. At the White House he conferred with Mr. Coolidge and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace on price fixing for agricultural products. When he came out he said: "I told President Coolidge that price fixing is the only remedy for the present distressing situation. I also told him about the producers' alliance and its determination to hold the crop off the market until the producers could obtain a fair price for their products. The President was sympathetic, but he had evidently not made up his mind."

ANOTHER severe earthquake shock occurred at Tokyo Thursday, driving residents from their homes and cutting off the electric lights. About the same time a temblor was felt in California.

Daniel E. Douty, representing the silk industry of America, told Premier Yamamoto and the minister of agriculture last week that the Japanese silk trust is blocking shipments, causing an economic loss of $30,000,000 monthly, and that this will cause the great mills at Paterson and Passaic to close down very soon. Though Yokohama cannot be used as a port until probably next year, the Japanese trust refuses to permit temporary transfer of shipments to Kyoto, Nagoya and Shimonida.

Official Japanese figures place the number of known dead in the earthquake at 103,000, the injured at 125,000 and the missing at 235,000. These figures are probably overconservative.

THE ZR-1, the American navy's huge new dirigible, which is to be christened Shenandoah—"Daughter of the Star"—made a record trip from Lakehurst, N. J., to St. Louis and return by way of Chicago, in forty-seven hours and forty-nine minutes. She traveled about 2,200 miles during forty-six hours actually in the air. Her only stop was in St. Louis, where great throngs of aviators and spectators were gathered for the international air races which began on Thursday.

EVACUATION of Constantinople was completed by the allies on Tuesday, and on Saturday the Turkish troops formally entered the city amid scenes of great rejoicing. It is reported that Turkey will soon be declared a republic.

OVER in Spain the directorate has abolished the last traces of civil rule. First the civil governors of the various states were done away with and then all the municipal governments and all "general councils" or county organizations. The cities and towns are ruled by juntas under direct orders of Dictator Primo Rivera.

France May Subsidize "Movies." The government of France has always been a ready friend to art, so it is not surprising that the motion picture has been included in the official family. Although a state subsidy has not yet been given the industry a "comite Francaise du cinema" has been created by the minister of public instruction, who has himself accepted the honorary presidency of it. The president of the committee is Paul Leon, director of fine arts.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK BABY "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP" Harmless Laxative to Clean Liver and Bowels of Baby or Child.

Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

Vainest Bird. At Kew gardens, England, there is a heron that must be the vainest bird alive. It asks to be photographed. If it sees a camera it poses as if to make itself an attractive "subject." It has been known to start at a camera and follow the owner of it until the camera has been duly "snapped." Then it contentedly toddles away.

FORD CARS IN PRICE DROP

Fordson Advances $25.00 and Lincoln Car Price is Stationary

Ford cars are today at a new low price level through an announcement effective October 2, made by Edsell B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit.

This reduction in the prices of Ford cars and trucks is in line with the well established policy of the company. It is notable also that this decrease closely follows the introduction of many changes and improvements throughout the Ford line.

The new prices on Ford cars F. O. B. Detroit are as follows:

- Runabout $269 to $265
- With Starter and Demountable Rims $350
- Touring car $298 to $295
- With starter and demountable Rims $380
- Coupe $530 to $525
- Four Door Sedan $725 to $685
- Ford Chassis $235 to $230
- One Ton Truck Chassis $380 to $370

The new prices apply to the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan. Persons enrolled under the plan and who have not yet taken delivery of their cars automatically benefit by the reduction in prices.

The last reduction by the Ford Motor Company was made about one year ago, October 17th, last, bringing the prices of the Ford cars at that time to the lowest level in the history of the company.

The big reduction in the price of the Four Door Sedan brings it within reach of a large field of buyers. This type sedan was introduced in the Ford line a little over a year ago and because of its low, graceful lines, its roominess and its attractive fittings, it at once came into high favor as an enclosed car for family use.

The price of Fordson tractors is increased from $395 to $420 F. O. B. Detroit.

No change is made in the price of Lincolns and none is contemplated, a company announcement says, stating that the Lincoln prices are considered fair in view of the number of improvements which have been made in the cars.

STADIUM NEAR COMPLETION

Mammoth Structure at Illinois University will Seat 55,000 People

Urbana, Ill., October 11—All of the concrete for the 55,524 seats in the University of Illinois memorial stadium has been poured and there is great rejoicing in the camps of the Illini.

For this means that the big lap in the race against time to complete the structure has been covered and that every seat will be available for the opening on Nov. 3 when Chicago and Illinois will furnish the football attraction for the biggest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in the state.

Already more than 30,000 tickets have been sold, although the Stadium is nearly a month away. Although there is no immediate prospect of a "sellout" the Illini managers believe that every seat will be occupied when the great day comes.

Pouring concrete for the seats has been the one big job. It required 50,000 barrels of cement to build the Stadium and most of it went in the seats. Just as soon as the last section was poured, the concrete gang was transferred to the ramps, the inclined passages which carry the crowds to their lower and upper decks. All of the ramps for the main decks are completed but the runways to the balconies must be finished now.

Now also comes the task of bolting the wooden seats to the concrete but this is something that will progress rapidly even though there are 17 miles of seats.

Illinois alumni are coming from all points of the compass for the opening. The Chicago game is one of three which will be played in the new arena. Wisconsin and Mississippi A. and M. will also be met.

THE REWARD OF SERVICE

I. C. Railroad Handles 1-5 More Freight than Even Before

The Illinois Central System ranks third largest among the railroads of the country based upon the volume of freight traffic handled in 1922, according to a recent statement by President C. H. Markham.

The record freight traffic of the Illinois Central System in 1922 was surpassed only by that of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central, the railway systems ranking respectively first and second in mileage. Freight traffic on the Illinois Central System in 1922 showed a gain of 21 4-5 per cent over 1921.

"The productivity of the territory served by the Illinois Central System is strikingly reflected in the increased traffic handled by the road," Mr. Markham says.

The freight and passenger traffic of the Illinois Central System has increased substantially this year over that handled last year. Mr. Markham's statement shows that the freight traffic handled by the Illinois Central System during the seven months ended July 31, 1923, was 32 per cent greater than the freight traffic handled during the first seven months of 1922, and the passenger traffic during the same period this year was 12 2-3 per cent greater than it was during the first seven months of 1922.

"Despite the growth of passenger and freight traffic in its territory, the Illinois Central System has kept abreast of the situation so well, thru additions and improvements to its plant and through the splendid cooperation of its employees and patrons that this year's unprecedented business has been handled with marked efficiency," Mr. Markham says. "Moreover, the Illinois Central System enters the fall and winter prepared better than ever before to discharge its obligations to the public."

UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST

Brings the knowledge of a Great Medical Organization and Their Experience in the Successful Treatment of

Thousands of Chronic Disease Cases

Offer Services Free of Charge

Licensed by the State of Illinois

The United Doctor is an organization of reputable, licensed, physicians for the treatment of certain diseases.

They are all specialists. The United Doctors treat, without Surgical Operations or hypodermic injections, diseases of the blood, skin, and all internal organs, rheumatism, sciatica, tapeworm, leg ulcers, weak lungs and all long standing, deep seated diseases.

Thirty-five years' experience and the complete records of thousands of cases successfully treated prove that the methods of the United Doctors are right. They were among the first to be called "Bloodless Surgeons."

Each member of the United Doctors staff has at his command the knowledge of the whole organization.

Many people go on suffering from diseases that can be alleviated just because they cannot afford to go to high priced specialists at a distance from home.

No community has a sufficient number of sufferers from the diseases mentioned to support special hospitals for their treatment and cure.

The United Doctors have solved the problem. Their highly trained specialists travel from place to place. They diagnose and prescribe a course of treatment for the sufferers in each community and teach them how to take care of themselves at home.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment may be, no matter what you have been told, or the experience you have had with other physicians. If your case is curable they will tell you so, consult him upon this visit. It costs nothing.

sign mounted upon a post and bearing the same inscription as the highway signs. Where there is a right or left turn an arrow will indicate the direction. Work of installing these metal signs has already started and they are being put up as rapidly as they can be manufactured and permits for their erection secured. In order to give the public immediate advantage of the system temporary signs are being placed on the poles along the routes.

In addition to the mileage indicated from the north and east terminus of the routes, signs showing the mileage to the main points ahead will be placed at the limits of cities. At the center of each city and village there will be signs showing the routes and distance to main points so that travelers may know the mileage and readily pick up the state routes without the use of a map. However, the department will publish a map showing all routes, villages and cities and locating the paved and unpaved routes. This map will be put out during the coming winter and care used to have it plainer and more convenient than the average road guide.

The marking of the newsystem has been installed in some places and the work will now be rushed to completion.

Many special signs will be installed. All signs at railway crossings will bear the name of the railroads and at bridges over important streams the name of the stream will be given.

At the entrance to cities and villages will be signs giving the name of the city or village and its population. At the intersection of roads leading to important points the signs will indicate the direction and mileage.

Highway officials declare that the system of marking has been worked out carefully to the end that it may give the greatest service to the public in safety and convenience.

CUBS WIN TWO GAMES

Take Kingston into Camp 7 to 4 and 3 to 0 Saturday and Sunday

Displaying a dash and pep that trimmed Union on the preceding Sunday in a close encounter that ended 1 to 0, the Genoa Cubs trounced Mike Beltz Saturday to the tune of 3 to 0. Strandt hurled for the locals and pitched his second consecutive shut-out game letting the Kingston boys down with three hits.

On Sunday Wrona took the stand for the cubs. Shoemaker of Dundee was the opposing twirler. The locals had the game apparently on ice until the 8th inning with a lead of 3 runs. This was no handicap for Kingston and they pushed across a few. Genoa in the first of the ninth with two Kingston men on base and two outs. A little pop-up to Wrona ended the rally, however, and the game was over.

Mrs. Weatherstone's eyelids lifted with involuntary surprise. Mrs. Penfield smiled, but made no explanation. Experience in a wealthy family had given her this knowledge, but she allowed the information to stand alone, as Mrs. Weatherstone would have done.

"I'd only just begun to iron the hangings," continued Mrs. Penfield presently. She held up a length of rose silk embroidered in a scattered design of self color. Mrs. Weatherstone stripped off her glove and felt of the material. She shook her head.

"I wouldn't have believed it could be done. It's marvelous. Do you mean, Mrs. Penfield, that you washed this and the spread in the water, as you would white embroideries?"

"Land, no. I'd have ruined 'em that way for sure. I washed 'em with a bag."

"With a— Did you say a bag?" "Yes, like this one," Mrs. Penfield produced from the cupboard a small bag of muslin, half filled with a soft substance.

Mrs. Weatherstone felt that, too, but was still puzzled.

"Is it something that you buy?" Mrs. Penfield laughed. "Oh, no, I make 'em myself. It's a mixture of grains and—"

"Stop!" cried Mrs. Weatherstone, throwing up her hand in a gesture of quick authority. "Don't you tell me what's in it."

"Why not? I'd just as soon you'd know as not."

"Don't you tell me—or anybody else. Don't you tell a soul what's in it."

Mrs. Penfield gazed at her in silent bewilderment.

"You remember what I say. Keep it to yourself."

"I don't see why," said Mrs. Penfield slowly. "It's just something I worked out, and it's been wonderful for the children's dresses. I can keep gingham as bright as ever—if it ain't faded to begin with. I stumbled on it first by accident, and then I experimented till I got the right ingredients and proportions and—"

"That's just it," nodded Mrs. Weatherstone, "and you've worked out a method that is ahead of the commercial methods. You keep your own counsel till I talk with a man I know who owns a chain of laundries. I'll have him come to talk with you."

A flash of gratitude lighted Mrs. Penfield's brown eyes. "Oh, if it could be worth something," she stammered. "I never had thought of that. And I thank you. I always knew you were kind."

Mrs. Weatherstone's glance traveled briefly around the bare kitchen; rested on Lettie, who had followed silently; skipped to Thad, who had padded in from the yard. She bit her lips, as if an unwelcome conclusion about her own thoughtfulness had forced its way into her mind.

"I'm sorry I was impatient, Mrs. Penfield," she apologized, as they went back into the living-room, "but I never dreamed you were so skillful." She was fastening her scarf as she spoke. "Oh, do wait a minute, please," begged Mrs. Penfield. "That sounds like Crink's whistle. He'd be so glad to meet you!"

Crink came in at the big door, Crink in the turned overcoat, pulling off his shabby cap. Lettie and Thad in their thin cotton, were dressed according to the sunshine and the really mild temperature; but Crink, coming in contact with the outside world, was dressed according to the calendar month of January, nominally winter.

"This is Crink," said Mrs. Penfield, proudly. "Crink, ain't it grand to see Mrs. Weatherstone?"

"I should say!" Crink stepped forward eagerly. "I want to thank you for this here overcoat. Gee, it's a dandy! It was pretty good last winter, but now Penzie's turned it, ain't nobody got better."

"You turned Geraldine's coat!" murmured Mrs. Weatherstone. "Why, I never should imagine it wasn't new." Drawing on her glove, she became graciously conversational. "Crink, my dear, is it possible that you and Lettie are twins? You're about the same size, but your coloring is so different!"

"No, ma'am, we ain't twins. I'm most ten, but I don't know how old Lettie is. What would you say, Penzie?"

"I expect Lettie's younger," smiled Mrs. Penfield. "Only a few months, likely. And you know we're guessing more or less 'bout your age, too. 'Proximate ages'll do very well for all three of you. There's a heap of things more important."

Mrs. Weatherstone paused with her fingers on the clasp of the glove she had been about to fasten. Her dark eyes were full of inquiry, but her lips were polite.

Mrs. Penfield answered her expression. "They weren't mine at all originally. I— I lost my own."

"Oh, but they are related?" "Bless you, no, I just adopted 'em," Mrs. Penfield waved her hand carelessly, in a rather correct indication of the vague beginnings which all three had had.

"You—adopted—three children?" exclaimed Mrs. Weatherstone. "Was, yes. It wasn't nothing I wanted to, and I could as well's not." Mrs. Weatherstone, looking at the other woman across a vast gulf of economic disparity, smiled gently. "Yes," she said, in a low voice, "you could."

Crink was uneasy. There was something in the interview that he did not understand. He felt the undercurrent of unspoken thoughts and could only infer that his beloved Penzie was being criticized. He caught Mrs. Weatherstone's glance, keen, swift, darting from the vivid pictures on the wall to the packing boxes, to the few straight chairs, to the bare spaces around the room where furniture most conveniently might have been.

"Yes," repeated Mrs. Weatherstone softly, "you could."

Crink plunged into defense. "You don't understand, Mrs. Weatherstone," he said earnestly. "It ain't a bit as you're thinking. We get along fine— honest, we do. I earn some money now, and a lot of old vegetables and things. And we always have lots to eat—that is, all except last week, and then—then we got along. But that's the only time. We always have grand spreads—two kinds to ev'ry meal, and sometimes—"

He caught a warning glance from Mrs. Penfield and stopped in confusion.

"Golly, what're you folks talking about?" burst out Lettie with violence. "Who ever thought we didn't have the swellest eats? Best chow on the Coast! Never was anybody like Penzie. Lordy, she's got me solid. I'd fore I'd get 'listed out here. You'd just oughter—"

"Children— children—" reproved Mrs. Penfield, who by quieter, more unobtrusive means had been unable to check this torrent of gratuitous explanation. "I'm 'shamed of you."

Mrs. Weatherstone made no comment on the intimate revelations. She gathered up her muff and moved toward the door.

"Will the hangings be ready tomorrow, Mrs. Penfield? Then I'll send for them; you won't have to fold them so much in that case. And I shall speak to Mr. Crashaw. I'm sure he'll come to see you. Good-by—and Happy New Year." With a charming smile she stepped down to the warped board that took the place of front porch.

"We'll all go out with you," shouted Lettie. "And come again whenever you can, won't you? It's been awful interesting, seeing you."

The three children trooped after her, proud with entertaining comment, delighted with the graciousness of her response. After she had stepped into the car, they stood watching, hand in hand.

"Remember us to your daughters, won't you?" beamed Lettie, in a climactic ecstasy of politeness.

"Yes, thank you," returned Mrs. Weatherstone, not to be outdone. In the moment before the car started, she looked again at the three children. In their made-over versions of clothing that had come out of her household. She was unwittingly responsible for the appearance which these three eager mites of humanity presented to their little world.

"May the Lord forgive me," she thought, "for what I have done to the innocent!"

In The Custard Cup the afternoon continued to be unusual. To her intense delight, Lettie was invited to have supper with Mrs. Sanders—in the living room, that spontaneous informality that is dear to the heart of every youngster. The rest of the family were at home, lingering around the table, when an emergency call came from Mrs. Enslow's. The baby had met with an accident, painfully connected with the hot stove.

Crink was dispatched to the drug store for soothing remedies. Mrs. Penfield, agitated out of observance of her customary after-supper regime, was inveigled into permitting Thad to hunt up his chum, Timmy Catterbox. She left the table as it stood and hurried to Mrs. Enslow's.

Half an hour later, when the baby was relieved, Mrs. Penfield went back to her interrupted routine. She switched on the light and began clearing the table—stopped in the act of lifting a plate. Her eyes had fallen on a chair overturned on the floor of the living room. A slight thing, but it had happened while she had been gone. While all the family had been gone!

Her heart stood still as she thought of the money which she had failed to deposit that afternoon. More than two hundred dollars! It had totally slipped her mind in the excitement of the Enslow catastrophe. She dreaded to look in the suitcase. Seconds passed while she stared at the overturned chair, paralyzed by dread. At last she nerved herself to investigate. The front door was still locked, but the back door had been left open, that the children might enter when they returned.

She went into the bedroom. The suitcase was on the floor. The rickety old fasteners were undone.

The envelope of bills was gone. So was Gussie Bosley's package.

Mrs. Penfield sank back on the floor by the suitcase, faint and sick. Her blood seemed to have stopped. The room whirled. She was hanging over a chasm . . . black ruin. . . .

Crink came in. "Where's Thad, Penzie? Ain't he here?"

"Thad?" repeated Mrs. Penfield, still in a daze. "Yes. He's in Timmy were playing in the Catterbox back yard, and Thad came home for his spools. Timmy waited for him till Mrs. Catterbox called him in. He spoke to me out the window."

"My goodness! We must find him right off. Time he went to bed, anyhow. It's most dark."

They went through the house, looking in bunkers on the chance that Thad might be hiding, moving boxes behind which no one could be concealed. They searched in the back yard, in the driveway. No Thad!

Mrs. Penfield was alarmed. "Crink, we must find him. Must!" "Cracky, yes," cried Crink. "We couldn't live 'bout Thad."

They separated, each taking a side of the driveway and ringing doorbells in rotation. Some one was at home in every flat—except the Bosley's, where the windows were dark and the evening paper was still on the steps. But no one had seen Thad since he had left Timmy Catterbox.

A. F. OF L. CASTS OUT RED LEADER

William F. Dunne, Communist, Dumped Overboard by Union Labor's Convention.

DELEGATE'S EXIT IS DRAMATIC

Butte, Mont., Editor Is Branded as Representative of Russia by a Vote of 27,838 to 130 in Block

Balloting. Portland, Ore.—William F. Dunne, Communist leader from the Silver Bow labor council of Butte, Mont., was expelled from the convention of the American Federation of Labor after one of the most dramatic debates heard in that forum for years.

Dunne's strength only mustered six votes on the final roll call. The record vote as announced was 27,838 to 130, but this refers to blocks of votes, not individuals. There were about fifty-two delegates absent or not voting in the total of 378 present.

It was not necessary for the so-called "Gompers machine" to do any steam rolling. The delegates themselves took care of Dunne.

When the vote was announced President Gompers announced in his most impressive manner:

"Delegate Dunne stands impeached and his credentials as a member of this convention are revoked. Mr. Dunne will please retire from the hall."

There was a stir of excitement which the aged president soon quieted with firm blows of his new set of Oregon myrtle wood.

"Good by, Mr. Chairman and delegates," said the athletic looking, blue-shirted, young Red, picking up his books and papers, and making for the door. "I will meet you at the barricades."

This expulsion brought the whole Red question into focus and unmistakably stamped the temper of the convention on all the questions of similar character to come before it this week.

The impeachment of Dunne was made by William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers, in the course of a four-hour discussion of the Red problem and its menacing import to the trade union movement.

"I impeach this man in the name of the workers of America before this great bar of trade union power and authority, as spokesman for the United Mine Workers of America," said Green from the platform.

Dunne is under indictment with W. Z. Foster for violation of the Michigan anti-syndicalism law.

Germany Still in World's Arena, Says Stresemann

Berlin.—In the course of a stormy forensic duel with Count Westarp, spokesman for the German Nationalists, Chancellor Stresemann in the Reichstag declared that Germany's struggle in the Ruhr and Rhineland went on, even though passive resistance had been abandoned. He also reiterated his denials that the Berlin government meant to negotiate exclusively with France, insisting that a reparations settlement could be obtained only through an understanding with all the allies.

Nine Prisoners Flog Jailed Police Chief in Illinois Town

Marion, Ill.—Monroe Owens, chief of police at Pittsburg, near here, charged that prisoners in the county jail handcuffed him to a cell and gave him 25 lashes. Owens was arrested on an assault charge and placed in jail in default of bond. Nine other prisoners, two of whom had been arrested by Owens on liquor charges, held a kangaroo court over Owens for "breakin' into jail." He was fined $10, but refused to pay. The flogging followed.

Nation-Wide Co-Op Wheat Marketing Body Launched

Chicago.—A national co-operative marketing association, headed by former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, was provided for Monday as the solution of the wheat problem at a conference in the Drake hotel, attended by leading agricultural interests of the country, including all the executives identified with the co-operative marketing movement. Organization of the association will be commenced immediately.

Pope Excludes Women Who Use Perfumery

London.—Perfumed women will not be admitted to the Vatican hereafter, according to a dispatch from Rome. The reason given was that Pope Pius XI is susceptible to headaches and that perfume aggravates them.

Filipinos to Ignore Wood

Manila.—Due to the Coalitionists' recent election victories, leaders of the party say the insular legislature will ignore any measures suggested by Governor General Leonard Wood in his forthcoming message.

Child to Return

Rome.—Richard Washburn Child, American ambassador to Italy, said in a telegram received here that he would return to his post upon the expiration of his leave of absence, and professed ignorance of recall.

CHILDLESS HOMES MADE HAPPY

Presence of Little Ones a Great Blessing

Four Interesting Letters

Cortland, N. Y.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was weak and wanted to become strong and have a child. My husband read about it in the 'Cortland Standard' and thought it might help me. It certainly did for I now have a lovely boy fifteen months old who weighs forty pounds. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends and you can certainly use my testimonial in your little books and in the newspapers, as it might help to make some other childless home happy by the presence of little ones as it has done mine."—Mrs. CLAUDE P. CANFIELD, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N. Y.

A Message to Mothers Hamilton, Ohio.—"I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound since girlhood, having taken it when I was younger and suffering from a weakness and backache. Lately I have taken it again to strengthen me before the birth of my child, as I was troubled with pains in my back and a lifeless, weak feeling. I think if mothers would only take your wonderful medicine they would not dread childbirth as they do. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman."—Mrs. JOS. FALCOIN, JR., 562 S. 11th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me seven years ago. I was run down and had a weakness such as women often have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after being married sixteen years became the mother of a sweet little girl. I now have four lovely children—three fine boys and the little girl six years old. I had longed for children all the while and wept many a day and envied every woman with a child. I was 36 years old when my first baby was born. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is ailing with female weakness."—Mrs. J. NAUMANN, 1517 Benton St., St. Louis, Mo.

Was Weak and Run Down St. Louis, Mo.—"My mother took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl, and when I was troubled with cramps I took it, and later when I married I again took it to make me strong as the doctor said I was weak and run down and could not have children. I took it and got along fine and now I have three girls. So you know why I keep the Compound in the house. I am a well woman and do my work and sewing too."—Mrs. JULIUS HARTMAN, 2501 W. Dodder St., St. Louis, Mo.

DAM RIVER TO STOP FLOOD

Barrage Type Constructed in South Africa to Prevent Collecting of Mud in Reservoir. After seven years of building, a dam that stops a 40-mile river in South Africa was recently completed. A barrage type was chosen to prevent collecting of mud and earth in the reservoir and to avoid flooding of private property on the river banks. In the average year enough dirt is carried down this river to cover 720 acres a depth of six inches. Passing through tanks and filters and being treated with chemicals clears the water. Thirty-six sluice gates control the huge barrage, 1,400 feet long. When full, the depth of the water will be 25 feet. At the formal opening a British prince officiated.—Popular Mechanics.

Edible Drinking Cup Appears. With the increase in popularity of water ices among patrons of refreshment pushcarts, ball park caterers and other vendors the edible drinking cup is appearing. It is of graham cracker ingredients and some are lined with chocolate. Early in the season water ices were served in paper or paraffin cups. As these were not consumable they created a problem of litter. The new kind of cup, like the cone for ice cream, provides a cake for the water ice. It is also finding a field as a container and accompaniment for soft drinks.—New York Sun and Globe.

Technicality. An alleged dope peddler in Frisco had his stomach pumped by government officials to see if he had swallowed any dope. Now he claims his rights were violated because he was forced to give evidence against himself.

Carrying Scandals. To carry scandals and evil reports to others is like poisoning the water you would give them to drink.

What a Mean Slap! Poet—Would that my muse might soar aloft and, cleaving the empyrean blue, find words to sing the glories of your hair of burnished gold. Maiden—(Titan-haired, but prosaic): That sounds very pretty, Mr. Scribbler, but do you know the difference between your poems and my hair?

Post—Ah, a conundrum. I give it up. Maiden—Well, my hair's red—Stray Stories.

Auto Ads Take Freak Shapes.

For advertising purposes the wild business getter has never overlooked the possibilities of the automobile. Many are the cars with big painted signs on them proclaiming the advantages of some one's particular flour or the merits of so and so's cheese. They attract considerable attention, but in no way nearly as much as those freak-bodied automobiles designed to resemble a bottle of or a shoe, or some such thing with the driver's compartment carefully concealed inside. Most of these are familiar sights, but it remained for a most novel of all—a miniature house on wheels. Perfect in every exterior detail, it represents a suburban residence, and when first sighted coming around a corner is startling.—New York Sun and Globe.

"Sir Basil Zaharof, who has succeeded the Blanc family as the principal owner of Monte Carlo," said a Chicagoan, "took me one night through the gorgeous gambling rooms of the Monte Carlo casino. We halted a while at a roulette table. An Englishman was winning tremendously there. Finally the man cashed in.

"Goodness! I said. 'What a haul that lucky bird has made!'"
"Oh," said Sir Basil, "that's nothing. It makes no difference to the Casino. It's just a bit of our money sleeping out for the night."—Chicago Daily News.

Production as Related to Yields

That high-producing cows require less feed for the production of a given quantity of milk or fat than do low-producing cows is generally recognized. When the quantity of feed consumed and the amount of milk or fat produced by each cow is known, it is a simple matter to compute the feed cost of milk or fat production. Records of cow-testing associations afford this information and show the unprofitable or "boarder" cows which may well be eliminated from the herd. Unfortunately, however, only a small percentage of dairymen are members of such associations and most dairymen must rely upon some other means of determining the profitability of their various cows.

The study reported in University of Illinois Bulletin 244 was undertaken with the aim of supplying this need. It presents a method of determining the relative feed cost of producing milk or fat with cows of various production levels. The comparison is made upon other than a "dollar and cents" basis so that it may be used however much the prices of feed may vary.

Cow-testing association records of 1,605 Holstein cows three years old or over were carefully selected so as to include only the cows which were as nearly as possible comparable in all respects except the amounts of milk and fat which they produced annually.

The 1,605 records were divided into groups on the basis of the amount of fat produced yearly by each animal. The production per cow for the various groups ranged from 93 pounds annually to 559 pounds, with an average of 263 pounds for all the cows.

It was found, as would be expected, that the larger the production of fat, the greater was the amount of feed consumed. For instance, a cow producing 161 pounds of fat consumed annually 1,336 pounds of concentrates, 6,480 pounds of silage, and 1,546 pounds of hay; while a cow producing 361 pounds of fat annually, or 200 pounds more than the first cow, consumed 2,744 pounds of concentrates, 6,823 pounds of silage, and 2,347 pounds of hay.

However, if we compare the amounts of feed consumed for each pound of butterfat produced, we find that the amount of concentrates remained about the same regardless of the total production of butterfat, while the amounts of silage and hay consumed decreased with the increase in production. Silage, various grains, mill feeds, and hays were fed to these cows in different proportions. In order, therefore, to have an accurate basis for comparing the feed consumption of the various cows, it was necessary to reduce these different feeds to a common unit. The total digestible nutrients (protein, carbohydrates, and fat) contained in all the feeds consumed were determined; and on this basis it was found that it took fewer nutrients to produce a pound of butterfat when the nutrients were fed to high-producing cows than it did when they were fed to low-producing cows.

Upon further study, it was found that the cost per pound of digestible nutrients was practically uniform for all the different groups of cows for any one year and we may therefore use the nutrient consumption as a basis for comparing the feed cost of producing fat with cows of different levels of production. For instance, the feed cost of producing a pound of fat with a 225-pound cow is one-fourth greater than the cost of producing a pound of fat with a 350-pound cow. For a cow producing only 100 pounds of fat annually, the feed cost per pound of fat is almost double that for the 350-pound cow.

The 1,605 records were next divided into groups on the basis of the yearly milk production per cow. The average production of the various groups ranged from 3,991 pounds to 10,711 pounds, with an average of 7,500 pounds for all the cows.

It was found that the relation between the consumption of feed per 100 pounds of milk and the annual milk yield was practically the same as the relation between the feed consumption per pound of fat and the annual fat yield. In other words, as the level of production increased, the nutrient consumption per 100 pounds of milk produced decreased. For a 3,000-pound cow, the cost, in terms of feed, of producing 100 pounds of milk is one and two-thirds (167 per cent) times as much as for a 10,000-pound cow. Stated in other words, it takes as much feed to produce 60 pounds of milk with a 3,000-pound cow as to produce 100 pounds of milk with a 10,000-pound cow.

The significance of this great variation in the feed cost of producing milk is made more apparent when we compare the amounts that are left from the milk checks after paying for the feed consumed by cows of different production levels. We may assume, by way of example, that a dairyman has eight cows. If this imaginary dairyman sells his milk at $2 per 100 pounds, the amount he receives above the cost of the feed ranges from $100 for the 10,000-pound cow down to $9.90 for the 3,000-pound cow. Out of this amount—whether it is $100 or $9.90—must come the cost of labor, housing, equipment, pasture, interest, insurance, miscellaneous items, and possible profit. When it is remembered that the cost of labor, housing, equipment, etc., is very little more for a good cow than for a poor one, it is easy to see why the dairyman with a low-producing herd makes little or no profit.

In order to avoid possible misinterpretation in the application of these data, it should perhaps be stated that the study does not show that the most economical production is obtained by feeding for maximum yields. It does show that cows of inherently high production ability are more economical producers than are cows of low production ability. A clear distinction should be made between these two factors (rate of feeding and inherent production ability) which tend to determine yield, because in forcing a cow for high production it is possible to overfeed and thereby to increase the cost of feed per unit of product. On the other hand, underfeeding will also increase the feed cost of production.

Running Water

"I miss the running water and the bath more than anything else in our farm home," said Mrs. J. R. Phillips, the wife of a Champaign county farmer. This statement is one that will be agreed to by practically every farm woman who lived in a modern home and is now living in a farm home that is not modern. Every survey that has been made shows that it is a consensus of opinion among farm women that a running water supply is the most important farm home equipment.

It is a labor saver in doing practically every kind of work in the home. The food can be prepared with greater ease where there is water under pressure. The work of washing clothes is greatly reduced, the house is more easily cared for, better care of the children is made possible and their health is safeguarded. Every farmer should work toward having some type of water system in the home.

Paint the Buildings

A good coat of paint not only adds to the attractiveness of the farm buildings, but also serves to lengthen their period of service. The time to paint is in hot weather, and experts are agreed that every building should receive a coat at least every seven years.

NURSE FINDS A PERFECT REMEDY

"From my long experience as a nurse I do not hesitate to say that I consider Tanlac Nature's most perfect remedy," recently declared Mrs. I. A. Borden, 425 Pontius Ave., Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Borden is a graduate of the National Temperance Hospital, Chicago, and her wide experience in caring for the sick lends particular emphasis to her statement.

"I have used Tanlac exclusively for seven years in the treatment of my charity patients," continued Mrs. Borden, "and my experience has been that, for keeping the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning properly and for toning up the system in general, Tanlac has no equal. Recently I had a woman patient who could not even keep water on her stomach for fifteen minutes. Six bottles of Tanlac fixed her up so she could eat absolutely anything. Another patient, a man, seemed unable to digest any food at all. Three bottles of Tanlac put him in such fine shape he went back to work. These two cases are typical. My confidence in Tanlac is unlimited."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Detours Bring Customers.

The motoring public is frequently annoyed by signs marked "Detour" which compel them to leave a good road for a bad one for some distance. They are even more annoyed when the new route is not properly marked out and as a result they sometimes get temporarily lost. A small boy upstate, quick to grasp the situation, fashioned a few detour signs of his own which he erected and which diverted traffic by his father's house.

Then he built in his front yard a small stand at which he sold ginger ale and lemonade to the thirsty and weary travelers and did a good business until the authorities removed the signs and the street once again became a rarely traveled thoroughfare.—New York Sun and Globe.

Had a Season Ticket.

Two brothers had lived in a village near Aberdeen and had traveled to town to business every day by train. Not long ago one of them died, and the other decided to have the coffin containing the body conveyed by train to the city.

He sought the advice of the station-master, and was told that he would have to procure a special ticket. "A special ticket," he gasped in dismay. "What would I do that for? His season ticket hasn't expired yet!"

A Long-Lived Family.

Great Britain lays claim to what is believed to be the longest-lived family in the world. They are seven in number—five sisters and two brothers. All are married. They reside on the Island of Skye, the largest of the Inner Hebrides, Inverness-shire, Scotland. All receive the old-age pension from the British government, and their combined ages exceed 550 years.

The comedy cinema actor stopped a man he knew. "Look here," he began. "I understand you said last night that I have no sense of humor. A remark of that kind, made publicly, in the presence of other people, is very damaging to a man in my position, and—" "Hold on," interrupted the other. "I never said you had no sense of humor. What I said was that you had no sense of humor."

"Ah!" beamed the actor. "I thought there must be some mistake. I felt certain you would never run down a pal behind his back."

Dig New Bed for Isar River.

By changing the course of the Middle Isar river, Bavaria expects to make possible the development of an electric current totaling 480,000,000 watt hours a year, an output that will put the plant among the largest of the world. It is estimated that this use of water power will result in a saving of 500,000 tons of coal annually. In digging the river's new channel, 7,000 men were employed.

Like Looking at the Sun

Looking into one of the huge rotary kilns where the raw materials for cement are burned into clinker is just like looking at the noonday sun.

The terrific heat required makes a glare of light so intense that the glowing flame would temporarily blind you.

But borrow the workman's colored goggles to protect your eyes while you take another look into the kiln. Then you will see a tornado of powdered coal—or gas or spraying oil—bursting into a sheet of sun-white flame.

Into the other end of the kiln flow the powdered limestone and shale [clay]—the raw materials for cement.

As the slowly revolving kiln tumbles the materials about, they are subjected to gradually increasing heat. During their three-hour journey through this inferno, moisture and gases are first given off. Finally as the powdered materials reach the sun-white flame, they half melt into glass-hard balls called "clinker." This clinker, an entirely new chemical compound, when finely powdered is portland cement.

Portland cement kilns consume great quantities of fuel—30 pounds of coal or its equivalent for each 94-pound sack of cement. For the whole cement making process the consumption of coal is approximately 50 pounds a sack—more than half a ton of coal to a ton of cement.

A Simple Guide to Proper Food Selection

- Nourishment—Grape-Nuts with cream or good milk contains every element necessary for perfect nutrition.
- Digestibility—Grape-Nuts is partially pre-digested by 20 hours' baking. It is easily assimilated by child or adult.
- Flavor—Grape-Nuts, made of wheat and barley, is sweet with natural sugar self-developed from the grain in the making. It has a delightful, nut-like flavor.
- Character—Grape-Nuts is real food—the kind you can depend upon for strength and energy. Its crisp granules invite thorough mastication, thus helping to keep the teeth and gums healthy.
- Economy—Grape-Nuts is so compact that a package contains many servings; and each serving provides unusual nourishment. A portion for the cereal part of a meal costs about one cent.

A RUSCO Tractor Belt transmits greater pulling power from the pulley to the job. Why? Principally because it's solidly woven. Ply belting (stitched or "stuck" together) pulls unevenly and comes apart at the ply.

Rusco has a wonderful grip and a mighty pull; no laps, joints, exposed stitches or plies; pliable, durable, water-proof, guaranteed belting.

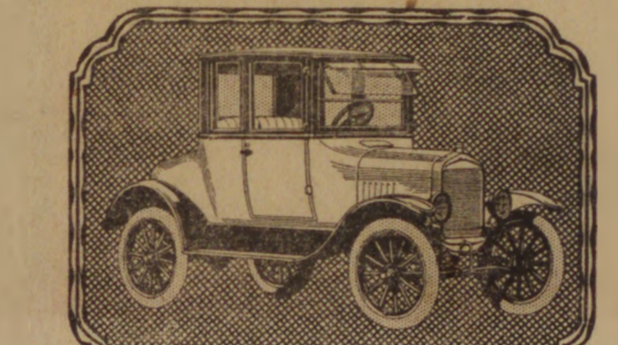

Rusco Tractor Belts (or light fixed position belting) are obtainable in any thickness, width or length desired. We stock all popular sizes or can manufacture to order on short notice.

For every belt-work requirement, Rusco Tractor Belts, made by The Russell Manufacturing Co., Middletown, Conn. (93 years of knowing how) are absolutely guaranteed to contain no plies whatever and to have greater structural resistance to abnormal conditions than any other type belting made. No "breaking in" necessary.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

New Coupe

An entirely new body design lends distinction in appearance, adds measurably to individual comfort, and provides greater convenience in the new Ford Coupe.

Streamline body, windshield visor, and-nicked fittings make this new Coupe highly attractive. Deeply cushioned seats, improved interior arrangement, and cowl ventilator provide increased comfort.

Wide doors that open forward, revolving type window lifters, enlarged rear compartment and a recess shelf for parcels, back of the seat make for greater convenience.

HART PARR Tractor

A HART-PARR tractor is without an equal on any farm or field. It was the first tractor made; has advanced to the fore thru steady improvement and will continue in its position indefinitely because it is made right. No balking or stalling with a HART PARR. It pulls 4 plows easily and perfectly; the motor never stalls and with proper care will last for many years, giving its maximum service at a minimum of expense.
