NOTES FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Sheriff Decker and State's Attorney Poust Pull Big Raid

10 "18TH" VIOLATORS ARRESTED

Brought Before Judge Pond Monday Fines Ranging from $300 to $100 and Costs Were Imposed

State's Attorney Poust and Sheriff Decker conducted a raid last Wednesday on the home of Mrs. Della Peterson, 713 East Lincoln Highway, DeKalb, resulting in her arrest and that of two inmates, Percy L. Parker and Lottie Bassett, on charges of violating the prohibition act. A quantity of liquor was also confiscated. Sheriff Decker had the home of Mrs. Peterson under observation for some time and was convinced from the number of persons who visited the house, that business was carried on by the wholesale. The source of supply was known to be Chicago, and the raid was deferred several times so as to secure the arrest of the person who brought it out. Having missed by a few minutes the man who brought it out from Chicago last Sunday night the Sheriff decided to wait until Wednesday night, as this was the day when some more of the liquor was to be delivered. Wednesday night, however, no delivery was made but the number of persons who visited the house soon convinced the sheriff that an abundant supply must still be on hand and the raid was made. Mrs. Peterson, when brought before the state's attorney soon confessed her guilt and made a confession naming her cousin, John Dawson, of Chicago, as the man who supplied the liquor. The liquor was brought out from Chicago in a Ford machine. She also gave a detailed list of her customers which resulted in the arrest of six other violators not including the ones arrested in the raid. John Dawson was arrested by the Chicago police on advice of the local authorities and was brought back last Friday night. At first he maintained he was innocent but when confronted with the statements of the others, he too, confessed that he brought the liquor out from Chicago and arranged with Mrs. Peterson to sell it for him at $15.00 per gallon, of which $3.00 was to be her commission. Percy Parker also agreed to assist in making the sales outside of the house. He to receive an unlimited quantity of drinks for his trouble.

Those arrested as a result of the raid were as follows:

- Bert Smith, Sycamore.
- Chas. Martin, DeKalb
- Bob Lattimer, DeKalb
- Frank Larkin, Sycamore
- James Gorman, DeKalb
- Lottie Bassett, DeKalb
- Della Peterson, DeKalb
- John Dawson, Chicago
- Percy L. Parker, DeKalb.
- James McCarvel, DeKalb

All of the violators were brought up before Judge Pond on Monday in the county court on information filed against them by State's Attorney and plead guilty. Mrs. Peterson attempted to shift the blame on her cousin stating that he forced the liquor on her and she wanted to dispose of it as soon as possible. Dawson on the other hand claimed that she wrote him to bring it out. Dawson is a married man with two small children and his wife appeared in court with him. He was fined $300 and costs and Mrs. Peterson suffered the same fate being also fined $300 and costs. Bert Smith had a little bad luck with his first purchase as it was stolen from him before he tasted it and therefore went back for some more which he disposed of. He was fined $100 and costs. Percy Parker for his part was fined $200 and costs. Mrs. Bassett attempted to wash away part of the fine in tears and was fined $100 and costs, the remaining men getting the same amount. The total amount of fines imposed was $1500, one of the largest "hauls" in DeKalb county.

Leafie Gilchrist Duval of Genoa filed her bill for partition in the circuit court against Charles Gilchrist and others. It is alleged in the bill that the father of complainant, Warran Gilchrist, died October 31, 1897, leaving forty acres of farm land and leaving Henrietta Gilchrist, his widow,

CARELESS AUTO DRIVING Is a Bad Practice and Should Be Stopped

There seems to be a little misunderstanding among one or two persons in town about the rules governing the driving of an auto. In the first place the road is the place to keep the car and in the second place driving on the walks is not being practiced this year in the cities.

Whether or not a car going approximately thirty miles an hour shall be suddenly turned toward pedestrians on the walk and either force the people on the walk to move or get hit is not stated in the law books, but we do know that the consensus of opinion rules that said auto performing such fetes had better keep to the beaten path.

COMMUNITY CLUB DISBANDED

The annual meeting of the Community club was held at the rest room on Monday afternoon May 1.

Philanthropic committee reported on the school milk fund, total cost to the club for April $3.25.

The nominating committee, being unable to find anyone to accept the presidency of the club, it was voted to dissolve and reorganize at some future date.

There being enough funds in the treasury to finish the work of the civic department, they were given authority to use same, and will complete the work at waterworks park.

After the business meeting, a very interesting paper on "The Selection of Reading for Children" was read by Mrs. Nellie Sandall.

Before adjournment a rising vote of thanks was given Irma Perkins, who has served very efficiently as club president for nearly three years.

P. E. O. DINNER

One of the most enjoyable affairs of this spring was the dinner given last Wednesday evening for the P. E. O. Sisterhood at the hospitable home of Mrs. Lois Brown, past president.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in the P. E. O. colors, white and yellow with the P. E. O. star much in evidence. Vases of white and yellow marguerites being used on the tables. All fourteen members were present. After the dinner the regular business meeting was held, followed by the reading of an interesting article on "Motion Pictures" by Marjorie Browne.

GENOA'S NEW PASSENGER TRAIN

The Chicago, Milwaukee St. P. R. R. has at last condescended to put on an early morning train to Chicago. It leaves Genoa at 5:07 a. m. and arrives in Chicago at 7:13 a. m. standard time or 8:13 Chicago time. Leaving Chicago at 10:40 p. m. standard time or 11:40 p. m. Chicago time it arrives in Genoa at 12:44 a. m.

This makes an ideal train for people who attend shows after a day of shopping.

TEAMSTERS ON STRIKE

Genoa's teamsters are on a strike when it comes to working for the city at $6 per day. They are holding out for $7 and it looks now as though they will get it unless a compromise is affected.

Until the men agree to accept the wages offered by the city or the city agrees to pay the men what they ask, there will not be any "clean-up" day.

ICE DELIVERY

Duval & Awe have announced that they will deliver ice daily to all customers if they so desire and will make regular calls for the re-filling of ice-boxes. They desire to make it known that they will strive to please their customers at all times and a call for delivery may be made by phoning 197 the evening previous to delivery. The price will be only 45 cents per hundred pounds. Advertisement.

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Perkins entertained three couples at a dinner party at their apartment on Sycamore St. last Thursday evening. After a delicious course dinner a few rubbers of bridge were played.

Leafie Gilchrist now Leafie Gilchrist Duval. Charles Gilchrist and Lawrence Gilchrist as his heirs at law. That his widow died and the land now vests in the complainant, also Charles Gilchrist and Lawrence Gilchrist, share and share alike. The complainant asks that the land be partitioned, and in the event this cannot be done that the same be sold and proceeds divided.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENT'N

Will be Held in The Genoa M. E. Church Thursday (Today) and Friday

ALL COUNTY SCHOOLS ENTERED

Registration This (Thursday) Evening At 7:30 O'clock—Banquet Friday Evening

Today (Thursday) and to-morrow, Genoa is and will be overrun with visitors from the other cities and towns of DeKalb county who are attending the county Sunday school convention in the Genoa M. E. church.

To say that it is quite an honor for Genoa and the members of the Sunday school to be able to get the convention here, is saying little, but nevertheless, it is here and the people of our city should be highly honored and do all in their power to make the brief visit of the visitors as entertaining as possible.

The opening of the convention took place at nine o'clock this morning and will continue until tomorrow (Friday) evening. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the meetings and your presence will be most welcome.

Friday night at 6:00 o'clock the Philathea class will serve a banquet to the persons attending the convention and it is expected that about three-hundred will participate of the dinner. This is quite an undertaking and everything is being done by the ladies of the class.

GENOA LOSES TO KIRKLAND Drop a Fast Game of Ball Sunday by Score 5 to 10

The Genoa Nationals went to Kirkland Sunday prepared to mark another victory to their credit, and they did try hard, but were defeated in a snappy contest 5 to 10.

Lefty Trader, late of the 3-I league was on the mound for Kirkland and all he seemed to have on the ball was his hand. LeDeaux heaved for Genoa and it looked as though he would come through with the long end of the score for a few innings until Kirkland seemed to take a liking to his offerings in the fourth inning and chalked up four runs.

As we said before, it was a good game to watch; fast fielding, double plays and about everything that the average ball game boasts of.

Kirkland started the scoring in the second inning and Genoa came right back with two runs. Again in the next inning Genoa accumulated a run off a couple of safe aways and then Kirkland got real peevish and landed on LeDeaux for four runs.

Genoa has the makings of a good team this year and if the way they hammered Lefty Trader is any indication of their batting strength, what will they do with the average bunch of pitchers they go up against? It now looks as though they will knock them all over the lot. Here's hoping, anyway.

DE KALB ELKS ASKED TO "DIG"

For New Home—Notices sent to Members to Make Payment on Fund

Chronicle: Dig, and dig geep, is the substance of an appeal sent to members of the B. P. O. Elks today, especially those who have subscribed to the building fund. The letter sent out by Killian, is, to say the least, one that will make members of the Elks read it over twice, to get what the secretary has to say.

To bring out the point of his argument in the letter Killian is compelled to tell one of his favorite stories, and the members are today discussing this feature of the letter.

An appeal is made in the letter sent out to contributing members that as much of the sum pledged, be turned into Henry Rolfe at the First Trust & Savings bank at once.

A payment is required on the new home; another is required before possession will be given, and it is this second payment that the committee is now anxious to get into the bank.

It is estimated in various circles around town that there is a possibility of the Elks getting possession of the new quarters about the first of September possibly before.

The Mayo property will make an ideal Elks home. Some improvements will be made at a later date, and of course the necessary work will be done at once.

Secretary Killian, working with the new home committee, is doing his best to get the other members of the organization to dig down for the money that no delay may come, when the plans are made to move.

MAY MILK $1.70—JUNE $1.50

President Frank Holt of the Milk Producers' association announced last Saturday that farmers will receive $1.70 per hundred pounds for their milk in May. This is the same as the April price.

The June price will be $1.50 a hundred pounds, ten cents less than at present.

"We obtained the two months' price from the buyers after one of the greatest fights the milk board has ever had to get a price," said the president. "Late yesterday we reached an agreement which although not pleasing to us was the best that we believe could be obtained."

The dealers asked for a price of $1.50 a hundred pounds, the price which wrecked the marketing company last fall and which was the lowest in years.

With milk producers of the Chicago district split as they are now into two factions, dairy leaders say, the price paid farmers for their milk will continue to be low.

New Contract Nearly Ready

The milk marketing committee of mine, meeting in Chicago to lay plans for a big Chicago district marketing company to succeed the Milk Producers' Co-Operative Marketing company announced that the new contract, which is its biggest job in the securing of harmony among the farmers is nearly completed.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Contributed by Students of the G. T. H. S.—Iolene Gallagher, Editor

Last Friday afternoon the agricultural class met in the library to view a picture on the "U. S. Forest Reserves". A small machine was used and the picture was thrown on the wall. The damage done by the forest fires was shown as well as the preventative measures taken by the rangers.

Fire Drill

r. Mackenzie gave a lecture Monday morning on the subject "Fire Drills." The alarm was sounded the second period and as a result of the explicit directions given; the school was emptied in a very short time.

Assembly

An excellent assembly program was given Friday in charge of the seventh and eighth grades with Keith Saul acting as chairman. The program was as follows: An announcement of 7th grade officers; piano solo "Burning of Rome," Rosa Gordon; a reading "The Book of Life" by Helen Hill; piano solo "The Snake Charmer" by Francis Corson; reading, "Nobody's Mule" Beatrice Whitney; piano duet "Salute to the Colors," Lorene Hemenway and Marcella Kohn; dialogue "Quakery" Kenneth Cooper and Montford Bennett; piano solo, "Apple Blossoms" William Schmidt; humorous reading "Borrowing a Pie" Freda Montgomery. The two songs sung by the Agonizing Black Cat Quartet, were apparently not so agonizing for they received a hearty encore. Song "Sleep Drowsy Baby" by Ione Stott closed the program and we wish to thank her very much for her kind assistance and the school would surely appreciate the help of any townspeople in the programs.

A cordial invitation is extended to the parents and general public to attend these assemblies every Friday afternoon at 3:30 p. m.

Lawn Improvements

It is expected that the campus at the high school will be greatly improved by the end of the school year. The lawn has been plowed up and sown with grass seed. Trees are also being trimmed and a general campus clean-up is in order.

NEW GRAVITY-DUMP TRUCK

Being Manufactured by the Ford Co. Great Help to Road Work

E. W. Lindgren received two new Ford gravity-dump trucks last week that will go to road repair men near Fairdale and Monroe Center. To say that the body is a neat appearing piece of work is putting it mildly and the ease with which a loaded truck may be dumped is well worth the consideration of officials when contemplating the order of new road material.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

The county Sunday school convention Thursday and Friday of this week. There is a full program for Friday. These sessions are open to the public, plan to attend. The Philathea class will serve the supper for the people attending the convention Friday evening at 6 o'clock at 50 per plate.

The orchestra is progressing nicely under the leadership of Mr. Cusper. It furnishes splendid music every Sunday evening.

We urge the young people to attend the Twporth League service. Be a booster and bring someone with you Sunday evening. Rev. Robeson, pastor.

GENOA TO HAVE BEAUTIFUL PARK

On The Grounds of The City Pumping Station on West Main Street

TO ADD TEN ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS

Work is Being Sponsored by the Genoa Community Club—Beautiful Spot for Picnic Lunches

The Genoa Community Club, before winding up its work as an active club of Genoa, voted to finish the work of creating a waterworks park. That it is a credit to the town as it is, goes without mention and when the effort put forth by the club is completed, Genoa will have as pretty a park as may be found in this section of the country.

Large cement lamp poles, similar to those on main street, will be placed in the park to the number of ten. It is hoped that seats may be obtained to scatter through the park under the beautiful shade trees. Later a flower bed is anticipated for the grounds.

That the Community club has shown the true community spirit is attested to by the work it has accomplished. First the community Christmas tree; the feeding of the poor; building of the rest room; giving of milk to school children in the grades and now the park.

At present, perhaps, the citizens will not appreciate the efforts of the club, but this summer, when the roads are hot and dusty, the walks dirty and there seems to be no place on earth to go to relieve the body of the excessive heat, remember the park. It is away from the road and dust. The lawn is green and the foliage is just at the right density on the trees to permit the least particle of breeze to blow through. Should you care to take your supper or lunch there, water from the city main is handy and the many lights makes it a safe place to be in the cool hours of the early evening.

REV. BELLAMY SUES FOR $10,000

Result of An Attempt to Arrest Him For Embezzlement

Rev. W. O. Bellamy, of Ottawa, at one time pastor of the Genoa Methodist church and later serving the church at Yanet and other places, but for a number of years in the job printing business at Ottawa, has started a $10,000 damage suit against W. W. Hixon of Rockford and Jas. E. Sheehan, of Springfield, former Ottawa police captain. Bellamy's action is a result of an embezzlement warrant which Hixon secured for him last summer and which was served by Capt. Sheehan.

Bellamy started habeas corpus proceedings in the circuit court to keep from being placed under arrest on the warrant when the charges, which were alleged to have been purely a piece of spite work, were dropped.

Bellamy and Hixon entered into an agreement to print some LaSalle county atlases. Bellamy was sent the atlases and it is alleged he was to secure thirty-six pages of advertising for them. He claims he was to pay Hixon $800 and one-third of all the remained he collected for the advertising. He alleged at the time the warrant was issued that he paid Hix on $910, when he learned that the atlases were not correct and that they could not be sold. He said he was waiting to get an opportunity to make a settlement with the Rockford man when the latter secured the warrant.

The news of the issuance of the warrant was telegraphed from Winnebago county to Capt. Sheehan, in La Salle county. Capt. Sheehan, in accordance with his instructions served Bellamy, technically placing him under arrest, although, he was never taken into custody.

The charges against Mr. Bellamy were dropped by Hixon.

Bellamy is well-known to many Genoa people and he will be remembered as a "live-wire" pastor.

NEW MOTOR CO. CHARTERED

The Pflugsten Motor company of Burlington, incorporated Saturday to deal in automobiles and their accessories, the capital stock is $3,000 which has been subscribed and paid in as follows: Herman E. Pflugsten, $2,500; Fred Pflugsten, $400; and John A. Lenschow, $100, all of Burlington.

RUSSIA'S GREEDY DEMANDS

France Threatens Independent Action Against Germany and Lloyd George is Angry—Centenary of General Grant's Birth Celebrated—Great Battle Impends in China.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Russia may be forced to quit the economic conference at Genoa, France, which is becoming more and more dissatisfied with the way things are going there, may withdraw her delegates. But it is announced that Lloyd George and his British fellow delegates will stick to the end, determined to get some results from the conference.

With true Oriental wile, the Russians are bargaining with the other powers and last week succeeded in bringing about a deadlock. To end this condition the representatives of the big and little ententes and Portugal drew up what amounted to an ultimatum, warning the soviet delegates that if they would not accept the propositions made to them, the Russian phase of the conference would come to an end.

Briefly stated, here is what the Russians proposed: First, the powers must recognize the soviet government de jure, and must grant it sufficient loans to enable Russia to reorganize her national life. Russia will recognize her pre-war debts, but demands a thirty years' moratorium on these, with cancellation of arrears of interest and of interest during the moratorium. Russia abandons her claims against the powers due to the anti-Bolshevik campaigns and in return expects that her war debts to other powers will be "written down" 100 per cent. Russia refuses to restore confiscated property because this is contrary to their policy of nationalization, but claims Russians have the right to possess property in foreign countries which are under a bourgeoisie regime. In short, Russia would take all and give nothing.

Though the British declared some sort of a settlement with the Russians must be made, M. Barthelemy, chairman of the committee handling the matter, abruptly called a halt to further discussion of the Russian debt. The French, backed by their government, were absolutely opposed to recognizing the soviet government and to granting it credits, and, according to dispatches from Paris, Japan would support them in this stand, and probably also Belgium, Hungary, Poland, Serbia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia. This only increased the widening breach between France and Great Britain, and each predicted that the policy of the other would lead to another war. They agreed that this would result from a combining of Russia and Germany. The German delegates had accepted the command to keep out of the discussion of Russian affairs because of their separate treaty with Moscow, but this was not enough. The Russian delegates were enraged by the fact that Poland joined in this disciplinary measure and in the note signed by eleven of the powers reserving the right to declare null and void any clauses of the Rapallo pact held to be in violation of the treaty of Versailles or any other treaty. In a note to the Poles, the Russians declared that the soviet government could in no case permit treaties made by it "to depend for their legality on the action of powers not signatory." Considering that Russia has powerful forces massed on the Polish frontier, the language of the note was taken to carry a distinct threat of hostilities against Poland, as well as a warning to all the powers.

MEANWHILE Premier Poincare, in a speech at Bar-le-Duc, asserted that France, if necessary, will undertake alone to see that the treaty of Versailles is executed if the Germans default in their reparations payments, intimating that French troops will be on the march on May 31 unless by that date Germany has accepted the conditions laid down by the reparations commission. The premier declared he ardently hoped for the cooperation of the allies in case Germany defaulted, "but, according to the terms of the treaty," he added, "each may, in case of need, take, respectively, such measures as are deemed necessary."

This also stirred Lloyd George to wrath, because the statement was made without consulting the allies. Said he: "The matter is not connected with Genoa, but French opinion anxiously and excitedly believes that the Russo-German agreement is the outcome of this conference. That idea is being fostered in France by serious misstatements to the French by certain English newspapers—the reference being to Lord Northcliffe's press."

To meet the situation, the British asked a meeting in Genoa of the powers signatory to the Versailles treaty to discuss measures to be taken if Germany does not meet the reparations commission's demands by May 31. Premier Poincare objects to this plan.

LLOYD GEORGE seems honestly determined both to preserve the peace of Europe and to satisfy the trade demands of the British, which latter are thus expressed by Lord Chancellor Birkenhead: "England's desperate economic condition, her dependence upon world trade as the only means of sustaining her life blood, make imperative the resumption of political and commercial relations with soviet Russia—whatever the character of the government the Russians choose to adopt."

In his eagerness for these results, and perhaps coerced by political conditions at home, the premier lays on France the blame for the threatened failure of the conference; and he is volubly supported in that by the English financial "expert," John Maynard Keynes, who, according to the Paris press, is in the pay of a group of Berlin bankers. At this distance one is rather inclined to accept the view of the New York Tribune, which says: "The Francophobes and the Teuto-philis are the real factors threatening disruption at Genoa."

Berlin dispatches say diplomatic relations between Germany and Russia will be resumed at once. Prof. A. Bernhard Wiedenfeld will be the German ambassador in Moscow and Leonid Krassin the Russian ambassador in Berlin.

THE hundredth anniversary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant was observed on Thursday in his birthplace, Point Pleasant, O.; in Washington and in many other places throughout the country. President Harding went to the Ohio town with a large party of prominent men and women, viewed what is left there of the house in which the soldier-president was born, and then delivered an address which was "broadcast" over the land by radio. In the national capital all government business halted while an immense throng gathered in the Botanic gardens to witness the dedication of the magnificent Grant memorial, which is virtually completed after 15 years' work. Vice President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks made the chief addresses, and the memorial was unveiled by Princess Cantacuzene, granddaughter, and Princess Ida Cantacuzene, great-granddaughter of General Grant.

UNLESS President Hsu Shih Chang is able to avert it by his appeal, just issued, the impending civil war in China is soon to culminate in what will probably be the greatest battle that country has had in many years. The big armies of Gens. Chang Tso-Lin and Wu Pei-Fel are prepared for the conflict, near Peking. The president has called on them both to withdraw from that vicinity and from Chihli province and to send mediators for adjustment of their differences. The acting premier has asked the governor of each of the 18 provinces to send to Peking a commissioner to devise measures to rid the country of the armies, which are now the largest in the history of China. American, British and French warships have been sent to Chinese waters and the American legation guard at Peking has been reinforced. If necessary, the allied fleet will land troops to keep communications open between Peking and the sea.

MICHAEL COLLINS, head of the Irish Free State, recently accused the Ulster government of failing to live up to the peace agreement. This Sir James Craig indignantly denied in words that lead observers to believe a direct break has come. Sir James said that, notwithstanding the undertakings, armed incursions across the Ulster border continued and the border outrages have had a deplorable effect. He declared Sinn Feiners had committed outrages against the property of Ulster Catholics to intimidate those who were anxious to work in harmony with the northern government.

Fighting between the Free State forces and the "rebels" reached the proportions of a real battle on Thursday at Mullingar. The regulars captured the town. Dail Eireann met in Dublin and heard reports from the provisional ministers, who severely scored the element fighting the provisional government. De Valera was there, but had little to say. His followers, it was said, smiled and chuckled at the arraignment of the "rebels," who were accused of many robberies, train wrecks and other crimes. The Irish Catholic bishops issued a statement strongly indorsing the treaty with England, and unequivocally condemning republican militarism.

WARNED by Senator Watson that it would be futile to consider the house soldiers' bonus bill because the President would certainly veto it—had just been talking with Mr. Harding—the Republican members of the senate finance committee last week began consideration of a new bill formulated by Senator McCumber. Its outstanding feature is that it would require an outlay next year estimated at $100,000,000, as compared with the Treasury department's estimate of $300,000,000 required by the house bill. Representatives of the American Legion were consulted, but seemed to prefer the house measure.

AN AFTERMATH of the West Virginia coal field war of 1921, the trial of nine miners' union officials and members on charges of treason, has opened in Charles Town, W. Va. The most prominent of the defendants are C. Frank Keeney, president, and Frank Mooney, secretary of district 17. Forty-four others are accused of treason and many others of murder and conspiracy. Some of these have not been arrested and some have obtained change of venue. After motions to quash the indictments had been denied the court ruled for separate trials and William Blizard, known as "general of the march against Logan," was selected as the first defendant.

GERMANS SHOOT U. S. OFFICER

Army Captain Wounded in May Day Riot by Manifestants at Mayence.

Mayence, May 3.—During a May day demonstration here a captain of the American army was wounded by the manifestants. A column of May demonstrators was marching through the Rheinstrasse, when, through a mistake in steering, the American captain's automobile ran into the procession. The machine was stopped immediately, but it was at once surrounded and attacked by a shrieking, furious crowd, which began to mount the car. The captain, believing his life to be in danger, drew his revolver. One of the men in the crowd tried to disarm him, but the revolver was discharged and the officer sank back, wounded in the shoulder. The chauffeur tried to aid the captain, but the crowd turned on him, covering him with blows. French gendarmes extricated the American car and made several arrests.

$28,166,000 MORE FOR NAVY

Secretary Denby is Satisfied With $6,000 Men, but Adds to His Budget.

Washington, May 3.—Satisfaction with a navy personnel of 86,000 men, as fixed recently by the house, was expressed by Secretary Denby in opening hearings before the senate appropriations committee, but he requested appropriation increases totaling $28,166,000 over those carried by the house bill. That the bill would be reported to the senate on the 86,000 personnel basis was indicated by senate leaders.

RUSS ACCEPT ALLIES' TERMS

Soviet Government Will Unconditionally Recognize All Nations' War Debts.

BELGIUM HOLDS UP PACT

Russian Delegates Declare Their Country Wants Peace With Whole World—Lloyd George is Again Winner in Tact.

Genoa, May 3.—The Russians have accepted all the terms imposed on her by the allies.

This became known following publication of the allied note which demanded that Russia must unconditionally recognize its war debts.

The French article requiring the supreme council's consent to Russian court decisions in foreign cases was dropped.

The amendment offered by Vice Premier Barthelemy regarding a definition of private property was approved by the conference, Belgium alone objecting.

The Russians are fast making separate peace. They said so in a letter to the French, following a tense meeting of the leaders of the soviet delegation. The Russian note said that the Rapallo treaty was but one of a series they are making, and offered earnestly to make peace with France.

The Russians said that, although there was some hostility toward France at home, that this feeling undoubtedly would be overcome.

"We want peace with the whole world and we are getting it," was the keynote of the document sent to Barthelemy.

Lloyd George is quoted as telling Barthelemy that the British will deal with the Russian problem if the conference does not.

The Russian delegation has been the busiest of the conference and it will not bolt the conference, no matter what happens. Their aim now, in addition to getting a loan, is for more agreements for separate peace.

The allies are trying hard to agree on peace among themselves, and they may succeed. Belgium is the chief obstacle.

Lloyd George and Barthelemy answered sharply the Belgian plan that a stiffer definition be given to property rights. Lloyd George said that the British business men were satisfied and that was enough for him, remarking that the Belgian expert who had consented to the definition of property rights at the Cannes conference was a banker as well as a lawyer.

Lloyd George won his point, but even so the clauses agreed on were unsatisfactory to the Russians, who are treating them as a mere basis for negotiation.

The final touches on the property clauses are being perfected and will be presented to the Russians. After this is done, Barthelemy will go to Paris and explain to officials there the dangers of a bolt from the conference and its consequences.

THANKFUL FOR A LITTLE CHILD

Mrs. Mertz Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Kutztown, Pa.—"I wish every woman who wants children would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has done so much for me. My baby is almost a year old now and is the picture of health. She walked at eleven months and is trying to use her little tongue. She can say some words real nice. I am sending you her picture. I shall be thankful as long as I live that I found such a wonderful medicine for my troubles."

CHARLES A. MERTZ, Kutztown, Pa.

Many cases of childlessness are curable. Perhaps yours may be. Why be discouraged until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a faithful trial? Spoken and written recommendations from thousands of women who have found health and happiness from its use have come to us. We only tell you what they say and what they believe. We believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well adapted to the conditions which might cause your trouble that good will come to you by its use. Mertz is the foundation of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has behind it a record of nearly fifty years.

Little Mabel's Query.

Little Mabel, eight years old, has passed much of her young life in the company of grown-ups, and had acquired many of their oldish ways by imitation. An elderly lady visited the aunt with whom Mabel lived. Mabel had heard the stereotyped expression, "Well preserved," used concerning old people. So, after this old lady took her departure, Mabel sprang a surprise upon her elders by remarking: "Auntie, isn't Mrs. Brown a well-pickled old lady?"—Judge.

Prepared for Death.

The suburban lady heard an airplane whizzing overhead. She called Cottie, the colored maid, to see it. "Has you all ever been up in one of those contraptions, ma'am?"

The suburban lady said "No," and in turn asked Cottie if she wouldn't enjoy a ride in one. "No, sreee, ma'am," she answered. "Seems like when I went up that high, I'd like to be ready to jes keep right on going up."

Taking Chances.

The Gob and the Leatherneck had come ashore from the U. S. S. New Mexico to spend a few hours liberty in San Francisco. The first thing they thought of was chow. Dropping into a restaurant they were approached by a hard-boiled waiter.

"What's yours?" he asked the Gob. "Hash," was the short response. The waiter swung around and yelled to the cook: "One guy, takin' a chance!" Then he looked inquiringly at the marine.

"Make mine the same," said the Leatherneck. "Another sport," yelled the waiter.—The Leatherneck.

To "mean well" isn't enough; one has to know.

WHY THAT BAD BACK?

Does spring find you miserable with an aching back? Do you feel lame, stiff, tired, nervous and depressed? Isn't it time then, you found out why you are unable to enjoy these fine spring days? Likely your kidneys have weakened. Winter is hard on the kidneys. Colds and chills and a heavier diet with less exercise tax them heavily. It's little wonder spring finds you with backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities. But don't be discouraged. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Illinoise Case

Mrs. Matilda Melxner, 722 Market Ave., E. St. Louis, Ill., says: "I suffered from kidney complaint. I had a severe dull ache in the small of my back and felt tired, weak and nervous. My kidneys were in a bad state. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended and after using them I was cured. I have never had any kidney trouble since."

HELD SECRET OF HAPPINESS

John Wesley's Nearly Ninety Years Passed With Remarkably Few Periods of Depression.

There was John Wesley. His "Journal," with its record of indefatigable labor, is one of the cheeriest books in the language. What a rare good time he had! When he was eighty-seven he could say, "I do not remember to have felt lowness of spirits for a quarter of an hour since I was born."

FRANKLIN'S COLD-AIR BATH

Homely Philosopher Was One of the Earliest American Advocates of the Open Window. The cold bath in the morning is a social fetish that makes two clear divisions of mankind—the thoroughly virtuous who do not shrink from the full rigors and the Laodiceans who play with the hot water tap.

During the reign of Henry VIII standards of length and weight were established with actual grains of wheat and barley as a basis. Three barley corns were an inch, and from that was built up our table of inches, feet, ell (yards), perch and acre.

Ugly Men the Best Wooders?

Ugly men make the most successful wooders because, forced to be artful to overcome the natural beauty of the matinee idol type, they attain a charm of manner that leaves the beautiful man lengths behind, Dr. Bernard Hollander, London psychologist, said in a recent lecture. Women naturally distrust the pretty man, he argued, and think there can be no harm in the ugly one.

Illinois Central System Clears Up Point About Railway Net Income

The net railway operating income of the Class I railroads of the United States for 1921 was at the rate of 3.31 per cent upon their tentative valuation as established by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate-making purposes.

Commission, and they are uniform for all railroads. After all operating expenses and taxes have been provided for, and uncollectible accounts have been deducted, and after funds have been set aside for the payment of rentals on equipment and joint facilities, the balance left over from revenues is called "net railway operating income," which was for 1921 the 3.31 per cent referred to.

There are certain fixed charges, however, which must be paid before the "net income" is established, chief among these being interest on the bonds and the rental of leased lines. After making deductions for these, it is estimated that there was practically nothing left of either the "net railway operating income" of 3.31 per cent or the "gross income." In other words, the railroads had no "net income" for 1921.

Some railroads fared better than others during 1921, just as some business men and farmers fared better than others. Preferable location, foresighted management, superior machinery with which to work—these are elements which have their influence in the showing made by a railroad, as they have in every other business enterprise.

The railroads cannot serve the public adequately unless they are able to enlarge and improve their properties as the requirements of the country for transportation service develop. In order for the railroads to grow, their securities must be attractive to investors, for the funds they receive from the issuance of securities are used in improving their properties.

The Illinois Central System, in common with other railroads, is striving to render a service of satisfaction. It is eager to continue to improve and enlarge its facilities, so that its plant may always be a little in advance of the needs of its patrons. An overloaded machine is never efficient, and if the overloading continues for any length of time the machine must necessarily deteriorate.

This statement is made in the interest of a better understanding of railway problems. We ask that our patrons view the railway problem in its true light; that they realize that every obstacle placed in the path of railway progress rebounds against them, as much as against the railroads themselves, and that the interests of the railroads and the interests of the public are inseparable.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited. C. H. MARKHAM, President, Illinois Central System.

ANNUAL INTERSCHOLASTIC

Will Be Held at University of Illinois
May 19 and 20 &

Entry blanks for the 28th annual interscholastic contests to be conducted by the University of Illinois, May 19 and 20, have been sent out to seven hundred and fifty high schools in the state. Besides the blanks for the track and field meet, entry blanks were sent out for the tennis tournament and golf tournament. All the high schools in the Illinois supported by the public taxation and recognized by the state department of public instruction and high schools conducted by normal school, colleges and universities for the purpose of practicing teaching or educational research will receive entry blanks and are eligible to enter teams.

Genoa township high will not be represented as the track work was slow in getting started. Next year however, we hope that our school may be represented by a strong aggregation. Not since 1913 has Genoa been represented at any interscholastic meet and at that time it was held at the University of Chicago.

GREAT GARDEN WEATHER

If the weather man keeps up his selection of the choice weather that has visited this section of the country of late, Genoa may expect some bumper crops from the gardens and fruit trees. The spring rain Tuesday night helped wonderfully, blossoms coming forth as if by magic and gardens yield up the green tops of vegetables as the nature's wand had been silently passed over them during the night.

In the woods wild flowers are in abundance. Violets and all that goes with them may be had in any quantity for the mere pleasure of picking. Altogether, its turning out to be a great spring.

"Henry VIII."
"Henry VIII" is supposed to have been drawn mainly from Cavendish's "Life of Wolsey" and from the chronicles of Chettle and others. It was accepted that the play—the last of the Shakespearean works—was not written by him in its exact final form, but was somewhat modified by Burbage and his company in preparing it for the stage. This, if done, probably was with Shakespeare's consent.

AT REST ON BARREN ISLAND

Land Where Sir Ernest Shackleton Sleeps Was Discovered by the Famous Captain Cook.

South Georgia Island, where Sir Ernest Shackleton will sleep on the fringe of the wild and frozen solitudes against which he opposed the might of a hero's will, is in about the same latitude as Cape Horn, which lies 1,200 miles westward of it.

When Captain Cook was making one of his historic voyages around the world in the Eighteenth century he happened on South Georgia Island, it is recorded. At first he thought it might be the "terra incognita Australis" he was in search of, so he went ashore and as he recorded in his diary, "took possession of the country" in his majesty's name, under a discharge of small arms.

When the great circumnavigator examined his discovery a little more closely and found it to be a mere bunch of icy mountains, he concluded that it was "not worth the discovery." Nevertheless he "called this land the Isle of Georgia in honor of his majesty." His majesty, by the way, was none other than George III.

A hundred years later the seafaring men of New England came to the conclusion that South Georgia Island was not as worthless as Captain Cook had supposed. It was a great place for fur seals. They slaughtered more than 1,000,000, virtually exterminating them in that part of the Antarctic. Then came a harvest of "elephant oil," extracted from the blubber of the seal family.

HOUSEHOLD WORDS NOT OLD
In Everyday Use Today, but Really Have Not Long Been Incorporated in the Language.

Most persons probably think that the word "starvation" is as old as the language; but it isn't. It was first used in 1775 in a speech made in parliament by Henry Dundas, who in consequence became widely known as "Starvation Dundas."

"Intensify" and "outsider" are two words less than a hundred years old. The English poet, Coleridge, deliberately coined the former word because there was no other in existence to express the particular shade of meaning which he wished to convey; and "outsider" came into being in 1844, during the convention that nominated James K. Polk for President. The delegates were subjected to uncomfortable pressure by the throng of spectators gathered without the hall, and some one happily described it as a pressure from the "outsiders." The term was taken up by the reporters and at once became popular.

Other words unknown until the middle of the Seventeenth century include such now familiar ones as "sculptor," "umbrella," "opera," "suicide" and "peninsula," while Bentley in the Eighteenth century had actually to defend himself for using such strange terms as "timid," "concede," "repudiate," "idiom" and "vernacular," and George Campbell in 1770 hesitated to use such queer new words as "originate," "sentimental" and "criminality."

Room Dark, Floor Lighted.
One of the inconveniences of walking about in a dark room at night is hitting the feet against things unseen. At the same time one does not always want to light up the room. Practel Electric (New York) describes the device of a western electrical engineer, who places lamps under the bed and bureau. In this way the floor is brightly lighted, while the upper part of the room remains dark. Thus one can walk about in perfect comfort, and at the same time in privacy.

What Puzzled Pat.
Two Irish passengers were gazing over the after rail of the steamer. "D'ye know, Mike," said Pat. "I can't understand how the captain finds his way across the ocean at all, at all. If we was golt' the other way, now, all he'd have to do would be to follow that white streak behind there, but in front there's divil a mark of any kind."—Boston Transcript.

The Silent "H."
The letter "h" is not pronounced at the beginning of the word hour, heir, herb, humor, honest, honor, and their derivatives. Many people are unaware of the fact that the word herb does not have its "h" sounded. "H" is silent also when it comes after the letter "r," as in rheumatism.

Must Be Handled Cautiously.
If radium were as plentiful and as easily obtained as gold everybody might have a little of it in thick lead boxes to protect themselves against its dangerous rays, which it never ceases to give off until in some thousands of years it exhausts itself, having turned into something else.

Diplomatic Modesty.
Every discreet diplomat refrains from magnifying any impression that he has got the best of a bargain. Politeness is a part of diplomacy, and in order to be polite it is often necessary to appear modest.—Washington Star.

HARDIN PUT BACK ON HIS FEET TWICE

Was Relieved of Both Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble by Tanlac, States Los Angeles Man.

"For the second time Tanlac has put me on my feet, and you may know by that what I think of it," said William T. Hardin, 1409 Garden St., Los Angeles, Calif.

"Three years ago, I had rheumatism in my shoulders and neck so bad I could hardly work. I tried medicine after medicine only to get worse, but finally I got hold of Tanlac, and I haven't had a trace of rheumatism since.

"Then last summer my stomach got out of order, I lost my appetite and what little I did eat made me feel bloated, all stuffed up and miserable. I always felt weak, tired and worn out, and was so nervous I couldn't sleep.

"Well, Tanlac did a good job for me before, so I just got some more of it, and now it has again fixed me up, and I'm feeling strong and energetic like I used to. I'll tell the world Tanlac's the medicine for me."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Why Not?

The human fly was scolding the outside of the tall building at a dizzy height and an anxious throng watched in the street.

Ramsey Milholland by Booth Tarkington

Illustrations by Irwin Myers

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Company.

"PEACH OF A PUNCH."

Synopsis.—With his grandfather, small Ramsey Milholland is watching the "Decorations Day Parade" in the home town. The old gentleman, a veteran of the Civil war, endeavors to impress the youngster with the significance of the great conflict, and many years afterward the boy was to remember his words with startling vividness. In the schoolroom, a few years afterward, Ramsey is not distinguished for remarkable ability, though his pronounced dislikes are arithmetic, "Recitations" and German. In sharp contrast to Ramsey's backwardness is the precocity of little Dora Yocum, a young lady whom in his bitterness he denominates "Teacher's Pet." In high school, where he and Dora are classmates, Ramsey continues to feel that the girl delights to manifest her superiority, and the vindictiveness he generates becomes alarming, culminating in the resolution that some day he will "show" her. At a class picnic Ramsey is captured bag and baggage by Milla Rust, the class beauty, and endures the agonies of his first love. Ramsey's parents object to Milla and wish he'd taken up with Dora Yocum. Ramsey kisses Milla. Then Milla suddenly leaves town. She marries. Ramsey enters the state university and there in Dora Yocum again Ramsey meets Dora in a World War debate and is gloriously vanquished.

He was so right, in regard to his own performance, at least, that thereupon drying up utterly, he proceeded to stand, a speechless figure in the midst of a multitudinous silence, for an eternity lasting forty-five seconds. He made a racking effort, and at the end of this epoch found words again. "In making my argument in this debate, I would state that—"

"Two minutes!" said the chairman. "Refutation by the negative. Miss D. Yocum. Two minutes."

"I waive them," said Dora, primly. "I submit that the affirmative has not refuted the argument of the negative."

"Very well." With his gavel the chairman sharply tapped the desk before him. "The question is now before the house. Resolved, that Germany is both morally and legally justified in her invasion of Belgium. All those in favor of the—"

But here there was an interruption of a kind never before witnessed during any proceedings of the Lumen society. It came from neither of the debaters, who still remained standing at their desks until the vote settling their comparative merits in argument should be taken. The interruption was from the rear row of seats along the wall, where sat new members of the society, freshmen not upon the program of the evening. A loud nasal voice was heard from this quarter, a loud but nasal voice, shrill as well as nasal, and full of a strange hot passion. "Mr. Chairman!" it cried. "Look-a-here, Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman, I demand to be heard! You gotta gimme my say, Mr. Chairman! I'm a-gonna have my say! You look-a-here, Mr. Chairman!"

Shocked by such a breach of order, and by the unseemly violence of the speaker, not only the chairman but everyone else looked there. A short, strong figure was on his feet, gesticulating fiercely, and the head belonging to it was a large one with too much curly black hair, a flat swarthy face, shiny and not immaculately shaven; there was an impression of ill-chosen clothes, too much fat red lip, too much tooth, too much eyeball. Fred Mitchell recognized this violent interrupter as one Linski, a fellow freshman who sat next him in one of his classes. "What's that cuss up to?" Fred wondered, and so did others. Linski showed them.

He pressed forward, showing himself through the two rows in front of him till he emerged upon the green carpet of the open space, and as he came, he was cyclonic with words.

"You don't put no such stuff as this over, I tell you!" he shouted in his hot, nasal voice. "This here's a free country, and you call yourself a debating society, do you? Lemme tell you I belong to a debating society in Chicago, where I come from, and them fellas up there, they'd think they'd oughta be shot for a fake like what you people are tryin' to put over here, tonight. I come down here to git some more education, and pay fer it, too, in good hard money I've made sweatin' in a machine shop up there in Chicago; but if this is the kind of education I'm a-gonna git, I better go on back there. You call this a square debate, do you?"

He advanced toward the chairman's platform, shaking a frantic fist. "Well, if you do, you got another think comin', my capitalis' fren! You went and give out the question whether it's right for Choinumny to go through Belgium; and what do you do for the Choinumny side? You pick out this here big stiff"—he waved his passionate hand at the paralyzed Ramsey—"you pick out a boob like that for the Choinumny side, a poor fish that gits stage-fright so bad he don't know whether he's talkin' or dead; or else he fakes it; because he's a speaker so hum it looks more to me like he was fakin'. You git this big stiff to fake the Choinumny side, and then you go and stick up a goll agains' him that's got brains and makes a pacifis' argument that like the case agains' the Choinumny like cuttin' through hog lard! But you ain't a-gonna git away with it, mister. Lemme tell you right here and now, I may be a mix blood, but I got some Choinumny in me with the rest what I got, and before you vote on this here question you gotta hear a few words from somebody that can talk! This whole war is a capitalis' war, Belgium as much as Choinumny, and the United States is sellin' its soul to the capitalis' right now, I tell you, takin' sides agains' Choinumny. Orders fer explosives and ammunition and guns and Red Cross supplies is comin' into this country by the millions, and the capitalis' United States is fat already on the blood of the workers of Europe! Yes, it is, and I'll have my say, you boobjaw faker, and you can hammer your ole gavel to pieces at me!"

He had begun to shriek; moisture fell from his brow and his mouth; the scandalized society was on its feet, moving nervously into groups. Evidently the meeting was about to disintegrate. "I'll have my say!" the frenzied Linski screamed. "You try to put up this capitalis' trick and work a fake to carry over this debate agains' Choinumny, but you can't work it on me, lemme tell you! I'll have my say!"

"I'll Have My Say!" the Frenzied Linski Screamed.

"This meeting is adjourned!" belted the chairman, and there was a thronging toward the doors, while the frothing Linski asserted: "I'm a-gonna git my say, I tell you! I'll have my say! I'll have my say!"

He had more than that, before the hour was over. A moment after he emerged from the building and came out, still hot, upon the cool, dark campus, he found himself the center of a group of his own classmates whom he at first mistook for sophomores, such was their manner.

As this group broke up a few minutes later, a youth running to join it, scenting somewhat of interest, detained one of those who were departing.

"What's up? What was that squealing?"

"Oh, nothing. We just talked to that Linski. Nobody else touched him, but Ramsey Milholland gave him a peach of a punch on the snoot."

"Whoopee!"

Ramsey was laconic in response to inquiries upon this subject. When some one remarked: "You served him right for calling you a boob and a poor fish and so on before all the society, gels and all," Ramsey only said: "That wasn't what I hit him for." He declined to explain further.

CHAPTER VIII.

"The way I look at it, Ramsey," Fred Mitchell said, when they reached their apartment, whether a benevolent senior, Colburn, accompanied them, "the way I look at it, this Linski kind of paid you a compliment, after all, when he called you a fake. He must have thought you anyway looked as if you could make a better speech than you did. Oh, golly!"

And as Ramsey groaned, the jovial Mitchell gave himself up to the divan and the mirth. "Oh, oh, oh, golly!" he spattered.

"Never you mind, Brother Milholland," Colburn said gently. "The Lumen is used to nervous beginners. I've seen dozens in my time, just like you; and some of 'em got to be first rate before they quit. Besides, this crazy Linski is all that anybody'll ever remember about tonight's meeting anyhow. There never was any such outbreak as that in my time, and I guess there never was in the whole history of the society. We'll probably suspend him until he apologizes to the society—I'm on the board, and I'm in favor of it. Who is the bird, anyhow? He's in your class."

"I never saw him before," Ramsey responded from the deep chair, where he had moodily thrown himself; and, returning to his brooding upon his oratory, "Oh, murder!" he moaned.

"Well," said the senior, "you'll know him when you see him again. You put your mark on him where you can see it, all right." He chuckled. "I suppose I really ought to have interfered in that, but I decided to do a little astronomical observation, about fifty feet away, for a few minutes. I'm way behind in my astronomy, anyhow. Do you know this Linski, Brother Mitchell?"

"I've talked to him a couple o' times on the campus," said Fred. "He's in one of my classes. He's about the oldest in our class, I guess—a lot older than us, anyhow. He's kind of an anarchist or something; can't talk more'n five minutes any time without gettin' some bog stuff about 'capitalism'. He said the course in political economy was all 'capitalism' and the prof was bought by Wall Street."

"Poor old Prof. Craig!" Colburn laughed. "He gets fifteen hundred a year."

"Yes; I'd heard that myself, and I told Linski, and he said he had an uncle workin' in a steel mill got twice that much, but it didn't make any difference, ole Craig was bought by Wall Street. He said 'capitalism' better look out; he and the foreign-born workmen were goin' to take this country some day, and that was one of the reasons he was after an education. He talked pretty strong pro-German, too—about the war in Europe—but I sort of thought that was more because he'd be pro-anything that he thought would help upset the United States than because he cared much about Germany."

"Yes," said Colburn, "that's how he sounded tonight. I guess there's plenty more like him in the cities, too. That reminds me: I'd better arrange a debate on immigration for the Lumen. We'll put Brother Milholland for the negative, this time."

Ramsey started violently. "See here—"

But the senior reassured him. "Just wanted to see you jump," he explained. "Don't fear; you've done your share."

"I should think I have!" Ramsey groaned.

"Yes; you won't be called on again this term. By the way," said Colburn, thoughtfully, "that was a clever girl you had against you tonight. I don't believe in pacifism much, myself, but she used it very niftily for her argument. Isn't she from your town, this Miss Yocum?"

Fred nodded.

"Well, she's a clever young thing," said the senior, still thoughtful. And he added: "Graceful girl, she is."

At this, the roommates looked at him with startled attention. Ramsey was so roused as to forget his troubles and sit forward in his chair.

"Yes," said the missing Colburn, "she's a mighty pretty girl."

"What!"

This exclamation was a simultaneous one; the astounded pair stared at him in blank incredulity.

"Why, don't you think so?" Colburn mildly inquired. "She seems to me very unusual looking."

"Well, yes," Fred assented, emphatically. "We're with you there!"

"Extraordinary eyes," continued Colburn. "Lovely figure, too; altogether a strikingly pretty girl. Handsome, I should say, perhaps. Yes, 'handsome' rather than 'pretty'." He looked up from a brief reverie. "You fellows know her long?"

"You bet!" said Ramsey.

"She made a splendid impression on the Lumen," Colburn went on. "I don't remember that I ever saw a first appearance there that quite equalled it. She'll probably have a brilliant career in the society, and in the university, too. She must be a very fine sort of a person." He deliberated within himself a few moments longer, then, realizing that his hosts and brethren did not respond with any heartiness—or with anything at all—to the theme, he changed it, and asked them what they thought about the war in Europe.

They talked of the war drowsily for a while; it was an interesting but not an exciting topic: the thing they spoke of was so far away. After a few moments of fervor, the conversation languished, and Brother Colburn rose to go.

"To go over and help hang their d—d kaiser!"

MORE GOOD THINGS

Egg contains about 15 per cent protein, 10 per cent fat, 1 per cent mineral salts and the rest water. It will be seen, then, that they lack carbohydrates (starches and sugar) and this must be supplied by combining with eggs the needed amount of carbohydrates to make a well balanced diet. The yolk of the egg has 32 per cent of fat while the white has none. Often the yolk of a hard-cooked egg will agree better with a young child than a whole egg cooked soft.

Stuffed Eggs.—Cut hard-cooked eggs in halves, crosswise; remove the yolks and place them in a bowl; mash and mix them with an equal amount of chicken, seasoned, and mix with salt and pepper and a little cream. A few chopped mushrooms may be added. Fill the halves of the whites with the stuffing, press them together and roll in crumbs, then fry in hot fat. A cream or tomato sauce is good with these eggs.

Apple Balls.—Cut 24 balls from apples with a French potato cutter; add two tablespoonsful of lemon juice and then add one-fourth cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water; steam until tender, but not soft enough to lose their shape. Beat the whites of two eggs, add two tablespoonsful of powdered sugar and a few drops of vanilla. Toast six rounds of bread until well browned, dip in hot milk, then butter and pile the apple balls on each round. Cover with the meringue and brown in the oven.

French Omelet.—Scour the omelet pan with salt so that it will be perfectly smooth. Add to the hot pan one tablespoonful of butter; when melted, add the omelet. Break four eggs into a bowl and beat them just enough to mix the yolks and whites; add four tablespoonsful of warm water, tablespoonful of minced parsley and a sprinkling of pepper. Place the pan where the heat is hottest and pour in the eggs, dust lightly with salt and shake the pan to keep the omelet in motion. Lift the edges with a knife so that the center will cook; fold and turn on to a hot platter. Serve at once.

Apple Drops.—Sift together one cupful each of flour and sugar, rub into this mixture two tablespoonsful of butter. Reserve a quarter of a cupful for the top. Add 1 1/2 teaspoonsful of baking powder, one egg, three tablespoonsful of shortening and one-half cupful of milk; beat well and put the mixture into a shallow pan, cover with the reserved flour and shortening mixture and bake in moderate oven. Cut in rounds, cover with apple sauce and serve with whipped cream.

POTATO COOKERY

Potatoes are the common food and preparation as well as for their wholesome ness and adaptability. Any one is supposed to know how to boil potatoes if she knows how to boil water, but the fact is a good potato is not produced by all cooks. Potatoes should be of uniform size if cooked together, or the small ones will be ruined by the time the larger ones are cooked. This is true of both boiled and baked potatoes.

The sweet potato should not be forgotten for it is a most valuable food. The yams are especially fine flavored and one never tires of them, while the too sweet potato cloy the appetite.

Potato Muffins.—Take one cupful of cold mashed potato, soften with three-fourths of a cupful of milk, sift one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add the potato, then two well-beaten eggs and two tablespoonsful of melted fat. Bake thirty minutes. If the potato is very dry add a little more milk.

Potato Pudding.—Take two and one-fourth cupfuls of grated sweet potato, one cupful of milk, one-half cupful of sugar, two eggs, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoonful of ginger. Mix well and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Serve with milk or cream.

Potato Cakes.—Form mashed and seasoned potato into small cakes and roll in seasoned flour. Melt some fat in a frying pan and brown the cakes on both sides, turning them carefully with a spatula.

Grapes in Illinois

By A. S. COLBY

The grape is widely adapted and may be grown to advantage in all sections of Illinois. It provides a certain return, practically each season, since if unfavorable weather kills the first blossom a later crop is produced. An ideal grape soil is gravelly clay loam of not more than average fertility. Drainage must be assured and excessive fertility guarded against.

The following varieties for home use provide for a succession in ripening during August and September: Moore early (black), Worden (black), Brighton (red) and Diamond (white). In southern Illinois Niagara (white) should be planted instead of Diamond. As a commercial variety Concord (black) is the most generally grown. As quality varieties, however, the others mentioned excel Concord.

Grapes are propagated most commonly by cuttings, short sections of the last year's canes carrying one or more buds. One or two-year-old plants are sold by nurserymen.

Planting is done in fall or spring, depending on the section of the state: If in the spring the operation should be carried on as soon as the ground is ready to work. A good-sized hole should be dug, the roots of the plants cut back somewhat and spread out in the hole and the plant set a trifle deeper than it stood in the nursery row. The earth should be firmly packed about the roots and a dust mulch provided on the surface.

Depending on the vigor of growth of the variety and the soil conditions prevailing, grapes are set in rows eight to ten feet apart and from six to ten feet apart in the rows.

Cultivation must be thorough, especially the first season, in order that a good growth of the vine shall take place.

The young vine should be tied to a stake or lath at intervals throughout the season to keep it off the ground, facilitate cultivation and prevent injury by tillage tools.

Bearing vineyards should be well cultivated, with frequent use of a cover crop, especially on soils where washing would occur during the winter season. Little direct fertilizer application seems necessary unless the vines lack vigor and healthy green foliage color with a consequent decreased production. If these conditions upon examination do not appear to be due to wrong cultural methods, insufficient insect or disease control or lack of drainage, then fertilizers may be applied.

Grapes are pruned to limit the number of bunches of fruit to those which will develop properly. Pruning is in effect a thinning process. They are trained to place the vine in such a manner that it will receive the maximum of air and sunshine.

Though there are numerous good systems of training grapes, the method known as the four-arm Kullfen system is recommended for most varieties. In this system a two-wire trellis is required of No. 9 or 10 galvanized wire hung about 30 and 50 inches respectively above the ground. The trellis need not be put up till the second or third season. As the grapevine is planted, it is pruned back, leaving only two strong buds. At the beginning of the second season all canes but one, the strongest, are removed, and that one headed back to about fifteen inches. But two buds should be allowed to develop from this cane. At the beginning of the third season one of the shoots produced from these two buds is carried up to the top wire of the trellis, cut off at that point and tied with twine. The shorter shoot is led to the lower wire, cut back and tied there. These shoots are to be permanent trunks. At the beginning of the fourth season two side shoots from near the top of each trunk are led horizontally along the wires, headed back to 18-20 inches and tied to the wires. These are, therefore, the horizontal arms. At the beginning of the fifth season these four original horizontal arms are replaced by new canes which grew the previous season, selecting those of medium size and with short joints, as close in to the trunks as possible. These are the fruiting canes. The aggregate number of buds on all four of these arms may amount to sixty, depending on the variety. A spur is often left on each arm close to the main trunk, especially as the vine gets older, to insure a new arm at that place next year. This system of renewal is continued annually.

Grapes should be sprayed with Bordeaux-arsenate of lead just before the bloom, after the bloom, and two weeks later for insect and disease control.

CROPS AND PROFIT

PROBLEMS JUST NOW PRESSING ON AGRICULTURISTS

Farmer on Low-Priced, Fertile Lands, Still to Be Had, Is in Best Possible Position.

The economic problems connected with the advantageous marketing of farm crops and the financing of the movement of those crops are pressing upon agriculturists most severely. They will be solved, however, and while that solution is being worked out it is simply good sense on the farmer's part to make his efforts toward production tell to the very maximum, as best carrying him through the period of depression and hard times and placing him in the best position to take the greatest possible advantage of the better times to come. We may repeat that the cheapest farm crop, whether from fields or from live stock, is almost invariably the largest crop which can be obtained. Or in other words, the greater the crop, the greater the net profit. To attain such crops and to place himself in the advantageous position referred to above, the farmer must study, and must apply the results of his study to such problems as soil fertility, its conservation and increase; soil moisture, its control; cultural methods, suitable and productive varieties, etc., etc.

The question is how can you best accomplish and secure these things? Can they be done on high-priced lands, by paying high rents, with the prices you get for your produce no greater than may be had from that grown and raised on much cheaper lands, whose production is fully as great as that of the high-priced lands? The answer is unquestionably in favor of the low-priced lands, when they are selected because of their soil fertility and the other requirements necessary. It is not the purpose here to point out merely that the lands of Western Canada would prove a splendid and ready solution, but to emphasize the fact that in order to overcome your present difficulty, to remove some of the burden that you are laboring under, you must secure some line of cheaper operation, whether it be removal to other parts in your own country where such opportunity may offer, or take advantage of that which Western Canada affords.

For information regarding these advantages apply to any Canadian government agent—Advertisement.

FROST KEEPS GRIP ON GOLD

Placers in Alaska That Are Only Thawed to a Depth of About Three Feet in Summer.

Certain Alaska gold placers lie in ground that is permanently frozen, only the surface being thawed to a depth of two or three feet in the heart of summer. In this respect they resemble the gravel-bearing gravels of Siberia, and the methods of working are similar. Summer is the best time to prospect for new leads, but excavation can be as well carried on in winter. The ground at the end of a shaft is softened by a fire of wood and then attacked with the pick. But, instead of breaking under the blows, it mats together, and this tendency renders gunpowder and dynamite comparatively ineffective in dealing with the frozen mass. With any less powerful incentive than the gleam of gold to spur on his human antagonist the frost king would doubtless win an easy victory in so desperate a conflict.

Even a fat man may be successful at dodging an issue.

She was chairman of her suffrage district and attended women's conventions throughout the country. Her family called her "Our Politician" to tease her and three-year-old Patty would listen round eyed and wonder why grandmother was so cross with them.

One day grandmother was entertaining a group of her friends by exhibiting Patty.

"Tell about Red Riding Hood," begged grandmother innocently.

Patty began, "Little Red Riding Hood—went into the wood with a basket—to visit her grandmother, who—" She hesitated, waiting to be prompted with "who was sick."

"Who?"—Grandmother waited hopefully.

"Who was a politician!" finished Patty, with a sudden inspiration.—Chicago Journal.

TOURIST SEEKS MAIN STREET

First Inquiry Made by Man From Middle West on His Arrival at Washington.

Nobody can tell what a traveler is going to ask when he gets off the train at Union station.

Ask the street car superintendents who load 'em on winter and summer. Ask the men who run the sightseeing busses. Make inquiry of taxicab drivers.

They will tell you that it is an ordinary happening to have a stranger ask if "that big building with the dome is the White House."

One of those funny spring days last week a traveler from the Middle West came marching forth from the station portals to bask in the infrequent sunshine which that moment was pouring down upon Washington.

There was no doubt about him being from the Middle West. It was written all over his sturdy frame, tanned face and hospitable manner. He felt at home. He had no idea that anybody might rebuff his cordiality.

"Good morning," he said.

"How are you?" I replied.

"Where is Main Street?" he asked.

Thomas Robertson, an official of the Eagles club, recently sent notices to several lodge members appointing them members of a committee to visit the sick. The next day one of those thus notified halted Robertson on the street. "I'm chosen for the sick committee?" he asked.

"Yes—why not?"

"Well," the member replied, "I don't mind serving, but my business—"

"Can't you serve after business hours?" Robertson interrupted. "By the way, what's your business?"

"I'm—I'm an undertaker."

"Excused," said Robertson.—Kansas City Star.

Hogging Down Corn

Hogging down corn is a popular and economical method of disposing of the corn crop. Usually it is desirable to be able to turn the hogs into the corn field by the last of August or the first part of September. By this time supplies of old corn are frequently becoming low and the pigs are at the stage when they will make the most economical use of a generous ration.

In order that one may begin early feeding, it is advisable to have a succession of early, medium and late main-crop varieties of corn, according to Prof. R. W. Stark of the university. The early varieties are not as productive as the late varieties, hence no more should be grown than necessary to safely carry the hogs through till the main crop is sufficiently mature to be fed.

For a real early variety, choose one adapted to the section north of the corn belt. Northwestern dent is an example. In preliminary trials it has proved capable of making excellent yields in central and northern Illinois. On the gray silt soil of southern Illinois it has not been successful. The early and smaller varieties may well be planted thicker than the later ones. Plan to have about three to four stalks per hill instead of two to three.

For a medium early variety, Western Plover, Silver King, Funk's 90-Day, or a similar variety maturing in about 100 days, will prove satisfactory. The main crop may well be any variety adapted to the section, and which may be depended upon ordinarily to mature before injury by frost.

In the northern section of the state the early varieties mentioned or Silvermine and early maturing strains of Reid's Yellow Dent may be used. In central Illinois Reid's Yellow Dent, Boone County White, and Leaning are popular varieties, while in the southern section Champion White Pearl is rapidly becoming an important variety.

Lists 87 Uses for Tractor

When the farmer purchases a tractor, he has added at one single bound an increased investment in farm machinery which often exceeds two or three years normal investment in ordinary farm machinery, and he has entered upon a new phase of farming more radical than he had supposed if he purchased his tractor for one single job, such as plowing or filling the silo or taking care of his threshing.

To insure profits on this increased investment, he must find diversified work for the tractor and keep it busy as much as possible through all seasons.

One enterprising farmer has listed 87 operations which he has found the tractor capable of doing, but in performing all these operations, this hustling farmer has done much custom work for his neighbors and used his tractor in road work and heavy hauling of many kinds in addition to his own draw bar and belt work.

Eighty-seven operations is a far larger number than is possible on the average farm, but a real power farmer is constantly finding new work for his tractor and that is what makes the tractor a profitable purchase.

Corn Germination Test

By GEO. H. DUNGAN

Ordinarily a germination test of farm seeds is made to learn how many will grow. With corn, we may learn more than the percentage of germinable grains. A careful study of an individual ear germination test will enable one to detect marked differences in the sturdiness and vigor of the seedlings from some ears as compared to those from others. At What Age Should You Take Needless Risks With Your Health?

Is that a queer question?

Then many people are doing a queer thing—and often it turns out to be a serious thing.

The Federal Bureau of Education says in its rules for the health of school children that children should not drink coffee or tea.

This rule is based on the well-known fact that the drug element in coffee and tea whips up the nerves, and that serious ills often follow.

If it's a good rule for children to keep away from the harm of nerve-stimulation, isn't it a good rule for everybody?

Think it over.

Granted that your body may stand more, can your judgment afford to risk more? Any doctor can tell you what coffee and tea often do to the health of adults as well as children.

There's no sacrifice in being safe. Postum is a delightful, satisfying mealtime beverage, wholesome and pleasant alike for adults and children. Postum has no age limits!

Your grocer has both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for fully 20 minutes.

Since the problems of home making are practically the same for country and town, the home bureau is open to both town and country women. Further details regarding the organization may be secured from any of the women above mentioned or from the Farm Bureau office.

Each district chairman will in turn appoint township chairmen to have charge of the membership work in the different townships. During the month of May, these women plan to put on an intensive membership campaign and secure 500 members before June 1.

The Home Bureau is a cooperative organization similar to the Farm Bureau, in that it is organized in cooperation with the state university and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. By the Smith-Lover Act passed in 1914, congress appropriated a certain amount of money to each state for extension work in agriculture and home economics. DeKalb county has never availed itself of the money appropriated for home making activities. Women of the county in forming a Home Bureau, expect to avail themselves of this privilege which 18 other counties in the state have already done. LaSalle, Kane and McHenry counties all bordering DeKalb have had such organizations for about four years.

The advantage in securing such an organization are that it would bring to the county a home advisor who is thoroughly trained in home economics, and that under her direction all com-

HOME BUREAU FOR COUNTY

Organized at Waterman Last Week—Extensive Campaign this Month

DeKalb county women are trying to organize a Home Bureau in the county and at a recent county-wide meeting, held at Waterman, Miss May Howison was elected president of the temporary organization and Mrs. John Grube, secretary-treasurer.

The county has been divided into districts for membership work with a chairman for each district as follows: Mrs. H. B. Rowan, Kirkland; Mrs. John Hallett, Sycamore; Mrs. C. D. Watson, DeKalb; Mrs. Clarence Elting, DeKalb; Mrs. R. J. McAllister, Waterman and Mrs. Anna Cox, Sand, Wier.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk to know whether you mean Trinidad, California, or Trinidad, Colorado? ALWAYS SPELL OUT THE NAME OF THE STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

"MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT"

This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress and applies particularly in postal management where postmasters are being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!

Let's make our post office look neat, Mr. Postmaster. Straighten up the rural letter box, Mr. Farmer. Tidy up some, Mr. Rural Carrier. First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr. Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back, bringing you benefits. Start these with "POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1-6.

HUMANIZING THE POSTAL SERVICE

"There is no unimportant person or part of our service. It is a total of human units and their co-operation is the key to its success. In its last analysis, postal duties are accommodations performed for our neighbors and friends and should be so regarded, rather than as a hired service performed for an absentee employer."—Postmaster General Hubert Work.

Yellow Fever Wiped Out. Yellow fever has been completely eliminated from Guayaquil, Ecuador, where it has been prevalent for generations. In 1842 half the population of the city died of this disease, and there were from 200 to 500 cases every year until the campaign of extermination was begun in 1918.

Indian Cotton Cloth. Indian cotton cloth is mentioned by Herodotus, and was known in Arabia in the seventh century. In Spain cotton was quite extensively grown and manufactured in the tenth century, but its manufacture was not introduced into other countries of Europe until some centuries later.

Come to Think of It.
A man was describing to a woman the compensations of nature—how in the blind the feeling of touch was acute; how those who were deaf in one ear often heard clearly with the other, and how a person blinded in one eye often sees extra well with the sound eye. "Yes," said she, "it's remarkable. And, come to think of it, I have always noticed that if a person has one short leg the other is always longer."

Pink Milk.
If you are in doubt about the cream on your milk, add a tiny drop of spirits of salts. If the milk has been adulterated to give it a rich appearance, it will turn pink—and then you can turn the milkman pink by showing him how the trick is done! You can, by the way, also test your vinegar by the same method. If it is bogus vinegar a little spirits of salts will turn it a brilliant green.
