IS THINE HEART RIGHT?

Rev. Dr. Talmage Puts "A Point Blank Question."

And Proceeds to Enumerate the Qualifications Necessary to an Affirmative Answer—Do You Lack the One Thing?

The following discourse prepared by Rev. T. Dewitt Talmage for publication this week asks "A Point Blank Question" which is found in the text: Is thine heart right—11 Kings x. 15.

With mettled horses at full speed, for he was celebrated for fast driving, Jehu, the warrior and king, returns from battle. But seeing Jehonadab, an acquaintance, by the wayside, he shouts: "Who! who!" to the lathered span. Then leaning over to Jehonadab, Jehu salutes him in the words of the text—words not more appropriate for that hour and that place, than for this hour and place: "Is thine heart right?"

I should like to hear of your physical health. Well myself, I like to have everybody else well; and so might ask, is your eyesight right, your hearing right, your nerves right, your lungs right, your entire body right? But I am busy to-day taking diagnosis of the more important spiritual conditions. I should like to hear of your financial welfare. I want everybody to have plenty of money, ample apparel, large storehouse, and comfortable residence; and I might ask, is your business right, your income right, your worldly surroundings right? But what are these financial questions compared with the inquiry as to whether you have been able to pay your debts to God; as to whether you are insured for eternity; as to whether you are ruining yourself by the long-credit system of the soul? I have known men to have no more than one loaf of bread at a time, and yet to own a government bond of Heaven worth more than the whole material universe.

The question I ask you to-day is not in regard to your habits. I make no inquiry about your integrity, or your chastity, or your sobriety. I do not mean to stand on the outside of the gate and ring the bell; but coming up the steps, I open the door and come to the private apartment of the soul; and with the earnestness of a man that must give an account for this day's work, I cry out: Oh, man, Oh, woman, immortal, is thine heart right?

I will not insult you by an argument to prove that we are by nature all wrong. If there be a factory explosion, and the smokestack be upset and the wheels be broken in two, and the engine unjointed, and the ponderous bars be twisted, and a man should look in and say nothing was the matter, you would pronounce him a fool. Well, it needs no acumen to discover that our nature is all atwist and askew and unjointed. The thing doesn't work right. The biggest trouble we have in the world is with our souls. Men sometimes say that, though their lives may not be just right, their heart is all right. Impossible. A farmer never puts the poorest apples on top of the barrel; nor does the merchant place the meanest goods in his show window. The best part of us is outward life. I do not stop to discuss whether we all fell in Adam, for we have been our own Adam, and have all eaten of the forbidden fruit, and have been turned out of the paradise of holiness and peace; and though the flaming sword that stood at the gate to keep us out has changed position and comes behind to drive us in, we will not go.

The Bible account of us is not exaggerated when it says that we are poor, and wretched, and miserable, and blind, and naked. Poor: the wretch that stands shivering on our doorstep on a cold day is not so much in need of bread as we are of spiritual help. Blind: why, the man whose eyes perished in the powder blast, and who for these ten years has gone feeling his way from street to street, is not in such utter darkness as we. Naked: why, there is not one rag of holiness left to hide the shame of our sin. Sick: why, the leprosy has eaten into the head, and the heart, and the hands, and the feet; and the marasmus of an everlasting wasting away has already seized on some of us.

First we need a repenting heart. If for the last ten, twenty or forty years of life, we have been going on in the wrong way, it is time that we turned around and started in the opposite direction. If we offend our friends we are glad to apologize. God is our best friend and yet how many of us have never apologized for the wrongs we have done Him!

There is nothing that we so much need to get rid of as sin. It is a horrible, black monster. It polluted Eden. It killed Christ. It has blasted the world. Men keep dogs in kennels, and rabbits in a warren, and cattle in a pen. What a man that would be who would shut them up in his parlor? But this foul dog of sin, and these herds of transgression, we have entertained for many a long year in our heart, which should be the cleanest, brightest room in all our nature. Out with the vile herd! Begone, ye befoulers of an immortal nature!

Turn out the beasts and let Christ come in! A heathen came to an early Christian, who had the reputation of curing diseases. The Christian said: "You must have all your idols destroyed." The heathen gave to the Christian the key to his house, that he might go in and destroy the idols. He battered to pieces all he saw, but still the man did not get well. The Christian said to him: "There must be some idol in your house not yet destroyed." The heathen confessed that there was one idol of beaten gold that he could not bear to give up. After awhile, when that was destroyed, in answer to the prayer of the Christian, the sick man got well.

Many a man has awakened in his dying hour to find his sins all about him. They clambered up on the right side of the bed; and on the left side, and over the headboard, and over the footboard, and horribly devoured the soul.

Repent! the voice celestial cries. Nor longer dare delay: The wretch that scorns the mandate dies And meets a fiery day.

Again, we need a believing heart. A good many years ago a weary one went up one of the hills of Asia Minor, and with two logs on his back cried out to all the world, offering to carry their sins and sorrows. They pursued him. They slapped him in the face. They mocked him. When he groaned they groaned. They shook their fists at him. They spat on him. They hounded him as though he were a wild beast. His healing of the sick, His sight-giving to the blind, His mercy to the outcast, silenced not the revenge of the world. His prayers and benedictions were lost in that whirlwind of execration: "Away with him! Away with him!"

Ah! it was not merely the two pieces of wood that he carried; it was the transgressions of the race, the anguish of the ages, the wrath of God, the sorrows of hell, the stupendous interests of an unending eternity. No wonder his back bent. No wonder the blood started from every pore. No wonder that he crouched under a torture that made the sun faint, and the everlasting hills tremble, and the dead rush up in their winding sheets as he cried: "If it be possible, let this cup pass from me." But the cup did not pass. None to comfort.

Again, to have a right heart it must be a forgiving heart. An old writer says: "To return good for evil is God-like; good for good is man-like; evil for good devil-like." Which of these natures have we? Christ will have nothing to do with us as long as we keep any old grudge. We have all been cheated and lied about. There are people who dislike us so much that if we should come down to poverty and disgrace, they would say: "Good for him! Didn't I tell you so?" They do not understand us. Unsanctified human nature says: "Wait till you get a good crack at him, and when at last you find him in a tight place, give it to him. Flay him alive. No quarter. Leave not a rag of reputation. Jump on him with both feet. Pay him in his own coin—sarcasm for sarcasm, scorn for scorn, abuse for abuse." But, my friends, that is not the right kind of heart. No man ever did so mean a thing toward us as we have done toward God. And if we can not forgive others, how can we expect God to forgive us? Thousands of men have been kept out of Heaven by an unforgiving heart.

Again, a right heart is an expectant heart. It is a poor business to be building castles in the air. Enjoy what you have now. Don't spoil your comfort in the small house because you expect a larger one. Don't fret about your income when it is three or four dollars per day because you expect to have, after awhile, ten dollars per day; or ten thousand dollars a year; because you expect it to be twenty thousand dollars a year. But about heavenly things, the more we think the better. Those castles are not in the air, but on the hills, and we have a deed to them in our possession. I like to see a man all full of Heaven. He talks Heaven. He sings Heaven. He prays Heaven. He dreads Heaven. Some of us in our sleep have had the good place open to us. We saw the pinnacles in the sky. We heard the click of the hoofs of the white horses on which victors rode, and the clapping of the cymbals of eternal triumph. And, while in our sleep we were glad that all our sorrows were over and burdens done with, the throne of God grew whiter and whiter, till we opened our eyes and saw that it was only the sun of earthly morning shining on our pillow. To have a right heart, you need to be filled with this expectancy. It would make your privations and annoyances more bearable.

In the midst of the city of Paris stands a statue of the good but broken-hearted Josephine. I never imagined that marble could be smitten into such tenderness. It seems not lifeless. If the spirit of Josephine be disenthralled, the soul of the empress has taken possession of this figure. I am not yet satisfied that it is stone. The puff of the dress on the arm seems to need but the pressure of the finger to indent it. The figures at the bottom of the robe, the ruffle at the neck, the fur lining on the dress, the embroidery of the satin, the cluster of lily, and leaf, and rose in her hand, the poise of her body as she seems to come sailing out of the sky, her face calm, humble, beautiful, but yet sad—attest the genius of the sculptor and the beauty of the heroine he celebrates. Looking up through the rifts of the coronet that encircles her brow, I could see the sky beyond, the great heavens where all woman's wrongs shall be righted, and the story of endurance and resignation shall be told to all ages. The rose and the lily in the hand of Josephine will never drop their petals. Believe not the recent slanders upon her memory. The children of God, whether they suffer on earth in palaces or hovels, shall come to that glorious rest. Oh, Heaven, sweet Heaven! at thy gate we set down all our burdens and griefs. The place will be full. Here there are vacant chairs at the hearth and at the table, but there are no vacant chairs in Heaven. The crowns all worn; the thrones all mounted. Some talk of Heaven as though it were a very handsome church, where a few favored spirits would come in and sit down on finely-cushioned seats all by themselves, and sing psalms to all eternity. No, no. "I saw a great multitude that no man could number standing before the throne. He that talked with me had a golden reed to measure the city, and it was twelve thousand furlongs"—that is, fifteen hundred miles—"in circumference." Ah! Heaven is not a little colony at one corner of God's dominion, where a man's entrance depends upon what kind of clothes he has on his back, and how much money he has in his purse, but a vast empire. God grant that the light of that blessed world may shine upon us in our last moment.

The first time I crossed the Atlantic the roughest time we had was at the mouth of Liverpool harbor. We arrived at nightfall, and were obliged to lie there till the morning, waiting for the rising of the tide, before we could go up to the city. How the vessel pitched and writhed in the water! So, sometimes, the last illness of the Christian is a struggle. He is almost through the voyage. The waves of temptation toss his soul, but he waits for the morning. At last the light dawns, and the tides of joy rise in his soul, and he sails up and casts anchor within its veil.

Is thy heart right? What question can compare with this in importance? It is a business question. Do you not realize that you will soon have to go out of that store, that you will soon have to resign that partnership, that soon among all the millions of dollars' worth of goods that are sold you will not have the handling of a yard of cloth, or a pound of sugar, or a penny worth of anything; that soon, if a conflagration should start at Central park and sweep everything to the Battery, it would not disturb you; that soon, if every cashier should abscond, and every insurance company should fail, it would not affect you? What are the questions that stop this side of the grave compared with the questions that reach beyond it? Are you making losses that are to be everlasting? Are you making purchases for eternity? Are you jobbing for time when you might be wholesaling for eternity? What question of the store is so broad at the base, and so altitudinous, and so overwhelming as the question: "Is thy heart right?"

Or is it a domestic question? Is it something about father, or mother, or companion, or son, or daughter, that you think is comparable with this question in importance? Do you not realize that by universal and inexorable law all these relations will be broken up? Your father will be gone, your mother will be gone, your companion will be gone, your child will be gone, you will be gone, and then this supernal question will begin to harvest its chief gains, or deplore its worst losses, roll up into its mightiest magnitude, or sweep its vast circles. What difference now does it make to Napoleon III, whether he triumphed or surrendered at Sedan? whether he lived at the Tuileries or at Chislehurst, whether he was emperor or exile? They laid him out in his coffin in the dress of a field marshal. Did that give him any better chance for the next world than if he had been laid out in a plain shroud? And soon to us what will be the difference, whether in this world we rode or walked, were bowed to or maltreated, were applauded or hissed at, were welcomed in or kicked out, while laying hold of every moment of the great future, and burning in all the splendor or grief, and over-arching and undergoing all time and all eternity, is the plain, simple, practical, thrilling, agonizing, overwhelming question: "Is thy heart right?" Have you within you a repenting heart, an expectant heart? If not, I must write upon your soul what George Whitefield wrote upon the window-pane with his diamond ring. He tarried in an elegant house over night, but found that there was no God recognized in that house. Before he left his room in the morning, with his ring he wrote upon the window-pane. "One thing thou lackest." After the guest was gone, the housewife came and looked at the window, and saw the inscription, and called her husband and her children; and God, through that ministry of the window-glass, brought them all Jesus. Though you may be surrounded by comforts and luxuries, and feel that you have need of nothing, if you are not the children of God, with the signetring of Christ's love let me inscribe upon your souls, "One thing thou lackest!"

IN TRIENNIAL COUNCIL.

A Notable Gathering of Episcopal Prelates in Minneapolis.

Revision of the Constitution Made a Special Order—Organization of the House of Deputies and House of Bishops.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 4.—The triennial convention of the Episcopal church was opened Wednesday morning with the celebration of holy communion. The regular order of common prayer and litany had been said at the 7 o'clock service. The epistle was read by Bishop Neely, of Maine, the Gospel was read by the archbishop of Rupert's Land, and the alms were received by Assistant Bishop Gilbert, of Minnesota. After the reading of the Gospel the sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Cox, of the diocese of central New York. This service was commenced at 11 o'clock and it was after 1 o'clock when Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, pronounced the benediction.

Shortly after the formal organization of the house of deputies had been effected the consideration of the report of the commission appointed by the convention of '92 was made the special order for Thursday morning, to be continued in the same status until finally disposed of. Outside of this the proceedings of the session were of a purely routine nature. When the roll was called by Secretary Hutchins, of Hartford, Conn., between 500 and 600 clerical and lay delegates answered to their names. By unanimous vote Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, of New York, who has presided over every general convention since 1886, was elected chairman. Rev. Dr. Hutchinson, of New York, was again elected general secretary.

While the deputies were in session the house of bishops organized in Knickerbocker hall, adjoining Gethsemane church, and which had been fitted up with individual desks loaned from the senate chamber at St. Paul. In the absence of the bishops of Connecticut and Rhode Island, Bishop Whipple, the senior bishop in attendance, presided, and Bishop Doane was elected as chairman, or vice president. Rev. Dr. Hart, of Hartford, was chosen secretary. Greetings of the Church of England were presented by the archbishop of Van Rupert's Land and the bishop of Qu'Appelle, after which the bishops adjourned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—The prospect of a battle royal over the disposition to be made of the revision report brought the clerical and lay delegates to the Episcopal convention out in force at Gethsemane church Thursday morning, while the galleries were crowded with local and visiting churchmen and churchwomen. At the outset of the session Dr. Dix announced the committees on the state of the church, new dioceses, canons, the prayer-book and other subjects to be brought before the convention.

After much discussion a resolution of fraternal greeting was voted sent to the Methodist conference of northern Minnesota, in session a few blocks away. This is the first time in the history of a general convention of the Episcopal church that greetings have been sent to a conference of another denomination, and the action is regarded as a significant mark of the advance of Christian unity.

In committee of the whole at the Thursday afternoon session, the house of deputies threw overboard bodily the solemn declaration of faith with which the proposed new constitution and canons was prefaced; refused to concur in the recommendation of the committee that the name of the triennial gathering be changed to the "General Synod," and likewise twice rejected a proposition to recognize the title "The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States." The overwhelming victory of the anti-revisionists in the matter of the declaration of faith and principles, and upon which the commission of 1892 had expended much time, thought and labor, apparently demoralized its supporters, and to the motion to reject the new name of the assemblage they made but a feeble resistance.

The anti-revisionists abandoned their intention of endeavoring to shelve the report at the outset, and, as the document, when re-revised by the present diocesan convention in the United States for its action, the contest between the two elements will necessarily be renewed in the convention of '98. Meanwhile the old constitution remains in force.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 8.—When the house of deputies of the Episcopal convention commenced its fourth day's session Saturday morning Dr. Morgan Dix as chairman announced the appointment of Revs. Dr. Stone, of Chicago, Brewster, Long Island; Lawrence, Massachusetts; Judge Fairbanks, Florida, a committee to fill vacancies on the commission on church unity.

After the house had received and accepted the final report of the joint commission of '89 on the revision of the prayer-book and which was approved at the last convention, and had also accepted a magnificent bound copy of the ritual printed on vellum, the body again went into the committee of the whole on the new constitution with Lay Delegate Packard, of Maryland, presiding. The pending question when the committee adjourned on Wednesday was the motion of Dr. Harrison, of Springfield, re-enacting the first clause of the paragraph putting into legal effect all legislation of the deputies in which the bishops had failed to concur or had demurred within three days. A number of technical amendments were submitted, the speakers in favor of the clause insisting that it was intended to prevent the bishops "pocketing" matters with which they were not in harmony.

At 11:40 o'clock the committee, in response to an urgent appeal from the general secretary of the board of missions, sent by a deputation from the Lyceum, rose by a vote of 157 to 117 and the house adjourned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 8.—The Lyceum theater was packed Saturday morning in response to a call for a mass meeting in behalf of the missionary work of the Episcopal church. The opening hour was occupied with brief addresses from the missionary bishops of China, Japan and Africa, and ex-Secretary of State Foster was given a cordial reception upon being presented to speak upon his personal observation of foreign missions.

The missionary meeting at the Lyceum Saturday afternoon was another great success, an immense audience being present. The enthusiasm was something remarkable. Bishop Spalding, of Colorado, presided. Great progress was reported in their respective dioceses by the bishops of western Texas, Wyoming and Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota, western Colorado and Oklahoma.

On Sunday there were elaborate musical programmes in all the Episcopal churches in the city, and the pulpits were occupied as a general thing by bishops of prominence. Large missionary and Sunday school anniversary meetings were also on the programme.

HINSHAW IS CONVICTED.

Jury Recommends a Life Sentence—A New Trial Is Granted.

DANVILLE, Ind., Oct. 4.—The jury in Rev. William E. Hinshaw's case, who was indicted for the murder of his wife at Belleville, January 10, which has been on trial for the past five weeks, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, and that he be imprisoned for life, at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon, after being out two hours. Three members were in favor of hanging the divine. The minister never flinched when the words which consigned him to a felon's cell were read by Clerk Hathaway, but turned to the sheriff and said: "I am ready to return to jail."

DANVILLE, Ind., Oct. 7.—The attorneys for Rev. Hinshaw, the convicted wife murderer, have decided to carry the case to the supreme court if they do not get a new trial here. Detectives who are working on the case are said to have struck a trail at Sheridan, Ind., where they have two men under suspicion as being the burglars who killed Mrs. Hinshaw. The request of the attorneys for the defense for a new trial has been granted. They are thought to be waiting for the outcome of the detectives' search.

A FATAL WEDDING.

Seventy-Five Guests Mysteriously Poisoned—Two of Them Dead.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Oct. 7.—Two deaths occurred near Sabula, Jackson county, Friday as the result of a poisoning at H. D. Gage's wedding, three weeks ago, which has affected seventy-five or 100 of the 300 guests. The groom's condition is reported dangerous. The physicians from several towns are unable to agree whether the poisoning was caused by pork or by pressed chicken, and have forwarded, to Chicago for analysis theiceps muscles of George Bryant, who died Friday.

Playing for the Temple Cup.

Over a Million Lost by Fire.

WARREN, R. I., Oct. 4.—One of the largest fires ever known in southeastern New England broke out at 7 o'clock Thursday night in one of the mills of the Warren manufacturing company, situated near the center of this town, and before it was got under control it had swept through three large cotton mills, two warehouses, small sheds, freight cars and other property, causing a loss which is estimated at $1,125,000.

Has a Month to Pay His Fine.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—H. J. McCoy, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, who was fined $250 by Judge Murphy for making the remark to one of the Durrant jurors: "If you don't hang him we will hang you," was Saturday morning given by the court until November 1 in which to pay the fine.

BOLD BANDITS.

They Attack an Electric Car in a Chicago Suburb.

The Eighteen Passengers Are Forced to Give Up Their Money and Valuables—One of the Latter Shot—Others Clubbed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Five armed and masked road agents held up an electric car in the outskirts of the city between 8 and 9 o'clock Monday night and went through the passengers in regular train robber fashion. One passenger was shot and two or three others clubbed, and the robbers escaped without leaving a clew of any kind as to their identity. The spot selected for the robbery was near the Berwyn avenue crossing of Evanston avenue, the latter thoroughfare being the one used by the North Shore Electric Street Railroad company for its cars between the northern city limits and the suburban city of Evanston.

The car makes fast time along this stretch of the run, and Monday night it had eighteen passengers, two of whom were women. As the car approached Berwyn avenue, northbound, the motorman noticed a group of men standing at the side of the track. At the moment he noticed the men two of them stepped out in front of the car and signalled to stop. As the car came to a standstill two of the robbers stepped upon the front platform and three ascended the steps of the rear platform. Then it was noticed that the men wore masks and their purpose was suspected.

The suspicion was not formed in the minds of the passengers when one of the robbers opened the front door and said: "If you people behave yourselves and make no noise you won't get hurt. But you've got to keep quiet and give up what you've got." His remarks were reinforced with a huge revolver and the passengers were thinking about giving resistance when the lights in the car went out, the thieves having taken off the trolley pole and removed the generator wrench from the motorman so the power could not be governed. The darkness compelled the passengers to submit, and then the searching process was inaugurated.

All of the eighteen occupants of the car were robbed of various amounts of money, watches and jewelry. The value of the plunder is not known, but will probably amount to between $300 and $500.

As the bandits entered A. E. Westman sat at the side of the car. In his hands he held a heavy cane. As the robbers entered he half raised it as if to strike. One of them seized it and wrenched it from his hands. Then the bandit poised his new weapon in the air and struck Westman a terrific blow in the face. It brought the blood spouting. It was the signal for a general attack—an attack without mercy or compassion. N. O. Johnson had tried to rise in his place. He was struck to the earth with a single blow from the cane. As he lurched forward with a great gasp in his head he was struck again. Then he lay still and white. The robbers bent over and wrenched his watch and chain from his pocket and sid them quickly into their own.

A robber approached T. P. Nisbett and demanded his money. Nisbett arose from his seat and knocked the revolver up. Then he dealt the robber a terrific blow in the face that sent him reeling to the opposite side of the car. But it was only a moment. Recovering himself, the revolver dropped to the horizontal. At the same instant another robber struck Nisbett in the face and sent him to one side. It saved his life, for at that moment the shot was fired and the bullet pierced his leg at the knee.

But the robbers knew that their shots would soon alarm the distant settlers. And another car was soon due. There was a signal from the shock-haired leader. Instantly the robbers rode down their victims on their way to the doors, and a moment later they were swallowed up in the dark. There were those who followed in their anger to trace the robbers. In Berwyn avenue the five men sprung into an old surrey, laid the lash to the horses and rattled west, and were soon beyond pursuit. The police authorities were notified of the affair, and searched all night, but without result.

By his presence of mind Conductor Osborn saved the fares which he had collected during the day, and was therefore almost the only person on the car to escape the robbers. When the masked men began to beat the passengers the conductor grasped his money in his hand and dropped it all down in the space back of the seats where the windows fit down when they are open. In this way the money could not be reached. The entire time consumed by the robbers did not exceed five minutes, and the wounded victims arrived in Edgewater not more than an hour late.

SMITH WILL BE HANGED.

Murderer of His Child and Sister-in-Law to Be Executed.

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 8.—Charles N. Smith, who murdered his daughter Louise Smith, and his sister-in-law, Edna Buchert, nine days ago and pleaded guilty before Judge Vail on Thursday, October 3, was on Monday sentenced to be hanged Friday, November 29.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Important Action Taken by the House of Deputies.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 8.—By a viva voce vote, which was sufficiently large in volume to restrain the minority from challenging a division, the house of deputies of the Episcopal convention Monday placed itself on record as being willing to surrender one of its most valuable prerogatives and practically the only one that enables it to hold the whip-hand in preventing the house of bishops from making of itself, if it were so disposed, a literal oligarchy. This was its refusal to reenact the clause putting into effect within three days all legislation concerning which the bishops had made no sign. This clause which was omitted from the new revision after a debate in the commission which, it is said, lasted a week, enables the house of bishops to approve just as much of the legislation of the junior body and to indefinitely kill by failure to act all resolutions, reports and other matters with which it may not be in accord.

This was the first victory for the revision commission after several days of debate, but their jubilation was short lived. By an overwhelming majority the house refused to exclude domestic missionary bishops in the counting of a quorum.

Then came the celebrated section three, providing for the election of a primate, or head of the house of bishops, to hold office for life, save in the event of voluntary resignation. Quickly the amendments piled up. One delegate favored a designation of "president bishop," another "archbishop," still another "presiding bishop," one more "primate." The house was not in favor of any one of the first three, nor did it kindly regard a substitute that the bishops elect their own presiding officer and give him whatever designation they might see fit. A vote had not been reached on the "Primate" proposition when the house adjourned.

TO MEET AT ATLANTA.

Farmers' National Congress About Ready to Assemble.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 8.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the Farmers' national congress, being the first Pan-American agricultural parliament, will be held in this city October 10-16. The Farmers' national congress is composed of delegates appointed by the governors of the various states and territories, each state being entitled to as many delegates as it has congressmen and United States senators. At the last annual meeting thirty-six states were represented by delegates and the attendance ranged from 1,500 to 2,000. The South and Central American governments, Mexico, and the British American provinces have been invited to send delegates to the Atlanta meeting, and more than was anticipated have accepted. The secretary of the congress has just received dispatches that delegates will be in attendance from British Columbia and Prince Edward Island—provinces so far away that it was hardly expected that they would have delegates present. The Pan-American agricultural parliament will be preceded by a southern irrigation parliament lasting three days and be followed by a good roads parliament lasting three days. The officers of the Farmers' national congress are: President, B. F. Clayton, of Iowa; vice president, Maj. G. M. Byalls, of Georgia; secretary, John M. Stahl, Chicago.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 8.—The southern irrigation congress was organized here Monday. Prominent farmers and scientists constitute the membership. Dr. H. C. White, of the University of Georgia, is the temporary head of the congress.

W. W. STORY DEAD.

The Noted American Sculptor Passes Away Suddenly in Rome.

ROME, Oct. 8.—William Wetmore Story, the distinguished American sculptor, died suddenly and painlessly Monday at the home of his daughter, Marquise Peruzzi, at Vallombrosa. His health has been failing since the death of his wife last year.

Mr. Story was born at Salem, Mass., February 12, 1819. Among his works in sculpture are numerous monuments, ideal figures and groups, statues and monuments, among which may be mentioned those of Hon. Mr. Justice Story, in Cambridge; Hon. Chief Justice Marshall, in Washington; Hon. Edward Everett, in Boston; Mr. George Peabody, in London and in Baltimore; Prof. Joseph Henry, in Washington; Col. Prescott, at Charlestown, Mass.; William Cullen Bryant, and a large monument to Francis Scott Key, surrounded by a colossal figure of "America," at San Francisco.]

Queen of Pies.

She isn't versed in Latin, she doesn't paint on satin. She doesn't understand the artful witchery of eyes: But oh! sure, 'tis true and certain she is very pat and pert in Arranging the component parts of luscious pumpkin pies.

She cannot solve or twist 'em, viz: the planetary system. She cannot tell a Venus from a Saturn in the skies: But you ought to see her grapple with the fruit that's known as apple. And arrive at quick conclusion when she tackles toothsome pies.

She couldn't write a sonnet, and she couldn't trim a bonnet. She isn't very bookish in her letter of replies: But she's much at home—oh, very! when she takes the juicy berry And manipulates quite skillfully symposiums in pies. —H. S. Keller, in Truth.

NEURALGIA OF THE HEART.

The Terrible Disease That Attacked Mrs. Henry Osting.

Slowly Losing Her Life—Physicians Were Powerless—Friends Were Helpless—At Last She Found a Remedy With Which She Cured Herself and Laughed at Physicians.

From the New Era, Greensburg, Ind.

Hearing through Messrs. Bigney & Co., druggists, of Sunman, Ripley County, Ind., that Mrs. Osting, wife of Henry Osting, a prominent and influential citizen of that town, had been cured of a bad case of neuralgia of the heart and stomach the editor of the New Era determined to know for the satisfaction of himself and the benefit of his readers the truth in regards to the matter, and took advantage of a trip to Sunman last week.

The Osting residence is a very handsome one, and on every hand is seen the footprints of good fortune. Mrs. Osting herself, hale and hearty, invited us into her cosy parlor. One could hardly believe by looking at the lady, who showed all signs of good health, that she was but nine months ago a despondent victim of that dread disease, neuralgia of the heart and stomach. In answer to the question if she had been cured of a bad disease of neuralgia by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as to whether she objected to an interview, she replied in her pleasant way, "Why, no sir, I don't, for they've done me such a wonderful good that I feel I owe everything to them." And the statement was to be believed, for she was the example of perfect health, and we were informed by her neighbors and friends that but a short while ago she was only a living corpse.

Mrs. Osting continued: "No sir; I never did have good health; I was always naturally weak. When quite young I began experiencing trouble from my heart and stomach which the doctors said was neuralgia. I was continually suffering great pain, but not one of the many well-versed physicians from whom I received treatment was able to do me any good. Severe, sharp pains would shoot over my entire body and more severely through my heart and stomach. My entire system became nervous as pains would increase; my appetite began to fail, and for weeks I could not eat a meal—just mince over the victuals. I couldn't sleep, and would only pass the nights in agony. It's a wonder that I kept up at all, for it's so little that I could eat and sleep for I suffered so. No physician could do me any good. My family physician said the case was hopeless. I was discouraged. I had tried every medicine that I could hear of, that was claimed to be good for my troubles, but not one did me the least good. Finally, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and our druggist, Mr. Bigney, advised me to try them, for he said they had done so many people good. I had no faith in patent medicines then, for none had done me any good, but I thought I would try them, for surely they couldn't hurt me. I found relief immediately after I began taking them, and the longer I took them the better I got. By the time I used six boxes I was entirely cured. I never had been able to do my work before. I began taking the pills last October and in December I was well and able to do my work. I can truly say, for the benefit of other sufferers, that I owe my health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

To confirm her story beyond all doubt, Mrs. Osting made the following affidavit:

STATE OF INDIANA, COUNTY OF RIPLEY, I, Mrs. Henry Osting, being duly sworn on her oath, with the foregoing statement is just and true.

Mrs. HENRY OSTING. Sworn and subscribed before me, July 20, 1895.

V. W. BIGNEY, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are considered an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppurations, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $3.50—(they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The Humble Life. Three roads, diverging, wend their several ways.

Along the first The glad notes burst In splendor through the long, bright days. The pathway's name Is Fame.

Along the second splendid castles rise Before the wondering eyes. Wealth in this pathway lies.

Along the third are common flowers, And bees hum through unchanging hours. Yet closer seen the flowers have fairest hue, The skies above are brightest blue.

This is the way Called "Every day." —Richard Barker Shelton, in Boston Budget.

To a Flirt. The red, red rose is proud As it lifts its head serene: But the snow will weave it a shroud, And so will it you, my queen.

The lily's lord of a day, But soon, ah, soon 'twill die, So pray you, leave the primrose way, For so shall you and I.

SHALL Cuba be free? Well, not as long as dilly-dallying Democratic administration is in power. They would rather take it under advisement for a few months in order that the blood-thirsty Spaniards can wipe out all chance of an interference.

It will not only be a monument to the soldier dead that DeKalb County will erect, but a monument to DeKalb County's love for its veteran dead. May its teachings create an added reverence for our dead heroes.

ACCORDING to the Governor of Oklahoma the new territory has 275,000 people, who are industrious, contented and prosperous. According to the press dispatches industrious must refer to the way they have of shooting one another, and prosperous to the number of nicks cut on the gun barrels.

As time rolls on it becomes more evident that Hon. A. J. Hopkins is in the lead for the governorship. Opposition to him, so far, has been exceedingly scarce and excepting two newspapers in the northern part of the state, the press of Illinois is unanimously for him. He will make an ideal governor and will reflect credit on the county of his birth—DeKalb.

FROM all indications the election of a congressman to fill the vacancy that will be caused by the election of Hon. A. J. Hopkins as governor will be necessary, and where, might we ask, can more suitable timber be found than in good old DeKalb County. In I. L. Ellwood, this grand district would have an advocate in Congress who would command recognition and respect. The only regret that can be felt is in the fear that he would not be a candidate. His acceptance would mean nothing less than his election, for nowhere in northern Illinois is there a man so popular and in quick touch with the people as he. He is a tower of strength politically, yet withal, one of the most quiet and reserved of men. But it is a well known fact that Mr. Ellwood will decline being a candidate. Time and again he has refused to become a candidate for any office.

IN looking over the territory to find a republican endowed with all the requirements that are necessary in a successful congressman, to succeed Hon. A. J. Hopkins, who is to be elected governor, a tall, commanding figure presents itself to our mind. Successful in matters pertaining to business; possessing a scholarly, imposing mien; a ready and fluent speaker; conservative, and withal a genial, sociable gentleman whom it is, in business transactions, society or in the common walks of life, a pleasure to meet. Abram Ellwood, of Sycamore possesses all these and it is extremely gratifying to THE ISSUE at this early period to present Mr. Ellwood's name to the people of this congressional district.

Yellowstone Park Geysers. Advice just received at the Northern Pacific offices from W. P. Howe, in charge of the lunch station at the Upper Geyser Basin, state that the geysers are playing better than ever. They are much finer than last year. The giant one of the finest in the park, plays to an height of about 250 feet. Last year its eruptions took place once in about five days and continued for 90 minutes. This year it is playing more frequently. Mr. Howe is regularly noting the temperature of the Geysers another of the large geysers. It is also playing frequently and its temperature at time of playing ranges from 193 to 198 Fahrenheit. For six cents sent to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., you will receive a fine tourist book that contains a chapter on the park.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The modern standard Family Medicine: Cures the common every-day ills of humanity.

ONE GIVES RELIEF.

for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing. It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

- Castoria destroys Worms.
- Castoria allays Feverishness.
- Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
- Castoria cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic.
- Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
- Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.

Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air. Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."

See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS.

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in grain, provisions and stock.

10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED Can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system. It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States, who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time. WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on successful speculation and our daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers, ALL FREE. Our manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

SIDEWALK STROLLER.

I was accosted the other day by a bucolic individual who was the possessor of a considerable "jag." "Shay there Mister, I'm in luck." I quietly acquiesced and he rambled on, but turned and called back to me. "Yes I'm in biggest kind of luck. Fact was 'er feller "pinched" me and took me to the "quay," but by-gosh couldn't get in. The place was crowded fuller'n tick, all round table calling off numbers just like feller does in front of theatre calling hacks. Feller had to let me go. Say mister great luck wasn't it?"

It is amusing to say the least to note the remarks made about any improvements going on. If one would only note down just what he heard in the way of advice what an interesting conglomeration it would make.

You can generally tell when a new minister preaches his first sermon. People who have not been inside of church on an average of once in six months are sure to be there and unless the minister is unusually brilliant it will probably be no oftener.

It's too bad the new sidewalks were not finished earlier. Even these chilly evenings they make a good loafing place. A little of the Chicago "move on" would not be amiss.

If there is anything I love to hear it is a beautiful church-like sounding bell. The new German church bell has a pure, rich sound peculiarly church-like.

Isn't it funny how a married man acts when his wife goes out of town on a visit. Well it seems to make a man feel young again, doesn't it, W?

Prof. D. M. Gibbs occupied the pulpit of the M. E. Church at Kingston last Sunday and the News has this to say about it:

Prof. D. M. Gibbs, of Genoa, occupied the pulpit of the M. E. Church last Sunday morning and although it was his first sermon it would have reflected credit on a veteran in the ministry.

If your children are subject to croup watch for the first symptom of the disease—hoarseness. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse it will prevent the attack. Even after the croupy cough has appeared the attack can be prevented by giving this remedy. It is also invaluable for colds and whooping cough. For sale by F T Robinson, Genoa and H R Fuller, Kingston.

William O'Brien of Genoa, DeKalb county, and Mrs. J. Neil of 23 Lynch street were married at Geneva Monday. The groom is a farmer there and the bride formerly a factory employe. They removed their household effects from Elgin to Genoa today.—Elgin Daily Courier.

Mr. A. A. Snyder, Supt. Poor Farm Winnesheik Co., Ia., says:—Last winter Mr. Robert Leach used two boxes of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve and cured a large running sore on his leg. Had been under care of physicians for months without obtaining relief. Sure cure for Piles. F T Robinson Genoa, L C Shaffer, Kingston.

An eight foot cement walk is now in front of every business house on Main street excepting one, and the appearance of the street has been improved a hundred fold. It is a source of great pride to our people and reflects the push and enterprise of our citizens. A number of cement walks have been laid in the residence section also. We have the best sidewalked town in the state for its size.

The Burlington, Wis. Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excruciating pains and possibly saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by F T Robinson, Genoa and H R Fuller, Kingston.

To Horse Owners.

I would respectfully announce that I have opened a blacksmith shop in the Jas. Ridsen shop and am prepared to attend to your wants in that line I shall make a specialty of good, practical horse shoeing and ask a share of your patronage, feeling confident that I can give you satisfaction.

A. C. Church Notes.

There was a good attendance at services last Sunday morning.

Elder A. E. Hatch, of Magnolia, Wisconsin, our blind preacher, will preach next Sunday. He is well educated having been professor in a college, but has been blind since six weeks old. Come and hear him.

Mrs. M. A. Jeffrey, trance medium, will lecture in I. O. O. F. hall Thursday, Oct. 23d. Lecture will commence at 7:30. Ten cents admission will be charged at the door to pay for use of hall. No more will be admitted than can be seated in audience room. Come early and get seats.

A very pleasant farewell reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Howard Tuesday evening at the residence of Divine Dean. A goodly number were present and an enjoyable evening was the outcome. A handsome easy chair was presented them as a token of remembrance.

Dr. Willis Edwards the well-known clairvoyant psychic of Chicago, lectured in Odd Fellow hall on last Thursday evening. This distinguished exponent of spiritualism was a great drawing card and succeeded in filling the handsome hall of the Odd Fellows to overflowing. Standing room in the ante-rooms being all that late comers could secure. His lecture was of considerable interest and was greatly appreciated, particularly so by believers in his faith. His spirit tests, while not clear to the average person, was particularly enjoyed by those who believe that such is the true religion.

You can earn $5 each day "giving" our absolutely indispensable household article away. New plan of work, making experience unnecessary and success certain for either sex in any section. Sample dozen free. Credit given. Freight paid. Address, MELROSE M'F'g. Co., 125 Melrose Park, Ill.

Two big days at Hutch Kellogg's on his farm 2 miles east of Genoa. There will be a big horse race on Friday and on Saturday a great clearing sale. This will be the largest sale of the season. Everybody come. Plenty to eat and drink.

—We are more than pleased with our millinery department. We are doing a most satisfactory business, only the latest creations in the milliner's art and at bed rock prices. That's what is doing it. E. Crawford Last Sunday morning Rev. E. J. Rose preached his first sermon in Genoa to a large and well-pleased congregation. He is decidedly clerical looking and has a fluent and easy delivery. That he will be liked is certain. He is a pleasant gentleman to meet outside the pulpit, and we bespeak for him a kindly reception by our people.

RIOT AND BLOODSHED.

Constantinople the Scene of Many Wild Deeds.

The Armenians and Turkish Police Have a Fierce Encounter—Hundreds of Christians Pinned Up, and Many Others Killed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Secretary Olney late Wednesday afternoon received the following dispatch from Minister Terrell:

"CONSTANTINOPLE Oct. 2.—Monday several hundred Armenians marched on the porte, professedly to ask redress for grievances. The patriarch tried to prevent it. A conflict occurred between the Armenians and the police. Probably about sixty Turks and Armenians were killed, and among others a Turkish major. Many were wounded. The Armenians carried pistols. Tuesday several more were killed. Tuesday night there were eighty killed. Several hundred have been imprisoned. The porte had notice of the demonstration, which it said, was organized by leaders of the Hunchagist revolutionists, whom they have captured. Much terror exists. I think the porte will be able to restrain fanaticism."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—Five hundred arrests have been made in connection with the recent rioting of Armenians here. The government is greatly alarmed, and the garrison is kept under arms. During the rioting Monday and Tuesday nearly 200 persons were killed.

Trouble among the Armenians of this city has been brewing for a long time past, the bitter feeling against the authorities growing stronger as week after week passes without the adoption by the Turkish government of the scheme for reform in Armenia proposed by the representatives of the powers. The long-smoldering flames of discontent, carefully fanned by the Armenian agitators, have at last broken out.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard, under date of Wednesday, telegraphs to his paper: The Armenian patriarch was on Tuesday invited to attend the porte, but he declined because none of his followers were allowed to accompany him. He remained at the patriarchate shut up with several hundred armed Armenians.

Reviewing the incident it appears that the police generally were not supplied with ball cartridges. They were instructed to use the flats of their swords and the butts of their rifles. Such provocation as they gave in the first instance was verbal. The Armenians fired first. With the exception of the massacre of the prisoners the most violence was committed by the Softas and the lowest class of Moslems, none of whom however, appear to have been arrested or otherwise checked.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7.—The result of the conference held by the foreign diplomats here to consider the situation arising from the rioting on Monday and Tuesday, was that the Dragomans of the several embassies and legations were directed to protest to the foreign minister against the excesses of the police and equally against the barbarity of the Mussulman mob in regard to the arrested and wounded Armenians, several of whom were beaten to death with bludgeons, while others were cruelly mutilated. The Dragomans were also directed to call the porte's serious attention to the whole affair and to beg the foreign minister to see that measures were adopted to prevent foreigners from suffering and to restore order.

Hon. A. W. Terrell, the minister of the United States, made a special request that measures be adopted for the safety of the American missionaries in the Koumkapou quarter. His representations had the desired effect.

The city is quiet. It is evident that the government has taken every precaution to prevent any further disorder, and to quell any rioting should it occur in spite of the measures adopted to prevent it. One of the precautions taken was the posting of guards around the Turkish quarters to prevent the inhabitants from leaving them in order to go to those parts of the city occupied by Armenians.

Late Friday afternoon the police were withdrawn from the patriarchate and other churches and kahns in which Armenians had taken refuge, and all those who had sought safety in these structures were invited to return peaceably to their homes. Some took advantage of the invitation, but others, fearing treachery, determined to remain where they were until such time as the popular excitement had further abated.

The Softas were guilty of great excesses on Tuesday, and especially during the raid on the Armenian quarter, which they made at night. At Tookrthesme, near Stamboul, the students and populace broke into an Armenian building, killed fifteen persons and wounded thirty-five others. In addition, it is said that they conveyed the wounded to the shore and threw them into the sea.

It is learned from a reliable source that more than 1,000 Armenians have been arrested and cast into prison on the charge of having been actively concerned in the rioting or having instigated the trouble.

During the rioting on Tuesday crowds of Mohammedans took advantage of the great excitement to loot many Armenian shops and offices. Their spoil is reported to have been quite valuable.

The Humble Life.

AUTHOR OF THE ADVENTURES OF A FAIR REBEL.

[Copyright, 1894, by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

II.

Gray daylight was shining along the eastern horizon when they at last reached home. Al carried his sweet-heart over the threshold into the room. Poor Lizzy sat before the fire with her apron over her face, weeping dully.

"Oh, me; oh, me; Eph, an' Eddy an' now her too."

On the bed the sick child tossed and moaned.

"I wants my pa; I wants my pa."

That gray wintry morning found the revenue officers and their prisoner far on the way to Atlanta, and at nightfall Ephraim White was lodged in jail. It gave him a strange feeling to hear the cell doors close and the key turn in the lock. He sat down on the edge of the hard cot, and put his face in his hands for a moment. It was the first time he fully realized the situation and what it meant to be behind the bolts and bars of a prison. His bold, free spirit quailed a little; he thought of his wife and child with poignant regret, with deep and keen sympathy. Others had been captured and carried away from the mountains, and he had listened to tales of prison-life that set his heart aflame with anger, but he had never believed such a fate would be his.

Who gave that alarm on the mountain? He felt again the thrill it sent through him when it pierced the silence of the night. He remembered just where he was standing, what he was doing. He had raised a blazing splinter from the fire to light his pipe. But the pipe must have shared the fate promises to return and give himself up were heard with derision and doubt.

"As the Almighty hears me I will come back when he gets better," he said with tears running down his face. "He's the only little un I've got. Lemme see him fore he dies."

But that night he lay down on his prison cot stupid with despair, knowing that he could only get his liberty by breaking jail, and how could he do that? He had a dim remembrance of prison doors opening for the escape of certain Apostles, but that happened only in the days of miracles. It never could happen to a poor sinner like him. Nevertheless, he prayed, and prayed after a different fashion than ever he had worded his petitions before, prayed with a fervor and passion called forth by his extreme need.

It must have been near midnight or perhaps later that it seemed to him he was awakened by some one calling him and he looked up and saw his child with outstretched arms.

"Pa, oh pa."
"Yes, honey. Yes, yes, I'm comin'," he cried, leaping out on the cold floor. But the vision had fled. Nothing more than blank darkness met his gaze. He dashed to the iron grated window. His hands, his arms, his whole body seemed endowed with the strength of ten men.

"Yes, honey, yes; pa's comin'," he muttered again and wrenched the bars like a mad man.

He never could have told himself how they were loosened and torn out, nor how he managed to escape detection as he scaled the high spiked fence. He only knew that presently he stood upon the deserted street, shivering with cold and fumbling in an inner pocket for the money he carried. Two other men escaped that night, one a murderer and the other a noted thief, and in the hue and cry after them, it

Eddy all about it, an' he lows I must go, that he'll not cry or whimper while I'm gone. That child has got a wonderful sight of sense. He's more sensible than some men, yes, than a great many men. Yes, I'm goin' to do the fair thing by the Almighty. He done it by me. He let me come home an' lie let my child live, an' now I ain't goin' back on my word."

So he returned and surrendered himself. But that honest deed earned its own reward. His sentence was so light that when the green of spring clothed all the mountains and the laurel was in bloom he returned home a free man, and in time to see Al and S'mantha married.

[THE END.]

Bonaparte's Heroic Example.

During a stay in Jaffa in March, 1799, Bonaparte visited the hospitals, which were filled with the sick, and where the fever was raging with deplorable results. He expressed great compassion for their sufferings and was apparently much affected by so melancholy a spectacle. He passed through all the wards, extending encouragement and sympathy to the suffering. Baron Larrey, the principal surgeon on the French staff, after his return to Europe, spoke in the highest terms of Bonaparte's care and attention to the sick and wounded soldiers. "I have seen him," he says, "in the hospitals of Jaffa, inspecting the wards and talking familiarly with the soldiers attacked by the epidemic fever, a conduct which produced the best effects on the spirits not only of the sick but the whole army. This heroic example at the same time encouraged the hospital attendants, whom the progress of the disease and the fear of contagion had alarmed considerably."

Narrow Escape.

Mr. Wilson had read so much about the danger of a certain much-talked-about disease that he had done his best to make Mrs. Wilson and their little daughter Maud chew their grapes and eject the seeds, instead of swallowing them according to the usual custom. Maud found the new method little to her taste, and her father had frequent occasion to reprove her for not minding his instructions. One day the little girl was under the weather, and her mother thought it necessary to administer a dose of medicine, in the shape of two small pellets. These, after the manner of thoughtful parents, she concealed in a spoonful of marmalade, which she then offered to the unsuspecting patient. A moment later she was startled to hear Maud exclaim: "Here, mamma, here are the seeds. Wasn't it lucky? I came awful near swallowing them."—Youth's Companion.

Japanese Pockets.

Japanese folks have six or eight pockets cunningly inserted in the cuffs of their wide sleeves. These pockets are always filled with a curious miscellany peculiar to the droll little people. As common as twine in young America's pocket is the prayer amulet written on delicate sheets of rice paper and composed by the bonzes. In accordance with the abiding and funny faith of the Japanese women these prayers are swallowed, paper and all, like a pill, in cases of mental and physical distress. Another essential, never missing, is a number of small squares of silky paper, which is put to the most unexpected purpose—to hold the stem of a lotus or lily, to dry a teacup, wipe away a tear or blow the absurd little nose of the doll-like little woman. The very smartest people in Japan use this style of handkerchief for practical purposes.

An Attractive Window.

The head of the house had told the new clerk to try his hand at window dressing.

"I want you to make every woman on the street look at that window," he said.

The clerk went at it. He made a curtain of solid black velvet and hung it close inside the plate glass.

"What on earth are you doing?" asked the senior member.

"Making a mirror of the window," said the clerk. "If the women won't look at that they won't look at anything."

The clerk is a member of the firm now.—Brains.

His Scheme for Revenge.

"Madam," said the occupant of one of the front seats in the main balcony, turning to the lady in the enormous hat who sat almost directly behind him, "this is a better seat than yours, but I will take it as a favor if you will exchange with me."

"Sir!"

"I mean it, madam," he persisted. "The man two seats behind this one kicked me out of his office the other day because I dunned him. I want to get even with the scoundrel."—Chicago Tribune.

TEN MEN SLAIN.

Awful Result of an Explosion of Gas in a Mine.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 8.—Shortly after 5 o'clock Monday afternoon an explosion of gas occurred in the Dorrance mine, operated by the Lehigh Valley Coal company, which is situated in the northwestern part of the city.

At 8 o'clock five men, all badly burned, were brought to the surface. At midnight the bodies of the members of the engineer corps and six laborers were brought to the surface by the rescuing party.

The following are dead: William Cahill, W. L. Jones and L. Owens, mining engineers; Daniel Reese, mine boss, and six unknown laborers.

Injured—Robert Blanchard and William Miller, fatally; George Lally, Michael Moss and Joseph Murphy, seriously burned.

When Blanchard was found he was being slowly roasted to death. The gas had set fire to his clothes and they had been almost burned off his body when the rescuers came upon him. Miller with his broken arms could render him no assistance, and Blanchard was so pinned down by the debris that he could not make use of his hands.

Blanchard gave his version of the explosion to a reporter as he lay on a cot in the hospital. Shortly before 5 o'clock the engineer corps decided to make a survey of a portion of the old abandoned workings, known as the Baltimore section, which underlie the Wilkesbarre baseball clubhouse, 1 mile distant from the main opening of the mine. The party, which was in charge of Fire Boss Daniel Reese, who is an expert on mine gases, consisted of William Jones, William Cahill, and Llewellyn Owens. Blanchard and Miller were left behind to finish some work that had been started in the morning. About twelve minutes after the party had left Miller and Blanchard the explosion occurred. Both Miller and Blanchard were knocked down by its force. Flying timbers also struck Miller, breaking both his arms. After being knocked down Miller and Blanchard remembered nothing until they were revived at the hospital.

UNCLE SAM KICKS.

Won't Allow Fitz and Corbett to Fight in His Yard.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The managers of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill will meet with as effectual opposition at the hands of the United States government as they did with Gov. Culberson, of Texas, if they endeavor to pull off the big fight in the Indian territory. The United States statutes are sufficient to prevent the fight, and steps looking to that end are now being taken by the interior department, and should the managers of the affair invade the Indian territory they will be ejected as intruders. The class of people that will be brought into the territory to witness the fight are considered a demoralizing element to the Indians, and their presence is not wanted there. United States officers of the territory will be instructed to see that the statutes are enforced and the fight prevented. Ample means would be furnished these officials to eject intruders, and the chiefs of the five civilized tribes will be instructed to cooperate with the United States officers in the matter. Officials at Washington laugh at the absurdity of the statement that the principals of the fight would join the Choctaws or some other tribe to enable them to successfully cope with the authorities and pull off the mill. Such action on their part would not aid them in the least in the fulfillment of their object.

POWERS AFTER THE TURK.

A Joint Note Making Strong Demands Sent by Diplomats.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6, via Sofia, Oct. 8.—The representatives of the six powers have sent a collective note to the Turkish government, calling attention to the inadequate measures taken by the police authorities to maintain public tranquility in Constantinople and its suburbs and demanding the prompt institution of a rigorous inquiry into the recent rioting, bloodshed, and wholesale imprisonment of Armenians here. In addition, the powers demand the release of all prisoners who are innocent of wrong doing and the cessation of arrests.

It is stated on what is seemingly good authority that the representatives of the powers have ordered the warships here of the nations they represent to take their positions along the quay.

TOWN IN A PANIC.

Two More Deaths Result from the Sabula (La.) Poisoning.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 8.—The state board of health has received an appeal from Sabula, where a large part of the population are suffering from the wholesale poisoning which occurred at a wedding three weeks ago. Two more died Monday, making four dead. D. C. Gage, groom at the wedding, will die, and others are almost certain to do so. The wails of the victims can be heard all over the town day and night. Over 100 are now confined by the complaint. The doctors believe it is trichinosis, but the symptoms reported to the state board, which has sent a representative to Sabula, are those of cholera. The doctors there are exhausted and the town is in a condition of panic.

MACEO WOUNDED.

Leader of the Cuban Insurgents Shot in a Battle.

HAVANA, Oct. 8.—The Spanish have dealt the Cuban insurgents a severe blow, if the official reports given out are to be relied upon. The rebels have met with defeat and Gen. Antonio Maceo has been badly wounded. Many of his followers were killed or wounded.

The battle, said to be the most bloody of the present war, was fought in the country between Soa Arribia and San Fernando, in the Holguin district of Santiago de Cuba. The insurgents were commanded by Gen. Maceo, while the Spanish troops were commanded by Gen. Excalague.

The insurgents, numbering 3,000 infantry and 800 cavalry, laid in wait for Gen. Excalague, who appeared at the head of 1,800 infantry and 300 cavalry. The Spanish troops also possessed one field cannon. Gen. Excalague distributed his men in admirable fashion and planned to fall at certain specified times upon the positions held by the insurgents. The revolutionists, aware of his movements, arranged for a strong outpost to check the impetuosity of the Spanish troops. The regular Spanish forces paid little attention to the small body of men stationed at the outposts and rushed to the main force. The insurgents made a desperate resistance, which lasted seven hours.

Finally Gen. Maceo, seeing his men in a critical situation, rushed to the front with his staff. He had scarcely taken a position in front of the line, when he fell seriously wounded. His followers at once placed him on stretchers and succeeded in carrying him off the field.

As soon as it was known that Gen. Maceo had been wounded all was confusion in the ranks of the insurgents, who, according to official advices here, were put to flight, leaving upon the field twenty killed and several wounded. Spanish officials estimate that before Maceo fell fully 150 dead and wounded insurgents were carried from the field.

FALL TRADE.

Indications Warrant the Most Hopeful Anticipations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Bradstreet's says of the trade situation:

"Seasonable weather has stimulated sales of merchandise and increased the prospects of a favorable fall trade generally. Among the less favorable features are a moderate demand in staple lines on the Pacific coast, a reaction in the volume of business at Baltimore, and the check to the advance in prices of iron and steel, with a reaction of about one dollar per ton at Ohio valley and Pennsylvania centers.

"In a letter to the editor of Bradstreet's, concerning the national finances, Hon. Worthington C. Ford, chief of the bureau of statistics, treasury department, states the reasons why, in his opinion, there will be no deficit in the national revenues during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898. His estimates of the revenues for the current year is $190,000,000 from customs, $85,000,000 from taxes on distilled spirits, $60,000,000 from tobacco and fermented liquors and $16,000,000 from other sources, or a total of $351,000,000, which, it is declared, will be sufficient to cover the normal expenditures of the government."

"September bank clearing reflect the spread of favorable trade conditions, but more especially where trade has been backward. Total clearings at sixty-one cities for September aggregate $4,132,855,553, a gain over August of about six-tenths of 1 percent; over September, 1893 (panic year), of 23 percent. Compared with 1892 the decrease is 13 percent. Gains are heaviest in the eastern and middle states and are larger in the western, southwestern and northwestern states than in August. Among seventy-nine cities, comparing with September last year, only one-quarter show decreases. Compared with September, 1893, only seven cities show losses. The heaviest gain shown by any large city over September last year is at Cleveland, 34 percent., but New York, Minneapolis, Buffalo, Columbus, Boston, Pittsburgh, New Orleans and St. Louis all show heavy gains.

"Chicago sales of dry goods, clothing and shoes are larger than last week, and at St. Louis the September volume of trade is the heaviest since 1892. Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Paul and Duluth are conspicuous for activity in trade circles. Duluth's population is now nearly 60,000, compared with 33,000 five years ago. Demand for lake freights is active, and rates are tending up. New Orleans reports large freight room engagements for December and January to load grain, and on the Pacific coast Seattle announces it will export about 1,600,000 bushels of wheat this season."

A PLATFORM FALLS.

One Person Killed and Many Others Hurt at Loraine, O.

LORAINE, O., Oct. 8.—The laying of the corner stone for the new St. Mary's Catholic church in this city Sunday was accompanied by an awful disaster. Fully 5,000 people were in attendance and the priests were about ready to proceed with the services when an accident occurred that created a panic and killed a little girl and wounded about twenty-five more, several of them fatally.

The foundation for the building extended about 10 feet above the basement bottom, and on this was erected a platform where the ceremonies were being held. Over 1,000 persons were standing on the floor when a section of it, containing about 300 people, sank beneath its burden and precipitated them into the pit. The section which gave way was in two wings, and as it sank it formed a death trap for the people, from which there was no chance of escape. The pit resembled an inverted roof of very steep slant, the ends being closed up by stone walls, and into this it was that there were crowded men, women and children in one struggling heap.

Bridge Construction Approved.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Secretary Lamont has approved the plans for the construction of a bridge over the north branch of the Chicago river, at North Halsted street, city of Chicago. The city is to erect the bridge.

"LORD, LEMME GIT THAR QUICK."

of the 'still'ry. He ground his teeth as he thought of standing helplessly by while his property was being destroyed.

"I'd like to 'a' tuk a hand agin 'em for a few minutes," he muttered to himself, grimly. "I low they'd 'a' ben somethin' like a wreck, too."

How his tameless spirit, bred in the wild fastnesses of the mountains, chafed and raged during the ensuing week. A weight of anxiety hung upon him. He had never before been separate from his wife and child for so long a time. What would Eddy think of the long absence and would they dare explain its meaning to him? Eph writhed and paced the narrow limits of his cell as he, in fancy, saw the pale little fellow, watching for him day after day. He had never been robust and full of healthy animal spirits like other children, and the father's heart had yearned over him from his birth. The idle days lagged drearily to the imprisoned man. But one morning a letter came for him, an ill-spelt scrawl that he had to ask a fellow prisoner to read to him. The news it brought was worse than anything he could have imagined. Eddy was sick, sick unto death, and constantly calling for him. If he did not come home the child would certainly die, but if he did the doctor thought there might be a chance of saving his life.

"Oh, du cum, du cum, ef you have tu break jail tu git here." Lizzy prayed in conclusion. "Mebby they'll let you out, if they know he's so sick."

Eph heard the reading with ashen cheeks and wild eyes.

"Go, I reckon I will go ef I have to pull down every brick in this jail house. Eddy sick an' me not there to take keer o' him. He's me Almighty God, oh he's me."

It is needless to dwell upon his vain appeals first to the jailer, and then to the federal authorities, for liberty. Their dealings with men had not been of a kind to increase their faith in human nature. Some believed that it was a clumsy scheme to escape, others that if the child was ill, no good could be accomplished by his presence. His seemed a small thing to lose a moonshiner.

Eph White was climbing Brandreth's peak the night after his escape, taking great, swift strides, or running where the path was smooth and level. The nearer home, the more frantic his haste. Snow was falling and the wind was bitter cold, but he took off his coat and wiped beads of perspiration from his face. All day his ears had been haunted by that appealing childish cry: "Pa! oh, pa!" for him; the dusky woods were filled with little pattering feet, with tender baby voices. "I'm comin', honey, I'm comin'." Lord! Lemme git thar quick! lemme git thar quick!" he sobbed and prayed as he ran. He lost his hat and hung his coat from him as he leaped the corn rows in the clearing.

"I wants my pa, oh, my pa!"

He heard that feeble, piteous wail as he reached the doorstep. It melted the very core of his heart. The next moment he was in the room at the bedside and had gathered that fragile, fever-stricken little form to his heart. They looked at each other for a moment in utter silence, the child and the man, and then over the child's wan face a faint smile shone and the sobbing breath sunk to a whisper.

"Why, it's pa."

"Yes, honey, ye little un, I'd a come if the whole earth had stood atween us. Lie still an' let pa sing you to sleep."

His broad, rough hand stroked the little face tenderly, he crooned inarticulately while tears trickled unheeded down his face.

"Yes, he's out of danger, an' I'm goin' back to stand my trial. I had to come. Nothin' could 'a' held me. When I seed him in that dream—it must 'a' ben a dream—holdin' out his little arms an' callin' me, I felt that wais couan't o' me made thick enough an' iron bars strong enough to keep me from him. An' God Almighty gave me the strength to get free. It wasn't a natchel strength, an' now I'm goin' to be an honest man an' go back. I said I would. I said it all along, and I'm goin' to do it. I've told

Most people who saw Gov. Altgeld at DeKalb last week will realize what a large amount of truthfulness there is in the following simple sentence: The nearer you get to a great man; the smaller he looks.

Mrs. Julia Gross and Rev. Rees were called to Sycamore on last Wednesday the former to visit her children and the latter on business.

Mrs. M. W. Cole, Worthy Matron of Kishwaukee Chapter, O. E. S., was present at the meeting of the Grand Chapter of Ill. at Chicago last week.

Frank C. Poust, Worshipful Master of Kishwaukee Lodge, was in attendance at the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Chicago several days last week.

Mrs. Kittie McMillan and child, who have been spending the summer here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thurston, returned to their home in Chicago, on Friday.

Ula Roberts has been moving his personal property onto the Preston farm south of Genoa, the past week, which he will occupy the coming year.

The trustees of the Baptist church met in a very important business session at M. W. Cole's Bank last Wednesday.

Our genial Supervisor, M. W. Cole takes as much pride in the bill recently passed by the board of Supervisors, appropriating $5,000 for the erection of a monument in Court House Park, Sycamore, to the memory of DeKalb County soldiers, as does a small boy in a new pair of red-top boots.

The Young Ladies Mite Society met at the home of Mrs. H. G. Burgess on last Thursday evening and elected the following officers:

Vice Pres., Mrs. H. G. Burgess.
Secretary, Miss Jessie Kepple.
Treasurer, Miss Lillian Hill.

At the close of the sessions of the Rock River Conference, which has been the longest in its history, Rev. E. K. D. Hester left for Indiana to join his family, and returned to this place on Saturday, accompanied by them. A sister of Mrs. Hester also came with them and will remain here a short time.

The knoll just north of the new school building has been levelled off and carried down in scrapers to fill in the low ground in front of the building. After the grounds have been sown to grass they will look handsome to say the least. About half a dozen teams have been employed in the work.

Chas. Lettow and wife have been taking steps toward securing a divorce from each other for the past few weeks, but last week his wife who was formerly Jessie Osterhaut, concluded not to wait for the hand of law to separate them but went off with the hired man, J. W. Baroes, whom she had known only a month. The pair were traced to Chicago by Deputy Sheriff Holcomb, of Sycamore, but Mr. Lettow will apply for a divorce and not interfere with them. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lettow are well known here but for the past two years have been living south of Genoa. She left their three year old son with her mother

J. R. Russell, of DeKalb, was in town last week transacting business for his brother, Jno. Russell.

Mrs. Mary Dockham returned on last Thursday from a several month's sojourn at various points of interest in Michigan and Wisconsin in company with her brother, Col. L. H. Whitney. She also visited in Chicago a short time.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Apr. 16, 1894.—I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism and found it to be all that is claimed for it, I believe it to be the best preparation for rheumatism and deep seated muscular pains on the market and cheerfully recommend it to the public. J. G. BROOKS, dealer in boots shoes, etc. No. 81 Main St.

MECHANICSVILLE, Md.—I sold a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm to a man who had been suffering with rheumatism for several years. It made him a well man. A. J. MCGILL, 50 cents per bottle at F T Robinson's, Genoa and H R Fuller, Kinzston.

Mrs. J. P. Bell, Ossawatimie, Kan. wife of the editor of The Graphic, the leading local paper of Miami county, writes: "I was troubled with heart disease for six years, severe palpitations, shortness of breath, together with such extreme nervousness, that, at times I would walk the floor nearly all night. We consulted the best medical talent. They said there was no help for me, that I had organic disease of the heart for which there was no remedy. I had read your advertisement in The Graphic and a year ago, as a last resort, tried one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which convinced me that there was true merit in it. I took three bottles each of the Heart Cure and Restorative Nerve and it completely cured me. I sleep well at night, my heart beats regularly and I have no more smothering spells. I wish to say to all who are suffering as I did; there's relief untold for them if they will only give your remedies just one trial." Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.00 per bottle, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
