NEW INDUSTRIES!

THE ELECTRIC ROAD.

The DeKalb-Sycamore Electric Road Will Come to Genoa.

Attorney Faisler of Sycamore is meeting with good success in his efforts to secure the right of way between Sycamore and Genoa, and before snow flies it is hoped the road will be in operation. The extension to Genoa has been definitely decided on by the company, and a power house will be built here.

Inventive genius is making so many changes in electrical equipment that the directors of the road do not care to state positively where the Genoa power house will be or what its equipment will be. These points are not yet definitely decided, and will not be for some time. The road's equipment will be thoroughly up-to-date throughout, and Genoa's location on the line is such that a power house here will be necessary.

The northern terminus of the road will be Belvidere. The route north from Genoa has not been definitely decided upon. It may go through Kingston and Kirkland—and it may not.

Genoa would like to have her suburbs hooked on, of course, and will use all influence possible to have this route chosen.

THE NEW CREAMERY.

The Ira J. Mix Dairy Company Will Do Bottling Here.

There is but little new to say as yet about the new creamery the Ira J. Mix Dairy company is to build here this season. One important feature, however, is that the bottled milk now prepared in Chicago will be done in Genoa when the new building is completed. This means an important new industry for Genoa. It is not definitely known where the new creamery will be built, but it is rumored that it will be near the Illinois Central tracks.

K. JACKMAN & SON.

Will Remodel and Enlarge the Big Storehouse.

The steadily increasing grain business of K. Jackman & Son has made extensive changes necessary, and the firm will put in modern elevator facilities for handling grain quickly by power. The big storehouse will be enlarged this summer and expensive machinery installed.

E. C. SHIPPEE.

Mr. Shippee is talking of erecting a fine new residence on the lot adjoining his beautiful home on Main street.

THE INDUSTRIAL BOOM AT GENOA

IMPROVEMENT!

A BIG WAREHOUSE.

James R. Kiernan Will Make Extensive Improvements.

The eight lots recently purchased by Jas. R. Kiernan in the old Pacific hotel block will not lie idle very long. Within a few weeks a side track will be built back of Mr. Kiernan's warehouse, and within a year a magnificent new warehouse will be built. This year, by the way, is his tenth season in business in Genoa. Mr. Kiernan expects to put in a well equipped machine shop and to carry a stock of farm machinery and implements that will outshine anything in these parts.

BIG BUSINESS BLOCK.

Thos. G. Sager, Fred T. Robinson, F. O. Holtgren and D. S. Brown.

About a year ago Thos. G. Sager began to agitate the problem of getting the row of wooden shacks off Main street and replacing them with a fine brick and steel two-story block running from Olmsted's store to the Exchange Bank of Brown & Brown.

Fred T. Robinson said that if Sager would build a store he (Robinson) would build too, and F. O. Holtgren has recently talked in the same vein. For some months past D. S. Brown has been thinking of putting up a modern structure covering the little place occupied by A. E. Pickett and extending up to bank block.

There is some talk of the various gentlemen interested all getting together on the proposition and erecting a splendid block extending from the Exchange bank to Olmsted's dry-goods store. Nothing has been definitely decided upon as yet, but surely some improvement in the row will be made before long.

GEO. H. IDE.

Talking of Building Four Cottages.—Lots Are in Patterson Addition.

Four new cottages on lots in the Patterson addition will very probably be erected by Geo. H. Ide this summer.

Mr. Ide will see that these little homes are conveniently arranged and well built, and expects to rent or sell easily when the new factory starts up.

A good live Business Men's association is needed in Genoa.

The Coming of the Eureka Electric Company Starts a Healthy Boom

TALK OF IMPROVEMENTS EVERYWHERE

This Entire Edition of The Republican Is Devoted to Genoa's Industries

H. J. KUSEL

THE boom which has just struck our little village will be partly appreciated by those who carefully read the following notes on the various advances along industrial lines, as planned by many of our busy citizens. The chief inspiration of the boom is the coming of the Eureka Electric Co. The facts in brief are:

D. L. CANMANN

J. E. Stott, president of the village board of Genoa, has at length completed all arrangements necessary to bring the Eureka Electric company to Genoa. He was assisted by E. C. Shippee and others here and by J. B. Stephens of Sycamore, and the gentlemen who have worked so hard to bring the company here are satisfied that it means a busy little manufacturing city, for other industries are sure to take advantage of Genoa's fine location and excellent railroad facilities.

The progressive towns in the United States are manufacturing towns. The farming community can push enterprise only within narrow limits—what the soil will produce. The manufacturer sends his goods around the rolling globe and brings to his native city a part of the wealth of all nations. Hence it is that business men in Genoa are willing to take hold and help make Genoa what her natural and artificial facilities design her to be—a manufacturing city.

Genoa people are quite well informed concerning the Eureka Electric company. The company has been successfully engaged in the manufacture of telephones for some five years, being located at 143-147 S. Clinton street, Chicago. I. J. Kusel, president, and H. J. Kusel, manager, are well known men in the telephone field, and the company's product is well advertised and extensively sold.

I. J. KUSEL

President of the Eureka Electric Co., was born in Chicago in 1865. He started his business career at the age of 12, and has spent 15 years in electrical work.

Within a few days the Milwaukee road will commence laying the sidetrack to the site of the new factory, and as soon as possible work on the structure will commence. The floor plan is unusually well designed, the floor space given by the two stories aggregating 24,000 square feet. The building will be substantially built of brick, and will be well lighted and ventilated.

The absorption of the Advance Telephone company by the Eureka company brings with it valuable patents and the services of Mr. V. H. Messenger, a wealthy and successful business man; Mr.

IMPROVEMENT!

MOAN'S ADDITION.

The Year Will Witness Much Activity There.

It looks as though Frank Moan would have his addition full of happy homes before the end of the year. G. E. Stott's new home in the Moan addition is under way, and Mr. Hammond already knows of two more residences to be built in the Moan addition this season—one for Mr. Hammond himself and the other a handsome modern residence for Frank O. Holtgren.

Others are talking of building in the Moan addition this year, and some of the talk is bound to materialize in beautiful new homes. Mr. Moan will sell lots only on condition that fine two-story houses be erected thereon at once.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL.

A. L. Funk Buys Over Two Hundred Lots For Chicago Parties.

A. L. Funk, who has been so active, persistent and successful in bringing the Eureka company here, on Tuesday purchased from Henry Patterson seventeen acres of the farm land lying east of E. C. Shippee's and south of J. E. Stott's, on Main street. This will be platted at once and added to the village.

Later Mr. Funk purchased from J. B. Stephens of Sycamore the property which is to be re-subdivided and brought into the village as the Eureka addition. A neat little park will adorn the center of the addition, and improvements will be pushed at once.

J. E. STOTT.

Enterprising Real Estate Man Will Boom Genoa Property.

J. E. Stott, president of the village board and general all-around hustler for Genoa's good, expects the new factory to be the means of considerable activity in the local real estate market. He has already sold several lots, and has had many inquiries from people who want to build.

Mr. Stott will handle lots in the new Stephens addition, Henry Patterson's third addition, the Citizen's addition, and scattering lots elsewhere in the village. His business in Oklahoma land is also on the increase, and he will accompany several excursions there during the season. He is preparing a quite elaborate booklet, setting forth the merits of his real estate bargains.

NEW INDUSTRIES!

BALED HAY STOREHOUSE.

J. W. Wylde Will Build Soon on Pacific Hotel Property.

J. W. Wylde plans quite an improvement of the old Pacific hotel property, and will add a new and extensive industry to Genoa. He wants to sell the small barn on the place, and hopes in a few weeks to start a big storehouse 30x60 feet on the ground and twenty feet high.

This will be located on the new switch running through to the Kiernan warehouse, and will hold over 200 tons of baled hay.

The coming season Mr. Wylde will keep five men busy with his Champion baler, and hopes to put up about 500 tons of baled hay. He is shipping the product of last season now, and the uniform good quality of the product assures him a market for all he can handle.

WHOLESALE ICE CREAM.

E. A. Sowers & Company to Double Capacity.

The good success of last year has encouraged E. A. Sowers & company to order a new Thos. Mills improved freezer, thus doubling the capacity of Genoa's ice cream factory. The concern will soon be able to turn out 300 gallons per day, and will do a large wholesale business.

It is quite likely that the business will develop until a small factory is built near the new creamery, as the company is rapidly building up a reputation for a strictly pure product.

JAS. J. HAMMOND.

Will Do His Share in Beautifying the Village of Genoa.

The season opens up well for Jas. J. Hammond, and he confidently expects all the work he can do this year in Genoa. Previous mention has been made of the three houses he will build for various parties in the Moan addition. He will build a neat cottage in the Citizens' addition for Mrs. Lang, commencing work thereon in a few days.

More people are talking of building in Genoa than ever before in the history of the village. With the advent of the new factory we must have more houses, and many are talking over plans with Mr. Hammond.

Extra copies of the "Industrial Edition" may be obtained at this office.

POLITICAL NOTES

FOR COLLECTOR.

I wish to announce to the voters of Genoa that I am a candidate for the office of collector and respectfully ask your support at the Republican caucus.

GEO. W. BURBANK.

I am a candidate for tax collector of Genoa, and will be thankful for the support of the voters

CHARLES WHITE.

I wish to announce myself as a candidate in the Republican caucus for the office of township collector. If elected I will give my best attention to the duties of the office, and will appreciate the support of any friends at the caucus.

AUGUST FITE.

FOR SUPERVISOR.

I wish to announce myself as a candidate for supervisor, subject to the action of the Republican caucus.

JOSHUA SIGLIN.

LATE INFORMATION

Chicago Newspaper Man Sends a Special Letter.

Tells of the Prosperity that the Eureka Electric Company Will Bring to Village of Genoa.

[Special to The Genoa Republican.]

Just before going to press we received a letter from a newspaper friend in Chicago, giving the following write-up of the Eureka Electric company: The Eureka company will employ from 150 to 250 men and are now ready to receive applications from young men who are willing to work and learn a trade that they can go out in the world with and find employment at remunerative salaries. Applications should be made by mail for the present to Mr. H. J. Kusel, in care of the Eureka Electric company at 143 South Clinton street, Chicago.

The company will also employ about fifty young ladies in its winding and light electrical department: one of the points on which the company weighed its coming most carefully was that it could not get enough labor at Genoa, so we would urge upon young people who wish the opportunity of their lives to apply to the company at once.

The company can use ten to twelve stenographers at its office in Genoa, after May 1, and if the young ladies of the town will make haste to learn stenography it will save bringing some from Chicago.

I have briefly given the facts you wanted. Will send story on the Eureka company later.

THE GREAT INDUSTRIAL BOOM AT GENOA

H. Mehren, inventor, and Mr. Hanson, mechanical expert. The merger will be capitalized at $150,000, and hopes to do a business of $300,000 a year. The Advance company has been in business on Jackson boulevard, Chicago, about three years.

The company expects to first move the Advance plant, as that company's lease expires soon. Then department will follow department in regular order, each department losing but one week's time. It is expected that when everything is in full swing here some 200 hands will be employed. I. J. Kusel is president of the consolidation, D. L. Canmann is vice president, H. J. Kusel is general manager, and W. H. Messenger is secretary and treasurer. These gentlemen are married and propose to move their families here this summer.

In regard to the volume of business done by the Eureka company, Mr. Funk states that Eureka instruments are in use in over 3,000 exchanges in this country, and that several shipments have been made to South American points. The company is on almost a co-operative basis, in that the head of each department is a large stockholder in the concern.

The advent of the new factory has been the signal for a lively move in Genoa real estate. Many have decided to build, and others are talking strongly of so doing. As far as possible this issue of the REPUBLICAN mentions briefly each advance along industrial lines. Many other articles of like nature will follow in future issues, as Genoa grows and prospers.

C. B. Clefford

CLEFFORD & PERKINS.

Will Add Warehouse to the Rear of Hardware Store.

The stock carried by Clefford & Perkins has out-grown the store, and to keep from standing furnaces and things around in the rain the firm has decided to build a good sized warehouse in the rear of their store.

This will not only give the firm more store room, but will allow a working exhibit of furnaces, gas plants, new things in the plumbing line, etc.

JOS. PATTERSON.

Mr. Patterson has about decided to improve his two nice lots on Stott street, in Patterson's addition to the village of Genoa. He has not as yet fully decided whether to build one or two cottages, but will probably have two neat little places to rent before snow flies next fall.

Books Now Open.

The collector's books for the taxes of 1902 will be open at the store of Clefford & Perkins on and after Monday, February 2, 1903.

FRED C. DUVAL.

PHANTOM SOCIAL.

Golden Star Chapter, O. E. S., Gave Fine Entertainment.

Slater's hall was crowded last week Friday evening by the many who enjoyed the "phantom social" given by Golden Star Chapter, Order of Eastern Star. The "phantoms" were eight members of the chapter, dressed in the style set some years ago by Mr. Banquo's ghost. A prize was offered for a correct list of the names of the eight ghosts, and eleven were successful. Cuts were drawn to decide the winner, Miss Sadie Leonard being the fortunate one.

Light refreshments were served and games of various kinds indulged in, making the evening a decided social success. The committees in charge of the affair were:

Reception—Messrs. Geo. Patterson, A. V. Pierce and H. S. Burroughs.

Entertainment—Mesdames H. S. Burroughs, Fred Marquart and Ira Douglass.

Refreshment—Mesdames F. O. Holtgren, Mary Ide and D. S. Brown.

MRS. WM. HAZELETT.

Notice of Her Death Appears in the "Lake Forester."

We are indebted to the Lake Forester for the following particulars concerning the death of Mrs. William Hazelett:

"Mrs. Hazelett, wife of Mr. William Hazelett, died at Alice Home, Saturday evening, February 21, on the eve of her fifty-sixth birthday. Mrs. Hazelett was born at Jackson, Penn., her maiden name was Belle M. Keys, she was married to William Hazelett, August 10, 1869, by Rev. Mr. Thatcher, at Tiago, Penn. Mrs. Hazelett was taken ill about three weeks ago; typhoid fever with serious complications gave her friends fear from the first that her life work was finished. For weeks she had been in Chicago caring for a daughter-in-law, who was very ill with the fever. She closed her life as she had lived it, administering comfort to others.

Mrs. Hazelett had been a resident of this city only about three years, but during that time had made many friends. She leaves a husband, three grown sons, Claud, Fred and Louis, two sisters and a brother. Very brief funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon conducted by Dr. J. G. K. McClure, and the remains were placed in the vault to await a memorial service to be held later, when the enforced quarantine now existing may be raised."

About eleven years ago Wm. Hazelett and family lived on a farm near Genoa, where one son died and was buried in Genoa cemetery. Mr. Hazelett is a cousin of Mrs. Maria Richardson.

MARSHAL FAY'S HOSPITAL.

City Bastle Accommodates Man With "Jim Jams."

Last Friday a man who had been lying about town drunk for about a week, trying to work an advertising graft, frightened Rev. T. E. Ream's family by trying to enter the house while drunk.

Marshal Fay assisted him to a quiet retreat in the village hotel and sat up all night pumping bromide into the man, who said his name was Smith.

He was escorted out of town Saturday morning, after having worked on the sympathies of good-hearted Genoa people for quite a sum.

CHANGES AT CENTRAL.

Miss Agnes Hutchinson Retires After a Three Years' Work.

March 1 witnessed important changes at the Genoa exchange of the DeKalb county telephone company. Miss Agnes Hutchinson, who has been a popular and efficient manager of the switch-board for three years, handed in her resignation and was succeeded by Miss Mary Canavan, who has heretofore been night operator. Miss Laura Crawford is here from Iowa to accept the position of night operator.

During her three years' work at the switch-board, Miss Hutchinson has always been courteous, quick and obliging, and many will regret her decision to resign her position.

Bought Kirk's Saloon.

On Monday Helt & McAllister took possession of John Kirk's saloon, which they had negotiated for. The firm is composed of J. C. Heldt, who until recently has been in the same business in Marengo, and James McAllister, who has been in Belvidere the past winter. Both have formerly been in business here and have a wide acquaintance. — Kirkland Enterprise.

The strongest argument for conversion is practice.

BURROUGHS-MORRISON.

Young People Were Married Tuesday Evening in Genoa.

Notwithstanding the fact that a serious attack of pneumonia caused Miss Verna Morrison to postpone her marriage to Harvey I. Burroughs, the young people finally triumphed over adverse fate and were happily married at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. E. Ream of the Genoa Methodist church, at the home of Mrs. Maggie Burroughs on Sycamore street. Miss Mae Burroughs and George Patterson attended the couple.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison of Cherry Valley. She is well acquainted in Genoa, also in Kirkland, where she has recently resided with her sister, Mrs. C. J. McDowell.

Mr. Burroughs is a son of Mrs. Maggie Burroughs, and is a popular and capable young man. He has fitted up a home on the Wm. Reid farm northeast of town.

FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Fred Ackerman Hangs Himself, Near Williamson Factory.

Fred, son of John Ackerman, hanged himself in the hog house on the family farm near the Williamson factory, in Riley township, at 4 a. m. Monday, and was cold in death when discovered some hours later.

He was twenty-seven years old, and it is thought by some that despondency caused by an unfortunate love affair prompted the desperate deed.

MYSTIC WORKERS.

Do Some Mystic Work of Commendable Nature.

Since Albert Oursler had the misfortune to have a horse drop dead in the harness, his friends in the Mystic Workers have been circulating a paper among Genoa citizens and raised $50.

Plans are completed whereby Mr. Oursler will soon have a new horse, which will show the high esteem in which his fellow citizens hold him.

A BOTTLING PLANT.

The New Industry at Plato Center Is a Benefit to Dairymen.

Recently there has been started at East Plato a bottling business in the Fraser cheese and butter factory by a firm from Chicago. The milk from several of the large dairy farms in that locality is bottled up there and shipped to Chicago.

This is a source of convenience to the dairymen of this vicinity and pays them better than to dispose of their milk elsewhere.

Kirkland Woman Dead.

Mrs. Jane A. Shannon, one of the wealthiest women in the vicinity of Kirkland, died at her home Saturday afternoon. Death was due to dropsy, from which she had suffered a long time.

Mrs. Shannon leaves an estate valued at $80,000. She was the widow of the late Robert Shannon, who died in October of 1898, leaving property worth $241,000.

Mrs. Shannon was seventy-nine years of age. She was a very prominent church worker in Kirkland, and was a member of the Congregational church. Six children survive her.

Can this be True?

Kellogg & Adams have just received the LARGEST SHIPMENT of new buggies, surries, runabouts, carts, spring wagons, etc., ever seen in DeKalb County!

The second story of this mammoth barn is filled with elegant vehicles, harness, and everything for the horse.

WE have bought our goods from the leading manufacturers, such as the genuine COLUMBUS Buggy Co. of Columbus, Ohio. We also handle the celebrated STAYER Buggies of Chicago and the BROOKVILLE Buggies of Brookville, Indiana. Ask dealers elsewhere for these goods, and they will tell you they are too high priced for their trade. We know these makes are THE BEST, and are selling large numbers of these famous makes. There is nothing too good for our trade.

If you are sure, however, that you want a low priced vehicle, don't order from a catalogue house until you see the snaps we have in low priced goods. We will trade buggies, or trade horses; we also buy and sell horses.

HARNESS SNAPS

We bought over One Thousand Dollars' worth of hand-made Harness from a concern that was being closed out. We bought these goods at less than cost and are selling them accordingly. We challenge the whole country to compete with our goods and prices.

Spring Goods!

Lace Curtains and Draperies—we have just received 50 pairs of Lace Curtains in Plain and Ruffled. In Draperies we can show you some good styles and patterns.

Silks—call and see our black Peau de Soies and Taffetas for Dresses, Jackets and Linings. We also have a nice line of Colored Silks.

Black Wool Suitings—we can show you a very nice line of Black Goods, also some very pretty patterns in Colored Suitings.

Trimmings—we carry an up-to-date line of Silk pendants in black and white, silk grapes, antique laces, applique, medallions and silk braids.

Collars—fancy, ready-made Collars, Collar Shields in hem-stitched, drawn work and embroidery.

India Linen—we buy our India Linen by the case lots and can show you a good assortment.

Belts—shoe lace Belts in green, white, red and black. Black Silk Belts with the postillion back; also other styles.

Gentlemen's Goods—our Spring line of Dress Shirts are in stock now; also a new line of ties and the latest thing in collars.

The Knife Throwers

By FREDERIC VAN RENSSLAER DEY,
Author of "Not Like Other Men," Etc.

Copyright, 1901.
By Frederic Van Rensselaer Dey.

Self deception is deception of the worst sort, for there can be no betrayal. Craig Wyndham did not know that he was deceiving himself. All his life he had been so direct in everything he did that the symptoms were unrecognizable. He only realized without knowing why that something was strange and new.

If ever a man hated deception of any sort, Craig Wyndham was one. The interview with Carmen, the exercise and the conscious force of his own strength had given him a new and strange confidence, and while he was returning from the park he made up his mind that there should be no more of that. With the knowledge he now possessed he believed that he could not only defy the machinations of Carlos Escudera, but that he need no longer pretend friendship for a man he hated; also he resolved that he would make no effort to conceal from him or his followers—if he possessed any—what he should do that day. In other words, he felt entirely competent to care for and protect Carmen Pendleton. There may be some who read who have had this same sensation and can understand better than it can be described here the sensations by which he was actuated.

It was in consequence of these several emotions—if they may be defined by that word—that at the appointed hour of noon Craig appeared at the door of the hotel where the sister of his friend was stopping and, without any attempt at concealment, drove away with her and the duenna. Nor was it with surprise that, as they drove up the avenue, he was saluted with raised hat and flourishing bow by Carlos Escudera.

Carmen's seat in the carriage was such that she did not see the Mexican, and it was therefore supposable that the Mexican did not see her. The duenna, being on the front seat, was, of course, unseen, and Wyndham smiled when he realized that after all it was only his own movements that Escudera and his hirelings were watching. As yet Escudera did not even suspect the presence of his cousin in the city.

At Mount St. Vincent they sought a far corner of the restaurant. The duenna, Maria, was given an adjoining table. A tip to the waiter made it impossible for other guests to occupy the nearby tables at an hour when there were so many that were vacant in other parts of the room, and thus Wyndham felt confident that they would be undisturbed.

They had been seated scarcely half an hour and had not yet got beyond mere generalities in their talk when there came a most unexpected interruption.

Wyndham, who sat with his back toward the door, saw Carmen make a sudden start and then turn deathly pale, and he heard her exclaim, almost under her breath:

"Dios mio! Carlos esta aqui!"

He understood her words as well as if she had spoken in English, but he remained perfectly calm and unmoved. He did not even turn his head, but he could hear the footsteps of a person approaching them, and his ears were so well attuned to time that he recognized the step of Carlos Escudera.

"Be calm, Carmen," he said rapidly and in a low voice. "Remember that you are not in Mexico now."

She recovered herself instantly, but the next moment Escudera was beside them.

"This is an unexpected pleasure, senorita," he said coldly in Spanish, ignoring utterly the presence of Wyndham. "I did not know that my fiancée was in the city."

Wyndham saw that he was deadly pale and that he was struggling with all his strength of will to speak calmly. This man, usually so self possessed, for once had lost his power of self repression. His eyes seemed sunken back in his head. His white teeth gleamed ominously under his black mustache. His hands trembled with excitement. Craig thought, somewhat vaguely—for he was intent upon watching the man—how fortunate it was that Carmen had told him that she was affianced to Escudera! He realized in that moment how appalling the statement would have been had he not already been fortified against it. At the same instant he decided that it was best to treat the Mexican in a perfectly natural manner. Anybody who has found himself at some time in a critical position realizes how rapidly one can and does think at such moments.

He sprang to his feet before Escudera had ceased speaking and exclaimed in a tone that evidenced both surprise and pleasure, for Escudera did not know that he understood Spanish. "Hello, Escudera! This is an unexpected pleasure. I supposed you were sleeping the sleep of the just after last night. Permit me, Miss Pendleton, to present my friend, Senor Escudera. He comes from your own country, by the way. Escudera, Miss Pendleton."

It was a shot that told, for it staggered Escudera utterly.

If such a thing were possible, he became a shade whiter than before, and for once in his life he was outdone in presence of mind.

It was clever, too, on the part of Wyndham, that assumption for Carmen of the name of Pendleton, for it explained without further words their presence there together.

Escudera bowed with a gesture that was truly Mexican, and he smiled with an insolence that he did not try to conceal, and while he bowed and smiled he made another heroic effort to control himself. In that, however, he was only partly successful, for he still ignored Wyndham. He could not play the game with the cool head of his antagonist. There were mileposts beyond which he could not travel.

"I do not think that I require an introduction to you by this fellow or by anybody," he said in Spanish, believing that Wyndham could not understand him, "but I do require an explanation of your presence here."

"You have it," she replied calmly, "in the letter you sent to me announcing the death of Burr Pendleton, in which you refrained from telling me the truth."

It was a delicate method of telling him that he had lied to her, and it angered him beyond endurance.

"Shall I tell you why I deceived you?" he demanded hotly, forgetting that he had demanded an explanation and that instead he was making one. "It was because I respected your feelings; because I believed the knowledge of how your half brother came to his death would shock you; because already I knew the name of the man who killed him and only awaited evidence to convict him of the crime, and that man, the man who killed Pendleton, is your present companion—this man who sits opposite you at the table."

Wyndham rose slowly from his seat and, taking a step forward, confronted Escudera.

"Senor Escudera," he said, also speaking Spanish, "it is my misfortune or good fortune, whichever you choose to call it, to understand you. It is certainly my good fortune to recognize in you a despicable scoundrel. Will you leave us quietly, for the sake of the lady, or shall I call?"

He did not have time to complete what he would have said, for the Mexican, who now lost every vestige of self control, started back and with a rapid motion thrust his right hand into the opening of his waistcoat.

In an instant it was out again, and something—even the quickness of the eye could not determine what it was—gleamed in his grasp.

The hand was drawn back. Carmen uttered a low cry. Wyndham started forward, for he knew perfectly well the meaning of that gesture, the one that had hurled death into the heart of Burr Pendleton, and he intended to seize the Mexican before he could cast the terrible missile. But Escudera's wrist was seized from behind, the weapon was torn with a sudden wrench from his grasp, and he stood before them like a writhing serpent whose fangs have been drawn.

Nobody had noticed Maria, the duenna. Her presence was utterly forgotten, but she was a Mexican Indian woman, and she knew the man who had interrupted the luncheon. During the scene she stole behind him, as if she anticipated what he would do, or suspected that he might do it, and when he drew back his hand to cast the weapon she tore the implement from him and left him harmless.

In the excess of passion which the Mexican struggled it is not strange that his rage turned upon the woman who had disarmed him. He wheeled like lightning and seized her by the throat with both hands, but his fingers had scarcely time to tighten before two powerful arms reached around him, one on either side. His wrists were seized in a grasp that was tenfold stronger than his own, his fingers relaxed and loosed their hold, his arms were drawn resistlessly behind him, and he was pushed unceremoniously though not rapidly toward the door.

The waiter, who happened to be the only witness to all that had occurred, obeying a nod from Wyndham, preceded them and opened the side entrance, and there Craig lifted the Mexican bodily from his feet and dropped him outside. Then he closed the door and returned quietly to the table.

"I think, Carmen," he said—"I think we may now proceed with our luncheon."

And she looked at him with eyes that spoke all too plainly of the admiration she felt.

Advertisements having appeared in various publications wherein Sears, Roebuck & Co., offer Wheeler & Wilson sewing machines, we wish to warn the public that they are not our authorized agents and that we do not sell our machines to them nor any other catalogue house or department store.

Their advertisements are not for the purpose of promoting the sale of our machines. They are using our reputation as makers of the highest grade machines only, in order to get the names of possible buyers and persuade them to purchase one of their cheap STENCILED MACHINES, the manufacturers of which they are, evidently, ashamed to make public.

If you want a genuine Wheeler & Wilson machine, do not waste your time writing to anyone who is unable to furnish it. The genuine Wheeler & Wilson machine, made by us and backed by our warranty, is for sale by our authorized dealers only.
