W. C. T. U. Notes

A combined meeting of our three red letter days held March 7 at the home of Mrs. Alfred Buck was a decided success in every way. All on the program were on hand and fully prepared to take their part. After devotional exercises a short business session was held in which it was voted to furnish the teachers in the grades with the new temperance physiology recommended by the state convention (providing the school board do not object). First on the program was a rousing song by Misses Meyers and Stiles. Mesdames Rowan and Olmsted gave selections from Miss Willard's sayings and writings. Mrs. Smith read a beautiful poem entitled "How beautiful to be with God," written by Wilbur D. Nesbit. Mrs. A. J. Patterson told of our memorial fund, how it came to be and some of its uses among which are sending out organizers into new fields to build up new unions, reorganize the discouraged ones and carrying our work and its needs to every open door. Then there is our National Superintendent of Legislation ever on duty at all sessions watching and working for any measure where she can help. Then our W. C. T. U. missionaries at the immigrant stations where they give their full time to the work of locating baggage and friends, sending telegrams, clothing those who need clothes, visiting the anxious ones in the detention rooms, the disappointed ones in the deporting rooms, the sick ones in the hospital, pleading with wayward girls and women to give up a wrong life, distributing literature in many languages and wherever she goes giving words of help and cheer. Next was the Union Signal for which Mesdames Harlow and Hoover made strong pleas, for it seems as necessary for a W. C. T. U. woman to be supplied with her state and national paper as for a workman to be supplied with tools. Mrs. Reed and others gave some readings and selections from Neal Dow's sayings and his work. A bountiful lunch was prepared by Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Adams to which all did ample justice.

To the Voters of DeKalb County

I wish to state that "I am" a candidate for re-nomination to the office of Coroner of DeKalb county. During my years of service to the county in that capacity I have always endeavored to act square with all concerned and to perform my duties conscientiously.

I have lived in DeKalb county for the last thirty years. I served two years in the civil war, enlisting when 16 years of age, am a member of the G. A. R. Post No. 508, Ill. Dept., and have been a loyal Republican all my life.

I have been sick in bed for the past eight weeks, but am pleased to state that my condition is improving daily. For this reason it will be impossible for me to meet the voters throughout the county personally before the primaries, much as I wish to do so.

Thanking you in advance for your support at the primaries on April 9, 1912, I am as always

Yours respectfully,
Jos. D. Morris

McEwen For States Attorney

There is a growing opinion among the voters of the county that the work of the States Attorney is of such great importance that it demands the services of a lawyer of mature years and sufficient experience in the practice of law to insure the tax payers that the work of the office will be well done.

The fact that a candidate needs the office to establish him in his profession or to assist him financially should not be accepted by the voters as valid reasons for supporting his candidacy. The tax payers of the county have the right to demand that the man who holds this important office shall be well established in his profession and of sufficient experience so that they may know that the work will be well done.

In presenting the name Harry W. McEwen to the republican voters of DeKalb county at the primaries, April 9, his friends feel they have a candidate in whom they have the greatest confidence and one who is wholly qualified to fill the position with credit to both the country and himself. They point with pride to the views expressed by their candidate in the following set of principles which he announces as his platform:

I believe in full, fair and reasonable enforcement of the law, for the purpose of securing: First, the protection of society, and second, the reformation of the individual.

I do not believe in blindly prosecuting all cases solely for the purpose of securing a conviction, fully recognizing the fact that the law seeks the vindication of the innocent, as well as the punishment of the guilty.

The grand jury, under our system of jurisprudence is an extraordinary power in the hands of the States Attorney which he should use with the greatest degree of caution, deliberation and reserve.

The States Attorney in the administration of his office should be uninfluenced by considerations of wealth, power, creed, politics or personal belief.

The power of the States Attorney's office should not be used to assist in the collection of civil liabilities, or to encourage or assist factional quarrels or personal spite.

Automobile Economy.

"I'm here 't'ell 'y' this talk 'bout th' expense o' maintainin' an' operatin' a auto breakin' a man up in bizness is all rot," quoth the retired farmer, who was spending his declining years in the beautiful village of Schaghticoke, to the Chicago Record-Herald man. "Why, since we bought our Hummer '40 we've saved more'n that jest in our grocery and meat bill." "How do you figure that, Zeb?" "Jes' this way. Since we got th' car Elviry 'n me eats a light breakfast an' starts out into the country. Probly we lands at th' Larkinses 'bout dinner time, an' course they insists on our stayin'. Then in the afternoon we moseys 'roun' an' hits, say, th' Musgrave place fer supper. Y' see, we got a big circle o' acquaintances. "That's all right, Zeb—that part of it; but how about the comeback? All those people inevitably come and partake of your hospitality sooner or later." "Ain't no comeback, by heck! Since we got the masheen they don't find us at home."

Gillhooley of Agadir.

The ruler of Agadir is Kald Gillull, a chieftain only twenty-five years of age, who lives in a curious little fortified town or saint's tomb called Dargillull, which is situated about half way between Mogador and Agadir. Gillull or Gillhooley claims to be a countryman of mine, descended from an Irish lad who was carried off from the town of Baltimore some hundreds of years ago by Algerian corsairs and afterward sold as a slave to the Moors. The only proof which he can adduce in support of his claim to Irish descent are a green turban and a pugnacious disposition. He has been constantly on the rampage in the Atlas mountains for the last five years and may at any moment be on the warpath against the Germans. Some people have suggested that he turned me out because, as I hail from the black north, he suspected me of being an Orangeman.—Westminster Gazette.

To the Republican Voters of DeKalb County

I am a candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court of DeKalb County, subject to the Republican Primary to be held April 9, 1912. Owing to the conditions of the roads, it will be impossible for me to see all the voters before the Primaries.

As to my qualifications, I was for thirteen years in the employ of the DeKalb County Abstract Company, most of which time was spent on the records of DeKalb County, and with which I am thoroly familiar, and the last seven years have been in the employ of the Pierce Trust & Savings Bank, Sycamore, Illinois. I have always been a Republican and worked for the Republican party and have never ask for a county office before. I am in hopes to secure the nomination at the Primaries and if I do am elected, I will devote my entire time to the office and try and serve the people to the best of my ability.

Respectfully,
J. D. Beckler.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

The wonder of baking powders—Calumet. Wonderful in its raising powers—its uniformity, its never failing results, its purity. Wonderful in its economy. It costs less than the high-price trust brands, but it is worth as much. It costs a trifle more than the cheap and big can kinds—it is worth more. But proves its real economy in the baking.

IN DECIDING ON A SILO

It is important that you secure the longest possible service and value for your money. Every dollar you invest should represent a definite, safe purpose that will not require spending additional dollars for repairs and re-building. THE IMPERISHABLE SILO is permanent and enduring because it is built of vitrified clay blocks which can never decay. This silo is storm-proof, acid-proof, moisture-proof and the walls are fire-proof. Better than concrete, which is porous and unsatisfactory in preserving silage. Our silos possess incalculable strength. Patent channel blocks in which steel bars are buried in mortar, concealed from view and not exposed to air and chemical influences, contribute so much strength that the silo could be filled with wheat and stand the test perfectly. THE IMPERISHABLE SILO IS WARRANTED! Buyer cannot lose in such an investment.

Magill For U.S. Senator
With the closing days of the primary campaign at hand in Illinois, the attention of the republican voters is beginning to center upon the three-cornered contest for United States senator. This contest has a peculiar interest from the fact that the first time in Illinois is a trial of strength to be made between the progressive and conservative forces within the republican party. The contest here will be in line with those that have been carried on with marked results in other states, both east and west, and is in line with the national contest now going on between the leading republican candidates for the presidency.

Senator Hugh S. Magill, the progressive candidate for United States senator, is engaged in a state-wide canvass, and while his campaign is not of the spectacular sort, he has attracted a large and enthusiastic following. His campaign appeals to those who wish to see a change in present methods and a return to real representative government. He has not only the solid endorsement of the Roosevelt and LaFollette republicans of the state, but his candidacy has been warmly commended by Governor Johnson, Gifford Pinchot and of the national repute.

In his campaign, Senator Magill has been getting close to the people, to that class known as the "silent voters" those who are not politicians but who quietly work and vote for clean politics and honest government. His principle aim has been to get his message to the people, believing that if given a fair hearing, he could convince them of his sincerity and ability.

To those who are opposed to Senator Cullom because of his vote for Lorimer in the United States senate and who are opposed to L. Y. Sherman because of his vote for the pernicious Allan bill and his reactionary attitude, Senator Magill appeals to the man of the hour, because his record is clean, his principles are sound and progressive, and because he never fails to bear out the impression that he is absolutely honest and sincere.—Peoria Herald-Transcript.

For States Attorney
I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of States Attorney and respectfully ask the support of the voters at the primaries to be held on April 9, 1912.

Harry W. McEwen.

I am a candidate for the office of clerk of the circuit court and recorder, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the April primary election.

James D. Beckler.

Believing that the office of coroner should be held by a physician I have decided to become a candidate for that office at the Republican primary held April 9, 1912. My office will be centrally located and the work can be readily cared for.

As the boom town of Africa Johannesburg has set a new mark. The last census shows a population of 240,000 in the municipal area, which six years ago contained 155,000. Of the present population slightly more than half, 122,000, are white, 105,000 black and 13,000 Asiatic. The contest between Algiers and Johannesburg for the laurels as the largest European city of Africa is still very close. The census of March of this year showed that of a population of 170,000 the French city counted less than 40,000 natives, but in the remaining 130,000 were included at least a dozen thousand naturalized Algerian Jews.
