The long haired individual who is often seen promenading our streets, and who is under the delusion that his name is "Bill Cody," got outside of so much "fire water" the other day that he became very much tangled up. Before he could straighten himself out, some relentless villain cut off a lock of his hair. And when he discovered his loss—!! !! !! !! !! It would have made Sitting Bull turn pale.

—There many good reasons why you should use One Minute Cough Cure. There no reasons why you should not, if in need of help. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. F. T. Robinson, Genoa; L. C. Shaffer, Kingston.

Did you ever walk along the street evenings and notice the number of young boys smoking the deadly cigarette. There are probably between twenty and thirty boys in this town under the age of eighteen who are victims of this habit or are just commencing. Now is the time for the parents to warn them. Perhaps some don't see where there can be any harm in the little paper roll (coffin nail). Suffice it to say that the habit, once started, is far more dreadful in its results than the drinking habit.

—A. G. Bartley of Magic, Pa., writes: I feel it a duty of mine to inform you and the public that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of a very bad case of eczema. It also cured my boy of a running sore on his leg. F. T. Robinson, Genoa; L. C. Shaffer, Kingston.

The masquerade ball given last Friday evening was a success in every way. A large and orderly crowd was present. Not many of the participants wore mask costumes, but a good time was had never-the-less.

Diarrhoea should be stopped promptly. It soon becomes chronic. DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure is effective, safe and certain. Hundreds of testimonials bear witness to the virtue of this great medicine. It can always be depended upon, its use saves time and money. F. T. Robinson, Genoa, L. C. Shaffer, Kingston.

Last week Messrs Hintze, of Elgin, and Jas. Hutchison, of Genoa, became the owners of the two Colvin creameries, one at Colvin Park and the other near South Riley. The fact that these gentlemen have secured possession of the creameries should be a source of gratification to the patrons. Both Mr. Hintze and Mr. Hutchison are considered the best posted butter men in the country and are noted for their just and upright dealings with their patrons. These creameries will be overhauled and equipped for turning out that gilt edged butter for which Mr. Hutchison is noted.

"A WORD WITH WOMEN."

Dr. Talmage Gives Some Timely Suggestions to the Sex.

He Deplores the Advent of the "New Woman" and Advises Young Women to Get Close to God and Respect Their Mothers.

The following discourse by Rev. T. De Witt Talmage was delivered to his Washington congregation in response to the following letter, recently received, which he used as his text:

CINCINNATI, O.—REVEREND SIR: You delivered a discourse in answer to a letter from six young men of Fayette, O., requesting you to preach a sermon on "Advice to Young Men." Are we justified in asking you to preach a sermon on "Advice to Young Women?" (Letter signed by six young men.)

Christ, who took His text from a flock of birds flying overhead, saying: "Behold the fowls of the air," and from the flowers in the valley, saying: "Consider the lilies of the field," and from the clucking of a barnyard fowl, saying: "As a hen gathereth her chickens under her wing," and from a crystal of salt picked up by the roadside, saying: "Salt is good," will grant us a blessing if, instead of taking a text from the Bible, I take for my text this letter from Cincinnati, which is only one of many letters which I have received from young women in New York, New Orleans, San Francisco, London, Edinburgh and from the ends of the earth, all implying that having some months ago preached the sermon on "Advice to Young Men," I could not, without neglect of duty, refuse to preach a sermon on "Advice to Young Women."

It is the more important that the pulpit be heard on this subject at this time when we are having such an illimitable discussion about what is called the "New Woman," as though some new creature of God had arrived on earth, or were about to arrive. One theory is that she will be an athlete, and boxing-glove and foot-ball and pugilistic encounter will characterize her. Another theory is that she will superintend ballot-boxes, sit in congressional hall, and through improved politics bring the millennium by the evil she will extirpate and the good she will install. Another theory is that she will adopt masculine attire and make sacred a vulgarianism positively horrid. Another theory is that she will be so esthetic that broom handle and rolling-pin and coal scuttle will be pictorialized with tints from soft skies or suggestions of Rembrandt and Raphael.

But I must be specific. This letter before me wants advice to young women.

Advice the first: Get your soul right with God and you will be in the best attitude for everything that comes. New ways of voyaging by sea, new ways of threshing the harvests, new ways of printing books, and the patent office is enough to exalt a man who has mechanical ingenuity and knows a good deal of levers and wheels, and we hardly do anything as it used to be done; invention after invention, invention on top of invention. But in the matter of getting right with God there has not been an invention for six thousand years. It's on the same line of repentance that David exercised about his sins, and the same old style of prayer that the publican used when he emphasized it by an inward stroke of both hands, and the same faith in Christ that Paul suggested to the jailer the night the penitentiary broke down. Aye, that is the reason I have more confidence in it. It has been tried by more millions than I dare to state lest I come far short of the brilliant facts. All who through Christ earnestly tried to get right with God, are right and always will be right. That gives the young women who get that position superiority over all rivalries, all jealousies, all misfortunes, all health failings, all social disasters, and all the combined troubles of eighty years, if she shall live to be an octogenarian. If the world fails to appreciate her, she says: "God loves me, the angels in Heaven are in sympathy with me, and I can afford to be patient until the day when the imperial chariot shall wheel to my door to take me up to my coronation." If health goes, she says, "I can endure the present distress, for I am off the way to a climate the first breath of which will make me proof against even the slightest discomfort." If she be jostled with perturbations of social life she can say: "Well, when I begin my life among the thrones of Heaven and the kings and queens unto God shall be my associates, it will not make much difference who on earth forgot me when the invitations to that reception were made out." All right with God you are all right with everything.

Advice the second: Make it a matter of religion to take care of your physical health. I do not wonder that the Greeks deified health and called Hygieia a goddess. I rejoice that there have been so many modes of maintaining and restoring young womanly health invented in our time. They may have been known a long time back, but they have been popularized in our day—lawn tennis, croquet and golf and the bicycle. It always seemed strange and inscrutable that our human race should be so slow of locomotion, when creatures of less importance have powers of velocity, wing of bird or foot of antelope, leaving us far behind, and while it seems so important that we be in many places in a short while, we were weighed down with incapacities, and most men if they run a mile are exhausted or dead from exhaustion. It was left until the last decade of the nineteenth century to give the speed which we see whirling through all our cities and along the country roads, and with that speed comes health. The women of the next decade will be healthier than at any time since the world was created, while the invalidism which has so often characterized womanhood will pass over to manhood, which by its posture on the wheel, is coming to curv'd spine and cramped chest and a deformity for which another fifty years will not have power to make rescue. Young men, sit up straight when you ride. Darwin says the human race is descended from the monkey, but the bicycle will turn a hundred thousand men of the present generation in physical condition, from man to monkey. For good womanhood, I thank God that this mode of recreation has been invented. Use it wisely, modestly, Christianly. No good woman needs to be told what attire is proper and what behavior is right. If anything be doubtful, reject it. A hoydenish, boisterous, masculine woman is the detestation of all, and every revolution of the wheel she rides is toward depreciation and downfall. Take care of your health. O woman: of your nerves, in not reading the trash which makes up ninety-nine out of one hundred novels, or by eating too many cornucopious of confectionery. Take care of your eyes by not reading at hours when you ought to be sleeping. Take care of your ears by stopping them against the tides of gossip that surge through every neighborhood.

Health! Only those know its value who have lost it. The earth is girdled with pain, and a vast proportion of it is the price paid for early recklessness. I close this though with the salutation from Macbeth:

Now good digestion wait on appetite And health on both.

Advice the third: Appreciate your mother while you have her. It is the almost universal testimony of young women who have lost mothers, that they did not realize what she was to them until after her exit from this life. Indeed, mother is in the appreciation of many a young lady a hindrance. The maternal inspection is often considered an obstacle. Mother has many notions about that which is proper and that which is improper. It is astounding how much more many girls know at eighteen than their mothers at forty-five. With what an elaborate argument, perhaps speeded with some temper, the youngling tries to reverse the opinion of the oldling. The sprinkle of gray on the maternal forehead is rather an indication to the recent graduate of the female seminary that the circumstances of to-day or to-night are not fully appreciated. What a wise boarding school that would be if the mothers were the pupils and the daughters the teachers. How well the teens would chaperone the fifties. Then mothers do not amount to much anyhow. They are in the way, and are always asking questions about postage marks of letters, and asking: "Who is that Mary D.?" and "where did you form that acquaintance, Flora?" and where did you get that ring, Myra?" For mothers have such unprecedented means of knowing everything—they say "it was a bird in the air" that told them. Alas for that bird in the air. Will not some one lift his gun and shoot it? It would take whole libraries to hold the wisdom which the daughter knows more than her mother. "Why can not I have this?" "Why can not I do that?" And the question in many a group has been, although not plainly stated: "What shall we do with the mothers, anyhow? They are so far behind the times." Permit me to suggest that if the mother had given more time to looking after herself and less time to looking after you, she would have been as fully up-to-date as you, in music, in style of gait, in esthetic taste, and in all sorts of information. I expect that while you were studying botany, and chemistry, and embroidery, and the new opera, she was studying household economies. But one day from overwork, or sitting up of nights with a neighbor's sick child, or a blast of the east wind, on which pneumonias are horsed, mother is sick. Yet the family think she will soon be well, for she has been sick so often, and always has got well, and the physician comes three times a day, and there is a consultation of the doctors, and the news is gradually broken that recovery is impossible, given in the words "while there is life there is hope." And the white pillow over which are strewn the locks a little tinted with snow, becomes the point around which all the family gather, some standing, some kneeling, and the pulse beats the last thro, and the bosom trembles with the last breath, and the question is asked in a whisper by all the group: "Is she gone?" And all is over.

Now come the regrets. Now the daughter reviews her former criticism of maternal supervision. For the first time she realizes what it is to have a mother, and what it is to lose a mother. Tell me, men and women, young and old, did any of us appreciate how much mother was to us until she was gone? Young woman, you will probably never have a more disinterested friend than your mother. When she says anything is unsafe or imprudent, you had better believe it is unsafe or imprudent. When she declares it is something you ought to do, I think you had better do it. She has seen more of the world than you have. Do you think she would have any mercenary or contemptible motive in what she advises you? She would give her life for you if it were called for. Do you know of any one else who would do more than that for you? Do you know of any one who would do as much? Again and again she has already endangered that life during six weeks of diphtheria or scarlet fever, and she never once brought up the question of whether she had better stay, breathing day and night the contagion. The graveyards are full of mothers who died taking care of their children. Better appreciate your mother before your appreciation of her will be no kindness to her, and the post-mortem regrets will be more and more of an agony as the years pass on. Big headstones of polished Aberdeen, and the best epitaphs which the family put together could compose, and a garland of whitest roses from the conservatory are often the attempt to atone for the thanks we ought to have uttered in living ears, and the kind words that would have done more good than all the calla lilies ever piled up on the silent mounds of the cemeteries.

Advice the fourth: Allow no time to pass without brightening one's life. Within five minutes' walk of you there is some one in a tragedy compared with which Shakespeare's King Lear or Victor Hugo's Jean Valjean has no power. Go out and brighten somebody's life with a cheering word, or smile, or a flower. Take a good book and read a chapter to that blind man. Go up that dark alley and make that invalid woman laugh with some good story. Go to that house from which that child has been taken by death and tell the father and mother what an escape the child has had from the winter of earth in the spring-time of Heaven. For God's sake, make some one happy for ten minutes, if for no longer a time. A young woman bound on such a mission, what might she not accomplish. Oh, there are thousands of these manufacturers of sunshine. They are "King's Daughters" whether inside or outside that delightful organization. They do more good before they are twenty years of age than selfish women who live ninety, and they are so happy just because they make others happy. Compare such a young woman who feels she has such a mission with one who lives a round of vanities, card case in hand calling on people for whom she does not care, except for some social advantage, and insufferably bored when the call is returned, and trying to look young after they are old, and living a life of insincerity and hollowiness, and dramatization and sham. Young woman! live to make others happy and you will be happy. Live for yourself and you will be miserable. There never has been an exception to the rule; there never will be an exception.

Advice the fifth: Plan out your life on a big scale, whether you are a farmer's daughter, or a shepherdess among the hills, or the flattered pet of a drawing room filled with statuary, and pictures, and bric-a-brac. Stop where you are and make a plan for your lifetime. You can not be satisfied with a life of frivolity, and giggle, and indirection. Trust the world, and it will cheat you if it does not destroy you. The Redoubtable was the name of an enemy's ship that Lord Nelson spared twice from demolition, but that same ship afterward sent the ball that killed him, and the world on which you smile may aim at you its deadliest weapon. Be a God's woman. This moment make as mighty a change as did a college student of England. He had neglected his studies, rioting at night with dissipated companions and sleeping in the class room when he ought to have been listening. A fellow student came into his room one morning before the young man I am speaking of had arisen from his pillow, and said to him: "Paley, you are a fool! You are wasting your opportunities. Do not throw away your life." Paley said: "I was so struck with what he said that I lay in bed until I had formed my plan for life. I ordered my fire to be always laid over night. I arose at five and read steadily all day. Allotted to each portion of the day its proper branch of study, and became the senior wrangler." What an hour that was when a resolution definitely placed changed a young man from a reckless and time-wasting student to a consecrated man who stopped not until all time and all eternity shall be debtor to his pen and influence.

One who has known in storms to sail I have on board; Above the roaring of the gale, I hear my Lord. He holds me when the billows smile; I shall not fail; If short 'tis sharp, if long 'tis light; He tempers all.

THROUGH AN OPEN DRAW

Awful Plunge of a Trolley Car Laden with Passengers.

Drops 100 Feet from Central Viaduct Into the Cuyahoga River at Cleveland—Fifteen Bodies Recovered, Four Missing.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 18.—A south-bound Jennings avenue trolley car, packed with men, women and children, plunged through the open draw of the Central viaduct at 8 o'clock Saturday night. It shot into space with the rapidity of a bullet from a gun. For one brief moment it remained poised in the air. Then it turned over on its forward end and plunged headlong 100 feet down into the dark waters of the Cuyahoga river. One wild shriek came from the interior of the car, which was cut off as the car struck the upright piling below. There came a crash of splintering wood and shivering glass and then all was still as the shattered car, with its load of human freight, disappeared beneath the waters of the river.

Fifteen Dead.

Up to 6 o'clock Sunday evening 15 bodies had been recovered. This accounts for all but four of the passengers known to have been on the car at the time it made its dreadful plunge. The verified list of the dead and missing is as follows:

THE DEAD—James McLaughlin, baseball player, 77 Trowbridge avenue; Henry W. Mecklenburg, merchant tailor, 68 Mary street; Edward Hoffman, conductor, 121 East End avenue; Mrs. John A. Saurenheimer, 76 Professor street; Miss Bessie Davis, school-teacher in Sackett school, lived at 107 Noyes street; Harry W. Foster, clerk for Root & McBride Co., 51 Mentor avenue; Mrs. Minnie C. Brown, 10 Thurman street; Curt Clemens, pianist, 66 Jennings avenue; Mrs. A. W. Hoffman, 30 years old, 1508 Pearl street; Mrs. Martha Palmer, 44 Grant street; Marie Mettgen, 21 years old, domestic, 10 Joseph street; Augusta Sarinski, 27 Central avenue; Gertrude Hoffman, three years old, 1508 Pearl street; Louis F. Hietz, mail carrier, 38 years old.

THE MISSING—Lottie Voth, Branch avenue; Miss Martha Saurenheimer, 63 Merchants avenue; B. C. Page, residence unknown; Matthew Gallagher, Hamilton street.

Got the Signal to Go Ahead.

Augustus Rodgers, the motorman in charge of the car, was arrested at his home and brought to the central station, where he was questioned by the coroner and police officials. He stated that Conductor Hoffman gave him the signal to go ahead. Asked as to how the conductor could have given him the "all right" signal, in the face of the fact that the red light signals, showing that the draw was open, were hung on the closed bridge gates, Rodgers replied that Hoffman probably thought that the draw was just closing instead of opening. Rodgers was released after giving bond for $5,000.

TRADE SITUATION.

How the R. G. Dun & Co. Agency Views It.

R. G. Dun & Co. say: "The scare about gold exports had no real significance, and, although $2,500,000 more will go out, the stock market has been recovering. The collapse of Kaffir speculations abroad has forced many to realize on Americans held, and the impression that our government may have to borrow again also operates to our disadvantage. But the startling fact is that the demand of money markets, stocks are 99 cents per share stronger than a week ago, commercial loans are not large and the demand for moving crops has been remarkably small, so that on the whole the money market has shown very unusual strength and steadiness for the fall season.

"The government monthly crop report has caused, as usual, rather more uncertainty as to its interpretation than previously existed as to crops. Receipts from plantations, 25 per cent. less than last year, if of value, would indicate a crop of over 7,500,000 bales, but organization to hold back the crop renders the comparison of less use. The bottom fact is that even a smaller crop than anybody expects, with the 3,000,000 bales carried over, will assuredly prevent any famine in cotton. Meanwhile the exports decrease 36 per cent. in quantity.

"The startling fact is that the demand for products of iron and steel falls off, notwithstanding the increase in output of pig, and though only a few concerns have closed or reduced work or wages on account of lack of orders, prices are sinking, having declined 27 per cent. for the week and 64 per cent. from the highest point.

"The volume of domestic trade appears from clearing house exchanges 17 per cent. larger than last year, but 114 per cent. smaller than in 1892. The earnings of railroads, 26 per cent. greater than last year for the first week of November and 29 per cent. less than in 1892, are better than for the previous four weeks, and tonnage movements are 12 per cent. larger than in any previous year.

"Failures for the first week of November amounted to $2,971,475, against $2,944,445 last year, and for October show liabilities of $16,537,421, against $11,127,299 last year, and $24,464,132 in 1893. For the past week failures have been 283 in the United States, against 270 last year, and 49 in Canada, against 38 last year."

Political Prisoners Shot.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 15.—A special from Rio Janeiro, dated November 12, says: Persons who have arrived here from Nictheroy announce the shooting there of 27 political prisoners Sunday morning, among whom were two colonels. This has caused the greatest excitement in all circles, and nothing else is talked of. The executed are known to have been in sympathy with the monarchical cause, which is daily gaining ground.

Loses 800,000 Acres.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Secretary Smith decided an important case Thursday, holding that the eastern terminus of the Northern Pacific railroad is at either Thompson, Minn., or Superior, Wis., instead of Ashland, Wis., as has always been claimed by the company. About 800,000 acres of land is involved, which is lost by the company.

SOVEREIGN IS HEARD.

Annual Address of the Head Officer of the Knights of Labor.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The question of admitting certain delegates to the Knights of Labor assembly whose rights to seats were contested on the ground that under the constitution the proper apportionment had not been observed was disposed of Wednesday afternoon, by the admission of Delegate De Leon, of New York assembly district No. 49, and O'Brien, of district assembly No. 30 of Massachusetts. Both of these men are said to be anti-administration delegates, and will aid in the fight to oust the administration now in power in the general assembly. Their admission was a compromise. It appears, however, that the administration people have a very comfortable majority of the votes in the assembly. The report of Grand Master Sovereign was endorsed as read. A synopsis is as follows:

After a lengthy denunciation of the acts of ex-officers of the organization, who, he says, in effect, found nothing too low to stoop to in order to further their own selfish ends and disrupt the order, Mr. Sovereign says:

"To-day, for the first time in many years, our order stands before the world a united whole with an unbroken front, battling for the brotherhood of man and the freedom of labor from the thralldom of greed and the so-called independent movement, which had its origin in selfishness and dishonor, has sunk behind the horizon in the industrial field to be mourned by monopolies of the country who fondly hoped it would crush forever the order of the Knights of Labor.

"Labor is now between the devil and a deep sea, with the devil running down the beach and the tide flowing in. Capital has monopolized the elements of production, and labor is in competition with itself for the right to live, and there can never be exact justice to labor and a final solution to the industrial question while the competitive and wage systems continue to pamper the passions of greed and grind the faces of the poor. A money oligarchy is fast wiping out the last vestige of individual liberty. Construction by judicial authority is already given to law, placing all labor organizations in the category of criminal conspiracies. Misdemeanors of the most trivial character have been raised to felony without sanction of law and used to imprison representatives of labor organizations, and injunctions followed by charges of contempt have been used to condemn labor leaders to the felon's cell without evidence of guilt or trial by jury. The associated banks have declared war on the money of the people, and the whole plutocratic fraternity has invaded the realm of free government and constitutional security. Year by year the laws become more exacting in their application to the poor and more liberal in their application to the corporations and the idle holders of idle capital. Year by year labor grows weaker and more dependent, and the possibility of resuscitation more doubtful. The industrial masses are fast being reduced to circumstances that overshadow independence and manhood with the struggle for bread and shelter.

Mr. Sovereign expresses the belief that the constitution should be liberalized and that the greatest possible measure of home rule and local self-government compatible with the security of the order should be granted to local, state and district assemblies. Throw additional safeguards around the test of membership, he says, by strengthening the obligation, and most of the differences and contentions between members and assemblies will pass away. "I earnestly recommend that this general assembly inaugurate a movement looking to the organization of a national trade assembly composed entirely of farmers and farm laborers. A movement of this kind will enable us to successfully refute the arguments of the emissaries of the capitalistic classes in their efforts to convince the farmers that they have no interests in common with the wageworkers of the towns and cities, and will give to both farmers and wageworkers additional power and prestige.

Mr. Sovereign strongly denounces the organized bankers of the country. He says: "They have boycotted every kind of the people's money they were not forced by law to receive and boycotted every class of citizens their selfish purpose suggested, and at their session recently held at Atlanta, Ga., they turned their batteries against the greenbacks and treasury notes and demanded the destruction of all forms of government money not under their absolute supervision and control, and insisted on their right to issue and supply the people with the currency of the country—a proposition which, if put into effect, will force the industrial masses into absolute slavery to the money lending classes and will enable the associated banks to contract the currency at will, reduce prices, stagnate business, turn labor into the streets, foreclose mortgages and condense collaterals, until the liberties of the people are gone forever and labor so reduced in circumstances that organization, agitation and readjustment will be rendered impossible. This is no idle dream and no stretch of imagination.

"After carefully reviewing the wreck and ruin wrought by the money power and the designs of the sound money clubs which propose bonds and Gating guns for a solution of the labor question, I issued a boycott on the notes of national banks, and if I were to die to-morrow I would declare it the most righteous act of my life. It exposed the unsound money of the sound money advocates, threw plutocracy on the defensive and forced the national banks into a humiliating confession of their preposterous acts of bad faith with the people. And now I urge this general assembly to endorse that boycott and give it every possible force of official sanction. The conflict between the working people and the idle holders of idle capital is inevitable. The wealth of the many is gravitating to the few with increasing ratio, and labor is drifting towards serfdom faster than ever before."

Gold Goes Abroad.

New York, Nov. 18.—L. Von Hoffman & Co. on Saturday withdrew $1,700,000, which they shipped by the steamer Etruria. Lyons & Co. withdrew $70,000, which was shipped on the Prince Wilhelm II. The shipments of gold last week aggregated $3,257,600. They expected no weakening influence upon sterling exchange rates, and it is currently believed that an intermittent outward movement of the precious metal will now occur. The two larger shippers last week are known to have made their engagements reluctantly, but were compelled to send the gold to fulfill their mercantile obligations.

SEEKS A NEW TRIAL.

Holmes' Lawyers Make Argument in His Behalf.

Belief That the Motion Will Be Denied—One of His Attorneys Held to Answer a Charge of Subornation of Perjury.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The argument for a new trial in the case of the convicted murderer, Holmes, was heard Monday morning in the criminal court before Judge Arnold, who tried the case. Like all the phases of this singular case, this ordinarily routine procedure furnished a sensation. Holmes was brought from prison to the court. The weeks of confinement since his conviction have added to the emaciation that was so marked when he was in court before. He has also lost the easy look of confidence that he wore during his trial, and although he was composed his anxiety was plainly visible.

The sensation was furnished by Mr. Shoemaker, one of Holmes' counsel. Mr. Shoemaker presented an affidavit from a witness purporting to be named Blanche Hannigan. In the affidavit the witness swears that she left a cigar store on Calowhill street, near the house where Pitzel was killed, and that she knew the dead man, and that he told her that he intended to commit suicide. District Attorney Graham asked that the witness be called to the stand, and Mr. Shoemaker replied that he did not know where she was.

Then Mr. Graham called a private detective named Swetzel to the stand. The detective testified that Shoemaker weeks ago had written out the affidavit and given him $20 to pay some one to swear to it. Then Detective Geyer was called, and he testified that Swetzel had shown him the affidavit before it was signed. Then a woman was called to the stand who said she was the "Blanche Hannigan" who signed the affidavit.

She swore that she knew nothing about the statements in the affidavit. Her name, instead of being Hannigan, was Rhea, and she is the matron in the Fourth police district. It was at the suggestion of Detective Geyer that she went with Swetzel to Shoemaker and impersonated "Blanche Hannigan." Shoemaker gave her $20 and took her before a notary public and she swore to the statement.

This astonishing testimony that seemed to clearly point to a perjured affidavit evidently surprised the court, and when Shoemaker attempted to make some confused statement Judge Thayer suggested to him that his greatest safety lay in silence. Mr. Rotan, Holmes' other attorney, stated to the court that he knew nothing of the affidavit, and then he began the argument for a new trial.

As Mr. Rotan proceeded it became evident from the questions of the court that the application for a new trial would be refused.

Mr. Graham reviewed the contentions set up by the defense and, step by step, demolished them and in a manner that was absolutely conclusive, shed a flood of convincing light upon Holmes' guilt. The argument consumed the entire day, and the court reserved its decision, but from the questions asked by the judges it seems certain a new trial will be refused.

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Thayer, speaking for the court, said they would give the case their gravest consideration. Then, turning to Mr. Shoemaker, the judge said: "I regret that I now have a very disagreeable duty to perform toward you, a member of this bar and an attorney of this court. In view of the developments of this morning and the testimony of the witnesses whom you have heard concerning the use you attempted to make of the affidavit you procured, the court feels it to be its duty, no other path being left open, to hold you in $1,500 bail to answer the charge of subornation of perjury, and in default of bail to stand committed."

Court was then adjourned and bail was entered at the side bar, Milton Jackson, Shoemaker's father-in-law, becoming the bondsman. Judge Arnold stated privately that the court was contemplating disbarment proceedings, but nothing would be done in that regard until after the disposition of the charge. Mr. Shoemaker declined to be interviewed. He said that the blow was a very cruel and a very sudden one and he felt that his whole future hung in the balance, but he would not discuss it at this time.

NEZ PERCES LANDS OPENED.

No Excitement or Disturbances of a Serious Nature Reported.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 19.—The Nez Perces Indian reservation, Idaho, was opened at noon Monday. There was no firing of guns or any other signals given. No excitement or disturbances of a serious character have been reported. Probably not over 3,000 locations will be made this fall. There was no lining up for a grand rush, but the people at noon were all over the reservation, each on his chosen quarter section. At noon work was commenced by establishing corners and laying foundations. A large number of people were at the land office in the morning, but they were informed that they must locate before they could file claims.

FACTS ABOUT FARMS.

Secretary of Agriculture Morton Makes His Annual Report.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Secretary Morton's third annual report is a briefer document than the two which preceded it. It discusses the work of the several bureaus of the department, asserting that expenditures have been reduced in some of them for the sake of economy and increased in others for the sake of efficiency. Much of the matter of the report has been anticipated in publications from time to time during the fiscal year and since its close. The more important information and recommendations not heretofore made public are subjoined.

Over 1,350,000 animals, cattle and sheep, were inspected for foreign markets, of which 675,000 were shipped abroad. Over 45,000,000 pounds of pork was inspected microscopically and exported, against 35,000,000 in 1894 and 23,000,000 pounds in 1893. Of the amount exported last year nearly 23,000,000 pounds went to Germany and over 9,000,000 pounds went to France. The secretary says on the subject: "The protection of domestic health will be much improved when each purchaser of meats demands and insists upon that which has been generally inspected and certified."

Speaking of the export trade in dairy products of the United States, the report points out the fact that in cheese the United States, while a large shipper to British markets, holds the conspicuously unflattering place in the extreme rear as to quality and price, and as the only one of the competitors for this trade whose business shows a serious falling off. This he attributes to the deterioration in the quality of American cheeses by adulteration with oleo and other ingredients. In butter the United States is out of the race, supplying less than one per cent. of the British demand for foreign butters, notwithstanding the fact that Great Britain imported in eight months $46,000,000 worth of butter.

The work of the weather bureau for the year cost $78,429, and owing to reduced expenditures, which were accompanied by increased efficiency, $55,000 will ultimately be covered into the treasury from the amount appropriated. It is claimed that the warnings of cold waves alone secured from freezing more than $2,275,000 worth of perishable agricultural products which otherwise would have been lost.

Speaking of the work of the division of chemistry, Secretary Morton makes the following vigorous protest: "The people are frequently misled by perverted references to the analysis of this division of adulterated bakers' powders, food products, etc., whose products have been analyzed in the course of investigations of food adulterations or other official work. In the hundreds of advertisements that have been noticed in which the work of this division has been referred to, there is scarcely a single case in which the facts were accurately set forth as officially published. There is therefore just reason for complaint. It seems to the secretary of agriculture that there should be some method adopted by means of which advertising misrepresentations of official analysis, intended originally to protect the people, could be prevented."

Improved road construction is progressing in many of the states, notably in Massachusetts, New Jersey, North Carolina and Kentucky. More than half the states have passed new road laws within the last year, and there is a general effort to ascertain the best methods of developing the county roads, for using the county prisoners or state convicts for this purpose and for organizing state commissions to look after these matters. It is proposed during the coming year to inaugurate the cooperation of agricultural colleges and experiment stations in the object lesson method of disseminating information regarding improved roads. They will be taught to construct model roads on the farms of their experiment stations or on their college grounds, where they can be regularly used, and thus become a lesson to all the farmers who visit them.

The expenditures of the department for the year 1893-4 and 1895 were $1,311,766 less than the amount appropriated for that period. This sum, together with the $200,000 or $300,000 that could be secured from a sale of the property now occupied by the weather bureau, Secretary Morton recommends be invested in the construction of a suitable building for the department.

The report closes with a discussion of "the future of farms and farming in the United States." In which the secretary compares the indebtedness of the various classes of owners. "These figures," he says, "show an enormous and constant indebtedness of the banks and bankers alongside of which the money in farm mortgages and the debts owed by farmers are relatively insignificant. The debts of railroads, bankers, manufacturers and merchants entitle them, and not the farmers, to be called the 'debtor class in America.'"

The average value of farms by the census of 1890 was $2,900. The value of implements, domestic animals and sundries will make a total farm plant of $4,000 for a family averaging six persons. These farms have fed the farmers and their families and 40,000,000 urban residents, besides supplying over $500,000,000 worth of products to foreign consumers.

The mortgage on farm values does not exceed 16 per cent.—a less incumbrance on capital invested than in any other line of industry.

He foretells, confidently, a steady increase in the value of farm lands as the population of the country increases.

LYNCHED.

Post Office Robber Shot to Death in Arkansas.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—The federal authorities here have received information that Albert England, a post office robber, was lynched near Velonia, Faulkner county, Ark., last Wednesday. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Moore and was being taken to Velonia. The officer and his prisoner were suddenly confronted by a gang of nine men, who were armed with Winchester. Seizing England, the mob fired 30 shots into his body and then hanged him in the presence of the officer and his assistants. The members of the lynching party, who were masked, are unknown. J. B. Wilson, ex-sheriff of Faulkner county, while en route to the scene of the lynching, was shot and killed from ambush by some unknown person or persons. It is supposed by the government officers who had been searching for England that his life had been taken by his confederates in order to prevent his telling all about a large number of robberies that for the past year have been committed in Faulkner county.

Life's Varied Sides.

There is a merry side to life; God put it in His plan. A long wry face is not a grace, So laugh whenever you can.

There is a happy side to life; Look for it, downcast man! Don't mope and sigh; brace up and try, For that's the wisest plan.

Perhaps there is a mournful side, Dark clouds we can't see through; But keep up heart, and do your part— Beyond the skies are blue.

SURPRISED HIS FRIENDS.

A Prominent Illinois Man Has a Remarkable Experience.

The Story of the Wonderful Change in Mr. Shepherd's Condition.

From the Pantagraph, Bloomington, Ill.

Mr. A. A. Shepherd, a prominent and responsible citizen of Lytleville, McLean county, Illinois, was taken down with rheumatism about five years ago. He suffered with terrible pains in his hips and at times, when he was able to walk, would fall down when taken with the severe pains. He also had very severe pains in the region of his heart and at times thought he surely would die. He tried a number of good physicians but could get no permanent relief. At times he was down in bed and could not turn himself without help. Was not able to work any amount to anything for five years or more. But now his neighbors and friends are surprised to see him stout and hearty and able to work. In fact he has worked all the present season and worked hard and feels well. He has a number of men at work in the woods this summer getting out cooper material and he has not only overseen their work but has worked with them all the time. Some time last fall while he was suffering so his wife's attention was called to a wonderful cure of a case of rheumatism by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and while in Heyworth one day she stepped into the drug store of Mr. F. H. Hill and purchased two boxes of the pills. After he commenced taking them the pains left his limbs, all the pains disappeared from his heart and he began to improve at once. He can cheerfully recommend them to any one afflicted as he was. Mr. Hill, the druggist, said:

"I have several customers using the Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for the relief and cure of rheumatism, among whom is A. A. Shepherd, whose case has been one of unusual interest and Pink Pills have surely performed a wonderful change in his condition. F. H. HILL, Druggist." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are sold in boxes (never in loose form) by the dozen or hundred at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or directly by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Yellowstone Park Geysers.

Advises just received at the Northern Pacific offices from W. P. Howe, in charge of the lunch station at the Upper Geyser Basin, state that the geysers are playing better than ever. They are much finer than last year. The giant one of the finest in the park, plays to an height of about 250 feet. Last year its eruptions took place once in about five days and continued for 90 minutes. This year it is playing more frequently. Mr. Howe is regularly noting the temperature of the Glandless another of the large geysers. It is also playing frequently and its temperature at time of playing ranges from 193 to 198 Fahrenheit. For six cents sent to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., you will receive a fine tourist book that contains a chapter on the park.

The mountain lies about eight miles northwest from Mammoth Hot Springs, and the Northern boundary of the park runs across it. Send six cents to Chas. S. Nothing in This World

Is so cheap as a newspaper, whether it be measured by the cost of its production or by its value to the consumer. We are talking about an American, metropolitan, daily paper of the first class like THE CHICAGO RECORD. It's so cheap and so good you can't afford in this day of progress to be without it. There are other papers possibly as good, but none better, and none just like it. It prints all the real news of the world—the news you care for—every day, and prints it in the shortest possible space. You can read THE CHICAGO RECORD and do a day's work too. It is an independent paper and gives all political news free from the taint of party bias. In a word—it's a complete, condensed, clean, honest family newspaper, and it has the largest morning circulation in Chicago or the west—160,000 to 175,000 a day.

Prof. T. J. Hatfield of the Northwestern University says: "THE CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."

Sold by newsdealers everywhere, and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st. (3)

G. C. ROWAN AND
EUGENE OLMSTEAD, AGENTS

The Farmer' Mutual,
KINGSTON ILL,

Surprised.
When Miss Marguerite Cliff returned from choir practice last Friday evening she was very much surprised to find her home filled with a company of her appreciative friends. The affair had been very quietly gotten up, and the surprise was complete. The fore part of the evening was spent at a game of progressive cinque, after which the gay company of intruders gathered around Miss Cliff and gave her another surprise. The following poem, composed by Mrs. Kate A. Cozzens, was read by Geo. E. Sisley, and heartily endorsed by all as their sentiments in regard to Marguerite:

There is a flower, sweet, not rare,
That smiles up from our feet.
In purity none can compare
With the Marguerite.

The little blossom we love so well,
Sends forth its lessons in sunny heat,
Nor shirks for want of refreshing shower,
The Marguerite.

Ever as sweet and fresh as dawn,
It sways and gracefully nods to sleep
Without complaint, by dusty road,
The patient Marguerite.

of the little flower, we'll not say much,
So dainty, spotless and neat,
But for a leisure moment or two
Sing of our Marguerite

Dear Marguerite, we who are here,
In friendship, love and truth do meet
To show our sincere thoughts of you
Because you'r Marguerite,
"You must be sure and come to play,"
For no one can compet

In faithful service for waltz or jig
With you, Marguerite.
To-night we'll practice a solo duet,
And through the rain and sleet
Comes the faithful one to play,
Marguerite.

At all our evening gatherings,
Our giddy, flying feet
Ne'er think of tired, aching arms,
That belong to Marguerite.

Always ready to sacrifice,
Pleasures many and sweet,
To play the shott-che for others to dance,
Is Marguerite.

Perhaps we have been thoughtless,
But we would have you greet
Our dearest affection, true and sincere,
Dear Marguerite

To you for your numerous efforts,
To please a score complete,
With orchestra music, best we know,
Accept this, Marguerite.

We could go on and sing your praises
Till they reached the heavenly seat,
But all the words that come to us won't rhyme with Marguerite.

Accept this little gift from us,
And at home or on the street,
We'll shout and sing forevermore,
We appreciate you, Marguerite.

In behalf of her friends, G. E. Sisley then presented to Miss Cliff a beautiful ring, set with emeralds and pearls.

Refreshments were served, followed by dancing for which, of course, Marguerite furnished the music.

How About It?
A few strangers are coming into our town every week, and the first thing they think of is a place to spend their evenings. Genoa has three saloons and a billiard hall which are all right if a man wishes to "hang out" there. But why not give them a chance to choose between good and evil? These young men must have something to occupy their time during the long, monotonous winter evenings. Did it ever occur to the minds of our people that a reading room would be a great benefit to these young men, as well as a credit to Genoa? Think it over.

The Discovery Saved His Life
Mr. Gaillonette, Druggist, Ceaversville, Ill., says: To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with LaGrippe and tried all the physicians for miles around, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it. Get a free trial at F. T. Robinson's, Genoa or L. C. Shaffer's, Kingston.

From Nov. 1, 1895, to April 30th., 1896, the C. M. & St. P. R'y will sell Winter Tourists' excursion tickets to points in Southern States, Mexico & Cuba at very low rates. For further information inquire of J. M. Harvey, Agent, Genoa, Ill.

SAMUEL F. SMITH.

Sudden Death of the Author of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

Boston, Nov. 18.—Dr. S. F. Smith, of Newton, the venerable author of "America," died in this city at 4:50 o'clock Saturday afternoon from heart failure. He was in the corridor of the New England depot and was awaiting the leaving of a train when he was seized with a fit. He sank to the floor in a semi-conscious condition and only spoke a few inarticulate words afterward. Gen. A. P. Martin, chairman of the Boston police commission, who had just arrived at the depot on the way to his home in Dorchester, was one of the first to notice Dr. Smith's condition. He did all he could to revive him, while others summoned an emergency hospital ambulance by telephone. Dr. Smith, however, was dead when the ambulance arrived at the hospital. He had evidently expired within five minutes after the attack. He had been very feeble for some time, but was able to appear out as usual.

Samuel Francis Smith was born in Boston on October 21, 1808. He was graduated at Harvard in 1823 and at Andover theological seminary in 1832. He was ordained to the ministry of the Baptist church at Waterville, Me., in 1834, occupied pastorates at Waterville in 1834-'42, and Newton, Mass., in 1842-'54, and was professor of modern languages in Waterville college (now Colby university) while residing in that city. He was editor of the Christian Review in Boston in 1842-'48, and editor of the various publications of the Baptist Missionary Union in 1854-'69. From 1875 to 1889 he visited foreign lands in company with his wife. He was received everywhere with notable tokens of regard. He made a careful tour of nearly all the missionary fields of the world.

His published volumes have been many and his articles for standard reviews without count. He became proficient in 15 languages, from which he absorbed the sentimental spirit of the best poets, as well as prose and literature. Mr. Smith did a large amount of literary work, mainly in the line of hymnology, his most noted composition being the American national hymn, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," which was written when he was a theological student and first sung at a children's celebration in the Park street church, Boston, July 4, 1832. The missionary hymn, "The Morning Light Is Breaking," was written at the same time and place. His collections of original hymns and poetry and poetical translations have been published under the title "Lyric Gems," the "Psalmist," and "Rock of Ages." He also had published a "Life of Rev. Joseph Grafton," "Missionary Sketches," "History of Newton, Mass.," "Rambles in Mission Fields," and contributions to numerous periodicals.

ANOTHER HORROR.

Detroit Match Factory Burned and Three Lives Lost.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Another fire, attended with terrible fatalities, occurred about 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning, when the factory of the Improved Match company at Bellevue avenue and Frederick street was burned and three lives lost. The dead are:

Reuben Davis, night foreman, 24 years old; single.

John Wagner, night watchman, an elderly man; married.

Agnes Yettke, 17 years old.

After destroying the main building and gutting the smaller one the fire burned itself out. The bodies of Davis and Miss Yettke were recovered, burned beyond recognition. The building, machinery and stock destroyed were valued at $60,000; insured for $8,000.

How Pingree's Plan Works.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Crops to the value of $17,997,300, present market prices, were harvested this year by Mayor Pingree's city farmers. The crop yield was as follows: Potatoes, 61,840 bushels; beans, 1,000; turnips, 3,000; beets, 1,000; corn, 400; cabbages, 4,668 heads; squashes, 400; pumpkins, 500. Five thousand dollars were supplied by the city for the scheme, being spent in preparing the land and buying seed. The allotments were 1,546 this year, against 945 last year. The acreage was 455 this year, against 410 last year. The crops are shown to be four times as great as those of last year, with only one-ninth more land under cultivation.

Held for Murder.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The inquest over the remains of Frank White, who was killed Thursday night by detectives from Berry's agency, while assisting his brother Clarence to get out of town, was reopened by the coroner Saturday afternoon. The jury sat during the entire afternoon, and at the close of its session returned a verdict holding to the grand jury without bail for murder seven of the Berry men, and as an accessory to murder Charles A. Macdonald, superintendent of the agency. Superintendent Macdonald was not present at the murder, but is held for sending his man to do murder.

[CONCLUDED.]

Had we waited patiently in the chamber it would no doubt have been possible to make our way out in the usual manner, but it was too late to think of that now. There was no course open but to go on, so I said nothing about our terrible mistake to my wife, who had not noticed the noise, being in front and absorbed by the spectacle before her.

As regards the modus operandi of the wondrous mechanism by means of which the passage was opened and closed, I can only offer my opinion, arrived at after much subsequent reflection on the subject. In some incomprehensible way the moon's rays, intensified or otherwise affected by the lenses, are able to act on some hidden machinery—probably hydraulic—to such an extent that the huge block of stone is wont to fall and rise periodically at certain seasons, dependent on the lunar phases. Of course this is mere surmise, but it seems to be the simplest way of accounting for the phenomena we witnessed. I am thoroughly convinced in my own mind that it was the lens-frame that governed the movement of the gigantic opercument, and all that it contained, would require a volume; it is impossible to do more than indicate in a fragmentary manner some few special points that a hurried examination enabled us to notice.

Rising to our feet we gazed around in wonder, not unmixed with awe, and then slowly advanced in the direction of the recess, pausing at every step to contemplate the astonishing objects that were to be seen on all sides. The hall seemed tenantless, but when we had crossed about one-third of the floor the curtains concealing the recess shook as though stirred by some unseen hand (or by a breeze) that was to us imperceptible. The drapery, which recalled Zanzibar matting as regards colors and texture, then became separated down the center, each half being drawn upwards as in a theater.

Inside the recess thus disclosed, and almost filling it, was a dais surmounted by a canopy, which shaded a magnificent couch constructed of polished granite, with elaborately sculptured sides, and spread over the surface of the couch were numerous cushions and variegated mats, somewhat resembling given rise to the slightest sign of decay. The glittering eyes that had caused us so much fear turned out to be simply a skillful combination of diamonds and crystal, fitted with minute springs that allowed of an infinitesimal amount of movement in the orbs under the influence of the faintest current of air. In this way the lifeless effect of perfect immobility was obviated, and it was only natural that at first we should have thought ourselves in the presence of living beings.

The left hand of the youthful bride of countless summers was hanging near the edge of the couch, and a ring which no doubt had slipped off one of her fingers, was lying on the floor at some distance from the dais. Happening to catch sight of this ancient gem close to my feet I half mechanically picked it up and it in my pocket. It was a sarras set in gold, and on the inner surface there was a very clearly cut cartouch.

Having by this time almost got over our supernatural alarm we were naturally anxious to examine the royal mummies more accurately, and for this purpose proceeded to ascend the two or three steps which, I should have said before, separated the recess from the remainder of the hall. These steps were wide and shallow, but otherwise not remarkable. Hand in hand we advanced, when all at once dais and canopy, marble couch and mummies seemed to fly up into the air, and before we could realize what had happened we found ourselves sliding down an inclined plane with frightful rapidity, and in darkness as complete as that we had experienced during our imprisonment in the chamber. The revolving stone on which we simultaneously stepped simply swung back into position, while with ever-increasing momentum we shot down, down, apparently into the very bowels of the earth.

How long the awful slide continued neither of us was ever able to say. The suddenness of the occurrence quite startled us out of our wits, though like drowning people we still retained our mutual clasp. At last the rate of progress began to slacken sensibly; had the initial velocity been maintained, we should inevitably have been dashed to pieces at the bottom. Fortunately, however, the speed became gradually less and less as the acuteness of the declivity diminished, till finally it dwindled down to not more than a few miles an hour. Then suddenly my foot struck against something which seemed to give way before the impact, and the next moment we were lying, comparatively uninjured, but absolutely breathless, on a heap of beautifully soft sand under the star-lit sky.

As may be supposed, a long time elapsed before we came to ourselves after this last fearful experience. What we had gone through before was bad enough, but nothing could stand, or even approach, the awful sensation of falling through darkness, in momentary expectation of being destroyed in some terrible manner.

When we were once more sufficiently collected to look about us with something like composure I found that we had emerged in the temple of the Sphinx. It was almost inconceivable that we could have come all that distance underground, but the incontestable fact remained that we had done so. The great block of stone which yielded so readily, to my foot had fallen back into its original position, and was indistinguishable from the rest. It was impossible, therefore, to tell which one it was, though I tried for some time to identify it.

Thus ended this most extraordinary adventure. Sometimes it seems to me like a dream, and the few people to whom we have related it have invariably been politely incredulous. The queen's ring however remains. It is unquestionably a genuine relic of the ancient times, and experts all unite in assigning to it an age that is almost fabulous.

[THE END.]

Consulting the Fates.

There are few nations, and few individuals even, that would now look to the events of chance for any knowledge of the future. A late instance of what used to be a common form of divination was reported in one of the London newspapers at the time when there was war between England and Ashantee. The king of Ashantee consulted his fetish men in order to find out from them what his future fate was to be and the result of his opposition to the English. He, therefore, after having resorted to various means without success, ordered two he goats to be selected and brought before him, one entirely black, the other of a spotted white color. This was done, and after due fetish ceremonies had been performed over the two goats, they were set at each other. The white goat easily overcame and killed his opponent. Koffee Calcalli, after this test, was satisfied that he was doomed to defeat at the hands of the white man. He immediately sent an embassy to Sir Garnet Wolseley to sue for peace.

Insurance in Germany.

According to the Medical Press, in Germany a man who loses both his hands in an accident can claim the whole of his life insurance money, if he is insured, on the ground that he has lost the means of maintaining himself. A loss of the right hand reduces the claim to from eighty to seventy per cent. of the total.

TROUBLE IS BREWING.

Signs of a Gathering Storm Seen in the Orient.

European Powers May Find It Necessary to Discipline the Turk—Stories of Massacres Still Come—An Armenian Uprising.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—A dispatch to the Cologne Gazette from its correspondent in Constantinople says that all of the Christian and Armenian teachers between Erzeroum and Trebizonde have been massacred. It also states that the revolt in Zeitoun is spreading fast and that no Turkish reinforcements have yet arrived there.

London, Nov. 14.—The Daily News prints a letter from an European in Erzeroum, dated November 1, detailing the slaughter there. He estimates the number of victims at nearly 1,000, including some women, and records seeing bodies that had been skinned or otherwise mutilated. The villages in the vicinity, he says, suffered awfully. The massacre was evidently prearranged. A soldier, whom the writer knows, declares that orders for the slaughter were given by the porte.

A dispatch to the Standard from Constantinople says that every day brings news of fresh massacres. It is quite clear if the powers waste additional time in negotiations the need of these negotiations will be passed.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 15.—Five Russian war ships have been ordered to start immediately for the Mediterranean in view of the proposed naval demonstration there arising out of the Armenian question.

Vienna, Nov. 15.—The Fremdenblatt publishes official confirmation of the statement that upon Austria's initiative negotiations are passing between the powers with the object of forming an agreement that no single power shall undertake anything in the east independent of the others, and that all steps shall be taken jointly after previous agreement. The Austrian government is preparing to send several war ships to the Levant.

Constantinople, Nov. 16.—The sultan apparently has not tired of snubbing Great Britain. Quite recently he decorated Bahri Pasha, who had been removed from a governorship at the instance of the British ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, for ill-treating Armenians, and it was said that he was to be appointed to the command of the Turkish troops operating against Zeitoun, where the Armenians have seized the barracks and strategic positions after capturing a battalion of Turkish troops.

It is now announced that three prison officials of Moosh, who were dismissed some time ago upon the demand of the British ambassador, owing to their maltreatment of prisoners, have been reinstated. The British charge d'affaires, Hon. Michael Herbert, has demanded of the porte that the three prison officials be again dismissed.

Constantinople, Nov. 16.—Official dispatches received here contain additional accounts of Armenian lawlessness. It is reported that the Armenians have attacked the villages of Forakh, Bitchli and Brenansis near Zeitoun, firing 57 houses in all. They also burned the village of Kurbel and one Mahommedan was burned alive. Eighteen Mussulmans of both sexes were killed and 15 wounded by the rioters at Tehoukourhissar. The town of Tehoukourhissar was totally destroyed by the rioters. Several Mussulmans villages have been sacked in the Azirion and Tehokmerzemeuk districts.

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—About 800 persons were massacred by the Mussulmans at Kharput, and eight out of 12 buildings belonging to the American missions were sacked and burned. The missionaries, however, escaped.

From Guran, in the vilayat of Sivas where the Kurds have been besieging 4,000 Armenians, it is reported that all the Armenians have been massacred.

It is estimated that 20,000 persons have been massacred since the acceptance by the sultan of the scheme of reform.

Rome, Nov. 18.—A dispatch received here from Alexandretta, northern Syria, says that a massacre of Christians has occurred in the vicinity of that town and in the presence of 300 Turkish soldiers, who did not render any assistance.

Breaks a Billiard Record.

New York, Nov. 16.—Frank Ives Friday night broke all records at billiard tables, with the anchor nurse barred, in the final of five games against Thomas J. Gallagher at Daly's room. He clicked off 483 without a miss, which is the best made since the little anchor boxes were marked on the tables. Notwithstanding his good run, however, Ives lost to Gallagher by the final score of 2,352 to 1,200. The champion was trying to make 3,000 to Gallagher's 1,200.

Indorses Naval Militia.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Assistant Secretary McAdoo has transmitted to Secretary Herbert the report of Lieutenant Niblack upon the operations of the naval militia during the last year. In indorsing the report Mr. McAdoo says that the organizations are growing rapidly in favor and the interest of the public in them is steadily increasing. This organization, founded on patriotic zeal, is entitled to every encouragement at the hands of the government.

WANT IT AMENDED.

K. of L. Would Have Constitution Provide for Election of Supreme Judges.

Washington, Nov. 19.—A resolution relative to the supreme court of the United States, introduced in the general assembly of the Knights of Labor Monday morning, promises to give rise to an animated but rather one-sided argument. It demands an amendment to the constitution, taking from the president the power of appointing members of the supreme court and providing for their election by popular vote. Members of the order seem to think that the election of the highest court in the country by the people would bring the court nearer the common people and result in a better and more equitable enforcement and interpretation of all enactments.

A resolution was adopted declaring in favor of the recognition of the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents.

The amendment to the constitution providing for proportionate representation was discussed and referred back to the committee on law for revision.

During the afternoon the assembly disposed of the amendment relative to the admission of members engaged in the liquor trade temporarily. The constitution was also amended as to exclude gamblers, lawyers, bankers and brokers as at present, and also to exclude all employers engaged in the manufacture of or dealers in intoxicating liquors, but permitting each local assembly to decide for itself whether it will admit barkeepers, waiters, etc., engaged temporarily in the work of dispensing liquors but having no connection with the place where employed as proprietor.

BOOM IN MINING STOCKS.

Brokers in Colorado Springs and Denver Unable to Fill Orders.

Denver, Col., Nov. 19.—A mining stock craze is fully on in this state. Interest in mining shares and market quotations is becoming general and some make the prediction that the wild days of Comstock will be repeated or exceeded before the winter is gone. Three mining exchanges at Colorado Springs, and one each at Cripple Creek and Pueblo seem not to meet the demand and though the Denver mining exchange has dragged along in a feeble way for several years the demand for mining stocks has become so great as to induce the real estate exchange to turn its attention to quotations of Cripple Creek stocks.

The brokers are swamped with orders. One broker complained that he could not fill a single order upon a list calling for a total of 160,000 shares because the stock was not on sale. Brokers in Colorado Springs and Denver are turning away orders which they have no time to fill. This demand for stocks comes from all classes of people, from servant girls to bank clerks, and from staid, conservative business men and investors, who believe that a general advance in the prices of all Cripple Creek stocks is certain to come. Eastern brokers from Chicago and New York are sending in orders for Cripple Creek by wire and mail, and this indicates that the fever for gold stocks is fast attracting general attention. Upon these showings the craze locally has become quite general and the brokers are overburdened with orders.

ILLINOIS ODD FELLOWS.

Members Gathering at Springfield to Attend Meetings of Grand Bodies.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 19.—The city is rapidly filling up with odd fellows, who come to attend the annual meetings of the grand bodies of the order. The grand encampment will meet this morning, the grand lodge this evening and the Rebekah convention Thursday morning. The annual reports of the grand officers show the order to be in a healthy condition. Grand Scribe Smith, in his report, says: "The gains in working encampments during the last year have been substantial, while the loss in membership has not been such as to cause surprise when we consider the dull times, difficulty in obtaining work and the low prices for farm products and wages of workmen."

Grand Master Henry Phillips, in his annual report, says that there are now in this jurisdiction 850 subordinate lodges, with an aggregate membership of 52,000, and 420 Rebekah lodges, with a total membership of 22,000. The grand treasurer, Thomas B. Needles, had on hand November 4, 1895, $32,265.03, which is a very good showing. Grand Secretary Miller's report shows, among other things, that 5,195 brothers and 445 widowed families were relieved during the year. The amount paid for the relief of brothers was $85,298, and for the relief of widowed families $4,683. The total amount expended in relief work during the year was $135,018.

Fire in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Fire was discovered in Fieberborn Brothers' five-story toy and notion store, 817 North Fourth street, at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening. Three alarms brought all the downtown engines to the scene, but they could only prevent the spread of the flames to other buildings. The loss on stock is $0,000; fully insured; loss on building, $20,000; also insured. A mass of wires fell, and in the rush of the crowd for safety a little girl, name unknown, received probably fatal injuries.

THEIR EYES FIXED UPON US WITH A STERN, INQUIRING LOOK.

lum, and I deeply regret that while we were crawling up the gallery I did not observe the construction of the walls more attentively, especially at the lower end, and also along the whole extent.

I said just now that my wife was entranced at the spectacle that met her view on emerging from behind the lens-frame. It was indeed no wonder that this should be so; and when I followed her, after a few moments, I too, was equally stricken with amazement. A vast, lofty hall, decorated in a style, and with a degree of richness surpassing anything either of us had ever seen, appeared before us; everything it contained being clearly visible in the brilliant yet soft toned light. It was octagonal in shape, with a curtained recess in one of the sides; the other seven being thickly covered with sculptured figures similar to the temple coverings of upper Egypt, save that the coloring was superb, and as bright as the day it was first laid on. Interspersed in all directions were glittering trophies composed apparently of jewels and precious stones, while in niches and on pedestals were statues exceeding life size and either made of solid gold and silver, or else thickly covered with layers of the precious metals. To give an adequate idea of the majestic apart-the curtains, but thicker in the woof. Reposing on this regal bier were two human forms, side by side, in a semi-recumbent attitude. Both were clad in sumptuous robes, and on the head of each was an elaborate structure, partly crown and partly tiara. The form on the right hand was that of an old man, with very prominent features and a small pointed beard almost snow-white in color, but his partner was a lovely female in the bloom of youth.

The eyes of the stately pair were wide open and seemed to be fixed on us with a stern, inquiring expression, while the flesh tints and general appearance were so absolutely lifelike that we both sank down on our knees, terrified at the imperial aspect of the mysterious monarch and his bride.

It was not for some considerable time that we mustered up enough courage to approach the dais, but seeing that the figures remained perfectly motionless we at length ventured to do so. On somewhat closer inspection it turned out that our involuntary homage to royalty had in reality been paid to the king of terrors. The two shapes on the couch were mummies, but the embalming process had been so perfectly and artistically carried out that even the lapse of centuries had not Notice the change in the time table of the C. N. W. R. R.

Rev. E. J. Rees was in DeKalb on business Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dunbar were calling on friends in town last Wednesday.

Mrs. S. Bean will reside with Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt at Genoa this winter.

Dell Aurner and Will Hill went to Sycamore on Monday night to bear "O'Donovan's Dance."

Mrs. A. L. Fuller and son and Mrs. D. S. McDonald and daughter were in Genoa Friday.

Two prairie schooners passed through town last week on their way east from Chadron, Neb.

Miss Jessie Munn has been very seriously sick the past few days but at last reports she was recovering.

"Queen Esther" will be rendered at Monroe again on Friday evening. A number from here will probably hear it.

Willard Leonard, who lives north of Genoa, is now making butter for John Colvin at the Base Line Creamery.

The people of Fielding are trying to get the name of their town changed to Fairdale. We should think the present name suggestive enough.

A number of the farmers are having their corn threshed this year. It comes out of the machine husked and shelled.

John Colvin went to Elgin on Wednesday on business pertaining to butter which he has in cold storage there.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Parker combined business with pleasure in a trip to the little village by the lake last week, remaining a couple of days.

Ed. Christian's men from Sycamore have been painting Mrs. Tazewell's house the past week and a decided improvement is the result.

Rag "bees" are now prevalent in town, especially among the women. Scarcely a night passes but that one is held somewhere in the city. But what is that to us.

The sale on W. B. Reynolds' farm last Friday was not very largely attended and bidding was rather slow and low. That however, was no fault of the auctioneer.

A Janesville girl when going upstairs the other day with a lamp in her hand, stumbled on a cat that was lying on the stairs, and fell, breaking her leg and the lamp and setting the house on fire. And the cat came back.

Charles Uplinger will not ship any poultry this year. He finds it too much of a good thing shipping a lot of turkeys and geese for the beneaters of Boston to consume and then losing a heap of money on it.

Remember that a week from today is Thanksgiving. We are very much obliged to you but the editor is afraid that he cannot accept your invitation to eat turkey as he has already promised some one else.

The dam is to be repaired before winter sets in and we hope that when it is done each one will do their share. It doesn't need much fixing, and the work can be done in short order.

George Ault, the popular cashier of Rowan & Ault's bank, at Kirkland, Sundayed in town this week.

Grant Dibble was quite sick at his home west of town with typhoid fever for a number of days but he is now on a fair way to recovery.

Will Stevens who has been living at Henrietta has removed to Genoa as he will work on the section there this winter. They are also entertaining a nine pound son at his house.

J. H. Uplinger will probably remove the post office in the near future from the harness shop into his new hardware store which will no doubt prove a better place for it.

Both L. C. Shaffer and Dunbar Bros. are unpacking their large stock of holiday goods. From what we have seen in either store we should judge that they are the finest lot of goods ever brought to this place.

Theodore Hansow, who formerly lived near Calvin Park and is well known there was married at Belvidere last Thursday, six weeks after his wife who committed suicide on account of his cruelty to her, had died.

While husking shocked corn the other day Orrel Dibble suffered the heavy end of one of the stalks to rise up and well him in the optic. As the end of the stalk was quite sharp his eye was quite badly bruised. He attended to the eye and it is thought that with good care the eye will be all right in a short time.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nerve Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

NO DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe. Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker. When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends." Louisville, Jan. 22, 1896. D. W. HILTON.

50 Cents A Year!

The Chicago Weekly Dispatch has made arrangements by which it has reduced the subscription rate to 50 CENTS a year, postpaid. The rate will be maintained until the circulation has reached 250,000 copies weekly, or until the close of the campaign of 1896. The paper will be continued at the present size of twelve pages and will be a great national democratic newspaper, defending historic democracy, upholding the national democratic platform of 1892, advocating the restoration of the people's money, urging the emancipation of the party from monopoly domination, contending for a return to Jeffersonian principles and battling for the rights of man against the rule of property.

We appeal to all who wish to identify themselves with the common people to send in a subscription for one year at once, and to include one or more persons to whom they would like to send a paper; also to send us the names and postoffice addresses of those who would be likely to subscribe.
