

AN HONORED CITIZEN

MARCUS W. COLE OF KINGSTON PASSES AWAY

HE WAS A FRIEND OF ALL

One of the Best Known and Highly Respected Men in this Part of County—Funeral Tuesday

One of Kingston's oldest residents and one of her most influential citizens, Marcus W. Cole, passed peacefully away Sunday morning, Aug. 1, 1909, at 3 o'clock of heart trouble and complications. He was born February 8, 1836, in Lockport, Niagara Co., N. Y., but was reared and educated in Clark Co., Ill. He came to Kingston, DeKalb Co., in 1856 where he resided continuously until his death. Mr. Cole was united in marriage to Miss Anna E. Little, September 12, 1858. After a happy married life of many years, Mrs. Cole died in 1899. Like her husband she was a popular member of society and took great interest in church and society work.

The deceased was supervisor of Kingston township for five years and postmaster under Harrison's administration for five years. He was elected town treasurer in 1876, which office he held until his death, besides other minor offices. He, with his wife, moved from his 160 acre farm in North Kingston to the village in 1882 and was in the hardware business with Philip Heckman, now deceased, from that year until 1886. In 1888 he started an exchange bank and was in that business continuously until his decease.

He became a member of the Baptist church in early life and with his wife, who was also a member of the same church, was active in church work.

In 1865 he joined the Genoa lodge No. 288, A. F. and A. M. and later joined the Royal Arch and Commandery at Sycamore. In 1886 he was transferred from Genoa lodge to Kishwaukee lodge No. 402, Kingston. He became a charter member, and for a long time was clerk of Kingston Camp No. 203, M. W. A., and was a member of the Knights of the Globe and the O. E. S.

To Mr. and Mrs. Cole was born a daughter, Alice C., now wife of County Judge William L. Pond of DeKalb. Those of his immediate family who survive are two brothers, John A. and Walter, of Kingston and one sister, Maria, who is living in Berlin, Germany, and a granddaughter, Miss Jessie Pond.

Although Mr. Cole's life was a busy one he always found time to devote to those interests calculated to advance the moral and material welfare of his town and county. He will be greatly missed by young and old as he was a great friend of all, and it is a matter of county history "that no man in the community was held with higher regard or had more warm friends than Marcus W. Cole."

The funeral services were held from the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Rev. J. W. Skerry and Rev. C. H. Myers of Wisconsin officiating. After services at Kingston the Knights Templar had charge of the services, interment taking place at DeKalb where the wife of the deceased was laid to rest ten years ago. The floral tributes from societies and friends were numerous and beautiful.

Mr. Cole leaves one of the most complete and interesting private collections of Indian relics in the country, in which is included thousands of arrow heads, many of them being the finest specimens in existence. There are also many interesting and valuable curios aside from Indian relics in the collection, all worth no little money. Mr. Cole took keen delight in showing this collection to his friends.

Mr. Cole carried $3,000 insurance in the Woodman society, the number of his policy being 6853.

TEAM TAKES A SPIN

G. W. Houdeshell's Milk Wagon is Badly Wrecked Monday

G. W. Houdeshell's team became frightened while standing at the creamery in this city Monday morning and during the sprint which followed the milk wagon was badly wrecked. The team ran down the alley at the rear of "Bridgeport," crossed Genoa street and entered C. A. Godding's garden. Here it broke loose from the wagon and continued on its way thru F. O. Swan's yard to the east end of town where it was finally caught. The tongue of the wagon was run into the ground and put entirely out of commission, while the harness was broken in a dozen places. One of the horses was badly, but not seriously, scratched.

Sycamore Chautauqua

The seventh annual assembly of the Sycamore Chautauqua will open at Marsh's Park, Sycamore, Friday, August 20, and continue ten days. A $2,000 program will be given which is considered the best ever had here. A few of the attractions are as follows:—Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota will give the lecture, "Majesty of the law," the first Sunday, August 22. Ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri will give the lecture, "Soldiers of Peace," the last Sunday, August 29. Col. Geo. W. Bain, the Kentucky orator, will lecture in the evening of August 29. Some of the other lecturers and entertainers are Charles F. Varney, L. E. Herbert, George L. MacNutt, Father McCorney, Charles R. Taggart, Mrs. Leonora Lake, Monroe Markley, M. L. Ditty and Hal Merton. C. J. Hite company will be there with moving pictures and the entertainers, magicians, etc., are of the best. Among the musical attractions are Round's orchestra, Parland-Newhall Co. and Carters Carolinians. Make an effort to spend a few days at least there this year. Send to D. P. Wild, the president of the association, or to C. M. Conrad, secretary, for a program.

Fined For Abusing Horse

George Gall, a farmer at Naperville, was fined $100 and costs by Justice Stephen Thatcher of that place for cruelty to animals. The hearing was brought about through the efforts of George H. Brayne, agent for the Illinois Humane society, in his investigation of information furnished him by neighbors of Gall. He has killed four horses by beating and starving them. Two others are in such condition from his abuse that they will not be able to work for six months, if ever again.

Rockford Man Gets Job

All doubt concerning the identity of the man who will get the appointment as census supervisor for this district has been set at rest by the announcement that the plum will go to Winnebago county and that Fred A. Schlick, president of the Young Men's Republican club of Winnebago county, and former district deputy for the Elk fraternity will get the plum. The job is a nice one paying about $1,500 per year and steady work is given for a period of about two years. Mr. Schlick is popular in Winnebago county and about the district generally.

Says Cars Will Run This Fall

John Seymour, contractor for the construction of the Sycamore, Marengo and Woodstock electric road, was in Marengo recently, and according to the Republican News of that city, stated that he had about closed the contract for the rails for the road and expected to have it in operation between Marengo and Genoa before Thanksgiving.

Hail Near Davis Jc.

Report comes from Davis Junction that there was a terrific hail storm in that vicinity last Sunday afternoon, causing hundreds of dollars worth of damage. Oats was beaten into the ground and the straw as well as the grain completely ruined. In the corn fields the leaves were stripped from the stalks absolutely ruining every chance of a crop in some places.

Ball game Sunday.

A YOUNG lady of Cincinnati died Monday from the effects of tight lacing. Perhaps this same young lady would have looked with disgust upon the young man who was killing himself by the cigarette habit.

BIG FARM LOSS AT MILAN

Fire Destroys Barn and Contents, Including Ten Horses—People of Sterling Buy Sparrows

A large barn on the farm of C. T. D. Berg in Milan was burned last Thursday with its contents, including ten head of horses, large quantity of hay and implements. The loss is about $8,000, with $3,700 insurance.

A new fake game was played on Sterling people last week which is different from any fakes that have ever hit this country. A smooth solicitor blew in with a bunch of "imported canaries" which later proved to be nothing but "sparrows" dipped in yellow dope.

John North, for many years a well known citizen of Somonauk, dropped dead in that village of heart disease, with which he has been troubled for some time.

Chas. Sullivan, who lives on a farm northeast of Marengo, was overcome by the heat Monday while working in the hay field. He remained unconscious for several hours and it was thought by his friends he would not survive.

Marion Grey, sentenced to one year for conducting the Searchlight Club, a matrimonial agency at Elgin, Ill., and whose sentence was reduced to one month by President Taft, was taken to the House of the Good Shepherd in Chicago last week.

The corner-stone of the new Christian Science church, now being erected at DeKalb, was laid on Wednesday last week with simple ceremonies, only the board of trustees being present. A copper box containing various records and historical data were placed in the stone.

Oscar Johnson, living two miles southeast of Malta, met with a very painful accident last week. He had hitched a team of horses up to the binder and was ready for the field. Just after he became seated on the binder the horses became frightened and knocked Mr. Johnson to the ground. He received a number of bruises and his leg was broken.

William Glenn, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon P. Young of Nelson township, met death in a tragic and pathetic manner last week. The little fellow attempted to gain entrance to a grain bin. Two boards, each about a foot wide, comprised the cover. He managed to raise one of them and after he had pushed his head through the opening the board fell back in place, choking him to death. The lifeless body was found sometime later by the grief-stricken father.

The cost of the Forty-sixth general assembly was $517,181, as compared with $446,657 for the previous session according to a financial statement recently issued. The increase is accounted for by the doubling of the salaries of the members from $1,000 to $2,000. This addition amounted to $204,000. The total cost includes the wages of employes of the house and senate.

The fifteen-year-old daughter of Charles Anderson, living near Malta, came near losing her life Wednesday evening by being attacked by an ill-tempered bull on the farm. The incident took place in the evening in the barn yard. The girl did not notice the animal's presence until knocked by him. She was felled in such a way that she could not extricate herself, when the infuriated animal began to gore her unmercifully. The girl's screams aroused the farm hands who luckily happened to be near and succeeded in driving the maddened bovine away.

A Vacuum Cleaner

S. S. Slater has taken the agency for a vacuum cleaner which does the work up in fine shape, cleaning carpets, rugs and curtains without removing them from the floor or walls. The efficiency of the machine was fully demonstrated at the Odd Fellow hall last week, where the carpet had not been up for years. In three hours time nearly a half bushel of dirt was removed from the carpet. The machine not only removes the dust from the carpet, but all the dirt on the floor is sucked up thru the carpet into the machine where it is automatically dumped into a pan. Mr. Slater will be pleased to demonstrate the work at his store. He will sell you a machine or you can rent the one he has on hand.

Stolen Horse Found

The horse, buggy and harness stolen July 5 from Louis Jepsen, living over the line in Kane county, were recovered at Genoa Junction, Wis., through a postal card description sent out by the sheriff of Kane county. The rig was being driven by a Genoa Junction farmer, who had purchased the horse of the thief, who threw in the buggy.

WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

GENOA AND KINGSTON GIRLS PASS EXAMS

4-YEAR NORMAL COURSE

Irene Corson and Minnie Reinken of Genoa, Jessie Clark and Elmer Peter of Kingston

A large number of young people from DeKalb county will receive scholarships which will allow them to attend the Northern Illinois State Normal school with the beginning of the school year.

Four years ago the General Assembly passed what has been known since as the "Lindly Bill." The bill was introduced by Judge Lindly of Greenville, Ill., for the purpose of extending the privileges of the State Normal school to country boys and girls. It provides free scholarships, for four years, in each of the State Normal schools for one or more for each township.

The selection was determined by a competitive examination, conducted by the superintendents in each township.

The scholarships arrived last week at County Superintendent W. W. Coultas' office at Sycamore, from the State Superintendent.

Following is the list of names of those who will receive scholarships in DeKalb county:

- Eunice Kaiger, Rollo.
- Harold Bjelland, Leland.
- Reinette Bach, Sandwich.
- Vesta Hudson, Rollo.
- Gladys Baker, Waterman.
- Margaret Graham, Waterman.
- Clarence Quinn, Malta.
- Wayne Montgomery, Elva.
- Iva Zeigler, Maple Park.
- Irene M. Corson, Genoa.
- Ray J. Latimer, Clare.
- Mary Bryan, Sycamore.
- Nina Corey, Clare.
- Jessie M. Clark, Kingston.
- Pearl Spanswick, Sycamore.
- Edwin Erickson, Kirkland.
- Elmer Peter, Kingston.
- Minnie Reinken, Genoa.

SUNDAY BASE BALL

New Grounds at the Race Track in the Eureka Park Addition

The Genoa Base Ball Association will dedicate its new grounds next Sunday, Aug. 8, when the Burlington "Indians" will be taken on for the opening game. The Indians are playing some ball this season and have given the Genoas a close rub. It should be a fast game.

The new grounds are located at the race track in the Eureka Park addition, a few blocks east of the telephone factory. The grandstand was moved to the new quarters some time ago and placed in position. The diamond has been "skinned" and the land being perfectly level, there is no reason why some fast games can not be given the fans.

The association expects to schedule a game for every Sunday during the balance of the season.

At Electric Park last Sunday the game between the Sycamores and Genoas was called in the fourth inning on account of rain. From all indications up to the time of quitting the Genoa team was getting into the game with the winning in sight.

Sycamore Resident Dead

Benjamin Sabin, a resident of Sycamore over forty years, died at his home in the east part of town Friday at noon, aged nearly ninety years. Mr. Sabin has been feeble the past year, though his condition has not been alarming until just recently.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Twenty-second Anniversary Meeting at the M. E. Church

On July 29, members of the W. C. T. U., with invited guests, met in the M. E. church parlors and held their 22nd anniversary. Reports from the different officers and superintendents showed that work had been done in many of the departments. In Scientific Temperance Instruction two petitions had been circulated and a number of names secured to each, against repealing the law. The Young Crusader had been furnished to teachers and some literature distributed. In Flower Mission, 75 bouquets had been sent to sick and shut-ins and some to hospital, besides six pieces for funerals, three for departed members and three for relatives of members. Two boxes of supplies for Willard Temperance hospital, containing canned fruit and jellies, pieces of cotton, linen, and woolen, with three sheets and three tablecloths. The Sabbath School Temperance secretary reported several hundred leaflets distributed and pledge cards signed, a contest held by Mrs. Olmstead's class on "The life of Miss Willard" and other work done. Over 2000 pages of literature have been distributed by members besides work done in other lines. Mrs. Carter, the county president, was present and made some plans for convention to be held here about the middle of September.

Mrs. Sturdevant is visiting friends in DeKalb.

Will Shurtliff Take It?

The vacancy caused by death of Judge Bethea will mean trouble for Senators Cullom and Lorimer, who will have the recommendation of Bethea's successor on the federal bench. The re-election of Senator Hopkins would likely have resulted in the appointment of State Senator C. P. Gardner to the first vacant place on the federal bench. But things have changed and there will be no end of candidates for this important berth, which means a life position at a good salary. It is a good guess that Speaker Shurtliff could have this place if he would indicate a desire for it, which he is not likely to do. But a life position that pays from $6,000 to $7,000 per year is a pretty good thing, and few men would decline it were it tendered them.

Bread, 25 Cents Loaf

Galesburg is a dry town. Big loaves of bread sold rapidly there last week for 25 cents each. The suspicions of the sheriff becoming aroused he made an investigation and found that each loaf contained a small bottle of whiskey. The baker had advertised that the increased price of wheat had necessitated raising the price of bread. He was making good "dough" out of his bread until the sheriff nabbed him.

Pastor Won't be Citizen

Because the Rev. Mr. Leggetts, pastor of the St. Charles, Ill., Congregational church, refuses to become naturalized the trustees have resigned and a split has been caused in the church membership.

A YOUNG lady of Cincinnati died Monday from the effects of tight lacing. Perhaps this same young lady would have looked with disgust upon the young man who was killing himself by the cigarette habit.

JUST THE EDITOR'S PERSONAL OPINION

A MAN from Milwaukee claims to have discovered a way to make cigars from alfalfa. Will some one please put that man out of the way before the next political campaign? There are enough "alfalfa" cigars in the market right now.

THE West is noticeably free from hobos just now. Incidentally it is a fact that the farmers of that vast territory are in need of about 100,000 harvest hands. If a healthy tramp calls at your home just ask him why he is not looking westward.

A YOUNG lady of Cincinnati died Monday from the effects of tight lacing. Perhaps this same young lady would have looked with disgust upon the young man who was killing himself by the cigarette habit.

THE man or boy who says that cigarettes do not hurt him is not a thinker. If the Creator had intended the lungs for a smoke filter he would have supplied a system for draining the cells of the nicotine, and made the tissues of asbestos. If you must smoke cigarettes do not try to make yourself think that they are not injurious. Tell the younger boys the truth.

OVER at Sycamore the people are just recovering from a mad dog scare and the mayor has ordered that all dogs running at large must be muzzled or killed by the police. Genoa has fortunately escaped the "scare" thus far but it is not for want of dogs. There are too many of the "cur" breed running about during this torrid weather. If one of them should become "mad" there would be no end of trouble,

Those who have valuable dogs should keep them at home, and see that they always have plenty of water.

AND now we find after reading the revised ordinances that there is an ordinance regarding the spitting nuisance which does not require that notices be posted, the old ordinance to that effect having become void when the new one was passed. This means that anyone is liable to arrest for besmearing the sidewalks anywhere in the corporation, notice or no notice. The penalty is a fine of not less than $1.00 nor more than $100.00. The Republican-Journal would not like to see anyone arrested and fined for this offense, but it will surely come to that unless more care is exercised in expectorating. See sections 8 and 20 of the revised ordinance.

BANKING GAINS IN DULL TIMES.

The statements made by the national banks of the country under the call of April 28, 1909, show that they had gained at that date no less than $774,261,000 in total resources since the report of their condition made on May 14, 1908. That means an increase of nearly nine per cent. in a year which was marked by much industrial depression and no little discouragement in business. It might fairly be called the growth of the national banks in dull times—a gain of about $65,000,000 a month in resources. Where such development is possible in a period of depression, what may be expected when the current of trade and industry is flowing swiftly? If that is the way the financial strength of the United States increases—and the national banks measure less than half of it—when business is not considered good; what may be counted on when things are booming? It seems fair to estimate the growth of the banking resources of the country in a good year at more than $5,000,000 every business day, or over a billion and a half annually, says the Cleveland Leader. If Americans feel somewhat conscious of their wealth and power and prosperity they do not have to look far for facts and figures to justify their soaring conception of the land they live in and stake their future upon.

WOMAN SLAYS ELOPERS.

Follows Husband and "Affinity" to Ohio and Uses Pistol and a Butcher Knife.

Canton, O., Aug. 2.—An elopement terminated in the murder of Tony Panilla and Mrs. Clara Pizzani by Mrs. Panilla, wife of the slain man, here. After shooting her husband, Mrs. Panilla attacked Mrs. Pizzani with a butcher knife. A terrible struggle followed, during which Mrs. Pizzani was stabbed 30 times.

During the struggle Mrs. Pizzani succeeded in reaching a telephone and holding her antagonist at bay while she called the police station. Mrs. Panilla overpowered her, however, before the telephone conversation was completed, and Mrs. Pizzani was dead ere the police learned of the trouble.

Mrs. Panilla gave herself up to the police. She said she saw her husband in Mrs. Pizzani's room and the sight crazed her. Panilla deserted his wife in Deans, N. J., and Mrs. Pizzani left her husband and child in New York city February 12.

20,000 BUILDINGS BURNED.

Thousands of Homeless People Face Starvation as Result of Fire in Japan.

Osaka, Japan, Aug. 2.—Confusion still prevails here as a result of Saturday's disastrous fire. Thousands of persons are homeless and hunger is staring many of them in the face. Twenty thousand buildings were destroyed in an area of more than four square miles.

A system of relief has been organized by the municipal authorities, but it is inadequate to supply all needs. Outside cities and towns are generously sending in contributions to be used in alleviating the sufferings of the homeless and destitute. The number of casualties has not yet been determined, but hundreds of injured persons are crowding the hospitals.

Among the buildings destroyed were the Buddhist temple, the largest in the world, the stock exchange, the museum, government edifices and factories.

FAMINE FOLLOWS QUAKE.

Thousands Are Without Food After Cities Are Destroyed—Tidal Wave Adds to Ruin.

Mexico City, Aug. 3.—Incomplete reports from the state of Guerrero show that the earthquake shocks of Friday and Saturday did far more damage than was first reported though loss of life will not be so great as was feared.

It is now certain that the towns of Acapulco and Chilpancingo have been practically destroyed.

What the earthquake of Friday failed to do was accomplished by the stronger one of Saturday, which either leveled or rendered uninhabitable every building in the two places.

In addition to the ruin caused by the earthquake, Acapulco now faces a famine. All of the markets were destroyed and the country people are afraid to bring more produce into the town. The people are camping in the public squares.

Taft Pardons Banker Convict.

Washington, Aug. 3.—President Taft has pardoned Manning C. Palmer, former president of the American Exchange National bank of Syracuse, N. Y., who was convicted of misapplication of the bank's funds and sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the Auburn state prison.

Jack Johnson's Forfeit Is Put Up.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Jack Johnson claimant of the heavyweight championship, deposited $5,000 with Ed Smith, a local sporting man, as evidence of intention and willingness to fight James J. Jeffries.

There is a little comfort for friends of American shipping in the news that a company running steamships to Hawaii has contracted with an eastern concern for three new vessels of large dimensions. These ships will be of American construction, operated by Americans under the American flag, and for this much the American people may be proportionately thankful. May the new craft be such inspiring object lessons that more of the same sort will follow speedily.

WANTS HUMAN SKIN TO SAVE A KANGAROO'S LIFE

Keeper of Milwaukee Zoo Will Call for Volunteers to Give Cuticle for Animal.

Milwaukee, Aug. 2.—Lovers of animal life in Milwaukee will have their affection put to a severe test, if the present plan of Keeper Edward Bean, Washington park zoo, is adhered to, when a call is sent out for volunteers who are willing to part with a few square inches of human skin in order that it may be grafted on the injured leg of the female kangaroo.

The recovery of the animal from the shock resulting from the amputation recently of an injured leg has received a serious setback, and the skin grafting operation is now thought to be the only thing that will save its life. The kangaroo is a frail, delicate animal, and doctors who have been consulted by Mr. Bean have declared that human skin is the only kind that can be used successfully. The hairy or coarse skin of any other animal, it is said, could not be successfully grafted.

The question which now puzzles Mr. Bean and his associates is where the skin is coming from. Animal lovers there are in plenty who visit the park and admire the animals, but when it comes to asking them to part with their skin it's quite a different matter, says Mr. Bean. But unless some one comes forward in the near future and offers to undergo the painful operation a call may be sent out for volunteers.

The trouble with Mamma Kangaroo at present is the result of her own impatience. One night recently she carefully picked the stitches with which the bandages were sewed on the stump of her amputated leg.

HER WORDS A BLOW TO SON

Dr. Baker, Superintendent of the Matteawan Asylum, Describes Actions of White's Slayer in Madhouse as Silly and Pompous.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, as she sat in court, heard District Attorney Jerome introduce against her son testimony she had willingly given heretofore to save his life.

The testimony was seized upon by the state to prove him insane.

It included her accounts of his nervous temperament as a child, materially valuable to Thaw when he was in danger of the electric chair, but now menacing to his hope of proving himself a sane man. One thing quoted by the district attorney was her statement concerning Thaw that "his body was too puny for his head and before and after the measles he had St. Vitus dance."

CHASE REBELS IN COUNTRY.

London, Aug. 3.—In a dispatch from Barcelona the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"Gen. Santiago has started sending out forces to restore order in the neighboring towns and villages. The officers have been ordered to take swift and vigorous measures, but Gen. Santiago thinks no serious resistance will be offered the troops."

The Daily Telegraph's Madrid correspondent asserts that many foreigners, especially Frenchmen and Italians, are among the dead, wounded and prisoners in Barcelona.

SPANISH SPIES IN BALLOON.

Madrid, Aug. 4.—A captive balloon was sent up by Gen. Marina yesterday and observations were made of 54 gorges and ravines on Mount Guruga, where thousands of tribesmen were seen preparing for a great battle.

Gen. Marina, commander in Morocco, is awaiting reinforcements. As soon as the needed troops arrive the advanced positions at Mount Atalayoa and Sidiamez will be strengthened preparatory to an advance upon Zelulla, the Spanish objective.

A report from Gen. Marina describes a successful maneuver against the Moors. The Spanish commander set a trap for the enemy in the foothills of Mount Guruga. While he maneuvered several battalions in front of the Moorish position the battleship Namancia steamed down the coast to be in a position to take the enemy in the rear. The Moors moved forward and fell under the concentrated fire of the fort and the Namancia. They retreated in disorder leaving many dead.

Official dispatches from Melilla say the Moors attacked a block-house in course of construction. They were repulsed by the Spaniards who lost one officer killed and 14 men wounded.

New York, Aug. 3.—An unusual test as an index to one's sanity was introduced by a police magistrate when Mrs. Harriet R. Berry, a trained nurse, was brought to court on a physician's application that inquiry be made into her mental condition.

"Close your eyes, madam, and touch the end of your nose with the index finger of your right hand," commanded the magistrate.

It was only after several attempts that Mrs. Berry succeeded and the court ruled that the result of the test was sufficient to warrant her commitment to Bellevue for observation.

Two Mourners End Lives.

Laport, Ind., Aug. 2.—Mrs. John Jerndt, mourning her husband, who died recently, committed suicide by swallowing Paris green. Mrs. Lida Barnes of Kingsbury committed suicide at Lawton, Mich., by firing a bullet into her heart, death resulting instantly. Mrs. Barnes recently lost her only daughter.

Municipality of Palamos Reported to Have Proclaimed a Republic—Government Prepares to Handle a Strike Riot in Madrid.

It is expected that railroad and telegraphic communication with the outside world will be soon fully restored.

Communes Proclaim Republic.

Paris, Aug. 3.—A special dispatch received here from Cerebere reiterates the previous report that a number of communes in Catalonia have proclaimed a republic, and declares that the municipality of Palamos has declared that it is to be free and independent.

Madrid, Aug. 3.—As a result of the rumors that a general strike would be called the government made extensive preparations to meet any emergency.

These included the throwing of sand on the pavements in order to make easier the movements of cavalry and mounted police.

Calls Barcelona Trouble Anarchy.

Paris, Aug. 3.—The Temps publishes an interview with the Marquis del Muni, the Spanish ambassador to France, who has just returned here. He says that the insurrection at Barcelona was entirely distinct from the movement in the other districts of Spain, being anarchistic and seditious in character and chiefly anti-military, and was provoked by the revolutionists, who took advantage of circumstances.

The ambassador did not believe the Barcelona trouble to be the beginning of a general revolutionary agitation, and he said that national aspirations anything to do with the movement. It was purely anarchic.

QUOTES MRS. THAW

JEROME USES MOTHER'S TESTIMONY AT MURDER TRIAL AGAINST PRISONER.

HER WORDS A BLOW TO SON

Dr. Baker, Superintendent of the Matteawan Asylum, Describes Actions of White's Slayer in Madhouse as Silly and Pompous.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, as she sat in court, heard District Attorney Jerome introduce against her son testimony she had willingly given heretofore to save his life.

The testimony was seized upon by the state to prove him insane.

It included her accounts of his nervous temperament as a child, materially valuable to Thaw when he was in danger of the electric chair, but now menacing to his hope of proving himself a sane man. One thing quoted by the district attorney was her statement concerning Thaw that "his body was too puny for his head and before and after the measles he had St. Vitus dance."

His Conduct in Asylum.

How Thaw conducted himself at the Matteawan Asylum for the Criminal Insane, a phase of his life not gone into in the past, was described by Dr. Amos B. Baker, first assistant physician of the institution.

Confronted by notes, clippings and a mass of memorandum found in his clothing at Matteawan asylum by Dr. Amos T. Baker, Thaw turned pale, became confused and his mutterings were so incoherent the stenographer was unable to get a tangible declaration on the court minutes.

The district attorney took no advantage of his nervous condition. He halted the cross-examination after Thaw again offered the explanation that the notes had been made for information of counsel.

Thaw is Near Collapse.

Thaw's showing on the stand was by far the worst exhibition of the hearing. He evidently felt the force of Dr. Baker's declaration that he was a dangerous lunatic and went to the witness stand when Jerome called him, at a great disadvantage. His face twitched and he continually turned in his chair, nervously handling the papers that Jerome handed him. After he read the letters his voice dropped at times until even those nearest him were unable to hear him.

Dr. Austin Flint said he thought Thaw was now insane—"a true paranoiac." The witness described paranoiacism. Answering Jerome's query as to whether or not a paranoiac was dangerous to be at large, Dr. Flint said:

"A persecuted paranoiac is the most dangerous of the insane."

Persons who have been following the hearing predict that Thaw will be sent back to the asylum by Justice Mills.

AMERICANS WED IN LONDON.

Virginia Prickett Burrows, Edwardsville, Ill., Bride of H. C. Pierce, St. Louis, Mo.

London, Aug. 3.—Under a special license secured at Canterbury, Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis was quietly married at St. George's church, Hanover square, to Virginia Prickett Burrows, daughter of Maj. William Russell Prickett of Edwardsville, Ill., whose former husband died four years ago.

Beyond the church officials only four persons witnessed the wedding. The bride was attended by her daughter, Virginia Burrows, and given away by H. R. Anderson, Baron Gingo de Morpurgo supported the groom. The only other member of the wedding party was Mrs. Mary C. Mitchell, a relative of Mr. Pierce.

FOUNTAIN PEN PROVES IT IS MIGHTIER THAN BULLET

Saves New York Lawyer's Life When Woman Shoots Him, in the Waldorf-Astoria.

New York, Aug. 4.—While the oft-debated question, "Is the pen mightier than the sword?" may still be a matter of doubt, it has been proved in New York that a fountain pen may be the means of saving the life of a person at whom a shot is fired at close range.

William D. Craig, a lawyer, was thus protected when Mrs. Mary A. Castle, a decidedly good-looking woman, tried to kill him in the crowded Waldorf-Astoria hotel and instead of a mortal wound he bears only a scratch, because a fountain pen in his vest pocket deflected the bullet.

Craig, who is a member of the Rocky Mountain club, which has a suite of rooms in the hotel, was on his way to the club rooms to dress for dinner. Mrs. Castle, who had been waiting for him, tried to detain him, but Craig shook off the woman and went to the elevator. Mrs. Castle kept pace with him and as he was about to step into the elevator, she shot at him when the muzzle of the revolver was within an inch of his coat.

When detectives arrived the woman was sitting on a lounge, weeping hysterically. Taken to a police station she said she was an insurance agent and had a brother, Capt. Henry Scott, stationed at Fort Morgan, near Mobile, Ala. She pointed to Craig, who was standing near by, and after pleading for him to forgive her, said:

"He is the cause of my trouble. He has thrown me over."

Craig said he would press the charge against the woman.

TO VOTE ON TARIFF

SENATE AGREES TO TAKE FINAL ACTION ON BILL THURSDAY.

"JOKER" IS KNOCKED OUT

Western Senators Win in Their Battle Against Leather Schedule and a Concurrent Resolution is Intended to Amend the "Mistake."

Washington, Aug. 4.—The complete collapse of all important opposition to the conference report on the tariff bill was evidenced when the senate agreed to vote on that measure at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

The lack of interest in the proceedings which was evident was caused by an agreement on the part of western senators to vote on the conference report and to correct the hide and leather schedule by means of a concurrent resolution to be acted upon separately.

To Change Bill's Language.

The form of the concurrent resolution was agreed upon in an informal conference in Senator Aldrich's committee room. Instructions are given by this resolution to the enrolling clerks of the senate and house to change the language of the proviso reducing duties on boots and shoes and harness.

The change will make dutiable at ten per cent. "boots and shoes, the upper leather of which is made wholly or in chief value from the hides or skins of cattle, including castskins." A similar change will be made in relation to harness, saddles and saddlery.

The effect of the amendment is to make the reduced duties on boots and shoes and harness and saddlery apply to such articles as are composed of cattle and castskins, instead of confining the reductions to articles made from hides which have hitherto been dutiable. The range of the reduction is greatly increased.

Bailey Suggests Vote Agreement.

The suggestion for an agreement to vote was made in the senate by Mr. Bailey, representing the minority, and was at once concurred in by the chairman of the finance committee. The Texan intimated that there might be considerable debate on the concurrent resolution, but it is not believed that the discussion can be continued many hours.

Senator Culberson gave notice that he would seek to amend the concurrent resolution by placing cotton bagging on the free list, that article having been placed there by the senate and removed by the conference. Announcing that he could not vote for the conference report, Senator Clapp spoke at length in denunciation of the pending measure and Senator McComber spoke briefly in its support.

Report Adopted by House.

The house adopted the report Saturday night by a vote of 195 to 183. The vote was the climax of an eleven-hour session, conducted through most oppressive heat, but notwithstanding, it was enlivened by a dozen or more speeches of more or less fiery nature.

Twenty Republicans voted against the adoption of the report. They were: Cary (Wis.), Davis (Minn.), Gronna (N. D.), Haugen (Iowa), Hubbard (Iowa), Keifer (O.), Kendall (Iowa), Lenroot (Wis.), Lindberg (Minn.), Mann (Ill.), Miller (Minn.), Murdoch (Kan.), Nelson (Wis.), Nye (Minn.), Penderexter (Wash.), Southwick (N. Y.), Steenerson (Minn.), Stevens (Minn.), Volstead (Minn.), Woods (Iowa).

Two Democrats, Broussard and Estopinal of Louisiana, voted for the report.

WOULD SHAKE OFF EAST.

Time Has Come for West to Cut Shackles, Says Gov. Johnson of Minnesota.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 4.—"It is time that the west threw off the shackles of the east. I would preach no sectional divisions and no sectional strife, but Minnesota and Washington, and the states between them, with those to the south of us, should arise in their might and claim for themselves that fair share of influence in the halls of congress and in the administration of national affairs to which they are entitled by every law of common sense, as well as of political economy."

This was the declaration of Gov. John Johnson in his address at the Minnesota day celebration at the Seattle exposition.

"We, as an integral part of the American people, should cast our influence and our votes not only to advance the material interests of our own particular section, but we should be broad enough and big enough to labor for the common good of our common country," said the governor.

Eczema Made Hands and Feet Swell, Peel and Get Raw—Arms Affected, Too—Gave Up All Hope of Cure.

Quickly Cured by Cuticura.

"I suffered from eczema on my hands, arms and feet for about twelve years, my hands and feet would swell, sweat and itch, then would become callous and get very dry, then peel off and get raw. I tried most every kind of salve and ointment without success. I tried several doctors, but at last gave up thinking there was a cure for eczema. A friend of mine insisted on my trying the Cuticura Remedies, but I did not give them a trial until I got so bad that I had to do something. I secured a set and by the time they were used I could see a vast improvement and my hands and feet were healed up in no time. I have had no trouble since. Charles T. FIFTY BATTLECRAFT IN MIMIC WAR

By CAPT. ELLIS D. MORSON

CREW OF A BATTLESHIP

DISABLED SUBMARINE TORPEDO BOAT IN DRY DOCK

IF YOU had been an eye witness of the great naval battle which was fought off the port of Provincetown, Mass., in the Atlantic ocean, you would say without hesitation that "Uncle Sam can lick the world."

It was a mimic encounter, the feature of this summer's maneuvers of the Atlantic battleship fleet, which were held off the rugged Massachusetts coast between July 7 and August 5, the exercises there having just come to an end.

It was a great scrap, bloodless of course, but filled with enough mimic gore to make an American of the coldest temperament throw his hat into the air and yell for Old Glory, the stars and stripes, President Taft and all the rest.

Drawn up in battle alignment were 50 war craft of every size and shape. They ranged all the way from Rear Admiral Seaton Schroeder's 16,000-ton flagship, U. S. S. Connecticut, to the tiny submarine torpedo boat Tarentula.

Divided into two squadrons, opposing each other, these two divisions of "our friends, the enemy," broke the morning mist on opposite horizons and at the flagship's signals quickly fell into circular battle formation, opening fire at a distance of several miles.

On paper it was a gory struggle. A dozen of the terrors of the sea were "disabled" by Rear Admiral Schroeder's edict and several submarines figuratively carried their crews to Davy Jones' locker, never to return.

The battleship Connecticut led the ships of one division. From out of the cover of each opponent's guns darted the tiny torpedo boats and almost as often their courses were blocked and in some cases the torpedoes and torpedo boats "destroyed."

By nightfall the battle being called a "draw," the searchlights of the two sets of enemies followed each other out of sight and that Saturday evening foes became friends upon reaching headquarters at Provincetown.

Every known modern naval device was given its inning during the fight. Torpedoes were dispatched by wireless telegraph, this being an experiment tried in an actual engagement for the first time by the United States. The newly adopted fire control "wastebasket," proved a success, the officers said. The summer's maneuvers afforded the first opportunity for a crucial test of this invention.

A dozen torpedo boats made attacks on the big battleships and officers and men were required to exert extreme vigilance to also guard against the little submarine torpedo boats, four of which with the parent ship, the gunboat Castine, made things lively for the monster war vessels. Time and again the flagship Connecticut was compelled to dip her nets to ward off the destructive torpedoes which shot little swirls of foam to the surface of the ocean as they sped on their mission of mimic death.

The grim reaper, burlesqued, stalked everywhere during the encounter and time and again ships were declared "sunk," "destroyed" or "scuttled" to prevent capture by the enemy, while admirals, captains, petty officers and men were notified they had been "killed" by a well-directed shell.

The battle of the fleets was the play of the maneuvers. To the able-bodied seamen the work consisted of fleet drills and exercises involving tactical problems and battle evolutions. With their work off Provincetown finished the fleet was scheduled to depart for the southern drill grounds, south of Virginia capes, for record and battle target practice, the results of which were ordered secretly tabulated for the war department.

This shooting will occupy about two weeks beginning August 19. At its close the vessels will return to Hampton Roads and go to their home yards for repairs which may have been necessitated by the vigorous summer campaign. The winter maneuvers will take place in West Indian waters.

Hampton Roads presented a great sight when the big war craft departed from there for New England ports, where they spent July 4, preparatory to repairing to Provincetown for the maneuvers and sham naval struggle.

In the northern ports the sailors and officers were granted shore leave in relays from July 2 to July 6. Four ships visited Boston Independence day, two were at Penobscot bay, two at Portland, Me., and one each at Marblehead, Mass., Portsmouth, N. H., Eastport, Me., Brockport, Mass., Gloucester, Mass., and Booth Bay, Me.

With the reassembling of the fleet at Brockport, Mass., three days after the fourth began the summer's work, which was more picturesque than that of any previous year, it was said.

From Provincetown the fleet proceeded to sea each week, returning Saturday nights. On these trips of a week each occurred the fleet drills, the evolutions and other exercises.

One feature of the maneuvers was the presence of the naval militias of several eastern states. The members of these militia bodies are citizen sailors. Each body of militia was taken out for a week's instruction on the big ships. Permission to take the reserves on the voyages was granted through the courtesy of the navy department.

The Provincetown maneuvers presented the spectacle of battleships at practice firing at sea under every weather condition for the first time in the history of American naval art. Night firing under the same conditions was one of the important parts of the program which was carried out to the letter.

President Taft and Secretary of the Navy Meyer were witnesses of several of the maneuvers of the fleet at sea and both officials expressed themselves as delighted with the progress which the sailors have made at marksmanship since their world tour.

Two old torpedo boats, Nicholson and O'Brien, were dismantled, filled with cork to keep them afloat and used as targets for the gigantic projectiles. Time and again they were riddled and finally, the cork having been so thoroughly perforated that they were longer unable to keep afloat, they sank to the bottom of the ocean.

They were towed at different speeds by the cruisers and thus the gunners of the men-of-war given an opportunity to gauge distance and motion at the same time, one of the most difficult feats at which the American tar is an adept.

The scout cruisers Chester, Salem and Birmingham and the armored cruisers North Carolina, Montana and New York joined the fleet at Provincetown and took part in the elaborate rate program. The cruiser Montgomery, which had been fitted up as a torpedo experimental ship, was also with the fleet and took a prominent part in the struggle at sea, its experiments proving of great future value.

U.S.S. WISCONSIN

ARMORED CRUISER COLORADO

The great Atlantic torpedo fleet also deserves mention in connection with the summer's play at war. The flotilla of 12 boats with the cruiser Dixie as parent ship and four brand new submarine boats with the gunboat Castine as their parent ship played spectacular parts alongside of the monster battleships of fifteen and sixteen thousand tons.

Only 12 of the 16 battleships which went around the world were with the fleet of the Atlantic ocean of Provincetown, the other four in Rear Admiral Schroeder's command being new vessels, receiving their first experience at firing in this practice.

STOP EATING AND GET WELL

"In the course of my long experience I have noted," says Dr. Guelpa, one of Italy's best-known consulting physicians, according to the New York World, "that the beginning of a cure of a sick person always declares itself when the bodily weight shows a decrease. Whenever, on the contrary, the weight remained stationary I never failed on any occasion to find that the temperature had increased and that the particular illness of the moment had the upper hand."

And so it was that Guelpa, much to the chagrin and temporary discomfort of his many patients—and he had one of the largest clientele in Italy—was wont to ruthlessly prescribe a "diet of starvation." The patient would naturally protest. He felt weak, he would declare, and then Guelpa would talk to him somewhat after the following manner:

"My friend, you feel weak—and why? Simply because at the present moment your body, in the process of starvation, is expelling from its various departments a bad superabundance of toxic matters and diseased or worthless tissue which while you were overfeeding your system were unable to be thrown off owing to the calls you made upon your digestive and kindred organs. Not only do I starve you now, my poor friend, but tomorrow I will give you a purgative. You think I am cruel, do you? Not at all. All these noxious matters will be carried away from your system; but nevertheless I shall continue to starve you, caro amico. When your temperature has gone below the normal—that is to say, when in a couple of days the excess of toxic matter has been eliminated, then you shall have something to eat. No, not till then."

However, the doctor carried his investigations somewhat further. It occurred to him that even in the healthy state, or in the normal body which is supposed to be enjoying good health, this used-up or worthless tissue and effete matter must require occasional expulsion from the body. It is obvious that when the regulation amount of food is consumed the body's digestive and kindred organs have their allotted tasks to perform. Consequently, the refuse or worthless matter remains in the system, thus forming an object of attack in the case of disease, a source of debility and a happy hunting ground for those noxious phagocytes that prey upon the healthy body, first intrenching themselves in a center of the body which is predisposed to unhealthiness and attacking from Physician's Mean Trick.

A doctor was one day stopped in the streets by one of his woman patients whose malady was purely imaginary. The doctor, who was known for his intolerance of and nonsympathy with such invalids, after listening somewhat impatiently to the woman's detailed account of all her feelings and symptoms, told her to shut her eyes and put out her tongue. She promptly did so. On opening her eyes in a few seconds the doctor was nowhere to be seen, and the woman awoke to the fact that he had left her standing by herself in a busy thoroughfare with her eyes shut and her tongue hanging out.

The Water Bite.

He was six years old and had never gazed into the mystic lens of a microscope. Several slides containing animalcula had been displayed to his astonished vision. He was too amazed to make any comment until he came to one slide that seemed more wriggly than any of the others. It was merely a drop of water.

The little fellow gazed at it a long time, with all its nimble particles of animal life, and finally exclaimed to his mother:

"Oh, mamma, now I know what it is that bites you when you drink soda water."

And the Old Man Grinned.

"Duke," said the heiress, eagerly, "did you see father?"
"Yes."
"Well?"
"We talked about the weather."
"What? Lose your nerve again? Why don't you brace up and talk like a man?—a subject of a king or whose domain the sun never sets!"
"Can't," moaned the duke. "All the time I was in your father's office he kept grinning at a big painting."
"What painting?"
"The battle of Bunker Hill."

THE NEW WOMAN Made Over by Quitting Coffee.

Coffee probably wrecks a greater percentage of Southerners than of Northern people for Southerners use it more freely.

The work it does is distressing enough in some instances; as an illustration, a woman of Richmond, Va., writes:

"I was a coffee drinker for years and for about six years my health was completely shattered. I suffered fearfully with headache and nervousness, also palpitation of the heart and loss of appetite.

"My sight gradually began to fail and finally I lost the sight of one eye altogether. The eye was operated upon and the sight partially restored, then I became totally blind in the other eye.

"My doctor used to urge me to give up coffee, but I was willful and continued to drink it until finally in a case of severe illness the doctor insisted that I must give up the coffee, so I began using Postum, and in a month I felt like a new creature.

"I steadily gained in health and strength. About a month ago I began using Postum and Grape-Nuts and the effect has been wonderful. I really feel like a new woman and have gained about 25 pounds.

"I am quite an elderly lady and before using Postum and Grape-Nuts I could not walk a square without exceeding fatigue, now I walk ten or twelve without feeling it. Formerly in reading I could remember but little but now my memory holds fast what I read.

Several friends who have seen the remarkable effects of Postum and Grape-Nuts on me have urged that I give the facts to the public for the sake of suffering humanity, so, although I dislike publicity, you can publish this letter if you like."

We have just received the Finest, Most Stylish and Most Costly Shipment of goods ever seen in these Parts, Containing

Carriages BUGGIES Runabouts Surreys Traps,

Harness, Fly Nets, Whips, Dusters, Robes

It is really too bad to have some of our good friends come into our place and after looking over our elegant stock say: "What a mistake I have made by not waiting and buying here. I thought I was saving a dollar, but I now see my mistake. I wish I had come here, paid a little more and got something good, something with quality and finish." People are not fools; they can spot out "Cheap John" rigs as fast as they pass by. Better throw your money away than invest in those cheap rigs.

Who took those cash prizes in the large Fourth of July parade in Genoa, for the finest rig among all the different kinds that were shown? Of course, you might know—Staver Buggies and Harness. The judges could easily see the superiority of the Staver rigs.

If there are any catalog friends in the country who are looking for cheap buggies, we wish to say to them that we can sell Buggies for $50.00 for such as they send away and pay fifty-two to sixty-two dollars.

As a warning to you who are on the market for good goods we wish to say that we are going to sell the best goods at a reduced price.

KELLOGG & ADAMS, Genoa, Illinois

PATHETIC CASE OF OLD MAN

Found in Helpless Condition in a House Near DeKalb

A pathetic case came to the attention of the local police officials Saturday morning when they were called to the Wiley farm southwest of DeKalb to get an old man and take him to the poor house, says the DeKalb Chronicle.

The old fellow was found in an empty house on the farm. He gave his name as R. B. Price but could not give an account of himself except that he got on the cars at Duluth some time ago and could not remember anything after then. He got off the train at DeKalb, although how he ever got here is a mystery to the officers, and started to walk south. When he came to the Wiley farm he became sick and went into the old house.

As soon as he was found there the police were called and they brought him to DeKalb. He was later taken to the county farm after Chief of Police Adams had made him wash up and had given him some clothes.

INSTINCT OR REASON?

What a Nature Student Has Observed in Birds and Animals.

Along the hillsides where my home is placed crows assemble in vast numbers. Is it only instinct that leads them to set a sentinel on guard when they pull corn or maraud the birds' nests? Blackbirds do the same, and they have kept me on a merry chase—merry for them—just at church time, to get them out of my corn. But in Florida these same birds do not set a guard while hopping all over our gardens. Why? I think because they are catching bugs and know they will not offend us. Crows roost at a distance from their nests. Why? I think the reason is that they are afraid of endangering the limbs where the nests are placed.

Co-operative moral order sends the kingbird today to join the crow in fighting the deadly hawk, but another day I find him fighting the same crow that is stealing a young robin for his dinner. Why do the English sparrows not invade my acres at Clinton? They are all about me in vast numbers, just across the street, and they jabber in crowds quite within my hearing, yet hardly once or twice a year does a single sparrow show himself inside my line. If this is instinct, it is very recently acquired instinct, for I had a serious task in teaching them that it was unsafe to intrude.

Why do my bees refuse to allow one of my hired men to approach the hives? It cannot be instinct, although I confess I cannot trace out the logic involved. Why do two of my hens follow a cow hour after hour about the pasture? Not instinct, I am certain, but these two have discovered what the others have not, that the cow's motions stir up grasshoppers and crickets. After my father's death his dog led strangers into the house, holding their hands in his teeth, and he watched to see if harm was meant. Was that good logic or was it mere instinct?

During a warm summer shower I saw an angleworm try to draw a stick into its hole, holding it by the middle. After a vain effort of this sort, it deliberately felt its way to the end of the stick and then drew it easily into the ground. Its dinner of soft bark was secured. Was this incipient reason? What instinct could have taught that logical process. Science published my notes on the subject at the time with approval. Personally, I do not believe that there is an entire absence of these logical processes from any part of living nature—not even from the ovoid cell in which life first appears. I am convinced that the universe is charged with reason and that instinct is only a byproduct of universal thought.—E. P. Powell in Independent.

Peculiar Marriage Rites.

Northern India and the island of Banquey can certainly claim to have the most peculiar marriage rites of any country. In the former a cow and a calf are invariably required at the marriage. The animals are driven into a narrow running stream, the priests and the betrothed couple also standing in the water. The man and woman each catch hold of the cow's tail, and the priest pours water out of a glass vessel upon their joined hands, while all present mutter certain prayers. The young folks are then declared to be man and wife, and the priest claims the cow and calf as his fee. In the island of Banquey the officiating priest takes a sharp knife and with it makes a small incision in the right leg of the bride and bridegroom. From each incision he gathers a few drops of blood and transfers them to the other one's leg. This operation, together with a short religious formula, constitutes the whole of the marriage ceremony.

A gang of C. M. & St. P. workmen arrived in Genoa Wednesday afternoon and will cement the floors of the stock yards. A job that will surely be appreciated by the stock shippers as well as the residents in the neighborhood.

J. M. Harvey returned from his western trip Sunday, being greatly pleased with the journey and the state of Washington. While in Seattle he stopped with J. E. Jenkins, formerly of Genoa, and met several other Genoa people, including Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McAllister, Mrs. Grace Wilke, Belle Thomas and Howard Taylor. Mr. Jenkins is enjoying good health.

There has been considerable petty thieving going on in Genoa during the past few weeks. In no case has the loss been great, but it is none the less exasperating. A freezer of ice cream was stolen at the social on Sager's lawn recently. There are a few local hoodlums who might profit by a good lesson if caught in the act of sneaking around the back doors.

Mrs. Julia Holtgren, the assistant postmistress, was presented with a fine carving set by the postmaster and carriers last week as a token of their esteem and appreciation of her services in the office. Mrs. Holtgren, whose name was Bowers when she went into the office, has also won the good will of all the patrons of Uncle Sam's shop. She will soon leave for Minnesota where her husband has been preparing a home.

Four young vagrants who claimed that they hailed from Rockford were locked up in the "cooler" Friday evening just to keep them away from the temptation of doing mischief. It was the intention of Officer Fay to turn the boys loose Saturday and give them a start in the direction of Rockford. It seems, however, that they anticipated less courteous treatment and did not care to see the finish. Early in the morning they pried the bars from the windows and decamped. They had only been locked up in the "reception" room of the old jail.

INCREASES AND DECREASES IN NEW TARIFF BILL

Schedules as Compared with the Rates Under the Existing Dingley Measure.

HIDES ON THE FREE LIST

Marked Reduction in Wood Pulp and Print Paper—Rough Lumber Down from $2 to $1.25 Per Thousand Feet—Wool Schedule Shows Little Change—Corporation Tax Law Provided For—Bonds to Build Panama Canal.

Washington.—The schedules of the new tariff bill, with comparisons with rates under the Dingley measure, are as follows:

Rough lumber goes down from $2 to $1.25 per thousand feet, with corresponding reduction in the differential on dressed lumber.

The wool schedule underwent no change of consequence, but the entire cotton schedule was reconstructed and the phraseology greatly changed in the hope of preventing reductions through decisions by the courts such as have characterized the administration of the Dingley law during latter years. In many instances the rates intended to be imposed by the Dingley law were cut by the decisions, the reductions in some instances being from 60 per cent. to eight per cent. ad valorem.

Probably the most marked reductions throughout any schedule in the bill as a result of the action of the two houses and of the conference committee are found in the metal schedule. Beginning with a decrease in the rate of iron ore from 40 to 15 cents per ton, there is a general reduction throughout that portion of the bill, pig iron going down from $4 to $2.50 per ton, and scrap iron from $4 to $1. The reduction on many of the items in this schedule amounts to about 50 per cent., and this reduction includes steel rails. There is an increase on structural steel ready for use and also a slight increase on razors, nippers and pliers, and on such new metals as tungsten.

Rates on Hosiery Increased. The rates on hosiery are generally increased. In the much contested matter of the rate on gloves the high protectionists fall to score. They sought, through an increase made by the house, to raise the duty materially above the Dingley figure, but were antagonized by the senate, and the senate won, the only change made in the entire schedule being one slight reduction.

The silk schedule was reconstructed with a view of imposing specific rather than ad valorem duties, with the result that the average duty will be somewhat higher under the new law than under the present statute. Oil cloths and linoleum are heavily cut, but otherwise the changes in the flax, hemp and jute provisions were not material. A slightly increased duty is provided for hemp, both crude and hulled, and also on certain high-grade laces. On linen yarns and matings there is a reduction.

Sugar and tobacco duties remain substantially as they are under the Dingley law. The free importation of considerable quantities of both of these articles from the Philippine islands is permitted, and a material change was made in the internal revenue law by an amendment taking the tax of the sale of tobacco in the hand.

There is a uniform increase on spirits, wines and liquors of 15 per cent. Raise Rate on Hops. In the agricultural schedule hops are increased from 12 to 16 cents a pound and there is also an increase on lemons, figs, almonds and pineapples.

The publishers win their fight for lower wood pulp and print paper, the rate on the ordinary newspaper print paper being fixed at $3.75 per ton instead of $5 as under the Dingley law, and on the higher grades of print paper at $2.75 instead of $3. Mechanically ground wood pulp is to come in free of duty instead of paying one-twelfth of a cent a pound as under the Dingley law, but provision is made for a countervailing duty in case it becomes necessary to protect this country against Canada's prohibitions upon the exportation of woods to the United States.

Hides of cattle come in free and there is a corresponding reduction on leather and leather goods. The free hide provision is based on the condition that on and after October 1, 1909, sole leather from the hides that are to be admitted free will pay a duty of five per cent.; grain, buff and split leather 7 1/2 per cent.; boots and shoes, the upper leather of which is made from such hides, 10 per cent., and harness and saddlery, 20 per cent. This schedule of rates will result in a reduction of 15 per cent. on boots and shoes, 20 per cent. on harness and saddlery, 15 per cent. on sole leather and 12 1/2 per cent. on leather for uppers, if made of the hides that are put on the free list by the provision.

Bituminous coal is reduced from 67 cents per ton to 45 cents, and there is also a reduction on gunpowder, matches and cartridges. Agricultural implements go off from 20 per cent. ad valorem to 15 per cent., and the older works of art are placed upon the free list. Petroleum, which received much attention in both houses, slips through without any duty, countervailing or otherwise, and most of its products come in under the same terms.

Increases in the chemical schedules are as follows: Liquid anhydrous ammonia, from 25 per cent. ad valorem to five cents per pound.

Manufactures of collodion, increased five per cent.

Coca leaves increased five cents per pound.

Fancy soaps increased from 15 cents per pound to 50 per centum ad valorem.

The list of decreases in this schedule was much longer, the principal items being as follows:

Boric acid from five to two cents per pound.

Chromic acid and lactic acid from three to two cents per pound.

Salicylic acid from ten to seven cents per pound.

Tannic acid, or tannin, from 50 to 35 cents per pound.

Sulphate of ammonia from three-tenths cent per pound to free list.

Borax from five to two cents per pound.

Chloroform from 20 to 10 cents per pound.

Copperas from one-fourth cent to fifteen hundredths of one cent per pound.

Iodoform from $1 to 75 cents per pound.

Licorice from 4 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents per pound.

Cottonseed Oil on Free List. Cottonseed oil and cotton oil from the dutiable to the free list.

Flaxseed, linseed and poppy seed oil from 20 to 15 cents per gallon.

Peppermint oil from 50 to 25 cents per gallon.

Ocher and ochery earths, sienna and sienna earths, and amber and amber earths, if ground in oil or water, from 1 1/2 to one cent per pound.

Varnishes from 35 per cent. to 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Methylated and spirit varnishes from $1.32 per gallon and 35 per cent. ad valorem to 35 cents per gallon and 35 per cent. ad valorem; white lead, acetate of lead, and a number of other lead products, from one-fourth to one-eighth of a cent a pound.

Bichromate and chromate of potash from three to 2 1/2 cents per pound.

Chlorate of potash from 2 1/2 to two cents per pound.

Crystal carbonate of soda from three-tenths to one-fourth of one cent per pound; chlorate of soda from two to 1 1/2 cents per pound.

Hydrate of, or caustic soda, from three-fourths to one-half of one cent per pound; nitrate of soda from 2 1/2 to two cents per pound.

Sulphate of soda, or salt cake, or miter cake, from $1.25 to $1 per ton. Strychnia, or strychnine, from 30 to 15 cents per ounce.

Sulphur, refined or sublimated, or flowers of, from $5 to $6 per ton.

In earthenware and glassware there is but one increase. This is slight and is made on the smaller sizes of plate glass. The decreases in this schedule include:

Fire brick, glazed, enameled, and so forth, from 45 per cent. to 35 per cent. ad valorem; brick, other than fire brick, if glazed, from 45 per cent. to 35 per cent. ad valorem.

Plaster rock, or gypsum, crude, from 50 to 30 cents per ton; if ground or calcined, from $2.25 to $1.25.

Unpolished, cylinder, crown and common window glass, smaller glass and cheaper values, reduced one-eighth of a cent per pound.

able at not more than 15 per cent. ad valorem. Tungsten ore is made dutiable at ten per cent.

The duty on watches was readjusted, remaining at about the same as the Dingley law.

A duty of one cent per pound was put upon the zinc in the ore where it contains more than 20 per cent. of zinc. On zinc with less than 20 per cent. there is a lower rate of duty. Zinc now has a duty of 20 per cent.

There was an added duty of one-half of one cent per pound upon plain bottle caps, and on decorated bottle caps the duty was increased from 45 to 55 per cent.

The reductions in the metal schedule are more numerous and generally more marked than in most of the others. Heading the list is iron ore, which was decreased from 40 to 15 cents per ton. Pig iron, iron kettles, and Spiegeleisen, were lowered from $4 to $2.50 per ton.

Scrap iron and steel from four to one dollar per ton.

Reductions were made on bar iron, round iron, slabs and blooms, structural steel not fabricated, anchors, iron and steel forgings, hoop, band, or scroll iron or steel, steel bands or strips.

Railway Bars and Steel Rails. The reduction on cotton ties is from five-tenths to three-tenths of one cent per pound, and railway bars and steel rails from seven-tenths of one cent per pound to seven-forty-eighths.

Iron or steel sheets were also reduced, and the duty on charcoal iron is made six dollars a ton, instead of $12.

Other reductions in the metal schedule affect polished sheets, rolled sheets of iron, steel, copper, or nickel, steel ingots, cogged ingots, blooms and slabs; round iron or steel wire, steel bars or rods, cold rolled, or polished, or cold hammered, or polished; anvils, axles; blacksmith's hammers and sledges; track tools, wedges and crowbars; bolts; cast iron pipes; cast hollow ware; chains; lap welded or jointed iron or steel boiler tubes; cut nails and spikes; horse-shoe nails; wire nails; spikes; nuts and washers; cot tacks; steel plates engraved; rivets; cross-cut saws, mill-saws, circular saws, pit and drag saws, steel band saws and all other saws; screws; wheels for railway purposes; aluminum; mormazite sand and thorite.

Tin plates reduced from one and one-half to one and two-tenths cents per pound.

Borate of lime and other borate material from four to two cents per pound.

Chloroform from 20 to 10 cents per pound.

Copperas from one-fourth cent to fifteen hundredths of one cent per pound.

Iodoform from $1 to 75 cents per pound.

Licorice from 4 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents per pound.

Cottonseed Oil on Free List. Cottonseed oil and cotton oil from the dutiable to the free list.

Flaxseed, linseed and poppy seed oil from 20 to 15 cents per gallon.

Peppermint oil from 50 to 25 cents per gallon.

Ocher and ochery earths, sienna and sienna earths, and amber and amber earths, if ground in oil or water, from 1 1/2 to one cent per pound.

Varnishes from 35 per cent. to 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Methylated and spirit varnishes from $1.32 per gallon and 35 per cent. ad valorem to 35 cents per gallon and 35 per cent. ad valorem; white lead, acetate of lead, and a number of other lead products, from one-fourth to one-eighth of a cent a pound.

Bichromate and chromate of potash from three to 2 1/2 cents per pound.

Chlorate of potash from 2 1/2 to two cents per pound.

Crystal carbonate of soda from three-tenths to one-fourth of one cent per pound; chlorate of soda from two to 1 1/2 cents per pound.

Hydrate of, or caustic soda, from three-fourths to one-half of one cent per pound; nitrate of soda from 2 1/2 to two cents per pound.

Unpolished, cylinder, crown and common window glass, smaller glass and cheaper values, reduced one-eighth of a cent per pound.

Onyx in block, from $1.50 per cubic foot to 65 cents per cubic foot.

Duty Lowered on Marble. Marble, sawed or dressed, over two inches in thickness, from $1.10 to $1 per cubic foot, with other reductions on the entire marble paragraph and on other stone.

There is a general reduction in mica to 30 per cent. ad valorem. There was before a mixed specific and ad valorem system.

Structural steel, fitted for use, falls in the basket clause at 45 per cent. ad valorem.

There also is an increase on razors, and upon nippers and pliers.

Lithographic plates are increased from 25 to 50 per cent. ad valorem.

Chrome metal, ferrosilicon, tungsten, and other new metals used in the manufacture of steels, are made duti-

Western Writer Pays Tribute to Railroad Magnate as Builder-Up of the Country.

Mr. Edward H. Harriman is on a trip to Europe. Ordinarily there would need be nothing added to this announcement beyond an exhortation to Emperor William to chain down his railroads and to other monarchs to put their crowns and other valuables in the safe at night. But Mr. Harriman is going off on a pleasure trip, and so many mean things have been said about him that it will not hurt any to change the tune a moment: while he is out of the country and not able to take any advantage of the lapse from the cold attitude of severity that is usually used in mentioning the name of Harriman.

Of all the great railroad men developed in this generation, E. H. Harriman is easily the biggest and the best, says a CHAPTER I.

Wave-Tossed and Castaway.

THE beginning was at Cape Town, when Blake and Winthrop boarded the steamer as fellow passengers with Lady Bayrose and her party.

This was a week after Winthrop had arrived on the tramp steamer from India, and her ladyship had explained to Miss Leslie that it was as well for her not to be too hasty in accepting his attentions. To be sure, he was an Englishman, his dress and manners were irreproachable, and he was in the prime of ripened youth. Yet Lady Bayrose was too conscientious a chaperon to be fully satisfied with her countryman's bare assertion that he was engaged on a diplomatic mission requiring reticence regarding his identity. She did not see why this should prevent him from confiding in her.

Notwithstanding this, Winthrop came aboard ship virtually as a member of her ladyship's party. He was so quick, so thoughtful of her comfort, and paid so much more attention to her than to Miss Leslie, that her ladyship had decided to tolerate him, even before Blake became a factor in the situation.

From the moment he crossed the gangway the American engineer entered upon a daily routine of drinking and gambling, varied only by attempts to strike up an off-hand acquaintance with Miss Leslie. This was Winthrop's opportunity, and his clever frustration of what Lady Bayrose termed "that low bounder's impudence" served to install him in the good graces of her ladyship as well as in the favor of the American heiress.

Such, at least, was what Winthrop intimated to the persistent engineer with a superciliousness of tone and manner that would have stung even a British lackey to resentment. To Blake it was supremely galling. He could not rejoin in kind, and the slightest attempt at physical retort would have meant irons and confinement. It was a British ship. Behind Winthrop was Lady Bayrose; behind her ladyship, as a matter of course, was all the despotic authority of the captain. In the circumstances, it was not surprising that the American drank heavier after each successive goading.

Meantime the ship, having touched at Port Natal, steamed on up the east coast, into the Mozambique channel.

On the day of the cyclone, Blake had withdrawn into his stateroom with a number of bottles, and throughout that fearful afternoon was blissfully unconscious of the danger. Even when the steamer went on the reef, he was only partially roused by the shock.

He took a long pull from a quart flask of whisky, placed the flask with great care in his hip pocket, and lurched out through the open doorway. There he reeled headlong against the mate, who had rushed below with three of the crew to bring up Miss Leslie. The mate cursed him virulently, and in the same breath ordered two of the men to fetch him up on deck.

The sea was breaking over the steamer in torrents; but between waves Blake was dragged across to the side and flung over into the bottom of the one remaining boat. He served as a cushion to break the fall of Miss Leslie, who was tossed in after him. At the same time, Winthrop, frantic with fear, scrambled into the bows and cut loose. One of the sailors leaped, but fell short and went down within arm's length of Miss Leslie.

She and Winthrop saw the steamer slip from the reef and sink back into deep water, carrying down in the vortex the mate and the few remaining sailors. After that all was chaos to them. They were driven ashore before the terrific gusts of the cyclone, blinded by the stinging spindrift to all else but the hell of breakers and coral reefs in whose midst they swirled so dizzily. And through it all Blake lay huddled on the bottom boards gurgling blithely of spicy zephyrs and swaying hammocks.

There came the seemingly final moment when the boat went spinning stern over prow.

Sleeping the Sleep of the Just and the Drunkard.

turned over, and staggered to his feet. Instantly one of the terrific wind-blasts struck his broad back and sent him spinning for yards. He brought up in a shallow pool, beside a hummock.

Under the lee of the knoll lay Winthrop and Miss Leslie. Though conscious, both were dragged and bruised and beaten to exhaustion. They were together because they had come ashore together. When the boat capsized, Miss Leslie had been flung against the Englishman, and they had held fast to each other with the desperate clutch of drowning persons. Neither of them ever recalled how they gained the shelter of the hummock.

Blake, sitting waist-deep in the pool, blinked at them benignly with his pale blue eyes, and produced the quart flask, still a third full of whisky.

"I shay, fren's," he observed, "ha' one on me. Won' cos' you shent—notta re' shent!"

"You fuddled lout!" shouted Winthrop. "Come out of that pool!"

"Wassama'er pool? Pool's allri'!" The Englishman squinted through the driving scud at the intoxicated man with an anxious frown. In all probability he felt no commiseration for the American; but it was no light matter to be flung up bareheaded on the most unhealthful and savage stretch of the Mozambique coast, and Blake might be able to help them out of their predicament. To leave him in the pool was therefore not to be thought of. So soon as he had drained his bottle, he would lie down, and that would be the end of him. As any attempt to move him forcibly was out of the question, the situation demanded that Winthrop justify his intimations of diplomatic training. After considering the problem for several minutes, he met it in a way that proved he was at least not lacking in shrewdness and tact.

"See here, Blake," he called, in another lull between the shrieking gusts, "the lady is fatigued. You're too much of a gentleman to ask her to come over there."

It required some moments for this to penetrate Blake's fuddled brain. After a futile attempt to gain his feet, he crawled out of the pool on all fours, and with tears in his eyes, pressed his flask upon Miss Leslie. She shrank away from him, shuddering, and drew herself up in a huddle of flaccid limbs and limp garments. Winthrop, however, not only accepted the flask, but came near to draining it.

Blake squinted at the diminished contents, hesitated, and cast a glance of maudlin gallantry at Miss Leslie. She lay coiled, closer than before, in a draggled heap. Her posture suggested sleep. Blake stared at her, the flask extended waveringly before him. Then he brought it to his lips, and drained out the last drop.

"Time turn in," he mumbled, and sprawled full length in the brackish ooze. Immediately he fell into a drunken stupor.

Winthrop, invigorated by the liquor, rose to his knees, and peered around. It was impossible to face the scud and spindrift from the furious sea; but to leeward he caught a glimpse of a marsh flooded with salt water, its CHAPTER II.

Worse Than Wilderness.

A WAIL from Miss Leslie roused the Englishman out of a dream in which he had been swimming for life across a sea of boiling oil. He sat up and gazed about him, half-dazed. The cyclone had been followed by a dead calm, and the sun, already well above the horizon, was blazing upon them over the glassy surfaces of the dying swells with fierce heat.

Winthrop felt about for his hat. It had been blown off when, at the striking of the steamer, he had rushed up on deck. As he remembered, he straightened, and looked at his companions. Blake lay snoring where he had first outstretched himself, sleeping the sleep of the just—and of the drunkard. The girl, however, was already awake. She sat with her hands clasped in her lap, while the tears rolled slowly down her cheeks.

"My—ah—dear Miss Genevieve, what is the matter?" exclaimed Winthrop.

"Matter? Do you ask, when we are here on this wretched coast, and may not get away for weeks? Oh, I did so count on the London season this year! Lady Bayrose promised that I should be among those presented."

"Well, I—ah—fancy, Lady Bayrose will do no more presenting—unless it may be to the heavenly choir, you know."

for us to start off for India, when we might have sailed straight to England! Oh, it is horrible! horrible! And my maid, and all—it cannot be possible!"

"Pray, do not excite yourself, my dear Miss Genevieve. Their troubles are all over. Er—Gawd has taken them to Him, you know."

"But the pity of it! To be drowned—so far from home!"

"Ah, if that's all you're worrying about—I must say I'd like to know how we'll get a snack for breakfast. I'm hungry as a—er—groom."

"Eating! How can you think of eating, Mr. Winthrop—and all the others drowned? This sun is becoming dreadfully hot. It is unbearable! Can you not put up some kind of an awning?"

"Well, now, I must say, I was never much of a hand at such things, and really I can't imagine what one could rig up. There might have been a bit of sail in the boat, but one can't see a sign of it. I fancy it was smashed."

Miss Leslie ventured a glance at Blake. Though still lying as he had sprawled in his drunkenness, there was a comforting suggestion of power in his broad shoulders and square jaw.

"Is he still—in that condition?"

"Must have slept it off by this time, and there's no more in the flask," answered Winthrop. Reaching over with his foot, he pushed against Blake's back.

"Huh! All right," grunted the sleeper, and sat up, as had Winthrop, half dazed. Then he stared around him, and rose to his feet. "Well, what in hell! Say, this is damn cheerful!"

"I fancy we are in a nasty fix. But I say, my man, there is a woman present, and your language, you know—"

Blake turned and fixed the Englishman with a cold stare.

"Look here, you bloomin' lud," he said, "there's just one thing you're going to understand, right here and now. I'm not your man, and we're not going to have any of that kind of blatter. Any fool can see we're in a tight hole, and we're like to keep company for a while—probably long as we last."

"What—ah—may I ask, do you mean by that?"

Blake laughed harshly, and pointed from the reef-strewn sea to the vast stretches of desolate marsh. Far inland, across miles of brackish lagoons and reedy mud-flats, could be seen groups of scrubby, half-leaved trees; ten or twelve miles to the southward a rocky headland jutted out into the water; otherwise there was nothing in sight but sea and swamp. If it could not properly be termed a sea-view, it was at least a very wet landscape.

"Fine prospect," remarked Blake, dryly. "We'll be in luck if the fever don't get the last of us inside a month; and as for you, two, you'd have as much show of lasting a month as a toad, with a rattlesnake, if it wasn't for Tom Blake—that's my name—Tom Blake—and as long as this shindy lasts, you're welcome to call me Tom or Blake, whichever suits. But understand, we're not going to have any more of your bloody, bloomin' English condescension. Aboard ship you had the drop on me, and could pile on dog till the cows came home. Here I'm Blake and you're Winthrop."

"Believe me, Mr. Blake, I quite appreciate the—ah—situation. And now, I fancy that, instead of wasting time—"

"It's about time you introduced me to the lady," interrupted Blake, and he stared at them half defiantly, yet with a twinkle in his eyes.

Miss Leslie flushed. Winthrop swore softly, and bit his lip. Aboard ship, backed by Lady Bayrose and the captain, he had goaded the American at pleasure. Now, however, the situation was reversed. Both title and authority had been swept away by the storm, and he was left to shift for himself against the man who had every reason to hate him for his overbearing insolence. Worse still, both he and Miss Leslie were now dependent upon the American, in all probability for life itself. It was a bitter pill and hard to swallow.

SOLID GOLD & SILVER AWARD

For the Best Ear of Corn

To be Known as the W.K. Kellogg National Corn Trophy

To be Awarded at the National Corn Exposition, Omaha, December 6 to 18, 1909.

Over one hundred thousand million (100,000,000,000) ears of corn were grown in the United States last year. Over a billion dollars were paid for them. More than a million and a quarter extra dollars went into the pockets of the farmers for corn this year than they received for the previous year's crop.

The reason for this may be found in the fact that the people of the United States are beginning to learn how delicious corn is and to realize its full food value.

Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes has placed corn among the indispensable items of daily fare.

The makers, therefore, are interested in the development of the King of Cereals, and have decided to award a beautiful trophy for the man, woman or child who can produce the best ear of corn in two different seasons.

Professor Holden, of the Iowa State College, the greatest authority on corn in the world, will award the prize at the National Corn Exposition, to be held at Omaha, Neb., December 6th to 18th, 1909. Two prize rules will govern the plan, and they are—That you send your best ear of corn to the National Corn Exposition, Omaha, Neb., before November 27, 1909; and that you are a member of the National Corn Association. Full particulars regarding which can be had by writing to National Corn Exposition, Omaha, Neb. Tie a tag securely to your specimen and word it. For the Kellogg Trophy Contest, and write your name and address plainly. If yours is judged the best, you will get the trophy for 1910. If you succeed again next year or the year following, the trophy will become your property for all time. In other words, you must produce the best ear of corn two different years.

There will be no restrictions. Any man, woman or child belonging to the Association can enter. It will be open to every state in the Union. Professor Holden will judge the corn particularly on the basis of quality. The growing of more corn per acre is one object of the award, but the main purpose of the founder of the trophy is for

Increasing the Quality of Corn Used in Making Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES

Many people think we have reached the point of perfection in Toasted Corn Flakes as it now is. Perhaps we have. If you haven't tried it, begin your education in "good things to eat" today. All grocers have it.

KELLOGG TOASTED CORN FLAKE CO., Battle Creek, Mich.

W. K. Kellogg

The Genuine Corn Flakes has this Signature

Singular and Plural.
"Whenever she gets to thinking how much they're in debt it affects her nerves."
"Huh! the way it affects her husband is singular."
"How singular?"
"Just singular. It affects his 'nerve.' He tried to borrow a hundred from me to-day."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Got His Answer.
Uncle—You are a very nice little girl to ask me to have more soup. Now why do you want me to have it?
Niece—So you won't eat so much of the chicken as you did last time.—Fliegende Blatter.

Use Allen's Foot-Ease.
It is the only relief for Swollen Smarting, Tired, Aching, Hot, Sweating Feet, Corns and Bunions. Ask for Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to be shaken into the shoes. Cures while you walk. At all Druggists and Shoe Stores, etc. Don't accept any substitute. Sample sent FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Not Worth the Time.
No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare time for personal contention.—Lincoln.

Hopeless.
Tom—I tell you, old man, Miss Gable certainly has got a pile of money. Why don't you propose to her?
Dick—I've started to do it several times.
Tom—What's the matter? Lose your courage?
Dick—No, but I'm never able to get a word in edgewise.—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Non-Expert Opinion.
"I say, Jim, what do they mean by 'fearsome' in this here game of golf?"
"Don't know, Dick, unless it's the way some folks play."

A feeling of security and freedom from anxiety pervades the home in which Hamline Wizard Oil is kept constantly on hand. Mothers know it can always be depended upon in time of need.

"Well," said a woman of 30, with some asperity, "you needn't tell me that. Talk to the man."

There are imitations, don't be fooled. There is no substitute! Tell the dealer you want Lewis' Single Binder cigar.

Among other high rollers we have the elevated trains.

Paxtine
TOILET ANTISEPTIC
—NOTHING LIKE IT FOR—

THE TEETH Paxtine excels any dentifrice in cleansing, whitening and removing tartar from the teeth, besides destroying all germs of decay and disease which ordinary tooth preparations cannot do.

THE MOUTH Paxtine used as a mouth-wash disinfects the mouth and throat, purifies the breath, and kills the germs which collect in the mouth, causing sore throat, bad teeth, bad breath, grippe, and much sickness.

THE EYES and bun, may be instantly relieved and strengthened by Paxtine.

CATARH Paxtine will destroy the germs that cause catarrh, heal the inflammation and stop the discharge. It is a sure remedy for uterine catarrh.

Paxtine is a harmless yet powerful germicide, disinfectant and deodorizer. Used in bathing it destroys odors and leaves the body antiseptically clean.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

What to Forget

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbors' faults. Forget all the slander you ever heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault-finding, and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they really are. Blot out, as far as possible, all the disagreeableness of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.—Exchange.
