SAID TO OWE $30,000

Alleged Claim of Northwestern Road Against Alexander Dowie

The story was current yesterday that John Alexander Dowie owes the Northern railway company fully $30,000, which the company has been unable to collect. It was stated that E. O. Meyers, the station agent at Zion City, went to New York and when the Northwestern sent a man to take his place the accounts were examined and the discrepancy discovered.

The story goes further and says that all Dowie's working for the railroad company were discharged, and notice was served that hereafter freight would not be delivered at Zion City unless the charges were prepaid. Second Vice President Kirkman of the railway company says there are no charges of irregularity against the Dowie agent.—Elgin Courier.

PASSED TO THE OTHER WORLD

Fred T. Robinson and Mrs. James A. Risdon Passed from this Life.—Funerals Are Largely Attended.—Services Were Impressive.

FRED T. ROBINSON

On Friday morning of last week, a cloud of sorrow spread over the community when the death of Fred T. Robinson, which occurred at 5 o'clock, was announced. Although Mr. Robinson had lingered between life and death for seven days, it was hoped that he would survive.

In the departure of this useful life, Genoa will lose one of its best citizens, and a man who was most highly esteemed by his fellow men.

The deceased was born at Keysville, N. Y., July 19, 1850, and was the son of Hiram and Aurilla Robinson. Mr. Robinson spent his boyhood days in his native state and attended school in or near Keysville until the age of fourteen years. He then spent one year at Mason College, Terrebonne, near Montreal, and in an academy at Plattsburg, N. Y. After leaving school, he clerked in a drug store at Saranac and Clayburg, N. Y., and in 1874 came west to Chicago, where he again engaged as a clerk in a drug store, and in the meantime studying pharmacy. In 1881, he came to Genoa where he formed a partnership with W. P. VanAlstine in the drug business, in the meantime continuing his studies in pharmacy, graduating from the Chicago College of Pharmacy in 1885. He then bought his partner's interest in the store, since which time he has continued in the business alone.

Mr. Robinson was first married in Genoa in 1879 to Miss Ada VanAlstine, who died in 1885, leaving one son, Fred Garfield. In 1886, he married Miss Anna McCormick. She died in April, 1894, leaving one daughter, Hazel Frances. In June of last year, the deceased was united in marriage with Janett Parsons, who survives.

Fraternally, Mr. Robinson was a member of Genoa lodge A. F. & A. M., the Chapter and Commandery of Sycamore, the Consistory of Freeport, the Tebla Temple, Mystic Shrine at Rockford, the Eastern Star lodge of Genoa.

In February, 1864, Mr. Robinson enlisted in the Sixteenth New York cavalry, and served until 1866, principally in Virginia. He was in the engagement in the Wilderness and at Culpeper Courthouse and upwards of fifty skirmishes. He enlisted as a bugler but soon went into the ranks and served as an orderly. His record while in the army was an excellent one.

Besides a wife, two children, three brothers and two sisters are left to mourn. They are: Fred and Hazel of the immediate family; Dr. E. A. Robinson of Fairbury, Illinois; Hiram, Dr. John, Anna L. and Sarah all of Plattsburg, New York. Mrs. Hiram Robinson, mother of the deceased, also survives and lives at her home at Plattsburg, New York. She is eighty-one years of age.

The funeral services took place Sunday at 1 o'clock from the home at 1:30 at the Methodist Episcopal church. The services at the grave were in charge of the Sycamore Commandery. Rev. T. E. Ream conducted the services at the home and church. Interment took place at Genoa cemetery.

MRS. JAMES A. RISDON

Mrs. Augusta L. Risdon, wife of James A. Risdon, passed away last Saturday evening shortly before 9 o'clock at her home on Main street.

The deceased was born at Huron, Ohio, August 20, 1833, and was seventy years, two months and seventeen days of age at her death. She received her early education at Huron, and there remained until 1848, when she was united in marriage to Charles Johnson. They remained at Huron until the year of 1855, when they came to Illinois, settling on a farm near Kingston. Here they remained two years when they moved to Genoa to make their home. Soon after their removal to Genoa, Mr. Johnson went to Kansas on business where he died in 1868.

In 1871, the deceased purchased the home on Main street where Appropriating a Crest.

There is a restaurant keeper with a new and capacious place on the upper west side about whom a story is going the rounds. This "mine host" makes no secret of the fact that when he arrived in America as a youth he had more fingers and toes than dollars and that it is due to his own industry that he now can command his little army of cooks, waiters and other help. When he opened an addition to his rooms recently, his friends were surprised to see a crest emblazoned conspicuously on various parts of the wall. The glass-ware also bears the crest.

"I say, Pat," said a friend recently, "where did you get that crest?"

"That belonged to a king of my name in Ireland," was the reply.

"And I suppose you were one of the royal family?"

"Well, I don't know," was the confidential reply. "I looked it up in the Astor library. There were several hundred years to account for but I thought I'd take a chance."—New York Times.

A Lincoln Story.

Abraham Lincoln had a rule for evading difficulties. At a cabinet meeting one day, it is related, Mr. Seward jokingly remarked, "Mr. President, I hear that you turned out for a colored woman on a muddy crossing the other day." "I don't remember," answered Lincoln musingly, "but I think it very likely. I have always made it a rule that if people won't turn out for me I will for them. If I didn't, there might be a collision."

Not the Same.

"Come along," said Mr. Nupop, fresh from his interview with the janitor. "We'll have to look at flats elsewhere." "But why can't we take this?" demanded Mrs. Nupop. "It's like heaven here, and"

"Not much it isn't, and that's the trouble. They take children in heaven."—Philadelphia Press.

Cheering Her Up.

Molly—I was so cross at the party last night! Kate Green had on a dress exactly like mine.

Polly—Yes, but how it must have disgusted her to see you with a dress like hers! That ought to make you happy, I should think.

she died, and at the time of her death had been a resident of Genoa for nearly half a century.

In March, 1875, the deceased was married to James A. Risdon. Mrs. Risdon, for the greater part of life, was a member of the Advent Christian church, and in church circles she was a studious worker. She was a lady well liked and possessed a large acquaintance in this community.

She leaves a husband, one son, George W. Johnson of Genoa, and three step-sons, James, Frank and Sidney. James resides at Elgin and Sidney and Frank at Waterbury, Connecticut.

The funeral services took place Tuesday at 1 o'clock from the home and at 1:30 from the Advent Christian church. Interment took place at Genoa cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Wright, pastor of the Advent Christian church of Genoa. The services were largely attended.

FARM AND RANCH BELLS.

The Various Processes That Enter Into Their Making.

Cow bells that chime on the western plains, sheep bells that tinkle on the big American sheep ranches, bells for grazing horses and mules and, according to Popular Mechanics, all kinds of bells for the farm and ranch are made in one factory, which stands on a hillside street in a little town in Connecticut.

The metal for the bells is received at the factory in large, flat sheets of thin iron direct from the rolling mill and is passed under a steam driven cutter, which turns out the properly shaped pieces like patterns for a double bladed ax. Then a ring for a clapper is fastened into the center of each piece, and it is spanned with a little iron strap for a handle. Finally the piece is bent down into the familiar bell shape and its sides riveted together on the anvil.

The bell is now in shape, but it still lacks tone and color. These are gained by a coating of brass and a bath in a fiery furnace. In nests of four or five the bells, ranging in size from the little three inch sheep bells to the seven inch cow bells, are placed, with a mixture of charcoal and brass filings between them, in plumbago crucibles, the lids of which are held in place by a plastering of wet clay. These are then immersed in the fire. Within the crucibles the brass spreads itself in a thin coating over the imprisoned bells, and the bell obtains its clear note. All that needs be done afterward is to burnish the bells, which is done by throwing them with a few leather scraps into a big revolving cylinder, in which they polish themselves.

The Men in Line.

The land forces alone of Europe number "on the war footing" 25,000,000 men. Even Spain has an army larger than our own.

Standing side by side 25,000,000 men would make a continuous line from Calais across Europe and Asia to Beijing.

Parading up Broadway at the usual pace, infantry in files of twenty, cavalry ten abreast and field guns two abreast, this force would pass city hall in about seven and a half months, parading eight hours a day, Sundays excepted.

On the continent soldiers are carried standing in fourth class cars containing forty men each. Very small freight cars we should call them. To mobilize these men at once would take 625,000 such cars in about 50,000 trains. At a mile headway the trains would reach twice around the world.—New York World.

Ingrowing Toe Nails.

To relieve ingrowing toe nails cut a V shaped piece out of the center of the nail, as deep down to the quick as possible, and press in all around the toe and as much as possible under the ingrowing part some good yellow soap. In the course of a few days or so take the pointed end of a small penknife blade and scrape out all the soap and if possible insert the blade under the ingrowing part and with a dexterous twist turn the edge of the blade upward and pare off as much of the ingrowing part as possible. Then press in some more soap and a small piece of absorbent cotton between the nail and the overlapping flesh to keep the nail from pressing on the same. In the course of a few weeks the flesh under the ingrowing part will become so callous that no pain will be felt, and the nail can be trimmed regularly once a week.—American Queen.

In the Olden Days of Crinoline.

A woman tells this of the old days of "cages."

A man—an artist and a very shy person—walked out with the woman he delighted to honor and asked her to marry him. In stepping closer to her, as the occasion seemed to demand, early in the walk he got his foot through her large and expansive hoop and was too modest to make any attempt to remove it. She was equally timid, so they took their walk, settled matters (she consenting) and came home with his foot still held in her hoop. History does not state how it was finally removed. I only know the story is true, and the pair today are old married lovers.

A Raw Oyster.

Although the actual amount of nutritive material in a raw oyster is small, it comprises all classes of food substances in a peculiarly assimilable form. Generally speaking, the raw mollusk consists of four-fifths water. The danger—a remote one—of the oyster containing living typhoid fever germs may be obviated by the use of lemon juice. The oyster is rendered tough and indigestible by boiling.

MAN A RATHER POOR LOT.

Some of His Faculties Compared With Those of Other Animals.

"Man is a vain sort of an animal at all times," observed a thoughtful citizen, "and in his process of naming and classifying things around him he has attempted to leave reminders of himself in every possible place, and he has generally succeeded, for one's eyes may not escape falling on something named after some of his attributes. But when we come to think of it, when we come to look nature squarely in the face, man is not the only thing in the land which can lay claim to highly developed senses.

"Take the human eye. Unquestionably the little bundle of nerves in the eye, which make visualization possible and which present the mind with photographic refinements which no art has yet equaled, is one of the physiological marvels and opens up an endless field for speculation in the realm of psychology, that unsolved riddle of science in whose presence even the giants have cowered and skulked in hopeless ignorance. Yet this eye, discerning with so much delicacy when the picture is no farther than the wall of one's room—this eye with its circumscribed limits would be looked upon with dignified scorn by you soaring eagle if he only knew how much farther he could see than a human being.

"Take the human ear. We may not hear so well as the rats and mice that burrow under the palaces in which we live or the squirrel that capers yonder in the forest and countless other things one might mention. We may differentiate with greater accuracy and trace refinements in sound which these lower creatures may not trace, but when it comes to the matter of catching the sound at long range their ears seem to have been more perfectly constructed.

"It is conceded that no human voice has ever been heard which could equal in sweetness of tone the lays which one may hear in the orchard. No human being ever sang more sweetly than Patti, but she never sang so sweetly as the meadow lark when he pours his gurgling love song out on the summer air or the oriole when he shades his silvered octave from the bending bough.

"What device for measuring water pressure has man invented which will compare with the nerves which string the sides of the fish? It is a sense which is not represented in the human category. Man must resort to artificialities in order to learn the air pressure and the degree of heat or cold. But it is different with the fish, for he can always tell just what the water pressure is, and he knows how much he can stand, and he acts accordingly.

"Take the olfactory nerves. Man is all right when it comes to attar of roses, violet perfumeries and this and that sort, but you may pick out the meanest old hound in the swamps of Mississippi, and if he knew how much superior his sense of smell is to man's—well, he wouldn't want to be caught in a man's company.

"No, I am not running my own creed down. I am just relating a few things which ought to make us all natural lovers of the many deserving beauties that we wot not of in these hurrying times, and among them may be counted the things mentioned. Prove it? Prove nothing. I am just telling you."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The real need of the times, according to the princess in every family, is some method by which the earning capacities of fathers may be doubled.—Athens Globe.

RECEPTION IS TENDERED

Friends Greet Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Poust Saturday Evening

Parlors of Hotel McCollom Opened for Happy Occasion—A Short Program Is Rendered

Upon their return to Kingston last Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Poust were tendered a reception at Hotel McCollom. Their many friends spent a few hours in a social manner, welcoming them to Kingston and wishing them many years of wedded life.

A short program was rendered, Prof. I. E. Conover delivering an address of welcome.

Concerning the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Poust, the Sandwich Free Press said:

"A most delightful autumn wedding was solemnized at the handsome home of the bride's parents on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Prof. R. M. Poust and Miss Vesta Pearl Newton became man and wife. The marriage ceremony was performed by Dr. J. M. Lewis, the ring ceremony being used.

"Miss Clarabelle Patten presided at the piano, and to the enchanting strains of the wedding march, the bridal couple preceded by Master Milton Losee, becomingly dressed in white, carrying the wedding ring within the petals of a beautiful Easter lily, advanced to the nuptial altar and under a handsome horseshoe of golden chrysanthemums banked by a wealth of green, the impressive words were said.

"The bride was handsomely gowned in white. She wore a bridal veil and bride's roses.

"After congratulations, the bridal party was served with a dainty luncheon by several young ladies.

"Mr. and Mrs. Poust sprang a neat surprise on the host of young friends who gathered at the depot to give them the traditional bon voyage. Instead of getting on the train here they drove to Yorkville and boarded an electric car there for West Chicago, where they will visit a short time with an aunt.

"The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Newton of Sandwich, and is a young lady of a bright, winsome disposition, a popular favorite with her friends, of whom there are hosts, fully prepared for the care of a household, she is in every way worthy of the young man whom she has chosen for her life companion.

"The groom is the only child and son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Poust of Sandwich. As a young man, during his short residence in Sandwich, by his gentlemanly conduct, upright and manly life he has won the confidence and esteem of a wide circle of friends who unite in extending to him and his bride well wishes for a life of happiness and contentment.

"The young couple were the recipients of many elegant and costly presents."

Mrs. H. L. Shorey was a Kingston visitor this week.

gant, in interpretation artistic in the extreme.

The Chicago American—Lulu Tyler Gates has just arrived in the city after an extended reading tour of various parts of the country. She possesses a charming personality, a rich, musical voice, an artistic temperament; a bright mind and ready wit.

Last Sunday, Rev. Truch of Edgewater, Iowa, occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church both morning and evening. The services were largely attended. The church committee will decide this week whether or not Rev. Truch will be retained for the coming year.

County Superintendent of Boone county, J. G. Lucas, and the teachers of the town of Flora met with Miss Esther Case at her home east of Belvidere last Saturday. The work of the Teachers' Reading Circle was discussed, and meetings will be held each month.

A Golden Wedding

On Friday, November 6, twenty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Quigley helped them to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Quigley were married at Dunkirk, N. Y., residing here until their removal to the west at an early date.

At 1 o'clock, dinner was served to the many friends present. Following the repast, Mr. Quigley made a few remarks at which time he thanked the friends and neighbors for the many beautiful gifts presented in honor of their golden anniversary.

Those present were: Rockford—Dr. and Mrs. Walter McDowell.

Belvidere—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Partlow and family, Miss Bessie Sherman.

Herbert—Mrs. Charles Witt. Kirkland—Mrs. Nancy McDowell.

The wedding dinner was served in an elaborate and sumptuous provision customary at functions of the kind in the hospitable country homes, and the decorations were profuse and appropriate.

This is our record. From a small beginning we have grown until our factories now cover many acres. Many of our machines sold forty to fifty years ago are still giving their users faithful service. Can anything be more convincing of their merits and durability? Did you ever hear of any other machine with such a record?

Note a few of the many superior points of the

The Rotary Hook displaces the old, out-of-date, unmechanical and troublesome shuttle.

The Frictionless ball bearings and perfect mechanical construction enable it to be operated with one-third less exertion than is required by ordinary machines. It sews three yards of goods while a shuttle machine sews two.

It makes the most elastic and most perfect stitch whether sewing light or heavy goods.

With our superior attachments the greatest variety of work is possible. Do not make the mistake of buying a sewing machine until you have given the Wheeler & Wilson No. 9 a trial.

HEARD ALONG THE KISHWAUKEE

A puzzle is going the rounds of the press concerning the division of $10,000 among a man's four sons after his death. The question is how much did each get, but as the name of the executor of the will is not given, the problem is insoluble. Probably they didn't get anything.

A yearly advertisement of one column in length in the Chicago Tribune costs the advertiser $26,000. The New York Herald receives for its lowest price column $39,623; for highest $48,000. The New York Tribune for the lowest $29,754, and for its highest $85,648, and these papers are never at a loss for advertisements to fill their columns.

The Best Remedy for Croup

[From the Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.]

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu. But some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by F. T. Robinson.
