BIGAMY COMMON.

Conflict Between Church and State Prevents Its Punishment.

Rome Letter to Pall Mall Gazette: For many years the conflict between church and state has rendered bigamy in Italy not only possible, but also easy and not punishable by law. As the marriage laws now stand only the civil ceremony is legal, but as the church up to the present time has refused to recognize this law the priest has daily performed the marriage service and given the blessing of the church without the civil ceremony. The consequence is that a man so inclined marries one wife at the city hall and another before the priest. Such a state of affairs is so gross a scandal that many projects have been brought before the religious compulsory, with a heavy punishment to any priest breaking this law. However, the effort has always been useless, as either from personal religious sentiment or for fear of offending their devout supporters the deputies have even refused to support the bill. This has produced the present absurd situation. It is announced that the holy see, to prevent a man from having two wives, has recommended the parish priests to inquire well into the circumstances and in ordinary cases strongly to advise the couple first to go through the civil marriage, to be followed on the same day, if possible, by the religious one.

ONE DOLLAR PER PILL.

Miss Nettie Hixon Says the Remedy That Cured Her Would Be Cheap at This Price.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 11, 1901.—(Special.)—Miss Nettie Hixon is Sergeant-at-Arms of Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order of America. Her home is at No. 1717 Hughes street, this city. She is a very popular and influential lady. For three years she has been ill. Now she is well. She says: "I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly for what they have done for me. I was troubled for three years with weakness, and often had dizzy spells, so that I dared not go out alone. My head would ache continually for four or five days at a time, until life became simply a burden.

"All the medicine I took did me no good, until my physician advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I secured a box, and soon found that my headache was leaving me. I felt encouraged and kept on taking them and getting stronger. The pains gradually diminished, until I had used four boxes, and all trace of pain had gone. I am today a strong and well woman, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. If the price was one dollar per pill, instead of 50c a box, they would be cheap, compared with other so-called medicines placed before a suffering public."

This is but a sample of the letters received every day by the hundred. They all tell the same story of sickness and soreness, changed into health and vigor by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They never fail. 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he can't supply you, send to the Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

MANY DIE IN BLAZING OIL.

Russians Overtaken by Fire at Meal Time.

VICTIMS UNABLE TO ESCAPE.

Thirty Are Reported to Have Perished, but the Exact List is Not Known—Fire Said to Be Work of a Discharged Employee.

A dispatch from Baku, Transcaucasia, reports that a disastrous fire destroyed some 40,000,000 pounds of naphtha belonging to the Caspian Black Sea company's naphtha works. The fire started in the magazines, which contained 6,000,000 pounds of petroleum, destroyed these and spread to the naphtha depots. The oil poured out like a stream of lava, inundating and setting fire to the dwellings of the workmen nearby. These were totally destroyed and many persons perished. Twenty charred bodies have been found and upward of fifty persons are terribly burned. Four hundred families lost everything they possessed. All the available hospitals are filled with people injured by the fire, while the sheds on the fair grounds are filled by those made homeless by the conflagration. The fire broke out in the evening at meal time and spread so rapidly that many people were unable to escape from their homes. The fire also cut off the retreat of the spectators, thirty of whom perished. It is believed the conflagration was started by a discharged employee, for the purpose of revenge, and it is further reported that the naphtha reservoirs had been previously filled with water which in overflowing carried the flaming fluid over the town, involving all the houses as far as Police street. The stream of fire was several yards high. Numbers of people were seen attempting to escape while burning like torches. The total number of victims is not ascertainable at present.

Mob Hugs a Negro.

George Carter, the negro who assaulted Mrs. William E. Board, wife of the assistant cashier of the Deposit bank, was taken from the Paris (Ky.) jail by a mob of fifty masked men and hanged to an iron arch over the courthouse entrance. The mob, which was composed of some of the best citizens in the county, formed about midnight, but was orderly and quiet. The crime for which Carter was lynched was committed on the evening of Dec. 2. Mrs. Board, while returning home with her little son, was assaulted in a lonely locality near her home. The negro knocked her down four times. After a long search Carter was arrested near Ruckerville, a negro suburb, and placed in jail.

The new combination will be a formidable competitor of the American Cereal company. The Akron Cereal company, whose plant is one of the largest in the country, is to be in the new combination. Mr. Barber's plans also include the erection of a large mill at Barberton.

EIGHTY-SEVEN KILLED.

Explosion of Dynamite Demolishes a Village in Mexico.

Word has reached Chihuahua, Mexico, of a terrible mining disaster. An explosion in the San Andres mine, situated in a remote locality of the Sierra Madre, in the western part of the state of Durango, caused the death of eighty-seven men, women and children, and injured many others. The catastrophe was due to the explosion of several hundred cases of dynamite, stored in an underground chamber of the mine. Electric wires connecting with the hoisting machinery passed through the room in which this dynamite was stored, and it is supposed that these wires became crossed, thereby causing a fire which set off the dynamite. All of the killed and injured were on the surface, most of them occupying residences immediately over the underground workings of the mine. The explosion tore away the whole top of the mountain, on which the village of miners was located, and men, women and children were blown into pieces. Among those who were killed were Herman Lubman, the superintendent of the mine, and all the members of his family.

Five Killed in a Wreck.

Train No. 5, the New York-Chicago Limited, on the Erie railroad, was wrecked Thursday morning within the town limits of Greenville, Pa. Five passengers were dead when taken from the wreck, several are missing and there are a score badly injured. The dead are Sergeant Major Harry A. Hart, Port Wood, New York; George W. Patterson, Philadelphia, private, company I, Tenth United States infantry, carried card of Iron Molders' union; Peter J. Curry, Coboco, N. Y., private, Tenth infantry, aged 21; unknown man, aged 25 years; unknown man, only papers on person were a postal card that had been sent to the Adams Produce company, Rushville, Ind., and a ticket from New York to that point. His face was literally torn to shreds.

Battle with Rebel Indians.

The federal troops in Yucatan have had another battle with rebel Indians, who were strongly entrenched, but the Indians were unable to withstand the charge made on their position and fled in all directions. Many of the Indians would like to be released from the tyranny of chiefs who inflict the death penalty and torture and who commit many barbarities to infuse terror into their adherents.

Plague Reaches Cape Town.

Two cases of the bubonic plague have been discovered on the docks at Cape Town, Africa. Every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the plague. Find Midget Pair Starving.

In a miserable shanty, the windows of which are boarded up, and through the sides of which the wind whistles, Frank Bailey and wife, two midgets, 72 years of age, who have been exhibited as freaks in all parts of the United States, were discovered Monday nearly starved to death. The hut is located three miles east of Niles, Mich., in Howard township, Cass county.

Shoots Wife in Sleigh.

George Brown, while driving with his wife in a sleigh about five miles from Butte, Mont., shot and killed his wife, then put a bullet in his own head. He will die. No cause for the act can be learned. Nobody appears to know anything about the couple, but the supposition is that they were ranchers who had been to town on business and were on their way home.

CONGRESSMAN HOWARD

Of National Reputation Are the Men Who Recommend Peruna to Fellow Sufferers

A Remarkable Case Reported from the State of New York

CONGRESSMAN HOWARD OF ALABAMA

House of Representatives, Washington, Feb. 4, 1899. The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen—"I have taken Peruna now for two weeks, and find I am very much relieved. I feel that my cure will be permanent. I have also taken it for the grippe, and I take pleasure in recommending Peruna as an excellent remedy to all fellow sufferers."—M. W. Howard.

Congressman Howard's home address is Fort Payne, Ala.

Most people think that catarrh is a disease confined to the head and nose. Nothing is farther from the truth. It may be that the nose and throat is the oftenest affected by catarrh, but if this is so it is so only because these parts are more exposed to the vicissitudes of the climate than the other parts of the body.

Every organ, every duct, every cavity of the human body is liable to catarrh. A multitude of ailments depend on catarrh. This is true winter and summer. Catarrh causes many cases of chronic disease, where the victim has not the slightest suspicion that catarrh has anything to do with it.

The following letter which gives the experience of Mr. A. C. Lockhart is a case in point:

Mr. A. C. Lockhart, West Henrietta, N. Y., Box 58, in a letter written to Dr. Hartman says the following of Peruna:

"About fifteen years ago I commenced to be ailing, and consulted a physician. He pronounced my trouble a species of dyspepsia, and advised me, after he had treated me about six months, to get a leave of absence from my business and go into the country. I did so and got temporary relief. I went back to work again, but was taken with very distressing pains in my stomach.

"I seldom had a passage of the bowels naturally. I consulted another physician with no better results. The disease kept growing on me, until I had exhausted the ability of sixteen of Rochester's best physicians. The last physician advised me to give up my work and go south, after he had treated me for one year.

"I was given a thorough examination with the X-ray. They could not even determine what my trouble was. Some of your testimonials in the Rochester papers seemed to me worthy of consideration, and I made up my mind to try a bottle of Peruna. Before the bottle was half gone I noticed a change for the better. I am now on the fifth bottle, and have not an ache or pain anywhere. My bowels move regularly every day, and I have taken on eighteen pounds of flesh. I have recommended Peruna to a great many and they recommend it very highly. If you would take a bottle of Peruna, and could then candidly say that it had not benefited them, I would pay for the medicine."—A. C. Lockhart.

Mr. W. P. Peterson, of Morris, Ill., says:

"I was nearly dead with catarrhal dyspepsia and am now a well man, better, in fact, than I have been for twenty years or more.

"Since I got cured by your Peruna I have been consulted by a great many people."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

ELECTRIC WONDERS

Unparalleled Display at the Pan-American Exposition.

Progress in Electrical Science Will Be Illustrated in a Most Comprehensive Manner at the Great Show Next Summer.

Electrical illuminations and electrical exhibits will form conspicuous features at the Pan-American exposition as is eminently fitting in view of the marvelous progress made in electrical science during the past decade and in view of the proximity to the exposition grounds of the great plants at Niagara Falls from which the electric power is generated.

The electrical illuminations of the exposition will be achieved in connection with the Electric Tower, the fountains and other hydraulic displays and in the outlining of the different buildings by rows of incandescent lamps. There will be combined water and electric effects and the central figure of the whole setting will, of course, be the Electric Tower, with its most wonderful and beautiful electrical display. The Electricity Building itself has most appropriately been located adjoining the Electric Tower. From its eastern end an excellent opportunity will be afforded for viewing the splendid illuminations of the tower during the night displays. The location of the building is also fortunate in view of the fact that just across the mall, the broad avenue upon the southern side of the Electricity Building, stands the Machinery and with the means to this end. On this account it is hoped to illustrate them at the Exposition in such a manner that the inter-relationship of the various elements will be quite apparent. The utilization of electricity in various forms of manufacturing industries will also be illustrated. This utilization of electricity is destined to be one of the greatest of its fields and the Niagara frontier is now an object lesson in this respect, for the development of Niagara power is almost every day drawing new industries to this region because the proximity and the availability of this power render the manufacturing opportunities so exceptional.

Exposition Sculpture.

No exposition of the past possessed such elaborate sculptural adornment as will be a leading characteristic of the Pan-American Exposition. The buildings and grounds of the Exposition at Buffalo will be embellished profusely with most artistic creations from the hands of some thirty-five of the best known sculptors on the American continent.

Cycling at Exposition.

The Pan-American Exposition will extend a welcoming hand to the millions of Cyclists and Automobilists of the Americas during the summer of 1901.

The automobile exhibit, it is promised, will be the finest ever seen at any exposition. There will also be a large and complete display of bicycles, representing all stages of progress from the heavy and clumsy iron-tired velocipedes to the finest pneumatic-tired modern machines, including the "good old ordinary" or high wheel bicycle fitted with small solid rubber tires which was first exhibited in this country twenty-five years ago, at Philadelphia.

A grand carnival of cycle races will be held in the magnificent Stadium which is now being erected on the Pan-American grounds. This vast arena will be in many respects equal the famous old Colosseum at Rome.

Horticulture at Exposition.

Horticultural exhibits at the Pan-American Exposition have a beautiful setting in and about an exceedingly handsome building 220 feet square. The height of the building is 236 feet to the top of the lantern, and the general proportions are of commanding grandeur.

Fruits of all kinds will be placed on exhibition during the summer. Much of the fruit will be preserved in cold storage, though the exhibit will change as the season advances and the different varieties ripen. A number of states have made arrangements to provide collective exhibits that will properly represent the horticultural products of their particular section. California is arranging for a special exhibit of the wonderfully diversified fruit productions of that state. Other states are taking the matter up with the prospect of making the horticultural exhibit the most complete ever attempted. The same care that characterizes other sections of the Exposition will be given the Horticultural division with the view of making it representative as to character rather than exhaustive in detail.

Business of the Bee.

The busy bee will be in big business at the Pan-American Exposition the coming summer. It has been decided to construct a special building for the proper display of the working colonies of bees and the great variety of bee keepers' supplies which will constitute this exhibit. This will undoubtedly be the most extensive bee exhibit ever prepared in this or any other part of the world. Anyone who is not a student of bee culture little realizes the very great importance of this industry. It is estimated that there are 300,000 persons engaged in bee culture in the United States alone and that the present annual value of honey and wax is in excess of $20,000,000. There are 110 societies devoted to the study and promotion of bee keeping. Eight journals are sustained by this industry. Fifteen steam power factories are producing supplies in various kinds for the use of bee keepers. American honey finds a market in many distant countries, the United States producing more honey than any other nation.

The bee exhibits at the Pan-American Exposition will be so arranged that the bees may enter their hives from the exterior of the building and carry on their work of honey collection undisturbed by visitors, yet in full view through the glass sides of their hives. The successful management of an apiary requires a knowledge of botany as well as the habits and requirements of the bees themselves. The little honey bee plays a very important part in the general economy. The failure of fruit crops may be due to the absence of bees whose special function is to fertilize the blossoms by carrying the pollen from stamens to pistil.

EDWARD HALE BRUSH.

CAN'T BACK OUT.

Question About Snakes Under Debate by Scientific Experts.

After the meeting of the Colorado Academy of Science recently, at which President Regis Chauvenet of the School of Mines delivered an address, there was an argument about snakes, says the Denver Republican. It was continued in a desultory way soon after at the state capitol by Curator Will C. Ferril of the Historical society, and Captain Cecil Deane of the war relic department, the men who started it at the meeting on the day previous. Curator Ferril claims that he has proved that a rattlesnake, when pursued, will retreat and go into its hole backward. He says that a month ago he ran across a rattlesnake which slowly went toward its hole. He followed with discretion and a gun and when the rattler reached its home it went in, according to Mr. Ferril, tail first, so that it could protect itself if attacked. Mr. Ferril is aware that this statement is contrary to established records, but says that because it has never before been known to the world does not prove that it is not true. He will mention this discovery in his biennial report now being compiled.

Captain Cecil A. Deane of the war relic department says that he never heard of such a thing. He claims that the theory is ridiculous and that it is a well established fact that the rattlers go home head first. In proof of this claim he says that the way in which curio dealers secure rattlers in large numbers for sale is to follow the snakes to their holes and cut off their tails as they dive into the holes. Captain Deane says he has pursued this method on various occasions and never saw a rattler even attempt to go into its hole tail first. He asserts that scientific experiments have already demonstrated that a rattler cannot "back up" or "back down" and that Mr. Ferril is needlessly exciting the scientific world in bringing up a subject which has already been disposed of.

Egypt's Lovely Khedivah.

The Khedive of Egypt is one of the few Eastern rulers who has lived in a genuine love story, with the heroine for his wife. The lovely Ikkal Hanem is of the Circassian race. She was formerly a slave of the Vididi (Dowager) Khedivah, at whose house she then young ruler of Egypt first saw her. As beauty gives rank in the Orient, the young slave's condition did not interfere with her advancement. She was courted and won by the dashing young prince and finally formally married to him and raised to the rank of Khedivah. The happy couple model their household after the European fashion. She neither paints nor powders her face, as is the custom of Egyptian women of high rank. She likes European dress and has European servants and governesses for her three daughters. She studies with her children, and has an open, inquiring mind. The Khedivah has one of the most sumptuous yachts in the world. The saloons are most magnificently upholstered in white satin, brocaded with pink roses, the cornices done in real gold, while the panels are hung with beautiful pictures. Her own room is decorated in pink and white, the bed, with its lace trimmings, looking particularly inviting.

Duty or Orders?

Railroad men in Atchison, Kan., are puzzled over a question of duty or orders. On one of its sections near Atchison a railroad has just two men, the foreman and one hand. The printed rules of the company require that in case a rail should be found broken, one section hand must go in one direction and another in the other, for the purpose of flagging trains. Now, the question troubling Atchison is, how could the rail be mended with the entire force away flagging trains?

Week of Gay Festivities at The Hague.

QUEEN IS VERY POPULAR.

She Stands Bareheaded in Bitter Weather to Watch 3,500 Persons March By— Makes the Duke a Prince—He Seems to Be a Shy Young Man.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland was married Thursday at The Hague to the Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. The civil marriage occurred in the presence of the nearest relatives. The royal party then proceeded to the church in procession. Religious services were held, followed by the return of the royal party in procession to the palace. Here Queen Wilhelmina held court and received congratulations of others than members of the royal families. At 1:30 p. m. a luncheon was served and at 4:15 p. m. the royal couple departed on their honeymoon.

The day previous to the wedding was one of festivity throughout the city. Clear but bitterly cold weather favored the popular procession today. People came from all parts of the country to take part in the parade and to extend their felicitations to the royal bride and bridegroom. About 3,500 persons marched in the procession. There were many bands and a perfect forest of banners carried by various public and private societies, which marched through the principal streets, finally passing the palace, where Queen Wilhelmina and Duke Henry reviewed the parade from the balcony. The Queen stood bareheaded in the frosty air. She wore a blue velvet dress, which was partly covered by a heavy sable cape. Duke Henry, in the uniform of a Vice Admiral, stood by her side. The Queen-mother also appeared on the balcony, but for a few moments only. The banner bearers dropped out of the procession in front of the palace and

A BOSTON PHILANTHROPIST

Frank A. Schirmer, a member of one of the leading business firms in Boston, performed an act of practical philanthropy recently. On Saturday last he had the police captain in one of the poorer precincts in the Hub instruct his officers to obtain the address of families who were in need of coal. Then going to a dealer he gave his check in payment for 100 tons of coal to be delivered under the direction of the police captain, whom he had previously consulted. Up to Saturday evening 72 families had been supplied with their winter's fuel.

Wedding Trousseau Described.

The Queen's wedding gown, woven of the finest silver tissue, was embroidered at the School of Art Needlework in Amsterdam and was afterward made up in Paris. It is ornamented with silver-threaded seed pearls. The robe and train are lined with rich white silk. The bodice, which is plain and cut low, is trimmed with antique lace. The trails are covered with embroidery, almost meeting at the waist and broadening over to the hem. The court train is two and a half yards long, the embroidery running around in light trails. The gowns of the Queen's trossseau are mostly pale greens, grays, blues and whites, these suiting her blonde complexion best. For her public entering into Amsterdam her Majesty has a royal robe of white velvet, with a train trimmed with ermine, and a mantle lined with ermine. At one of the receptions in Amsterdam after the honeymoon she will wear a gown of white satin, embroidered around the hem and bodice with a small tracery of orange leaves, and a court train of rich orange velvet lined with white silk. She has an outdoor gown of delicate gray combined with white and pale blue, scarcely showing embroidered steel and silver sequins. With this goes a large hat. She also has a soft hunting costume of dark bottle green, unornamented, and another of trimmed clothe applique. There is a walking dress of dark green with gold threads, and another of green mignonne cloth, combined with white. The Queen has four plain riding habits.

Some of the Wedding Gifts.

Amsterdam's gift to the Queen, the magnificent gilded chariot originally built for her coronation, was formally presented on Monday. In it she rode to church Thursday. One of the richest presents is a great tapestry representing the garden of the Hesperides. This is from the French republic. The City of Hague gave a porcelain service of 300 pieces. THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

Work in Both Houses at Springfield.

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. Howles Introduces a Bill Providing That Defendants in Justice Courts More Than Three Miles from Home May Take Cases to Neerer Courts.

Wednesday, February 6.

The House was unusually breezy today. It started with the discussion of Mr. Nohe's bill prohibiting the issuing of free transportation to and the acceptance of the same by members of the General Assembly, which was a special order on second reading, and which finally was sent to the Railroad committee. This action is considered to mean that the measure is gone for good and will not appear again during this session.

Among the more important bills introduced in the House were the following: By Eowles of Wood—Providing that defendants in suits in justice courts who reside more than three miles from the office of the justice may, upon making affidavit of that fact, have their cases removed to a nearer justice if there be one. By Hammond of Coles—Repealing the act creating the State Board of Horsehoers. Also a bill repealing the act for the licensing of architects. By Church—Two bills amending the law in relation to local improvements. These bills were prepared by the special committee of the Chicago City Council, and have been heretofore published. By Gould—Amending the special assessment law as applied to the construction of sidewalks, being one of the bills prepared by the special committee of the Chicago City Council.

Thursday, February 7.

Representative Connor introduced an anti-treating bill which would compel city politicians to change their method of campaign if it became a felony. It amends a section of the present election law and makes it an offense punishable with a fine and imprisonment if a candidate for office treats a voter with a drink to influence his vote, and it makes treating for campaign purposes a felony. Joseph Helmniak believes that any man who steals a dog will commit another crime, so he put in a bill today making dog stealing a felony, to be punished by a large fine and imprisonment.

Among others were the following: By Mr. Eigans—Providing for the rental of school text books to pupils in the public schools. Boards of directors shall purchase books and rent them to pupils at not to exceed one-fourth of the publishers' price. By Mr. Canton—Providing that one-half of the money derived from the licensing of dram shops shall be paid into the county treasury and used for the improvement of public highways. By Mr. Pendaris—Repealing the section of the law limiting to $500 the amount that may be recovered in a suit for damages arising from a death by a wrongful act, neglect or default. By Mr. W. Sullivan—Providing that the state board of health shall have supervision of lodging houses, inns and hotels in cities of 100,000 or more inhabitants.

Friday, February 8.

The demands of the state institutions this session are simply enormous, being far in excess of those of any previous year. The Peoria asylum, known as Bartonville, wants $200,000 for the completion of the plant and its maintenance for the two years. There is a proposition before the legislature looking toward the establishment of a state farm for epileptics, such as some of the eastern states have. This involves an expenditure of about $300,000. If such an institution be created, however, it would diminish the expenditures of the insane asylum by taking the epileptics away from their care. Every state institution appears to want more money than ever before. Governor Yates is giving this matter a good deal of attention. He had a long conference today with Senator Chapman, chairman of the state appropriation committee, on the subject of state expenses. He wants to do everything in his power to avoid an excessive tax rate. He always has expressed himself, in public and private, as being in favor of all reasonable demands looking toward the proper care of the dependents of the state. However, he will oppose unwarranted extravagance.

Monday, February 11.

Senator Stubblefield and Representative Scrogin, chairman of the subcommittee on Congressional apportionment of the Senate and House, returned today to Springfield. It is expected that a majority of the subcommittees will be there soon, when work will be resumed on the Congressional map. The members of the subcommittees spent a few days in Chicago after the adjournment last Friday morning. There they discussed the Cook county plans and in the proposition to attach Will County to Cook in framing the new Congressional districts. Senator Stubblefield said that while there is some opposition to the plan a majority of those spoken of favored the proposition. He does not anticipate that it will become necessary to change the lines already drawn, so far as that particular section of the state is concerned. The Senator says Cook county must either consent to this addition or be satisfied with nine districts, and he thinks the leaders will accept the former proposition.

Arrangements have been completed for the trip of Governor Yates and his staff to Washington to attend the inaugural ceremonies on March 4. The party will go by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad from Chicago, on a special train, which will leave there at 1 p. m. on Friday, March 1.

NOTES OF THE SESSIONS.

Representative Jones, the colored member, has introduced a resolution censuring the Illinois industrial home for the blind, located in Chicago, for alleged discrimination on account of color and nationality of applicants for admission to that institution. The resolution is based on an unsuccessful attempt by Jones to have James Brown, colored, of 456 Armour avenue, Chicago, admitted to the home.

The state has already approved a $75,000 appropriation for the Illinois exhibit at the Buffalo exposition. A proposition looking towards an appropriation of $250,000 for a state exhibit at the St. Louis exposition is before the legislature. Missouri appropriated $150,000 for its state exhibit at the World's Fair, and it is not believed Illinois will appropriate but an amount in excess of this for the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

Springfield politicians declare that Henry Yates, brother of Gov. Yates, will get the appointment of state insurance superintendent, to succeed J. R. B. Van Cleave.

John S. Miller and Robert McMurdy, Chicago members of the Illinois practice commission, tried to induce the three county members to consent to justice court reform features, but they were outvoted on the proposition. In the proposition, it is expected, in the making jurors will be made out being judges.

Also be an article from appellate courts prerogative of jury cases tried by jury.

Transportation building, so that visitors can easily pass from one to the other and make comparisons between the closely allied apparatus in the two buildings. In the northwest corner of the Electricity Building will probably be located the 5,000 H. P. transformer plant which will transform the Niagara power polyphase current from 11,000 volts to 1,800 volts for distribution about the grounds. Smaller step-down transformers will be used in several hundred transformer pits about the grounds and in the various buildings, where the current will be reduced from 1,800 volts to 104 volts. At this pressure lights and electric motors and other appliances will be operated.

The progress in the development and application of the various branches of electrical science and industry of recent years makes the exhibit at the Pan-American exposition of the utmost importance and interest. At the time of the World's Fair at Chicago, electric transportation over street car lines of cities was in its infancy. In ten years the electric motor in its application to both transportation and industry has effected well nigh an industrial revolution. In the electric lighting industry, and in the telephone system there has been great progress during this decade. Wireless telegraphy has come to the front within a few years and is destined to effect still further radical changes in methods of electric communication. Automobiles electrically propelled have come into use. In all these fields the Pan-American Exposition will have electrical exhibits illustrating this marvelous progress. There will be a collection of historical matter relating to the subject which will show the gradual development of the apparatus used. An especially interesting exhibit will be that illustrating the application of electricity to the propulsion of cars and vehicles like the automobiles. Most persons are more familiar with the successful operation of such vehicles by electricity than

QUEER TITLES FOR SERMONS

That eccentric preacher, Lorenzo Dow, once preached to thoughtless young women who with their gorgeous bonnets had taken the highest seats in the room, from the text, "Topknot, Come Down." One of the most brilliant preachers of a generation ago, now a "castaway," preached to young people from the text, "Let Her Drive." Several years ago a bright

"Born too Late; the World Has the Start of Him," is the form of an offer of enlightenment to young men. "A Love Song," "A Love Adventure," and "Lessons in Courtship," of course attracted instant attention.

Here and There.

A mail clerk on the C. & N. W. road arrived in Chicago last Thursday and was promptly placed under arrest for stealing from the mail pouches. Numerous articles were found on his person, a number of which were for parties in Belvidere.

The output of United States postage stamps at the bureau of engraving and printing during January was the largest in the history of the government, the total number being 504,676,615, of which 9,564,840 were put up in the little book form.

At the present time there is no small pox in Marengo. Mr. Cunningham, the patient who was ill, is out and as the time for new cases to appear is past we are glad to say the city is again in its usual healthy condition and no one need fear to come to town and see us.—Republican (Marengo).

A lady said to us recently that it was easier to have a nice flock of hens than the right kind of a hen house. The hen can be grown, but the hen house, we must wait for some man to build that and while men are fond of eggs and fried chicken and the like, it is the hardest thing in the world to get them to build the right kind of a hen house.

Records have recently been found in the archives of Pekin, made accessible by the occupation of the allied armies, which seem to show that the Chinese discovered America at least 1,500 years ago and possibly 2,000, and that their ancient civilization produced the marvelous ruins of Mexico and Central America that have so long puzzled archeologists.

A valuable bulletin has just been issued by the U. S. Dept. of agriculture giving information concerning the Angora goat. It seems to us that it would profit every sheep raiser to send for it and read it carefully. It is copiously illustrated and very interesting and the advantages of raising or crossing with these remarkable hair bearing animals are clearly set forth. They thrive on all the inferior grasses, briars, bushes, etc., and produce a fleece of from 4 to 8 pounds worth from $6 to $8 per pound in France or Paisley, Scotland, for the manufacture of high priced shawls. Besides this their meat is better than mutton and esteemed one of the best meats eaten by man. The book is bulletin No 27 of the Bureau of animal industry and will doubtless be sent free to those who apply while the edition lasts.

A. B. Clefford is Wed to an Estimable Lady of Lafayette, Ind.

We copy the following from the Lafayette Call, (Ind.) of Tuesday Feb. 12. "A very pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Watson on Columbia st., at which time was solemnized the marriage of A. B. Clefford of Genoa, Ill., to Mrs. Elizabeth J. Carpenter. In the presence of a small company of relatives and closest friends the ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter D. Cole, after which congratulations were extended and the guests repaired to the dining room where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served.

The decorations about the house were very artistic and beautiful. In the parlors, and the color effects in the dining room was lavender and white, the center piece on the table being a cluster of carnations and heliotrope. The gilt chairs occupied by the bride couple were tied with lavender ribbon. The bride was attired in a handsome brown cloth, the bodice of which had a vest of white chiffon and white all over applique. The front and collar were outlined with a heavy white applique pattern. There was also a touch of brown velvet and brown satin. She has long been a resident of Lafayette, and is a most estimable and charming woman. She was the recipient of a number of beautiful presents.

The groom is a retired merchant of Genoa, and is also the owner of large stock farms in that vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Clefford left this afternoon over the Big Four for Chicago, and will go from there to Genoa for residence."

A Letter From the Philippine Is' ds.

A Letter From Corp. Charles Beck of Co. G, 34th Vol. Infantry.

A Hard March in Which Many Soldiers Lose Their Lives.

Laosg, P. I., Dec. 4, 1900.

Dear Mother:—

As it has been a long time since I wrote to you last I think I had better be getting down to business. We have just finished one of the longest marches that we have ever been on. We were one month and four days on the march, chasing Genl. Tina, the only general that is fighting against us.

He has about 900 men with him and about fourteen American deserters, one of them we think is Captain Roberts out of our batallion (No. 2). We lost seventy-four men killed and about one hundred and forty wounded. We must have killed at least two hundred and fifty of their men. We had to bury men in every town we went through and at one town, about sixty miles from here we buried one hundred and five Philipinos. It was a hard fight, it lasted four hours and when it was over I only had seven shells left out of one hundred and our guns were so hot that we had to lay them on the trench and pull the triggers the best way we could.

The officer in charge of Company G had the men make a breast-work of the enemy they had killed.

Col Howge is in command here and every time a detachment is sent out they must report to him and these are the orders that he gives: "I want you to shoot at every man that you see running away from you and kill him if you can." He claims that good men will not run and all that run are Insurrectos and they must be killed.

This town is the next largest town on Luzon Island. Its population is about 23000 people and about twenty miles from here there is another town of about 16000, but they are a different people and we cannot talk with them at all. On the other side of the island they could most all talk broken Spanish and that is easy to understand.

The band is with us now and there is a concert every afternoon and evening and the men all act as if they never had heard music before in their lives. By the looks of things here at the present time we are going to have a snap unless we are sent out again after Genl Tina.

There are eight companies of the 34th, three troops of the 3rd Cavalry, two companies of the 16th and one of the 5th Infantry. Out of all these men they have a guard of only twenty-four. The native police do all the rest of the guarding and they are only paid six dollars, Mexican money, for their work a month and at that price, they think they are being well paid for their services. When they are sent out with the prisoners they always keep them on the move, if they don't work they have orders to hit them on the head with their guns and they would do it in a jiffy. * * * Your son,

A PRETTY COMPANION

By Louise Bedford.

CHAPTER I.

The gas was turned up to its full height and flared noisily in the front parlor of a lodging house in the suburbs of London. Just underneath it, so that the bright light illumined the varying shade of her auburn hair, sat a girl, with the advertisement sheet of the Daily Mail laid upon the table before her. One finger passed rapidly down the columns.

"I wish I were a cook, Neville. Here are cooks required of every size and shape, no limit to either age or sex, apparently. I could get a dozen situations tomorrow if I could roast a joint properly, and I could earn a fortune if I could do made dishes."

The brother that Janetta Howard addressed was a good-looking lad about 19 years old, with dark appealing eyes, and closely-cropped curly hair. The face was spotted by the purposeless, weak mouth and the characterless chin. He reclined in an easy chair, and was smoking a pipe, with his hands thrust deep into his trouser pockets.

"What nonsense, Jennie! As if I should ever consent to your going out as a common servant! Besides, I don't believe you could do a red herring properly."

"Given a good fire and a toasting fork, I would evolve the way to do the herring," retorted Janetta merrily.

"But that I dare not draw out our last penny of capital! I would go in for a series of cooking lessons, come out at the top of the tree, and take a place as cook in a high family, I tell you. I would not adopt the title of 'lady help.' I'd be cook, and rule my kitchen with a rod of iron." And she clenched her hand, as if she really gripped the rod of which she spoke.

"And, failing this, what do you propose to do?" asked Neville lazily.

"Anything that offers," replied Janetta quickly, resuming her search through the paper. "It is quite clear that, if you are to accept this chance of a stool in an accountant's office, I must supplement your salary in some way; you can't live on it."

"I need not accept it; I can wait for something better."

"Wait until we come to our last penny, in fact!" cried Janetta impatiently. "No, Neville; you must take this clerkship, and I must get something and help you all I can. You know I'm ready enough to do it; but—with a little break in her voice—"you'll keep steady, dear, when I'm gone."

Her tone implied that the boy's past had not been altogether blameless, and he started to his feet, as if stung by her words.

"I know I've been a beast, Jennie, I've wasted a lot of money; but if I hadn't had such bad luck I should have won it back on the last Derby."

"That's just it—you'd no right to risk it," replied Janetta despairingly; "but you'll leave it alone now—you must promise me to try and keep straight. I think it would break my heart if you turned into a drinking, betting man like father!"

The last words were brought out sadly and reluctantly, briefly telling the tale of the present low ebb in their fortunes.

"He's dead; you need not bring up his sins against him," said Neville, rather sulkily.

"And I would not, except that I love you so dearly that I must give you one word of warning. You've nobody else, you see," said Janetta, with a smile that was almost a caress.

"Let me see, where was I? Bent upon finding that wonderful situation that is to make both your fortune and mine," she continued, with an effort to regain her usual light-heartedness. "What do you say to this?"

"Wanted immediately, a young lady as companion, good-looking and good-tempered. Photo must accompany every application. References required."

"Humbug!" ejaculated Neville, from the depths of his easy chair.

"Come and look for yourself, if you don't believe me," said Janetta, with laughter in her eyes.

He rose and peeped over his sister's shoulder. "Why, yes! it's there safe enough. It's a hoax, of course. You won't be green enough to answer it."

"This very night," said Janetta brightly—"at least, if you honestly can assure me that I fulfill the requirements. I'm not old at two-and-twenty, am I?"

"I'm averagely good-tempered, and could attain perfect self-control if an occasional outburst meant a loss of situation. And—as she spoke she glanced at the common little mirror above the mantel shelf—"don't mind my feelings, tell me truly; am I good looking enough?"

"Oh, as to that, you'll do," replied Neville, with the bluntness of a brother.

The face that the mirror reflected was framed in a cloudy mass of hair, set like an aureole round the daintily-poised head. Hazel eyes, half veiled by the long lashes, looked wistfully from under level, clearly-defined eyebrows; a creamy complexion; and a smiling mouth, whose half-opened red lips disclosed the whiteness of the small, even teeth, completed the picture.

Beauty was the one possession left to Janetta, and tonight she prized it more than she had ever done before as a possible means to an end. What if the simple fact that she was pretty should win for her the situation she so longed to obtain?

"I shall send her my prettiest photo, Neville," she said, after her brief self survey.

"You don't even know the sex of the advertiser. It may be a widower advertising darkly for number two," suggested her brother.

Janetta laid down her pen in some alarm.

"I don't care," she said; "I shall write and send my photo and references. The answer will tell us all about it. I think it's a very rich old maid, with a poodle and a parrot. I shall probably have to wash the poodle, and play pretty Polly with endless lumps of sugar, and get my fingers well packed in the process. There! my letter is at any rate short and to the point. Will it do?" she said, tossing it over to Neville.

"A man could not have put the thing better. Old maid or widower, I would close with you at once if I were the advertiser. You write a short note and a pretty hand."

"Very well, we'll go out and post it," said Janetta, stretching out her hand for her hat. "May good luck attend it!"

She received an answer by return of post. The pointed handwriting in which the letter was written was of the style prevalent about 40 years ago.

"An old maid! Look at the writing!" cried Janetta triumphantly, as she opened the envelope.

"There is a modern brevity about it," said Neville, peeping over her shoulder. "Read it out, there's a dear."

"Dear Madam: I think you seem likely to suit me. The salary I offer is £60 pounds a year; but I shall be willing to raise it at the end of the first quarter if we find we get on together. Will you come for a month and see how you like it, beginning on Monday?"

"Can you leave by the train which starts from Paddington at 2 o'clock? I shall be sending to Northlift Station meet a friend, and you could come by the same carriage. Wire reply."

"Believe me, faithfully yours,

(Miss) Clarice Seymour."

Janetta and her brother burst into simultaneous laugh when she finished the letter.

"Either the woman is a lunatic or it's a hoax," said Neville.

"I'll go and see for myself. It's too good an opening to miss. Sixty pounds a year for doing nothing, apparently. No mention even of the poodle or the parrot. Anyhow, it's a genuine place; I've looked it out in the 'Gazetteer.'"

Thus it came to pass that, on the Monday following, Janetta and Neville paced up and down Paddington station together, both their hearts too full of the approaching separation to trust themselves to speak of it.

Instead, they talked of trivialities, watched the other passengers as they hurried down the platform to the train, commenting idly upon them.

"Look, Neville! what a handsome man that is getting into the first-class carriage not far from my humble third. If he were a girl, and applied for my situation, I should not have a chance, should I? He's so very good looking!"

The man in question turned, as if he had heard the remark, glancing at the brother and sister, who had come to a halt before the carriage in which Janetta had placed her rugs.

The glance was but momentary. He signed to the porter, who followed him, to hand in his belongings, jumped into the carriage, and closed the door. "I believe he heard you, Jennie," said Neville quickly.

"If he did it can't matter. We shall never meet again, and it can't be the first time that he's heard her's good looking," said Janetta, with a little laugh.

"Oh, Neville, I must get in! I don't know how to say good-by. I will write tonight. Good-by, dear; good-by. Jump in a minute, I must kiss you; and you'll keep steady, for my sake?" The last words were said in a whisper.

"All right, don't bother!" said Neville, horribly ashamed of the fact that there were tears in his eyes.

CHAPTER II.

In a few minutes more the train was puffing slowly from the station, and Janetta, who had craned her neck from the carriage to obtain a farewell smile from Neville, sank back into her corner, with plenty of time before her in which to consider her prospects and her fellow travelers.

The latter were singularly uninteresting, with the exception of a little girl not more than two years old, who sat just opposite Janetta, regarding her with thoughtful eyes.

"Pretty," she said presently, stretching out her arms to come to her. And Janetta, with a reassuring nod to the mother, stood the child by the window and talked to her for the first hour, only handing her back to her natural guardian when the little thing was tired out, and showed signs of dropping off to sleep.

A glance at her watch told her that she could not be many miles from her destination, and she looked out of the window to notice the sort of country through which they were traveling, fancying that in the fast-fading light of the February afternoon she could catch the shimmer of the sea in the distance.

The thought had scarcely framed itself before she was conscious of a curious swaying to and fro in the carriage, then a shivering vibration ran along the train as if the brake had been applied with unwonted force; and, before she could do more than read the awful alarm that was written upon the faces of her fellow travelers, there came a crash and a total cessation of movement.

The earth itself seemed tottering under her, and she was thrown from her seat to the floor. She was too stunned for a few minutes to realize in the least what had happened; but when at last able to collect her senses, she knew that there must have been an accident, the nature and character of which she was incapable of guessing.

The air was alive with sounds more or less distressing—the hissing of the engine, the shouts of the engine driver, the piercing shrieks of women, and close to her, making itself heard above the din, the pitiful, frightened wail of a little child.

"Poor little dear! It must be the little child I was talking to," said Janetta, trying to raise herself on to her knees so as to see better what had happened to her fellow travelers, and much relieved to find that her own limbs were whole and sound.

The carriage was jerked off the rails and was pitched half over on its side, and the struggles of others to free themselves were beginning to be unpleasantly felt when, from her kneeling posture, Janetta caught a glimpse of the man whom she had seen getting into the first-class carriage a little beyond her own at Paddington.

"Hallo!" he said, with a pleasant smile. "You seem to want help here. Don't be frightened; I don't think there is much harm done, barring the smashing up of a carriage or so. No, no! don't struggle behind there! Ladies first, please. I must help you out through the window, as the door is jammed, and beware of broken glass."

"The child first," said Janetta, with quivering lips, who had laid hold of the little frightened heap that had been propelled right under the seat opposite to her own.

"Hand her out, please!" cried the man, depositing the child high up on the bank near by. "She's scared out of her wits, as well she may be. Now give me your hands, and place your feet on the handle of the door; I'll keep you steady as you climb through and lift you out."

Janetta obeyed every direction swiftly and deftly.

With her arm about the child, Janetta sat and watched the strange scene with dazed, bewildered eyes. The huge engine, which had run off the line, stood half embedded in the bank at the side, snorting and puffing as if indignant at finding himself in such an ignominious position.

Men with scared faces hurried hither and thither; women stood in groups along the line, sobbing in helpless terror.

The mother of her little charge lay stretched at full length on the grass close by, borne thither by the strong arms of her rescuer, who seemed almost the only man who kept full possession of his senses, except a fair-faced, fair-haired young doctor, who hastened forward towards the prostrate figure, kneeling by her and feeling her pulse with professional calm.

"Fainted, that's all," he said, looking up at the man by his side. Then a quick glance of recognition passed over his features. "Why, Merivale, you here?" he exclaimed. "On your way to the George, I suppose?"

From a certain hardening of the voice Janetta gathered that, for some reason unknown, the fair-haired doctor did not like the handsome stranger, whose fine physique and pleasant bearing seemed so attractive to herself.

"TELEPHONE EAR."

Operators Say Answering Calls Does Not Affect the Hearing.

Chicago girls who listen to the click in the telephone receiver for eight hours every day in the week laugh at the idea that their New York sister operators are getting a "telephone ear," or a deafness, from the constant snapping of the call signals, says the Chicago News. "A 'telephone ear,'" remarked one girl who has operated a board in the central office for three years, "is the most acute one in the world, and the more noise there is in the phone the more trained our ears become to detect what is being said."

"There are a great number of girls in this office," said the chief operator. "I sat at a board myself for several years, and I never heard a girl complain that the sound of the phone affected her hearing in the least. I know it never did mine." In speaking of the effect of the click on an operator's hearing, A. S. Hibbard, the general manager of company said:

"I do not care to say that the New York people are wrong in their contentions that they have had cases of deafness due to the sound made in connecting and disconnecting the telephones, but it sounds improbable to me. We have had the signal system in Chicago for about five years. Almost every phone in Chicago now calls the main board without twisting a crank, and yet I have never heard of a complaint."

"INCURABLE" HEART DISEASE SOON CURED!

By the Great Specialist in Treating Weak and Diseased Hearts, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B.—Will Send $2.50 Worth of His Special Treatment Free as a Trial.

To demonstrate the unusual curative powers of his new and complete special treatments by mail for heart disease, short breath, pain in the side, oppression in the chest, irregular pulse, palpitation, smothering spells, puffing of the ankles, or dropsy, Dr. Miles will send two dollars and a half worth free as a trial, to all who mention this paper.

His treatments are the result of twenty-five years of careful study, extensive research and remarkable experience in treating the various ailments of the heart, stomach and nerves, which so often complicate each case. So astonishing are the results of his complete special treatment that he does not hesitate to offer all persons a trial free.

Nothing could be more generous. Few physicians have such confidence in their remedies. There is no reason why every afflicted person should not avail themselves of this exceedingly liberal offer, as they may never have another such opportunity. No death comes as suddenly as that from heart disease.

Mrs. A. Kronck, of Huntington, Ind., was cured after thirty physicians failed. Mrs. Flora Graeter, of Bristolville, O., after twenty-two, and Mrs. E. Waite, the noted actor, after a score had pronounced him incurable. Mrs. Frank Smith, of Chicago, after five leading physicians had given her up; Mr. Julius Kestler, of Chicago, after ten; Mrs. R. Parker after sixteen failed.

A thousand references to, and testimonials from, Bishops, Clergymen, Bankers, Farmers and their wives will be sent free upon request.

Send at once to Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., 203 to 207 State St., Dept. L., Chicago, Ill., for trial treatment.

The success of the far-seeing men is often due to careful planning.

WHAT IS OVARITIS?

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation. On examination it will be found that the region of pain shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the roof of your house leaks, my sister, you have it fixed at once; why not pay the same respect to your own body?

You need not, you ought not to let yourself go, when one of your own sex holds out the helping hand to you, and will advise you without money, and without price. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your symptoms. Her experience in treating female ills is greater than any other living person. Following is a letter from a woman who is thankful for avoiding a terrible operation.

"I was suffering to such an extent from ovarian trouble that my physician thought an operation would be necessary.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound having been recommended to me, I decided to try it. After using several bottles I found that I was cured. My entire system was toned up, and I suffered no more with my ovaries."—Mrs. ANNA ASTON, Troy, Mo.

Sore Hands

Red, Rough Hands, Itching, Burning Palms, and Painful Finger Ends.

One Night Treatment

Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of CUTICURA SOAP. Dry, and anoint freely with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear, during the night, old, loose kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and air holes cut in the palms. For red, rough, chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with shapeless nails and painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful, and points to a speedy cure of the most distressing cases when physicians and ail else fail.

Cured by Cuticura

I WAS troubled with hands so sore that when I put them in water the pain would near set me crazy, the skin would peel off, and the flesh would get hard and break, then the blood would flow from at least fifty places on each hand. Words never can tell the suffering I endured for three years.

I tried at least eight doctors, but my hands were worse than when I commenced doctoring. I tried every old granny remedy that was ever thought of without one cent's worth of good and could not even get relief.

I would feel so badly mornings when I got up, to think that I had to go to work and stand pain for eight or nine hours, that I often felt like giving up my job, which was in the bottling works of Mr. E. L. Kerns, the leading bottler of Trenton, N. J., who will vouch for the truth of my sufferings.

Before I could start to work, I would have to wrap each finger on both hands, and then wear gloves, which I hated to do, for when I came to take them off, it would take two hours and the flesh would break and bleed. Some of my friends who had seen my hands would say, "If they had such hands they would have them amputated"; others would say "they would never work"; and more would turn away in disgust. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of skin cures, it ended all my sufferings.

Just to think, after doctoring three years, and spending dollar after dollar during that time, Cuticura cured me. It has now been two years since I used it and I do not know what sore hands are. I never lost a day's work while I was using it or since, and I have been working at the same business, and in acids, etc.

COL. ALBERT D. SHAW, EX-COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE G. A. R.

It was agreed before adjournment that the debate should close Thursday at 12:30 p. m., when the votes should be taken upon the several amendments which are pending.

Thursday, February 7.

Senate: At the day session the pension appropriation bill, carrying $144,000,000, was passed after a few minutes' consideration. The ship subsidy bill was then taken up, and Messrs. McLaurin and Morgan, both Democrats, made speeches upon it. Mr. McLaurin announced his intention to support the bill, and Mr. Morgan opposed it in vigorous language. At the night session the debate consisted largely of protests by the opposition against night sessions. The house passed the postoffice appropriation bill.

Friday, February 8.

Republican leaders are losing hope of passing the subsidy bill. It is proposed to avoid an extra session of congress by adopting an amendment to the army appropriation bill containing gist of the Spooner bill. House committee rejected senate amendments to revenue reduction bill. Delegate Wilcox of Hawaii explained speeches and letters, urging Filipinos to fight. President sent large list of promotions in army and revenue cutter service to senate.

Saturday, February 9.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Chairman Dick for the congressional committee which has been investigating hazing at West Point today submitted the report of the committee to the house. The report reviews the practice of hazing at the academy and condemns it in the most emphatic terms. The fights under the West Point code are described as more vicious than under the Queensbury code and are described as felonies according to the laws of many states. A bill making stringent regulations against hazing, fighting and all brutal practices accompanies the report.

Taking up the Booz case, the committee states that his conduct at the academy was strictly correct, although under the offensive class despotism it was viewed as meriting chastisement.

Monday, February 11.

The senate passed the appropriation bill and bill for an additional judge in the northern district of Illinois. The shipping bill was then taken up, and kept before the senate during the remainder of the legislative day.

The house disagreed with the senate substitute for the war tax reduction bill and requested a conference by a vote of 233 to 38. Considered diplomatic and consular appropriation bill.

Contests Rich Man's Will.

The will of the late James M. Starr, who left a very valuable estate at Richmond, Ind., is to be contested. Neither wife nor children surviving him, other relatives were remembered with small bequests and large blocks of stocks and bonds were left to charitable institutions. The dissatisfied heir is Mrs. Hannah Leeds of New York, formerly of Chicago, a sister of the deceased. Starr also made a bequest to the city to be used for park purposes.

the war department at provost marshal headquarters during the civil war. Later he was a member of the state assembly for one term, was appointed consul at Toronto in 1865 and promoted to Manchester, England, in 1873, from which latter place he was removed by President Cleveland in 1885 for being "an offensive partisan." Afterward he filled the office of department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for the state of New York, commander-in-chief of the national body and a representative in congress, succeeding the late C. A. Chickering, who met a tragic death in New York.

To Complete Winner Bridge.

Thomas R. Morrow, attorney for the Kansas City & Atlantic railroad, said at Kansas City that the Winner bridge across the Missouri river at Kansas City, projected and half completed during the boom twelve years ago, will be completed in the near future by that road. In addition, he said, the railroad may decide to build a new depot and terminals, as originally planned. The bridge will be used, it is said, to give entrance to Kansas City to the Chicago & Northwestern, the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, and other roads. It will also be available for electric roads from St. Joseph, Excelsior Springs, Liberty and other towns across the river from Kansas City.

Killed in Erie Wreck.

A driving wheel on the engine pulling the second section of the west-bound passenger train No. 3 on the Erie railroad came off a half mile from Wren, O. The train was running at a high rate of speed, and the locomotive was thrown down a twenty-foot embankment into a creek, while four coaches and a sleeper were demolished and piled in a heap by the side of the track. Fireman James Finney of Huntington, Ind., was killed in jumping from the engine. The colored porter and eleven of the immigrants aboard, bound for Chicago, were injured, as was also Engineer Richard Esson and Conductor F. M. Day.

New Road for Illinois.

The Illinois secretary of state licensed the incorporation of the St. Louis and Southern Illinois Railroad company, with a capital stock of $50,000. The object of the new corporation is to construct a line from East St. Louis through the counties of St. Clair and Monroe into the county of Randolph to Moro landing, on the Mississippi river, and extending thence to Missouri junction, in Randolph county.

Earl of Galloway Is Dead.

The earl of Galloway died at Camden Thursday. Sir Alan Plantagenet Stewart, Bart., early of Galloway, was born in London in 1835, and succeeded his father as tenth earl in 1873. He represented Wigtonshire in the house of commons from 1868 to 1873, and acted as high commissioner to the general assembly of the church of Scotland in 1876 and 1877. He was married to a daughter of the second marquess of Salisbury, sister of the British premier.

WHEN WRINKLES COME.
Departing HEALTH and BEAUTY Called Back by

and fascinate. It is within your power to do so, for it is within every woman's power to be well and strong, and hence look her best, if she will use Dr. Greene's Nervura to give her strong, vigorous nerves, pure, rich blood, a clear complexion, and thus restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health.

Good health means youthful good looks to every woman, and it behooves women to restore and maintain their health by taking that greatest and best of all health restoratives, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will build up the health, cleanse and purify the complexion, restore brilliancy to the eye, make rich, red blood and strong, steady, and vigorous nerves. Dr. Greene's Nervura will make you look and feel young and restore your energies, vivacity, and enjoyment of life.

MRS. KATE AUSTIN, 40 Jenny Lind Ave., Somerville, Mass., says:
"I had a pain in my side for seventeen years. I also suffered with terrible backache and headache; such an awful headache, and I had not a bit of appetite. I cried with pain from womb trouble, and was as pale as a ghost. I was terribly nervous. I could not sleep for a long time, and had rheumatism in my shoulder and arm. I suffered everything; nobody but God knows how I suffered. I weighed 128 pounds. A friend recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I commenced to take it. I was so weak and run down that the first bottle did not do me much good, but I kept on, and the second bottle did me good and I began to gain. After taking the Nervura I never had a pain in my side, nor any headache, and I sleep well and have a good appetite. I don't believe there is any medicine in the world so good as Dr. Greene's Nervura. It did me good right off and I have had no return of my womb trouble. I had leucorrhoea, but since taking Nervura that has disappeared. I feel strong, and last summer was able to do the work for fourteen in a family, and I weigh 168 pounds. I was so weak before, nobody knows how I worked, but I had to work for my children. I sent two bottles of Nervura to my brother in Nova Scotia, and it did him lots of good. I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to every one."

Women have absolute confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, more so than in any other remedy, because it is purely vegetable and a famous regular physician prepares it, which is a guarantee that it is perfectly adapted to cure. As an additional assurance of cure, Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, gives you the privilege of consulting him without charge or cost, either by calling or writing about your case.

Ill Health Destroys Beauty and Happiness. DR. GREENE'S NERVURA Makes You Well and Restores Your Good Looks.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

and Attributes which Attract, Please, and Give Good Looks to Every Woman.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA
Makes Health and Happiness

YOUR mirror will tell you the bitter truth.
Healthy women look younger than their age, but you look far too old for your years.
Time deals lightly with the woman in good health, but the wasting hand of sickness and disease spares neither your youthful looks, beauty, nor complexion.
The Creator has endowed every woman with beauty, and every woman in good health is beautiful and comely to look upon. A clear, fresh, wholesome look is the result of the possession of good health, and no woman can be beautiful and attractive without good health. The dull, dead, gnawing pain, the sense of nervousness, weakness, oppression, and discouragement, the tired, listless, languid feeling, the shooting pains, the aching head, the pain in the back, all these are symptoms of a disordered system, and all these are beauty-killers, producers of dull leaden complexions, unnatural flushings, dark circles under the eyes, humors, eruptions, blackheads, lustreless eyes, and other disfigurements which divest women of their natural gift of beauty.
Why be homely when you can be beautiful and attractive?
Get good health and with it those looks and attributes which attract, please, and give good health to be well and strong, and hence look her best, if she will use Dr. Greene's Nervura to give her strong, vigorous nerves, pure, rich blood, a clear complexion, and thus restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health.

W. C. T. U. NOTES,
 Edited by Mrs. H. Merritt.

What Drink Does.

It clogs the brain.
 It overworks the heart.
 It checks the action of the lungs.
 It inflames and hardens the liver.
 It causes fatty degeneration of the kidneys.
 It arrests digestion by injuring the throat and stomach.
 It creates an appetite which cannot get enough of it.
 It destroys the nerve force and paralyzes the energy.
 It diseases to the third and fourth generations.
 It not only ruins the mental and physical faculties, but wrecks the moral powers.
 This is what it does for man as an individual. Now what effect has it on society, business, politics, and religion? It blasts homes.
 It degrades father and son.
 It blights wife-love and mother pride.
 It blocks factory wheels.
 It closes mines and mills.
 It furnishes "no market" for all sorts of stuff.
 It delays sales of bread, cloth, shoes, lumber, furniture, groceries and fuel.
 It causes strikes, fills jails, and piles cost on county, state and nation.
 It corrupts politics and politicians.
 It creeps into the ballot box and destroys free suffrage.
 It places men in office who dare not oppose the traffic.
 It hinders honest legislation and brews bad laws.
 And first, last, and above all, it damns men eternally, giving them no hope in life or in death.

Leaving the Farm.

When I was a small boy I had the measles. My head ached, my back ached, every bone and muscle had an ache peculiar to itself; while my mouth had a flavor outrivalling Limburger cheese. "O mother," I cried, as I tossed on my pillow, "how many times will I have the measles?" How comforting to hear her say: "Just this once, my son; when you get over them this time you won't have them any more." So I ran the gamut of infantile diseases, comforted each time by the maternal assurance that I should not have that particular malady again, and grew to man's estate upon the farm where I was born. When a boy I milked and did the hundred and one odd chores that fall to a boy upon the farm, and later, plowed and sowed and reaped. But each recurring season found me wrestling with a severe attack of "leave the farm" fever; and torn with conflicting emotions, how I have longed for that comforting assurance that when I got over it this time I should not have it any more.

For every evil under the sun there is a remedy or there is none. Time and experience have taught me there is a remedy in this case, and when I have an attack of this fever I leave the farm, but I never burn the bridges behind me. I go to town. Town, you know, is the Mecca of us country people. I eat butter that never saw a cow cheese that has not seen one for a long time, and doubtful-looking eggs. I visit the stores and banks, the machine shops and the foundry, the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, and everywhere and over all I see that stern old master, Toll. Their drudgery is quite as certain as mine, their compensations fewer by far. Suddenly I am filled with pity for these people with their narrow cramped lives. I begin to "count my mercies": a free wholesome life with ample time for reading and meditation; my own conveyance when I desire to go elsewhere; the privilege of taking a day off when I see fit, without let or hindrance; no danger of being bounced at the end of the month because I have not smiled to suit the powers that be; no uncertainty in the tenure of my service, and always the fresh product of garden, dairy, and orchard. I am thoroughly cured and I go home. It was good to get away, but it is better, infinitely better, to get back.

His View on Pants.

A boy in the Wichita schools has been suspended for reading the following essay on pants: "Pants are made for men, and not men for pants. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold. The man in the moon changes his pants during the eclipse. Don't you go to the pantry for pants. You might be mistaken. Men are often mistaken in pants. Such mistakes make breeches of promise. There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. It seems to me when men wear pants they are plural, and when they don't wear pants it is singular. Men go on a tear in pants, and it is all right; but when the pants go on a tear it is all wrong.—Ex.

Know a lot After the Paper is out.

"It is mighty queer" says the Scranton Gazette, "how some people will rear up on their hind feet and paw the air when some item of news happens to be a little off on facts; yet these same people would not tell you the item if you asked for it before the paper was printed. There are some people from whom you could not draw a local with a cork-screw—they absolutely don't know any news. But after the paper comes out they will say that you are misinformed about some local happening and wonder why you can't get things straight."

Received His Insurance.

Some time ago we stated in the JOURNAL that J. H. Vandresser received an injury by getting his fore-finger in the cogs of a corn sheller. At that time he held a policy in the Woodman accident and he sent in his claim for disability. The claim has now been allowed in full and yesterday he received a check for $25.00 in full payment for two week total and two weeks partial disability.
