Abbott, Devine and Hunt republican, democrat and progressive, are the representatives elect, Tourtillott of Dixon, the regular republican nominee being sacrificed to make room for the progressive. Mr. Tourtillott, like Mr. Fuller, was not defeated because of any shortcoming, but because of the fact that he stood by his convictions. Both will leave office with the conviction that they have served their constituents well.

And now comes the real fun of the times. Already the democratic leaders of the several thousand cities where first, second and third class post offices are located are casting longing eyes toward the job, and in many places petitions were out before the complete returns were in.

Genoa and other cities of the 12th district are in a peculiar position. It is usually customary for the congressman to pass out these plums to the faithful. We have a progressive congressman and he surely owes the post office job in Genoa to some one of that faith. On the other hand the democrats have carried the nation by an overwhelming vote; if the sentiment of the country has anything to do with it, the democrats are entitled to everything in sight to be passed around.

The present postmaster, G. J. Patterson, was reappointed in February, 1911, and his commission will not expire until 1915. Under the conditions it may be possible that there will be no change in the postmastership here for some time. There are a few out scouting for the job now, however.

THE BIG SHOW

Monster Preparations for the 1912 International Live Stock Exposition Under Way

Preparation is being made on a stupendous scale for the largest display of horses, cattle, hogs and sheep since the inception of that magnificent enterprise. An army of mechanics and laborers is on the ground setting the gigantic stage on which the show will be presented to the people of the North American continent. If the largest list of entries on record warrants such prediction, the 1912 International will throw its forerunners in the shade, and each of them was credited with having marked a climax.

An elaborate scheme of interior decoration has been designed and artisans will work overtime during the next three weeks carrying it into effect. New facilities for the convenience of visitors are being installed and neither pains nor expense spared to insure success.

The spacious grounds will be tastefully decorated and brilliantly illuminated, the night setting of the exterior being an added feature. The interior of the mammoth pavilion will present a series of surprises when ready for occupation by the equine and bovine contenders for honors.

Preparation for the International Live Stock Exposition, which will this year be held from November 30th to December 7th, is no insignificant task. Hundreds of artisans consume a month or more in carrying out plans laid down long previously.

The average of the corn crop in Illinois is only about 30 bushels per acre and clover one ton; the bugs often eat the fruit; the farm home, in many instances, not kept up as it should be; the machinery is often left stand in the fields all year; there is a large amount of waste land; not much alfalfa raised; bad roads; many renters; and a large number of farm children going to the city. These may rightfully be called ghostly conditions which may and must be remedied by the farm boy.

On the eve of the opening of the Exposition interest was never as keen. All over the country a host of exhibitors are getting live stock into show condition. Breeding and fat stuff is receiving finishing touches at the hands of the master fitters and feeders of the country, loading day being anxiously awaited. The public sees only the culmination of this titanic effort.

JOSEPH CRISWELL DEAD

Succumbs to a Second Stroke of Paralysis—Body Taken to Maryland

Joseph Criswell passed away at the home of Walter Spanswick on the Sowers farm south of Genoa early Saturday morning, death resulting from a stroke of paralysis with which he was stricken on Thursday evening, the entire system being affected. He suffered a stroke over a year ago while employed by Henry Burroughs and at that time had a narrow escape from death.

The body was taken to Woodbine, Maryland, Sunday morning, in charge of Roy Slater of the local undertaking firm, and there laid to rest. His mother is still living in Maryland as well as a brother, Will, who at one time was a resident of Genoa.

Joe, as he was known among his friends, came to Genoa about fifteen years ago and has been employed as a farm hand in this vicinity since that time, working for several farmers, all of whom speak well of him as a faithful employe. He was industrious at all times, had no evil habits and saved his money. At the time of his death he had several hundred dollars in cash and securities and carried life insurance in the M. W. A. as well as in a company in the east. He is about forty-one years of age.

ASK FOR FRANCHISE

Illinois Northern Utilities Co. will Appear Before Council

A SPECIAL MEETING FRIDAY

Proposed Franchise Much More Liberal than the First Submitted, but Rate for Service Still a Bone of Contention

A special meeting of the city council has been called for Friday evening of this week at which time the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. will ask for an ordinance franchise to cover a term of fifty years.

Some time ago a representative of the company appeared before the council with a proposition, but at that time it was turned down, there being no possible chance for them to get together on such terms. Now they come with a new franchise with some additions regarding the placing of poles, etc., the pole proposition being left mostly to the discretion of the council or the street committee.

They will ask for a fifty year franchise as before. The fifty year feature is nothing more than all big corporations ask for and is what is being granted. But in granting a franchise for fifty years, as stated before in this paper, great care should be taken that nothing creeps into the wording of the ordinance nor nothing left out which will cause regrets in the years to come.

The company offers an indemnity bond of $10,000.00 to save the city harmless from any damages which might result from the granting of the ordinance.

As near as can be ascertained at this time the chief bone of contention will be rate asked for service. Under the present system we are paying fifteen cents per 1000 for the first 15000 and 7½ cents per 1000 kilowatts.

The new owners of the plant ask for a rate of 13½ cents flat regardless of the amount used. This rate for the small user of electricity would be cheaper than under the old rate, and might at the present time work out to good advantage to the greatest number of people. However, when it comes to tying up a city for fifty years for this rate it is different. Most of the council members are asking that a clause be inserted in the ordinance providing for a change in rates after a certain term of years, or at stated periods during the life of the franchise. It is true that the state or government may in the near future control the rates of all public utilities. In that event such a clause in the ordinance would work no hardship to anyone.

There is nothing in the ordinance regarding street lighting. This is a matter which should also be considered before tying up the city for a long term of years. The city council has had a long time in which to consider all these things and will no doubt be able to cope with the propositions as they come up Friday evening.

Business men of Genoa are earnestly requested to attend this meeting.

Lost a Finger

While using the chopping machine at M. L. Geithman's meat market last week Thos. Baker in some manner got one of his fingers mixed up in the knives and zip! part of the finger was gone. Thos. did not let a little thing like the loss of a finger stop him, however. He is still cutting meat.

TODAY AND YESTERDAY

William Whipple Writes of the Progress of the World and the Boy's Chances

Eighty years ago there was not a mile of railroad in the United States but now we have a vast mileage in every state. Other inventions have likewise been introduced rapidly. The thinking men are the ones who have made these things possible; their secret of success is in doing all things well. Genius, it has been said, is 98 per cent work; it is not inspiration but preparation.

There is a right and a wrong way of doing everything. There are hard things to do on a farm but the farmer works for himself establishing his own business which may be run by his children after him. He saves money on taxes, not being taxed for water, police or fire protection. In banking, for example, one man does not have complete control and own the business.

The days of pioneer farming in which hard labor was done in preparing the land for the plow is past and now machinery is doing the work which was at one time all done by hand. Head work as well as muscular labor are therefore necessary. Work hard and at the right time on the farm, but ten hours each day is enough if part of that time is not spent talking to agents. Land is valuable; work it as it should be and increase the production.

The opportunity of the farm boy is greater than ever before.

The average of the corn crop in Illinois is only about 30 bushels per acre and clover one ton; the bugs often eat the fruit; the farm home, in many instances, not kept up as it should be; the machinery is often left stand in the fields all year; there is a large amount of waste land; not much alfalfa raised; bad roads; many renters; and a large number of farm children going to the city. These may rightfully be called ghostly conditions which may and must be remedied by the farm boy.

SHATTUCK NOT DEAD

"Long Jack" Emphatically Denies that He was Frozen to Death in Alaska

Shortly after his mother was in Sycamore, last September, where she was called by the illness and death of her daughter, Mrs. Guy Singer, she was informed of the death of her son, John Shattuck, who was supposed to have frozen to death in Alaska.

An account of his supposed death together with that of his companions was published in this paper. But it now develops that John Shattuck is alive. The Belvidere Republican says:

John Shattuck, known to his Belvidere and Boone county friends as "Long Jack," to distinguish him from "Short Jack" Shattuck, is alive and well in Washington in spite of the fact that he was reported to have been frozen to death in the wilds of Alaska several months ago.

It appears that a party of men were frozen to death in Alaska, and that someone who knew Shattuck thought that one of the dead men was he, and it was so reported.

They are Grateful

Mrs. Nels Ouberg and children are grateful for the kindness of friends shown during the sad hours before and after the death of their loved one. The flowers offered by the Odd Fellows and Rebeckah lodges of Genoa were fully appreciated.

POLICEMAN SLAIN

Thugs Come to Genoa Immediately after the Murder in Chicago

WERE WITH THE SIGNAL GANG

Leave Genoa on the Interurban Line for Sycamore at Nine O'clock Monday Morning Without Molestation

Three of the thugs who are responsible for the murder of Policeman Jones in Chicago Sunday afternoon were in Genoa Monday morning, and in fact have been working here for some time with the gang which is installing the block signal system on the Milwaukee road.

A telegram was received in Genoa Sunday night warning the police to look out for the men but before any action was taken the men made their get-away.

They did come to Genoa during the night and started to work Monday morning. It seems, however, that someone who had learned about the telegram gave the thugs a tip and they got away on the car as noted above.

One of the men, known as "Bottles," was arrested in Chicago. Three Chicago detectives came out from Chicago Monday night to assist in the search. A brother of one of the murderers was found here and questioned by the detectives. He would not divulge a great deal but let enough drop so that the police were warranted in placing him under arrest here until further developments.

One suspect was held in Sycamore and two in DeKalb Monday night, but they were not the men wanted. Another of the gang was taken in Chicago Wednesday.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE

Will Pass on Matter of Woodmen Injunction—Urge Decision Be Made

Unless the supreme court of Illinois gives a decision in the Modern Woodmen injunction suit before the first of the year, the referendum vote that was to be taken will be postponed. The injunction was granted by the Chicago courts and was brought up by those who did not favor the referendum for a vote on the change of rates. It was held that the Donahue bill was unconstitutional and it is up to the highest tribunal in the state to render a decision.

In the meantime the officers of the Modern Woodmen are urging up on the members that they make their choice as to the plan of protection they prefer to carry under the new rate adjustment policy. There are seven plans, adapted to various conditions, and the head camp provides that all members who do not themselves make choice, will be put on the whole life plan.

As the month of January draws near and the new rates are to go into effect the fight between the insurgents and the stand-pat Woodmen, waxes warmer and both sides are honest in their belief that they are the only ones that are right in the matter—Rockford Star.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Man Held on Serious Charge in County Jail, Slashed Himself with Knife

Forest Duncan, a married man who was held in jail on a serious charge made by a girl only about 13 years of age, attempted to kill himself in the county jail on Saturday evening, so he admits. He cut himself several times in the breast, but is now up and about as chipper as ever, says the True Republican.

MARRIED AT PECATONICA

Mr. Frank I. Fay and Miss Edith Larson Wed at Home of Bride

At high noon Tuesday, Nov. 12, at the home of the bride in Pecatonica, occurred the marriage of Mr. Frank I. Fay of this city and Miss Edith Larson. This wedding is the climax of a courtship of many years, and if they are not happy in the future it will not be because they did not know each other.

The bride came to Genoa about seventeen years ago and worked in the shoe factory, at that time it was conducted by B. Goldman, as forelady, and has been employed there almost continuously since that date. She is of a retiring disposition, but made many friends during the time spent in Genoa, and kept them.

Mr. Fay came to Genoa about the same time and entered the employ of the shoe company where he worked off and on for several years. For some time he was city marshal and superintendent of streets in Genoa and made one of the best officials ever on the force. At present he is employed as a machinist and engineer for the Woodstock & Sycamore Traction Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay will commence housekeeping at once in Miss Maria Holroyd's house on Locust street. A host of friends in Genoa extend congratulations to this worthy couple.

JUDGE WILLIS' BIG ESTATE

Elgin Jurist Leaves Over $100,000 in Securities No Will Found

The estate of the late Henry B. Willis will exceed $100,000 and it may total more than $125,000 according to those who were in close touch with his financial affairs. Almost the entire property consists of securities on deposit in his strong box at the Union National bank.

As far as can be ascertained there is no will and all of the property will go to his daughter, Mrs. T. J. Merrill, of Aurora.

During the lifetime of his first wife there was a will wherein the property was bequeathed to her for life. After his marriage to his second wife a mutual will was drawn and he inherited $10,000 at her death. Realizing that the will became void on account of her demise it is said that Judge Willis destroyed his will and had neglected to draft another.

St. Catherine's Church

Rev. W. V. Reedy will be heard again at Genoa on Thanksgiving night.

Father Reedy of St. James Cathedral, Rockford, whose wonderful tenor voice captivated the large congregation on the day of the dedication of St. Catherine's church, will sing at the Genoa Opera House on Thanksgiving night at a concert for the benefit of the new church. His first song will be McCormack's great operatic success, "I Hear You Calling Me."

Miss Erin Gallery of Northwestern University, Evanston, will be heard in some classic readings from the masters of the drama, while a boy singer from Chicago will enliven the program with some lyric selections from Moore and Chauncey Olcott. Local talent will also be in evidence.

Dr. Finn of Rockford, the well known Chautauqua orator, will deliver one of his popular lectures, after which the patrons of the entertainment will enjoy the grand ball of the evening with the accompaniment of the well balanced Patterson orchestra.

THE OPENING DATE

Thursday, November 21, at the New Genoa Opera House

COMEDY DRAMA "MY DIXIE GIRL"

Guaranteed Attraction Engaged for Initial Performance—Special Scenery and Many Good Features Promised

Mr. Wesley Travis and his company will present the beautiful southern comedy drama in four acts, "My Dixie Girl," as the special opening attraction of the new Genoa Opera House, on Thursday evening, Nov. 21. This play deals with the people in the eastern hill country of Kentucky and portrays a class of people known only to that region. The play is full of ginger and excitement and the comedy is clean and wholesome. It is a play that is full of heart interest and the climaxes are strong. The scenery and the mechanical efforts are perfect. The company that is to present this play have an excellent standing in the theatrical world and guarantee a first class performance of this most talked of play of the season. "My Dixie Girl" has broken all records for attendance and laughter wherever it has been presented, and has been endorsed by the Metropolitan Press everywhere as being the most perfect southern play ever written. Seats will be on sale Monday, Nov. 18, at Carmichael's drug store. General admission, adults, 50 cents; children, 15 cents. Reserved seats 75 cents—Advertisement.

TO OPEN NEW STORE

F. O. Swan will Start Delicatessen in the Kiernan Block

F. O. Swan has again decided to enter the mercantile business in Genoa, this time on a smaller scale than at former times, but with just as much ginger as ever. He has leased the corner store room in the Kiernan block, recently vacated by Vincent & Lietzow, and expects within a few days to open a first class delicatessen store, handling, to baccos, confectionary, fruits, vegetables and a full line of table delicacies. He will not, however, go into the heavy grocery business and will make no deliveries.

The place will be remodeled to meet the needs of such a store, one of the chief changes being a new front of plate glass. Floor show cases will be used and the floor covered with linoleum, making the place as neat as a parlor.

PROGRAM CHANGED

Dr. Charles B. Mitchell next Number on the Redpath Lecture Course

Owing to unavoidable reasons Mr. Gale will not be able to get to Genoa on the 15th, as second number on the Redpath Lecture Course. His place will, however, be filled by a Dr. Charles B. Mitchell, a lecturer of more than ordinary ability. Mr. Mitchell appears at the Methodist church Friday evening, Nov. 15. Those who have season tickets should not fail to here this lecture, and others can spend 35c to no better advantage.

Do not be frightened out by the term "lecture," for you will be entertained in such a manner that real pleasure is assured.

M. E. Church Notes

Rev. J. T. Eberhart will occupy the pulpit Sunday morning and evening and will also preach at Charter Grove in the afternoon.

SERIAL STORY

No Man's Land

A ROMANCE

By Louis Joseph Vance

SYNOPSIS.

Garrett Coast, a young man of New York City, meets Douglas Blackstock, who invites him to a card party. He accepts, although he dislikes Blackstock, the reason being that both are in love with Katherine Thaxter. Coast falls to convince her that Blackstock is unworthy of her friendship. At the party Coast meets two named Dundas and Van Tuij. There is a quarrel, and Blackstock shoots Van Tuij dead. Coast struggles to wrest the weapon from him, thus the police discover them. Coast is arrested for murder. He is convicted, but as he begins his sentence, Dundas names Blackstock as the murderer and kills himself. Coast becomes free, but Blackstock has married Katherine Thaxter and fled. Coast purchases a yacht and while sailing sees a man thrown from a distant boat. He rescues the fellow who is named Appleyard. They arrive at a lonely island, known as No Man's Land. Coast starts out to explore the place and comes upon some deserted buildings. He discovers a man dead. Upon going further and approaching a house he sees Katherine Thaxter, who explains that her husband, under the name of Black, has bought the island. He is blind, a wireless operator and has a station there. Coast informs her that her husband murdered Van Tuij. Coast sees Blackstock and some Chinamen burying a man. They fire at him, but he is rescued by Appleyard, who sets him to the Echo in safety, and there he reveals that he is a secret service man and has been watching the crowd on the island, suspecting they are criminals. Coast is anxious to fathom the mysteries of No Man's Land, and is determined to save Katherine. Appleyard believes that Black and his gang make a shield of the wireless station to conduct a smuggling business. Coast penetrates to the lair of Blackstock's disguise. Katherine enters the room and passes him a note which tells Coast that neither his life or her own are safe. Coast feels that Blackstock suspects him. Appleyard and the Echo disappear. Coast assures Katherine of his protection, and she informs him that they are to abandon the island immediately. The blind man and his coolie servant overpower Coast, who afterward escapes and is met by Katherine wishing to flee. They discover a yawl but before they can reach it the coolie catches the yawl. Black appears, and immediately states that he is no longer blind. He is overpowered, and Coast and Katherine fly from the spot, and go to a remote part of the island and signal a boat which they see in the distance.

Out of the dusk, in which objects were just perceptible, the bungalow loomed up before them. By common consent they paused, Coast looking back toward the beach, Katherine peering up into his face.

"Are they coming, Garrett?"

"Not yet," he said, perplexity in his tone. "It's as I thought; they know they can lay hands on us at any time. So we can go hang until they're ready to take up our case."

"But," he amended, squaring his shoulders and his jaw and infusing his manner with a confidence and decision he had been glad to feel, "we'll fool 'em. It won't be long now."

"You mean before your friend—Mr. Appleyard?"

"Yes. He's sure to be here at almost any minute—he or the revenue cutter."

"But, Garrett . . . what are we going to do in the meantime?"

"We'll have to stick to the open till the Echo comes. Is there a lantern in the house—anything to make a light with?"

"Why—yes," she replied in surprise; "there's a kerosene lantern we used at night, when it was necessary to go to the farm-house. But . . . wouldn't it lead them to us?" Isn't darkness our surest cover?"

"Absolutely; but I've got to have something to signal Appleyard with. We agreed that I should show a light on the sand pit, in event of any trouble; but he'll be counting on the cutter being here by this time, and it won't do to let him make a landing on the beach near the long-boat."

"I understand. Just a minute . . . 'Is there time?'"

"Plenty," he said briefly, adding inconsistently: "But hurry."

He followed her into the house and, while she disappeared to look for the lantern, found his way to the divan and robbed it of its covering—a heavy steamer rug, which he folded and tucked beneath one arm before Katherine returned.

"You won't want the light now?"

"No. Give me your hand."

They stepped out into unrelieved night: darkness, dense and warm and rendered tangible by its burden of humidity.

In the north arose a confusion of many voices; and in that quarter, likewise, was a firely show of weaving lantern-lights.

Hand in hand they stole away like thieves, not three minutes before the bungalow was invaded by Blackstock and the crew of the schooner—a loud-mouthed, roystering company, making hideous the night with the clamor of their disputations and their cursings.

Unseen and all unsuspected (so far as they could say, with no sign given them of either detection or pursuit) they hurried off as warily and fearfully as wild things skirting the haunts of men, skulking silently over hills and down through hollows, over fields and fences, until at length they came without accident out upon the spreading sweep of sand to the east of the long, low-lying spit.

Later they found themselves at the end of this, the northern extremity of the island; and here Coast put down the unlighted lantern and spread the rug in a slight depression between low dunes.

Chimeric anurk encompassed them, abysmal, impassive, penetrated only by dimmed rays of light from the windows of the bungalow, seemingly incalculable miles distant.

Slowly the hours ebbed. They had long since ceased to speak. From the regularity of her breathing Coast believed she slept despite her fears, overcome by thorough exhaustion of every fiber, nerve and faculty. For himself he would not stir for fear of waking her.

The light of a lantern peeped over the ridge, inland, and descended, wavering, through the Cold Lairs to the beach, then became stationary near the edge of the water, over which it shot a long, slender spear of soft radiance.

He understood that a guard had tardily been set over the seine-boat. From the bungalow came thin, far sounds of voices, now and then a husky shout cacophonous in that hour of calm, immutable peace.

They were drinking up there, forgetful alike of danger and their recent disaster.

Abruptly he saw that the lane of lantern light was shattered and dancing. He jumped to his feet, with a glance above that showed him a faint flash of starlight. He held up his hand and a breath of air blew cool against it—a silver of breeze out of the southwest. All this meant clearing.

Some Sort of Order Was Evidently Evolved.

Swiftly the breeze freshened. Vague forms of mist faded before his straining sight. A musical whisper and clashing of waves echoed through the hush of night. And like a curtain the fog fell back and away, and was not.

About two miles offshore, to the northwest, a green light shone like a colored star, with a white light a little above—at about the height of the Echo's masthead. And while he looked the two moved and swung round, until he saw not only green and white, but the red port light as well, all moving steadily toward the island.

CHAPTER XX.

In his arms Katherine moved with a stifled moan of weariness, a gasp, and then a stiffening of her body which told him that she was now wide awake and mistress of her wits, in full comprehension of their position.

"Katherine—"

"What is it?"

"The Echo—Appleyard, I think—I'm sure. He'll be here in just a few minutes—ten or fifteen; and you must help me show the light."

"Help me up," she said in a dejected voice.

He rose and took her hands, lifting her to her feet. With one thought upmost in both minds, they turned toward the sea.

Off to the northwest the red port and white masthead lights of the catboat were slipping briskly shorewards—the green no longer visible—standing in for the beach where the long-boat lay.

A groan escaped Coast.

"Oh, the devil!" he said beneath his breath, exasperated; and aloud, half-frantically: "Hurry! He's taking the other light for my signal. Here—" grabbed up the steamer's rug and thrust it unceremoniously into Katherine's hand—"hold this so, to hide it from the beach, while I light the lantern."

With agonizing slowness the minutes sped, and still the boat held on directly for the beach below the Cold Lairs. Then abruptly the watcher by the long-boat awakened to its approach, apparently for the first time, and sounded the alarm by firing a shot from his revolver. A second later, in desperation, Coast sent a piercing whistle echoing over the waters.

Immediately, at the pistol shot, the Echo swerved sharply off to the west, her red side light disappeared; and for a full minute held on so before she swung smartly on her heel and showed first the green and then the red, bearing straight as an arrow for the end of the sand spit.

On the island, at the same, the results of the report (which, when the catboat came about, was followed by four others in brisk succession) were no less marked. Down the wind from the bungalow floated a wild chorus of shouts and calls. In its vicinity half a dozen twinkling lights studded the darkness of the uplands, springing to life as if by magic, and were whisked hither and thither like so many will-o'-the-wisps, suggesting a stupid, half-distracted ferment of conflicting advice, argument and wills among the smugglers. Presently, however, some sort of order was evidently evolved; the lights converged to a common center and bore swiftly down toward the beach.

Coast put down the lantern on the swelling, rounded summit of a small dune, and took the steamer rug from Katherine, mechanically folding it as he divided troubled attention between the bearing boat and the distant rattle—now streaming headlong down through the Cold Lairs and shouting as they came.

"No more need for this," he said, referring to the rug; "the light won't tell them anything they don't know, fell on the skylight. It is needless to say that she did not stop there.

A lull in an important discussion in which the directors were participating was broken by Mrs. Bopa's fall. Her plunge through the skylight was broken by the long table around which the directors were seated, and upon which she landed in a sitting position. A rain of shattered glass followed a deafening crash.

All the directors fell out of their chairs and two crawled under the table. Others, thinking that a bomb had exploded, reached the door in one jump. With Mrs. Bopa came the wet garment she was hanging on the line and it flattened like a huge plaster across the face of one director as his chair upset.

Officials in the bank down stairs thought some new method of burglary was being tried out, and the cashier hastened the money into the vault. Others summoned the police and fled from the place.

None was hurt by the accident and the only loss sustained was the broken skylight. Mrs. Bopa quickly recovered from the shock and returned to her duties on the roof, where she discovered that the garment she had carried with her needed to be re-washed.

FALLS 125 FEET DOWN STACK

New Jersey Steeplejack, Unseated by High Wind, Mortally Hurt in Big Plunge.

Bayonne, N. J.—Ben Peasey, a 24-year-old steeplejack of many successful ascensions, was sent at noon the other day to the top of one of the 125-foot smokestacks of the Standard Oil company to repair the interior framework which gives the funnel stability. It was a task he had often accomplished before, and he thought nothing of climbing through the soot of the interior with a 25-pound joist tucked under his left arm.

Some workmen lounging in the yards during lunch hour saw Peasey's head and shoulders appear above the rim of the smokestack while he sat on a crossbeam, and then suddenly, in a gust of wind, it appeared as though he had lost his balance and fallen over sideways in the stack.

The men ran to the furnace room, where they found Peasey's body huddled in a pile of soot. Presumably he had struck every one of the ninety crosspieces in his fall, but he still clutched in his hands the joist which he had carried up with him. When they pulled him out of the debris he was still conscious.

"Gee, but that was some fall," he murmured to a companion steeplejack; "some fall, and an awful hard floor."

At the Bayonne hospital, where Peasey was taken, it was said that all his ribs, both legs and his left arm were broken.

BUMPS 225 POUNDS INTO BANKERS' ROOM

Woman Hanging Clothes on Roof, Crashes Through Skylight Waving Strange "Them."

Indiana Harbor, Ind.—Mrs. Mary Bopa was the victim of an accident the other day that resulted in a severe shock to her nervous system in the sudden adjournment of a meeting of the board of directors of the Indiana Harbor State bank and a panic among other bank officials, who thought some new kind of robbery was being committed.

Mrs. Bopa, who lives next door to the bank, was hanging up her wash on the roof of her home. The board of directors of the bank were meeting in an upper room under a large skylight. Mrs. Bopa, who weighs 225 pounds, was hanging up a garment, large in size and plural in name, when she tripped over the clothes basket and fell on the skylight. It is needless to say that she did not stop there.

All the directors fell out of their chairs and two crawled under the table. Others, thinking that a bomb had exploded, reached the door in one jump. With Mrs. Bopa came the wet garment she was hanging on the line and it flattened like a huge plaster across the face of one director as his chair upset.

Officials in the bank down stairs thought some new method of burglary was being tried out, and the cashier hastened the money into the vault. Others summoned the police and fled from the place.

None was hurt by the accident and the only loss sustained was the broken skylight. Mrs. Bopa quickly recovered from the shock and returned to her duties on the roof, where she discovered that the garment she had carried with her needed to be re-washed.

Some workmen lounging in the yards during lunch hour saw Peasey's head and shoulders appear above the rim of the smokestack while he sat on a crossbeam, and then suddenly, in a gust of wind, it appeared as though he had lost his balance and fallen over sideways in the stack.

The men ran to the furnace room, where they found Peasey's body huddled in a pile of soot. Presumably he had struck every one of the ninety crosspieces in his fall, but he still clutched in his hands the joist which he had carried up with him. When they pulled him out of the debris he was still conscious.

"Gee, but that was some fall," he murmured to a companion steeplejack; "some fall, and an awful hard floor."

At the Bayonne hospital, where Peasey was taken, it was said that all his ribs, both legs and his left arm were broken.

Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a quick and reliable remedy for lameness in horses and other farm animals.

"Sloan's Liniment surpasses anything on earth for lameness in horses and other horse ailments. I would not sleep without it in my stable."—
MARTIN DOYLE,
432 West 19th St., New York City.

Good for Swelling and Abscess.
Mr. H. M. Gibbs, of Lawrence, Kan., R. F. D., No. 3, writes:—"I had a mare with an abscess on her neck and one 600. bottle of Sloan's Liniment entirely cured her. I keep it all the time for galls and small swellings and for everything about the stock."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is a quick and safe remedy for hog cholera.

Governor of Georgia uses Sloan's Liniment for Hog Cholera.

"I heard Gov. Brown (who is quite a farmer) say that he had never lost a hog from cholera and that his remedy always was a tablespoonful of Sloan's Liniment in a gallon of slops, decreasing the dose as the animal improved. Last month Gov. Brown and myself were at the Agricultural College building and in the discussion of the ravages of the disease, Gov. Brown gave the remedy named as 'unfailing.'"—

Hard to See Under Water.
There is no scientific instrument of the "scope" character which enables one to see down to 50 or 60 feet under water. When the sun shines vertically over water, a box or bucket with a glass bottom is often used to look into the water. A cloth covering to exclude light from the box or bucket is sometimes employed. But without electric or some other light in the water these devices are not very satisfactory.

Escaped the Worst of It.
The worst things are the afflictions that have never happened. Bobby had just been soundly spanked for falling into the creek. "Gee!" he exclaimed, rubbing the seat of punishment, "what wouldn't I have got if I had drowned?"

Unfortunately charity doesn't seem to possess any of the qualities of a boomerang.

FURS IN COMBINATION

SUCH IS FASHION'S ORDER FOR THE COMING WINTER.

Season Will Be Costly One for the Woman Who Must Be Strictly Up-to-Date—Ermine and Mole-skin Have the Choice.

"Wider muffs, broader scarfs, fuller cloaks and a profusion of fur trimmings on hats, gowns and all wraps." So says Dame Fashion when milder quizzed her about her new furs. This news, taken in connection with the fact that prices of pelts of almost every sort are soaring, makes one fairly gasp at the amount of money fashionable women are forced to spend on their winter furs.

Next to the increased size of fur pieces this season, the most striking thing about the new fur creations is the combinations. There are almost no coats made of one fur throughout. Coats of seal have beaver, fox or sable collars, and coats of pony have seal or sable collars, and the newest muffs and scarfs are made of two contrasting furs. In fact, any combination of furs is the thing this year. There are, however, exceptions to this rule, and several women of fashion have ordered costly all-ermine coats for evening wear this winter.

Opera wrap of brocaded wool, with the fashionable low armhole and a novel way of fastening the collar.

These ermine coats, by the way, while being anything but bulky, are wonderfully full, and can be fairly worn about the figure. They are masterpieces of the furrier's skill, but it costs no less than twenty-five hun-

ORNAMENTS FOR THE CLOAK

Imitation Roses of Daintily Woven Silk Threads Are the Most Popular Just Now.

Have you mastered the art of daintily twisting and gathering soft silk until one looks with wonder on what seems a perfect rose? Then you can make a thoroughly desirable garniture for your newest evening wrap.

Let it be of whatever hue you consider most becoming, but make for its bedecking either one very large or two more moderately sized silken roses, pompon fashion.

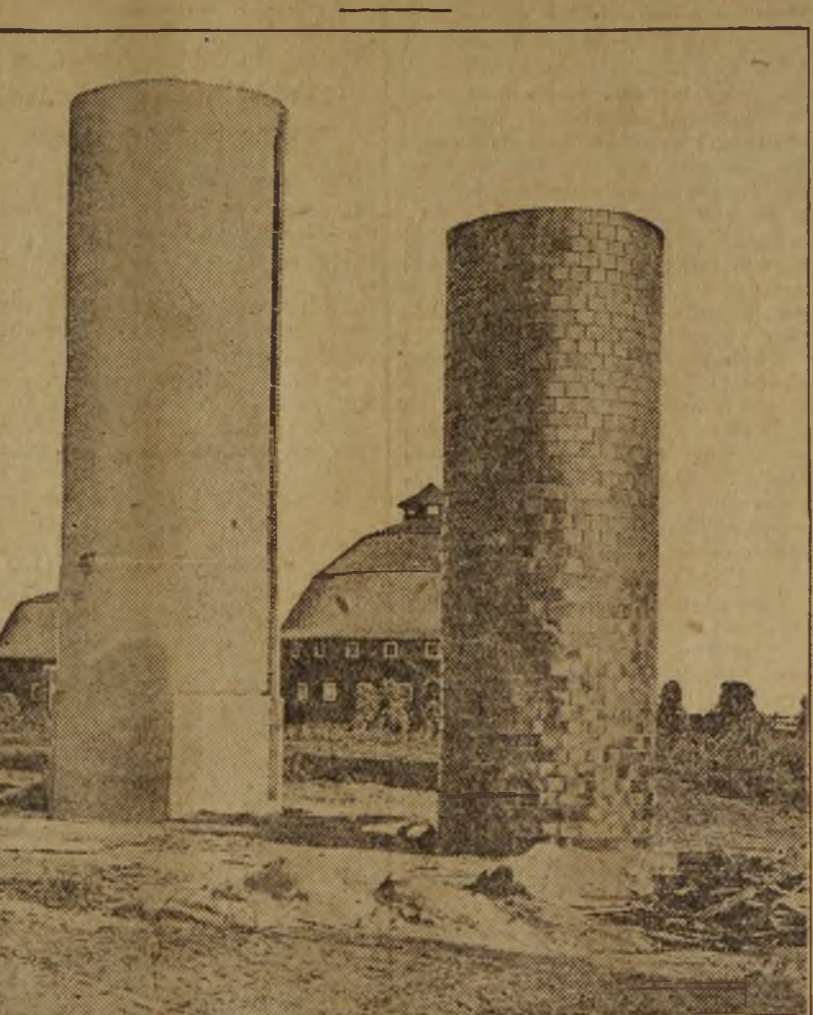

They can either be double or of that semi-double type which reveals a heart of gold, says the New York Herald, and they are used to define the gracefully draped fold which conceals the fastening together of the two sides directly in front. As if slightly gathered up with the finger tips, each of the loose coat fronts should be caught with one of the roses, and the outer petals, half crushing together, cover the real fastening which catches the coat fronts securely in place.

SILOS OF CONCRETE AND HOLLOW TILE DESIGNED FOR THE NEW ROUND BARN

More and more round barns are being built throughout the state. Farmers who have tried them have found them superior in convenience and space saving to the conventional rectangular barn. Within the last few months two new silos for round barns have been built at the University of Illinois. A description of them will surely be of value to anyone contemplating the erection of a round barn.

The first, a concrete silo, has a capacity of 300 tons. It is 16 feet in diameter and 58 feet in height. The walls are very heavy because the silo supports the floor of a 70-foot in diameter round barn that is to be built around it. Therefore the first twelve feet of the silo is a foot thick, the next ten feet is eight inches thick and the remainder is six inches thick. Reinforcements in the wall consist of twisted steel rods, varying in size from one-half to one and one-quarter inches. These rods are put in horizontally six inches apart, the ends being lapped sixteen inches and securely wired together. The upright rods are one-half inch in diameter and placed sixteen inches apart, the horizontal rods being wired to these. The reinforcements at the doors consist of a twisted steel rod eight feet long inclosed in a galvanized iron pipe, where it passes across the door. These pipes are two feet apart and serve as a ladder, and also protect the inch rods from rust.

The concrete mixture consists of one part cement, two parts torpedo sand and three parts crushed limestone. The door is continuous. The sections are made of two-by-eight matched cypress saved to fit the bevelled cement door jams.

The second silo is called the Grout silo because A. P. Grout of Winchester originated the idea of using hollow tile. This silo is twelve feet in diameter and has a capacity of fifty tons. It is made of hollow tile, which are filled with concrete and reinforced with one strand of No. 6 wire laid in an opening in the tile and embedded in the cement. The foundation consists of a solid slab of concrete fourteen feet in diameter and fourteen inches thick, with no reinforcements. The door openings are twenty-four by thirty. The doors are made of one piece of heavy galvanized iron six inches larger in each direction than the opening, and held in place by means of clamps. The doors are two and one-half feet apart.

SOME POINTS IN CHOOSING COTTON

BY CHARLOTTE M. GIBBS.
Associate in Household Science, University of Illinois.

In the past century a great change has come about in the position of the woman in the home, which has very vitally affected her relation to the textile industries. In the early days in this country nearly every woman produced the clothing for herself and family, also the household linens, from the raising of the sheep or flax to the finished product. Now all is changed; with the introduction of ready-made suits and other garments even the sewing is rapidly going from the home, while the manufacture of cloth is a forgotten art.

In olden times the quality of homespun and woven material was the best possible to be obtained from the materials and methods known. Woolen cloth was all wool, and linen cloth was not adulterated with starch or half cotton. Honest and durable materials were the rule of the day.

With the introduction of machinery and the factory system came keen competition. Modern discoveries, chemical and otherwise, have increased the possibilities of cotton, linen, silk, and wool, so that now it is difficult to recognize the original fiber in some of the materials sold.

Thus, on one hand the field of textile knowledge has grown very much, while on the other hand the knowledge of women concerning textile fabrics has decreased, since they are no longer the makers of cloth, nor do they always gain a knowledge of its characteristics through the making of garments. The result has been that women depend more and more on the word of clerks, who are often as ignorant as themselves, until by painful experience the buyers learn of the things to be avoided.

As the cost of living increases, and demands upon the family purse increase, it is more and more important that the woman of the household should know how to spend the family income most economically. Since from ten to twenty per cent. of this income is spent for clothing and house furnishings, it is imperative that more thought and careful study should be put upon this branch of household economy. The object of this article is to give some bits of information about textile fibers, their manufacture and adulteration, which may help in gaining that judgment in buying essential to every woman.

Certain adulterations and devices of the modern manufacturer are so skillfully concealed as to be detected only by the use of chemical tests or the

WESTERN CANADA'S PROSPERITY

NOT A BOOM, BUT DUE TO NATURAL DEVELOPMENT.

One of the largest banks in Holland has been doing a big business in Western Canada, and Mr. W. Westerman, the President, on a recent visit into the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, expressed himself as being much impressed with present conditions and prospects, and was convinced that the great prosperity of the Dominion was not a boom, but merely the outcome of natural developments.

Not only has money been invested largely in Western Canada by the Holland Banks, but by those of Germany, France, as well as Great Britain. Not only are these countries contributing money, but they are also contributing people, hard headed, industrious farmers, who are helping to produce the two hundred million bushels of wheat and the three hundred million bushels of the other small grains that the Provinces of the West have harvested this season.

During the past fiscal year there came into Canada from the United States 133,710; from Austria Hungary 21,651; from Belgium 1,601; Holland 1,077; France 2,094; Germany 4,664; Sweden 2,394; Norway 1,692; and from all countries the immigration to Canada in that year was 354,237. From the United States and foreign countries the figures will be increased during the present year.

Most of these people have gone to the farms, and it is no far look to the time when the prophecy will be fulfilled of half a billion bushel crop of wheat in Western Canada. Advertisement.

Foxes Not Easy Prey.
Foxes often kill buzzards and the smaller hawks that have been impelled to attack them through hunger. They have mainly done this by dragging the birds through branches and brushwood; for they usually have their talons deeply imbedded in their intended victim, and are unable to let them go.

Optimism.
Leonidas, king of Sparta, when defending Thermopylae against the Persian host under Xerxes, was told by one of his soldiers that the Persian arrows were so numerous that they obscured the light of the sun. "Never mind that," was the reply; "we shall have the advantage of fighting in the shade."

Origin of Pawnbrokers' Sign.
On the doors of early Florentine bankers was the three-leaf lily sign, the lily being the emblem of Florence, and claim is now made that this is why the pawnbroker of today has the three balls as his sign, which appears to be an evolution of the three-leaf lily.

Religious Work in United States.
Actively engaged in the work of saving souls in the United States are 146 distinct denominations. This does not include the followers of Confucius, Buddha, Mohammed, Shintoism and other sects in the field long before Christianity got a foothold in this world.

Rain changed to sleet and snow, making it a night to be remembered. It was on that night that Charles Irvine slept in the lumber yard and nearly froze to death.

Brown & Brown have just completed a vault in the basement of their building for safe deposit boxes which are being installed this week. Steel steps lead down to the vault where there will be every accommodation for patrons of the bank. When everything is in shape this will be one of the best appointed banks in the country.

Don't leave carcasses of animals lying around or carelessly bury them, for this invites dogs and crows, and they spread disease. Call Hemmelgarn at the rendering plant or at his residence and he will properly remove them. Notice, however, must be given immediately on death of the animal and hide must be left on. Improving Tobacco.
If you are a pipe smoker, try this: Place the core of an apple in your tobacco jar on top of your tobacco and you will be surprised at the improved flavor it imparts to the tobacco, besides keeping it moist.

What He Took.
"Going down the river to spend Sunday with the folks," panted the excited week-end jaunter, as he swung aboard a moving car. "No, I don't need any luggage; all I take for these week-end excursions is just a night-brush and a tooth-gown."

Unpardonable Sin.
In religious controversy the unpardonable sin is attributing bad motives to those who differ from us.

What is Stronger than a Mother's Love?

With Tears Streaming down her Cheeks A Grateful Mother throws Both Arms about Healer Schiller's Neck, Weeping for Joy, for Restoring Her Darling Boy

Enormous Crowds of People---Many from Distant States---Visit Healer Schiller and Wife

Scores Upon Scores of People are Turned Away in a Single Day

That the day of healing of the body through Divine power is not past, is very evident, as the following will show, for God is no respecter of persons; He is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever. Jesus healed all who came unto Him. He loves his people as much now as when He was upon earth.

A Mrs.—(name, sworn statement and photo, upon application), whose son was permanently put on his feet in five days, after being unable to walk for seven long years, recently threw both arms about neck of Healer Schiller, and with tears streaming down her cheeks, exclaimed: "Oh Rev. Dr. Schiller, how shall I ever repay you for what you did for my darling boy? God, I know will bless you forever. Many a sleepless night have I spent in praying for my boy to be saved from a life of helplessness. This life is a struggle enough at best, without being handicapped with disease. I know God has sent you to us, for He is so good.

Miss—, Marengo, Ill., was very deaf for years. In less than three minutes after Healer Schiller touched her ears, she called out: "Oh glory to God, I can, already, hear ever so much better. Praise the Lord."

A Mt. Carroll mother, writes and praises Healer Schiller for what he did for her boy, who was afflicted with that most of all dreaded diseases—fits; which, of course, is worse than death.

Mr. Hollie Johnson, Elgin, Ill., had been almost blind for years; although during all that time, he had spent hundreds of dollars with eye-specialists, in various states. His eyes only grew worse right along. After touching and praying by Healer Schiller, Mr. Johnson's eyes were practically well. In presence of a large crowd of people, at Elgin last Thursday, Mr. Johnson, after making a very interesting talk in benefit of the wonderful work done by Healer Schiller and wife, for sufferers, he left a signed statement to above effect, so that all who may, can see it upon application to Healer Schiller.

Miss—, Huntley, Ill., had a badly distorted neck since four years of age. She is now a fine, grown young lady. Healer Schiller touched her neck, and prayed for her. It would astonish you to see what improvement has been made, although she had previously been doctored for twelve years, with ordinary treatment, with no beneficial results, whatever.

Healer Schiller says: "Just give me the most difficult cases—I do not want the easy ones—let the doctors have those. I can tell your disease, and where located, in less than a minute, without touching or asking a single question. Try me"

All things being possible with God, you may be healed. No medicine, surgery, rubbing, etc.

Healer Schiller's services to the sick are free. Nevertheless, he is sustained by the money offerings of those who ask his valuable services in their behalf—little or much—that rests with you. All is according to thy Faith.

German and English spoken. Lady attendant. Married ladies should, if possible, come with husband, and minors with parents. Nothing whatever, accepted from ministers or their families.

With much Love and Sympathy to all afflicted, I am resting on the solid Rock.

Rev. Dr. D. R. Schiller, N. D. (ordained and licensed minister of the gospel) 519 Toner Ave., Rockford, Ill.

At Glidden House, DeKalb, every Saturday. Hours 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Although Healer Schiller and wife did not even stop for dinner last week, many had to be turned away. So call early.

Ask the boys what they think of Pety Wales. He is more popular with the youngsters than any "baby kissing" candidate that ever toured the country. Why? Because he gives a show every Wednesday night which always has a picture to please the youngsters. There are always reels of educational features to entertain the older persons as well. For drawing the crowds we must take off our hat to Pety.

The Harvard Drainage Co. is at work this week putting in a ditch north-east of Genoa, draining the Olmsted, Coffee and other farms in that territory. The machine used is somewhat different than others which have been seen in this section, it being shaped like a snow plow and pulled thru the soil by horse power. For small ditches it is about the most economical method, especially where the ground is soft.

For Sale—Farms near Rockford. First class soil. Good improvements. 116 acres, 5 miles northwest of city, terms $160.00 per acre; 120 acres, 4 1/2 miles southeast of city, terms $150.00 per acre; 240 acres, 4 miles north west of city, terms $125.00 per acre. They made the trip to Genoa via the auto route. They also made a tour of this city and were well pleased with the municipality.

Telephones are being removed by the score this week thruout the county, the patrons refusing to abide by the recent toll order. The farmers are the strongest protesters in certain localities where neighbors are only a short distance apart and yet must pay 5 cents to talk over the line. Many farmers who reside west of Genoa and are connected with the Kingston exchange do all their business in Genoa and they feel that the toll charges added to the present rental price would make the ultimate price prohibitive.

Hiram Wells Suicides
Word was received in Genoa this morning announcing that H. J. Wells had committed suicide in Hoopston last night or early this morning. At the time of going to press no details of the tragedy have been learned. Mr. Wells is a brother of Fred Wells of this city and at one time conducted a grocery store here. He recently moved from a farm north of Hampshire to Hoopston where he entered the grocery business.

There's a Decided New Interest in Ladies' Watches

With the advent of the Watch Bracelet has come a renewal of interest in Ladies' watches. Wearing a Watch on the wrist was a "happy" idea which met with popular approval from the start and has made a decided hit with those who appreciate the convenience and comfort of having the correct time; besides this style is decidedly ornamental.

The New Bracelet Watch

These Watches may be had in a number of different styles at a wide range in prices. We are now showing some of the most desirable kinds which will be found very dependable and at a reasonable cost. We have also a large assortment of Ladies' Watches to be worn with Sautoirs, Chatelaine Pins or with Fobs. We are sure to please you in something. Our absolute guarantee protects you from disappointment.

Ladies! Investigate these new watches. They will prove interesting.

SAYS HE IS GUILTY

JOHN SCHRANK SAYS HE SHOT ROOSEVELT AS A "MENACE," NOT TO KILL A CITIZEN.

RAILS AT THIRD-TERM IDEA

Sanity Board to Be Chosen to Determine Whether Assassin Is Sane—Judge Appoints Counsel to Represent Man at Hearing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—John Schrank, who attempted to assassinate Col. Theodore Roosevelt in Milwaukee, pleaded guilty to the charge of attempt to murder before Judge Backus, but Judge Backus refused to accept the plea until he had a report on the man's sanity.

First Case Called in Court.

Schrank's case was the first action of the court.

"Is there any matter to come before the court?" queried Judge Backus.

"There is the case of the State of Wisconsin against John Schrank," replied the district attorney, who then read the complaint in which Schrank was accused of having made an assault upon the person of "one Theodore Roosevelt" with a deadly weapon and with intent then and there to kill and slay the said Theodore Roosevelt.

"How do you plead to this charge?" the prosecutor asked the prisoner, standing at his elbow, holding over his arm a black cloth overcoat.

"Seems Puzzled; Pleads Guilty." "Why, guilty, Mr. Zabel," replied the prisoner, in a confused way, as though not sure he was following the proper procedure.

"You have heard the complaint," interposed Judge Backus in a loud voice; "you understand that in it you are charged with having attempted to murder Theodore Roosevelt. Do you plead guilty or not guilty?"

"I did not mean to kill a citizen, Judge," began Schrank, and the crowd in the courtroom gave the first audible evidence of its interest in the case.

"I shot Theodore Roosevelt because he was a menace to the country. He should not have a third term. It is bad that a man should have a third term; I did not want him to have one. I shot him as a warning that men must not try to have more than two terms as president."

"I shot Theodore Roosevelt to kill him. I think all men trying to keep themselves in office should be killed; they become dangerous. I did not do it because he was a candidate of the Progressive party, either, gentlemen," he concluded.

The court named a commission of five alienists to examine Schrank. Their examination will take at least two days, it is expected.

The court, after these preliminaries, ordered every person in the crowded room to remain seated until the prisoner was well on his way back to the county jail.

Three of the commissioners named are Dr. Walter Kempster, alienist for the state in the Guttau trial for President Garfield's murder; Dr. F. C. Studley, owner of a sanitarium, and Dr. A. F. Young, county physician.

TO PENSION WIRE EMPLOYEES

American Telegraph Company Introduces Benefit System—$10,000,000 Fund Created.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Ten millions of dollars, it was announced, will be appropriated on January 1, 1913, by the associated interests controlling the Bell Telephone system, the Western Union Telegraph company and the Western Electric company, as a permanent pension fund for their 175,000 employees.

Including the dependents of these workers, 250,000 persons will be in line for benefits.

Annual appropriations from the treasuries of the allied companies will keep this fund up to the $10,000,000 mark, and it will be administered solely in the interests of the industrial army serving the three concerns, an army more than twice as large as the standing military force of the United States.

Under the plan as announced the provisional pension system has been replaced by a permanent plan which provides not only pensions, but also for sickness and accident disability and for the new feature of life insurance.

BRYAN REFUSES CABINET JOB

Nebraska Declares He Is Not Interested in Selection of Men to Advise President-Elect Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 13.—William J. Bryan intimated he would not accept a place in President-elect Wilson's cabinet, and declared he is not interested in the selection of the men to advise the Democratic executive to be.

"I am entirely out of it," he asserted. "I am not interested in it myself nor in anyone who is. Whom Governor Wilson selects for his cabinet does not interest me in the least."

Bills 1,300 Years Old Stolen. New York, Nov. 12.—Somebody has stolen a package of bank notes printed 1,300 years ago by Chinese bankers of the T'ang dynasty. They belong in the collection of A. W. Bahr of Shanghai. The face value of the missing notes runs from two cents up. They are worth 300 times that sum, however, as objects of art and antiquity.

DYNAMITE BLAST KILLS SIX IN GARY FACTORY

Many Are Injured When Aetna Plant Is Blown Up—Several Buildings Are Wrecked.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 13.—Six men were killed and a score more were badly injured when pack house No. 3 of the Aetna powder mills, three miles east of this city, containing 2,000 pounds of new dynamite, exploded, blowing several buildings to atoms and breaking windows for miles around.

The explosion occurred shortly after the seven o'clock whistle blew. There is a line of nearly 100 small pack houses where the newly finished dynamite is packed by machinery.

The machinery in pack house No. 3 refused to operate. No one but Halpin, the foreman of the powder line, is permitted to repair the machinery.

The report was turned in that the packing machinery of pack house No. 3, containing 2,000 pounds of dynamite, was down. Halpin and his helper, Oscar Carlson, went to repair the machinery.

CANALEJAS IS SLAIN

PREMIER OF SPAIN ASSASSINATED BY MANUEL ZARRATE, A RADICAL, WHO KILLS SELF.

HELD GUN IN HANDKERCHIEF

Execution of Professor Ferrer Believed to Have Prompted Death—King Alfonso Weeps When Death Is Told—Shot Official Twice.

Madrid, Nov. 13.—Premier Canalejas of Spain was assassinated by an anarchist in this city. The premier was shot to death as he stood upon the steps of the home office.

The assassin who subsequently committed suicide was identified as Manuel Pardias Zarrate, a dangerous radical who has been under police surveillance.

Assassination Causes Excitement. News of assassination spread at once throughout the city and created intense excitement. When King Alfonso heard of it he is said to have wept with grief.

The anarchist, who had evidently been waiting for some time to get a chance to fire upon the premier, rushed forward as though to address a petition to the government official when he appeared on the steps of the home office.

Because of the dangerous state of political unrest in Spain, the premier had been warned repeatedly to retain a guard about his person, but Senor Canalejas paid no attention to this injunction and frequently went about unattended. He had received a number of death threats.

Ferrer Execution Blamed. The police believe that the assassination is a direct outcome of the execution of Professor Ferrer, the Republican who was condemned and put to death for his radical writings about a year and a half ago.

Zarrate shot himself with the same revolver that had taken the life of Senor Canalejas.

The assassination was witnessed by a number of persons, but happened so quickly that they could give no aid.

Gun Concealed by Handkerchief. As the anarchist sprang toward Premier Canalejas he pulled a handkerchief from his pocket in which was a concealed revolver. At the instant Senor Canalejas slightly turned his head, Zarrate, taking quick aim, fired and the bullet struck the premier behind the right ear.

Before Senor Canalejas toppled a second shot was fired, which also struck him in the head. As several soldiers who stood beside the door of the home office sprang forward Zarrate turned the revolver against his heart and pulled the trigger.

The two bodies fell within a few feet of each other.

Soldiers Seek Accomplices. Police aid was at once summoned and soldiers were brought from the barracks to prevent the escape of any accomplices of the assassin who might be passed by.

Although the physicians arrived within a few moments Premier Canalejas was already dead. In his hand he clasped some papers which he had been carrying when shot. The first shot had apparently been fatal.

The body of the slain government official was at once carried into the home office, where it remained until removed to the official residence.

Cries, "Thus I Avenge My Master." Those nearest the scene of the shooting declared that as Zarrate fired the second shot at the premier he cried:

"Thus I avenge my master."

When this information was given to the police it strengthened their belief that the execution of Professor Ferrer had so preyed upon the anarchist's mind that he decided to take vengeance into his own hands.

Search of Zarrate's clothes revealed anarchistic documents which the police seized. It was later intimated that others might be involved in the murder of the premier.

News that the premier had been slain was received with profound regret among the radicals. In court circles the expressions heard on every hand was "Spain's strongest man is dead."

SECOND SNEAD TRIAL BEGUN

Texan Charged With Murder of Capt. A. G. Boyce, Whom He Killed on January 13.

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 13.—The second trial of John B. Snead, charged with the murder of Capt. A. C. Boyce on January 13 last, because Boyce's son eloped with Mrs. Snead, was called in the Potter county criminal court.

An attempt had been made by the defense to secure a postponement on the ground that important witnesses were absent, but the motion was overruled.

With the beginning of the trial is reopened a scandal which has cost two lives. On September 14 last, Snead, who is a wealthy banker and ranchman, waylaid Alfred Boyce, son of Capt. A. G. Boyce, and shot him in front of the Methodist church in Amarillo.

Snead has already been tried for the murder of the elder Boyce, but the jury in the first case disagreed and the defendant was released on bail. It is said his wife will take the stand against him.

Bank Robbers Get $1,000. Rennselaer, Ind., Nov. 13.—The first National bank at Medaryville was robbed by yeggmen who escaped with $1,000.

CHILDREN SAVED BY POLICE

Officers Take Seven From Louisville House After Their Parents Had Fleed.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.—Two patrolmen here rescued the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. H. Scarenco from their burning home after the parents had fled from the house at the sign of fire, apparently forgetful of their sleeping offspring. When the parents realized what they had done they attempted to rush back into the blazing building, but were prevented by the officers. The two patrolmen, O'Hara and O'Hearn, suffered severe burns. None of the children were injured.

EXPLORERS TO SIT TOGETHER

Peary to Preside and Amundsen to Be Guest at a New York Banquet.

New York, Nov. 11.—Rear-Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole, and Capt. Raold Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole, will sit side by side at the annual banquet of the Explorers' club here in January. Admiral Peary will preside and Captain Amundsen will be the guest of honor.

MISS VIRGINIA LE SEURE

Miss Le Seure, the handsome granddaughter of Congressman Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, will be one of the most prominent of the Washington debutantes this season. She has been touring Europe with her aunt, Miss Helen Cannon, and plans to spend the winter in the national capital with the former speaker.

THOUSANDS ARE STARVING OUTSIDE TURKISH CAPITAL

Pestilence Stricken Horde of 250,000 Gathers at Gates of Constantinople.

London, England, Nov. 13.—The correspondent of the London Daily News says there seems to be a quarter of a million people dying from sheer starvation outside the Constantinople city walls, which soon will be surrounded by a pestilence stricken, famished horde. Even now the people are fighting with soldiers for handfuls of grain. Every effort is being made to transport the refugees to Anatolia.

A Vienna dispatch to the Telegraph says that Dr. Daneff has given assurances that Bulgaria would try to persuade Serbia to abandon her claims to Albanian territory and an Adriatic port. It is reported also, according to the dispatch, that Dr. Daneff said that if Serbia persisted in her claims Bulgaria would refuse to support her.

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Mail asserts that Austria and Italy have informed Serbia that she must limit her ambition of obtaining a coast line on the Adriatic to the occupation of Albania. Communications were made by the Austrian and Italian ministers at Belgrade, who informed the Serbian premier that Austria intended to enforce her interests in Albania and that Serbian occupation could not be permanent.

M. Pachitch is reported to have replied in an unsatisfactory way, to the effect that he could make no promises, as like Turkey, Albania was the enemy of the Balkan league, and that territory must be occupied.

Reticence is maintained with regard to the military at Budapest, the correspondent adds, but there is reason to believe that no immediate military action is expected. Diplomacy is still working on the problem. The situation is not critical, but may become so by the turn of a hand.

London, Nov. 12.—A practice mobilization of the whole of the troops stationed at Aldershot has been ordered by the war office.

The troops compose an entire army corps, with infantry, cavalry, artillery and the auxiliary service all complete.

It is said that the European powers at the request of Turkey are about to sound the Balkan allies with the object of arranging an armistice.

COAST STATE CLOSE

REVISED COUNT PLACES ROOSEVELT 609 AHEAD OF WILSON IN CALIFORNIA.

OTHER WESTERN CHANGES

Oregon to Send Another Democrat to the Senate—Wyoming Legislature May Be Tied—Taft 5,000 Ahead in Utah—Clark Wins in Iowa.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—A revised count of the presidential vote in Los Angeles county, compiled under Democratic direction by 12 expert accountants, clipped 23 votes from Roosevelt's plurality in California. Two new county precincts and corrections from two others benefited Roosevelt by 31 votes, and he now stands 609 ahead of Wilson.

Democrats Win in Oregon. Portland, Ore., Nov. 11.—Returns from every county in Oregon, practically complete, except one, give for United States senator: Lane, Dem., 36,246; Selling, Rep., 34,748; Bourne, Ind.-Rep., (incumbent), 24,376; Clark, Prog., 9,945. These figures assure Lane's victory and give Oregon another Democratic United States senator, George Chamberlain, incumbent, also being a Democrat. For president the vote stood: Wilson, 42,363; Roosevelt, 39,169; Taft, 31,842.

Legislature May Be Tied. Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 11.—Returns from Lincoln county upon which depend the re-election or defeat of Senator Warren, give the Republicans six of eight legislators, making the next legislature Republicans 43 and Democrats 41. Should precincts still missing return Democratic pluralities, the legislature will be tied.

Expect Idaho to Be Democratic. Boise, Idaho, Nov. 11.—Election returns show President Taft still in the lead, but only by a small margin. It is said that districts not yet reported will show a heavy Democratic vote and will result in placing Idaho in the Wilson column.

Democrats Win in Washington. Seattle, Wash., Nov. 11.—With 71 precincts lacking, Ernest Lister, Democratic, for governor, has 889 plurality over M. E. Hay. Hay is gaining on Lister, but too slowly to overcome his plurality.

Taft 6,000 Ahead in Utah. Salt Lake City, Nov. 11.—The vote count on president in Utah, which is practically complete, gives Taft, 35,733; Wilson, 30,354; Roosevelt, 21,507; DeF., 4,372.

Clarke to Be Iowa's Governor. Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 11.—Certified returns from all but five counties of the state make certain the election of George W. Clarke, Republican, as governor of Iowa. The final count gives Clarke 184,007 to 181,256 for Dunn. The official count is not expected to vary from the final unofficial figures by more than 50 votes.

Official Count Needed in Kansas. Topeka, Kan., Nov. 11.—While both the Republicans and Democrats are still claiming victory in the gubernatorial election in Kansas, revised unofficial returns, exclusive of the mail vote, showed that the official count would be necessary to decide the contest. Arthur Capper, the Republican candidate, is leading by a margin of only 100 votes.

Wilson Iowa Vote 174,244. Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 11.—Iowa total on president is Wilson, 174,244; Roosevelt, 153,979; Taft, 115,936. One county missing where returns were sealed with ballots by mistake, Clarke (Rep.) on unofficial returns elected by 2,472; Dunn (Dem.) still claims governorship by 1,800. Entire state Republican ticket elected by pluralities of from 6,000 to 30,000.

Gov. Wilson's Total Put at 433. New York, Nov. 9.—Placing Illinois and Idaho in the Democratic column, and giving California to Roosevelt, the electoral vote stands: Wilson, 433; Roosevelt, 90; Taft, 8. On the strength of incomplete returns as to the popular vote for Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft, the estimate is made that Governor Wilson will not have a majority of all votes cast. In many states the popular vote has been only roughly estimated thus far, but the reports indicate that the combined vote of Roosevelt and Taft will be approximately 1,000,000 more than the vote for Governor Wilson. The figures will be materially changed by the final count, but it is expected the proportion for each candidate will not vary greatly. The preliminary count gives Wilson approximately 46 per cent. of the vote, Roosevelt 29 per cent., and Taft 25 per cent. The total vote thus far reported is less than in 1908, while official returns are expected to bring it above these figures. In 1908 out of a combined vote of 14,030,858 cast for Taft and Bryan President Taft received over 54 per cent.

BEVERLY ASKS GOV. WILSON

Massachusetts Town Likes Having a President Around as Guest in Summer.

Beverly, Mass., Nov. 12.—This town, having had a president for a summer resident during the last four years, is hopeful that the honor will not pass. A committee of prominent residents has already asked President-elect Wilson to make his home here. A similar move is reported from East Gloucester, a near by resort, where Mr. Wilson and his family passed one summer nine years ago.

Canton, China, Swept by Fire. Shanghai, China, Nov. 12.—Enormous damage has already been done by a fire which started in Canton, and which, according to late dispatches, is still raging.

Panic-Stricken Turks Fleeing Constantinople

Panic-stricken inhabitants of Constantinople with their household effects before the great Mosque of Sultan Suleiman, ready to flee from the city as the Balkan army is storming its doors.

TERROR REIGNS IN TURK ARMY

Famishing Swarms Retreat in Disorganized Mass to Constantinople.

AS SEEN BY CORRESPONDENTS

Soldiers Claw Each Other for Food—Wounded From Tchatalja Seek Refuge in Capital as Bulgars Push Their Advantage.

Paris, Nov. 13.—Jean Rodes, a staff correspondent of the Temps, who has reached Constantinople from the war zone, sends a vivid picture of the misery of the Turkish soldiers and the disorganization of the Turkish army.

"We have witnessed the failure of the Turk as a soldier," says Rodes. "We have seen him dying of hunger, worn out by fatigue, wrecked by suffering, and running away after having abandoned his place in the combat."

"I have never seen a more poignant picture of human distress than that presented by these unhappy men, thrown into one of the most terrible wars in history without food, without medical attention, almost without chiefs, almost without arms. At Seidler I saw a soldier whose right hand had been severed held out to us, begging for medical help, the bleeding stump around which he had tied a piece of twine.

"I saw long lines of famished men who came to our tent begging for a crumb of bread and staggering away without a murmur of complaint when told that we had none to give. I saw a thousand wounded leaving a trail of blood as they dragged themselves toward Tchatalja. I saw hundreds of others fall by the wayside dying from wounds and fatigue.

Soldiers Fight for Food.

"At Tchatalja a column of soldiers, terrible in appearance, staggered through the streets in a driving rain and wind storm. No one paid any attention to them. They had no shelter, nothing to eat. From a near-by bakery an officer threw out handfuls of bread and the soldiers fought for the loaves. More than half of them got nothing, and turned away, ragged, pallid, and weak.

"All the houses were closed. Practically all the population had fled, and those who remained barricaded themselves within, trembling with fear. The soldiers knocked vainly at the barred doors.

"Groups shivering in the cold tried the doors of stables to seek refuge; even the stables remained inhospitable. Refugees smashed their way into shops and devoured all they found, including raw vegetables and candles, and sucked at pieces of greasy wood.

Calls It Image of Inferno. "I never saw such an image of inferno."

GENERAL SAVOFF

General Savoff, commander-in-chief of the victorious Bulgarian forces in Thrace, is a native Bulgarian and received his military education in Paris and St. Petersburg.

ferno. One of the most miserable of the wanderers succeeded in getting into a house where we were staying, drenched to the skin and teeth chattering. "Take all my money, take my clothing, if you will," he cried, "but I beg of you to give me bread."

"I questioned him. He said he came from Asia Minor and had not eaten for eight days. I gave him a slice of bread and a chocolate tablet, and he went away to join the remnants of the retreating army, of which this was the end.

"Thus did the Turkish soldier appear to me. He seemed to have no understanding of the great drama in which he was participating, but his infinite misery and his horrible animal distress were enough to break one's heart.

"I do not know whether the accusations of a massacre are exact, but so far as I have observed, I can affirm that not only have the Turks committed no excesses but I believe that no army in the world under such frightful circumstances would have been more moderate, more docile."

Properly Qualified.

The Youth—Sir, I came to ask your consent to my marriage with your daughter.

The Old Man—Is your income sufficient to support a wife?

The Youth—It is, and in addition to that, it is sufficient to enable me to stand an occasional touch from my wife's father.

The Old Man—Say no more, young man. She's yours. Bless you, my son.

Maybe She Has.

Tuzelman—I think my wife has decided to give up bridge and afternoon teas.

Sadman—On what do you base your idea?

Gladman—I found a button sewed on my shirt that had been missing for months.

The Result. "No shams for me!" declared Jones. The result in the house was a pillow fight.

The Alternative. "Will they hang you client?" "Not if we can manage to hang the jury."

Eagle Not Always Brave. Eagles are generally believed to be very courageous. That they are not always as brave as is supposed is proved by the following anecdote: A naturalist tells of a combat between ten missel-thrushes and a white-tailed eagle, in which the latter was thoroughly vanquished, and was discovered squatting down in a shed, where he had been driven in hope of refuge from the angry birds.

How Apes and Monkeys Differ. What is the difference between apes, baboons and monkeys? Apes are such as are destitute of tails; baboons have muscular bodies, elongated muzzles, and their tails are usually short; monkeys are those whose tails are in general long, some of them, the apes, having prehensile tails, which can at pleasure be twisted around any object, and thereby, in many instances, answers the purpose of an additional hand.

Left Auntie Pondering. Ernest is constantly asking his indulgent aunt for pennies, which are never refused. She recently said to him: "Now, Ernest, you may ask aunt for a penny whenever you want one, but you won't ask other people for one, will you?" "Oh, no," he answered with an air of letting his relatives off easy. "I will ask other people for a nickel."

Band for Pigeons. To place a band on a pigeon, hold the hind claw back and press the front claws through the ring; draw the ring close up to the knee joint, and then, when on a level with the extremity of the hind claw, gently pull the hind claw through the ring, and the ring will be in position and will not, unless it has been placed on at too early a date, fall.

Only One Real Road. There is only one real road to human prosperity, and it is the same for a nation as for an individual. That is the honest road of hard work under free institutions, and when they tried to teach people that they could be made rich by some short cut, they were doing that which was thoroughly dishonest.—Walter Long.

There's Music in Everything. And sure there is music even in the beauty and the silent note which Cupid strikes, far sweeter than the sound of an instrument; for there is music wherever there is harmony, order or proportion; and thus far we may maintain the music of the spheres.—Sir Thomas Browne.

Prove and Know. I pray you with all earnestness to prove, and know within your hearts, that all things are possible for those who believe in the possibilities and who determine that, for their part, they will make every day's work contribute to them.—John Ruskin.
