GIRLS WIN! WHOOP LA!

GENOA TEAM TAKES HONORS FROM BELVIDERE

First Defeat of the Latter Team in Two Years—Genoa Boys Lose their Game—Play in Rockford Tonight

Ya Ya Kil! Ya Ya Kil!
Boom a lack, boom a lack, Genoa High!
Razzle dazzle, rah! rah!
Razzle dazzle, rah! rah!
Cannon ball, zipl boom! bah!
Genoa High School, rah! rah! rah!

There was one time a basket ball team in the Boone county city of sewing machine fame, which had not swallowed the pill of defeat for many moons. In fact so frequently and long had the cup of victory been placed before them that they had almost forgotten that there must at times be a little bitter with the sweet. This team is composed of several damsels of the Belvidere high school, all of whom, we must confess, knew a thing or two about the fascinating, exciting and invigorating game. But, listen, gentle reader, while these little girls of Boone have been having their own way with many easy teams about the country, there has been something doing in the city of telephones and shoes. In the Genoa high school are six or eight maidens, of the healthy, rosy cheek, alert class, who have learned a great deal about the basket ball business this winter. And it remained for this team to hand the bitter pill to the over-confident visitors last Friday night.

The house was packed to the limit. Everyone expected that the Belvidere girls would win, but were looking for a close game between the boys. Not long after the first toss-up the spectators realized that the Genoa girls were playing a fast and winning game and the excitement became intense. It was a battle royal and it was nobody's game until time was called. When the crowd fully realized that "our" girls had actually won the game, pandemonium broke loose. The demonstration would have put in the shade the efforts of a band of Comanche Indians. How so much noise could be confined to so small a space without raising the roof is a mystery.

Every one of the girls played a star game. They were in it at all times and blocked every effort of the Belvideres to repeat former tricks in team work. Ruby Porter played her first game with the team and proved her ability to travel in that class. Anna Kieran could take care of two opponents at any time if necessary, while Maggie Hutchinson seemed to be all over the field every second. Sabie Leonard threw goals with ease and Louise Stewart played center to perfection, getting the best of the toss-up nearly every time. The score was 26 to 24.

The boys played hard enough to defeat the ordinary team, but the Belvidere bunch was not of that class and to defeat them requires more than ordinary playing. The team work of the visitors was excellent and they worked it despite the fast work of the Genoa boys in attempted blocking. Guy Brown played the star game for Genoa, missing few free throws and making nine. Harvey was not in his best form and missed many throws, but we cannot expect a player to be on edge all the time. All must have their "off" days. The Genoa team lost by a score of 40 to 29.

This will be the last game in Genoa for several weeks. The teams go to Rockford tonight.

Following is the line up and score in detail:

LECTURE COURSE

Ladies' Quartette at Opera House Monday Evening, Feb. 20

The next number of the high school lecture course will be given in the opera house Monday evening, Feb. 20. This attraction is called the Lyceum Ladies Concert Co. This ladies quartette consisting of Nellie R. Timmons, May C. Tinker, Sadie Spaulding and Bessie Guion Drake, comes to us highly recommended. These ladies not only furnish excellent quartette music but also give us musical novelties, impersonations and various entertainments. Genoa should give them a crowded house next Monday evening. Tickets will be on sale at Hunt's Pharmacy Saturday and Monday. The following is taken from the Emden News, Emden, Ill:

CHICAGO LADIES PLEASE

"On Friday evening the Glazier Chicago Ladies Concert Company appeared at the Emden opera house, rendering one of the very best programs, consisting of musical numbers and readings, that has ever been the pleasure of our people to enjoy. The audience was thoroughly delighted with every number, and was so enthusiastic in encore that the ladies were forced to respond regularly. The program, like unto each member of the quartette was devoid of that cold, stiff formality and classical chill that on general principles repulse an audience, which cannot but win the best grace of their patrons.

They have an originality and style of their own; their productions are of the highest grade perfectly rendered and especially adapted to appeal directly to their auditors."

A Sleigh Load

A sleigh load of young people were pleasantly entertained at the home of Howard Crawford of New Lebanon last Friday night. The evening was passed in playing games and refreshments were served. The merry guests departed reluctantly at 11 o'clock.

A SAD DEATH

Mrs. Hattie Griggs Passes Away after Short Illness

The community was shocked Saturday to learn of the death of Mrs. Hattie Griggs which occurred at her home in Plato township, at a little after seven o'clock that morning. Mrs. Griggs was sick only a few days, but she was a victim of that relentless disease, pneumonia, which is taking so many good people this winter. Her son was also very ill with the disease, but is now recovering.

The funeral services were held Tuesday forenoon of this week at ten o'clock at the home of Mrs. Griggs' mother, Mrs. Abbie J. Patterson, and at the M. E. church at 10:30. The services were conducted by Rev. T. E. Ream, assisted by Rev. Thomas Gee, the pastor of the deceased. Interment took place in the Genoa cemetery. Several were present from Elgin, Sycamore and Plato.

The following sketch was read by Rev. Ream at the funeral:

"Our deceased sister, Mrs. Hattie Griggs, maiden name, Patterson, was born on the 'home farm' in Genoa township on the 1st of October 1859 and died at her home in Plato township, Kane county, February 11, 1905, being 45 years, 4 months and 10 days of age at the time of her death.

"She was united in marriage to Mr. Eugene H. Griggs, December 15, 1877. A short time after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Griggs left Genoa and made their home in Plato township where they have made their home for nearly 27 years.

"Into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Griggs, three children were born, two sons and one daughter, all of whom survive their mother.

"In her girlhood, Mrs. Griggs passed several years in this community, and is well known to a great many in Genoa and vicinity, and her almost sudden and unexpected death came as a great shock to her many relatives and friends here who sincerely mourn their great loss.

"Besides the members of her own immediate family, which include her bereaved husband, Mr. Eugene H. Griggs, her two sons, John and Leslie, and her little girl, Jessie, all of whom are bowed down in their deep sorrow over their unspeakable loss of wife and mother, Mrs. Griggs leaves many other relatives residing in this community. In her mother's family, she leaves her sorrowing mother, Mrs. Abbie J. Patterson, two sisters and three brothers. Her sisters are Mrs. Milton Corson of Ney, Ill. and Mrs. Nellie Stevens of Miller, S. D. Her brothers are Mr. J. A. Patterson, J. L. Patterson and Geo. J. Patterson, all residing in Genoa. There are also many relatives in this community.

"Mrs. Griggs was a beautiful Christian character and was beloved by all who were favored with her acquaintance. She was a true, faithful and helpful wife, a loving, sympathetic mother and her Christian character always displayed itself in her every day life. She was a member of the M. E. church at Virgil (Plato Center charge) at the time of her death, and as she was leaving this world for the better world above she said, 'In my Father's house are many mansions! She was fully prepared to go to her 'Long Home' and with these loved ones who live, the precious memory of her will be, 'One less on earth, but one more in heaven.'"

E. H. Griggs is quite ill at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Abbie J. Patterson.

RESIDENT FIFTY YEARS

JOHN R. CORSON CAME TO ILLINOIS IN 1855

Died Thursday, Feb. 10, at His Home in Ney, Aged Almost Eighty Years—Funeral Sunday

John R. Corson, for fifty years a familiar figure in this part of the county, died at five minutes past the noon hour, Thursday, Feb. 10, at his home in Ney, surrounded by his children. He has been in failing health for several years, but most particularly during the past few months has his decline been rapid. During the last sad hours there were many times when he did not recognize those dear ones about him and then again he would seem to rally and understand all that took place.

The following sketch of the life of the deceased was taken from the DeKalb county biographical history, published by the S. J. Clarks Co. in 1898:

John R. Corson grew to manhood in his native county, where he received his education in the district schools, attending during the winter months. Before the age of thirteen he had learned the blacksmith's trade in his father's shop, beginning so young that he had to stand on a step to blow the bellows. At the age of thirteen he was an expert horse-shoer and during the busy season, has made thirty-two horseshoes and two hundred nails in one night. He worked all day and had little rest or sleep. For a number of years the family moved from place to place and he accompanied them. At the age of twenty-one he left home and went to Culpepper county, Virginia, where he remained three months and then opened a shop at Tivola, Pennsylvania, where he remained six years. In the fall of 1855 he came to Illinois and after spending a few months in Kane county, in the spring of 1856 he came to DeKalb county and bought his present farm, at which time one could not have cut a riding whip on the place, it all being all covered with waving prairie grass.

On the 15th of February, 1849, in Munice, Pennsylvania, Mr. Corson was united in marriage with Miss Sarah M. Craft, a native of Munice, born January 8, 1831, and a daughter of Samuel Craft, a native of the same county, who married Margaret Hartman, a daughter of John and Margaret (Spring) Hartman, from near Reading, Berks county, Pennsylvania. Samuel Craft was the son of William Craft, a native of Connecticut, who married Sarah Alward. They become the parents of thirteen children, of whom four sons and three daughters are now living. To Mr. and Mrs. Corson six children have been born, the first dying in infancy unnamed. (2) Clara M. grew to womanhood and May 15, 1890, married David Piper, born near Rutland, Vermont, November 18, 1833. (3) Caroline C. married Robert M. Williams and now lives in Bedford, Iowa, and they have six children, Jennie E., Bertha M., Harry E., Earl, Sadie and Winifred. (4) Marietta mar-

Elgin Again Flooded with Bad Money—Trains Start on New Road Through Kirkland.

Elgin has again been flooded with the spurious money and the secret service officers are about town trying to pick up a clue that will lead them to the man. It will be a difficult task, as there are very few who remember who passed the bills. When discovered the man had a good start and from whom the particular bill was received they could not state.

Trains will start on the new I. I. & M. road thru Kirkland on the 13th of this month.

If the city council of Chicago passes the necessary ordinance, the cars of the Elgin-Aurora line will hereafter run to Fifth Avenue over the Union loop.

The post offices at East Plato, Plato Center, McQueen and Youngsdale, are ordered discontinued. They are covered by the rural routes from Elgin.

The barn on the Cyrus Getzelman farm, nearly two and one half miles north of Hampshire, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Wednesday evening. The damage to grain and live stock was $1,500.

Creditors of the Citizen's Bank of Union are elated today over prospects of securing payments on certificates of deposit which were issued by the former owner, R. E. Rich, before the institution was sold to Banker Settle, who disappeared with all the funds. These certificates amount to nearly $10,000.

DeKalb Review: Don't expectorate on the public sidewalks. No true gentlemen will do it anyway, but it will soon be against the ordinance as well as against the laws of refinement. The city council passed such a provision at its recent meeting, and people guilty of this offense will be subject to a fine. The ordinance will soon go into effect, so get into the habit of gentlemanly manners and save a call from the big blue-coats.

An Indiana man has been granted a patent for an automatic contrivance for use on rural telephone lines where there are more than one subscriber on a line. It is constructed that when one subscriber of a party line calls another all other subscribers are automatically cut off, the circuit being opened again when the parties are through talking. It will entirely do away with "eaves dropping," which has been the bane of rural telephones for years.

A gang of surveyors and Geneva laborers began work Tuesday morning on the grounds where the much talked of shoe factory at Geneva is to be located. It is planned to make the factory one of the largest in the state, and will occupy many buildings, the first to be complete about April 1. The factory has not begged any concessions and will make a great boon to the town which has recently lost the big Glucose works.

Little One Taken

The five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Duval, who reside on Jas. Wyld's farm north of Genoa, died Monday noon. The funeral was held at the German Lutheran church Wednesday, Rev. J. Molthan officiating.

If you want to buy a house or a lot or a farm worth the money, call on or address D. S. Brown at the Exchange Bank, Genoa, Ill.

WITH the declaration that they are shocked at the indulgence of their neighbors in profanity, fifty men in Waterbury, Conn., have formed the "Oathless Club." Among the members are several merchants. A saloon keeper is also on the list. The society proposes to stop, if possible, the use of all bad language. The forming of such a club is not so meaningless as one would at first imagine. Swearing and cursing is one of the most useless, nonsensical and growing habits that exist. The habit becomes so strong with some men that they can not keep up their end in an ordinary conversation without embellishing every sentence with a few cuss words. They do not mean any harm by it and for that reason it sounds more foolish.

THE patent office is one of the few bureaus of the government that pays its way and adds to the government revenue. Since 1837 it has been turning into the treasury large sums of money, the amount this year approximating $20,000. This, it will be understood, is a surplus after all the expenses of the department are paid. It is stated in the patent office that the year 1904 will exceed all others in the number of patents issued. More than 35,000 were issued in 1903, but the figures for 1904 will be in excess of 35,000. This gives some idea of the mechanical progress of the United States.

THE bill which is now before the legislature, prohibiting Sunday hunting, has created a stir among the Nimrods of the state. It will cause a bitter contest before becoming a law. Numberless petitions will be forwarded to the representatives urging them to vote against its adoption.

THE New York World says Chicago University has discarded the doxology and substituted the following:

Praise John from whom all blessings flow;
Praise his oil, creatures here below;
Praise his oil, ye Midway Host!
Praise William some, but John the most!

HAVE you noticed how many senators are looking for honors in the war being waged against the trusts? Queer they never got busy until Roosevelt said "go." According to the Chicago Examiner the credit belongs to Willie Hearst.

THERE may be no good reason for Germany and Great Britain to be making faces at each other. But then, we should bear in mind that it is difficult to overcome these annual spats.

THE prospects are bright for another substantial boom in Genoa this season. Knockers please take notice. If you come out and see your shadow, go back for the season.

If everyone was called upon to prove every statement that was made reflecting upon the character of other people, it would put the gossips out of the business.

SWEET dreams Genoa people now indulge in of taking flying trips over the electric lines to Elgin, Sycamore and Belvidere—shall we awake to find it true?

At least Johaun Hoch, the much married man, must be given due credit for his nerve. Think of it—thirty-seven wives—and he still smiles.

MR. Bryan has secured an editor for the Commoner. How can that publication ever exist without Bryan's individuality behind it?

WHERE are those annual reports of the Michigan peach crop freeze-out?

DID you spot the sun spots last week?

ARISTOCRATIC BLOOD.

Is Noble Blood Better than Common Blood?
BY DOCTOR VALENTINE.

It is often said that he has aristocratic blood in his veins which lifts him above the common herd and every one is impressed. However, a long line of aristocratic ancestors is not worth a pint of good, rich blood. A healthy father and mother, or a long line of healthy ancestors is much better than noble ancestors. Strenuous blood is the thing, and that means plenty of red blood corpuscles. If the blood must be in active, healthy condition, what is the best way to set about putting it into a better condition? Certainly we should not turn to some blood medicine or tonic which contains a great deal of alcohol, inasmuch as alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles. In order to put the blood in the best condition we must eliminate the bacteria from the body in the best way possible. The kidneys and liver play an important part in this and must be urged to their utmost action to assist in carrying away the poisons in the blood. The only medicine we know of to do this in the best way and at the same time put the stomach in a healthy condition so that the digestive tract will take from the food what is needed to feed the blood, is an old remedy but a good one—it is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It contains no alcohol and offers a reasonable and scientific method of treating the stomach and blood—and helps to keep the balance of health.

CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE

Mrs. Henry Clark Awarded $2,000 in Court at Sycamore Thursday

The claim by Mrs. Sarah Clark against the J. Y. Stuart estate had the attention of the court at Sycamore for several days. Mr. Clark also had a claim against the estate and it has not been heard. They claim that for five years previous to the death of Mr. Stuart he lived with them and they took care of him. For these services the complainants asked $3,000 for Mrs. Clark and $1,000 for Mr. Clark. A great many witnesses were heard which took considerable time. The case went to the jury about the middle of Thursday afternoon and they were out until about 9:30 o'clock that night, when they returned a verdict allowing Mrs. Clark $2,000 rendered Mr. Stuart. The claim of Mr. Clark has not been tried, and it is thought by some that it will be settled.

Will Cut Down Fees of Postmasters

An estimated saving to the government approximately of $100,000 is expected to result from an order issued by Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden directing a change in the methods of all postmasters in accounting for revenue from the sale of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers. Heretofore postmasters have been required to account for schedule value only the total number of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers sold, and have retained for other purposes, sums which accumulate in the fractions of a cent gained when such envelopes or wrappers are sold singly or in odd quantities. Hereafter every cent so gained must be accounted for.

Grave Trouble Foreseen

It needs but little foresight to tell that when your stomach and liver are badly affected grave trouble is ahead unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young of Clay, N. Y. did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by Hunt's Pharmacy, at 50c a bottle.

GEO. H. HUNT SUCCESSFUL

Induced Dr. Howard Company to Make Special Price

After a great deal of effort and correspondence, Geo. H. Hunt, the popular druggist, has succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to make a special half-price introductory offer on the regular fifty cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but it makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles, that Mr. Hunt is willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

The old-fashioned idea of dosing with mineral waters, cathartic pills or harsh purgatives will soon be a thing of the past. The best physicians are prescribing Dr. Howard's specific because it really gives the desired results and on account of the small and pleasant dose that is needed.

Headaches, coated tongue, dizziness, gas on the stomach, specks before the eyes, constipation, and all forms of liver and stomach trouble are soon cured by this scientific medicine.

So great is the demand for this specific, that Mr. Hunt has been able to secure only a limited supply, and everyone who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon him at once, or send 25 cents and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half-price offer, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

CONDENSED STORIES.

Why Secretary Morton Never Ate Snails in Philadelphia.

Paul Morton, secretary of the navy, recently went to Philadelphia to attend a dinner given by a few of his old railroad friends.

Among the guests were President Underwood of the Erie and John P. Green, first vice president of the Pennsylvania. Naturally the subject of the slowness of Philadelphia came up and was discussed freely. After several of the railroad men, including Secretary Morton, had said a few things about the staid Quaker town Mr. Green took up cudgels for Philadelphia. He made an elaborate defense, showing that

"I SUPPOSE THEY ARE TOO SLOW TO CATCH THEM."

Philadelphia is one of the most progressive, up to date, enterprising cities in the country.

President Underwood listened attentively. When Mr. Green had finished, Underwood said: "I don't see how you make all that out. Why, this afternoon I went into a bookstore on Chestnut street and found they were selling that book of Pastor Wagner's, 'The Simple Life,' under the title of 'The Pace That Kills.'"

Further along in the dinner good things to eat came under discussion. Secretary Morton announced his fondness for snails.

"I eat them in almost every city in the country, but never in Philadelphia."

"Why not here?" asked Mr. Green.

"Oh," replied Mr. Morton, "I can't get them. I suppose they are too slow to catch them."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Fond Memories.

A young Oxford student one day received an unexpected visit from his pretty sister and was very indignant that she came without a chaperon. "Look here," said the young man, "I will not have any of the fellows see you in my rooms, so if any one knocks at the door you just get behind that screen. In a few minutes a knock was heard, and the girl ran behind the screen as her brother went to the door. An old gentleman stood on the threshold, who, after profusely apologizing for his intrusion, said: "I am just home from Australia, and many years ago I occupied these rooms. Would you allow me, sir, to look at them once again?" "Certainly," said the student. "Come in." "Ah!" exclaimed the old man. "Everything is just the same. Same old table, same old fireplace, same old screen." Then, catching sight of the girl: "By Jove! Same old dodge." "Sir!" exclaimed the student. "That is my sister." "Gad, sir," was the rejoinder, "same old lie!"—London Tatler.

Deafness an Advantage.

Former Attorney General Griggs of New Jersey was in attendance at a public meeting where the chief orator of the evening was a long winded individual who was quite deaf. He wore out the patience of everybody in the hall, and it seemed as if he would really never conclude his remarks. In the midst of it one committeeman turned to the other and said:

"He really thinks that he is a splendid orator."

"It's a pity he's deaf," promptly rejoined the other. "If he could hear himself talk, it would very quickly cure him of that hallucination."

THE MAN MORGAN WANTED.

"J. Pierpont Morgan is a quiet man," said a Wall street broker. "He speaks only when he has something good to say."

"Recently he wanted to get a superintendent for a certain new department that he had established. He thought he knew the man for this superintendency, an assistant to one of his colleagues. He sent for the colleague and said:

"I am setting up, you know, a certain new department. I shall want a new superintendent. I think Brown, in your office, would fill the place very well indeed."

"I am sure he would," said the other. "The only trouble is, Mr. Morgan, Brown can't be spared."

"Mr. Morgan's eyes lit up, and he smiled.

"I don't want a man that can be spared," he said."—New York Tribune.

An Indian's Advice.

The following is a statement made by a full blood who is well posted on Indian affairs: "Government safeguards have been the bane of the Indian. Instead of being taught to rely upon himself he has been encouraged to be dependent. The government should have pushed him off to his own resources long ago, as a cow does her calf when it is old enough to rustle for itself. The government should have given the Indian 160 acres, together with a mule and a plow, in the beginning and enjoined him to 'root, hog, or die.' Turn him loose. Let him go and work out his own salvation. Sentiment and misguided philanthropy will never save him. He must save himself."—Kansas City Journal.

Gondola Willie.

When Emperor William was younger he used to sound alarms at odd hours and turn up all available army corps to march past or maneuver when they least expected it. On one such occasion the garrison included a detachment of submarine crews, and the emperor came along accoutered as an admiral.

He was standing among a group of shivering officers when one veteran took him for some other worthy sailor. He slapped him on the back. "I see that Gondola Willie has fished up the aquarium this morning," he observed pleasantly.

They attribute the cessation of sudden alarms to that incident.

Legend on a Man's Arm.

"Falsehood, thy name is woman," is tattooed on the arm of a convict who has just escaped from prison in Gratz. The police have advertised a description of him, of which the above tattoo mark is the most salient feature.—London Express.

His Idea of It.

Sunday School Teacher—Reginald, can you repeat the shortest commandment? It has but four words.

Reginald—Keep off the grass!—Smart Set.

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Tedford's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

Pittsburg, Kas., March 25, 1904.

I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock for some time. I have used all kinds of stock food but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose. J. S. HASSON.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

How to Be a Weather Prophet With the Aid of the Moon.

A clear moon indicates frost.
A dull looking moon means rain.
A single halo around the moon in dicates a storm.

If the moon looks high cold weather may be expected.
If the moon looks down warm weather is promised.

The new moon on her back always indicates wet weather.

If the moon changes with the wind in the east, then shall we have bad weather.

If the moon be bright and clear when three days old fine weather is promised.

When the moon is visible in the daytime, then we may look forward to cool days.

When the points of the crescent of the new moon are very clearly visible frost may be looked for.

If the new moon appears with its points upward, then the month will be dry, but should the points be downward a good deal of rain must be expected.

Peanut Hunt.

The time is now here for indoor games, and about the jolliest of these is a "peanut hunt." A hundred or more nuts must be provided. Some of them are rolled separately in violet colored tissue paper, while yellow tissue paper is twisted about bunches of three or four together. These bundles of nuts are well hidden in nooks underneath chairs, under rugs, behind pictures and in many other places that will suggest themselves to the giver of the party. When ready for the hunt each player is given a silk bag in which to place his "game." The one who first fills his bag wins the first prize, the one who has the most violet covered nuts gets the second prize, and to the one finding the most yellow covered nuts is awarded the booby prize.

A Good Trick.

Place the lighted candle in front of him and, putting to his lips a large tin funnel, with the center of its mouth opposite and near the flame, tell him to blow through that. He may blow until he becomes black in the face without extinguishing the candle.

After he has given it up put the funnel to your lips and blow out the candle by bringing the rim instead of the center of the funnel near the flame.

When you blow through a funnel your breath spreads and follows the conical surface, leaving a region of dead calm in the center.

The Butternut.

The butternut is a variety of walnut and is well known in this country. It is sometimes called the white walnut. Its fruit is oily and not as generally liked as that of the English walnut. It is a smaller tree than the black walnut. From its sap sugar may be obtained. The inner bark and leaves are used for medical purposes.—Normal Instructor.

Making Ink Pictures.

Did you ever dip a pen in different kinds of colored ink and spatter it around on a piece of white writing paper, which is then folded directly in the center of the splashes of ink? Try it, and you have no idea what a pretty colored picture will be the result.

Through the Lattice.

One day when little Herman came to the table he noticed an apple butter tart with strips of pastry crossed on the top.

"Oh," he exclaimed, "I want a piece of window pie!"—Little Chronicle.

Our Dog.

Our little dog is very smart. He begs for cake and pie. By trotting round on his hind legs. So cute, when we are by.

His paws he droops and wiggles them. And wrinkles up his nose. And all us youngsters shout and scream. To see him on his toes.

The baby creeps and pulls his ears. And cuddles down to sleep. And, though we call and whistle low, Close watch does Towser keep.

We're awful proud! Jim's great big Dane. "Must uses" all his legs, While ours, with two, can waltz and dance. And with his front ones begs.

When You Have a Cold

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy liquifies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by G. H. Hunt.

The Weekly Fashion Letter

Red walking suits are as popular as the many tones of brown and green.

Quite smart is a walking gown of red corduroy, a rich, deep shade almost a plum. The dress is simply made with a plain circular skirt and Norfolk jacket.

Spangled ball dresses of scarlet tulle are very effective and becoming. There is a certain brilliancy about a frock of this color found in no other tone when worn by the right person.

In reception gowns old rose and red are colors often employed to carry out charming creations.

Cashmere of a new and glorified weave is high in fashionable favor.

Sets of this kind made up in handsome satin ribbon are among the many presents given the new baby.

"Good luck" toilet sets of white celluloid decorated with a four leaf clover in light green enamel are new and pretty.

Measuring sticks painted with baby figures and lettered in colors "How tall will baby grow?" are to be found in the shops.

The latest fad in baby modes is to have the outside of the infant's carriage and the lining match exactly.

are indispensable articles in the layette.

The waist illustrated is of nun's veiling. The fronts, which have a surprised effect, are slipped on the shoulders, draped about the figure and fastened with two black velvet bows.

The velvet is also used to outline the chemise of lace. The sleeves are puffed over lace cuffs.

MILLINERY HINTS.

There is a new and pretty turban toque very broad and round in shape. The outside brim is very tall, being built up with layers of white malines. The same material is puffed and ruched answering to the old name of serge. The new blue is a happy mingling of navy, Russian and cadet blue tints. A gown of this blue serge is stunning with a bright shade of red used for vest, deep cuffs and skirt strappings.

Smart tailored frocks have lost much of their air of severity. Some of the newest models are almost fussily trimmed.

Plum bloom is an effective color for a spring costume. This lovely shade

TOMATO RED CLOTH DRESS.

Skirts of this fabric worn with Louis jackets of velvet, trimmed with ruffles and jabots of lace, are very fetching.

The illustration shows a gown of tomato red cloth. The full skirt is trimmed at the bottom with bands and straps of stitched cloth. About the bolero jacket is an edging of white cloth embroidered in black. Chemise and sleeve puffs are of white chiffon.

FOR THE BABY.

The modern baby's layette is a thing of extravagance and beauty. Besides the dainty dresses, coats, caps and underwear, it must contain all sorts of attractive accessories.

A set of rosettes, butterfly bows and smart little ribbons must be provided

BLUE NUN'S VEILING WAIST.

For instance, a pink enameled "cart" is fitted up with cushions of pale pink silk or satin.

A very good substitute for the expensive fur carriage rug that has a pocket in which to slip the baby is a flannel bag made large enough to accommodate the small specimen of humanity. The bag draws up with a stout string, which is fastened just under the infant's arms.

Sets of daintily embroidered pillows, large ones for the crib and carriage and smaller ones for tucking in odd places,

HAT OF WHITE GUILPURE.

ed at the top. Crowns are of chiffon, velvet or tiny roses. Only a tall woman should wear a hat of this type, as it has a tendency to diminish the height of a small person.

Jet is reappearing as a trimming for evening hats.

Dainty silks with white grounds covered with tiny bouquets or a single flower, such as a lovely moss rose bud, are very attractive for afternoon tea frocks.

The flowers on these silk patterns are to be found in the natural shades of the flower in the design or in pale pastel shadings.

There is a new shade of blue worn in the evening called "twilight." This shade is particularly effective in gauze and velvet fabrics.

The Parisian model hat seen in the cut is of rich white guipure lace. The brim is softened with a rouleau of twisted tulle. A full trimming of soft bronze ribbon encircles the crown and forms the stylish rosette.

SPRING STYLES.

A very English looking suit is made of the new blue serge which more nearly resembles cashmere than any water-is not as bright as cardinal, but has the rich, deep tones of purple with high lights of red.

GOWN OF FAWN CLOTH.

A gown of plum bloom cloth is smart made with a plaited skirt stitched very tight around the hips and flaring at the feet. About the hem are swirls of silk braid. The Eton jacket is ornamented with motifs of braid and has a tiny vest of ivory silk held in place with buttons of amethyst and silver.

The up to date girl is wearing a long military coat made on the lines of the army coats of 1861.

Mingled with the feather boa and muff are to be seen in some instances ruchings of chiffon flowers and velvet. Satin flowers show up prettily against the feathers. The favorite flowers employed are forgetmenots, lilies of the valley and gardenias.

The gown shown in the picture is of light fawn broadcloth. The skirt, prettily disposed in stitched sections, is trimmed with buttons. The bolero jacket has small flat revers and tiny cuffs of green cloth.

AN ELECTRIC RAILROAD

That Would be Welcomed by the People of this End of DeKalb County

As soon as the weather moderates the local manager of the DeKalb-Sycamore Electric Co. will go to Waterman and look over the ground and see what are the encouragements in that locality for the proposed extension of the electric road from Sycamore and DeKalb to Waterman. It is generally agreed that this line would be of greater service to a larger number of people of the county than if built between any other points of like distance. It will make 10,000 people from 30 to 34 miles nearer the county seat. There will be a strenuous effort on the part of Genoa people to get the line extended to that city the coming year. Both ought to be built and the sooner the better for each. Such shortsighted and trivial matters as the complications over right-of-way or franchises should not be allowed to stand in the way of getting the much-desired road at the earliest possible moment. With an electric road from Genoa to Waterman and in time an extension to Somonauk and Sahdwich, north and south travel in the county would be changed from a hardship to a pleasure.—DeKalb Review.

Ney M. E. church at two o'clock. Rev. T. Ream of Genoa conducted the services which were largely attended. A quartette from the Ney community rendered the music.

In the course of his remarks Rev. Ream said:

"His hard work, good judgment and wise economy through the years of his life brought to him their natural reward, and material prosperity. But his heart and soul did not rest upon these things that perish, for he knew that there was a higher and diviner life, and this life he sought and lived for nearly 50 years.

"Near to 50 years ago he began not only to believe in the Christian life, but he began to actually live the Christian life. And after taking a public stand for Christ he was baptized in the Christian faith and joined the M. E. church at Ney, Ill. and was a faithful and honorable member of the church at the time of his death. He loved "God's word," he loved Christian fellowship and when the weather permitted loved to attend the services of the church."

"He believed that the Gospel of Christ was the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.

"He knew some things for himself. He had a religious experience which no argument could destroy. To him the Gospel possessed the power to change men, for it had changed him. Of trials and suffering and obstacles, he practically took Paul's place and said 'None of these things move me.' He was loved by all in the community where he lived. He was a man of strong convictions of the right and his large and strong physique was in every way matched by his large and sympathetic heart. Always ready to help in times of sickness, disaster, loss or death, people learned to look to him as a large-hearted brother and very many indeed are the lives of this community, who in the future will look with hearts of sadness to the 'home spot' which for so many years sheltered this 'man of God,' but from hence forth will shelter him no more.

"He was ready and willing to die, just waiting for the messenger.

A few days before death I held his hand and conversed with him on the things of God and he said: 'I am not afraid, I am standing on the Solid Rock.'

"His hope, his heart, his all was resting on the 'Rock of Ages.' In full confidence of soul he faced the future and could pray and sing:

"While I draw this fleeting breath,
When my eyes shall close to death,
When I rise to worlds unknown,
And behold thee on thy throne,
Rock of ages cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in thee."

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to the dear friends and neighbors and the singers who so kindly assisted us during the sad hours before and after the death of our loved one.

BUZZELL-HALL NUPTIALS

Rev. T. E. Ream, Pastor of the M. E. Church of Genoa, Tied the Knot

The home of Marcus Hall of Sycamore township was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday when Miss Lurana A. Hall was united in marriage to Jesse L. Buzzell, who lives in the same community.

The ceremony took place at high noon and was performed by Rev. T. E. Ream, pastor of the M. E. church at Genoa. There were about fifty guests present, nearly all being relatives of the bride and groom. The bride wore a beautiful white silk gown and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony, the guests were seated at tables, all beautifully decorated in white and green, and partook of a beautiful wedding dinner.

The groom is the only son of Nathan Buzzell of Charter Grove, and the bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hall. Both young people are very highly respected by the entire community in which they live, and congratulations will be universally extended to them.

They were handsomely reminded by their friends in the many useful wedding presents which they received.

5 and 10c opening. On Monday, Feb. 20, we will open our second floor as a 5 and 10c store, and on that day will sell at 5 and 10c articles never before offered at these prices. C. F. Hall Co., Dundee.
