The New York World.

Thrice-a-Week Edition.

The Most Widely Read Newspaper in America.

Time has demonstrated that the Thrice-a-Week World stands alone in its class. Other papers have imitated its form but not its success. This is because it tells all the news all the time and tells it impartially, whether that news be political or otherwise. It is in fact almost a daily at the price of a weekly and you cannot afford to be without it.

Republican and Democrat alike can read the Thrice-a-Week World with absolute confidence in its truth.

In addition to news, it publishes first class serial stories and other features suited to the home and fireside.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this New York paper and the Genoa Journal together one year for $1.90. The regular price of the two papers is $2.25.

On the train the other day, a minister and another man were sitting in the seat ahead of us. The man was telling how poor his health was. He had the asthma and a stomach trouble. AN ACCIDENT.

Often times an editor must report though the columns of his paper some accident that he would gladly omit were it possible to do so, and yet furnish the news that is required of him. Now it is our painful duty to report an accident that happened at 4 o'clock last Tuesday. A young man about town went to step down into the alley between the bank and Carroll's store, when he slipped and fell head foremost, striking his face with such force against a dry goods box that stood in the alley that his face was badly cut near the eye, and required three or four stitches to be taken by Dr. Reed to close the wound. Such accidents as this we would sooner not have happen, than to be obliged to report it. Yet the accident happened and it pains us to report it, not only does it pain us to report the accident, but the results of the accident pains us, for it is our face that carries the stitches and we was the one who slipped and fell meeting with the above accident, therefore we are doubly pained in this case.—(Wineglow) Register.

The post office department is sending notice to localities where free rural mail delivery routes are established that bad roads will have to be promptly made over into good roads along such mail routes or the service will be abandoned. Of course we are all favorable to good roads if they can be had without too burdensome a cost, but as the great majority of farmers in any given township or county are not on a mail route they are not likely to vote a tax on themselves for the benefit of the lucky fellows whom the mail man is serving, while they, the leftouts, must continue to plow through the mud to the postoffice. That is human nature and Uncle Sam can hardly overcome it until he serves all alike with mail privileges.

S. D. Noe of the DeKalb County Democrat is in for "It."

The DeKalb County Democrat, a newspaper published in Sycamore some three years ago, and which was removed last June to DeKalb, is in more trouble—at least S. D. Noe is, and he is the chief instigator of the so called newspaper, and so is his man, George Bassett, who at one time was employed about the office.

A few months ago Noe sold a half interest in the business to Mrs. DeEtta Gillett, of Calmer, Ia., and Bassett was left to look out for her interests. She agreed to pay $900, and did pay $388, the balance to be paid from the profits of the office.

She received no profits, however, and upon investigation found, as she alleges, that the two defendants appropriated whatever money came in. She alleges that the business was misrepresented to her, the plant was not worth near what she agreed to pay, the subscription list was not bonafide and little could be collected on it, the advertisements in the paper had not been ordered inserted, there was no good will, but quite to the contrary, her partner, Mr. Noe, could not write intelligibly the simplest local item and knew nothing about the practical work of a printing office, and the books had been neglected and fixed. In fact, according to her statement and that of her attorneys, there was a conspiracy to defraud as charged.

Messrs. Noe and Bassett and their attorneys, on the other hand, state that Mrs. Gillett had every opportunity to learn just what condition the business was in, she was shown the plant and books and given every opportunity to judge of the value of the business; got the opinion of George Bassett, and then with her eyes open she executed a contract to pay the sum stated and in the manner stated and the whole transaction was fare and legal.

Messrs. Noe and Bassett were in Sycamore Thursday and gave bonds in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before Justice Loomis next Tuesday.

HIS FIFTH TRIP AT EIGHTY-FOUR.

R. D. Lord left here last Tuesday for California where he expects to remain with his daughter, Mrs. Julia Stiles until sometime next summer. This is his fifth trip to the "Golden" state and taking into consideration that he is past eighty four years of age it is quite a journey for one of his years to undertake. His first and second trips were made in 1863 and 1864 overland with wagon trains and under very different and dangerous circumstances.

TOO LATE.

Edwin Radewahn, who was killed at Hammond last Monday, had made application for membership in Silver Leaf camp, M. W. A. He had been elected to membership, examined and a beneficiary certificate issued.

On October 2d the clerk sent him a card notifying him to be present at the meeting October 4th and be adopted.

On October 3d he moved to Cleveland avenue, and thus failed to receive the card.

Saturday the day following the camp meeting he called on the clerk in regard to his certificate, and the clerk explaining that he had mailed him a card. Radewahn promised to be at the next meeting and complete his membership. Two days later he was killed.

OUR PROPHET.

Last Sunday was a most beautiful fall day, warm and pleasant. It was fine enough to draw people out for a pleasure drive. Our venerable weather prophet, B. H. Thompson said it was a regular weather breeder. The signs he pointed out to us were cobwebs flying in the air, innumerable insects flitting in the sunlight, hazy appearance of the atmosphere, the elevated appearance of buildings and other objects in the distance, etc., all indicated that we were having Indian summer which will shortly be followed with a decidedly colder temperature. Let's see.

THE DEVIL WONDERS.

How the people will take it if the electric light, heat and power plant is bought out by one of our town's men?

If many know that Moy Sam got "jacked up" last week?

If a minister can hold down an editorial chair?

A BIG FIND.

Last week Cohoon & Stanley received a car load of McCormick Huskers. When they were unloading them they discovered checks and drafts to the amount of thousands of dollars lying loose about the car where some one had evidently dropped them. However these did not near represent the value of the merits of the machines they were unloading and of which they have sold thirteen this fall.

A BIG SWEELING.

These afflictions are often of a nature that not only cause a pain and the assistance of a doctor. We are having a siege of it but the most perceptible point at which the swelling is making its appearance is on our subscription list. Last week was a record for us and notwithstanding that some of our people think it may start a "further expansion of our head, we sincerely hope that we can make as many more additions this week. We are now here in business over a year longer than certain ones said we would be and shall remain. Our motto is still the same. "An Independent Local Newspaper published for the benefit of the people and the publishers."

The trial of Bedford Phillips, Thomas V. McCoy and Henry Holt, charged with the murder of William Edgar McCoy, which occurred at Hunt City, Jan. 29, was concluded at Newton Monday. Phillips and McCoy were convicted of manslaughter. Holt was acquitted. The slaying occurred at a dance given by William E. McCoy. Among the guests was a stranger, whose attentions to Mrs. Thomas McCoy angered her husband, a cousin of the host, and an affray occurred in the ballroom, in which clubs and knives were freely used. William McCoy strove to separate the combatants and received fatal wounds.

Linn Bidler committed suicide at Springfield by hanging. Despondency was the cause. Bidler was appointed postmaster of Mount Pulaski by Lincoln, was removed by Johnson, and reappointed by Grant in 1869, holding the position until 1882. He was editor and publisher of the Mount Pulaski News from 1855 until a year ago, when he retired on account of ill-health. He leaves a wife and nine children.

The National Shorthand Reporters' association has decided to ask Congress to pass a law providing for the appointment of an official reporter in every Federal court of the country. In all such courts the parties litigant are compelled to provide their own stenographers, and the lack of an official reporter prevents the compilation of official records, and much testimony which might be needed in after years is not saved. It is now planned to formulate a bill providing for the appointment of a reporter in each Federal court, the Judge being empowered to make his own selection, and also that a file of all testimony be preserved. A committee consisting of the following members of the national association will meet in Washington next month to draft such a measure: President R. Small, official Congressional reporter, Washington, D. C.; Secretary J. D. Campbell, Charleston, S. C.; C. C. Beale, Boston, Mass.; C. F. Roberts, New Haven, Conn.; E. V. Murphy, Washington, D. C.; B. F. Duke, Nashville, Tenn.; and C. C. Herr, Bloomington, Ill.

Some well drillers at work in the bottom of a slough on the farm of Harvey Schriber near Rock Island when at a depth of about fourteen feet struck sand stone that crumbles readily at the touch. All through it can be seen particles of a shining yellow metal believed to be gold. The bed in which it was discovered proved to be about eighteen inches in depth and of unknown extent. Specimens of the ore were taken to the jeweler at Reynolds and he pronounced it to contain gold. Other pieces have been brought to this city and have been placed in competent hands for analysis.

George Debarr, for several years employed in Chicago as a bookkeeper, is in the custody of the officers at Joliet awaiting requisition papers that will authorize his return to Missouri on a charge of forgery. Debarr was apprehended at Wilmington, where, it is alleged, he has been in hiding for several weeks under the name of De Vane. A Chicago man who saw him there notified the surety company which had to make good Debarr's alleged shortage with the Missouri firm and he was arrested. Debarr is 28 years old and asserts his innocence.

Charles Scott was taken from the county hospital at Chicago in an ambulance to Judge Kavanagh's court to testify in the Harry Armstrong murder trial, and lay on a cot in front of the jury box while he told his story. Scott is suffering from a broken leg, the result of having been shot in the thigh on Sept. 29. A mistake is charged with stabbing Harry Henley, alias Bush, on July 5.

Comiskey's association football team, 6; Milwaukee, 1. After a long contest over the license question in Carbondale the city council by a ballot of 5 to 3 voted saloons out of the city. It repealed the license ordinances. After Nov. 1 all saloons are ordered closed.

The state board of pardons has continued for three years the case of Harry Hubbard of Franklin county, who is an applicant for a parole. It is the longest continuance on record. Hubbard is now serving a term at Chester for the killing of Frank Eskey in Franklin county a few years ago. Recently a petition in favor of a parole for the prisoner was circulated in Franklin county and several hundred citizens signed it. When Eskey's friends heard of the movement they circulated a counter petition. Three thousand people signed the petition and in the face of this demonstration of public feeling the board decided to continue the case for three years.

Merchant mill, the last of the departments of the Illinois Steel Company to resume since the settlement of the steel strike at Joliet, starting up Monday, employing about 200 men. It is reported that several men active in the strike were not re-employed. Advance lodge of the Amalgamated association held a special meeting at Joliet to consider the situation, and appointed a committee to see that the rights of the men are protected. There may be new trouble as a result of the alleged attempt to bar some of the men.

The Aurora city council at a special session tried to solve the Carnegie library controversy. On Tuesday evening Aurora Post, G. A. R., voted consent for the removal of their memorial hall to the rear of an open court adjoining its present site, and at a meeting Wednesday morning the library board rescinded its action locating the building in Lincoln Park and formally chose the site of the memorial hall, on Stolp's Island, provided the hall be removed at the expense of private subscription. The city council Wednesday night, however, failed to approve the action of the board and the offer of Aurora post. If Mr. Carnegie will consent to joint occupancy by the library and the Grand Army, the new building will be a joint memorial to Mr. Carnegie and to the old soldiers. If not the location solution appears hopeless.

The twenty-ninth annual state Y. M. C. A. convention opened at Dixon Thursday at the Methodist church. Thursday evening Congressman Foss delivered a memorial address on "William McKinley, the Christian Statesman."

The football game at Galesburg between Knox college and St. Albans was characterized by much fumbling and was won by Knox by the score of 17 to 0. The Knox game was a bucking one. St. Albans put up a better game than was expected.

Barclay of Springfield; grand prelate, W. G. Edens of Galesburg; grand keeper of records and seal, Harry F. Caldwell of Chicago; grand master of exchequer, Millard F. An unknown man about 50 years old was struck by a west-bound passenger train due at Earlville at 7 o'clock and died three hours later. "G. Booken" was written with ink on the inside of the vest. There is no trace of his relatives.

Reports are in circulation at Springfield and are going out from there to the effect that the supreme court is about to sustain Judge Thompson's decision in the famous mandamus case brought by the Teachers' Federation of Chicago to compel the state board of equalization to assess the capital stock of certain corporations on a different basis than that adopted by the state board last year. There is no truth in such reports—no foundation for them. Nobody in Springfield knows what the supreme court's decision will be. The best authority has it that the court has not yet reached a conclusion.

The trial of Rev. Edward Fleming of Chicago, charged with unbecoming conduct, continued all day Thursday before the judicial commission of the Presbyterian synod, and occupied part of the night session. The defendant was represented by E. C. C. Mayburn of Bloomington. The prosecution was conducted by Rev. A. S. Clark, Rev. W. S. P. Bryan, Dr. Frank Talmadge and Rev. F. Carson, all of Chicago. Rev. The case was remanded to the presbytery of Chicago with instructions to suspend the appellee from the exercise of the gospel ministry until such time as he shall give satisfactory evidence of repentance.

Mistakes of the Polar Bear. Nordenskiold found that the white bears generally went through a long performance of skating his sailors, clearly on the mistaken conclusion that they were seals. As the men were clothed partly in seal skin, it was a very natural mistake. But the interest of the story lies in the generalization made by the bear. The bear said: "There are two or three seals, one standing up on its flippers in a very unusual way. I will therefore stalk them unseen as long as I can and when they see me pretend to be doing something else." So the men, with their guns and lances, who wanted to shoot the bear, had the pleasure of seeing him carefully crawling behind rocks and ice hummocks, making long detours this way and that, and every now and then clambering up a rock and peeping cautiously over to see if the seals had gone. On the open snow the bear would saunter; off in another direction, and then, falling flat, push himself along on his belly with his great front paws covering his black muzzle, the only thing not matching the snow about him. Just as the bear thought he had got his "seal" the latter fired and shot him, a victim of false analogy.—The Spectator.

Mrs. Dyer's Heart. McCarron, Mich., Oct. 21.—In April last the sensational case of Mrs. Samuel G. Dyer of this place was reported in these columns. Mrs. Dyer has suffered for years with a very bad case of Heart Trouble and was cured in a few weeks by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since then Mrs. Dyer has received hundreds of inquiries as to her condition and many may be interested to hear that she is at present enjoying the best of health and has not had the slightest return of the Heart Trouble. Formerly she had to sit up in bed for hours to get relief; now she goes about as smartly as any lady of 62 years in the State. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made many friends in Chippewa County through their cure of Mrs. Dyer's case, and have proven beyond doubt that their cures are not only very complete, but absolute and permanent.

Early Vermont Barred Circuses. Not until twenty years ago were circuses allowed to exhibit in Vermont, but the circuses used to skirt three sides of the state closely, and it was most gratifying to the proprietors to see the way in which men, women and children of the Green mountains used to troop across the border into New York, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, to enjoy the feasts forbidden to them at home.

A social club in Pennsylvania, named Deutsch - Amerikanischer - Volksfest Verein applied for a charter of incorporation, but was refused on the ground that the name was in a foreign language. The Weekly Panorama. GIVES UP HIS SECRET. Wealthy Ohio Shoe Manufacturer No Longer a Victim of Blackmatters. Robert F. Wolfe, the wealthy and respected merchant of Columbus, Ohio, who has given to the world the secret that he was once confined in the Indiana state's prison, has won admiration throughout the country for his manly confession. That he has lived an upright and honorable life for the last twenty years is considered sufficient atonement for the mistake which he committed in early manhood. Mr. Wolfe was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He had become involved in trouble when 18 years old, while defending an attack upon the character of a girl cousin in a small Indiana town. After being held three months in jail without trial he overcame his guard and escaped. He was soon rearrested and his penal servitude followed. While in prison the young man learned the shoemaker's trade, and after his release he made his way to Columbus, arriving without a dollar. He started a little shop and in time became one of the leading shoemakers of the state. He is now president of the Wolfe Brothers' Company and his estate is estimated at $500,000. Soon after his arrival in Columbus Mr. Wolfe told the secret of his imprisonment to a few friends. Afterward when he became a successful merchant this information was used to extort money from him, and he was constantly the victim of a set of harpies. He was so goaded with these demands that he finally decided to announce the secret himself.

A GYPSY QUEEN. Who is Reputed to be Very Wealthy with a Magnificent Home.

There is seldom anything of interest to be found among the wandering bands of gypsies so common in many parts of the country during the summer months; but during the last few weeks a very interesting person has been in Kenosha, Wis., living in the wagon with her gypsies. She is Myra White, who is known as the "Queen of the Gypsies." Miss White has a magnificent home in Terre Haute, Ind., but with the opening of the spring season she takes the road with some of her followers, and for the last three summers she has spent the hot weather on the lake shore, sleeping in the

MRS. MYRA WHITE, GYPSY QUEEN wagon or else out under the open sky, and transacting the business of the kingdom of the gypsies from a little desk in the front of one of the wagons. The name of the Gypsy Queen has been connected with many stories of romance. She is reputed to be fabulously wealthy; but a visit to her little home in the gaudily painted wagon reveals nothing to show that this is true. The story of how she led the gypsies from one part of the country to the other seems like a fairy tale. Miss White is a beautiful woman, and her hair and eyes declare that she is an American, not the typical gypsy. Of her connection with the gypsies in this country she refuses to speak, but any one who enters the wagon will see that the life she leads is a fascinating one. Men and women alike bow down to her and pay tribute. She holds the destinies of a kingdom of some 5,000 people in her hands, and it is her boast that not one of her subjects ever lacked a roof in the winter or a meal in the summer.

Rights of Americans Abroad. If governments guarantee the safety of foreigners they should be made to do their utmost to fulfill their obligations. If an indignity should be put on an American citizen it should be the cause of an immediate rebuke from the cannon's mouth. An American citizen should be free to go and come in any civilized country so long as he observes the laws of that country, and any effort to abridge that privilege should be resented.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

The Presidential Train. When President Roosevelt decides to take a short rest and goes to his Oyster Bay home he will find waiting for him at the Long Island railroad depot in Brooklyn what will hereafter be known as the "presidential train." It will consist of a special engine and combination coach and one of the two famous club cars used by the millionaire travelers on the line on their trips to their summer homes. This car is now being refitted and when completed will have all the comforts of home without being gorgous.—Chicago Chronicle.

Schley Says One Dispatch Was Received on May 22

INSTEAD OF DAY FOLLOWING.

Three Hours Are Spent in the Cross-Examination of Lieutenant Wells—Few Witnesses on Stand—Salient Points of Day's Developments.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Lieutenant Wells, Rear Admiral Schley's flag lieutenant during the Spanish war, occupied the stand nearly all day at the court of inquiry. His testimony related to the receipts of dispatches by Rear Admiral Schley from the department. Although Lieutenant Wells was under cross-examination for nearly three hours, the Judge Advocate and his associates were unable to show that Rear Admiral Schley had received definite information from the department as to the presence of the Spanish squadron in Santiago until after Rear Admiral Schley himself had ascertained this fact by seeing the Colon in the harbor and afterwards learning of the presence of the entire Spanish squadron. It was admitted by Rear Admiral Schley, through his attorney, that he did receive a copy of the "Dear Schley" letter on May 22, whereas the Admiral in a communication to the Senate Naval Affairs committee said this letter was not received until May 23. Rear Admiral Schley's admission was made while Mr. Hanna was conducting the cross-examination of Lieutenant Wells. Mr. Hanna exhibited to the witness a letter dated May 30, 1898, and written by Commodore Schley, which contained a reference to the dispatches that had been brought by the Dupont, and giving a general account of the operations of the flying squadron. He sought by this letter, as stated by him, to show that the No. 7 dispatch, known as the "Dear Schley" letter, was received on the 22d of May and not the 23d. The witness said: "The conjunction of this letter and the changed indorsement in lead pencil on the back of one of the dispatches would seem to indicate that the dispatch might have been received on the 22d."

Schley Admits Receipt.
After the examination had proceeded along this line for some time Mr. Rayner addressed the court as follows:

"May it please the court, we admit that we got No. 7 by the Dupont (which joined the flying squadron of Cienfuegos on May 22, 1898), and we admit that we got No. 8 by the Hawk and the Marblehead. Now, the trouble is about the other No. 7. Where did the duplicate of No. 7 go? We cannot admit we got it by the Iowa but we agree upon three propositions. The Dupont carried No. 7, the Hawk No. 8, and the Marblehead No. 8. We admit the receipt of this memorandum from Captain McCalla by the Hawk but what we have not been able to find out and cannot admit is that the Iowa carried No. 7."

Mr. Rayner turned to Admiral Schley and asked, "You admit that, don't you, Admiral?" to which the Admiral replied, "Certainly, we admit that."

Opponents Claim a Victory.
The opponents of Schley assert that his admission is a great victory for the department. It is not plain, however, as to where the victory lies, as the "Dear Schley letter" instructed the commander-in-chief of the flying squadron to convince himself that the Spanish squadron was not in Cienfuegos before leaving that port. The contention of the department on this point is that the "Dear Schley letter" was accompanied by the McCalla memorandum and was sent from Key West to Schley at Cienfuegos by the Iowa.

Describes Battle of July 3.
Lieutenant Wells gave a detailed description of the battle of July 3. He said he did not remember the ranges at which the Brooklyn fired but thought 1,100 yards was the shortest. He described the turn of the Brooklyn and the chase after the Spanish ships. When the Viscaya ran ashore the Colon was about 10,000 yards ahead of the Brooklyn and for a time firing ceased. He said that he had received orders to get a quantity of rapid-fire ammunition. Owing to the character of the coast it was expected that the Brooklyn and the Colon would come to close quarters. He was ordered to have his ammunition ready to close with Colon and give her a rapid-fire when they got close together. He then described the rest of the chase and the final surrender of the Colon. He said he had not seen the Texas when the Brooklyn made its turn. At one time during the battle, he said, the Brooklyn seemed to be alone, engaging three ships.

$2,500,000 of Bonds.
Benton Harbor, Mich., telegram: The West Michigan Traction Company announces that it has sold all its bonds, amounting to $2,500,000, and on Monday a trust deed will be executed in favor of the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York city and filed with the register of deeds in St. Joseph. This deed will be filed in five counties. This company now has 106 cars of rails on track in this city, besides ties and other material, and is operating a boat between this city and Chicago.

Drastic Terms for Traction Company.
In Berlin the street railway company is required to grant a ten hour day to its employees, to provide waiting-rooms properly warmed and lighted, and, from January, 1901, to fix a uniform fare of 2.38 cents for the whole length of the line, both within and without the city. The city receives 8 per cent of the gross profits plus half the net profits over 12 per cent on old capital and 6 per cent on new capital. At the end of the year 1919 the lines and rolling stock will become city property. These terms are drastic, indeed; yet the citizens are not satisfied, and additional lines are now planned.

WILL RUIN CARPETS

Box Elder Bug Will Catch You if You Don't Watch Out.

HOW TO KILL THEM

Will the trouble of the housewives never cease. No sooner has the buffalo bug gone somewhat out of fashion when there appears another insect to eat up the carpets and separate the fibres of the lace curtains.

You have probably noticed during the past month or two numerous bugs shaped like the cockroach but of more delicate and refined build, gamboling over the trunks of the box elder trees. That is the box elder bug. Among scientific men he is called the leporicoris trivittatus, but that is neither here nor there, for by any ordinary name he is just as destructive. Some times he is red which may be a mark of his anarchistic tendencies, but as he grows older the red of the body is covered up by a dark grey through which splashes of the grey show.

When full grown it becomes nearly half an inch in length, and when about that size the cold winds begin to blow and the bug seeks a cozy home in the houses of the well to do where he burrows under the carpets and proceeds to eat the stays out of them. They also kill the box elder trees.

A learned entomologist at Washington offers the following remedy:

Spraying trees in the early part of the season with kerosene emulsion will result in the death of the majority of the immature individuals. When they crowd together in the autumn on the trunks of the trees they can be readily destroyed with hot water or may be swept en masse into kerosene pans.

If the bugs have gotten under the carpets the carpets may be taken up and the bugs exterminated. Or take a damp cloth and a hot flat iron, lay the cloth over the carpet and pass the flat iron over it, the steam formed penetrating the carpet should kill the bugs.

Better Than Hay

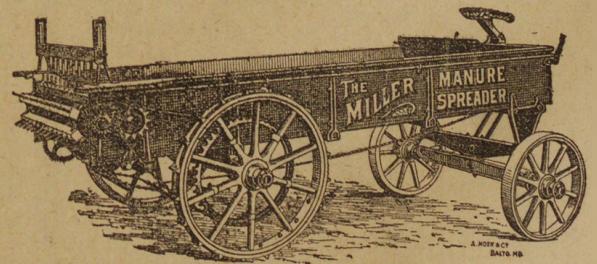

Is what farmers say of corn fodder after it has been husked and shredded by a McCormick. The average crop of corn fodder, when properly cured and shredded, is worth as much in feeding value as the average crop of hay. The farmer who uses the McCormick Corn Binder, and the McCormick Husker and Shredder, can therefore double the earning power of his land. He can raise a crop of ear corn, the same as heretofore, and he can harvest from the same land the equivalent of a crop of hay.

The best way known to prepare fodder for feeding is to shred it. When the right kind of a shredder head is used the fodder is cut and torn, and torn to pieces and all of the stalk is eaten. The McCormick shredder head is a combination of shredder and cutter. The radial portion, or blade, splits and shreds the stalks while the smaller triangular knife on the end of each blade cuts the slivers into short lengths. The angle at which these knives cut is an acute one, so that they have a shearing action and run a long time without sharpening. The radial blades are serated and seldom need sharpening.

This is only one of the many advantages which the McCormick has and will be pleased to point them out to you. We will make you a right price and terms.

Farmers: You don't buy a wagon often. Buy the best. The STOUGHTON costs but a little, if any, more and you get extra quality and improvements that cannot be had in other makes. Boxes, Gears, Trucks and parts supplied and guarantees made perfect.

We invite you to try the MILLER Manure Spreader and if you appreciate good work done with greater ease you will buy none other.

TAKING BATHS IN FINLAND.

Heroic Methods by Which the Men Cleanse Their Bodies.

A primitive sort of Turkish bath is indulged in by some of the Finlanders of northern Norway. In winter in this part of the country the thermometer averages 40 degrees below zero and water bathing is not practicable. These Finlanders, unlike the Lapps farther north, have an instinct for bodily cleanliness, and manage to preserve it after the following fashion: Paul Du Chailly, who knows from personal experience, declares the method fine. Each hamlet has a bathhouse for common use. It is perhaps 15 feet long by 12 wide. It boasts no windows and only when the door is opened can air or light enter. Bathing day comes once a week—Saturday. Early in the morning of that day wood is brought and a fire started. When the stones become hot the fire is put out, the place cleaned, a large vessel of water and some slender birch twigs brought in and the preparations declared complete. As no dressing room is provided, toilets are unmade and made in the various homes. It is scarcely necessary to add that no time is lost in the progress from the home to the bathhouse. No clothes and a temperature of 40 degrees below zero are incentive to haste. When all the men and boys are in the bathhouse and the door closed water is thrown upon the hot stones until the place is filled with steam. Perspiration pours from the sweltering bodies, yet more active exercise is demanded and switches come into play. Each bather lays on his neighbor with a will until "Enough" is cried. Again water is thrown upon the stones, more steam raised and another switching indulged in. As may be imagined, the bodies are now as red as boiled lobsters and the blood circulating actively. A roll in the snow completes the novel bath.—Philadelphia Times.

ANCIENT IDEAS OF RATS.

Hebrews, Chinese and Greeks Believed That They Carried Disease.

In a recent number of the Frankfurter Zeitung is a discussion of the antiquity of the belief that rats are responsible for the spread of plague, says a writer in American Medicine. According to the writer, the recognition of the necessity of exterminating rats is no modern idea. It appears that the Chinese have long observed the association between the death of a rat in the house and the appearance of a case of plague a few days later in the family living there. Then follows a quotation from J. Campbell Gibson's article in the Expository Times, in which the author points out very convincing evidence that the disease inflicted upon the Philistines as described in 1 Samuel, chapters 5-6, was bubonic plague, and that they recognized the dependence of the spread of this disease upon rats (or mice), a word corresponding to rat perhaps not existing; when they sent the ark back to the Israelites they sent also as a guilt offering golden images of mice. The description of this disease is quite clearly that of bubonic plague, the recognition that it was mice which were responsible, is very interesting. In Homer's Iliad there is a passage indicating the association between "the God of mice" and the plague, which he in reply to Crysus' prayer sent into the Grecian camp.

Tyranny of the Tip.

It is becoming a common occurrence to hear of railway passengers being charged with assaulting others in the fight for seats. The system is a scandalous one which admits of the inconvenience from which these brawls arise. It regularly happens that the London, Chatham and Dover and Southeastern train coming into town in the morning have certain compartments labeled, "Reserved for Mr. Various Party." The occupants of these half-filled carriages have secured their unfair advantage by tips to the guard or porters earlier on the journey. The result is that others awaiting the trains nearer town must travel second or third class after paying first-class fare.—London Black and White.

An Alphabetical Courtship.

"Yes," said the fair young girl, "I had a great many alphabetical courtships while I was in the country this summer." "Indeed?" he murmured, not knowing what else to say, but being anxious to get at the next paragraph. "Yes," she continued, "you know I would roll my eyes, and then the jays had to follow the eyes, didn't they?" After repeating the alphabet up to the "I, J" part we came to the conclusion that the fair young thing knew whereof she spoke.—Boston American.

STARTLING FACTS ABOUT SUGAR.

As a good deal has recently appeared in print regarding the consumption of sugar, and as the importance of this article as a food, in which every individual is concerned, is apparently not sufficiently understood, the following facts and figures furnished to us by the well-known sugar statisticians, Messrs. Willett and Gray (91 Wall Street, New York) who are the publishers of the weekly Statistical Sugar Trade Journal, must necessarily be of great interest to all our readers:

LONGS TO SEE ROOSEVELT.

Preacher Who Married President's Parents Awaits Visit to Georgia.

Columbia, S. C., telegram: President Roosevelt's proposed visit to the house of his mother's girlhood at Roswell, Ga., is eagerly looked forward to by a distinguished South Carolina preacher, Rev. B. Dunwoody, who forty-eight years ago united the President's parents in marriage. Mr. Dunwoody is perhaps the oldest Presbyterian minister in South Carolina, both as to years and time of service, and is besides the President's cousin. Although the President's parents were married in Georgia the record of the event is to be found in South Carolina. Here it is, as copied from the register in the Presbyterian church at McPhersonville, the handwriting being that of Mr. Dunwoody: "Married—At Roswell, Ga., Dec. 18, 1853, Theodore Roosevelt of New York city to Miss Martha Bulloch of Roswell."

Two of President Roosevelt's uncles were prominent in the Confederate navy. Irvine Bulloch was on the Alabama when she was sunk by the Kearsarge, while James Dunwoody Bulloch was the naval representative of the Confederate states in Europe.

All efforts will now be concentrated on the Bulgarian side.

Cuba Wants to Come In.

A petition asking that Cuba be annexed to the United States is being circulated among Cuban business men at Havana, and every effort is being centered upon annexation, as business men generally, it is alleged, believe that the reciprocity movement will amount to nothing. Offers Minister Police Job.

Mayor Hartenbower of Des Moines offered Rev. Conrad Hooker, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church a place on the city police force. The preacher has not yet accepted it. In his sermon Sunday night, the minister said he would like to be a Des Moines policeman for twenty minutes, to show them how to stop rowdiness in the street and collusion with vice. Hearing of it, the mayor offered the minister a position. Dr. Hooker was criticizing the police for permitting disgraceful rioting on the streets during carnival week.

The structure was one of the finest of the so-called state buildings on the exposition grounds.

THE YALE BI-CENTENNIAL

A BRILLIANT ANNIVERSARY.

The bi-centennial of Yale University was celebrated this week at New Haven, Conn., in a style commensurate with the splendid record of the famous institution of learning. Five thousand graduates were in attendance and with them came enough relatives and friends to swell the total number of guests to 12,000. Many foreign countries were represented. Japan, Russia, Australia and South America sent some of their intellectual lights to receive degrees of honor. President Roosevelt was in attendance and was made a doctor of laws, which title was also conferred on Archbishop Ireland, Kazuo Hatoyama, speaker of the Japanese house of representatives; Prof. C. E. Martens, of the University of St. Petersburg, and many other eminent men. Nearly 150 college presidents attended. The first two days were devoted to religious exercises and historical addresses by distinguished men. The commemorative exercises took place Wednesday, when President Roosevelt spoke. Justice Brewer delivered an address and several new buildings were dedicated. The festivities of the week also included a torchlight parade Monday night, in which 3,000 students participated, and which was reviewed by Gov. McLean. Tuesday there was a football game between the college eleven and an alumni team. The event of the evening was a grand choral performance and a series of pantomimes. The city was beautifully decorated and illuminated. Over 8,000 colored lanterns were used.

The History of Yale.

The university was the outgrowth of a meeting of 10 of the principal ministers of the New Haven colony, held at Branford in 1700. Their purpose was to found an institution of learning which would serve to maintain a high standard in the clergy. The Colonial Assembly granted a charter and in 1701 the school was established at Saybrook, its title being the collegiate school. In 1717 it was removed to New Haven, which has since been its home. During the revolutionary struggle Yale sank to its lowest point. In 1777 it practically broke up. Many of the students fought in the Continental army, the hero of the college being Nathan Hale, whose regret that he had but one life to give to his country enshrines him in the hearts of Americans. After the war Yale came upon better times. Timothy Dwight became president in 1795 and laid plans for the growth of the college into a university. Today there are 108 professors, 162 instructors and tutors and 2,582 students. The university, numbering eight departments—the academic and scientific departments, graduate school, art school, music school, law school, theological school and medical school—now occupies six city squares, exclusive of the Sheffield Scientific School, which is a semi-independent establishment, and which monopolizes three more blocks. There are altogether 37 university buildings. Such has been the growth of this institution under the guidance of President Timothy Dwight, first, Jeremiah Day, Theodore Dwight Woolsey, Noah Porter,

Brainerd, Minn., telegram: Deputy United States Marshal Joseph Langdon arrived here, having in custody two Indians, John and Thomas Garbo. Though he was threatened with being scalped he made the arrest. The deputy marshal claims there are about sixty cases of smallpox among the Indians. The Garbos attacked him and other members of the party stood ready to back them up. They are charged with breaking quarantine and resisting an officer.

Timothy Dwight, second, and Arthur T. Hadley. Its graduates since the foundation of the college, 200 years ago, number 20,000, and in every line of human achievement in the intervening years Yale has been represented.

ATTEMPTS AT KIDNAPING.

Residents at Kenton, Ohio, Aroused by Efforts to Steal Children.

Kenton, O., telegram: Considerable apprehension has been aroused here by a bold attempt to kidnap 6-year-old Bert Smith, son of the agent of the United States Express Company. This is the second attempt of the kind in this city within a short time, an attempt having been made two weeks ago to carry off 7-year-old Harvey Ballard. Gypsies were blamed for that offense. The latest attempt was by a stranger, who tried to lure the youngster away from the public street by showing him pictures, and then tried to pick him up in his arms. The boy managed to break loose and ran. The father gave chase to the stranger, but the latter made good his escape.

Buffalo Show Closes Nov. 2.

The Pan-American Exposition will close at midnight Nov. 2, when the electric lights will be finally turned off. A resolution to this effect was adopted by the board of directors Tuesday afternoon. Arrangements are being made for a western New York and exhibitors' day. The date will be announced later. The reduced rate of 15 cents for the admission of public and parochial school children of Buffalo has been extended to all children outside of Buffalo, provided in the case of the latter that they will be admitted at the reduced rate when fifteen or more come in charge of a teacher, the teacher to be entitled to free admission.

Bicyclists' Right on Walks.

An interesting decision concerning the rights of bicyclists on sidewalks was handed down in the Supreme Court of Michigan at Lansing in affirming judgment for $100 secured by Anna Lee, a licensed rider, against the City of Port Huron, for injuries in a fall caused by the defective condition of a walk. The opinion, which was written by Judge Grant, says: "While the bicycle is a vehicle, it is not one to be classed in all its methods of use with other vehicles drawn by animals or propelled by mechanical power. To ride a bicycle upon a sidewalk may not be a nuisance where to drive a horse and wagon upon it would. A baby carriage is a vehicle, but it is not a nuisance upon either streets or sidewalks."

D., to an indictment charging her with applying for a pension as the widow of Silas J. Flynn, a New York veteran, who served during the civil war. Flynn's widow, Mary C. Flynn, was a witness before the grand jury

Stover during the absence of the family. The securities were in stock certificates of the German Insurance Company, the State Bank of this city, the various manufacturing companies of which Mr. Stover is the head, and bonds and mortgages, all gilt-edged. Failing to realize the value of the papers or else fearing detection, the thieves threw them under a bush on the lawn of Mrs. O. B. Sanford, some distance farther up the street, where they were found by the gardener and returned. They made two large armfuls.

Husband Jealous of Woman.

For four years "Willie" Wallace, a beardless youth of about 22 years of age as everyone supposed, carried the mails between Harrisburg and Kimball, Neb. At the home of James Baker he was a frequent visitor. Baker warned him away, but he did not heed. The result was Baker separated from his wife and sued her for a divorce, charging her with unfaithfulness and naming Wallace as co-respondent. The case was to have come to trial this week, but it has been dismissed, the wife bringing forward indisputable proof that Wallace was in reality a woman masquerading in male attire.

Garfield's Doctor in Jail.

Perhaps the most distinguished prisoner ever in the Los Angeles jail is Dr. R. H. Churchill of Pasadena, who is serving a fifteen days' sentence for vagrancy. For years Dr. Churchill was the family physician of President James A. Garfield. Drink is responsible for his fall. He feels his position keenly, and when he gets out of custody he says he is going to try to brace up.

Deny Prisoner Is American.

Ambassador Clayton, acting under instructions from the state department at Washington, has been investigating the case of W. H. Mealey, an American mining man under arrest at Monterey, Mexico. The point is made by the Mexicans that an American residing in Mexico and never intending to return to the United States, paying no taxes there and performing none of the duties of a citizen, loses standing with the United States government. Mealey, it is alleged, had made Mexico his permanent home.

LOST HOUSEHOLD ARTS.

Women of Today Are Not up to the Domestic Economists.

It is a general complaint among the housekeepers of England, where domestic help is drawn largely from the country villages, that on entering service they are mostly incapable of doing the least of household work without supervision, and that only a small proportion ever learn. The reason is not far to seek. A couple of generations ago half the cottages in England were schools for the teaching of the domestic arts. These are no longer taught because they are no longer practiced. Baking and brewing, cutting out and cutting down clothes, darning and fine drawing, the care of poultry and economical use of food—all these will soon be artes peritae, as far as the cottage is concerned. Women used to be able to make their husband's shirts. Give nine cottage women out of ten nowadays a couple of dozen yards of calico and they could no more turn it into shirts than they could turn a lump of pig iron into a dining knife. Cooking, even in its simplest form, is being supplanted by the use of tinned provisions. To boil potatoes and bacon or to fry a bit of meat in the pan is about as much as the housewife can do. Women of the type of Lisbeth Bede have been discouraged out of existence. The cottage woman of today has her pride, but it is not in the home. She slaves to save her girls from what she and they alike have learned to regard as degrading drudgery—the necessary work of a house. All she can save goes on their backs. "Look at them when they go out," she says; "you couldn't tell them from the Miss Swatstones themselves." But when they go to service they have learned next to nothing. Least of all, have they learned to learn.—Chicago Chronicle.

WHY MILK TURNS SOUR.

Lightning's Flash Frequently Causes a Change in Its Elements.

It is well known that sweet milk will turn suddenly sour during a thunderstorm and the fact is recognized that lightning is the cause of the change. Few, however, understand why this phenomenon occurs. It is not always the lightning that causes it, for the heat before the storm is often great enough to make the milk ferment. But lightning can and sometimes does make milk turn sour by its action on the air. Air, as everybody knows, is composed of two gases—oxygen and nitrogen—but these gases are mixed together, not combined. Lightning, however, makes the gases combine in the air through which it passes, and this combination produces nitric acid, some of which mixes with the milk and turns it sour. Perhaps it might be well to explain the chemical difference between mixing and combining. When different ingredients are put together without their undergoing any chemical change they are mixed, as, for example, grains of sand of various colors may be mixed in a bottle. But when the property of each ingredient is altered by the union there is a combination, as, for example, water poured on quicklime, which combines with it, so that the property of each is altered. Thus it is that lightning makes the oxygen and nitrogen of the air combine and the result is no longer air but nitric acid and four other nitrous poisons.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Tomb of Christ.

Sar Peladan, one of the best known occultists in Europe, has written to the Pope informing him that, after several months' investigation in Palestine, he is satisfied that Christ's tomb is not in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, but on Mount Moriah, beneath the cupola of the mosque of Omar. According to Sar Peladan the mistake in regard to the true location of Christ's tomb, which dates back for several centuries, may be easily accounted for. The Christians, he says, after being driven from Mount Moriah in 969 by the Fatimists, who had by that time transformed Constantine's building into a mosque, were authorized to build in the quarter reserved for them a new church in honor of Christ, and this is the church which the crusaders supposed to be the true location of the holy sepulchre.—St. Louis Republic.

German Red-Tapism.

An amusing illustration of the attention paid to petty details and red-tapism by the German government is being told by the continental papers. At Thorn, in West Prussia, recently a huge placard, embellished with many seals and government stamps, was pasted on the wall of the railway station. It looked formidable—more so than it really was—for it announced the sale by public auction of three lemons. The porters on the line had found three lemons at liberty in a freight car, and with an honesty more than admirable, they turned them over to the authorities. The stray lemons were duly advertised for the time required by law, and, as no owner appeared to claim them, they were sold at auction. The prices brought were 15 pennings, or about four cents, a trifle under the market figure.

The Outlook for Anarchy.

An anarchist, because he was opposed to the present form of government, murdered President McKinley. But anarchists will never abolish the present form of government by killing those at its head. They must kill the man who choose to have that form of government and who place presidents at its head. By the time they have done that, it is more than likely that the anarchists themselves will be pretty well killed off.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DE WET'S AUDACITY.

Ceetness He Exercised in Capturing a British Wagon Train.

Stories of De Wet, the leading commander of the Boers, are nearly all interesting. Captain Reibmann, in the "Journal of the Military Service Institution," tells of his capture of the general's wagons and articles. The wagon train was slowly coming on under clouds of dust, and not a single patrol or scout preceded it. So far as my observations went, there were no soldiers with the first six or eight wagons, which were of the lighter kind, contained the baggage, and were somewhat in advance of the others. At last the heavy wagons were approaching, drawn by from eight to twelve mules each, and on most of the wagons sat one or more soldiers facing to the rear to watch events there, and wholly unconscious of their danger. General De Wet stood up in plain view, and called and beckoned to the British soldiers to "come in." They were taken entirely by surprise, and came in, and were put away in a safe place under a high bank north of the crossing. As the wagons approached, one after another, the general called to the soldiers to "come in," and directed the wagons to pull to the right or left of the road. It seemed as if De Wet were going to capture single-handed the entire train, and I can still see him standing there in the road, with his rifle at an order in his right hand, and his left hand in the air beckoning "come in." Not a shot was fired and everybody kept concealed. The thing went on for fifteen minutes or more, and soon there was a considerable number of wagons at the crossing lying helplessly under the rifles of the Boers; the number of prisoners under the bank was increasing rapidly, and the string of wagons still coming on extended all the way back to the British camp. Considering concealment no longer necessary, we stood up, walked over to the prisoners, and took some snap shot of them.—Youth's Companion.

LAST MOURNING PICTURE.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra have had their last mourning photos taken. The official term of grief has expired and their royal highnesses will hereafter be taken in the ermine and the purple, but not in black. The queen has now laid aside her veil of crepe, upon which the crown posed so faintly in the spring and summer, and now she wears the most beautiful costumes in vari-colors, though for the most part in gray, as her majesty is very partial to that shade. The king will hereafter don his army uniform or wear citizen's clothes, as may please him, but the heavy dead black of mourning will not be noticed. The last mourning photo of their majesties shows them in full regalia, but with the weeds upon them. The king, ever gallant, holds the queen's fingers in his own, and the queen stands just a little in the background, as befits a consort. Her majesty is sweet-faced as ever, but a trifle thin. Though a woman past middle life she still holds her own and is now, as she has been for the past generation, the prettiest royal lady in Europe. Their mourning picture is to be perpetuated in a beautiful painting to be immediately executed by the court painter.

Regarded with Suspicion.

A young man who lives in Germantown was thrown from a crowded trolley car recently and sustained a severe sprain of the hand, which necessitates his carrying that member in a sling. "I didn't mind this so much until President McKinley was assassinated," he said, "but it is an actual fact that since then I have become an object of suspicion. Czolgosz, you know, had a fake bandage on his hand to conceal the shooting I noticed that as I walked along the street people would look at me askance and turn to watch my actions. I thought it rather strange that I should attract so much attention, and then it dawned on me that I might be taken for another Czolgosz. It is strange," said the young man, according to the Philadelphia Record, "what a slight coincidence will sometimes make an unpleasant impression."

Origin of Secret Service.

The United States secret service had its origin in the early 60s, under the auspices of the war department. It actually grew out of the fact of Capt. Lafayette F. Baker of the union army, offering his services to Secretary Seward as a police scout to gather information concerning the confederate army. During the war the United States began the issuance of greenbacks. Then came the first appearance of "green goods" men. By an act of congress, in 1861 or 1862, $10,000 was appropriated for the maintenance of Baker's service to suppress counterfeiting. The supervision of the service was then under the solicitor of the treasury.

Bird Fauna of Iceland.

The bird fauna of Iceland is credited by Henry H. Slater with 103 species. Of these three are residents, 27 summer migrants, 21 occasional visitors and 18 rare stragglers. The land birds are few, including only seven residents and five that come in summer to breed. The great auk once resorted to the island, but the most interesting birds now probably are the northern wren, the great northern dive, and the Iceland falcon. Singing birds are few. There are sixteen species of ducks and geese, and seven birds of prey, but the rock ptarmigan is the only game bird.

RAISED HIS SALARY.

"I was slashing copy on old Storey Chicago Times many years ago," says one of the guests at a reunion dinner. "We had a correspondent in an Illinois town who simply would not concede his matter, but as he generally sent good stuff we let him run on, slashing his stuff to suit the exigencies of the night. Besides, his stuff always suggested good headlines, and that was one of Storey's hobbies. On one occasion the correspondent sent up about 700 words which went into 100 with nothing over. On the 100 words I constructed a headline which was right up to the mark. The next day I was instructed to tell the man who made out the checks for the country correspondents to knock $5 off the correspondent's pay. When he received his check he wrote to Mr. Storey, saying that under ordinary circumstances he wouldn't kick about the deduction, but in this particular instance he did because the fool headline over the item, made by a fool telegraph editor, had infuriated the man whose name was mentioned in the dispatch and brought on a fight between him and the correspondent, the result of which was that the correspondent was fined $5 in the police court. Mr. Storey was a very just man when you got at him in the right way. He instructed the cashier to send the correspondent the amount of the fine and raised my salary because the headline I wrote had caused a row. That was his way of encouraging a headline writer."—New York Sun.

PREMONITION OF DEATH.

In his autobiography, "A Sailor's Log," Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans relates a strange instance of premonition which a fellow sailor had the night before the attack on Fort Fisher, in January, 1865. He says: "We had on board the Powhatan a fine young seaman named Flannigan, who came from Philadelphia. On the night of the 14th of January he came to my room with a small box in his hand, and said to me: 'Mr. Evans, will you be kind enough to take charge of this box for me—it has some little trinkets in it—and give it to my sister in Philadelphia?' I asked him why he did not deliver it himself, to which he replied: 'I am going ashore with you tomorrow, and will be killed.' I told him how many bullets it required to kill a man in action, and in other ways tried to shake his convictions, but it was no use—he stuck to it. He showed no nervousness over it, but seemed to regard it as matter of course. I took the box, and after making a proper memorandum, put it away among my things. On the afternoon of the next day, when we were charging the fort, and just as we came under fire, at about 800 yards, I saw Flannigan reel out to one side and drop the first man hit, with a bullet through his heart. I stepped quickly to his side and asked if he were badly hurt. The only reply was a smile as he looked up into my face and rolled over dead. The box was delivered as he requested, and I afterward assisted in getting a pension for his sister."

Her Maidenly Virtues.

In the days of 1770 or thereabout, while Phillip Fithian was keeping a daily journal of his life at Princeton College, human nature seems to have been much the same as in our generation. But Mr. Fithian noted the differences, social and temperamental, between the Northerners and Southerners, and was greatly drawn toward the Virginians, of whom he writes: "The people are extremely hospitable and very polite, both of which are most certainly universal characteristics of the gentlemen in Virginia. Some swear bitterly, but the practice seems to be generally disapproved." It is pleasant to read that all the fallings, serious and minor, were lacking in Councillor Carter's eldest daughter, Miss Priscilla, for Mr. Fithian records with a vivacious pen: "She is small of her age, has a mild, winning presence, a sweet, obliging temper, never swears, which is here a distinguished virtue, dances finely, plays well on key'd instruments, and is on the whole in the first class of the Female Sex."

Posing Her Mother.

In an apartment house in this city lives a little girl called Hildegarde. She is very pretty, with yellow hair and blue eyes. To induce Hildegarde to eat bread her mother has often said to her: "Dearest, if you eat lots of crusts your hair will curl beautifully." The other evening Hildegarde sat in a corner, gravely regarding her mother at her toilet. Finally she said: "Mother when you were a little girl did you eat lots of bread crusts?" "Indeed, I did," the mother replied. "Then why is it," said the inductive Hilda, who is only three years old, "why is it that you now have to use a curling iron?"—Philadelphia Record.

An Ex-Queen's Entertainments.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii recently celebrated her sixty-third birthday by giving several entertainments at which hundreds of natives and a few whites were present. Three hundred guests breakfasted with the deposed queen, and then came a general reception. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there was a big luau, or feast, at which Federal Judge Estee was present and escorted the hostess to a large tent, under which the luau was given. He was seated on a mat at her right hand. The food was served on mats on the ground and the staple articles were poi and raw fish.
