

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER, SEPTEMBER 16, 1904, AT THE POSTOFFICE AT GENOA, ILLINOIS, UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF MARCH 3, 1879

GENOA, ILLINOIS, SEPTEMBER 23, 1921

VOLUME XVI, No. 47

STATE OFFICER GIVES POINTERS

Laws are Enforced Regarding the License Plates

MUST KEEP LIGHTS BURNING

Calls Dealers and Co-operates with Local Officers in Regard to Motor Vehicle Laws

Under the new law which gives Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson authority to appoint investigators with power to make arrests for violation of the automobile laws, a roundup of violators was begun yesterday. Investigator E. M. Fellows of Whiteside county is in charge of the survey in Sycamore.

While these investigators have power to arrest for violation of any of the automobile laws, they concern themselves particularly with violations of the law requiring licenses for automobiles and chauffeurs.

Their purpose always is to cooperate with the local authorities in every way.

Investigator Fellows is looking up violations of the law in regard to running automobiles carrying only one plate.

Dealers running with only one plate chauffeur's operating without chauffeur's license.

Garages not keeping records.

Trucks with passenger car licenses.

Failure to transfer licenses.

Using one plate on one car and one plate of same number on another car.

Not keeping plates clean.

Driving at night without two head lights and no tail light.

Failure to dim lights in passing cars.

The public is very generally observing the law requiring the obtaining of licenses. Mr. Fellows said, but other sections of the automobile laws are not being so strictly complied with. This is true especially of the chauffeur's certificate requirements. In most counties where investigators have been sent to date, they have found great laxity in the observance of this section of the law.

Under the law no boy under eighteen years of age is permitted to drive a car or truck for hire, and all persons who drive cars or trucks for hire must obtain a chauffeur's certificate from the secretary of state.

This applies to drivers of delivery trucks as well as to drivers of taxicabs, service cars or private chauffeurs. The owner of the truck or automobile, not operated for hire or course, is permitted to drive without a chauffeur's license, but if driving a car not his own for compensation must also have a chauffeur's license.

"The law also is very strict" in requiring two license plates on every car, one in front and one in the rear. If a license plate is lost, application for a duplicate to the secretary of state must be made at once.

Mr. Fellows explains that in communities visited by investigators since the new law went into effect on July 1, the number of applications for chauffeur's licenses and for the issuing of duplicate plates where plates have been lost has increased nearly 100 per cent. It was estimated when the act was passed that these investigators would be able to increase the revenue from automobile licenses and chauffeur's licenses to the extent of at least $250,000. Results up-to-date, it is declared, indicate that this figure will be exceeded.

The cost of sending out these investigators is only a small percentage of the total.

PHILATHEA CLASS

The Philathea class of the M. E. Sunday school met for a social and business meeting last Tuesday evening at the Waterwork's park.

The September committee was in charge of the social part of the program which was in form of a wienie roast and needless to say enjoyed by all.

At the business meeting it was voted to dress dolls for the Lake Bluff Orphanage for Christmas. Each member of the class being held responsible for the dressing of one doll. A special committee was appointed to take charge of this, and will report at the October meeting.

The semi-annual election of officers was held and the following were elected to serve for six months:

President, Mable Baldwin; Vice-President, Guyia Patterson, Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Anita Schoonmaker.

DEKALB COUNTY COURT

Sheriff Decker and States Attorney Make a few Arrests

The circuit court was convened Monday by Judge Slusser and numerous orders were entered.

State's Atty. Poust and Sheriff Decker made another raid in the city of Sycamore on Saturday. The home of Theo. Hambrook being visited and a large still and 16 gallons of mash confiscated. Hambrook was arrested and confessed he had been making illicit liquor. He was arraigned before Judge Pond in the county court on Tuesday and was sentenced to 60 days in jail.

Porter Shafer of DeKalb was also arraigned before Judge Pond in the county court on charge of purchasing intoxicating liquor in the city of DeKalb and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs amounting to $125.

Porter was arrested at the time Jack Fagan had his little hooch party some time ago.

Genoa is not escaping in notoriety in the booze question, according to developments Tuesday, Dr. Cannon, the Chicago dentist who has been practicing in Genoa three days each week during the past year, was arrested that day, charged with selling liquor as were several other Genoa men, charged with buying the dope. The men were taken before Judge Pond who assessed the doctor a fine of $300 and sentenced him to 60 days in the county jail. The others were fined $100 each and costs, totaling about $125.

Out of consideration for the families residing in Genoa, the names will not be mentioned. However, The Republican believes that all know just what to expect from the law if they engage in the "hooch" business, either as seller or buyer. In the future pleas for "keeping it out of the paper" will receive no consideration. The safest plan is to keep within the law.

HIGH SCHOOLS GET BUSY

Seven of the High Schools Hereabout us Go in for Athletics

"The Big Seven Athletic Association" is the name of an organization formed of those live-wire High Schools—Sycamore, St. Charles, Geneva, Dundee, Batavia, Wheaton and Naperville.

The organization was formed at a meeting held at Geneva on Saturday which was well attended by representatives of all the schools named. These schools are preparing to maintain foot ball, basket ball, base ball and track teams, and present the ensuing season a series of high class athletic events in these several towns.—True Republican.

It wouldn't be a bad idea for the schools in the Genoa district to get together and form an association for the betterment of athletics in all branches. It can be done, it has been done, why not do it again.

MARY BURZELL PASSES AWAY

The funeral service of Mrs. Mary Burzell, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Burch of Boyceville, Wis., was held at the M. E. Church in Genoa, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Interment was in the Genoa cemetery. She was born in New York state in the year of 1845 and died at Boyceville, Wis., September 17, 1921. About two weeks ago she had the misfortune to fall and break her limb, dying from the result of the shock.

When a girl of twenty, she came to Illinois to make her home with relatives in the vicinity of Genoa. In the year of 1864 she was united in marriage to John Burzell, he having preceded her in death twelve years ago. Three daughters survive her, Mrs. Lenora Wood of California, Mrs. Elizabeth Burch and Mrs. Lucie Mede of Boyceville, Wis., also one sister, Mrs. A. R. Cohoon of Genoa.

She was a member of the M. E. church and lived a consistent Christian life.

STEALS MOTHER'S AUTO

Roy Taylor, nineteen year old McHenry youth who stole his mother's automobile last Thursday found the crooked path a rough one.

After traveling to Chicago he went to Freeport where he collided with a concrete culvert smashing the car into junk. Taylor was uninjured but two passengers were hurt and taken to a hospital. He sold his car to a Freeport junk man for $25 after the accident.

Sheriff Roy Stewart of Woodstock went after him and got him Tuesday night. He is now waiting hearing.

KITTLE SPEAKS ON PRICE CUT

Milk Price Reduced to Punish those Who Had Quit

OUSTED MANAGER TELLS ALL

Says the Marketing Members Could Have Had $2.30 Instead of $1.50—Blames Those in Control

That the voluntary reduction of the price for milk for September to $1.50 by the officials of the Milk Marketing Company was unnecessary and a complete surprise to the buyers for the big dealers, was the unqualified declaration of Willis J. Kittle, ousted sales manager for the marketing company.

The dealers were ready to pay $2.30 per hundred, he declared to the editor of the Woodstock Sentinel in an interview given at his home in Crystal Lake Monday evening. The dealers expected we would ask $2.50 and were ready and willing to pay $2.30 without a murmur.

Asked whether there were negotiations over the price for September, he said no representative for the Marketing company went direct to a meeting of the buyers and made the offer. The buyers were aghast, they could not believe what was told them.

The milk situation both in the Chicago market and in the dairy district has been completely upset by the drastic reduction in price.

It means a two cent cut per quart to the Chicago consumer, but it means a loss of a half million dollars per month to the farmer of the dairy district, said Mr. Kittle.

"Why was it done," Mr. Kittle was asked.

"Being no longer in the confidence of the men who are running the affairs of the marketing company, I can only guess at the reason," he said. "It seems to me that it was an attempt to punish the men who have withdrawn and are not now members of the Marketing company."

A reduction in price will affect both members and non-members. It looks to me like burning down your own house in order to burn down your neighbor's house."

In the course of the interview the thought was brought out that with the new price of milk going to bottling plants, the bottle farmers are put down to a level with the condensers and butter farmers.

During the past few months there has been considerable contention within the ranks of the Marketing company officials. Some of these represented localities where milk is bottled, which brought the highest price, others represented farmers whose milk went to condensers and to butter factories.

J. T. Williams is the man who seems to be in control of the Marketing company now and he is from Sterling, Ill., where the milk is condensed, says the Sentinel.

Condense Farmer Controls

The price for condensed milk was $1.75 for August, while the price for bottled milk was $2.30 for the same month. Until June of this year the price was equalized between all classes of producers, which was the reason for the fifty per cent spread made in June on May milk.

Because of the dissatisfaction following the June spread, it was decided at that time to pay for each class of milk its own price. This plan was followed since the June spread and the bottle milk producers were getting the benefit of the higher price over the condensers. The condensers seem now to be in control.

Ousted From Office

Mr. Kittle was ousted from his position as sales manager at a directors' meeting at which he was not present, he being home ill with the summer flu for two weeks in August. At the directors' meeting just previous Mr. Kittle was elected unanimously to the position of sales manager, and removed at the following meeting. He stated that at the meeting before he had disagreed with a majority of the directors who voted to call strikes to compel the big companies to buy only the Marketing company's milk. He was opposed to the strikes, but favored sending out missionaries to win the non-members back to the Marketing company.

"Instead of reducing the price for September milk from $2.30 to $1.50 in order to punish the non-members and force them to join, I was in favor of getting the highest price possible."

GENOA FARMER BANKRUPT

Luman V. Andrews files Voluntary Petition in Bankruptcy

The old story of the shrinkage in farm values for the second time within a week was told in the United States district court today by Luman V. Andrews, a farmer residing near Genoa, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

The farmer listed his liabilities at $30,000 and his assets at $25,000. "It's the same old story," Attorney R. H. Kramer, representing the petitioner in bankruptcy said. "He rented the farm when things were away up in the air and paid too much money for rent. That's the prevalent trouble around here."

Andrews names as his principal creditors D. C. Leake of Dixon, the farm owner, and the Dairyman's State Bank of Marengo. According to the petition, the farmer owes $2,250 in rent and the bank, $500.

Andrews conducted a stork raising farm, according to his attorney. After feeding 100 head of steers for market last year, the farmer was forced to sell them for less than he had purchased them.

It is interesting to note that Andrews is the owner of a fully equipped farm in Pope county, Minnesota, the heart of the Red River valley. He lists this farm and its equipment as part of his assets.

The petitioner is married and over sixty years old. He has four children. Only a week ago, the Wear brothers of Elgin filed a petition in bankruptcy.—DeKalb Chronicle.

SAM BRADT RESIGNS

DeKalb Man Quits as Head of State Highway Department

The local friends of Sam Bradt were surprised to hear that he had resigned his position as state superintendent of highways and that his successor had been appointed.

The announcement came from Springfield to the effect that Governor Small had made the appointment of Frank T. Sheets, of Springfield, to be superintendent of the division of highways to succeed S. E. Bradt, resigned. Both resignation and appointment were effective on September 20.

In connection with the appointment Leg Small says:

"The early completion of our good road program," Governor Small said, "is part of this administration's most important work."

Mr. Sheets has been engineer of design. He entered the department in 1907, and since holding the position of junior engineer, assistant engineer, assistant maintenance engineer, bridge engineer and engineer of design.

With the resignation of Mr. Bradt, who is reported to have presented his resignation to the governor some months ago, the division of highways loses the services of the man who is responsible for the present good road program of Illinois and who has done more than any one man in the state, nobody excepted, to "pull Illinois out of the mud."

He was the most forceful promoter of the big $60,000,000 bond issue plan and he has won a reputation in the construction and maintenance of good roads.

To his wise and conservative management can be attributed the splendid condition in which the state department finds itself at present.

CORN HUSKERS GET LITTLE

Only three cents per bushel will be paid to corn huskers in central Illinois this year as against four and five cents in preceding years. While the price is low, huskers probably will make as much if not more because of the enormous crop.

The fields give the appearance of easy work for the shuckers, the corn standing evenly and the ears easy to reach. Farmers are facing heavy losses, due to the low price of this grain they say, and will pay no more than three cents.—DeKalb Chronicle able for everybody. We could send our competent men to explain to the non-members the necessity of standing by the company, and the selfishness of taking the big price without paying their share of the expenses." Mr. Kittle stated, a 80 cent reduction will mean a loss of from $450,000 to $500,000 to the farmers of this district alone. We could have employed the best men obtainable for a fraction of that sum and in time won back most of the lost members by demonstrating to them what the marketing company was doing for them.—Belvidere Republican.

SCHOOL DAYS

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Contributed by the Editor, Assistant and Others of the High School

Organization of a Literary Staff

Through the kindness of Mr. Schoonmaker the publication of school news has been made possible for several years. Last year the work was handled from week to week as a class enterprise, this method was not entirely satisfactory, however, since no one felt more than temporary interest or responsibility.

Believing that the public is interested in the affairs of the school and that the best agency for promoting that interest is the home paper the school is attempting this year to organize a literary staff to serve thru the semester. A meeting of last year's class officers resulted in the nomination of several candidates for editor-in-chief and a subsequent election in general assembly gave the first place to John Dyer and second to Iolene Gallagher as assistant. The editor will appoint his assistants and the reporting staff will be made up of volunteers from both Junior and Senior High school.

It is hoped that the literary staff will be the nucleus of a live literary organization in the high school the purpose of which will be to encourage all kinds of literary activity. Those who are interested in any kind of literary endeavor therefore are encouraged to become members of the staff.

What About the New School?

The new Township High school building seems to be practically under cover, Monday the flooring and interior wood work arrived, and the workmen are staining. The staining is done before the wood is cut or fitted. The plastering was finished in the domestic science laboratory Monday and now all of the class rooms have been plastered. The pouring of the concrete floors for the lock er, fan and toilet rooms is underway.

Conditions for the timing system have been started, by which the clocks in each class room of the building will be regulated and operated by a master clock in the office. The electric conduits are also in place.

The rough floor in the gym has been started and will be finished off by maple flooring. The gym is to be silenced so that athletic work may be carried on during school hours without disturbing the classes in session.

A special gas plant is to be installed so that gas may be piped to the domestic science laboratory. This week steam boilers are looking up the Vento radiators through which air will be driven by the fans to all parts of the building.

A vacuum cleaning system is later to be installed to help make it an up-to-date school.

Those who have not visited the building since the first layer of bricks were laid will be surprised at the transformation that has taken place. Genoa can be proud to own a school building which will be on an equal standard with the rest of the schools supported by DeKalb county.—Earl O'Bright.

CRAWFORD GETS AUTO THIEVES

Two Men of Rockford, Each With a Car, Caught

STOPPED FOR GAS IN GENOA

Officer Crawford "tipped" off by Pedestrian Friday morning at 2 a. m. Locks up Shooks and Smith

F. J. Shooks and H. Smith of Rockford were locked up last Friday night by officer Crawford for the stealing of two automobiles which they had in their possession at the time of arrest. The Rockford Police came after the men later in the day and they were let out on bail the following morning.

At 2:30 o'clock last Friday morning Officer Crawford received a tip from a pedestrian that two men who wanted gasoline for their cars were none other than notorious "bad men" of Rockford. Acting upon this advice, the local officer detained the men at the local jail while he called up the Police Headquarters of Rockford; learning that the two cars which the men were driving had been stolen.

After getting the identity of the men, F. J. Shooks, and H. Smith, Crawford questioned them more fully concerning their possession of the cars.

It was found that both were implicated in the stealing of the Ford from Edward Pepper of 523 North 3rd St., Rockford, Illinois and that Smith had permission to drive the car, a Ford, he was in up to 2:30 p. m. the preceding day. It was therefore conclusive proof that both men were trying to make the city of Chicago to dispose of their stolen property.

F. J. Shooks, 25 years old, married and with one child, at the time of his arrest in Genoa was out under bail of $1500.00 for the stealing of a car in Janesville, Wisconsin. The trial was held last Monday at Beloit, Wis. He has also served a term of two years at Pontiac Reformatory, beside being imprisoned on several other occasions.

H. Smith, 27 years old with a wife and two children, at the time of his arrest in Genoa was under indictment and out on bail of $2000 for breaking into a store and stealing suit cases, leather goods etc. According to detective Cummings of Rockford, Smith has been implicated in three burglaries in Rockford in the last three months.

Officers arrived from Rockford Friday morning and after thanking Officer Crawford for the apprehension of the two men, took them to the Forest City where they were let out on bail the following day.

COUNTY LEGION PICNIC

To Be held for Ex-Service Men, Families and Friends, Sept. 29

The American Legion Posts of DeKalb county, eight in number, will give a big county picnic at Electric Park Thursday, September 29.

All ex-service men, their families, relatives and friends are invited. This is not a money making affair. A small sum will be charged at the gate not more than a quarter, to defray expenses. Everyone is invited to take their dinner and have a real old fashioned good time.

Athletic contests between the various posts will take up the forenoon. There are crack athletes in some of the posts, and these games will be worth watching.

In the afternoon William R. M. Cawley, commander of the department of Illinois, will deliver an address on one of the topics of the day. Mr. McCawley is a splendid speaker and his speech will be worth going miles to hear.

There will be a program, short but good, including instrumental and vocal music, and band selections by one of the best bands in the state.

There will be a ball game between the four posts in the north part of the county—Kirland, Genoa, DeKalb and Steamers, and the four posts in the southern part—Waterman, Shabbona, Hinckley and Sandwick. Each team will be picked from about five hundred men and the two teams will line up an aggregation of stars.

Everyone come to the picnic. This is just a great big get together. We are not after the money. We want a good time and a big day, and we want everyone to be there. Are you with us?—Committee.

ROCKFORD WATER IMPURE

Supply of Water is Dangerous says Department of Health Engineer

Rockford's water supply is of doubtful sanitary qualities and its emergency wells are possibly subject to contamination, declares a report just prepared by Chief Sanitary Engineer Harry F. Ferguson. Sixty-six cities in the state are estimated to have water supply is not of good quality.

question of the day is, "Why pay all of that money to build a school to accommodate fifty or sixty pupils?" This is the idea of some of the Genoa citizens viz., that only fifty or sixty students will attend the new school.

Now for the truth, the Genoa Township high school has an enrollment of 107, ten more than the preceding year and the largest the school has ever had. A continual raid was made upon the class rooms in order to obtain enough seats for the assembly. The M. E. church rooms are crowded, more so than ever before. Everyone is glad that the new school will be finished this year or next, for the large increase would mean an addition to the church or an outdoor session.

The ninth and tenth grades number more than twenty and the two upper grades average less than ten each. There are 31 girls and 29 boys.

It is interesting to note that 35 out of the 107 come from the outside of our own district. There are also nine students in the seventh and eighth grades, who have come from the country to our school. They know that they can have the advantages of trained and specialized teachers and are also permitted to take Latin, General Science, Domestic Science and manual training. These they do not have in the country.

The three largest classes are Biology 24, American History and Literature 18 each.

The above is the true statement of our enrollment, right from the depths of Mr. Mackenzie's well-worn record book. Now that the real facts have been published will everyone please uphold and boost our school when ever they can? "Et tut Brute".

The first grade is the largest in the history of the school with forty-six enrolled—in spite of the fact that only pupils who will be six within the first half of the school year were admitted. The room has been very crowded and it has been more than usually difficult to bring the accustomed order out of the wriggling freedom of play-days.

In order to get the children accustomed to the new routine with the least strain, and at the same time give each one as much personal attention as possible, half-day sessions will be run for four weeks. One-half the children will attend for the morning, the other half for the afternoon. At the end of that time they will know what is expected of them, be better able to remain for two sessions, and a full day for all of them will be worked up to more easily.

are selecting their representatives,
those for the United States being the first to be announced. President Harding has appointed for that high duty
Secretary of State Hughes, Senator
Henry Cabot Lodge, Elihu Root and Senator Oscar W. Underwood—three Republicans and one Democrat. As Premier Hara will be unable to come,
Admiral Baron Kato has been selected to head the Japanese delegation, and Ambassador to the United States
Shidehara will also be a member. It is still believed Premier Lloyd George
will lead the British contingent, and it is likely that his associates will be Andrew Bonar Law, Secretary for War Evans and Lord Lee of Fareham,
first lord of the admiralty. The British dominions, especially Australia,
New Zealand and Canada, have been strenuously arguing their right to representation in the conference in view
of their great interest in matters concerning the Pacific and Far East, and
it is believed that some of their leading statesmen will be asked to attend
in the capacity of advisers.

Two more nations have been added
to the list of those invited to the conference. With the consent of five principal powers Holland and Belgium
will participate in the proceedings insofar as their interests in the Far East are concerned. Their status thus will be the same as that of China, for it is not to be supposed they will take part in the discussion on armaments.

Diplomatic conversations and informal exchanges between the governments concerned have progressed so far that Secretary Hughes has been able to send to the other four great powers and to China a suggested outline of the topics for the conference.
This proposed agenda has not been made public, pending its acceptance by the other governments, but is believed to include, aside from limitation of
armaments, these suggestions:

—Territorial integrity of Russia, the open door, and equal opportunity for economic activities, the powers acting
as trustees until Russia shall have recovered and set up a central, representative government.

—Territorial integrity of China and the "open door."

—The substitution of international cooperation for the past practice of seeking selfish, monopolistic advantages in China.

—Assistance to China in achieving administrative, fiscal and judicial reforms.

has refused Japan's proposition, fearing that it would be overthrown if it accepted. Some of the leaders in that government have long been suspected of being pro-Japanese. An interesting report in Washington is that Robert Lansing, former secretary of state under President Wilson, will be an adviser to the Chinese delegation.

The assembly of the League of Nations continues to function, in disregard of the assertions of various powers that the league is virtually dead.
Parenthetically, it may be said that the treaty of Versailles guarantees
the league's life for 30 years for the purposes of administering the Saar basin and the control of Danzig. The chief accomplishment of the assembly
last week was the election of judges
of the international court of justice, Elihu Root having declined, for personal reasons, to be a candidate, the Latin-American group brought about the election of John Bassett Moore of New York. He and ten others were accepted by the council. Three deputy judges also were elected and confirmed, but there was trouble over the choice of the fourth deputy. Three times the assembly elected Senor Alvarez of Chile, and three times the council voted for M. Descamps of Belgium. At last the deadlock was referred to a committee. Senor Amador of Panama threatened to withdraw his delegation if Alvarez was not accepted
by the council.

The question of the league's competence to judge the Tacna-Arica dispute and the Chile-Bolivia treaty was referred to a committee of three jurists. Senor Edwards of Chile stated that he was not prepared to admit that
the league was licensed to intrude in purely South American affairs in violation of the Monroe doctrine. Senor Aramayo of Bolivia, having received
new instructions from La Paz, withdrew his demand that the dispute with Chile be included in the agenda of the assembly.

The Irish—meaning the Sinn Fein-
ers—were willing to hold a conference
with the British cabinet at Inverness
this week, as proposed by Premier Lloyd George, but, as was easily predicted, they didn't want to submit to the only condition imposed, that the Sinn Fein must abandon its demand
for separation from the empire. De Valera sent Harry Boland and Joseph McGrath with his acceptance of the invitation, but in his letter he made several reservations, chief of which was
his objection to admitting Ireland's allegiance to the British crown before entering the conference. He also argued that if the premier objected to the secession of Ireland from the empire he should not support the secession of Ulster from Ireland.

Mr. Lloyd George sent the couriers
back to Dublin with a message to De Valera that his note was unsatisfactory and he had better write another.
This the governor supplemented by a telegram to De Valera canceling the arrangements for the Inverness conference because he felt that, in view
of the Irish attitude, negotiations
would be useless. The premier was
as conciliatory as he could be consistently, but at his writing it is uncertain whether the negotiations for peace will continue. The Dall Eirann, however, named its delegates for the conference, if it is held,
and De Valera is not one of them. The delegates are: Arthur Griffith, founder of Sinn Fein and republican foreign minister; Michael Collins, minister of finance; Robert Barton, secretary of economic affairs; Eamon Duggan, chief Irish republican army liaison officer,
who helped to arrange the truce, and George Gavan Duffy, the Irish envoy
to Rome.

Several of these men are classed as moderates. The Freeman's Journal of Dublin says: "Their task may have its difficulties, but its successful accomplishment will be the crown of a great achievement. Both nations have their hearts set on an honorable ending here
and now to the struggle of centuries.
Their desire is well within the realm of possibility and practicability. All the efforts of the would-be wreckers in Great Britain hitherto have failed.
There is then enough statesmanship in the Irish delegation to confirm that failure and to complete a fabric of peace."

Director of the Budget Dawes has informed the senate finance committee

of the details of the cut of $350,000,000
in the ordinary government expenditures for the current fiscal year. Reductions for the War department, slipping board, railroads, veterans' bureau
and in miscellaneous places will provide $305,000,000 of this. The remainder will be saved by better co-ordination in handling departmental purchases and sales of supplies.

The finance committee completed its redrafting of the house tax bill and
experts began getting the measure
ready for presentation in the senate on September 21. Disregarding the recommendations of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the committee voted to repeal the excess profits tax beginning January 1, 1922, and the capital stock tax effective in 1922, and to substitute for these a flat corporation tax
of 15 per cent, effective January 1, 1922. Among other changes in the house bill voted by the committee are retention of freight and passenger
transportation taxes at half their present rates and those on express shipments and oil pipe lines at their present rates for another year, and continuation of many miscellaneous taxes
which the house voted to repeal.

The fight against the Ku Klux Klan
is growing more interesting and more widespread every day, and the Klan is fighting back against its enemies with vigor. Various papers in many parts of the country have undertaken "exposures" of the organization and its methods and aims, and the Klan has started or says it will start libel suits
against those publications that misrepresent it. In Chicago an organization called the National Unity council has been formed with the avowed purpose
of suppressing the Klan and its so-called "invisible empire." The council, which is to be extended throughout the country, is headed by Edward F.
Dunne, former governor of Illinois. He says the Ku Klux are a menace to the nation because they "avowedly pro-
scribe millions of their fellow citizens
solely because, either they worship
God in a manner permitted by the Constitution of the United States, or because they were born without the United States. They place the black man without the pale of the law. Such organizations foment racial, religious
and political enmities instead of encouraging comity and friendship between all classes of American citizens,
which should be the aim of every
broad-minded American."

Meanwhile the Klan continues to grow in numbers with extraordinary
rapidity, now having, it is said, more than half a million members, and being organized in every state in the Union except New Hampshire, Utah
and Montana.

The great packing concerns of Armour, Swift, Wilson and Cudahy last week put into operation the newly devised "American shop representation"
system, their government-sponsored agreement with their workers having expired. All disputes are to be submitted to shop councils comprised of employees' elected representatives and
persons selected by the employers, and
national councils, to which shop councils may appeal, are to be formed in similar manner. Employees' representatives must be employed in the shop
and must be citizens or have taken out
their first papers. Any person is eligible for employment, whether a union
member or not. While this is "open shop," the packers say it is not a change of policy since they always have been open shop. Ninety per cent of their workers, they say, assented to the plan.

The terrific flood that struck San Antonio and other parts of Texas has subsided, but its full results are just beginning to be realized. Several hundred persons, mostly negroes and Mexicans, perished. The property loss in San Antonio is placed at $3,000,000 and elsewhere at $10,000,000. The mayor of the city appealed to Washington for army tents and cots for the thousands of homeless refugees.

The British cruiser Dauntless, bearing the bodies of the American victims of the ZR-2 disaster, arrived at New York Friday, escorted by a fleet of aircraft, destroyers and other vessels.
Saturday afternoon the dead were accorded the full naval honors due
those who gave their lives in the line
of duty.

U. S. TO SHIELD RUSS IN PARLEY

Will Protect Rights of Muscovy, America Tells Far Eastern Republic.

WILL NOT RECOGNIZE CHITA

State Department Note Assures Peo- ple of Square Deal at the Wash- ington Conference — Holland and Belgium Get Seats.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Assurances
that "legitimate Russian interests"
will be carefully guarded at the armament
and Far-Eastern conference have been conveyed to the Russian people
by the State department.

The assurances were contained in a message which was directed to the authorities of the Far Eastern republic
at Chita in response to the request of the republic that its representatives
be admitted to the conference. The department announced that its reply
delivered through the American minister at Peking, embodied the observations of the United States government
on the general subject of Russia's position.

The Chita government's request was handed to the American minister at Peking, but the American government
made no formal reply, since the so-called Far Eastern republic has not been recognized by the United States
or other governments. The American minister at Peking, however, was instructed to convey the American views,
which were paraphrased in an announcement by the department as follows:

"In the absence of a single recognized Russian government the protection of legitimate Russian interests
must devolve as a moral trusteeship
upon the whole conference. It is regrettable that the conference, for reasons quite beyond the control of the participating powers, is to be deprived of the advantage of Russian co-operation in its deliberations, but it is not to be conceived that the conference
will take decisions prejudicial to legiti-mate Russian interests.

"It is the hope and expectation of the government of the United States
that the conference will establish general principles of international action
which will deserve and have the support of the people of Siberia and of all Russia by reason of their justice and efficacy in the settlement of outstanding difficulties."

The State department has recently
sent to Chita John Caldwell, a consul,
for temporary service, with instructions to observe and report to the department developments in that region.
It was declared, however, that Caldwell's presence in Chita did not imply recognition.

Sufficient assurances, formal and informal, are understood to have been received by the State department from
the different powers invited to the conference to make it appear that Holland and Belgium have seats at the conference when it discusses Far Eastern subjects.

PUTS BAN ON "FOOD DRAFTS"

Soviet Authorities Won't Allow Rus- sians in U. S. to Aid Rela- tives There.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The soviet authorities have refused to allow the American relief administration to use
the system of "food drafts" installed in the other cases of European relief,
Secretary Hoover revealed.

By this system, which was used with success in Poland, Austria, Serbia and other relief undertakings of Secretary Hoover's organization, it was made possible for persons residing in the United States who had relatives in the famine-stricken districts to purchase "drafts" on warehouse food supplies abroad.

There are approximately 1,305,000
Russians in the United States, Mr.
Hoover said.

BURN BUST OF EX-KAISER

German Radicals Also Force Mo- narchic Band to Play Red Air— Destroy Banner.

Berne, Sept. 21.—A celebration at Wilmersdorf of the battle of Tannen-burg, following the anniversary of the battle fought there in East Prussia
in 1914, was broken up by socialists
and communists, who overpowered
the nationalists and compelled their band to play revolutionary airs. The radicals also forced the band to accompany them to Bremen, where a bust of ex-Emperor William and monarchical banners, which they had captured, were burned in the market place.

Bodyguard of Lincoln Dead.
San Jose, Cal., Sept. 21.—John Isaac Burnham, for two years a personal bodyguard of President Lincoln, died
at a local hospital after a brief illness. He was seventy-eight years old and he had lived here for 40 years.

Irish Refuse to Pay Taxes.
Belfast Sept. 21.—Irish republican
authorities have warned the people of some of the districts of Ireland to refuse to pay income taxes to British collectors until the Dall Eireann has reached a decision on that subject.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S. C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month.
I was not able to do
any work and tried a
lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw
your medicine advertised in a little book
that was thrown in
my door, and I had
not taken two bottles

could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish."—ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, care of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is
the privilege of the strong and healthy,
but how our hearts ache for the weak
and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

NOT A CASE FOR SURGEON

Ambitious Medical Student Was Slight- ly Too Precipitate in Jumping to His Conclusions.

"After the first crash," imparted
the first hospital surgeon to the second, "I ran over to where it lay on the pavement; and when I raised it up, I saw at once that its ribs were smashed, while a gaping hole was torn in its—"

"Pardon me, doctor," broke in the medical student, who had caught
these words as he was about to pass
by into the consumptive ward, "but if you have no objections, I'd like to take a few notes on that accident case."

He pulled his notebook from his pocket. "Was the case a child?"
"No," the surgeon informed him to his embarrassment. "I was speaking
of my umbrella."—Science and Inven-

EMMA LEONARD INJURED
Miss Emma Leonard lies in a critical condition at Montrose Hospital, Chicago—the result of an automobile accident Wednesday evening.

While returning from Desplaines the car in which Miss Leonard was riding, and which contained eight other occupants, was overturned in an effort to pass a car standing in the street with another car coming towards it. All of the occupants were more or less injured except one child. The driver's head was badly cut and one woman in the party had a collar bone broken; Miss Leonard, however, was the only one seriously hurt. Her hip being badly crushed and collar bone broken; besides serious internal injuries. She was operated upon Friday morning.

Young Girl's Useful Invention.
One of the first money change boxes designed for the convenience of ticket sellers and cashiers, was invented by Miss Estner J. Bruce, a sixteen-year-old girl, of New York, in 1877.

DISCUSSION
The Adult Bible class will discuss next Sunday at 10:00 a. m. the following question:
Can a Christian be loyal to Christ; to the community; to his family; and to himself while engaging in an occupation which practically deprives him of the Sabbath-day rest?

There will be four leaders of the discussion.
You are cordially invited to be present.

FREIGHT REDUCTIONS

Commission Approves Reductions on Freight Rates

Railroad rate reductions on live stock shipments in the middle west territory between the Missouri river and the Rocky mountains were approved by the interstate commerce commission today.

It is estimated the reductions will save shippers $10,000,000 annually.

On order allowing the rate to be put into effect September 20, without the usual procedure of publishing the new rates, was granted.

The reductions, which will range from 1 to 25 cents a hundred pounds on live stock were agreed to by the railroads, it was said at the commission's offices.

Rate cuts of this kind have been strongly demanded by agricultural interests in the middle west.

This shows the results of organized efforts on the part of the farmer which will result in a benefit to every one living in a farming community whether interest directly or indirectly upon the welfare of the live stock producer. Other freight rate hearings are in process under the direction of the freight department of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

RENN-MEYERS
Former Genoa Girl Marries Harvey E. Meyers Wednesday

Miss Hazel Pyle Renn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Renn, became the bride of Harvey E. Meyers at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents, six miles south of Belvidere on the Blood's Point road, in the presence of a company of sixty guests. The Rev. H. W. Reed of the South Baptist church officiated.

The couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls, after the ceremony. They will make their future home on the farm south of Belvidere.

The AMERICAN LEGION

HOLDS UNIQUE WAR RECORD

Editor of Legion Publication Left Post and Marched to the Front
A. W. O. L.

Walter T. Neubert, editor of the Service Star, official publication of the American Legion of Montana, has what is believed to be the most unique war record of any man who served in the A. E. F.

He was sergeant instructor in France, but his desire to get into the front-line fighting caused him to virtually desert the army. He left his post and marched to the front A. W. O. L. He went through the St. Mihiel drive and was in the thick of the Argonne fighting when an order was issued for his arrest. Neubert didn't mind the arrest but he hated to quit fighting. A court-martial followed and he was reduced to a private. Later, following the armistice, he was sent to Coblenz as linotype operator on the Amaro News.

Neubert is president of the Great Falls (Mont.) Typographical union, and is adjutant of the Great Falls post of the American Legion.

LEGION HERO WITH ONE LEG

Detroit Member of Organization Displays Makeup of True Soldier During Fire.

Once a hero, always a hero, is what Detroit is saying of Leo Fuhrman, World war veteran, who lost a leg in France, but who nevertheless saved the life of a stranger in a burning building recently, while able-bodied spectators stood about wringing their hands.

Fuhrman, a member of the Charles A. Learned post of the American Legion, lost his left leg at the thigh while serving as a machine gunner with the Thirty-second division of the A. E. F. Early one morning he was awakened by shouts and soon learned that a nearby house was on fire.

Garbed in a dressing gown he made his way to the burning house and found a crowd of spectators awaiting the fire department. Fears were expressed for the safety of occupants in the house, and as no one volunteered to enter, the Legionnaire broke open a window and went in. He returned dragging Aaron Pruitt, whom he found overcome on a bed.

"Any soldier would have done the same thing," declared the hero.

IN MIDST OF SHELL SHOWER

Husky Seattle Legion Member Was Wounded Twelve Times Within Half Minute.

The weathering of three years rough and tumble as a Walter Camp All American tackle on the Yale football team conditioned Charles H. Paul, Seattle, Wash., for one of the World war's most unusual experiences.

Paul, then a first lieutenant in the Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth infantry, Ninety-first division, was wounded in 12 different spots in half a minute during the Argonne struggle. One high explosive shell burst near him, hurling him about 15 feet distant. He had just landed when a second shell exploded almost under him, tossing him back to where he started from. He thought it over for several months in army hospitals.

Also a graduate of Harvard law school, Paul is junior partner in one of Seattle's legal corporations. He is commander of Rainier-Noble post of the American Legion, Seattle.

Legion Man Sets the Pace.

Ageratum, architrave, chamfer, cleftogamous, elohim, gambit, gumpe, intaglio, metacarpal, mitosis, nada, pomology, rocco, Simony. How many of the above words can you define? Michael Nolan, 43-year-old mental wizard, who has been classed with the world's "best minds" defined all of them in less than one minute. Nolan is a charter member of Rainier-Noble post of the American Legion at Seattle. Nolan, who has been a lumberjack and a sailor, is a student in the engineering department of the federal board of vocational training at the University of Washington. He was shellshocked in France. He broke into fame when he established a new record in the army "alpha" test with a perfect score of 212 points in thirteen minutes. The best previous score in the psychology test was 207 points in seventeen minutes, made by a Yale professor.

THE LEGION IS HIS HOBBY

Former National Vice Commander Also Devotes Much Attention to Labor Affairs.

Time does not hang heavily for George L. Berry, president since 1907 of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, founder of Pressmen's Home, Tenn., and until recently national vice commander of the American Legion.

Mr. Berry has two hobbies: his union and his Legion. A veteran of the Spanish-American war, he served overseas in the World war with the railroad transportation corps. He was in Paris, France, when the first caucus of service men, out of which grew the American Legion, was held, and he attended and was heard from. Being familiar with foreign industrial conditions, he represented the American Federation of Labor at foreign trade union conferences, and after the war was appointed to the government industrial commission sent to allied nations to co-ordinate industrial conditions with those of the United States. His Legion activities now concern themselves with his role as a national speaker for the service organization.

LEGION MAN SAVES LIVES

Former Yeoman, Member of New Jersey Post, Aids When Town Is in Danger.

A post-war gas attack which threatened the entire town of Bound Brook, N. J., was checked and hundreds of lives saved by the quick and fearless action of Michael Pascal, former yeoman of an American torpedo boat destroyer and member of the local American Legion post.

When a huge tank containing 1,000 pounds of phosgene, one of the deadliest gases used in the war, sprung a leak, a workman was killed and scores were overcome before Pascal and a companion, formerly with the chemical warfare service, arrived. They smelled the gas from a distance, and recognizing its odor, set out for the origin.

Arriving, Pascal found doctors caring for the severely gassed, workmen running about in gas masks but no one trying to stop the leak. After several attempts in the gas-filled plant, Pascal and his companion stopped the flow. Both have been honored by the town council and recommended for Carnegie medals.

FRENCH MEDALS FOR YANKS

Special Commemorative Emblem to Be Presented to All Americans Who Served.

All Americans who served overseas as members of units of the French command during the World war are to receive a handsome decoration from the French government, to be known as the French commemorative medal.

Distribution will be made from the office of the French military attaché at Washington. It is estimated that from ten to fifteen thousand Americans are entitled to the medal. Since they are scattered all over the country, the French government has appealed to the more than eleven thousand posts of the American Legion to publish the news of the medal offer to eligible veterans.

The medals are to go to all American citizens who served during the World war, as members of the French army and navy; as physicians, nurses, pharmacists or administrators in French sanitary units between August 2, 1914, and November 11, 1918; as members of relief agencies under French command, and as motor drivers, operators and secretaries in the regular organizations of the French armies.

TIE KNOTS WITHOUT CHARGE

Legion's National Chaplain Agrees to Officiate at National Convention Events.

Because he believes that married members of the American Legion make better citizens, Rev. John W. Inzer, Nashville, Tenn., the Legion's national chaplain, will marry without charge all Legionnaires who attend the third annual convention of the service organization at Kansas City this fall. All marriage license fees will be paid from the convention fund, Legion officials promise.

Arrangements are being made to house prospective brides in homes of prominent citizens and the bridegrooms in various hotels and restaurants. It is expected that at least 100 couples will take advantage of the offer and preparations are being made to accommodate that number of newly-weds.

CLOTHES MATCH OCCASION IN SCHOOL GIRL'S OUTFIT

THE school girl was never better provided for than she has been this fall with practical clothes to meet all her requirements. This is of course a satisfaction to her, but real joy is added to her satisfaction when she recognizes the smartness of the style that has been wrought into these practical belongings—style that gives her wardrobe the enviable flavor of youth.

In suits for the school girl simplicity and audacity are combined—and they are piquant. For then skirts are short and coats take on small eccentricities. Frocks are also simple, but they manage to be other things—demure or gay. Sports clothes are sturdy and frolicsome—or matter-of-fact like the bloomer suit shown in the picture for wear in the "gym."

For golfing, hiking or any strenuous sport, the knickerbocker suit is taken as a matter of course, both for the schoolgirl and her elders. It is made of rough woolsens, in tan, gray or brown, with a sleeveless coat and often with a cape to match. There are smart but less spirited suits of tweed with plain skirts and mannish coats designed for the same kind of wear. Hats to match, or felt hats are worn with both.

For afternoon wear and for dancing there are many adorably pretty frocks for girls in their teens. Crepe and taffeta, ribbons and embroideries join forces in making them, and silhouettes vary, with the close-fitting bodice joined to a full skirt developed in taffeta and the slim silhouette taking advantage of the clinging quality of crepes.

THE TIME HAS COME TO CHOOSE A HAT

THERE is a pleasant little journey just ahead of most women. It is an excursion into the shops in quest of a trimmed hat for winter. Now is the time to make it—when milliners are putting their best hat forward, so to speak, in their formal openings; so—after checking up on one's bank account—the time has come to set sail. There is a becoming hat for every type of face. A group of trimmed hats shown above, reveals several favored and intriguing styles.

At the top of this group there is a representative of the small turban which proudly supports spreading bows or ends of cre ribbon, finished off with a brilliant jet ornament at the front. It is handsome in velvet or du-rétyl or other fabrics and is a tempting affair in all black. Just below it, a lovely velvet hat in a pheasant shade, has its crown covered with autumn foliage—browns, yellows, dull green, bronze—a little hint of red among the leaves. A circular veil in brown falls over it. The spirited hat at the right is made of velvet and bears an upstanding crest of ostrich which may be "platined"—that is, metallized with a gray metallic finish, or in vari-colored ostrich fines. It is very handsome in gray velvet with platined ostrich.

At the lower left, a velvet hat has a soft crown and graceful brim, in brown with long, soft ostrich flues and curving spikes of chenille about its crown. It is also beautiful in the purple and petunia shades, or in other autumn colors. No collection will be minus something that calls to mind the Spanish modes and they are evident in the last hat of the group.

Have Everthing Matched.
Toilettes of one neutral color have become a sort of a fad. It is quite chic to have hat, shoes, dress, gloves—in fact, everything—matched.

625,000 BOTTLES SOLD IN NEW YORK

Biggest Thing of Kind Ever Seen in That State, Declares Big Wholesaler.

The fact that 625,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the state of New York since its introduction there less than one year ago, is a big business item that will attract unusual attention throughout the entire East, for nothing like it has ever happened before. It breaks all records.

Mr. George B. Evans, manager of the Gibson-Snow Company, the well-known wholesale druggists, with branches in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, recently announced that the preparation was now selling in their trade territories alone at the phenomenal rate of approximately 500,000 bottles a year.

"If the present rate continues," said Mr. Evans, "this state alone will probably require considerably over 750,000 bottles a year. This is a tremendous figure, but I am really conservative in making this statement."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Advertisement.

Considerable Agitation.
"Either my eyes are acting funny or else there's something powerful wrong with yore house," said an acquaintance who had halted in the big road to stare at the Johnson domicile. "I reckon it must be my eyesight, but the doggone house 'pears to be shaking and shivering like it was going to tumble down."
"Aw, I reckon likely my fourteen children happen to have took a notion to scratch their chiggers at the same 'ptu!—same time," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, who was hanging over his own front fence, hooked on by the elbows.—Kansas City Star.

Catch of Cod in Norway.
The catch of cod in Norway for the season just ended is greater than in any one of the preceding four years. However, the value of the catch was about 22,000,000 crowns, as compared with a value of 45,000,000 crowns for the 1920 season. The total number of fish caught in 1921 was 39,000,000; the 1920 catch totaled 38,000,000. The selling price is considerably lower and the high cost of equipment and oils makes the profit less than average. The operating expenses were at the same level as during the war.

Shall Old Man Gloom glare at you all winter from the dirty, dingy, streaked and unsanitary walls of your home?

Or would you prefer walls that radiate cheer and hospitality, modernize your home and conduce to health, happiness and the pride of living?

We know what your answer will be and to secure these satisfying results you have only to use

Alabastine

Instead of Wallpaper, Paint or Kalsomine

Alabastine is a dry powder packed in five-pound packages in white and a variety of beautiful colors ready to use by mixing with pure cold water, with full directions on every package.

Alabastine Over Painted Walls
Have you had the experience after going to considerable expense to paint your walls, on the theory that they would be washable the same as your woodwork, of finding that after washing them they were grimy, streaked and unsatisfactory? Have you hesitated at the expense of again repainting them?

Alabastine has been on the market for forty years, is a household word in every civilized country in the world. If unable to secure the services of a painter or decorator you can apply Alabastine yourself.

If the paint is solid on the wall and not scaling, go over it with a coat of Alabastine and be pleasantly surprised as to effects produced and saving effected. Alabastine may even be used over old soiled wallpaper that is firm on the wall not printed in aniline dyes or with raised figures.

Important to Know
To secure Alabastine results you must get Alabastine; it is necessary to see that the package has the word "Alabastine" and the cross and circle printed in red.

You Can Always Get Alabastine
There is hardly a town where Alabastine is not carried in stock by dealers who carry paints. If you do not find it and are offered something else claimed to be just as good, write us and we will tell you how to easily secure Alabastine.

When employing the services of a painter ask him to bring the Alabastine in unbroken packages and mixed on the job. This he will be glad to do to convince you that he is giving you what you desire and pay for.

"He keeps a chart on his desk to show them they couldn't live on a government salary, anyhow."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder to do the work nature intended they should do. Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

By Way of Explanation.

"Ah," sighed the presiding elder, "why do so few parents nowadays sing to their children?"

"One reason I don't," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, "is that the last time I tried it they ganged me till their maw had to fling hot water on 'em to make 'em turn loose."—Kansas City Star.

My glance wandering about the room aimlessly fell upon the valise in one corner. It was just where I remembered leaving it when I went out, yet I saw something which surely resembled a slash in the leather. I crossed over, and bent down; it was a slash, the clean cut of a knife, running from end to end, penetrating through both leather and cloth. Whoever had done the deed had been unable to operate the lock, and had used the blade as a last resort, slitting the entire bag wide open. I inserted my hand and felt within; nothing seemed missing, or greatly disturbed. I explored to the bottom, and then sprang to my feet in startled amazement—the dagger I had concealed there was gone!

Good God! what could be the meaning of this? She had worn that ornament in her hat openly, purposely, to fool me into believing her innocent. There could be no other explanation. She had confessed being at the hotel, seeking to locate me, and the number of my room. What would prevent her coming up here unobserved, then, while I was out, and gaining entrance? And who else would have any reason to thus search through my things, and abstract this important evidence of crime?

Yet how did she know I had it? How did she even suspect I was the first to discover the dead body, and bear away with me the tell-tale weapon with which Alva had been murdered? I had no means of knowing how—only she alone had special reason to regain possession of that knife. And she had even dared later to flaunt it in my very face, to show it to me in her possession, just as though it had never passed out of her hands! Here was revealed a depth of duplicity, a criminal audacity, not to be expressed in words; this soft spoken girl, this woman to whom I knew I had given my heart, stood revealed now in all her hideousness—a murderer, a thief, a scheming criminal, coolly concealing the trail of her crime, and using her very charms of face and manner to conceal from me her true nature.

Perhaps she would see me again—perhaps! The lie was yet warm upon her lips. She had gone away laughing at the simpton who had believed her, the dupe who had so easily been deceived by her smiles. The chances were she had disappeared already, vanished, left the city, assured that no evidence now remained behind to ever connect her with this terrible affair. She cared nothing for me—I had been a mere tool, pliant in her hand—I remained merely in her memory as something to laugh about, another victim, a blind, groping fool, with whom she had played to her heart's desire.

I sat with my head in my hands staring at the mutilated bag, racked with anger and misery. I had been easy, a mark of derision and ridicule; a mere screen for her to hide behind, while her accomplice, if she had one, escaped with the spoils. Then the reaction came; the thought that perhaps I had not read the story wholly aright; the faint hope that it might not prove exactly as I had pictured in my first wild-burst of passion. It was too infamous, too unthinkable. Why, if she was guilty, should she have remained in New York? Why should she have sought me out, or listened so intently to the quarrel of those two men at Peron's? What could she possibly gain by thus overhearing the tale of their failure, if she already knew who was the murderer of Alva, and what had become of the spoils?

I could ask these questions, but not one was answerable. They merely mocked me with their emptiness. Then, shrill and insistent, the telephone rang.

My heart was beating like a trip-hammer as I took down the receiver. Who could be calling me at this hour? Who except she alone in this city knew my name and hotel?

"Hello."

A man's voice spoke huskily. "This you, Daly?"

"Yes," hastily, instantly aware of who was on the other end of the wire, yet feeling it best to dissemble until I learned the purpose.

"Who is speaking?"

"The fellow you baffled with a bottle tonight. No, I ain't got no hard feelings. Besides, I got something else to think about than a cracked dome. Say, I got some dope on how that job was did, an' maybe could tell you something else of interest. I got to talk with you privately—that's what. It's a matter for the girl as well as yourself. I'm playing square as long as you do the right thing, but I know who the dame is, an' ain't liable to squeal if I get a raw deal; that's putting it straight, Harry."

"You know who she is, you say?"

"Sure I do. Old Pierre, over at Peron's, told me. He never forgets a face, or a name, that old duffer. He knew you the minute you blew in, and he knew her, too; she'd been there before slumming."

"Who is she, then?"

"That's all right—I know; but I ain't fool enough to blow it over the wire. If you'll come over here and have a talk, I'll spill a few things in your ear that'll make you wise."

"Where are you?"

"At Costigan's."

"What's become of your partner?"

"Who's that—Waldron? He ain't no partner of mine. Say, you must have handed that guy some jolt. The last I saw of him, he was laid out on a bench in Peron's back room breathing like a stuck pig, dead to the world. Will you come over here?"

"What have you got to tell me?"

"Well, there's the dame's name for one thing. I'll bet you don't even know who she is, or how she's string-in' you. I'm on to where a part of that hoodie's plaited—anyhow I've got a hunch. If we turn it up, I'm still strong on the fifty-fifty proposition."

I turned it over swiftly in my mind, the receiver still at my ear. I felt no particular fear of Harris; to be sure, in all probability, he was only feeling about in the dark, hoping in this way to learn something of value, yet it might be that he had accidentally uncovered the girl's identity, and that alone was inducement enough to urge me to take the risk. If he actually knew who she was, he was the kind that might become ugly, and, however much I suspected her in my own mind, I had no desire to leave her undefended at his mercy. Guilty or not guilty, my inclination was to protect her to the last. Besides I was eager to obtain the information he claimed to possess; indeed, all progress on the case was blocked until I did obtain it. As to his boast that he knew where the stolen money was concealed, I took little stock in that. Doubtless he merely threw that in for good measure. But the other looked reasonable enough; she had confessed being at Peron's before; Pierre was fully as likely to recall her to memory as he was to remember Daly, and Harris could never have made so shrewd a guess, unless he had really been told the facts. Another thing gave me courage to go to Costigan's. I was still accepted by these people as Harry Daly, crook. I would undoubtedly be so received, so treated. Under these circumstances there could be no personal danger; I held the whip-hand, the advantage—Harris was only endeavoring to see what he could get out of me; he had abandoned force to resort to diplomacy.

"All right," I said. "I'll run over there; if you want to play fair, I'll meet you half way."

"Oh, I'm on the square, old man, and I've got some good dope," he insisted. "I'll blow it when you show up."

I returned the receiver to the hook, uncertain whether or not I had decided rightly, yet determined to carry out the experiment. Above all else I wanted to learn who Marie Gessler was. Nothing else mattered so much; for on this discovery all else hinged. If violence, or treachery, was intended, I would be found prepared, and well able to defend myself.

The neighborhood into which I was venturing induced me to take a taxi, and, within ten minutes, I was deposited at the door of the saloon. I pressed open the swinging door, and stepped into the brilliantly lighted bar-room.

Costigan was behind the bar, but, at sight of me, rounded the end, and shook hands cordially, removing his apron, and slipping into a coat, in token that he had changed his occupation.

"Better call Charlie," he said to a man beside him, "for I'll be off for an hour or so. You came to see George?"

"Yes; he telephoned me."

"Said he was goin' to. He's waitin' in the office there. I'll go along with you."

He pushed a passage through the crowd, his breadth of body according me ample room in which to follow without being obstructed, and opened the closed door with a pass-key. To a wave of his big hand I passed confidently past him, and entered. The next instant he had pressed me forward, came in also, and closed the door; the sharp click of the lock sounded like the report of a pistol. One startled glance at the interior told me I was trapped, and the swift instinct of defense led me to step aside, so that I should have my back to the wall. Harris sat in the swivel chair, with feet elevated on the desk, sardonically grinning at me over a half-chewed cigar tilted between his teeth. A white rag was bound round his head, through which a few drops of blood had oozed, leaving a dark stain. Leaning against the wall opposite was Waldron, one eye half-closed, and his lip split, giving to his face a look of savage brutality, rendered peculiarly sinister by a grim effort to smile. Costigan remained motionless, with back against the door, as though thus barring all possibility of escape. I had walked into their trap, and the jaws had closed.

I'll Bet You Don't Even Know Who She Is.

The grin on Harris' face maddened me.

"Well," I said coldly, "it was a stall, was it? What is the idea?"

He laughed, without changing his attitude.

"This happens to be our turn to play, Daly," he returned, apparently well satisfied with his smartness.

"Then you have nothing to tell me?"

"Oh, yes, I have; I've got a h— of a lot to tell you. But first of all you are going to tell me a few things. Push back your right sleeve to the elbow, shirt and all."

"What's that for?"

"Never you mind what it's for; you do what I say, if you know what is best for yourself."

I looked at the faces of the others, but they were hard as flint. My hesitancy caused Harris to lower his feet, and sit up angrily.

"Push up that sleeve, you, or I'll have Waldron do it for you. We've got you foul, you fool!"

I stripped back my sleeve, exposing my right forearm, yet never removing my eyes from their faces. Harris and Costigan bent forward, intent on the operation, but Waldron never shifted his position. Harris slapped a hand on the desk, and gave utterance to an oath.

"By G—d, Dan, we're right. This bird's not Daly!"

"Not in a thousand years' he ain't. He's sure a dead-ringer, though."

Harris straightened up, the same hateful grin still exposing his teeth.

"We've got your number this time, son," he announced. "Harry Daly has a tattooed anchor on his right arm. I didn't know it, but Dan did. I'll tell you what made us wise. In the shining over at Peron's tonight, a card-carrying was jarred loose from your pocket. There was only one kind of card inside, and that wasn't Daly by a G—n sight. I told Dan about it, and he was for getting a squint at that right arm. Said for me to call you up at the number you gave me, believing that if I threw in 'con' enough you'd come over here. I asked for 'G 145,' the operator there named yer, and it was the same name what was on them cards. So now we know yer're a dirty liar and spy, 'Mister Philip Severn."

"You called me Daly yourself, Harris," I said quietly, realizing the game was up, but not yet sure of their intentions. "I merely let it go."

"Sure; but what was the game? You ain't no fly-cop."

"Nothing of the kind."

"Then you was after the dough. That's what I thought; you and the girl are in cahoots. Well, what did you do with it?"

Some More Truths.

WOULD you use a steam shovel to move a pebble? Certainly not. Implements are built according to the work they have to do.

Would you use a grown-up's remedy for your baby's ills? Certainly not. Remedies are prepared according to the work THEY have to do.

All this is preliminary to reminding you that Fletcher's Castoria was sought out, found and is prepared solely as a remedy for Infants and Children. And let this be a warning against Substitutes, Counterfeits and the Just-as-good stuff that may be all right for you in all your strength, but dangerous for the little babe.

All the mother-love that lies within your heart cries out to you: Be true to Baby. And being true to Baby you will keep in the house remedies specially prepared for babies as you would a baby's food, hairbrush, toothbrush or sponge.

Children Cry For

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor. But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good—that it can't do any harm—and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would use for yourself.

Some alumni folks in Philadelphia were getting up a social function, when the secretary happened to mention to one of the members the fact that a young woman from Boston named Higginson would attend.

"Higginson isn't a very attractive name," he said, "but the girl herself is a beauty."

"How shall I know her?" asked the other interested at once.

"Well," said the secretary, "she's the only girl I know with Yale eyes and a Harvard complexion."

"Come along, dearie," said Mrs. Jones to her three-year-old son, "and have your face washed."

"Don't want to be washed," came the reply.

"But," said mother, "you don't want to be a dirty little boy, do you? I want my little boy to have a nice clean face for the ladies to kiss."

Upon this persuasion he gave way and was washed.

A few minutes later he stood watching his father washing.

"Ha, ha, daddy!" he cried. "I know why you're washing!"

First Oriental Rugs.
 Rugs in the Orient are mentioned by classical writers of a very early period. There are some rare specimens in the museum at Cairo, Egypt, which date from at least 1180 B. C.

A pipe won't burn your tongue if you smoke P.A.!

Get that pipe-party-bee buzzing in your smoke-section! Know for a fact what a joy's jimmy pipe can and will do for your peace and content! Just check up the men in all walks of life you meet daily who certainly get top sport out of their pipes—all aglow with fragrant, delightful, friendly Prince Albert!

And, you can wager your week's wad that Prince Albert's quality and flavor and coolness—and its freedom from bite and parch (cut out by our exclusive patented process)—will ring up records in your little old smokemeter the likes of which you never before could believe possible!

You don't get tired of a pipe when it's packed with Prince Albert! Paste that in your hat!

And, just between ourselves! Ever dip into the sport of rolling 'em? Get some Prince Albert and the makin's papers—quick—and cash in on a cigarette that will prove a revelation!

Prince Albert is sold in tippy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors and in the pound crystal glass humidors with sponge moisture top.
