MEALS FOR A DAY.

For the first meal of the day, a little fruit of some kind is a good beginning. If fresh fruits, such as oranges, grapefruit, apples or pears are not at hand, a tablespoonful or two of raisins, steamed and added to the oatmeal or stewed prunes are all good and desirable breakfast fruits.

With an aimost endless variety of breakfast foods, one may have a different kind every morning, if the family is large enough to practice this method without waste.

For the hot dish, eggs are always good, and may be cooked in as many ways as there are days in the year. Bacon is a breakfast meat, and if liked can be served daily without losing its charm. Sausage, chops and fish of various kinds are other breakfast meats. Mackerel is a great favorite. When the fresh fish cannot be obtained the salted fish makes a fairly good substitute. Stak the fish over night, or until much of the salt is removed, then bake in the oven for 20 minutes, covered with thin cream. Serve hot with bits of butter.

With toast, cakes, muffins, doughnuts, cookies and good coffee, one may find a choice for the first meal.

Favors a National Budget System; All Sense of Values Has Departed.

I am heartily in favor of a budget system. Without effective control over governmental expenditures and limitation of them to the government's income we shall bring down upon our heads the splendid structure which our fathers have built and which we have pre-

Forecast of Supremacy of Chicago as Financial Metropolis of Nation

By J. C. WOODHULL, Formerly of War Trade Board

Chicago has tributary to it the domain of an empire. The area drained by the Mississippi river and its tributaries, with its navigable lakes and rivers, unlimited water power, fertile soil, inexhaustible mineral deposits and forest growth, coupled with the enterprise and energy of its people, has developed this region into the largest productive area of raw young animals, is also in lettuce, spin- fruit, fresh or dried, with a cereal materials in the world.

A summary shows that more than half of the population of the United States lives in this great valley. It contains 70 per cent of the eggs are scarce. farm acreage of the nation, 75 per cent of its manufacturing industries, and the combined railroad systems in mileage and value represent 70 per cent of all its similar property. It produces 75 per cent of the wheat, 80 per cent of the hogs, 75 per cent of the cattle, 50 per cent of the sheep, 50 gravies without saying anything about per cent of the wool, 70 per cent of the cotton, 70 per cent of the oil, 90 it. For example, make milk stews or per cent of the iron ore, 50 per cent of the lumber, and 60 per cent of the

The commanding position of Chicago, the financial center of this aggregation of potential wealth and boundless possibilities, determines its destiny as the future headquarters of the export business of the United States. As a result of the war a famine of raw materials and manufactured products prevails the world over, and the supply available for export in any considerable quantity is to be found only in the main producing territory of the United States, the basin of the Mississippi valley.

There exists no other equal area whose production exceeds this, and with such a constant inflow of wealth, can there be any question as to the supremacy of Chicago as the future financial metropolis of the United States?

Estimated Loss of Million Dollars Daily if Insect Once Gets Established.

Larva Is Dirty White Caterpillar, About One Inch Long, With Brown Head-Ears of Corn Are Bored Through.

A million dollars' worth of damage a day is conservatively estimated as the effect of the European corn borer if it once gets established in the corn belt of the United States. This is the statement of George A. Dean, head of the entomology department in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

The insect, which has done tremer lous damage in Europe and Asia, has been introduced into New York and Massachusetts and is looked for in

GRASSHOPPERS MAKE FINE POULTRY FEED

Especially Relished by Turkeys and Guinea Fowls.

Fowls Consume Millions of Destructive Insects During Course of Year With Minimum Amount of Trouble to Farmers.

Grasshoppers are beginning to pay ig cash dividends in North Dakota through the medium of poultry, especially in turkeys and guinea fowls. The experiment has been successfully tried at the state agricultural college and numerous farmers have taken the cue.

Market.

Wherever there are green fields there are grasshoppers and other insects. G. R. Greaves of the agricul tural college, who has conducted the experiments, says:

"It seems the inexorable law of nature that wherever there is something good to eat there is something to eat It, and man's existence is a continual struggle for supremacy over the creatures that are determined to consume the food he requires."

During past years in North Dakota. prairie chickens, sage hens and grouse held the grasshoppers in check, and their plumpness and the delicious quality of their meat attested to the uperiority of their food.

Now the prairie chickens especially are going the way of the buffalo, and Mr. Greaves was assigned to find a substitute that would keep down the insect pests with a minimum of trouble and expense to the farmer. The answer is turkeys and guineas. Mr. Greaves declares that flocks of turkeys and guineas consume millions of grasshoppers and other insect pests, and naturally do their own foraging-Early in the season the experimental flocks at the agricultural college have grown fat and strong on the young insects.

Later in the season they have received the abundant exercise necessary for their proper market conditioning by chasing the elusive hoppers, have saved the field corps and provided a new, big source of income.

"Three old turkeys kept through one winter," said Mr. Greaves, "produced a flock of young turkeys the following season which kept the fields near their house clear of grasshoppers, and fulfilled their destiny by gracing Thanks giving tables."

According to Minnesota Expert It Is Best to Deepen Furrows Gradually Each Year.

The nature of the soil and the crop to be grown should determine the ques tion of whether to plow deeply or more shallow. As with most other farm problems, the farm operator's judg ment and experience must be called into play in determining which practice is best on any farm.

Andrew Boss, vice director of the Minnesota experiment station, believes that deep furrows turned on edge, or three-quarters over," furnish the best conditions for pulverizing and sweeten ing the soil. "It is not good practice." he says, "to deepen the plowing great ly in any one year. It is better to deepen it by one-half inch or an inch each year until a sufficient depth has been reached. Rarely is it necessary to plow winds, and insulate hives to retain the deeper than seven or eight inches, exheat generated by the bees. A grove cept for certain deep-rooted crops like

FALLACIOUS IDEA OF SHEEP

Animals Will Consume More Weeds and Shrubs Than Other Animals, but Need Some Feed.

Many farmers who have failed with sheep have gone into the business with the fullacious idea that sheep will eat invthing, simply because some misin formed person started the tale. Sheep will consume more weeds and shrubs than any other class of animals, but to turn them into the woodlot and expect them to thrive on sprouts and dry leaves is asking too much of their di gestive systems. However, there is usually waste land on most farms on which the sheep may be kept at certain periods of the year very profitably.

CONSERVATION OF HEALTH MADE EASY

If your stomach is out of ordera don't blame it! Be sincere and avow that you are guilty of so many trespasses against proper living and proper food that the poor misused stomach must rebel! What to do? Well, read the following lines: "St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 7, 1919. Whenever I have some stomach trouble, I go at once to my druggist for Triner's American Elixic of Bitter Wine, and in 2-3 days I am again all right, Yours Henry Cerveny, Ross St." Try this remedy and you will see that Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is a health-builder and a health-keeper that makes the conservation of health really easy. You can have full confidence in all Triner's remedies. Joseph Triner Company, 1333-43 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., is a reliable firm. The U.S. government placed orders with it in 1917 and 1918 for great quantities of various medicinal preparations, and the orders were executed with scrupulous care.

Unhappy Faculty. "Some people have a faculty for saving the wrong thing." "I was that way at school."

The big thing in life's battles is the County branches of the state or morale. You may have the men and ganization have already been formed the guns, but if the men lack the in a dozen counties of the state and ginger they are impediments to attainmeeting for the organization of ment. It is easy to do things when you are on the winning side. The trouble begins to brew when things go wrong. Anybody can go with the current. It's breasting the tide that shows where strength lies, and muscular strength is the least side of it. When the brain is right and nerve control dependable you can make machines do muscular tasks. There are few things that man's regenuity has not submitted to mechanical control. So the problem of today is to keep the head right. It means more than keen thinking. There are men of the keenest intellect who ueed the constant urge of right morale.

Plant All Animals Hate.

A most interesting plant is the Virginia wild ginger. There are several other species, as far south as Florida and northward to Connecticut. The plant grows in very hilly and wooded places, says the American Forestry Magazine, and is easily recognized by its kidney-shaped leaves and curious much more than average laborer's purplish brown flowers. These flowers wage. Good pay while learning. Steady married men preferred. Apwill eat the bitter leaves, and you rarely see the flower unless you hunt for it, for it hides itself out of sight Woodruff & Edwards Co. if possible.

There can be no such thing in the highest sense as a home, unless you own it. There must be an incentive to plant trees, to beautify the grounds, to preserve and improve. It elevates a man to own a home. It gives a certain independence, a force of character, that is obtained in no other way. A man without a home feels like a passenger. There is in such a man a little of the vagrant. Home makes patriots. He who has sat by his own fireside with wife and children, will defend it. When he hears the word country pronounced, he thinks

"Few men have been patriotic enough to shoulder a musket in defense of a boarding house.

"The prosperity and glory of our country depend upon the number of our people who are the owners of homes. Around the fireside cluster the private and the public virtues of our race."

BY DOCTOR CRIPPS It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told

It was recom-mended to me very highly to break up a cold when my friends thought I was coming down with the influenza, and it certainly did break up my cold, so that I feel sure it warded off a sick spell. Bitter Waters and Sweet: Farm Water Systems KITCHEN WITH MODERN WATER SYSTEM DELIGHT OF THE FARMER'S WIFE. (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

AERE is Scriptural authority for the statement that bitter waters and sweet do not flow from the same fountain. The same truth applies to wells on the farm. Sewage Disposal.

Popular indifference to the effective disposal tratively recent years has

of sewage has existed so long and so universally

it been realized that this waste product of human life is poisonous and must be kept from the food and drink of man. From the specific germs or poison that may be carried in sewage at any time there may result typhoid fever tuberculosis, hookworm disease, cholera, dysentery, diarrhea, or other ailments, and it is not improbable

that certain obscure maladies may be traced eventually to the poisonous effects of drainage from human waste. The poison is invisible to the naked eye, and it may be carried by many agencies, by devious routes, and be unsuspectingly received into the human body. Typhoid fever is peculiarly rural disease, and many instances clearly indicate serious neglect of responsibility with regard

o sanitation by people who live in the country.

Not to dispose of sewage promptly invites nuisance, but not to dispose of sewage cleanly and completely invites disease. It is not enough that human filth is taken 50, 75, 100, or 150 feet away from a well or spring, or that it is taken merely to lower ground. Given loose or open subsoil, seamy ledge, or long-continued pollution of one plat of ground, the zone of contamination is likely to extend and readily may reach quite distant wells, especially at such times as well waters are lowered by drought or heavy pumping. Whatever the system of sewage disposal, it should be entirely and widely separated from the water supply, and, if possible,

the surface of the sewage in any leaky privy,

vault or cesspool should be lower than the lowest water in any near-by well. The United States department of agriculture has prepared bulletin No. 712, from its 1916 Yearbook, entitled "Sewage Disposal on the Farm," which gives details regarding various types of outhouses, suggestions regarding plumbing, cesspools, septic tanks, and related subjects. This pamphlet will

Pure Water the Need.

One of the first and obvious needs of American farms is pure water supply. From the standpoint of the housewife, second only in imortance to purity, is the installation of a water

Continued pumping will not improve water in est safeguards are clean ground, and as wide separations as possible from the probable channels

Water for domestic use should be clean, lustrous, odorless, colorless, wholesome, soft, neither strongly acid nor alkaline, and its temperature for general farm purposes should be about 50 degrees. These characteristics, however, are never proof of purity, for a glass of water may possess them all and yet contain millions of disease-

Ground water is the ideal supply for the farm. Any farmer who is about to have a deep well, and who is uncertain of the depth and quantity or quality of the water likely to be encountered, should describe fully the location and condition of his project to national or state geologi-ment of agriculture indicate that only a small derground water is without merit, although "forked-stick" artists from experience often are better able to judge the probabilities of ground water than the average person.

Various Kinds of Wells.

Wells are spoken of as shallow or deep, dug, bored, driven, or drilled, and in the case of tubular wells, as nonflowing, flowing, or artesian. Persons interested in the various types of wells and their construction, advantages, disadvantages, etc., will find the subject treated in Farmers' Bulletin No 941

Wherever possible, the farmhouse should be fitted with some sort of running-water system, simple or elaborate, according to the investment the owner is able to make. For such systems water may be raised by natural flow, hydraulic rams, pumps, air lifts, or air-displacement pumps, Hydraulic rams are the most economical waterlifting devices. Since rams of various sizes and makes perform differently, it usually is necessary to accept the mechanical details determined by the manufacturer. The minimum, never more than the average, flow of the spring should determine the size of the ram. Otherwise, the one selected may be too large for the dry-weather flow. Small flows may be determined by noting the time required to fill a vessel of known capacity. Larger flows may be determined by weir measurements.

When the water supply is far from the ram site, it is usual to pipe the flow to an open tank or reservoir located so as to secure the desired length and fall of drive pipe. Sometimes the flow of a spring is too small to actuate a ram that is sufficient for domestic requirements. In such instances and where a nearby brook can be dammed to obtain the necessary power head, the recoil of the ram may be employed to admit the spring water, which is pumped by a fall of the brook water to the pipe drive.

Motion of water produces friction, which increases with the length and roughness of the pipe and the rapidity of the water's movement. Hence, wherever much water is to be delivered through a long pipe the power or head necessary to overcome friction should be determined. The bulletin mentioned before (Farmers' Bulletin No. 941) contains a table which shows the friction head; that is, the number of feet to be added to the vertical height for each 100 feet of iron pipe (not new) to overcome friction when discharging given quantities of water.

Selection of Pump. In the selection of a pump one should determine the kind of well to be used, its inside diameter, depth to the bottom, the depth cased, depth to the water level, both when the pump is at rest and in operation, and the maximum yield. The maximum quantity of water required per day should be calculated also. One should also determine the distance from the well to the proposed location of the pump and the vertical height between these points; likewise the distance from the pump to the reservoir or tank and the vertical height between these points. The kind of power to be employed should be settled upon also-hand power, windmill, gasoline or oil engines, or electric motors-and the method of transmitting the power. Farm pumps usually are of the suction, lift, force, deep-well type or some combination of these. Suction and lift pumps do not raise water above the pump nor discharge it under pressure. Suction pumps require the cylinder to be above the water level of the supply. If a perfect vacuum could be created within the cylinder water could be raised vertically by suction 33.9 feet at sea level. However, the actual suction lift is usually not more than two-thirds of the theoretical lift. Methods of making tight joints are described in the bulletin referred to.

Horizontal suction pipes may extend long distances, providing the friction loss plus the vertical height from the water level to pump valve does not exceed the limiting suction lift. Where a pump cannot be placed so that the limiting suction lift will not be exceeded, it is necessary to lower the pump cylinder into the well, raising the water from the cylinder to the spout by the direct lift of the piston. Water can be pushed more easily than it can be pulled, hence, rather than resort to extreme suction lifts it is preferable to lower the cylinder to within 15 feet or less of the supply, or still better to submerge it.

SIMPLIFIED ELEVATION SHOWING SEWERAGE SYSTEM AND CESSPOOL BATH ROOM OUTFIT ON 4-INCH STACK

SINK AND LAUNDRY TUB ON 2 INCH STACK SHOWING AIR PRESSURE SYSTEM WITH HOT AND COLD WATER

RUNNING TO FIXTURES.

Where water is discharged against pressure a force pump is necessary. A practical installa-tion for the kitchen sink is a combined suction and force pump which will be found a great !abor saver for the housewife.

Deep-Well Pumps.

Deep-well pumps are heavier and stronger than those described above. They may be of the lift or force type and the standard or working head is always directly over the well. The cylinder should be near (within 15 feet) or else below water level which pumping and drought may create. Submergence is the preferable arrangement. In all installations the size of the pumping cylinder must be determined from the size, depth, and yielding power of the well, the quantity of water required, and the available power. Deep wells and hand or windwill outfits take small cylinders.

Pumping by means of compressed air is very old, but the systems used prior to 1909 required the air supply to be turned on or shut off according to whether or not the water was needed Based on a patent granted in that year, a twocylinder air-displacement pump submerged in the water supply and controlled by the opening and closing of the faucet, was devised. The essental parts of installation, besides such a pump are an air compressor, storage tank, engine or mofor-with air and water pipes, and minor attachments. The pump operates only when water is used, starting whenever a faucet is opened and continuing until all faucets are closed.

The chief advantage of air-displacement pumps is that water may be taken from ordinary depth or lateral distance, or from several sources, with one power outfit and delivered direct from the well to the faucet. The power plant may be located wherever convenient and as many pumps may be used as there are sources of water. Both hard and soft water may be delivered by using double as another monarch did, if we offers to his mother are often clabtwo pumps and the necessary piping systems. ent to lifts much over 125 feet or to wells 'oss Queen Elizabeth and Darnley were in making Edith angry. The use of electricity for pumping is increasing. The method is clean, quiet, and convenient, and starting or stopping a distant pump by throwing a switch may be prac- the cake. tical wherever transmission lines are sufficiently

The theoretical horsepower needed to raise water is found by multiplying the gallons pumped In one minute by the total lift, in feet, including friction in both suction and discharge pipes, and then dividing the product by 4,000. The horsepower, as computed, should be multiplied by from two to four to overcome losses in pumping and still allow for a reserve of power. Ordinarily one to two horsepower engines are sufficient for farm pumps, but it is always safest to determine this point by computation.

An advantage to be derived from the well-installed farm water system often overlooked is the benefit it affords in the way of fire prevention. With relatively small expenditure, fixtures can be added to a pipe system, which give ready access to the water supply for fighting flames. In almost every case a fire can be easily put out if discovered at its early stage, providing there 's fire-fighting apparatus near by, and all hands, even the children, are taught and drilled to use such apparatus coolly and skillfully.

CONCRETE ON THE FARM.

If there is any one thing more than another that has aided the farmer in making his farmstead more attractive, his live stock more comfortable and his farm more valuable, it is concrete on the farm. It is one of the most economical and suitable farm-building materials. In permanency it cannot be surpassed. In fact, it is unequaled in this one respect. Concrete is also one of the biggest factors in making buildings rat and mouse proof. Needless to say, rats and mice have always been a constant menace to the farmers' grain bins and corncribs, but the widespread use of concrete on the farm has greatly reduced the damage done to stored grains.

Perhaps the greatest value of concrete, however, is the fact that it can be mixed by the farmer himself. Instead of having to depend upon expensive masons and carpenters he can employ his spare time in concrete construction, because concrete work is something that anyone can learn with a little practice.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and % oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize — once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies -- cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go - how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires — as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory

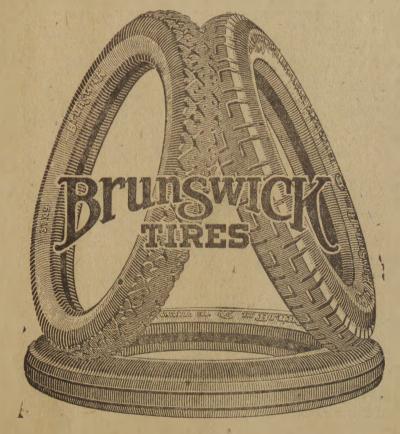

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.
