It is in fact almost a daily at the price of a weekly and you cannot afford to be without it.

Republican and Democrat alike can read the Thrice-a-Week World with absolute confidence in its truth. In addition to news, it publishes first class serial stories and other features suited to the home and fireside.

The Thrice-a-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this New York paper and the Genoa Journal together one year for $1.90. The regular price of the two papers is $2.25.

REAL WHISKY HIGHER.

But the "By-the-Drink" Article Will Be the Same Old Price.

From the Charleston News and Courier—"Lovers of cocktails, gin fizzes, cream de menthes and other seductive little mixtures in which spirits of ferment form the principal ingredient will probably be interested to learn that the next few months will mark a considerable increase in the price of whisky," said a traveling man at the hotel Calhoun recently.

"The practical failure of the corn crop," he continued, "in some of the western states, which heretofore furnished the greatest portion of the supply to the people of this country, and the consequent increase in price, will cause the distillers to pay a great deal more for their raw material than they have been in the habit of doing in the past. The consumers in this instance, as in all others since the law of supply and demand has been known, will, of course, be compelled to pay this increase in price. A number of people in this country are probably not aware of the fact that about 75 per cent of the whisky distilled in this country is made from corn. Thousands are drinking every day what they suppose to be rye, when in reality it is nothing more than colored corn juice. Out in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa there will be less corn harvested this year than ever before in my recollection. Taking into consideration that these four states, where nearly all the corn in the United States is raised, or, rather, an enormous percentage of it, are so short as to the output this year, it can be readily seen what effect the decrease will have on the market. Distillers will be forced to pay well for their corn, and the only avenue of escape for them is to make the consumers fork over the difference."

MANY USES OF ALUMINUM.

Its Cheapness and Tensile Strength Recommend It to Manufacturers.

The cheapness of aluminum at the present time—it is now the least expensive of all metals excepting iron, zinc and lead—is leading to its employment for many purposes for which its great strength particularly adapts it. The metal is now extensively used in place of copper, brass, tin and in some cases even iron, especially when the reduction of dead weight is a question of great importance. Aluminum is also beginning to be used very largely as electrical conductors, as it gives nearly the same conductance as copper, weighs only half as much and costs less. The progress made in the use of aluminum in the past few years justifies the most sanguine expectations. Twenty years ago the total output in the world did not exceed four or five tons and its price was $30,000 per ton; ten years ago its price was reduced to about $10,000 per ton and the output increased to about thirty tons per annum; now the price is $650 to $700 per ton and the output during the last twelve months is reckoned at 5,000 tons.

MRS. KITCHIN AND HER COW.

Do What the King and All His Men Wouldn't Do.

There is an old woman and her name is Mrs. Kitchen, and she keeps a cow in St. James park, London, which is more than the king and all his men would dare to do. The cow is an adjunct to a milk stall which keeps Mrs. Kitchen. The eager British mind has observed this milk stall for generations, and after thinking deeply for 100 years has arrived with a clanging of mental alarm bells at the conclusion that it is highly desirable that Mrs. Kitchen, the stall and the cow be made to remove.

Having conveyed this decision with due and ponderous solemnity to Mrs. Kitchen, the British mind took a rest and waited to see the flight of the family. But Mrs. Kitchen and the cow didn't even think of moving. They are there just the same as ever and defy the king, the House of Lords and the British constitution to chase them. Mrs. Kitchen rests her case on a celebrated painting made by George Morland, depicting the milk stall in the park as it looked just 100 years ago and showing her ancestress in possession of it. Of course that would establish a claim by right of the most sacred thing in England—time. So Mrs. Kitchen and the cow have put the British government in a hole.

THE PHILADELPHIA LAWYER.

Is Astute and Clever, and Leaves No Dodge Untried.

A prominent Philadelphia lawyer successfully worked a clever scheme on a gang of workmen employed by the city recently which enabled him to win a suit for damages from the municipality. A client of the lawyer was driving along one of the principal streets, when the wheel of his wagon struck a hole, causing him to fall and injure himself. After the case had been placed in the hands of the lawyer on the day following the accident, he and a photographer visited the scene of the accident to make some photographs of the hole in the street to be used in court. He was surprised to find that the city had sent a gang of workmen to repair the cause of the accident. It was impossible for the workmen to make any pictures while the workmen were about, and after a few moments' thought the lawyer invited the entire gang of workmen to have a drink at a nearby saloon. Each of them accepted his invitation, and while they were gone the photographer got in his work. What the testimony of the witnesses in the case failed to show satisfactorily to the jury when the suit was tried was adequately proved by the photographs, and a verdict was rendered in favor of the lawyer's client.

Department Store Girls.

A man connected with a large department store says: "I have in my department about one hundred and fifty girls—salesgirls, wrappers and clerks. All of them are healthy looking, and yet I noticed that they got sick a tremendous lot. The other day I had occasion to go to their cloakroom, and there I saw a sort of roster neatly typewritten on one wall. 'Mondays,' it said, 'Miss Brown, Miss Smith, Miss Jones; Tuesdays, Miss Bell, Miss Willing, Miss Gray.' And so on. I wondered what it meant, and then all of a sudden the scheme dawned on me. With that copy I can now tell beforehand what girls will plead illness on any particular day of the week. But it isn't in operation any longer. The general health of my department is much better than it was."—Philadelphia Record.

"Chicle Gum."

The so-called chicle gum of commerce, used by chewing gum makers, is the sap that exudes from wounds made in the rough bark of the tree. This sap, of a milky whiteness and consistency when it first issues, partly coagulates after continued exposure to the air, but becomes, after boiling, a hard, heavy mass. The achras sapota (white sapota), known to the Maya Indians of Yucatan as "ya," is the tree that yields the milky sap. It is found growing all over Yucatan. Under favorable conditions the tree grows to a height of seventy feet or more. The fruit much resembles a russet apple in color and general appearance, but has a flavor wholly its own.

Berlin Is Commonplace.

A correspondent in the Brooklyn Eagle, says that Berlin, as compared with London, is an upstart city; and the Berlin crowd suggests the appearance of people of some great village. They look commonplace, as if just taken from the ranks of tollers that have not yet had time and money to cultivate the more graceful arts of life. The dressing of Berlin women is mostly execrable, and that of the men is scarcely better. You wonder that so much ugliness of attire, so much commonplaceness in the appearance of men and women, could be got together. It is in such a moment that you feel the full difference between London and Berlin.

A NEW SUIT

Will be Commenced by Heirs of The Late D. F. Dumser.

The immediate heirs of the late D. F. Dumser will commence suit anew against the South Side Elevated company of Chicago to recover $5,000 damages. It is claimed that Mr. Dumser's death is due to the negligence of said company.

Some time ago a suit was started through the family attorney and life long friend of the deceased, Robert Egan. While the suit was pending the defendants offered to settle for $1,500, but the offer was promptly turned down with the result as already stated—Egan in Advocate.

Mr. Dumser was formerly a resident of Genoa and married Miss Carrie Hoag daughter of John L. Hoag. They removed to Elgin and have since made their home there.

ROYAL ENTERTAINMENT

Will Be Furnished for Visitors who Attend the Elgin Street Fair Sept. 23-28

Visitors to the Elgin Street Fair and Industrial Carnival week of Sept. 23-28 will certainly be royally entertained, as no expense or pains are being spared to make the best and most novel carnival ever witnessed.

Beginning on Monday evening with the crowning of Elgin's most charming daughter, as queen of the carnival, each day will witness a Succession of high class features. The city will be beautifully decorated and at night the electrical illumination will eclipse all previous efforts. The down town streets will be given over to the merchants and manufactures exhibits and the beautiful booths will contain a display that will be most entertaining and instructive.

Among the many really first class performances which will occur during the week are the following:

"Milo Lalapaloma" queen of the air who while being carried swiftly to the clouds by her emense balloon, below which she is suspended, executes a beautiful skirt dance, returning to to earth again by means of the parachute. Thrilling beyond description. "Slackey" the most sensational high wire actor in the world, performing seemingly incredible feats upon invisible wire stretched from the tops of three story buildings.

The immense Ferris wheel, now at the Minnesota State Fair at St. Paul, will be brought to Elgin and will be open to visitors during the carnival.

Elgin's pride, her splendid fire department, will be seen in competitive exhibition runs daily. The work of men and horses is little short of marvelous and holds the spectators spellbound.

A substantial cash prize will be offered for the most artistically decorated and finest appearing pony and carriage in Kane county. Some surprises may be looked for in this line. The Algonquin Indians and a band of sure enough Indians will appear in Wild West scenes and realistic war dance.

In addition to these there will be all the special novel features of the complete street fair, with band concerts and confetti battles daily.

Calendar for September 1901 showing days of the week and dates.

McKINLEY SHOT BY AN ANARCHIST

Assassin Tries to Kill President.

Terrible Act at Buffalo

Done While Thousands Were Greeting Chief Executive.

While shaking hands with the public from a platform in the Temple of Music at the Buffalo exposition at 4 p. m. Friday afternoon President McKinley was stricken down in the act of extending his hand in kind and friendly greeting to Leon Czolgosz, his murderous assailant.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

assassin. The first shot struck the president in the breast, the .32-caliber bullet flattening on the bone. The second and serious wound was a bullet hole in the abdomen, about five inches below the left nipple and an inch and a half to the left of the median line.

STORY OF THE SHOOTING.

Authentic Account of Attack Made by Czolgosz.

Many hundred people had shaken hands with the president, one of the last being a burly colored man. He murmured his acknowledgements of the honor and moved on to make way for a heavily built young fellow about 28 years old, who was slowly following him in the long line.

Carried a Handkerchief.

There was nothing to mark him from the thousands around him, except that he carried a handkerchief in his hand and even that, perhaps, was scarce worthy of note, for the building was small and crowded, the weather was sultry and thousands of handkerchiefs were in constant requisition.

But the young man did not grasp it. So quickly that the watchful eyes of the president's bodyguard had no hint of the menace in his movement, he raised the hand in which the handkerchief was held and fired two shots at the president. The handkerchief had covered a revolver, which he had carried thus openly through the crowd.

At the sound of the shots Detective Ireland of the secret service force leaped upon the man like a tiger and close behind him came the colored man who had just shaken hands with the president. While they struggled with him on the floor President McKinley took a step backward and was instantly clapped in the arms of Detective Gerry, another member of his bodyguard.

"Am I shot?" Evidently he had been so stunned with surprise that he had not felt the impact of the bullets. While he was speaking the officer and Secretary Cortelyou had been leading him backward to a chair and had torn open his vest. Blood was on his shirt front and Detective Gerry, answering his question, said:

"I fear you are, Mr. President." Secretary Cortelyou sank on one knee beside the president's chair and gazed anxiously into his face.

Tells Friends Not to Fear. "Do not be alarmed," said the president, "it is nothing."

His head sank forward into his hands a moment and then he raised it briskly, while the stream of crimson welled from the wound in his breast and spread in an ever-widening circle on his white shirt front.

"But you are wounded," exclaimed Mr. Cortelyou, "let me examine."

"No, no," insisted the president, "I am not badly injured, I assure you."

With a bullet in his breast, and another through his stomach, he did not lose consciousness. He sat almost as stanch and straight in his chair as though his assailant's shot had missed, and he seemed the calmest and least perturbed of the immense gathering. President Milburn and Secretary Cortelyou were almost frantic with alarm, but the wounded man continued to assure them that his injuries were trifling.

This dramatic scene upon the little platform was enacted in the midst of a terrific tumult, which continued uninterrupted for many minutes.

Secret Service Men Active.

When the secret service men and the colored man first threw themselves upon Czolgosz, the assailant of the president, and pinned him to the floor lest he should try to use the revolver again, twenty more men hurled themselves upon the scrambling quartet and buried Czolgosz from sight. Every man in that struggling, crazy throng was striving to get hold of Czolgosz to strike him, to rend him, to wreak upon him in any way the mad fury which possessed them instantly when they realized what he had done.

The greater part of the crowd was stunned for an instant by the enormity of the crime they witnessed, but when the reaction came they surged forward like wild beasts, the strongest tearing the weakest back out of the way and forcing themselves forward to where the prisoner was held by his captors. All the time a tumult of sound filled the place, a hollow roar at first, punctuated by the shrieks of women, swelling into medley of yells and curses. Men said unintelligible things as they pushed and crowded toward the center of the swaying mob. They wanted to lynch Czolgosz, whoever he was. They wanted to see him and they shouted vainly at the police officers in front to drag him out.

Mad Effort to Kill Czolgosz.

The little force of exposition guards, penned in by the clamoring mob, fought desperately to hold their prisoner from the bloodthirsty crowd. They had Czolgosz safe and fast. His revolver had been wrenched from his hand in the instant that Detective Ireland fell upon him, and he was helpless, bruised and bleeding. His face was cut when he was thrown to the floor and a dozen eager, vicious hands had struck at him and reached him over the shoulders of the officers.

Slowly, very slowly, the little force of police made way through the crowd, dragging the prisoner between them. They were determined there should be no lynching. Things were bad enough as it was, and a lynching would have been the crowning horror of the day.

From outside the building, where the news spread from lip to lip, more thousands pushed and jostled and shouted in their eagerness to enter the building. Those inside were struggling in two directions—the more timorous to escape from the place before a stampede should crush out their lives, and the hot-headed to reach Czolgosz—only to reach Czolgosz was their one idea.

President's Self Control.

And thus the contest raged while the president sat, pale but calm, in the midst of the excited little group on the platform. It was impossible to take him away at the moment. Every doorway was jammed with a crazy, shouting mob moving in two directions, trying to escape and trying to enter. Toward the main door the police were fighting their way with fists and billies to get Czolgosz out of the crowd and place him behind the bars. Upon the minutes which were speeding might depend the president's life, for no medical aid could reach him in that maelstrom, and it was evident that he was sorely wounded.

More police came plunging into the crowd from headquarters, where the official news had sped. They hurled themselves upon the swaying mob, they stuck and pushed and shouted commands, and it slowly gave way just enough so they could reach the little band struggling to save Czolgosz from a sudden and frightful death. They dragged him out, hustled him away through the beautiful exposition grounds and threw him behind barred doors, where he was saved for the law to deal with him.

Removal to the Hospital.

Massing their men where they could best handle the excited crowd, the police cleared a passageway to one of the doors for the bearing away of the president, and on the stretcher of an ambulance which had come clanging to the door he was tenderly carried from the building and borne in the ambulance to the emergency hospital, near the service building, within the exposition grounds.

Though this takes long in the telling, probably it was not more than five minutes from the time the shots were fired until the president was in the hospital, and a hasty examination was begun by the surgeons. They discovered that one bullet had entered the breast almost directly in the center or on the median line, but whether or not it had passed into the lungs could not be determined except by probing. The other had struck in the abdomen five inches below the left nipple and one and a half inches to the left of the median line. Immediately under that spot is the stomach, and the gravest fears were entertained regarding the consequences of that shot.

The president was subsequently removed to the house of President Milburn, where the best medical aid was at hand.

It is from the residence of Mr. Milburn that the bulletins are so eagerly awaited by the sorrowing American people.

CONFESSES HIS GUILT.

Leon Czolgosz, Without Remorse Tells of Attack on President.

Leon Czolgosz, the accused and self-confessed assassin, has signed a confession covering six pages of foolscap, in which he says that he is an anarchist, and that he decided on the act three days before and bought in Buffalo the revolver with which it was committed. He is unmarried. He claims to be a member of the Golden Eagles. Czolgosz has seven brothers and sisters in Cleveland, and the directory of that city has the names of about that number of persons of his name living on Hosmer street and Ackland avenue, a Polish settlement in the far southwestern part of the city. Some of them are butchers and others have different trades. Czolgosz's father lives on a farm about eight miles from Cleveland.

The assassin is detained at police headquarters pending the result of the President's injuries. Czolgosz does not appear in the least uneasy or penitent for his action. Czolgosz shows no sign of insanity, but is very reticent about much of his career. While acknowledging himself an anarchist, he does not state to what branch of the organization he belongs. As near as can be learned the facts contained in the confession are as follows: The man's name is Leon Czolgosz. He is of Polish-German extraction. His home is in Cleveland, where he has seven brothers and sisters. He is an avowed anarchist and an ardent disciple of Emma Goldman, whose teachings, he alleges, are responsible for his attack on the President. He denies steadfastly that he is the instrument of any body of anarchists or the tool of any coterie of plotters. He declares that he did not have a confederate. His only reason for the deed, he declares, is that he believed the present form of government in the United States is unjust, and he concluded that the most effective way to remedy it was to kill the President. These conclusions, he declares, he reached through the teachings of Emma Goldman. Five alleged anarchists were arrested in Cleveland and taken to police headquarters. After a rigid examination they were released.

POWDERLY IS ANARCHY'S FOE.

Immigration Commissioner Urges Exclusion From United States.

Washington telegram: Commissioner of Immigration Powderly is bitter toward anarchists and in an interview said: "The immigration laws can be amended so as to exclude from landing in this country persons known to be anarchists abroad by requiring of every immigrant to present a certificate from the municipality in which he resided at home to the effect that he was a respectable, law-abiding man; that he was not in any way identified with any anarchist organization, and that he was of good character. In order to make such a law effective representatives of the immigration bureau should be stationed in foreign countries whose duty it should be to carefully examine into the character of the immigration tending toward the United States."

"I recommended in my annual report for the fiscal year 1900 that all persons landing in this country be liable to deportation during the term they reside here before becoming naturalized or for the period of five years. It is all very well to talk of the United States as the asylum of the oppressed. That did very well years ago, but that was before immigration began to flow so rapidly to our shores. The need of an asylum is not so great now as it was and the danger of making this country a prison and an asylum for vagabonds is increasing every year."

MCKINLEY STEADILY GAINS

Watchers at Bedside Confident He Will Recover.

NO UNFAVORABLE SYMPTOMS.

President Anxious to Talk of State Affairs—Dr. Mynter Tells Him that He Is a Remarkable Man Physically—Dr. Rixey's Opinion.

"Steadily improves." "Without pain or unfavorable symptoms"—these are the significant phases in the important official bulletins of Monday. So strong is the confidence in the surgeons and in modern surgery as an exact science that the public accepts the statement of the physicians at par value. There is still danger, but by tomorrow afternoon, if all goes well, the physicians will be willing to stake their reputations on a speedy recovery. The physicians, the weather, the temperament of the president himself, courageous, optimistic, obedient to the least of the physicians' orders, all conspire to produce both optimism and cause for optimism. After the 9:30 p. m. bulletin had been issued Monday night announcing a continuance of the favor-surgery, but from a general knowledge of gunshot wounds I can say that the only possibility of complications was by blood-poisoning or peritonitis, and that I consider both now a very remote probability. Peritonitis might set in as a result of the two apertures in the stomach, but up to this time, a third beyond the usual standard record, not the slightest symptom is manifest. There is not the slightest evidence of blood poisoning. As to the bullet not yet extracted, I do not believe we need worry about that. The presumption is that it is lodged somewhere in the muscles of the back. Pursuing natural courses, it would now be incrustated and cut off from possible harm. There will be no attempt to extract the bullet at present. Neither will there be any operation for its removal at present. I see no reason why the president will not recover rapidly.

Dr. Herman Mynter, one of the consulting physicians of President McKinley, said Monday night: "I have always made it a point not to prognosticate in serious cases, for you know man proposes and God disposes. I consider the president's case a serious one and so I do not predict, but I may say that at this stage of the occurrence the condition of the patient is quite remarkably favorable anything but recovery."

Dr. Eugene Wasdin, who was with

"Ain't you afraid to be shot?" asked one of the men.

"No, sir," he snapped out, "and I hope no official of this country will be ever afraid. You men are our protection and the foul deed done the afternoon of Friday will only make you the more vigorous in your protection of the lives of those whom you select to office. Such men as you can work with the ballot the salvation of the country without resort to violence."

As he walked on the vice-president discussed the case of the president and his condition. He said in part:

"I believe that the bulletins being issued are none too sanguine. In fact, I know they are not. I am perfectly positive that the president will recover, and, more than that, I believe the illness will be brief and the recovery rapid. I had two men and a relative shot in the same manner in the Cuban campaign. They lay in the marshes for some time without attendance and yet they recovered. I may say that I have even deeper information than the bulletins and I again say with great confidence that the president will recover."

Seek Anarchy's Priestess.

A nation-wide movement for the capture of Emma Goldman, anarchy's high priestess, is under way. The center of this national hunt is just now in Chicago. A young man who called at the Chicago postoffice Monday for Miss Goldman's mail furnished evidence, convincing the police and a number of federal detectives that the notorious anarchist agitator is hiding in or near that city. The initiator of the ocean-to-ocean quest is the United States secret service, and hearty co-operation is being lent by the police of every city in America. Through this assistance information was received that Emma Goldman might be in seclusion in the vicinity of St. Louis, Mo., but Chicago detectives cling to the belief that she is near the Illinois metropolis.

Mr. Hay Goes to Buffalo.

Secretary of State Hay reached Boston from Newbury, N. H., Monday afternoon and with Mrs. Hay departed at 3 o'clock for Buffalo over the Boston & Maine railroad. Mr. Hay declined to talk in the way of a public interview.

"Shawl-Gotch" Is Assassin's Name.

The name of Leon Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, is best pronounced by uninitiated by recollecting how the Russian always introduces a "U" into the pronunciation of the name of the czar. Thus the Russian says "tzar." In the case of Czolgosz one should say "Tschal-gotch," with the "U" faintly sounded and the second "U" quite full. The average American, however, will get it as "Shawlgotch," and that is about as correct as he can make it. The assassin has lived in Detroit, other parts of Michigan, Cleveland and Cincinnati, and been in Chicago quite recently. He is without particular education, except in anarchistic doctrines.

Members of the cabinet and many relatives and friends of President McKinley went to Buffalo as fast as express trains could carry them.

BEGIN TO CRUSH THE REDS.

Police of Boston and Other Cities to Prevent Anarchist Meetings.

Orders were given by the police commissioners at Boston to captains to find all anarchists in the city, determine where the meetings are held and be prepared to suppress all meetings they may try to hold. A meeting of anarchists was held in Compton street Sunday at which incendiary remarks were made and this led the police board to act. Police Chairman Clark says he will prevent the anarchistic mass meeting to be held Oct. 13 under the auspices of Emma Goldman. The policemen who are hunting for anarchists have no instructions to make arrests. They are simply to learn just who the anarchists are and what they do for a living. It was reported that Nathan Pingold, leader of the anarchists of Boston, was to be arrested on a warrant already procured. He has been exulting over the shooting of President McKinley.

Mayor Moores of Omaha has issued a formal order for the suppression of public meetings where inflammatory utterances are indulged in. Bernhardt Sachsee, who has been employed in the tax commissioner's office, has been discharged for an incendiary speech.

At a meeting of the city council of Vincennes, Ind., resolutions were passed deploring the attempt to assassinate the president and asking the governor of Indiana to forward the resolutions to the president of the United States senate, urging that anarchy be declared high treason.

The directors of the Merchants' association at New York adopted resolutions denouncing the methods of anarchists, deploring the attack on President McKinley and recommending that laws be enacted which will render it possible for the proper authorities to take summary measures against those who express sentiments of an anarchistic nature.

Votes to Depose a Minister.

The Baptist church council of the Rock Island district, after hearing the evidence at Moline, Ill., in the case of the Rev. George W. White, of Orion, voted to depose him from the ministry, but instructed his church to grant letters of dismissal to himself and wife.

Court Martial Ordered.

A general court martial is appointed to meet at West Point, N. Y., September 7, for the trial of such prisoners as may be brought before it.

OTHER CRIMES RECALLED

By the Attempt to Kill President McKinley.

ARE MURDERED BY MANIACS.

Two Previous Attempts Have Been Made by Fanatics Upon the Life of McKinley—Jackson Was Once Shot at by a Madman.

Two presidents of the United States—Abraham Lincoln and James A. Garfield—have fallen before the assassin's bullet prior to the crime at Buffalo. An attempt was made to assassinate Andrew Jackson, but was thwarted. President McKinley's life has been threatened twice before this last event.

The murder of President Lincoln came at the close of the costly and bloody civil war; at a moment when, all the man from Illinois had struggled for seemed about to be realized; in the hour when the triumph of the republic seemed the greatest. The assassin was John Wilkes Booth, an actor, a brother of the afterward famous tragedian, Edwin Booth, and a misanthrope of the most pronounced type.

Almost at the moment that President Lincoln was assassinated Lewis Payne Powell, son of a Florida clergyman, broke into the residence of Secretary Seward, where the latter was lying ill, and whom he stabbed in several places. He also fractured the skull of Mr. Seward's son, stabbed a soldier on duty and two other persons and made his escape.

Booth was shot by his pursuers and Payne was hanged.

Shooting of Garfield.

On the 2d of July, 1881, all over the United States, at 9:38 in the morning, the telegraph instruments suddenly opened with the Washington call. Operators who wondered at the sudden interruption sprang to their keys and listened to the slow delivery of this message:

"President Garfield was shot this morning at the Baltimore and Ohio depot by Charles Guiteau."

This was the second presidential assassination to be spread on the pages of American history. That morning President Garfield, accompanied by Secretary of State Blaine, had gone to the Baltimore and Ohio depot in Washington to take a train to Williams College, Ohio. It was his old college and he was to be the guest of honor at the commencement exercises. He was in unusually happy mood and chatted gayly with Mr. Blaine. They entered the station waiting room together. As they passed the door Charles J. Guiteau, the assassin, stepped up behind Mr. Garfield and shot him. The president sank to the floor, officers seized Guiteau and the dread news was flashed to all parts of the country.

Suffered Intense Agony.

As soon as possible the president was removed to the White House, and later, by advice of his physicians, was removed to a cottage at Elberon, N. J., where he died Sept. 19, 1881.

The entire country lived with him during his hours of agony and mourned when he passed away. He was a man of superb constitution and his battle for recovery is one of the saddest stories to be recorded. Guiteau was a blind partisan whose mind had been worked upon by the stories of the bitter political fight then raging between the president and Senators Conkling and Platt of New York. The man had been a crank all his life, a monomaniac, and had gone deliberately to Washington to kill the president, believing that by so doing he would save the country and advance himself. He had sought office and been disappointed and he brooded upon this until he determined on his bloody deed.

During Andrew Jackson's administration a maniac attempted to shoot him, but was overcome and incarcerated in an asylum for life.

Wedding Ring Lore.

It is deemed unlucky when the wedding ring comes off the finger, whether from forgetfulness or accident. It is a common superstition that when the wedding ring has worn so thin as to break it is a sure indication that the married life of one will shortly end in death. It is suggested that this solves the cause of ladies wearing heavy wedding rings. Should a wife be so unfortunate as to break her wedding ring it is believed that death will soon rob her of her husband.—London Church Family Newspaper.

able conditions that the bulletins were but meager indications of the real improvement of the distinguished patient. At 9:45 o'clock Miss McKinley, a sister of the president; Dr. and Mrs. Herman Baer, the latter a niece of the president, left the house and, taking carriages, announced their intention of returning to their homes tonight. Postmaster Freese of Canton, a warm personal friend of the president, who came today filled with anxiety, said Monday night: "I go back tonight because I have the most positive assurance that the president is going to make a rapid recovery." For the first time since he was shot President McKinley wanted to talk about affairs of state Monday. He smiled at Dr. Mynter and said: "I feel much better."

"I am very glad, Mr. President. You are a remarkable man physically," replied the physician. "You are beyond danger now, but you must remain quiet."

It is said that Secretary Cortelyou has been allowed to ask the president's wishes upon one or two important questions about which the cabinet was in doubt. Aside from the pathological conditions of the case, circumstances Monday were peculiarly favorable for the patient. It was an ideal September day, with bracing air, moderate temperature and a light breeze blowing. The sun shone brightly most of the time with now and then the shadows of light, fleecy clouds. The physicians were quick to note these external conditions, for they contributed greatly to the comfort of the patient and gave assurance against the depression of extreme heat or inclement weather.

Dr. P. M. Rixey, one of the president's attendant physicians and also the private physician of the president and Mrs. McKinley, said tonight regarding the distinguished patient: "I am not a specialist in abdominal McKinley Shot.

Is Shot Down by a Cowardly Anarchist.

It was like a clap of thunder from a clear sky when word was received here last Friday to the effect that our President, William McKinley, had been shot. Nothing ever fled from lip to lip and all over the whole world in so short a space of time. People meeting would impart the sad news as though it had been a member of their own family, and, indeed, it was, for the name of McKinley has become an adjunct of every household.

The first news received were very meager and conveyed the impression that the President was dead, or was dying, and the flag was run up to half-mast in front of the JOURNAL office. Later more assuring news arrived to the effect that the assassin's act had not yet proved fatal and the feeling of despair turned to those of hope and many a prayer was offered up by our people for the safety of the President.

The fact that the anarchists have committed another of their awful deeds by attempting the life of the head of the greatest nation on the face of the earth, should not be lost sight of. A people should rise up in their might and crush out the inhuman vipers that are aiming at the vitals, not only of the United States, but of all Europe. This is the cry from every quarter of the globe and our hope is that the feeling will take form and materialize into action. They are becoming more bold and deliberate in bringing about their awful purpose.

Many of these Anarchists are compelled to hide themselves behind the cloak of Socialism as the laws of most states do not permit them to come out in their true light. They can always be counted out from the genuine Socialist, and should be handled with a strong grip. A prominent senator said last Saturday that lynch law would be almost justifiable in handling them. Surely what will we come to, if such things are allowed to continue.

ATTEMPTED RAPE

Warrant out for Arrest of Chris Sterns.

A States Warrant is out for Chris Sterns to answer to the charge of assault on Miss Bessie Williams last Thursday night, with intent to commit rape. On this night Miss Williams in company with another, a married woman, met Sterns, and another fellow, near the M. E. church. Sterns persuaded Bessie into his buggy to take a ride around the square. The proposals of Sterns, were resented but he persisted using force. She tore away from him and jumped from the buggy and started to run but she was chased by Sterns and his rig. As she reached Ben Awe's place she darted into his yard and fell to the ground out of breath. She soon aroused Mrs. Awe who was just preparing for bed, to whom the girl told her story.

Mr. Awe soon arrived and brought Bessie to her home.

Friday morning Mrs. Williams entered a complaint against Sterns before Justice Hollebeak who issued a warrant. Sterns left for the west on the 10:28 C. M. & St. P. train the same day and constable Riddle went to Kirkland in the afternoon, but did not arrive until Sterns had got wind that an officer was on his way there and in consequence, Riddle failed to locate his man, but will probably land him before long.

It is said that it is possible that the other two persons whose names are not mentioned may be implicated in the affair and dealt with.

A MAD DOG WILL NOT BITE.

When you hear the cry of "Mad dog!" do not run. This is the advice of John G. Shortall, president of the Humane society.

"Throw a bucket of water at a dog which is supposed to be mad, and in a few moments he will recover from his attack of epilepsy and will trot off serenely," said Mr. Shortall. "It is a great cruelty to kill a dog in this condition. A cool headed man could settle the matter in the few moments by subduing first the emotional excitement of spectators.

I am advocating the use of large nets for the capture of sick dogs, to be placed in every police station. The nets would be specially useful in the crowded slum district of the city, where the epileptic dog is most prevalent, and where his presence creates the wildest kind of terror and excitement. An ignorant man or woman, bitten by an epileptic dog is generally so frightened that he or she will eventually work into such a fever of mental suffering that some sort of the symptoms of rabies will be exhibited, when in almost every case no poison whatever has been introduced into the system.

SURE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA.

One Clubman Who Knew the Remedy for His Ailment.

Philadelphia Record: Standing in front of a Locust street stable yesterday afternoon was a man in overalls pulling a pile of hay up into the loft with the aid of a rope and pulley. He looked the picture of health and the exertion was as nothing to him. Presently along came another man. He was fat and pudgy-looking and his skin had an unhealthy color. His general appearance betokened the overfed club man. He was carefully groomed and was evidently a man of leisure. He stood for perhaps a minute watching the other man at work, and then he said: "Would you mind letting me take your place for a while? I am troubled with indigestion and have been suffering all day. I think that would do me good."

The stableman's eyes seemed to pop out of his head. "Sure," he said "sure." The pudgy dyspeptic carefully removed his gloves and grasped the rope. It was hard work and it made him very red in the face, but he finally landed the bale where another man in the loft could take it in. Then he tried another, and kept it up for about ten minutes. When he relinquished the rope to the stableman he slipped a coin into the latter's hand, saying: "Thank you, very much. That has done me more good than all the medicine in the world." As he disappeared around the corner the laborer was heard to mutter: "Well, I'll be d—d!" That was as near as his vocabulary could come to doing justice to the occasion.

HAD FORGOTTEN SOMETHING.

Why the Young Woman Forgot the Instruction of Her Youth.

A dignified young woman came down in the elevator of one of the smartest hotels of Baltimore, Md., a few days ago, and started into a corridor, which was filled with people. To the unobservant eye of the elevator boy she was correctly attired in blue as a waist and white as a skirt. White skirts worn with colored waists do not form a dress combination often seen at this hotel, but it's not the elevator boy's place to reason why, so he let her go without remonstrance, even though two long pieces of tape floated from her waistband.

But just as the girl neared a group of men in the corridor an elderly woman placed a detaining hand on her arm. "My dear," she said, "My dear, haven't you left off a piece of your apparel?" The girl gave a startled glance downward and caught the commiserating glance of the elevator boy as he went skyward, and then she made a dash for the stairs and went up them two at a time, exactly as she had been taught in her childhood she must not do.

Gloves and Their Care.

If the French woman devotes more time to one part of her toilet than to another it may be said that the gloves receive that attention. The care taken with this article of dress perhaps is largely responsible for her fresh appearance. One should be careful about the length of the fingers, for nothing spoils the appearance of a gloved hand more quickly than fingers that wrinkle from tip to base, showing room to spare in the length. Quite as bad a fault is the finger that is too short, for then the whole hand is deformed. With the thumb kept out for the last, have the fingers fitted and worked gently down from the front and back. Never push the glove down between the fingers; if there is ever a difference in the weight of the material it is there that the thinnest parts are placed. The glove as it should look on the hand is without wrinkles, "fits like a glove," smoothly in every place, and yet permitting the free use of the fingers.—Chicago News.

Love of Novelty in Trade.

Ainslie's Magazine: The department store is an evolution of the dry goods store, which exists no longer as an ambitious retail business. One of the greatest department stores in the west was the creation of a man who used to exhibit an educated pig in a traveling circus. When his estate was probated it was appraised at $15,000,000. This man opened a small dry goods store in Chicago and annexed one business after another in his neighborhood until he owned what some declare was the first department store in America. However, that may be, the idea is older in England and France.

Why They Killed the Fatted Calf.

"And now can any little boy tell me why it was that they killed and ate the fatted calf? Eh? Can't anybody tell? The prodigal had just returned home, you know, and his father had run to him and fallen on his neck and embraced him. And then they killed and ate the fatted calf. Now, why did they kill and eat the fatted calf? Ah, Willie knows. Speak up, Willie." "If you please, sir, I guess they killed and ate the fatted calf 'cause it was so hot they didn't think it would keep over Sunday!"

London's Passion Is Luxury.

The tendency among the British middle classes is rather to live above their incomes than within them, says an Amsterdam newspaper. There is also a passion for luxury in London and a desire to display, which seems a particularly stupid and useless desire in a huge city, where one seldom knows one's neighbors. And so, too, the cordial "pot-luck" dinners of a generation ago have given place to ceremonial champagne functions, in which a man out of dress clothes is out of place.

Are agents for the
and would like to have you call at their ware house and look at the new points that the company have added to their machines since last season. Sample machines are on their floors which they will be glad to show you in detail.

The McCormick Right-Hand Binder

The Prosperous Farmer always has a has these Leading Points, Light Draft, Perfect Work, Simplicity, Durability.

The MAIN WHEEL although the strongest ever put on a harvesting machine, is lighter than the main wheels on other binders.

Three years ago a European Government tested the McCormick binder in the field for two weeks, with seven other American machies, to determine which used the least twine in binding a given amount of grain. After the most painstaking measurements it was found that nineteen balls of twine on the McCormick bound more grain than twenty balls on any other binder.

The McCormick New 4 Mower

Every Prosperous Farmer has a
McCORMICK

Is the only mower that gets all the grass. It is a very easy matter for a poorly constructed machine to run over a dollar's worth of grass on an acre, leaving it in stubble where it is lost. It is the only mower with a draft rod extending from the inner shoe to the shifting doubletrees.

The McCormick Corn Binder has the greatest success from the fact that it cuts and binds in the vertical position the only practical way to handle big corn that grows in fertile spots in every field, also because of our "locked joint" conveyor chain, the only chain ever made that will handle the stiff and stubborn corn stalks.

The McCormick is the only machine that makes a square butted bundle. Corn stands on a level floor while the bundle is being shaped and bound. Square butted bundles stand up well in the shock, a great advantage in curing the fodder.

ARE WEAVING A DRAGNET.

Chief Wilkie Hopes to Run Down Every One Connected With Crime of Czolgosz—Reasons for Arrest of Those in Custody.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Chief of the Secret Service Wilkie, with the help of the officers throughout the United States, is weaving a net which is expected to catch within its meshes every anarchist who is believed to have conspired with Czolgosz to bring about the murder of President McKinley. In addition to the arrests made by Buffalo two others have been made by Chief Wilkie's order. These are the arrests of Antonio Maggio at Santa Rita, N. M., and of Emma Goldman in Chicago. Orders are already out for still further arrests, and as fast as the investigation being made tends to implicate still others they will be taken into the net. Men are not to be arrested simply because they have professed anarchistic sentiments, but only those who will be taken into custody who are believed to be implicated in the conspiracy or to possess information that may lead to the arrest of conspirators.

Wilkie Works Quietly.
Though it is not within the line of their duties as defined by Congress, the secret service men have been able to keep in touch with many of the leading anarchists throughout the country, and when any of them are wanted it is probable that Chief Wilkie will be able to locate them with the aid of the police authorities in the principal cities. Brass band methods are not being used in the work that is now being done. Chief Wilkie always pursues the policy of complete silence until results have been accomplished, and he is more than ever secretive at this time. No confederate of Czolgosz will be warned to be on his guard by anything he can learn as to what the secret service is doing. All that can be learned about the arrest of Emma Goldman is what has already been published as a result of Czolgosz's declaration that he was led to shoot the President by the influence of her lectures. There is reason to believe, however, that Chief Wilkie intends to connect her more directly with the crime, especially in view of the fact that Czolgosz visited her. It is not believed that the anarchist would have gone all the way to Chicago to see the woman whose utterances had inspired him to the attempt to kill the President and not talk with her about the great project which was apparently his only object in life.

Case of Maggio.
The same policy is being pursued in the discussion of the arrest of Antonio Maggio. All that Chief Wilkie will say is that Maggio was arrested because of the statements he had made that President McKinley would be shot before Oct. 1, and that he wished that he had been selected to do the shooting. It is known, however, that Chief Wilkie has information connecting Maggio with the Peterson gang of anarchists in different parts of the country. When questioned as to the reasons for Maggio's arrest Mr. Wilkie replied that he thought it would be a good thing to arrest him and see what he had to say for himself.

EVIDENCE OF PLOT LACKING.

District Attorney Penney's Investigation Without Result So Far.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—District Attorney Penney said yesterday: "I cannot make any statement regarding the examination. We are doing our best to fix the crime. We are receiving information from all parts of the world, and we are investigating."
"With what result?" he was asked.
"No result," he answered.
Mr. Penney's attitude seems to be that there is as yet no evidence of a conspiracy to remove the president.
Gov. Odell will return to Buffalo on Saturday and it was announced last night is to call an extraordinary session of the grand jury for Erie county to indict Czolgosz, and Henry A. Childs, Supreme court justice for the eighth district, is to be designated by Gov. Odell to preside at the trial.
The full penalty on conviction is ten years in state prison.

It has been practically decided, it was further declared, not to summon President McKinley as a witness for the prosecution for the reason that there are sufficient witnesses to tell of Czolgosz' guilt. The assassin has no lawyer to defend him, and it may be that the court will be compelled to assign a lawyer to put in the best plea possible for him.

TO TAKE ANARCHIST CENSES.

Precinct Commanders at New York to List "Reds."

New York, Sept. 11.—Police Commissioner Murphy made up his mind today to keep an eye on all anarchists in this city from this time on in case of future trouble. In accordance with this determination he sent out this order:

"To Commanding Officers of precincts of all the boroughs: You are hereby directed to make a police census of all male and female anarchists residing within the boundaries of your command. This must be done with the utmost caution, so that the names of innocent persons should not be confused with those of pronounced anarchists. This should be done as speedily as possible and as secretly as the nature of the investigation will warrant.

"It is possible that, after these people discover that a census is being made of them, they will move to other quarters. It will be your duty to discover where they move to and when they moved from their former habitations.

"Forward the census, when completed, to this office, where the report will be verified by a more critical inquiry."

EMMA GOLDMAN ARRESTED.

Chicago Police Claim to Have Unearthed Plot to Kill President Last Year.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—President McKinley was marked to be assassinated by anarchists in Chicago a year ago during the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The plot was balked by the announcement at the last moment that, owing to the press of business at Washington growing out of the Chinese complications, the president would be unable to meet his old army comrades in Chicago.

This information, which came into the hands of the authorities today, is regarded by them as of the utmost importance, because it tends to show that at least some of the Chicago anarchists are connected with the attempted assassination of the president at Buffalo, and that they have had guilty knowledge of a plot to take his life longer than a year. How much more they know about the matter is what the police and the secret service men are trying to find out, but it is believed that a line has been discovered that will result in connecting directly with Czolgosz the name of Emma Goldman, as well as the names of certain Chicago "reds."

Emma Goldman was taken into custody here today having been found in hiding in a flat at 303 Sheffield Ave.

Pittsburg "Reds" Still Held.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 11.—Carl Nold and Harry Gordon, local anarchists arrested yesterday, are being held pending the arrival of a secret service agent from Buffalo, who is expected here later in the day to assist in "sweating" the men for information concerning Emma Goldman. An interpreter is at work on the papers found in the houses of Gordon and Nold. No communication can be had with the men. Their friends seem to have forgotten them, as no one has called to inquire about them. Both maintain a stolid indifference.

Czolgosz Owns Plot.

New York, Sept. 11.—A special to the Herald from Buffalo says Leon F. Czolgosz has confessed to the police that his attempt upon the life of President McKinley was the result of a conspiracy, in which many besides himself had a part. So far as can be learned Czolgosz has refused to mention any name except that of Emma Goldman, but papers are in existence which, if they can be discovered, will lay bare the entire conspiracy and will result in wholesale arrests, followed by prosecutions.

Czar Sends Personal Dispatch.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The following cablegram has just been received from Czar Nicholas:

"Fresno—To President McKinley, Buffalo, N. Y.: Am very happy to hear you are feeling better after the ignominious attempt on your life. I join with the American people in the universal wish for your speedy recovery. "NICHOLAS."

Will Expel Czolgosz.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 11.—Steps are being taken by state officers of the Knights of the Golden Eagle in this city to expel from the order Leon Czolgosz, who entered the order at Cleveland under the assumed name of Frederick Nieman.

Alleged Pickpockets Captured.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—Three supposed pickpockets are confined at the central police station charged with the theft of two gold watches and $75 in cash from passengers on the Goodrich liner Virginia. They gave the names of Joseph Brooks, Joseph Frank and Samuel Schivch, and gave their place of residence as Chicago. The police claim that the men were caught red-handed. They were arrested after being apprehended by Purser Davis, who was the Sherlock Holmes in the case. The men were found with the goods on their persons and passengers who claimed to have been robbed identified the watches as theirs.

Gambling House Raided.

New York, Sept. 11.—Justice Jerome, District Attorney Gavan, and Frank Moss last night raided an alleged gambling-house on East Ninth street in this city. Five arrests were made. When the raiding party arrived they found the doors barricaded. Sledge hammers were used and an entrance quickly made. There were about thirty people in the room, but only the five for whom warrants had been issued were held.

Casual Stowe at Home.

New York, Sept. 11.—James G. Stowe, United States consul at Cape Town, South Africa, arrived here today on board the steamer Koenig Luise from Bremen and Southampton. Other passengers by the same steamer were the Rev. Dr. C. C. Tiffany, Baron Wrangel, Hamilton W. Mabie and Victor F. Lawson of Chicago.

President Shaffer Gets Orders.

Pittsburg, Sept. 11.—President Shaffer has been ordered by Executive board of Amalgamated association to settle strike on best terms possible.

Walter Wellman says the hatred for Great Britain and sympathy for the Boers is unanimous in Europe.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE FOLLY OF WORRY, LAST SUNDAY'S SUBJECT.

"Sufficient Unto the Day Is the Evil Thereof"—Matthew XI: 34—The Evil of Borrowing Trouble from the Future—Don't Worry.

[Copyright, 1901, by Louis Klopsch, N. Y.]
Washington, Sept. 8.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows the folly of allowing forebodings to influence us and how expectation of evil weakens and destroys; text, Matthew vi, 34. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

The life of every man, woman and child is as closely under the divine care as though such person were the only man, woman or child. There are no accidents. As there is a law of storms in the natural world, so there is a law of trouble, a law of disaster, a law of misfortune; but the majority of the troubles of life are imaginary, and the most of those anticipated never come. At any rate, there is no cause of complaint against God. See how much he has done to make you happy, his sunshine filling the earth with glory, making rainbow for the storm and halo for the mountain, greenness for the moss, saffron for the cloud and crystal for the billow and procession of bannered flame through the opening gates of the morning, chaffinches to sing, rivers to glitter, seas to chant and springs to blossom, and overpowering all other sounds with its song and overarching all other splendor with its triumph, covering up all other beauty with its garlands and outflashing all thrones with its dominion—deliverance for a lost world through the Great Redeemer.

Borrowing Trouble.

I discourse of the sin of borrowing trouble.

First, such a habit of mind and heart is wrong, because it puts one into a despondency that ill fits him for duty. I planted two rosebushes in my garden; the other thrived beautifully, the other perished. I found the dead one on the shady side of the house. Our dispositions, like our plants, need sunshine. Expectancy of repulse is the cause of many secular and religious failures. Fear of the bankruptcy has upturned many a fine business and sent the man dodging among the note shavers. Fear of slander and abuse has often invited all the long-beaked vultures of scorn and backbiting. Many of the misfortunes of life, like hyenas, flee if you courageously meet them.

How poorly prepared for religious duty is a man who sits down under the gloom of expected misfortune! If he prays, he says, "I do not think I shall be answered." If he gives, he says, "I expect they will steal the money." Helen Chalmers told me that her father, Thomas Chalmers, in the darkest hour of the history of the Free Church of Scotland and when the woes of the land seemed to weigh upon his heart said to his children, "Come, let us go out and play ball or fly kite," and the only difficulty in the play was that the children could not keep up with their father. The McChalmers and the Summerfields of the church who did the most good toiled in the sunlight. Away with the horrors! They distill poison; they dig graves, and if they could climb so high they would drown the rejoicings of heaven with sobs and wailing.

Watching for Misfortune.

You will have nothing but misfortune in the future if you sedulously watch for it. How shall a man catch the right kind of fish if he arranges his line and hook and bait to catch lizards and water serpents? Hunt for bats and hawks, and bats and hawks you will find. Hunt for robin redbreasts, and you will find robin redbreasts. One night an eagle and an owl got into fierce battle. The eagle, unused to the night, was no match for the owl, which is most at home in the darkness, and the king of the air fell helpless. But the morning rose, and with it rose the eagle, and the owls and the night hawks and the bats came a second time to the combat. Now, the eagle in the sunlight, with a stroke of his talons and a great cry cleared the air, and his enemies, with torn feathers and splashed with blood, tumbled into the thickets. Ye are the children of light. In the night of despondency you will have no chance against your enemies that flock up from beneath; but, trusting in God and standing in the sunshine of the promises, you shall "renew your youth like the eagle."

Again, the habit of borrowing trouble is wrong because it has a tendency to make us overlook present blessing. To slake man's thirst the rock is cleft, and cool waters leap into his brimming cup. To feed his hunger the fields bow down with bending wheat, and the cattle come down from the clover pastures to give him milk, and the orchards yellow and ripen, casting their juicy fruits into his lap. Alas, that amid such exuberance of blessing man should grow as though he were a soldier on half rations or a sailor on short allowance; that a man should stand neck deep in harvests looking forward to famine; that one should feel the strong pulses of health marching with regular tread through all the avenues of life and yet tremble at the expected assault of sickness; that a man should sit in his pleasant home fearful that ruthless want will some day rattle the broken window sash with tempest and sweep the coals from the hearth and pour hunger into the bread tray; that a man fed by him who owns all the harvests should expect to starve; that one whom God loves and surrounds with benediction and attends with angelic escort and hovers over with more than motherly fondness should be looking for a heritage of tears! Has God been hard with thee that thou shouldst be foreboding? Has he stinted thy board? Has he covered thee with rags? Has he spread traps for thy feet, and galled thy cup, and rasped thy soul, and wrecked thee with storm, and thundered upon thee with a life full of calamity?

Work of Self-Examination.

Many Christians think it a bad sign to be jubilant, and their work of self-examination is a bewing down of their brighter experiences. Like a boy with a new jackknife, hacking everything he comes across, so their self-examination is a religious cutting to pieces of the greenest things they can lay their hands on. They imagine they are doing God's service when they are going about borrowing trouble, and borrowing it at 30 per cent, which is always a sure precursor of bankruptcy.

Again, the habit of borrowing trouble is wrong because the present is sufficiently taxed with trial. God sees that we all need a certain amount of trouble, and so he apportions it for all the days and years of our life. Alas for the policy of gathering it all up for one day or year! Cruel thing to put upon the back of one camel all the cargo intended for the entire caravan. I never look at my memorandum book to see what engagements and duties are far ahead. Let every week bear its own burdens. The shadows of today are thick enough. Why implore the presence of other shadows? The cup is already distasteful. Why hail on disasters far distant to come and wring out more gall in the bitterness? Are we such champions that, having won the best in former encounters, we can go forth to challenge all the future?

Do Not Worry.

Here are business men just able to manage affairs as they now are. They can pay their rent and meet their notes and manage affairs as they now are, but how if a panic should come and my investments should fail? Go tomorrow and write on your daybook or on your ledger, on your money safe, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Do not worry about notes that are far from due. Do not pile up on your counting desk the financial anxieties of the next 20 years. The God who has taken care of your worldly occupation, guarding your store from the torch of the incendiary and the key of the burglar, will be as faithful in 1910 as in 1901. God's hand is mightier than the machinations of stock gamblers or the plots of political demagogues or the red right arm of revolution, and the darkness will fly and the storm fall dead at his feet.

So there are persons in feeble health, and they are worried about the future. They make out very well now, but they are bothering themselves about future pleuritis and rheumatism and neuralgias and fevers. Their eyesight is feeble, and they are worried lest they entirely lose it. Their hearing is indistinct, and they are alarmed lest they become entirely deaf. They felt chilly today and are expecting an attack of typhoid. They have been troubled for weeks with some perplexing malady and dread becoming lifelong invalids. Take care of your health now and trust God for the future. Be not guilty of the blasphemy of asking him to take care of you while you sleep with your windows tight down or eat chicken salad at 11 o'clock at night or sit down on a cake of ice to cool off. Be prudent, and then be confident. Some of the sickest people have been the most useful. It was so with Payson, who died deaths daily, and Robert Hall, who used to stop in the midst of his sermon and lie down on the pulpit sofa to rest and then go on again. Theodore Frelinghuysen had a great horror of dying till the time came and then went peacefully. Take care of the present, and let the future look out for itself. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

Borrowing Misfortune.

Again, the habit of borrowing misfortune is wrong because it unjustly us for it when it actually does come. We cannot always have smooth sailing. Life's path will sometimes tumble among declivities and mount a steep and be thorn pierced. Judas will kiss our cheek and then sell us for 30 pieces of silver. Human scorn will try to crucify us between two thieves. We will hear the iron gate of the sepulcher creak and grind as it shuts in our kindred. But we cannot get ready for these things by forebodings. They who fight imaginary woes will come out of breath into conflict with the armed disasters of the future. Their ammunition will have been wasted long before they come under the guns of real misfortune. Boys in attempting to jump a wall sometimes go so far back in order to get impetus that when they come up they are exhausted, and these long races in order to get spring enough to vault trouble bring us up at last to the dreadful realization of our strength gone.

Finally, the habit of borrowing trouble is wrong because it is unbelief. God has promised to take care of us. The Bible blooms with assurances. Your hunger will be fed; your sickness will be alleviated; your sorrows will be healed. God will sandal your feet and smooth your path, and along by frowning crag and opening grave sound the voices of victory and good cheer. The summer clouds that seem thunder charged really carry in their bosom harvests of wheat and shocks of corn and vineyards purpling for the winepress. The wrathful wave will kiss the feet of the great Storm Walker. Our great Joshua will command, and above your soul the sun of prosperity will stand still. Bleak and wave struck Patmos shall have apocalyptic vision, and you shall hear the cry of elders and the sweep of wings and trumpets of salvation and the voice of hallelujah unto God forever.

Dangerous Bridle Paths.

Your way may wind along dangerous bridle paths and amid wolf's howl and the scream of the vulture, but the way still winds upward till angels guard it, and trees of life overarch it, and thrones line it, and crystalline fountains leap on it, and the pathway ends at gates that are pearl and streets that are gold and temples that are always open and hills that quake with perpetual song and a city mingling forever Sabbath and jubilee and triumph and coronation.

Let pleasure chant her siren song; 'Tis not the song for me. To weeping it will turn ere long, For this is heaven's decree.

But there's a song the ransomed sing To Jesus, their exalted King, With joyful heart and tongue. Oh, that's the song for me!

Courage, my brother! The father does not give to his son at school enough money to last him several years, but as the bills for tuition and board and clothing and books come in, pass them. So God will not give you grace all at once for the future, but will meet all your exigencies as they come. Through earnest prayer trust him. People ascribe the success of a certain line of steamers to business skill and know not the fact that when that line of steamers started the wife of the proprietor passed the whole of each day when a steamer started in prayer to God for its safety and the success of the line. Put everything in God's hands and leave it there. Large interest money to pay will soon eat up a farm, a store, an estate, and the interest on borrowed troubles will swamp anybody. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

LANG ON AMERICAN HISTORY.

He Says It Has Little, If Any, of the "Oscurio" Element.

American history, as far as I know it, has not mystery enough for a really exciting romance. Nobody of the highest importance ever vanished away, disappeared; nobody except a certain regicide, and he was of English importation. The amiable and beautiful wife of none of our Presidents was ever accused of plotting, with an Admiral of your fleet, to blow up the President in the White House, the question of her guilt remaining deliciously obscure. Not one of your Presidents, after fighting his way to within a lance's length of a hostile general, ever vanished away, leaving public opinion uncertain as to whether he had gone, literally, to Jericho, or been put down a well. No occupant of the White House ever had two nephews who disappeared from the state prison, nor did any sane citizen ever turn up who claimed to be one of these missing children. Finally, your republic never kept a captive in a black velvet mask, concerning whom it was disputed whether he was a European diplomatist, a valet, a royal duke, a distinguished actor, a member of the Bonaparte family, a high-class Irish patriot, or—the right President, whose place was being occupied by an impostor. The chronicles of Europe, especially of France, Scotland, and England, are rich in this kind of Rembrandtlike effects. We have plenty of chiaroscuro, especially of oscurio, and you have little, if any, of this element. Hawthorne felt the want; he had to invent his own mysteries. All your many historical novelists feel the want.—Andrew Lang, in New York Independent.

A Discussion in Genealogy.

They were at dinner at their country home at Southampton, relates the New York Times, a poor cousin was the only guest. The mother, who is an aristocrat of the aristocrats, was expatiating—for the benefit of the cousin—on the excellence of her genealogy. She told how this branch traced to Lord — of England; this to the kings of Scotland; that to the old pre-revolution families of France, and the other to a family of Irish kings of 900 years ago. Suddenly a precocious 6-year-old daughter, who took a great interest in her father's kennel of dogs, spoke up: "Mamma, why are you proud of that? If you mix up a lot of dogs, papa says they make curs; ain't people the same?" The father laughed, the cousin concealed his mirth, the mother flushed, and the genealogical discussion ended.

Lord Kelvin's Long Service.

Lord Kelvin, who is 77 years of age, has the distinction of having occupied a university chair for a longer consecutive period than any other university professor now living. In his varsity days, though the fact is forgotten, Lord Kelvin was an athlete of much more than ordinary prowess, and at Cambridge, in spite of the work which won for him the proud position of second wrangler, he found time to win the "silver sculls." A native of Belfast, Sir William Thomson, as the eminent inventor and electrician was known until 1892, when he was created a baron, held the chair of natural philosophy in Glasgow University from 1846 till 1899, and with the exception of Sir G. G. Stokes he is the oldest Fellow of the Royal Society.

When an old man gets to the point where he forgets that he was once a boy life loses half its charms.

A WEEK IN ILLINOIS.

RECORD OF HAPPENINGS FOR SEVEN DAYS.

A Report that the Joliet Mills of the Illinois Steel Company Would Soon be Started as Non-union Mills Annoys Union Mechanics.

Joliet Unions Are Alarmed.

A report was circulated that the Joliet mills of the Illinois Steel Company would soon be started as non-union mills. It was stated that the steel corporation, having resumed operations at most of its eastern plants, would turn its attention to the western works in Joliet and Bay View. The rumor caused a feeling of disquietude among the men at Joliet, many of whom fear it may prove true, and a hurried call was sent out for the advisory committee of the strikers. A delegation was appointed to interview Superintendent Sheldon. He told the men that he was not at liberty either to confirm or deny the rumor and an effort to secure a statement from him was unavailing. The unions have been so strong in Joliet that no thought of such an attempt had occurred to the men, and the report was the chief topic of discussion at the joint meeting of the strikers in Joliet. Vice President W. C. Davis presided. The meeting lasted from 10 o'clock to 3 in the afternoon, and at its conclusion the men stated that nothing was to be given out. Some of the men indulge in harsh criticism of President Shaffer and claim that his actions are wrecking the association. President David Bowen and Vice President W. E. Davis of Swansea Lodge are out in a card denying the report that the lodge, which comprises the tinplate strikers, would desert the Amalgamated association and unite with the Tinplate Workers' association.

Disastrous Fire at Bardolph.

Bardolph, a village six miles east of Macomb, was visited by a disastrous fire causing a loss of $18,000, with a total insurance of less than $10,000. Losses were as follows: N. H. Jackson & Co., general merchants, on stock and building, $10,000; insurance $5,200. Woodmen and Masonic Lodges, building and contents, $3,100; insurance, $1,200. H. J. Faulkner, three buildings, $1,500; insurance, $900. Fred Maswell, printing plant of Bardolph News, $1,200; insurance, $600. John Paron and Mrs. Sarah Hoagland, hotel building, $1,800; insurance, $1,050. Other buildings received more or less damage.

Klauer Asks for Writ.

H. H. Klauer, through his attorneys, has filed in the Supreme court at Springfield a petition for a writ of mandamus, in which the court is asked to compel Henry Yates, state insurance superintendent, to revoke the license of the Aetna Fire insurance company of Hartford Conn. The petition is voluminous, and many serious accusations of dereliction of duty preferred. The present superintendent is accused of collusion with James R. B. Van Cleave, former insurance superintendent, in endeavoring to aid and abet the insurance company in its alleged violations of the law.

Saves Family From Burning.

The house of John England of Dresser township, near Pana, was destroyed by fire. England started a fire with coal oil and went to the barn to feed stock. He glanced toward the house and saw it in flames. Quickly grabbing a horse blanket and soaking it in a trough of water he wrapped it around himself, ran into the house, and rescued his invalid wife and three children. While leaving the building with the last two children he was struck in the head by a falling scintilla. He was dragged from danger by his wife.

Weddings at Bloomington.

At the First Methodist church in Bloomington occurred the marriage of Mr. Ralph Smedley, a business man of Waverly, Ill., and Miss May K. Lucas, a society girl of Bloomington. Rev. G. A. Scott officiated. A reception followed in the parlors of the church. At the home of the bride in Bloomington occurred the marriage of Dr. W. Helper Streator and Miss Effie Allison, an accomplished young lady, who has been instructor on piano in the Wesleyan College of Music of late years. The groom is a dental surgeon.

Rev. A. H. Hall Dies.

Rev. Albert H. Hall, 81 years old, died at the home of his son, Olin H. Hall, in Evanston. Rev. Mr. Hall was a member of the Methodist church and very energetic in church work before his health failed forty years ago. At the outbreak of the civil war he went to the battle grounds as a nurse. In 1856 Rev. Mr. Hall and wife went to Evanston to live. He is survived by the widow and one son. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the residence. Interment was at Rosehill cemetery.

Colonel Hynes' Wife Dead.

Mrs. Laura King Hynes, wife of Col. D. J. Hynes, died Wednesday at her home in Evanston. Mrs. Hynes was 56 years old and a resident of Chicago and Evanston thirty-five years. During the civil war Mrs. Hynes was very active in the Red Cross work. She went with her husband out on the battlefields and cared for the wounded and dying soldiers. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Grace K. Holland of Evanston and Mrs. Valentine T. Rotschild of St. Paul, Minn.

REOPEN PATIENT'S WOUND

The Doctors Issue Reassuring Bulletin on Matter.

MCKINLEY STILL GAINING.

First Food Was Given the President Last Night—He Has Asked for the Newspapers—Four Cabinet Members Remain at His Bedside.

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The consultation held last night by the physicians in attendance upon President McKinley lasted from 9:20 to 11:20 o'clock. Half an hour after they left the Milburn residence the following bulletin was issued:

"The condition of the President is unchanged in all important particulars. His temperature is 100.6, pulse 114, respiration, 28. When the operation was done on Friday last it was noted that the bullet had carried with it a short distance beneath the skin a fragment of the President's coat. This foreign material was, of course, removed, but a slight irritation of the tissues was produced, the evidence of which has appeared only tonight. It has been necessary on account of this slight disturbance to remove a few stitches and partially open the skin wound. This incident cannot give rise to other complications, but it is communicated to the public, as the surgeons in attendance wish to make their bulletins entirely frank. In consequence of this separation of the edges of the surface wound the healing of the same will be somewhat delayed. The President is now well enough to begin to take nourishment by the mouth in the form of pure beef juice.

"P. M. RIXEY,
"M. D. MANN,
"ROSWELL PARKE,
"HERMAN MYNTER,
"CHARLES M'BURNEY,
"GEORGE B. CORTELYOU,
"Secretary to the President."

The opening of the wound was in no sense what is understood generally as an operation. Several of the stitches were taken out, and after a thorough antiseptic washing of the inflamed tissue, the wound was sewed up again. No anesthetics were necessary. Delay was caused by the fact that a certain dressing desired by the surgeons was not in the house, and it was necessary to send into the city for it. The first time the messenger returned he did not have what was wanted, and he had to make another trip. After the bulletin was issued, Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. Milburn went to the present to dispel any alarm that might have arisen, with positive assurances of the unimportance of the incident. Secretary Cortelyou announced that there would not be another consultation until morning. After this all was quiet at the Milburn house. Dr. Rixey and Dr. Wasdin remained on duty throughout the night.

First Food Given to Patient.
Dr. M'Burney took occasion to announce as an additional evidence of the improvement of the patient that it had been decided to begin to give the President nourishment through the mouth last night instead of waiting until today, as had been intended. Beef extract had been preferred, Dr. M'Burney announced, and it was being administered as the physicians left. Vice President Roosevelt, Senator Hanna, Controller Dawes, Secretary Gage, Attorney General Knox, and other members of the President's official family also were assured this morning that they could leave town with entire safety, and they departed last night.

Four Cabinet Officers Remain.

Secretaries Hay, Wilson, Hitchcock and Postmaster General Smith remained on hand, not at all because there was the slightest anxiety as to the President's condition, but merely that he might have at hand a little circle of trusted friends and officials. There is not the slightest doubt that President McKinley has made a wonderful step toward recovery, and danger to his life seems to have disappeared. The bulletin by the physicians in the afternoon showed a temperature of 100 degrees, a pulse of 100 to the minute, and respiration of 28. The significance of these figures can best be explained by the statement that the danger line on temperature is about 104 degrees, while the normal temperature of a man of Mr. McKinley's age is about 98.6 degrees.

President's Temperature Lower.

Thus it will be seen that the temperature of his body yesterday, only four days after he was shot, was three degrees below the danger line, and within less than half as much above the normal point. Therefore, so far as the surgeon's thermometer shows, the President is much nearer his average condition of health than he is to a dangerous illness. His pulse, also, is approaching a condition which is entirely satisfactory. It was at an average of 100 beats per minute today. The normal would be about 78 beats. Mr. McKinley, however, as is well known to Dr. Rixey, has a peculiar disposition towards a rapid pulse at times, and particularly so during any physical derangement. The danger line on the pulse is fixed at 130 beats to the minute, so that the President's condition, as indicated by the heart action, is much nearer the normal than any one could have predicted.

McKinley Asks for Papers.

The President himself is in remarkable spirits. No one has been allowed to see him except the physicians, his brother, Abner, Secretary Cortelyou, and Mrs. McKinley. This is merely a matter of precaution, however, for the President evinced a strong desire to see the morning newspapers.

May Resume Work Next Month.

Under the circumstances, therefore, it is more than likely that the President will insist on returning to Washington as soon as he possibly can do so. His recovery from the effects of the wound, the attending surgeon says, is a wonderful triumph of modern surgery, and is due more than anything else to the providential promptness with which the necessary operation of sewing up the stomach was performed.

Vice President Off for Home.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Vice President Roosevelt left for his home at Oyster Bay last night, satisfied that the President is well on the road to recovery.

IS SORRY FOR CZOLGOSZ.

The President Is Merciful Toward Assassin.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—President McKinley made inquiries during the day regarding Czolgosz. It was the first time the executive had mentioned the man since he made the attempt on his life, and he wanted to know what had been done with his would-be murderer. When told that he was being held as a prisoner the president said: "He must have been crazy. I never saw the man until he approached me at the reception."

"He is an anarchist," the president was told.

"Too bad, too bad," was the reply. "I trust he will be treated with all fairness."

The president was told that from all parts of the world messages of sympathy had arrived. He was also told that the American public had shown great grief over the misfortune, and had demonstrated that he has a strong grip upon the affections of his fellow countrymen. He was deeply touched and said that he felt himself to be highly honored. To Dr. Rixey he said that he hoped to recover to show that he appreciated all that had been done for him.

BULLET WILL REMAIN.

President Must Carry Leaden Slug to the Grave.

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The President will live, but probably will carry the bullet of the would-be assassin with him to the grave. This is the expressed opinion of Dr. Charles M'Burney of New York in a statement made after the latest consultation of the physicians. He announced that the President had passed the danger point and now only the possibility of complications remained. He also announced that unless the bullet imbedded in the muscles of the back caused trouble there would be no necessity to extract it. In his opinion it would not even be found with the X-ray. The only use of the X-ray, he said, would be to satisfy curiosity. All the other physicians were just as confident after the consultation that recovery was assured. Dr. Mynter said the President was out of the woods and Dr. Wasdin supplemented the figure of speech by adding "with plenty of daylight behind him." Dr. Roswell Parke expressed it this way: "Unless unexpected complications occur we expect him to recover."

Brewers Denounce Assassin.

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—The first business session of the United Brewery Workers' convention was held here today. A resolution was adopted denouncing the attempted assassination of President McKinley. The most important business to come before the convention is consideration of the threatened lockout of union men by the brewers.

Status of Schley Inquiry.

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—Acting Secretary of Navy Hackett has been pressing Attorney-General Knox, both by wire and letter, to appoint one of the assistant attorney-generals to assist Capt. Lemly, the judge-advocate of the Schley court of inquiry in the conduct of the case before the court. The attorney-general, however, has declined to take a step which he believes would look like the government prosecution of the officer under investigation. The government in his opinion should have no part in the inquiry. It is an inquiry under the navy department made at the request of Admiral Schley and the government has nothing to do with it.

Boers Bagged by British.

London, Sept. 11.—The following dispatch has been received from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria: "Since Sept. 2 the columns have again got good results, the total bag being 681, composed of sixty-seven killed, sixty-seven wounded, 384 made prisoners, and 163 surrendered; also 179 rifles, 65,211 rounds of ammunition, 3,400 horses, and 19,000 head of cattle." Lord Kitchener further says that the situation in Cape Colony is unchanged, except capture of Lotter's command reported last week.

Matiny by Steamer's Crew.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 11.—According to news brought by the steamer Tartar from the orient the crew of the steamer Pelgika of Manila mutinied last month at Cebu. They killed Capt. Velasco and the other officers and several sailors and then cast the vessel adrift. The boat was taken in tow by an American gunboat and brought to Cebu.

Killed and Burned in Wreck.

Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 11.—Two persons were instantly killed, two burned to death and one mortally injured in a railroad wreck near here today.

Consolation and Comfort.

Who is it that does not wish to be out in the open air or alive in some field of sport, whether it be with the bat, rod or gun; whether we go coasting over the hills and vales on the wheel or sailing over rough waves or into serene coves, it is all sport, and the springing muscles seem to need it. It is bound to happen that some mishap will occur. Thus it is that we have sprains in abundance. Light sprains, sprains that cripple, sprains that give great pain, sprains that rob us of sleep, but sportsmen of all kinds have come to know that there is nothing better than the old reliable St. Jacob's Oil. Have it with you for use; you may rely on its cure of the worst sprain and restoration to the comforts of life.

Why the Congregation Smiled.

One young theological student is wondering if he will ever become a successful minister. He has his doubts, for his sermons are often rendered ludicrous by an unfortunate slip. He was called to fill a temporary vacancy in a village church last Sunday and gave out as his text: "He that perverteth a shinner from the error of his ways, shall save his soul to life and cover a multitude of sins." Yet he wondered why his congregation smiled.—New York Times.

Answers Absent Minded Men.

Augustus Hare tells this story in his autobiography of a friend, who in some ways, was one of the most absent-minded men in the world. One day, meeting a friend, he said: "Hello, what a long time it is since I've seen you! How's your father?" "Oh, my father's dead." "God bless me! I'm very sorry." The next year he met the same man again, and had forgotten all about it, so began with: "Hello! what a long time since I've seen you! How's your father?" "Oh, my father's dead still."

A Belt Hint.

Here is a tip for keeping your patent leather belt fresh and bright. It was gleaned while talking to the leather goods buyer for one of the city's big stores. This accommodating buyer stated that patent leather can be rejuvenated by polishing the surface with a cotton flannel cloth on which has been dropped a small quantity of olive oil.

FLAT-HOUSE CULTURE.

Civilization of People Not Concerned About Neighbor's Comfort.

Job Hedges says: "Three wise men discussed the highest civilization. One opined that an appreciation of art and music marked the most cultured man. The second said that the philosopher appeared to have the firmest grasp upon civilization—a Darwin, a Tyn-dall, a Huxley, a Spencer. The third, whose life seemed saddened, remarked: 'My brothers, you are theorists. The end of civilization is happiness. The highest civilization, therefore, is found in actual life by people who are not concerned about the comforts of others. To my mind that family which in the ordinary course of house-keeping can succeed in making the most hideous rumblings and noises in trundling their carpet sweepers, which they have brought from the country, etc., and who, not allowing books or newspapers to bind them down to miserable quiet, sit Sunday afternoon and every evening thumping upon floor or wall in such manner as to excite the admiration and envy of the neighbors—that family, I say, possessed of such angelic adolescence and pious tact, can lay claim to a higher degree of civilization than your art connoisseur and philosopher.'"—New York Press.

A METHODIST BISHOP GIVES PE-RU-NA GREAT CREDIT.

BISHOP GRANT, OF INDIANAPOLIS.

Bishop A. Grant of Indianapolis, Ind., writes the following letter:

Indianapolis, Indiana, 3349 N. Pennsylvania Street, Gentlemen—

"I have been using Peruna for catarrh and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone who wants a good medicine."—A. Grant.

Prominent members of the clergy are giving Peruna their unqualified endorsement. These men find Peruna especially adapted to preserve them from catarrh of the vocal organs which has always been the bane of public speakers, and general catarrhal debility incident to the sedentary life of the clergyman. Among the recent utterances of noted clergymen on the curative virtues of Peruna is the above one from Bishop Grant.

Writes His Recommendation for the Famous Catarrh Remedy, Pe-ru-na.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low station that none hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The following letters from pastors who use Peruna speak for themselves: Rev. E. G. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of Greensboro, Ga., writes:

"My little boy had been suffering for some time with catarrh of the lower bowels. Other remedies had failed, but after taking two bottles of Peruna the trouble almost entirely disappeared. For this special malady I consider it well nigh a specific."—Rev. E. G. Smith.

Rev. A. S. Vaughn, Eureka Springs, Ark., says: "I had been prostrated by congestive chills and was almost dead; as soon as able to be about, I commenced the use of Peruna. I took five bottles; my strength returned rapidly and I am now enjoying my usual health."—Rev. A. S. Vaughn.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Our Highest Mountain Peak. Mount McKinley, with an altitude of 29,461 feet, is the highest mountain in North America and forms the central point of an enormous and surpassingly grand mountain mass, situated at the headwaters of the Sushitua and Kuskokwin rivers, in Alaska. Mount McKinley was known to the Russians settled about the head of Cook inlet nearly 100 years ago and was called by them Denali—that is, Big. The first American to see and publish an account of it was a prospector named W. A. Dickey, who gave the mountain its present name.—National Geographic Magazine.

The Elgin Advocate tells how W. F. Dumser saved a man named Bowers from drowning in Fox river last week. A sail-boat had capsized in fifteen feet of water and Dumser swam out and rescued Bowers just before he went down the third time. Now who says Fox river is going dry with fifteen feet of water in its banks.

Norman Rapalee of the Sycamore Advertiser has sold his interest in the business to Johnie Brown Jr. The change took place last Saturday and young Brown started out in the field of newspaperdom. The Advertiser is one of the most thrifty papers in the county and Mr. Rapalee has during his association with it assisted in enlarging it and otherwise enhancing the value of the plant. We hope for the new firm continued prosperity.

Wm. Manville, a 16-year-old boy whose home is in Elgin, was committed to the insane asylum by Judge Southworth Tuesday. His insanity was caused directly from the use of cigarettes, he being an unusually bright boy until the habit got the better of him. Last week he went home and attacked his grandmother, and but for the interference of neighbors his outburst of temper might have proven serious.

Nora, Stephenson county Illinois, although for some time has been exercising its authority as a lawfully incorporated village, is nothing more than a country hamlet. In the incorporation of a village or city there are certain proceedings that must be gone through with and the whole recorded in the office of secretary of State. This is something that appears to have been left undone in the case of Nora and also a number of other towns.

Willie Holtreter was drowned in the river at Belvidere last week on Thursday. He and three of his brothers and two other boys were out in a boat on the river and the craft began to leak so much that they became frightened and all jumped out into the water which was too deep for them to wade. Three of them were rescued and re-suscitated but Willie, being encumbered with a broken hip, was unable to assist himself in the least and was soon beyond recovery.

Here is a little story they are telling on a popular traveling man. He is very fond of honey and the proprietor of the Watseka hotel at which he always stopped always had some on hand for him. On a recent trip he took his wife along and as he approached Watseka he mentioned to her that they were getting to a place where he could have plenty of honey. When they sat down to the supper table that evening no honey appeared, and the Knight of the Road said sharply to the head waiter, "Wher's my honey?" The head waiter smiled and said: "You mean the little black-haired one? Oh, she dont work here now."

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Robert F. Rose School for Shorthand, contained in another column. This is the largest and most successful correspondence school of shorthand in the world, and thousands of excellent shorthand writers through the United States and Canada owe their success in life to the instruction in the "winged art" given them by this school. The instructor, Mr. Robert F. Rose, is one of the leading experts in the shorthand profession in this country. He was the official shorthand reporter of the Democratic National convention held in Kansas City in 1900, and during the campaigns of 1896 and 1900 traveled with and reported the speeches of Hon. William J. Bryan, as the official shorthand reporter of those trips. In this course he will teach you at your home every principle in shorthand used by himself and give personal attention to your work. Write for references and information, addressing L. D.
