NEW CREAMERY

Ira J. Mix Dairy Company has Ideal
Quarters at Plato Center

Twelve thousand dollars has been expended by the Ira J. Mix dairy company of Chicago in the erection of a new factory at Plato Center. The plant was put in operation last week and is now handling 20,000 pounds of milk each day. It takes the place of a delapidated structure which has been leased by the company for the last fifteen years.

The new factory is modern in every respect. It is two stories in height with a floor space of 3,456 square feet. Floors throughout are of cement while the machinery is thoroughly up to date with modern pasteurization equipment.

One of the features of the new factory is a refrigerating plant which occupies a room 20x36 feet. The company plans to increase the amount of milk handled at Plato Center until the present receipts are doubled.

The building was started several months ago and completed early this week. A. M. Haines has been placed in charge as superintendent and five men are employed.

GENOA HIGHS WIN

Defeat the Team from Brown's Business
College of Rockford

The Genoa Highs won from Brown's Business College of Rockford on the local diamond last Saturday, the score being 6 to 5. It was a real ball game from start to finish and was greatly enjoyed by the few faithful fans who always attend.

The Highs make their last appearance of the season next Saturday when they will take a fall out of the alumni aggregation. That is, they intend to give the "Old Boys" a beautiful necklace of goose eggs. It is quite natural that there will be a dispute over the matter. There are some pretty good players in the alumni bunch who will strenuously object to the goose egg proposition. It now looks as tho there might be a battle worth seeing.

Woodman Memorial

About ninety Woodmen attended services at the M. E. church in a body last Sunday morning and listened to an able sermon by Rev. J. T. McMullen. Altho Rev. McMullen is not a member of any of the secret societies he appreciates the good work that the Woodmen are doing and is in sympathy with their methods of preparing for the future welfare of loved ones. The theme for his sermon was "The Furious Driver," and he compared the furious driver, who has no thought for anything but his own present pleasure, to the man who goes thru this life without making some preparation for the future comfort of his family in a substantial manner, and without making any preparation for the life beyond the grave.

AGED WOMEN CALLED

MRS. E. B. ARNOLD PASSED
AWAY MONDAY EVENING

MRS. WHITE 86 YEARS OLD

Funeral Services held at the Home of Mrs. J. Sturtevant Friday Afternoon—A Christing

Mrs. Ruth D. White, wife of the late Alfred T. White, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Sturtevant, in this city, June 2, 1909, aged 86 years, 1 month and 1 day.

Mrs. Ruth D. White

The deceased, whose maiden name was Gould, was born in Washington, Duchess Co., N. Y., May 1, 1823, and was married there to Alfred White August 30, 1839. Mr. and Mrs. White resided in New York until 1856 when they moved to Illinois, settling near DeKalb. To them were born nine children, as follows: E. D. White, Marengo; B. S. White, Perry, Oklahoma; P. G. White, Boone, Iowa; Mrs. J. Sturtevant, Mrs. Geo. Duffy, Genoa; Mrs. Charles Hooser, Mrs. Elizabeth Stiles, deceased; and two who died in infancy.

Mrs. White was a devoted Christian woman, having been converted in her youth. She first became a member of the Wesleyan church, but later accepted the Advent Christian faith, and with her husband united with the A. C. church at DeKalb in 1861, where their home was headquarters for the ministers of their faith and all others who needed shelter and comfort. Mrs. White was a great but patient sufferer for several months previous to her death but exemplified thru it all the Christian fortitude and patience which characterized her life. She leaves to mourn five children, twenty-one grandchildren and forty-four great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Sturtevant home Friday afternoon, Rev. T. E. Glendenning officiating, assisted by Rev. B. P. Holt.

MRS. E. B. ARNOLD
Venelia Calista Rich was born December 22, 1834, in Benson Co., Vermont and passed away at her home in Genoa, Ill., June 7, 1909, at the age of 74 years, 5 months and 16 days.

Elijah and Annis Rich came west in the year 1836 and settled at Stark Station, Rutland township, Kane Co. Eleven children were born to Mr. Rich, seven of whom were own brothers and sisters to deceased. The names were, Annis T. Sanford, Clarissa A. Shurtleff, Delia K. Rich, Eveline E. Gage, sisters and two brothers, Glanson E. and Evelyn E. Rich, the latter is now the only surviving member of the family.

Deceased was united in marriage to E. B. Arnold at Lily Lake, Ill., October 22, 1857. Six children were born into the home, Annis L. Rockhold, Lineville, Ia., Dellvin A., who died five years ago at Blunt, S. D.; Carrie V. Weed, Fort Pierre, S. D.; Lizzie D. Stinyer, Blunt, S. D., William Redfield, S. D. and Eva V. Matteson, Hampshire, Ill. There are seven living grandchildren and six great grandchildren. After their marriage Mr and Mrs. Arnold lived for some time at North Plato, Ill. In 1864 they moved to Clio, Ia., where they remained seven years. They lived ten years in Blunt, S. D. and the remainder of their life has been spent in Illinois.

Mrs. Arnold was one of those beautiful characters of whom too much cannot be said. It is almost impossible to overestimate the beauty and grandeur of a life so devoted and so true. Perhaps if we were to select the dominating characteristic of her life we would without hesitation say unselfishness. Never was there a life more forgetful of self and selfish interests than the one we mourn over today. Her one aim in life was to do anything she could for those around her or for any worthy cause, never looking for or permitting a word of praise or appreciation. Counting it her "duty," her greatest joy consisted in bringing joy to others and doing what she could to make the world better. Perhaps nowhere was this unselfish and noble spirit more manifest than in the home.

Her influence and example will ever be a benediction to her sorrowing husband and dear children that are left to mourn their loss. At all times they looked to her for help and guidance. They respected her principles, they loved her dearly. Her words of counsel and Godly influence will abide with them forever. She was a devoted Christian. Being converted at the age of fourteen in an old school house at Stark Station, a place that has always been dear and precious to her, she joined the Methodist Episcopal church and since that time has been a faithful and devoted member of the same. She loved the class-meeting and prayer service and up to the last week of her life, with her husband, was not only present at these meetings, but always took part in prayer and testimony. She had a clear consciousness of her acceptance in Christ. She knew him as a personal Saviour and at all times had a passion "to do something for the One who did so much for her." She was generous in her giving to the Lord's work. She was unselfish in her hours of service and deeds of kindness and all her efforts were put forth in such an unassuming and unpretentious way that she elicited the admiration and good will, not only of her friends and relatives, but of all those with whom she came in contact. Of her it may be said in truth "She hath done what she could and what she hath done will be spoken of as a memorial of her."

Missouri Synod

The above named synod is the largest church organization of all Lutheran churches in America. Nearly 1,000,000 members belong to it. In their church schools 97,000 children are instructed. The synod maintains 12 universities, 2 seminaries and 2 colleges for the education of its school teachers.

One of the largest of the 20 districts met in Chicago at the St. Marcus church, corner 23rd street and California ave. The session lasted seven days. The topic of doctrinal discussion was "The Verbal Inspiration of the Bible by God." Many other things were discussed which pertain to the welfare of the church.

Over 400 delegates of our Northern Illinois District were present. The German Lutheran church of Genoa was represented by W. Gnekow and J. Molthan, the pastor.

ELOQUENT ADDRESS

PROF. H. W. SHRYOCK COM-
MENCEMENT SPEAKER

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS

Four Boys and Four Girls Finish the Four Year Course of Genoa High School—Class Play

The twenty-sixth annual commencement exercises of the Genoa high school were held at the M. E. church on Friday evening, June 4, attended by a large audience, the auditorium and classroom both being comfortably filled.

The address by Prof. H. W. Shryock, vice president of the normal school at Carbondale, was one of the best and most entertaining delivered in Genoa in some time. Prof. Shryock is eminently fitted to make a speech on an occasion of this nature, being well versed in school work, knowing what is best in the way of advice for the public school interests and having a gift of eloquence that cannot fail to convey his excellent ideas to the audience.

"How to Make a Living" was the subject of Prof Shryock's discourse. He did not give advice regarding the manner in which to tackle the stock market, the real estate market nor the board of trade. He did not harp on the saving question, nor did he give a temperance lecture. He did not advise the young man to "go west" and take a squatter's chance nor did he say anything about the boy staying on the farm. Any of this advise might have come under the subject announced by the speaker, but he had a far different thought to advance. Had the subject been "How to prepare the boys and girls to make a living" the audience would have had an idea of what was coming. The speaker's object was to show and prove the advisability and necessity of teaching the public school pupils some particular trade. If this is done the graduate would at once be prepared to take an active part in the affairs of the world; he would be prepared to make a living for himself. The old idea that the three R's are enough to give a public school pupil is fast fading away. The time is coming when manual training and domestic science will be a part of every public school with specially trained teachers in the several departments. With a few such men as Prof. Shryock behind the movement such a thing as unskilled American labor will some day be unknown.

The entire commencement program was excellent and the church was beautifully decorated with foliage and flowers, bridal wreath being used in profusion. The class, the superintendent and the high school teachers wore caps and gowns, presenting a decidedly pleasing appearance. Each member of the class carried an American beauty rose, the class flower.

The high school male quartet, composed of Messrs. Ralph Browne, Thos. Hepburn. Loyal Brown and Harvey King, was a pleasant surprise to the audience. It is seldom that four such good voices can be drafted from the membership of a high school.

Misses Edith Mae Smith and Esther Priscilla Smith, as salutorian and valedictorian, acquitted themselves with credit. The latter's essay was delivered without the manuscript, proving no little previous study.

With a few words of advice to the graduates Prof. Clark presented the diplomas and another class had reached the goal.

The graduates were Earl Moyers, Genevieve Baldwin, Thomas Hepburn, Vernon Corson, Esther Smith, Abiram Crawford, Aarbel Campbell and Edith Smith.

The class play, "Tompkins' Hired Man," presented on Thursday evening was witnessed by a full house and thoroly enjoyed by everyone. The members of the class performed well and better than one could really expect under the circumstances. It is not an easy matter to put on a play where there are a certain number of characters and certain ones must assume the role. It requires study of the part by every one in the cast. Miss Brown, the principal of the high school, drilled the class and her efforts were rewarded in the decided success of the play.

REGULAR JUNE TERM OF CIR-CUIT COURT OPENED

GRAND JURY IS SWORN IN

Suits of General Interest are Filed Including Usual Number of Divorce Cases

(True Republican)

The regular June term of the DeKalb county circuit court opened on Monday morning of this week, with Judge Carnes on the bench.

The docket contains 25 criminal cases, 135 common law cases, 118 chancery cases, which is an unusually large number—yet it is not believed the term will be a long one, as it is hard to get litigants, witnesses and jurymen together at the spring term.

The grand jury were sworn and returned to consider a considerable number of criminal charges, with E. A. Manchester of Sandwich as foreman.

Among the cases recently filed are the following:

Joseph B. Smith of Genoa has filed a bill asking the circuit court for a divorce from Martha Heidtman-Smith, to whom he was married in Chicago on April 19, 1897. They lived together until March 8, 1907, and to them were born five children, all of whom are living and who range from four years. On the day above mentioned, he deserted him without construct, operate and maintain a railroad, with all necessary and convenient switches, side tracks, and turn-outs, and the right and authority to erect all necessary poles, posts, wires and braces therefor upon the streets and parts of streets in said Village of Genoa, as are hereinafter described, to-wit:

F. W. Millar of Sycamore has filed a suit against Alvirus Joslyn of Cortland for reimbursement for some $1,600 paid for the care of Lloyd Barnhise, grandson of defendant, whose care was intrusted by the grandfather to F. W. Millar.

Charles H. Tharme of Sycamore has filed a bill for divorce against Eliza J. Tharme, to whom he was married in Sycamore on October 18, 1906. They lived together until April 27, 1907, when he says she deserted him.

The Pierce Trust and Savings bank of Sycamore has filed against Rufus B. Pace of Sycamore a suit involving the title to certain real estate including the Patten factory and residence in Sycamore, the Monroe flat building in Chicago and farms in Ogle, Lee and Carroll counties, Ill. Property to the value of some $150,000 is involved.

Members of the grand jury are:

E. W. Chapman, Paw Paw.
E. W. Johnson, Shabbona.
John Herrman, Milan.
Martin Kirby, Malta.
Frank McQueen, Malta.
W. Welty, South Grove.
George Miller, Franklin.

ILLINOIS BREVITIES

OPPORTUNITY.

Mexican Farm Land, small farms, easy payments, free town lot, in an American town, the first to be built in the Republic of Mexico. Free English schools for your children.

Freeport.—Bankers of group No. 3 embracing eight counties in northern Illinois, held the annual meeting here. Many prominent Chicago bankers were present. The principal address was made by L. A. Goddard, president of the State Bank of Chicago. He urged bankers to discourage speculation, saying: "No banker has the right to speculate even with his own personal funds and no customer has the right to speculate with borrowed money unless he has put up collateral."

Over 700 Colonists Have already secured homes for themselves in this ideal location, and there are yet remaining homes for thousands more. If you want to know more about our proposition call on any of the following representatives:

ABDUL HAMID DEPOSED SULTAN

"Give us the old man's head," shouted the Young Turk soldiers the morning of April 13, just before they invaded the sacred interior of the sublime Porte. Those words which were also spoken to an American correspondent by the leader of the army of investment, told a long story. They told the correspondent that the Turkish people no longer revered the person of Abdul Hamid because he happened to be a descendant of their prophet. They were the sharp evidence that the people had taken upon themselves to worship their rights and the sword, emblematic of sultanate power, rather than the sword, the crown and occupied the pulpit of a great monarch.

Pana.—The Twenty-fifth district Rebekah convention has closed a two-day session after selecting Taylorville as the next place of meeting. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Zeta Cooksey, Taylorville; vice-president, Mrs. B. Smith, Grove City; secretary, Mrs. Emma Moxley, Taylorville; treasurer, Mrs. L. Harris of Chicago, chief instructor of the state, gave an address, followed by Mrs. Mary Miller, state secretary, of Springfield.

Wanigan.—Dancing has now become a regular part of the program at Zion City. In fact it is said that the plan is to hold dances every Saturday. There is an invitation dance announced at the North Shore Inn, under the auspices of private officials of the city. The first dance of the series was given in the hotel ballroom last Saturday night. Volla raised immediate objection and in his sermon Sunday denounced the practice in no uncertain terms.

Elgin.—Drivers for the Borden Condensed Milk Company walked out and started a strike that, it is feared, will extend to all the plants of the company throughout the Fox river territory. About 100 men were affected by the strike in Elgin, but several hundred more are employed in the various plants of the company in that district. Unless the company makes certain concessions and increases the salary of the drivers, it is said that a general strike will be ordered.

East St. Louis.—The citizens of East St. Louis believe that their plans and hopes for the building of the "Greater East St. Louis" are near to consummation. Within the next two months three gigantic enterprises will be in full operation. They will necessitate the spending of more than $7,000,000 and will furnish employment to thousands for the next two years or more.

Chicago.—Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Marshall, head of the indictment department, made his semi-annual report to Mr. Wayman, showing the number of true bills and "no bills" voted. During the six months since Mr. Wayman took office the report shows 1,417 true bills were voted and only one of these was quashed. The grand juries reported 380 "no bills" found.

Washington, D. C.—Roy O. West called upon President Taft at the White House, following conferences with Postmaster-General Hitchcock and Senator Cullom. Mr. West discussed politics in a general way with all upon whom he called here, but is understood not to have suggested or had suggested to him any details with reference to the future distribution of federal patronage in Illinois.

Chicago.—The home of the late Thomas H. Wickes, vice-president for years of the Pullman Company, has been sold to Patrick Brennan, president of the Independent Packing Company, and the transaction revived interest in the events of Wickes' life, in which the homestead figured in connection with the family scandals which were dragged into court repeatedly.

Peoria.—Peoria business men are holding a $9,340 bag in the Monroe & Monroe sale of the British wireless stock. F. G. Robinson, who sold the stock and gave his receipt for the money, is under arrest in New York on complaint of a business man of San Jose, Cal. The Peoria stockholders will join in an attempt to recover funds invested.

Chicago.—At a meeting the Austin Public Policy club adopted resolutions asking Gov. Deneen to call a special election in the Sixth congressional district as soon as possible for the choice of a congressman to succeed William Lorimer, now United States senator.

Chicago.—Dr. Martin H. Luken, president of the staff of St. Elizabeth's hospital, died at the home of his brother, William M. Luken. Death was caused by a complication of chronic diseases from which the physician had suffered for about three years.

Springfield.—Gov. Deneen issued a requisition on the governor of Michigan for the return of Samuel Berger, wanted in St. Clair county on a charge of larceny. Berger is said to have stolen $50 from Husan Mustafa of East St. Louis last February, and is now under arrest at Detroit, Mich.

Jacksonville.—Illinois Woman's college held its sixty-third annual commencement exercises, the address being made by Bishop Spellmeyer of St. Louis. There were 21 graduates, but only two, Miss Wiley and Miss Davis received degrees, the first given by the school.

BILL'S AFFLICTION.

"Why, uncle, how are all the folks?" "They're all well, thanks," said Bill. "He's got the baseball fever!"

Prominent Women Aid Good Cause.

A large number of women occupying prominent positions in society, or on the stage, are taking an active interest in the anti-tuberculosis campaign. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt has recently given $1,000,000 for sanitary homes for consumptives. Mrs. Edith Spaulding of Chicago has erected a sanitarium for the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute at a cost of about $50,000; Mrs. Collis P. Huntington and Mrs. Borden Harriman have given largely to the consumption fight. In Porto Rico, Mrs. Albert Norton Wood, wife of a prominent army officer stationed at San Juan, has stirred the entire island through the anti-tuberculosis crusade she inaugurated. Mme. Emma Calve is a most enthusiastic worker, and has given largely of her talent and money for the relief of tuberculosis sufferers, and Miss Clara Nethersole has even lectured before the public on tuberculosis.

Ignorance Aids Appetite.

Merrill E. Gates, secretary of the board of Indian commissioners, was describing the splendid work that his board is doing to wipe out the tuberculosis scourge which at one time threatened to make the American Indian extinct.

"But the Indian," said Mr. Gates, "needs to be educated in sanitation. He is shockingly ignorant there. In fact, he is as ignorant as an old farmer I used to know in Warsaw. 'A friend dropped in on this old farmer as he was frying a bit of bacon. 'Grand bacon, that,' said the friend, sniffing affably. 'Grand bacon! Well, I guess it is grand bacon,' said the old man, turning the slices in the pan. 'And it's none o' yer murdered stuff, neither. That pig died a natural death.'"

MAKING SUNSHINE It is Often Found in Pure Food.

The improper selection of food drives many a healthy person into the depths of despairing illness. Indeed, much sickness comes from wrong food and just so surely as that is the case right food will make the sun shine once more.

An old veteran of Newburyport, Mass., says: "In October, I was taken sick and went to bed, losing 47 pounds in about 60 days. I had doctor after doctor, food hurt me and I had to live almost entirely on magnesia and soda. All solid food distressed me so that water would run out of my mouth in little streams."

"I had terrible night sweats, and my doctor finally said I had consumption and must die. My good wife gave up all hope. We were at Old Orchard, Me., at that time and my wife saw Grape-Nuts in a grocery there. She brought some and persuaded me to try it."

"I had no faith in it, but took it to please her. To my surprise it did not distress me as all other food had done and before I had taken the fifth package I was well on the mend. The pains left my head, my mind became clearer and I gained weight rapidly."

"I went back to my work again and now after six weeks' use of the food I am better and stronger than ever before in my life. Grape-Nuts surely saved my life and made me a strong healthy man. 15 pounds heavier than before I was taken ill."

"Both my good wife and I are willing to make affidavit to the truth of this."

Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason." "Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

Rejuvenation of Turkey

MEHMED REHED EFFENDI, SULTAN OF TURKEY

ABDUL HAMID DEPOSED SULTAN

SULTAN'S BODY GUARD 10,000 STRONG

GETTING Turkey back into running order after its revolution and subsequent deposition of Abdul Hamid II. is like cleaning a house which has not felt the touch of a broom in years.

One could not say it within the sacred confines of the Sublime Porte, but it is chiefly a liberal application of "the saw," which aids fair to accomplish this feat for the new ruler, Mehmed V.

Hardly had the revolution been successfully accomplished by the Young Turks after the capture and occupation of Constantinople than the Young Turk soldiers at Saloniki made massacres if the Shariat laws were not restored. Mehmed V. said of course they would be restored. There never had been any doubt about it in his mind and he declared himself deeply grieved that so trivial a matter should so thoroughly arouse his noble subjects.

In fact Mehmed V. is a whole of good nature and tact, say his courtiers, and when all else fails well adjusted, well chosen words to his countrymen turn the trick.

Despite the fact that he is a brother of Abdul Hamid, the deposed monarch, he has few of the traits of the latter and promises that he will never plead ill health when debtors press hard. That mode of meeting bill collections gave Abdul Hamid the name of the "sick man of Europe."

Contrary to Abdul's policies Mehmed V. has shaped his plans in such a manner that Turkey is to be given and, it is said, is now being given a thoroughly economical administration with the people at the helm to a large extent. The first two months of Mehmed's reign have seen him an object of worship by the people and the change in the order of things from the old way so thoroughly welcomed by the Turkish populace in general that the sultan evidenced his belief in the sincerity of his people by appearing on the streets upon several occasions when the same action by his brother would have produced a vacancy in the royal family.

Commercially Turkey is one of the world's richest countries and less than a hundred years ago was one of the great world powers. Its ships were then on every sea and lorded over by no one. A contrast was presented in the last quarter of a century when demonstrations before the Porte were constantly planned and often executed for the sole purpose of frightening the sultan into paying his debts. They seldom frightened him that far, but at least extracted promise of payments on account.

The extent of the Ottoman empire to-day is over 1,500,000 square miles, while back in 1896, before Turkey lost many of its possessions through the despotic rule of Abdul Hamid, the realm totaled 1,892,150 square miles. Its population today is 43,000,000, well scattered, thus giving ample opportunity for agricultural operations.

It is said that to-day through the slavery laws and heavy taxation imposed by the former ruler there are 40,000,000 acres of uncultivated land in Turkey. Think of the vast revenue from the soil which is year after year absolutely going to waste. Much of this land is in the possession of the crown and what little duty was squeezed from it usually went into the coffers of the brother of the present ruler.

In evidence that Abdul Hamid was a wise financier and a merciless master are offered the discoveries of the cabinet members who were selected as advisers to Mehmed. In the palace and in the grounds surrounding there was unearthed over $10,000,000 in coin, and papers were found which showed the former sultan to have $15,000,000 in the banks of Germany, France, England and America. That was the state of affairs which Mehmed found and it gave him and his court a pang to think of the enormity of Turkey's debt while his brother Abdul had been silently but persistently tucking away the country's money in his own private pocketbook—and Turkey with a debt which the world says will never be paid.

But thanks to the Young Turks, Mehmed's sound business policies and a surrounding of able by penalties more severe than some of those which are administered for manslaughter in this country. To be confined in a Turkish dungeon for any length of time practically meant death because of the vermin, lack of food and insanitary quarters.

The task which Mehmed faced was that of reorganizing perhaps the most corrupt government in the world. It was a government in which graft reigned openly and unquestioned. And from the findings at Yildiz Kiosh, the former sultan was the kingpin of his fellow grafters. The subjects were the only ones who did not graft and they were the ones upon whom the grafting was inflicted.

The people in Constantinople, according to consular reports forwarded from Washington, highly respect the new ruler and their hope for a new order of things has not been dissipated, for the regime of the present occupant of the Ottoman throne has ousted the most pernicious grafters of the old monarchy and honest men form the new ministry.

Capitalists are scanning the situation in Turkey with eagle eyes for they realize that the opening of the country to outside financing will produce investments which cannot be overlooked. The Ottoman empire is one of the largest of the old world. It embraces extensive territories in southeastern Europe, western Asia and Northern Africa, grouped mainly around the eastern waters of the Mediterranean and along both sides of the Red sea, the west coast of the Persian gulf and southern and western shores of the black sea.

Revolve in your mind the various assortment of industries which may be carried on in that fertile country and then ask yourself whether it is any wonder that lots of American money will go to aid Turkey by being invested in its industries.

The rejuvenation of Turkey is going on from the inside as well as from the outside. The powers of the world want to give Turkey a chance to retrieve itself and they realize that the new sultan must be depended upon. Every official action which goes forth from the palace is quickly communicated to the governments of Europe and America. In fact the whole world is just now sizing up Mehmed V. He is being watched as closely as if he were out on parole.

Mehmed is believed by the Turkish people to be in some manner a descendant of Mohammed, father of the religion which reigns supreme within the confines of the Ottoman empire. It was that fact which kept Abdul Hamid on the throne for so long a time while Turkey longed for his life blood and thousands of plotters were praying for a chance to effect his demise.

Finally, however, the people of Turkey took the view that it was the office of sultan which they honored and not the occupant of that position. So the Young Turks party was formed with the primary idea of restoring the constitution of 1876. The decrepit ruler, after many promises of a "New Turkey," gave them the constitution they wished. Then by machinations known only to himself and perhaps one or two members of his court, he took away all the grants, still leaving the subjects in possession of the constitution of 1876, which then amounted to nothing more than an empty promise.

Washington said.

The following day came the official bulletin from the head of the church announcing that the ruler had been unseated, his office turned over to his brother and making grave charges against Abdul Hamid, now an old man.

"It is the will of Allah," sighed the old man, his shoulders seeming even more stooped after the strenuous events of two days.

Carassa Effendi, a member of the deputation from the national assembly, which conveyed the fetva (announcement) to the Yildiz palace, tells a graphic story of the dramatic scene which closed six centuries' domination of the boundless power of the Padishahs. When the deputation arrived at the palace the scene was one of utter desolation. The investing army had cut off the water, gas and electric supplies and had stopped the ingress of food, so that all the palace officials already were suffering from hunger and panic.

While waiting to be introduced to the sultan the members of the deputation carefully examined their holsters and pistols, and, according to Carassa, had Abdul Hamid shown an armed hand he would have been shot on the spot. After much delay the unwelcome visitors, surrounded by 20 black eunuchs, were ushered into the sultan's apartment, where stood the sultan's son, Prince Abdur Rahim.

Presently the sultan entered in a bewildered manner. He was dressed somewhat negligently, as though his clothes had been hastily donned, in civilian attire. His arms hung at his sides and his hands trembled.

After a silent salute Essad Pasha pronounced in slow tones the decree of deposition, at which the sultan shuddered.

There was a painful silence, followed by an equally painful colloquy, lasting a quarter of an hour. Abdul Hamid appealed for his life and for the lives of his family. He protested his devotion to the people and his innocence in recent events.

The youthful prince burst into tears, and after vain efforts to restrain his feelings, retired behind a screen, where he broke into bitter sobs. For a moment tears trembled in the sultan's eyes. Then he supplicated the soldiers in attendance to swear that they would not take his life. The deputation brought the interview to a close and Abdul Hamid humbly saluted them as they departed.

Why the Muscles Grow Tired

Nearly half the weight of the human body consists of muscles which connect the bones and, by contraction, move them into various positions. In the best steam engine only one-tenth of the potential energy of the fuel is converted into mechanical work, but the muscles utilize in work from 34 to 55 per cent. of the energy of the food and probably much more, as the experiments which furnished these figures were performed with muscles removed from the body, not with living muscles richly supplied with blood. The less the contraction of a muscle the greater is its efficiency. A steam engine which is maintained in good condition works hour after hour and day after day, always consuming the same quantity of coal in performing the same amount of work.

With the muscles, however, it is different. For their waste products from combustion accumulate and cause fatigue. The poison of fatigue gradually is washed away by the blood, and in light and slow work it is carried off as rapidly as it is formed by the activity of the muscle, while in heavy, violent, or greatly prolonged labor it accumulates in the muscles.

It is the sensation of fatigue that causes us unconsciously to select the easiest way of doing things—for example, to ascend a mountain by a winding rafter than by a straight path, although we thus increase the total quantity of work.

HAMMOCK FACTORY BURNED

The Large Net Hammock Factory at St. Charles was Burned Sunday Morning with a loss of $20,000

It has been discovered that the recent earthquake so badly damaged the county jail building at Bloomington that it will have to be rebuilt.

The senate last Saturday defeated the bill abolishing capital punishment in Illinois by a vote of 19 ayes and 20 nays after a spirited debate.

The St. Charles Net Hammock company's building, largely cement, at the extreme northwest part of St. Charles, a little south of the Great Western track, burned to the ground Sunday morning at 4 o'clock, causing a loss of about $20,000.

Sheriff Daniel Hohm and William Foster of Kirkland have purchased the E. J. McMullen farm of 120 acres, two and a half miles west of Kirkland and two miles southeast of Fairdale. It is a choice tract. The improvements are fair. They paid $100 an acre for it, which is considered a very reasonable price.

A verdict in favor of the plaintiff, Phillip Mothersill of Zion City, allowing twenty thousand dollars in damages against Wilbur Glenn Voivva, overseer of Zion City, and editor of the so called newspaper, The Battle Axe, was returned last Friday in McHenry county by twelve Woodstock residents after but fifty minutes deliberation.

Efforts to secure oil by drilling on the Whitehead farm south of Rockford have been abandoned after several bores have been drilled and the derricks and other paraphernalia have been removed and are being taken back to Texas where they will be used in the oil fields. The net profit of the operation is the possession of several artesian wells as water was struck in each bore. The prospect for oil failed signally and no trace of it was discovered.

At Minonk they had a hard time getting the local option to the fore. To show their sincerity in the matter, at an anti-license meeting, a subscription paper was circulated and $6,000 pledged to reimburse the city for its loss in license money in case the anti's carried. Then a Mr. Stoddard arose and pledged himself to pay to the city every three months the sum of $1,200, to take the place of the saloon license, but with all the promises Minonk went wet by a large majority.

The Utica (N. Y.) Saturday Globe of May 15th, contains a good write-up of John Elphick of Poolville, N. Y., who died recently at the age of ninety-seven years. Mr. Elphick was the first passenger brakeman in the United States, and had been directly connected with several epoch-making improvements during the last century. He had always been a total abstainer from the use of tobacco and intoxicants, and had been vigorous, both in body and mind up to his last hours.

A Light Vote

Only 42 votes were cast at the judicial election Monday, there being practically no opposition to the three republican candidates, Carnes, Willis and Slusser. There were three socialist candidates but they did not cut much of a figure in the count. Only one socialist vote was cast in Genoa and very few were cast anywhere in the circuit.

THE CRANBERRY.

Least Understood and Most Abused of Our Domestic Fruits. The cranberry is the least understood and the most abused of any of our domestic fruits. Comparatively few know their possibilities. Quite a few know how to prepare them in palatable form. The expression is common, "You need a barrel of sugar for a barrel of cranberries." This is not true. They are not sugar consumers compared with most fruits.

If users will make the test they will discover that more sauce with less sugar proportionately can be made from a quart of cranberries than from a quart of any other kind of berry and if properly made will be tempting and toothsome. A barrel of sugar will sweeten more than three barrels of cranberries. A cranberry shortcake will vie with a strawberry shortcake. Eaten raw, cranberries are a laxative and liver tonic, and, like the olive, one can cultivate a fondness for them.

Cranberries are keepers, like the apple, and, like apples, require a cool, dry place. It is economy to buy good berries. Never cook them in tin or iron ware. Use porcelain, earthenware or granite. Do not cover in cold water and allow to simmer, steep and stew over slow fire. This makes tough skins, pale, sickly pink or dark, dull red color and gives acrid flavor. Use boiling water, cook rapidly and not long.

For a good sauce, to one quart of clean cranberries add one pint granulated sugar and one pint of boiling water. Place immediately over brisk fire, stirring enough to mix sugar with water and coat berries. Cover as soon as berries begin to swell and "pop." Stand by and mash against kettle until every berry is broken. Keep them boiling during this operation. By the time berries are all mashed, or having boiled for fifteen minutes, remove from stove and turn into china or earthenware dish. When cold this should be a beautiful rich red, jellied sauce.

INVOKING THE SPIRITS.

Queer Superstitions of the Veddads of Ceylon.

Dr. C. G. Seligman, writing in Travel and Exploration, throws some interesting light on the beliefs and superstitions of the Veddads, the strange hill tribes and cave dwellers of Ceylon: "Although there is no clearly formulated idea of a death contagion, the rapidity with which all Veddads leave the place where a death has occurred and avoid it for years shows that some evil quality is associated with dissolution. According to most Veddads, the spirit of every dead man, woman or child becomes a 'yaka' (plural 'yaku') within a few days after death. Some Veddads, however, say that when ordinary folk die they cease utterly and that a surviving part, which becomes a yaka, exists only in the case of especially strong, energetic or skilled men, who have shown their strength of character in this world or who have had the power of calling the yaku during their lifetime.

"Since each Vedda community consists of a small number of families, usually related by blood and marriage, the yaku of the recent dead—called collectively the ne yaku—are supposed to stand toward the surviving members of the group in the light of friends and relatives, who, if well treated, will continue their loving kindness to their survivors, and only if neglected will show their disgust and anger by withdrawing their assistance or even becoming actively hostile; hence it is generally considered necessary to present an offering to the 'newly dead, usually within a week or two of death. This offering must consist of cooked rice and coconut milk, the food that every Vedda esteems above all other, but betel leaves and area nuts are often added.

"In each community there is one man, called 'kapurale,' or 'dugganawa,' who has the power and knowledge requisite to call the yaku, and this man calls upon the yaku of the recently dead man to come and take the offering. The yaku comes, and the kapurale becomes possessed by the yaku of the dead man, who speaks through his mouth in hoarse, guttural accents, stating that he approves the offering and will assist his kinfolk in hunting and often definitely indicating the direction in which the next hunting party should go. One or more of the near relatives may also become possessed. Soon after the spirit leaves the kapurale the rice is eaten by the assembled folk."

Abating a Nuisance. The Langworths lived in a corner house so easily accessible from the street that they were constantly annoyed by persons ringing to ask where other possible inhabitants of that block were to be found. Finally, goaded to desperation by these interruptions, the family boy attempted to put a stop to the nuisance.

"I guess," said he complacently, "there won't be any more folks asking if the Browns, the Biddles or the Hansons live in this house. I've fixed 'em."

"What have you done?" queried Mrs. Langworth.

"Hung out a sign."

"And what did you print on it, laddie?"

"Just five words," replied Harold proudly, "Nobody lives here but us."—Lippincott's.

Wrong Again. A political speaker was attacking the government of the day with more venom than reason. A man at the back of the hall at last cried out, "You're wrong, sir!" A little nettled, the orator continued without heeding. Presently, in answer to another strong assertion, came again, "You're wrong, sir!" The speaker looked angry, but continued on the warpath. "You're wrong, sir!" again rang out.

Angrily addressing the persistent one, the orator cried: "Look here! I could tell this man something about this government which would make his hair stand on end!"

"You're wrong again, sir!" came exultantly from the critic as he stood up and removed his hat. His head was as bald as the proverbial billiard ball.—London Globe.

Stonewall Jackson's Apology. Jackson had occasion to censure a cadet who had given, as he believed, the wrong solution of a problem. On thinking the matter over at home he found that the pupil was right and the teacher wrong. It was late at night and in the depth of winter, but he immediately started off to the institute, some distance from his quarters, and sent for the cadet. The delinquent, answering with much trepidation the untimely summons, found himself, to his astonishment, the recipient of a frank apology.—From "Stonewall Jackson and the Civil War."

ACRES OF ASPARAGUS

Ashton Farmers Engaged Largely in the Production of this Vegetable

Over in the adjoining county of Lee, the farmers do not propose to devote their $100 and $120 land to the production of only corn, oats and hay. They are producing crops from which, instead of $20 an acre, they are realizing $100 an acre. In and around Ashton, the second station on the Northwestern road west of Rochelle, there are now more than fifty acres of asparagus which nets the farmers in the neighborhood of $100 per acre a season. One evening nearly three hundred crates of the tips were shipped by express to Chicago market from Ashton. The average daily shipment from there was from 150 to 200 crates. The crates bring on the market from $1.25 to $3.25 each, depending on the quality and the time of the season.

Board to Extend Scope

Possibilities of extending the territory of the Elgin board of trade throughout the Middle West, making it the producers' market for the butter of the North Central states, were formally discussed at a meeting of a special committee of the board Monday. The question will be definitely settled at next Monday's meeting.

The territory of the Elgin board now includes Illinois, the four southern tiers of Wisconsin counties and the two tiers of counties in eastern Iowa. Until three years ago it included only Illinois and one tier of Wisconsin counties.

Elgin butter, that which is sold through the Elgin board of trade at Elgin prices, must test to standard or the buyer is entitled to a rebate. Any buyer may demand a test by an official inspector of the board.

Are We Right?

There was once a merchant who was in business in a small town. This man had a thorn in his side and that thorn was a mail order house. He cursed and reviled, said mean things and thot worse ones. Wept and swore, wore sackcloth and ashes. People would buy things where they thot they were getting them cheap. It was hurting his business and he told the editor about it. The editor jumped on the mail order house and said mean things. He refused to take their advertising when they offered better rates than he could get at home. Now comes the moral of this little tale. The merchant wanted some printing done. The editor made him a price, but it wasn't right. The man took down a book—it was a price list from a big printing house in the city. He said, "Now look at these figures. I can get this and thus for so and so. Why, you want to hold me up. Figure a little closer." Isn't it funny how much difference it makes whose ox is gored?

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.
 The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucus membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerves, all tissue, and all blood ailments.
 The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, causes nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well
