 The question of mud is one that has been forced upon us this week and especially last Sunday. On this day people turn out to the churches and should have a clean crossing at the streets. Why don't the Board see that this is attended to on Sunday as well as any other day. Frank Swan and Sam Slater last Sunday were so deeply impressed with this need that they turned out and did a job of cleaning crossings that sets a good pattern for our "dads" to have continued in such muddy times.

 The Lord made this office a fraternal visit last Saturday morning—but perhaps we should qualify this by stating it was Editor Lord of Genoa.—Advertiser (Sycamore). Yes, too true, but seeing two murderous looking repeaters in the corner just behind Harvey's chair, we cut our call short.
 Saturday morning many a person arose and looked out upon a very uninviting scene. The day before was warm damp and muddy, but during the night the wind set-in from the north-east, it froze and then snowed about two or three inches almost making a person wish they were some where else.
 Eddie Pierson a sixteen year old lad of Byron accidently shot himself with a revolver one day last week. The ball entered his leg just below the hip joint and lodged in the knee joint. An Over-Sight,
 Of a Former School Director Compels the Purchase of More Land for the School Grounds.
 Elsewhere will be seen the call for District School Election for District No. 1 to be held at the school house April 20, 1901.
 You will notice that there is one officer to be voted for, and a question to be decided by the voters of the district "Shall we buy the lots north of the school house owned by J. B. Stevens, and known as the "Park," or no.
 At the time that the last addition was built to the school house it seems that by some blunder of the directors the building was placed so that it now sets some eight or ten feet over on these lots. It is therefore a paramount issue that as there is now an opportunity to buy these lots at $600 the best and only thing to be done is for the district to get possession of them as soon as possible. Should the people think best to defer the purchase to some future time it will probably result in the expenditure of a much larger sum to secure a deed.

EASTER ETCHINGS

The customs, traditions and superstitions connected with Easter are almost innumerable. Their origins are in many cases impossible to determine, because they evidently took place at a time when the season was still pagan in its character. Others, again, are directly connected with the Christian observance of the festival. The early Christians in many countries used to greet one another on Easter morning with the salutation: "Christ is risen."

The reply to this was: "Christ is risen, indeed, and hath appeared to Simon."

"This custom, it is said, is still observed in the Greek church.

The giving of eggs at Easter, or the spring festival, is one of the most widely known, as it is also one of the oldest, of the customs. From the remotest times the egg has stood to the Eastern nations as the symbol of the universe, and its breaking at that time has represented the opening of the new life of the year. When the custom was carried over into Christian practice the Easter eggs were usually sent to the priests to be blessed and sprinkled with holy water. In later times the coloring and decorating of the eggs was introduced, and in a royal roll of the time of Edward I., which is preserved in the Tower of London, there is an entry of 18d. for 400 eggs, to be used for Easter gifts.

In the last few years artificial eggs of candy, china and other materials, and egg-shaped articles of all kinds, have largely replaced the real eggs as Easter gifts. The shop windows each year at this season testify to the ingenuity expended in devising new and attractive objects in which the idea of the Easter egg shall be preserved. In Paris these Easter presents are generally given on the first day of Passion Week. All are emblematic of eggs, and are known as "oeufs des Paque," or "Paschal eggs."

"CHRIST IS RISEN!"

Children's Easter

It was the Saturday before Easter, and the children all ran out to the barn to hunt eggs, with Egypt, the tame crow, hopping after them. Nanny was sure there must be several dozen eggs in the hen house, Billy thought the haymow was the best place to find them, and Kitty said she had seen old Topknott flying out from Dobbin's manger. Egypt said nothing,

OUT IT CAME WITH A LOUD "OW!" but I rather think he knew as much about the nests as they did.

Egypt was a sly old fellow. He liked buttons and pennies, but he had the greatest fancy for pins. He would pull them out of every pin cushion in the house when he could get a chance, so you might search through room after room, and not come across a single pin. Nobody knew what he did with them all. He was fond of eggs, too, and I am afraid this was the reason that the children had such a long hunt for them, and found so few.

At last they climbed up the long ladder into the mow. The hay was piled almost to the roof and covered the windows. It was so dark that Nanny and Billy went first, floundering along in the hay, just as you wade through a snow drift.

"Guess there are nests on this beam," said Billy, "but it's so dark I can't see. I'll feel."

Through the long night of darkness and gloom
We follow Thee unto the opened tomb,
And, standing by its side,
Behold life glorified,
Know immortality,
Because of Thee.

Through the bright morning still we follow Thee,
Our fears forgot, our faintest doubts shall flee,
Lift praises linger long,
For death is conquered,
Lo! the farthest skies
Are filled with song!

O heart, rejoice! Art blinded at the door
Of thy safe tent? Thy Pilot went before,
He leads thee in; then sing,
"Ours is the victory,
O suffering One,
Because of Thee!"

Homeless ere yet He knew the darkened tomb,
Homeless henceforth no more; in each glad heart His home,
Wake! every flower of spring,
And swell the Easter song,
And every bird wing
The praise prolong!

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE AGONY OF GETHSEMANE
THE SUBJECT LAST SUNDAY.

"Ye Are Bought with Price"—First Book of Corinthians, Chapter VI, Verse 20
—The Temptation of the Savior—Divine Sympathy.

(Copyright, 1901, by Louis Kloppsch, N. Y.)
Washington, March 31.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows the Messianic sacrifices for the saving of all nations and speaks of Gethsemane as it appeared to him; text, I Corinthians vi, 20, "Ye are bought with a price."

Your friend takes you through his valuable house. You examine the arches, the frescoes, the grass plots, the fish ponds, the conservatories, the parks of deer, and you say within yourself or you say aloud, "What did all this cost?" You see a costly diamond flashing in an earring, or you hear a costly dress rustling across the drawing room, or you see a high mettled span of horses harnessed with silver and gold, and you begin to make an estimate of the value.

The man who owns a large estate cannot instantly tell you all it is worth. He says, "I will estimate so much for the house, so much for the furniture, so much for laying out the grounds, so much for the stock, so much for the barn, so much for the equipage, adding up in all making this aggregate.

Well, my friends, I hear so much about our mansion in heaven, about its furniture and the grand surroundings, that I want to know how much it is all worth and what has actually been paid for it. I cannot complete in a month nor a year the magnificent calculation, but before I get through today I hope to give you the figures. "Ye are bought with a price."

Bringing Glad Tidings.
Let us open the door of the caravanary in Bethlehem and drive away the camels. Pass on through the group of soldiers and loungers. What, O Mary, no light? "No light," she says, "save that which comes through the door." What Mary, no food? "None," she says, "only that which was brought in the sack on the journey." Let the Bethlehem woman who has come in here with kindly attentions put back the covering from the babe that we may look upon it. Look! Look! Uncover your head. Let us kneel. Let all voices be hushed. Son of Mary! Son of God! Child of a day! Monarch of eternity! In that eye the glance of a God. Omnipotence sheathed in that Babe's arm. That voice to be changed from the feeble plaint to the tone that shall wake the dead. Hosanna! Hosanna! Glory to God that Jesus came from throne to manger that we might rise from manger to throne, and that all the gates are open, and that the door of heaven that once swung this way to let Jesus out now swings the other way to let us in. Let all the bellmen of heaven lay hold the rope and ring out the news, "Behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people, for today is born in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord!"

The second installment paid for our souls' clearance was the scene in Quarantania, a mountainous region, full of caverns, where are today panthers and wild beasts of all sorts, so that you must now go there armed with knife or gun or pistol. It was there that Jesus went to think and pray, and it was there that this monster of hell—more sly, more terrible, than anything that prowled in that country—satan himself, met Christ.

Jesus to Roman Senate.
The rose in the cheek of Christ—that Publius Lentulus, in his letter to the Roman senate, ascribed to Jesus—that rose had scattered its petals. Abstinence from food had thrown him into emaciation. A long abstinence from food recorded in profane history is that of the crew of the ship Juno. For twenty-three days they had nothing to eat. But this sufferer had fasted a month and ten days before he broke fast. Hunger must have agonized every fibre of the body and gnawed on the stomach with teeth of death. The thought of a morsel of bread or meat must have thrilled the body with something like ferocity. Turn out a pack of men hungry as Christ was a-hungered, and if they had strength with one yell they would devour you as a kid. It was in that pang of hunger that Jesus was accosted, and satan said, "Now, change these stones, which look like bread, into an actual supply of bread." Had the temptation come to you and me under those circumstances we would have cried, "Bread it shall be!" and been almost impatient at the time taken for mastication, but Christ with one hand beat back the hunger and with the other hand beat back the monarch of darkness. O ye tempted ones! Christ was tempted. We are told that Napoleon ordered a coat of mail made, but he was not quite certain that it was impenetrable, so he said to the manufacturer of the coat of mail, "Put it on now yourself and let us try it." And with shot after shot from his own pistol the emperor found out that it was just what it pretended to be, a good coat of mail. Then the man received a large reward.

I bless God that the same coat of mail that struck back the weapons of temptation from the head of Christ we may now all wear, for Jesus comes and says: "I have been tempted, and I know what it is to be tempted. Take this robe that defended me and wear it for yourselves. I shall see you through all trials, and I shall see you through all temptation."

The Temptation of Jesus.
"But," says satan still further to Jesus, "come, and I will show you something worth looking at." And after a half a day's journey they came to Jerusalem and to the top of the temple. Just as one might go up in the tower of Antwerp and look off upon Belgium, so satan brought Christ to the top of the temple. Some people at a great height feel dizzy and a strange disposition to jump. So satan comes to Christ in that very crisis, standing there at the top of the temple, they looked off. A magnificent reach of country. Grainfields, vineyards, olive groves, forests and streams, cattle in the valley, flocks on the hills and villages and cities and realms. "Now," says satan, "I'll make a bargain. Just jump off. I know it is a great way from the top of the temple to the valley, but if you are divine you can fly. Jump off. It won't hurt you. Angels will catch you. Your father will hold you. Besides, I'll make you a large present if you will. I'll give you Asia Minor, I'll give you China, I'll give you Ethiopia, I'll give you Italy, I'll give you Spain, I'll give you Germany, I'll give you Britain, I'll give you all the world." What a temptation it must have been!

Go tomorrow morning and get in an altercation with some wretch crawling up from a gin cellar in the lowest part of your city. "No," you say, "I would not demean myself by getting into such a contest." Then think of what the king of heaven and earth endured when he came down and fought the great wretch of hell and fought him in the wilderness and on top of the temple. But bless God that in the triumph over temptation Christ gives us the assurance that we also shall triumph. Having himself been tempted, he is able to succor all those who are tempted.

The Agony at Gethsemane.

The third installment paid for our redemption was the agonizing prayer in Gethsemane. As I sat in that garden at the foot of an old gnarled and twisted olive tree the historic scene came upon me overwhelmingly. These old olive trees are the lineal descendants of those under which Christ stood and wept and knelt. Have the leaves of whole botanical generations told the story of our Lord's agony to their successors? Next to Calvary the solemn place in Palestine is Gethsemane. While sitting there it seemed as if I could hear our Lord's prayer, laden with sobs and groans. Can this be the Jesus who gathered fragrance from the frankincense brought to his cradle and from the lilies that flung their sweetness into his sermons and from the box of alabaster that broke at his feet? Is this Jesus the comforter of Bethany, the resurrector at Nain, the oculist at Bethesda? Is this the Christ whose frown is the storm, whose smile is the sunlight, the spring morning his breath, the thunder his voice, the ocean a drop on the tip of his finger, heaven a sparkle on the bosom of his love, the universe the dust of his chariot wheel? Is this the Christ who is able to heal a heartbreak or hush a tempest or drown a world of flood immensity with his glory? Behold him in prayer, the globules of blood by sorrow pressed through the skin of his forehead! What an installment in part payment of the greatest price that was ever paid!

The Sham Trial.
The fourth installment paid for our redemption was the Saviour's sham trial. I call it a sham trial—there has never been anything so indecent or unfair in any criminal court as was witnessed at the trial of Christ. Why, they hustled him into the court room at 2 o'clock in the morning. They gave him no time for counsel. They gave him no opportunity for subpoenaing witnesses. The ruffians who were wandering around through the midnight, of course they saw the arrest and went into the court room. But Jesus' friends were sober men, were respectable men, and at that hour, 2 o'clock in the morning, of course they were at home asleep. Consequently Christ entered the court room with the ruffians.

Oh, look at him! No one to speak a word for him. I lift the lantern until I can look into his face, and as my heart beats in sympathy for this, the best friend the world ever had, himself now utterly friendless, an officer of the court room comes up and smites him in the mouth, and I see the blood stealing from gum and lip. Oh, it was a farce of a trial, lasting only perhaps an hour, and then the judge rises for sentence! Stop! It is against the law to give sentence unless there has been an adjournment of the court between condemnation and sentence, but what cares the judge for the law? "The man has no friends. Let him die," says the judge. And the ruffians outside the rail cry: "Aha, aha, that's what we want! Pass him out here to us! Away with him! Away with him!"

The Divine Sympathizer.
Oh, I bless God that amid all the injustice that may have been inflicted upon us in this world we have a divine sympathizer. The world cannot lie about you nor abuse you as much as they did Christ, and Jesus stands to-day in every court room, in every house, in every store, and says: "Courage! By all my hours of maltreatment and abuse I will protect those who are trampled upon." And when Christ forgets that 2 o'clock morning scene and the stroke of the ruffian on the mouth and the howling of the unwashed crowd, then he will forget you and me in the injustices of life that may be inflicted upon us.

Further, I remark: The last great installment paid for our redemption was the demise of Christ. The world has seen many dark days. Many summers ago there was a very dark day when the sun was eclipsed. The fowl at noonday went to their perch, and we felt a gloom as we looked at the astronomical wonder. It was a dark day in London when the plague was at its height, and the dead with uncovered faces were taken in open carts and dumped in the trenches. It was a dark day when the earth opened and Lisbon sank, but the darkest day since the creation of the world was when the carnage of Calvary was enacted.

Drawing the Curtain.

It was about noon when the curtain began to be drawn. It was not the coming on of a night that soothes and refreshes. It was the swinging of a great gloom all around the heavens. God hung it. As when there is a dead one in the house you bow the shutters or turn the lattice, so God in the afternoon shut the windows of the world. As it is appropriate to throw a black pall upon the coffin as it passes along, so it was appropriate that everything should be somber that day as the great hearse of the earth rolled on, bearing the corpse of the King. A man's last hours are ordinarily kept sacred. However you may have hated or caricatured a man, when you hear he is dying silence puts its hands on your lips, and you would have a loathing for the man who could stand by a deathbed making faces and scoffing. But Christ in his last hour cannot be left alone. What, pursuing him yet after so long a pursuit? You have been drinking his tears. Do you want to drink his blood? They come up closely, so that notwithstanding the darkness they can glut their revenge with the contortions of his countenance. They examine his feet. They want to feel for themselves whether those feet are really spiked. They put out their hands and touch the spikes and bring them back wet with blood and wipe them on their garments. Women stand there and weep, but can do no good. It is no place for the tender hearted women. It wants a heart that crime has turned into granite. The waves of man's hatred and of hell's vengeance dash up against the mangled feet, and the hands of sin and pain and torture clutch for his holy heart. Had he not been thoroughly fastened to the cross they would have torn him down and trampled him with both feet. How the cavalry horses arched their necks and champed their bits and reared and snuffed at the blood! Had a Roman officer called out for a light, his voice would not have been heard in the tumult, but louder than the clash of spears, and the wailing of womanhood, and the neighing of the chargers, and the bellowing of the crucifiers, there comes a voice crashing through—loud, clear, overwhelming, terrific. It is the groaning of the dying Son of God! Look, what a scene! Look, world, at what you have done!

Christ on the Cross.
I lift the covering from the maltreated Christ to let you count the wounds and estimate the cost. Oh, when the nails went through Christ's right hand and through Christ's left hand, with all their power to work and lift and write! When the nails went through Christ's right foot and Christ's left foot, that bought your feet, with all their power to walk or run or climb. When the thorn went into Christ's temple, that bought your brain, with all its power to think and plan. When the spear cleft Christ's side, that bought your heart, with all its power to love and repent and pray.

DEATH'S VISITS IN SLEEP.
Apoplexy Frequently Attacks Its Victims While They Slumber.

The frequent occurrence of apoplexy during sleep was illustrated in the case of Colonel Albert D. Shaw. He had made a patriotic speech during the evening and had retired in apparently good health. In his instance there was a combination of causes to bring about the result—a banquet, mental excitement, probable indigestion and a coincident lowering of vital tone. In some respects the circumstances were similar to those attending the demise of Henry George, who was likewise stricken after forced efforts on the platform. Why the accident in question should occur at a time when all the bodily functions are seemingly at rest is at first thought somewhat difficult to explain. When, however, the arteries of the brain become brittle by age the slightest change of blood pressure is often enough to precipitate a rupture of those vessels and cause the escape of a clot either upon the surface or into the substance of the brain. High mental tension, being always associated with congestion, is in itself an active predisposing cause of apoplexy. This condition is apt to continue during a more or less troubled sleep, and with an overtired nervous system there is less resistance to overstretching of the cerebral arteries than during the waking hours. Nature, instead of rebounding, simply succumbs. The fullness of the vessels increases until the final break occurs. Generally the effusion of blood is sufficiently large to be followed by instantaneous death, causing one sleep to pass quietly into the other. As evidence of this peaceful ending, it is often noticed that the patients are found as if in natural slumber, comfortably lying on the side, with bedclothes undisturbed and with countenance perfectly calm.

Cross in Lake Lemargarnigue.

A solid silver cross was recently received in Montreal from Michael Cit Col, an Indian, who had found it while digging in the Lake Lemargarnigue district. A Jesuit has recognized the cross, which has two bars, as one of the fifty silver crosses presented to the Huron Indians in the early part of the sixteenth century, to bribe them to fight for France against the Iroquois Indians, who were then friendly to England.

THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

Work in Both Houses at Springfield.

REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS.

The Bill Concerning the Circulation or Disposal of Criminal Literature Contains Sweeping and Stringent Provisions—To Increase Assessment Values

Monday, March 25.
Carl Mueller introduced a bill designed to place private banks under state control. This is another of the several bills brought out by the legislative attack on John Alexander Dowle of Chicago. The Mueller bill is similar in its provisions to the bill introduced last week by Mr. O'Meara. It requires the state to examine every private bank once a year and requires private banks to make semi-annual reports to the auditor.

Tuesday, March 26.
Among the bills introduced in the house and senate were the following:

By Mr. Kelley: Concerning criminal literature. The bill is as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, or offer for sale, or to print or publish, or to bring into the state for the purpose of selling, giving away or otherwise disposing of, any paper, book, periodical, pamphlet or magazine the chief feature or characteristic of which is the record of the commission of crime or the display by cut or illustration of crimes committed, or the acts or pictures of criminals, desperadoes, or of men or women in lewd or unbecoming positions or improper dress. Any person guilty of a violation of this act shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $100."

By Mr. Allen, providing that the assessed valuation of property for purposes of taxation shall be one-half instead of one-fifth of its fair cash value.

Wednesday, March 27.
The house postponed to April 4 consideration of the steering-committee resolution for a sine-die adjournment on April 25. The senate passed a resolution for a sine-die adjournment on May 3 and sent it to the house, where it was laid on the speaker's table, which means that it will remain without action till it shall please the speaker to take it up.

Governor Yates sent the following nominations to the senate this morning: William Olin Forbes of Cook county, for member of the state board of health, to succeed J. Adelsberger of Monroe county, resigned.

Thomas J. Clark of Adams county, for commissioner of the Southern Illinois penitentiary, to succeed Thomas W. Scott of Wayne county, resigned.

William P. Smith of Platt county, for member of the state board of health, to succeed J. Adelsberger of Monroe county, resigned.

Emil G. Hirsch of Cook county, for member of the state board of charities, to succeed Ephraim Banning of Cook county, resigned.

Thursday, March 28.
Senator Dawson introduced a bill to tax bachelors. The bill provides that when an unmarried man above the age of 40 years applies for a marriage license he shall pay a fee of $100 and the money collected shall be used for the erection of a spinster's home. The bill was sent to the committee on license and marriage. The house passed Mr. Struckman's bill permitting ex-union soldiers and sailors, honorably discharged, to vend, hawk and peddle goods, wares, fruits, or merchandise not prohibited by law in any county, town, village, municipality, or municipality without the payment of a license fee.

Friday, March 29.
A bill abolishing the fee system for clerks of the supreme and appellate courts and fixing salaries of such clerks was introduced in the house by Representative Rinkler.

The house adjourned to 10 a. m. April 3. The subcommittee of the house appropriation committee to which was referred the matter of an appropriation for an Illinois exhibit at the Charleston (S. C.) exposition in 1902 has agreed upon a bill appropriating $25,000 for the purpose. It is probable that this bill will be approved by the appropriations committee.

Only five senators were present in the senate, and the session of that body did not last more than one minute.

NOTES OF THE SESSION.

William A. Bowles of Will county introduced in the house the three amendments to the Chicago drainage law which had been prepared by Judge O. N. Carter of Chicago. One bill provides that the Chicago sanitary district may borrow money for corporate purposes and issue bonds therefor, but it shall not become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to an amount in the aggregate to exceed 5 per cent of the valuation of the taxable property in the district. The second bill provides that for the purpose of widening or deepening any navigable stream which is a part of the main sanitary channel the sanitary district may exercise the right of eminent domain for the purpose of taking land and may levy a tax of 1 per cent upon the assessed valuation of property in the district exclusive of any other taxes which the corporation is authorized to levy. The third bill provides the method of annexing territory to the sanitary district. Upon petition of 1500 voters resident within the limits of any territory proposed to be annexed, the county judge sitting with two circuit judges, to be selected by him, shall hear all persons interested and fix the boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The bill of annexation shall then be submitted to the voters of such territory and also of the drainage district.

Gov. La Follette's veto of the bill exempting the Milwaukee Exposition from taxation, on the ground that it was unconstitutional, which came in Friday, but was not reached, was read in the senate Monday morning, at Senator Roehr's request. Action on the veto was postponed until a week from Thursday, saying there was a chance that the governor's objections might be overcome by another bill.

Mr. Allen is pushing a bill concerning the issue of negotiable bonds by cities, incorporated villages and towns. The bill authorizes cities, villages and towns to issue refunding bonds to redeem outstanding obligations of indebtedness or for other purposes, and provides that no bonds shall be issued for a longer period than twenty years, and that the rate of interest shall not exceed 5 per cent.

The house judiciary committee has had the bill repealing the Case law before it. The retail merchants and labor men presented arguments, but the committee took no action.

Senator Gardner's bill abolishing the office of state architect was passed by the senate this week. Senator Mahoney, the democratic senate leader, again came forward as the champion of R. Bruce Watson, the state architect, who is said to be one of Lorimer's lieutenants.

The committee which had the matter in charge has ordered a favorable report upon the senate bill providing for equal rights of guardianship to the father and mother of children.

Was not Opposed.

The Citizen's Party caucus held in the village hall last Saturday from one to seven o'clock in the afternoon was a very tame affair; there being no opposition to the Stott ticket which was a surprise to many. For this reason the vote polled was very light, only ninety-four ballots being cast. Out of this number the ticket received all but a few scattering votes which were probably cast by people who knew they were doing no harm.

E. C. Crawford, Committee, 90,
W. H. Sager, " 92,

Monday evening, about ten o'clock, a petition ticket was filed with Village Clerk Perkins. It was made up after the style of an octopus, all claws and no head. This leaves J. E. Stott clear sailing to the presidency of the Village Board for the ninth term.

For aldermen the petition names Jas. Hammond, L. M. Olmstead and H. A. Kellogg. For clerk C. A. Patterson.

Honored her Birth-day.

Mrs. G. H. Ide gave a birthday lunch to a few of her lady friends at her home last Saturday afternoon from 2 to 6. Over twenty invitations had been sent out but owing to the inclemency of the weather only 14 responded.

It was a very merry gathering for which the hostess had provided various games and charades. The names of about thirty-five flowers were spelled out with pictures on cards and hung around ones of the parlors. A tilly card was given to each who wished to guess on them. This occupied considerable time and study, Miss Mary Donahue guessing 29 received first prize. Mrs. A. Crocke guessing the least was presented with, what we term the booby prize, and received it with all the grace and dignity due the occasion.

After the prizes had been awarded the guests were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served after which each one bid our hostess good evening, assuring her they had had a very enjoyable afternoon and wishing her many happy returns.

Those present were:
Miss Mary Donahue, Mrs. T. L. Kitchener, Mrs. A. Olmstead, Mrs. R. Wilcox, Mrs. Libbie Randall, Mrs. R. McCormick, Mrs. H. Kellogg, Mrs. A. Crocke, Mrs. J. Wylde, Mrs. Geo. Stanley, Mrs. J. Vandresser, Mrs. Estella Baldwin, Mrs. S. Olmstead and Mrs. S. Sumner.

Here and There.

Ida Zeitler, the servant girl who disappeared ten days ago from her employer's home at 826 North Spring street, Elgin, has not yet been heard from and foul play is strongly suspected. The police authorities are investigating the affair.

The Elgin city council last week opened bids for a 250 horse-power engine. Bids were in from The Erie City Iron Works and Buckeye Engine Co., the former's price being $3,400 and the latter's $3450. The contract was not then awarded.

Alice Molson, of Rockford was found dead in a room at the American House of that city last week Tuesday. It is supposed that she committed suicide by taking poison.

In the Freeport Democratic caucus held Tuesday of last week James P. Younger the former mayor was defeated by Louis Dlokes by 250 votes. It was a hot caucus and over 1700 votes were polled.

Gov. Yates on Tuesday appointed Chas. P. Burton, of this city, state printer expert at a salary of $2,200 a year. This is a better position than Mr. Burton asked for, but he will be able to do the duties required of the office. The appointee had the endorsement of Congressman Hopkins, Senator Evans, Hon. H. D. Judson, Judge Wyllys, all of the county officers, all of the republican editors of the district, Representatives Bush and Backus, Committee-man L. T. Hoy, Chairman Hanchett of the republican county committee, members of the republican senatorial and town committees and other leading republicans, but, of course to Senator Evans is due the most credit for securing such an excellent position for an Aurora man. Mr. Burton has his commission and has been sworn in, but will not begin his duties till the close of this session of the legislature. —Post (Aurora).

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. Fred Awe Very Suddenly Passes Away From Heart Disease.

Last Friday evening about nine o'clock in the evening Mrs. Fred Awe was suddenly seized with heart disease and in a very few moments expired. She had been troubled for several months past with her heart and had been receiving medical treatment and on last Friday she was feeling so much better that she assisted with the house cleaning. In the evening she retired at about eight o'clock but had been in bed scarcely an hour when she was suddenly stricken and died within a very few minutes, thus ending a life just begun.

Maria Friederike Johanna Fritz-Awe was born in Utica, Nebraska, on March 13, 1877 and came to Illinois in 1899. Was married to Fred Awe September 13, 1900 with whom she had begun life's journey upon the farm of John Awe, near New Lebanon and where she died. Funeral services were held in Genoa at the Lutheran church at two o'clock last Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. Plehler, after which the remains were taken on the 6:50 C. M. & St. P. train to Utica, Nebraska, accompanied by the bereft husband, Fred Awe, his father, John Awe, and his sister, Miss Vina Awe.

At Utica funeral services will again be held by the Lutherans conducted by Rev. Zigel and then interment will take place at the cemetery in that city.

The JOURNAL joins the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereft husband and sorrowing friends.

A CIRCULAR.

Genoa, Illinois April 2, 1901.

Having decided upon adopting a new system of business on the first day of May, next, a decent regard for the opinions and good will of my Friends and Customers, prompts me to give you notice of the change and my reasons for doing it.

The system to be adopted, by the change, can be set forth, fully in a very few words, viz:

1st.— I shall buy for SPOT CASH, saving from eight to fifteen per cent by so doing, my stock costing me less I can make a correspondingly lower price to my customers.

2nd.— I shall sell for SPOT CASH at a further discount, as none of my customers will have to pay a high price for their goods to make up for my loss in bad debts.

The above rules will be strictly adhered to in my dealings with every person who receives goods over my counters. As in the past I shall only keep the best and freshest goods that can be found in the market; and all defective goods will be made good at my store.

Believing you will see that this step is made for the benefit of my friends and customers I request a continuance of your patronage. All goods will be delivered as heretofore.

Yours Very Resp'y,

F. O. SWAN.

A PRETTY COMPANION

By Louise Bedford.

CHAPTER XII.—(Continued.)

"I thought you would want to hear the story some day," said Clarice. And then she told it very simply, as the doctor had told it to her, of the poor boy's promise of amendment of life, and of the act of bravery which had brought it to a close.

"Dawter Drake said that whatever his life may have been, he died like a hero," said Clarice, her own voice breaking a little as she repeated the words.

"Did he say that? What a good, kind man he is; the best friend I have ever had, except you, Clarice," said Janetta, smiling through her tears.

"Your brother's death seemed so peaceful by comparison with that poor wretch's whom the doctor hunted down," continued Clarice. "I often wonder where Mason is. She went off apparently early on the night of the robbery, and the police have never been able to obtain the faintest clue to her whereabouts. It was quite clear from the letters she left behind her that the man was her lover, and had obtained all his information from her."

"Oh, yes; it was the same voice," said Janetta, then started and colored. She had not meant to betray the fact that she had overheard Mason talking to some unknown man in the shrubbery, and had warned Mrs. Mortimer about her. The words had slipped from her.

"What voice?" asked Clarice eagerly. And Janetta thought it best to relate the story.

"Ah! that makes many things clear which I found it so hard to explain," said Clarice, thoughtfully. "I could never make out why Mrs. Mortimer seemed to blame herself so bitterly for the burglary having happened. I quite accepted her confession of injustice to you and declined to take her notice to leave, as you freely forgave her; but I could not see in what way she could consider herself responsible for the robbery. Poor woman! how terribly she has suffered; but it has done her good, Janetta. She is far gentler and kinder than she was, and she has kept a dragon watch over the house, apparently, during our absence. I think it's getting chilly. Hadn't we better be making our way back to the hotel?"

"When they got back to their hotel they found that table d'hôte was already served."

"We will go in as we are," said Clarice. And they advanced into the brilliantly lighted salon and took their places. Seated exactly opposite them was Doctor Drake, who regarded them with smiling eyes.

"What, again?" said Clarice, with a nod and a laugh, greeting him as if they had only parted the night before. "You must be spending a perfect fortune in traveling expenses!" And look, your occupation is gone!" she said, with a good glance at Janetta. "She does not look as if she needed much doctoring, does she?"

"My visit is entirely for pleasure," said Doctor Drake, laughing. "I'm out for a holiday at last. The world was before me where to choose, and if I've taken a fancy like yourselves to visit Spain, I cannot see why you should make any objection."

"None in the world," retorted Clarice, smiling.

"When dinner was ended it was but natural that the doctor should join the girls to the hall, and, sitting down by their side, tell them all the home news."

"We have agreed this afternoon that we will go back," said Clarice. "We are tired of wandering, aren't you, Janetta?"

Janetta nodded. "We are waiting for an outbreak of welcome from you," she said, smiling at the doctor, who seemed lost in a fit of abstraction.

"I would have found vent before this, except that your home-coming will not benefit me much. I'm going to leave Northcliff."

"The faces of both his listeners grew blank."

"How horrid of you!" cried Clarice, seriously. And the impetuous words brought a pink flush to the doctor's fair face. "I suppose it's a case of money."

"Yes; it's money and a baronetcy," replied the doctor, dryly.

"You are joking."

"I'm not. I'll go and write my name in the visitors' book this instant if you don't believe me. 'Sir Robert Drake!' Do I seek the part?" he went on, with rather a forced laugh. "Two distant male relatives died one after the other, and I swore one morning lately to find myself transformed from a doctor in a country town into a baronetcy and the fortune."

"Then I suppose we must congratulate you," said Clarice, in a voice that nevertheless sounded a little cold and stiff. To tell the truth, she did not at all relish the notion of the sudden removal of a knight upon whose willing devotion she could always depend.

"You need not. Life is one big disappointment. It offers gifts that one does not care for, and denies me the only one which would make it worth living."

"We rose abruptly and went off to the smoking room, and when, some five minutes later, Janetta stole a furtive glance at Clarice, she saw that her face was white and that her lips trembled."

"Sir Robert chooses to be cynical," she said, throwing back her head with a pretty gesture of defiance; "but I've no doubt he'll soon reconcile himself to the baronetcy and the fortune."

Sir Robert's route adjusted itself very much to that chosen for their return journey by the girls. Sometimes he would be away for a day or two at a time, then reappear at the town and hotel where he was tolerably certain to find them, and they arrived in England on the same day, but whilst he stopped in London, the girls went on to Northcliff.

The welcome they received from Mrs. Mortimer was of a warmth they could have hardly believed possible in a woman so self-contained; and it was pleasant to find themselves once more seated by the fire in Clarice's sitting room, with their feet on the fender, reading the several letters they had found awaiting their arrival.

"I've got a long letter from Harry," said Clarice.

Janetta started violently. Carefully as each of the girls had followed Captain Merivale's brilliant career in the Indian campaign, his name until now had not been mentioned between them since the night of Janetta's confession. Clarice's eyes were shining, there was radiant triumph in her smile.

"He is coming back, Janetta. And he says—he says that he should like to be married at once. There can be no possible reason for delay now I am well, and he hopes I will be getting my clothes ready. He adds in a postscript that he thinks I must pension off the good Mrs. Mortimer," Clarice said, with a little gay laugh; "but he makes no suggestion for your future."

"He need not," said Janetta, sitting upright, and clasping her hands tightly. "I shall find another situation."

"That sentence and the way you say it makes me quite certain that you are well. It was spoken with all your old horrid pride and independence," said Clarice. "But would it not be well to suit my convenience? I've not done with you yet, you see. You must stay until I marry, and that"—there was a little break in the voice she had tried to make so gay—may be some time, or may never be. I'm not going to marry Harry, and tomorrow I shall write and tell him so. No. Please don't look at me like that nor say anything. I can't bear it!"

"You have prevented me from making the awful mistake of marrying a man whom I have loved, but who never loved me as he is capable of loving a woman really suited to him. I've thought a great deal over it, and I've said my prayers about it and that is the only conclusion that I can arrive at."

"And I have prayed, too—or, how earnestly—that he may live to marry you, that so I might feel myself forgiven!" sobbed Janetta.

"But you put your own sense of forgiveness before my happiness," said Clarice, "and so God has not listened."

Before Clarice went to bed that night she had written her letter.

"Good by, dear Harry (were the closing words). Some day, if not at once, you will bless me for setting you free. Looking back, I can see now that you never cared for me as I loved you; and when you met this woman who could stir your heart to its very depths you found it out. Some day I hope I may live to see you married to her."

"Believe me, ever your friend, 'Clarice Seymour.'"

The breaking off of Clarice Seymour's engagement was a nine days' wonder in Northcliff and its neighborhood.

"She chooses to say that it is her own doing," said the gossips; "but, depend upon it, there is more behind than meets the eye. It is not to be wondered at if Captain Merivale turned restive over the evident flirtation that girl carried on with the doctor. Anybody can see with half an eye that he has been head-over-ears in love with her for years past."

Certainly it was a fact Sir Robert made no attempt to conceal at present. He was always back in Northcliff upon some pretext or other; but month after month passed by, and he still waited, not daring to put his fate to the test.

Royal Mint in Canada.

The establishment of a royal mint in Canada will make the fourth branch of the English mint in operation outside of London. The other three ramifications are located in Australia, at Melbourne, Sydney and Perth respectively. According to recently published returns, the value of the gold coin output from these four mints during 1899 was as follows: The royal mint, London, $42,601,555; Melbourne, $28,133,835; Sydney, $16,620,000; Perth $3,458,530. It has also been mooted that the government proposes ultimately to establish another branch in the Transvaal.

Waterfalls to Generate Electricity.

The Adriatic Railway company of Italy has decided to equip electrically two branches of the main line down the coast to Brindisi. These branches extend from the main line toward the interior, where the Apennines furnish abundant water power. In the highlands of Italy there is considerable water power which has never been utilized and it is considered possible to use these falls for the generation of electrical power.

A WEEK IN ILLINOIS

RECORD OF HAPPENINGS FOR SEVEN DAYS.

Interesting Discoveries in Regard to the Early Settlement of Illinois—Work of Illinois Educators—City Tickets Are Named—Arbor Day Set.

Early History of Illinois.

Prof. Edwin Sparks of the University of Chicago recently made a short trip to St. Clair county, Illinois, to look over documents which throw light upon the early history of Illinois and its settlement by the French. He discovered papers of considerable importance to the historical student, but found that the greater part of the wills, testaments and records of the early colonists had been used to kindle fires or relegated to the rubbish heap. The records which he examined, however, throw light upon the history of the French occupation as far back as 1734, and open up a field which has been up to this time unexplored by the Illinois historians. Prof. Sparks will use the data which he collected in connection with his university lectures, and also in a review of Mason's history of Illinois, the standard work upon the history of this state, which he is preparing. Mason's history being incomplete, does not come down to as late a date as 1734, and consequently the notes prepared by Prof. Sparks will form a valuable supplement to it. The town of Belleville, according to Prof. Sparks's description, would be a rich field for the novelist as well as the historian. It is a quaint old place, thronging with suggestions of the old days of La Salle and Tonty, which has resisted in part the inroads of English civilization and preserved many evidences of its French origin. The signs in the shop windows bear French names; many of the family Bibles and church records contain entries written in French, and several of the old buildings and the chapel where the early Frenchmen said their devotions are still standing.

Support Educational Bills.

Centralization of country schools and a moderate degree of state help in the formation of country school libraries is to be the slogan of county superintendents and other educators of Illinois. With this aim in view the teachers will be urged to prevail upon their representatives in the general assembly to support the school bills now pending in the legislature. The centralization plan was recommended by State Superintendent Bayliss, after an investigation of the working of a similar plan in Ohio. Mr. Bayliss also recommended assistance to libraries. At the conference of county superintendents and institute instructors of the state, which has closed at Springfield, it was found that all the leading educators of the state coincide with the views of Mr. Bayliss, and they propose vigorous lobbying for the measures.

City Tickets Are Named.

The Democrats of Joliet have nominated the following city ticket: Mayor, John B. Mount; city clerk, William F. McMasters; city attorney, John W. Downey; treasurer, A. J. Stoops; police magistrate, Henry J. Weber; school inspectors, East side, F. A. Hoover; West side, J. J. Hayes; at large, G. L. Vance. Mount was opposed by John J. Quinn, but won easily, having seventy-one votes, against twenty-one for his opponent. The Democracy of Mattoon in convention nominated the following municipal ticket: Mayor, Dr. Charles B. Fry; treasurer, Jacob Stump, Jr.; attorney, Anderson Stewart; police magistrate, James L. Scott.

Sycamore Bank Is Sold.

The Sycamore National bank has been sold to capitalists who were about to start a third bank there. The principal stockholders will be Henry Stark, Mayor David Syne, Judge Charles Bishop, Clarence Rogers and Charles Walker. David Syne will be president. They take possession April 10. They will probably change the name from National to State bank.

Gains Ten Years in One Day.

In examining the family records a friend of "Uncle Willie" Grier, who lives near Woodlawn, discovered the fact that the old man had made a mistake of ten years in his age and that instead of being but 95 years old he will be 106 next September. Mr. Grier enjoys perfect health and walks long distances unattended. He is probably the oldest man in Illinois.

John's Cue Is Doomed.

According to a resident of Chinatown the statesmen of the flowery kingdom are now considering the advisability of altering the Chinese law which requires Mongolians to wear cues, says the Portland Telegram. The local informant is authority for the statement that the Chinese wore their hair American fashion some 300 years ago, at which time they likewise wore garments similar to those in use in this country today. With a new emperor came an alteration in the two fashions and ever since cues and blouses have been quite the proper thing. Now there it a great agitation for a change back to the old style. The Chinese are of a practical turn of mind and insist that too much time is required to dress their long braids. There is considerable objection to the style now in vogue, and so persistent for a change has become the demand that it is likely the law establishing the style of head dress will be altered. It is stated that the Chinese will not wear their hair long, but that their heads will be kept shaven. Only indefinite rumors of the proposed change have been received from the old country, but local Chinese express the belief that the present unpopular style will be abolished.

INDIAN MISSIONARY'S STORY.

Years of Toilsome Ministry Among the Choctaws.

Little York, Ind., April 1.—(Special).—Twenty-five years ago the Rev. C. H. Thompson left Indiana. For a time he preached in Arkansas, afterwards entering on the regular missionary work among the Choctaw Indians.

For five years he lived and labored among the full bloods of the western prairies, until on April 5th, 1885, having lost his wife, he left the circuit on which he had preached so long, and commenced traveling missionary work among the Indians of the various tribes scattered in the west.

This irregular work involved a great deal of travel over the prairie. The drinking of so much alkali water, brought on kidney troubles which terminated in Diabetes.

Finally, while laboring among the Creek Indians at Wagoner, Indian Territory, this noble man was stricken down completely. A Chicago specialist was summoned, and after a careful examination declared that there was not the slightest chance of his recovery. Besides the prescriptions of the doctors he tried many other medicines, but all to no avail. He says:

"I had concluded that my days were drawing to a close, when I picked up an almanac telling of the cures of Diabetes by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I sent for two boxes. I gained strength and spirits from the time I commenced to use them, and so I sent for more. I am now completely cured, and have not the slightest symptom of my old trouble."

"I am 68 years of age. I tell everybody of the wonders Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me. I can certainly endorse them heartily, and vouch that they are all that is claimed for them. They have certainly been a God-send to me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only Remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy and they never fail.

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. AMONG THE RAILWAYS.

Rock Island Will Run Cheap Excursions to Colorado.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, which made a phenomenal success of cheap excursion rates to Colorado last season, has again asked its competitors in the Western and Southwestern Passenger associations to agree upon a series of cheap excursions to and from Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo, for the approaching season, on the following basis: Tickets to be sold from Chicago and all territory up to Missouri river, June 18, 25, July 16, 23 and 30, Aug. 6, 13, 20 and 27, at rate of one fare plus $2, or $31.50 for the round trip.

On July 2 and 9 and Sept. 3 and 10 a rate of $25 is to be made from Chicago, and $15 from Missouri river points for the round trip. Intermediate territory will have proportionate rates. Tickets are to be sold from Missouri river points one day later than the dates given above in each case. Proportionate rates will be made to and from Glenwood Springs, Salt Lake City and Ogden.

A series of east-bound excursions is also proposed, tickets to be sold from Colorado common points every Thursday, commencing with June 20 up to and including Sept. 12, at a rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip. All tickets will be limited to return passage to Oct. 31. These rates will be tendered connecting lines for basing purposes, which will probably insure a very low basis of rates throughout the United States for these excursions.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific will unquestionably make these rates and arrangements effective, regardless of the action of its competitors, and will run special trains, only one night out to and from Colorado, on the dates named.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Home-Seekers' Excursions.

On the first and third Tuesdays of each month the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway will sell round-trip excursion tickets from Chicago, Milwaukee and other points on its line to a great many points in South Dakota, North Dakota and other Western and Northwestern States at about one fare. Take a trip west and see the wonderful crops and what an amount of good land can be purchased for a little money. Further information as to rates, routes, prices of farm lands, etc., may be obtained by addressing F. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Ill.

AGUINALDO IS CAPTURED

Philippine Chief Taken by the Americans.

FALLS INTO FUNSTON'S NET.

Chase of Months Results in the Trapping of Leader of Insurrection—Gen. MacArthur Treats the Prisoner with the Greatest Consideration.

Emilio Aguinaldo, leader of the Filipino army and head and shoulders of the islanders' insurrection, is a prisoner in the hands of the Americans. Gen. Frederick Funston has crowned his brilliant record in the Philippines by directing in person the final hunt that has ended the flight of the fugitive of Isabella, in southern Luzon, where he led the expedition. He silently worked out his plans, caught his man and brought him in. General MacArthur at Manila Wednesday morning on the United States gunboat Vicksburg. Commander E. B. Barry.

Story of Aguinaldo's Capture.

Following are the details of the capture of Aguinaldo by General Funston: On Jan. 14 a detachment of General Funston's troops captured at Punta Bangan, province of Nueva Ecija, a messenger from Aguinaldo's headquarters at Palanan, Isabella province, who was carrying letters to the various insurgent chiefs asking them to send reinforcements. On Feb. 8 one of Aguinaldo's staff officers surrendered to Lieutenant Taylor of the Twenty-fourth infantry. This officer had in his possession valuable correspondence, which told of Aguinaldo's whereabouts and of the strength of the force with him. One of the letters was addressed to Balduino Aguinaldo, ordering him to take command of the insurgents in central Luzon and to send 400 riflemen to Aguinaldo's headquarters. Upon learning the nature of the correspondence, General Funston immediately conceived the plan of equipping a number of native troops who would pass themselves off as the ex-oned for three days, surreptitiously giving orders at night. After many more adventures the Tagalos entered the house where Aguinaldo was. Suddenly the Spanish officer, noticing that Aguinaldo's aid was watching the Americans suspiciously, exclaimed, "Now, Macabebes, go for them." The Macabebes opened fire, but their aim was rather ineffective, and only three insurgents were killed. The rebels returned the fire. On hearing the firing, Aguinaldo, who evidently thought his men were merely celebrating the arrival of re-enforcements, ran to the window and shouted, "Stop that foolishness; quit wasting ammunition."

Hilario Placido, one of the Tagalog officers, and a former insurgent major, who was wounded in the lung by the fire of the Kansas regiment at the battle of Calocan, threw his arms around Aguinaldo, exclaiming, "You are a prisoner of the Americans!" Col. Simeon Villa, Aguinaldo's chief of staff, Major Alambra, and others, attacked the men who were holding Aguinaldo. Placido shot Villa in the shoulder. Alambra jumped out of the window and attempted to cross the river. It is supposed that he was drowned. Five other insurgent officers fought for a few minutes and then fled, making their escape. When the firing began General Funston assumed command and directed the attack on the house, personally assisting in the capture of Aguinaldo. The insurgent body guard fled, leaving twenty rifles. Santiago Barcelona, the insurgent treasurer, surrendered without resistance.

More Filipinos Quit the Struggle.

The War Department has received the following dispatch: "Manila, March 29.—Brigadier-General William A. Kobbé reports surrender at Sumalao, Mindanao, of nine officers, 160 men, 187 rifles, eighty shot-guns, Capistrano's command. This ends trouble in Mindanao as far as Filipinos are concerned.

"Brigadier General Robert P. Hughes reports Alikpall and Ruiz, thirty-four guns, surrendered to Captain David G. Shanks, Eighteenth United States Infantry, at Mauburao. Two hundred and six guns Fullon's command surrendered to Lieutenant Colonel William S. Scott, Forty-fourth United States Volunteers.

Large Army to Be Maintained.

The army in the Philippines will be retained 50,000 strong for months to come. The establishment of a civil government will not relieve the war department of the necessity of keeping strong garrisons at the more important places. The army now numbers about 74,000 soldiers, 50,000 being in the Philippines or on the way there, 5,000 in Cuba, 1,000 in Alaska, 670 in Porto Rico and about 11,000 in the United States.

Boers Plan Big Coup.

That General French is to have determined opposition in the Transvaal and that he will have to fight for his foothold there is indicated by dispatches received from both Cape Town and Brussels. These advices are that a body of 12,000 men has been collected and that the entire force will be under the personal command of Generals Botha and Dewet, who will join the army at once for the purpose of undertaking a long, hard campaign.

GENERAL FREDERICK FUNSTON

thur was sitting in his headquarters Wednesday morning when a gaunt, haggard and discouraged native in a frayed uniform adorned with a general's chevrons entered accompanied by General Funston. The Kansas fighter said quietly and with no semblance of exultation or boasting: "General, this is Chief Aguinaldo." The American commander gasped incredulously. But when he peered a second time at the tall countenance of the indomitable Filipino he realized that the object for which more than a year of time and the efforts of thousands of soldiers had been expended fruitlessly was attained at last. The commander's first utterance was that the insurrection would die out as soon as the hostile natives learned for a certainty that their leader was a prisoner. He had an immediate audience with Aguinaldo, whom he treated with great consideration. General MacArthur, however, would not divulge anything that passed during the conversation. The most rigid precautions were taken to guard against any attempt at escape on the part of Aguinaldo or of any of his faithful adherents to rescue him. The end of General Funston's chase came on March 23. He had just begun to carry out his daring project when it was unexpectedly consummated. He was scouting with a small force in Isabella province, when he ran into the hiding place of Aguinaldo.

GEN. EMILIO AGUINALDO.

The native leader was attended only by a few followers and made no resistance when called upon to yield. He was at once conveyed to Funston's camp and a start was made for Manila. The important prisoner arrived

"I Followed Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Now I am Well"

A woman is sick—some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story.

She holds back something, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and this completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it a wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. This is the reason why hundreds of thousands of women are now in correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can give every symptom, so that when she is ready to advise them she is in possession of more facts from her correspondence with the patient than the physician can possibly obtain through a personal interview.

Following we publish a letter from a woman showing the result of a correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. All such letters are considered absolutely confidential by Mrs. Pinkham, and are never published in any way or manner without the consent in writing of the patient; but hundreds of women are so grateful for the health which Mrs. Pinkham and her medicine have been able to restore to them that they not only consent to publishing their letters, but write asking that this be done in order that other women who suffer may be benefited by their experience.

Mrs. Ella Rice, Chelsea, Wis., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I was troubled with falling and inflammation of the womb. I suffered very much with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and was not able to do anything. What I endured no one knows but those who have suffered as I did. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I doctored with the physicians of this town for three months and grew worse instead of better. My husband and friends wished me to write to you, but I had no faith in patent medicines. At last I became so bad that I concluded to ask your advice. I received an answer at once advising me to take your Vegetable Compound, and I did so. Before I had taken two bottles I felt better, and after I had taken five bottles there was no happier woman on earth, for I was well again. I know that your Vegetable Compound cured me, and I wish to advise every woman who suffers as I did to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Believe me always grateful for the recovery of my health."—MRS. ELLA RICE, Chelsea, Wis.

consisting of Harrows, Plows, Corn Planters, Cultivators, Disc Harrows, Stalk Cutters, etc., etc. These goods have a "World Wide Reputation" and need no encomium further than to call your attention to some of the latest improvements and additions to their variety.

THE

are of the highest quality. The aim, in the construction of this implement, has been that it should be free from ALL weak points of other High Lift Plows; that it should not only possess all their good features, but also original and striking characteristics of its own.

That they have succeeded in their purpose, however, the enthusiastic commendation which the implement has received at the hands of farmers who have used them, is agreeable and convincing proof; and if the combination of nothing but the very best material obtainable with the greatest possible care in construction, supplemented by a thorough knowledge of the correct principles, gained by many years of experience in plow building, counts for anything, then we can truthfully say that the "COLUMBIA" is not only the peer but the superior of any other plow on the market.

The "DEFIANCE" Steel Frame Disc Harrow.

No Harrow contains, or could be built with fewer pieces. The cross frames are made of two heavy, flat bars, united in the form of a truss, which gives the greatest possible strength, in proportion to material used.

Planters,

If every important feature which could be desired in a Corn Planter is kept in mind by an intending purchaser, while making a selection, and objections so common in many now on the market are not lost sight of, the "ROCK ISLAND" will always be taken as combining more good points and having less bad ones than any other.

Cultivators,

The "BULLY BOY" Hammock Seat Riding Cultivator is a wonderful combination of Simplicity, Strength and Utility. The name is suggestive of the supreme satisfaction which the above tool affords to any one who operates it.

Stalk Cutter,

The "Rock Island" steel frame, double row stalk cutter is, without doubt, one of the most efficient and desirable implements for cutting corn stalks that has ever been placed before the farmer. For easy riding, easy handling and thorough work they cannot be excelled.

Wagons,

Having been unable to find any better wagon on the market, we shall continue to keep constantly on hand a full line of this well known make, "The STUGHTON."

You are also invited to investigate the merits of the "MILLER" manure spreader. We do not hesitate in saying that it will give you much better service than any other spreader manufactured. We put it out on its merits.

Sluggards.

"Why stand ye here all the day idle?"
Is it because you do not see anything to do for the Lord?"

"Lift up thine eyes and look on the fields."

Is it because you want a more conspicuous and honorable job?"

"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much."

Is it because someone else has more talents? Use the one you have lest it be taken from you.

Is it because others can do it better? "To every man His work." "Let no man take thy crown."

Is it because there are difficulties in the way? "We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us."

Is it because you do not always see the results as you desire? "My word shall not return to Me void." "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Will it be easier to begin the Christian life or Christian service tomorrow? "Now is the accepted time." "To-day if ye will."

Will God excuse you for neglect another hour? "The door was shut."

Why? The reward is so liberal.

Why? The Master is so kind.

Why? The time of working is so short.

Ellwood's Interests are DeKalb's.

He Goes Forth to Meet the Arch Enemy on his own Heath.

Much has been said by all the papers in the country including the Chicago papers, regarding Col. I. L. Ellwood and his troubles with the Billion Dollar Steel trust.

The recent action of the trust in ordering the mills at DeKalb closed is good evidence that Ellwood's troubles are DeKalb's and in consequence their minds are at work to find some way in which their great industries will not become extinct, in which case it would not take a telescope to see into the distance to tell what would be the result to our already over-grown sister town.

Mr. Ellwood with his keen foresight has scented the danger afar off and with his two trusted attorneys has gone to New York to meet the enemy on their own ground. What the outcome will be is watched for by DeKalb and DeKalb county and also by many other concerns throughout the country which are in danger of being "troze out" by the "trust octopus."

He'll be Missed.

Eld. B. L. DeGries may Find That his Health is not Sufficient to Continue His Work.

The many friends of Eld. B. L. DeGries, pastor of the Advent Christian church of this place, will be much distressed to learn of his contemplated resignation of his charge.

Elder and Mrs. DeGries came to Genoa last June and took hold of the work of the church with much vim and determination and by their efforts have brought the standing of the congregation up to a good standard and on a better footing than it has enjoyed for a long time.

He is a young man of rare abilities as a public speaker and a devout man, but as his appearance indicates is somewhat frail in bodily health.

The amount of work which has devolved upon him to meet the task which was placed before him, he finds may prove too much and may compel him to withdraw in which case the people of Genoa will lose an able minister of the gospel.

OUR CITY WATER ANALYZED.

It Shows "Good Appearance, No Color, No Odor and has a Very White Residue."

Our letter last week in regard to "Pure Water" in connection with the following analysis of a specimen of our city water that was sent to the Dearborn Laboratories of Edgar & Carr, of Chicago goes to show that Genoa is blessed with the best article in the state in the way of drinking water. This analysis has been obtained through Mr. Thos. G. Sager, who has kindly furnished us with a copy which we give below in full.

Report of Analysis of Specimen of Water
Marker-City Water
(Well 1500 Feet)

Received from T. G. Sager, Genoa, Ills.
Chicago March 26, 1901.

MINERAL ANALYSIS.

		Grains Per Gallon.
Silica,	.064	" " "
Oxide of Iron and Aluminium,	.169	" " "
Carbonate of Lime,	9.233	" " "
Carbonate of Magnesia,	6.551	" " "
Sodium and Potassium Sulphates,	.935	" " "
Sodium and Potassium Chlorides,	None	" " "
Sodium and Potassium Carbonates,	1.385	" " "

18.337

Contains a little less than 18 3/4 grains of solid matter, per U. S. wine gallon of 231 cubic inches.

SANITARY ANALYSIS.

Appearance, Good; Color, None; Odor, None; Residue, Very White.
Free Ammonia,	.36 Parts per Million.
Albuminoid Ammonia,	.11 " " "
Nitrogen as Nitrates,	.33 " " "
Nitrogen as Nitrates,	None.
Colorine as Chlorides,	None.
Oxygen consumed in ten minutes,	.70 " " "

This water is a very desirable one for drinking, potable and domestic uses. The comparatively low Ammonias, together with the absence of chloride and very low oxygen consumed, show the entire absence of any organic matter of animal origin and not more than a mere trace of vegetable matter; it is also void of all pathogenic bacteria.

The Lime and Magnesia Carbonates are present in sufficient quantities to make it very palatable and much below the amounts necessary to cause and deleterious effects on the system even if consumed in large quantities as a drinking water.

Secures Road for Cut-off.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 30.—The Milwaukee Journal to-day says: The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road has closed a ninety-nine-year traffic agreement over the Davenport, Rock Island & Northwestern. The Journal's authority for the statement is President A. J. Earling of the St. Paul road. The deal is said to be one of the most important in years made by that road.

The new line acquired by the company extends for fifty-five miles from Clinton, Iowa, to Davenport, Rock Island and Moline. It is fully equipped with rolling stock, has a fine roadbed and is a complete railway system in itself. It will form one of the most valuable branches of the Milwaukee road, as it is to become part of the Kansas City cut-off, and will secure a shorter route for the road from Chicago to Kansas City.

Organizing Milk Shippers.

The officers of the Milk Shippers' union are actively at work securing contracts from all dairymen within a radius of 75 miles of Chicago, agreeing to handle the entire milk product from the time it reaches the platforms in Chicago until the products is paid, for the union to receive one cent per can for this work.

There are 10,200 cans of milk sent daily to Chicago. The Northwestern carries 1,300 cans daily on the main-line milk train, an equal amount on the Lake Geneva branch; the Great Western milk train carries 1,150 cans daily. The town of Hampshire alone ships seven carloads of milk per day. Starks station and Lily Lake both ship one-half this amount.

Milk sours if sent to a greater distance than 80 miles. President Homb of Sycamore organized the shippers of Virgil, Lily Lake, Richardson and Sycamore, Saturday at Sycamore.
