A MID-SUMMER LECTURE

"Single Life" or "Minding Your Own Business"

BY H. M. BANNEN OF ROCKFORD

To be Given at the M. E. Church, July 19, Under the Auspices of the Genoa Epworth League

A rare treat will be given to the Genoa people and vicinity next Tuesday evening in a mid-summer lecture to be given by the gifted and well known Rev. H. M. Bannen of Rockford.

Some of the Genoa people have heard Mr. Bannen lecture before and are more than pleased to learn that he will give his popular lecture here entitled, "Single Life" or "Minding Your Own Business." The lecture will be given at the M. E. church under the auspices of the Epworth League and the price of admission will be within the reach of all.

Dr. Bannen is one of the strongest men on the lecture platform today and wherever he has given his lectures the press speaks in the highest praise of his ability. About two months ago, Dr. Bannen returned from a trip in the far east and gathered some most valuable information from the customs and people of the Orient.

Following are a few of the many expressions of the press:

"The lecture by Dr. Bannen on 'Single Life' or 'Minding Your Own Business' bubbled over with bright sayings and wit and was a veritable treat."—Ogle County Republican.

"The lecture, 'Single Life' or 'Minding Your Own Business' by H. M. Bannen of Rockford, Ill., more than met the expectation of his hearers. Both in regard to its entertainment and its instructive lessons there has been nothing better held in Oregon, Ill., during the past year."—St. Paul's Messenger.

SUDDEN SUMMONS

Editor of Pecatonica News Expired Early Monday Morning

Nate L. Colby, the widely known editor of the Pecatonica News and postmaster at that place, died suddenly Monday morning, just after rising for the day.

Mr. Colby had been in quite poor health for some time and was to have started Monday for his vacation, his son Gilbert taking charge of the postoffice. Deceased had been warned by physicians that he had a bad case of fatty degeneration of the heart from which there was little hope of ultimate relief. His death was a great shock to friends among whom he had a wide acquaintance.

Mr. Colby was born Dec. 20, 1854. He was a practical printer and established the Pecatonica News, conducting the paper along such lines as to make it a marked success. The funeral services were held Wednesday.

Will Not Prosecute

Will Seidel, a sixteen year old lad of Harvard, while visiting his uncle, Henry Weise, at Pingree Grove some time ago tapped the money till in his general grocery establishment to the extent of $76. After committing the theft, young Seidel was seen walking toward Elgin, and Mr. McCarthy, station agent at Pingree, followed and was instrumental in causing his arrest. On Sunday, Seidel was released from custody at Elgin because of the failure of his uncle to prosecute.

DIED ON DAKOTA RANCH

Dellvin Arnold Killed While Handling Wild Horses

ACCIDENT OCCURRED JUNE 29

Son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Arnold of Genoa Remains Brought to Sycamore Tuesday for Interment

Dellvin A. Arnold, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Arnold of this place, passed away at Blunt, South Dakota, Monday from injuries received while there on a business trip.

Mr. Arnold has made his home on the Lindsay farm three miles north of Sycamore but owns a ranch near Blunt. He left Sycamore May 24 with expectations of working on the farm during the summer.

At the time of the accident he was catching wild horses on his ranch, and had caught one animal, when it ran around on the other side of the horse Mr. Arnold was riding, and his saddle horse not turning quickly enough, both horse and rider were entangled in the lariat and thrown to the ground with violence, the man partly underneath the horse. Mr. Arnold was taken up unconscious, but just as the 17-mile ride to Blunt was finished, he lapsed into unconsciousness in which condition he remained with only fleeting intervals up to the time of his death. It was found that besides other injuries, his skull was injured.

Dellvin Arnold was born in DeKalb county about 40 years ago. His home has been in this vicinity for the greater part of his life, living for a number of years at Norwegian Grove and also spending a few years in Hughes county, S. D. About four years ago he was married to Mrs. Florence Lindsay Wells. Since their marriage they have made their home on the farm near Sycamore.

Those left to mourn with the sorrowing wife are five sisters, one at Burlington, one at Blunt, two at Pierre, S. D., and one in Iowa, besides a brother, William, of Blunt.

The funeral services were held from the home at Sycamore Wednesday afternoon. Interment at Elmwood cemetery.

Argentine Press Exhibit

"La Prensa," published at Buenos Ayres, has the distinction of occupying the largest building in the world exclusively used by a newspaper.

Found Pearl in Kishwaukee

S. Abraham found a pearl weighing four grains in the Kishwaukee about one mile south of Henrietta last Saturday. The gem is quite highly prized by the owner as it contains those points in size and color which go to make a pearl the more valuable. The Kishwaukee has given up several fine pearls this summer and many hunters in this locality are putting forth their best efforts in hopes of securing one or more of these gems.

FINE DISPLAY WINDOW

Window of B. & O. Store Viewed By a Large Crowd this Week

This week the B. & O. display window is a beauty. Chas. Bright has shown remarkable skill as a window-dresser and his work of this week is receiving no end of comment. On small placards are neatly printed a few lines which run thusly: The Cleo Club says, "East they go, West they go, Everybody goes to the B. & O. Miss Ryan says, "In or out the brine these bathing suits look fine." Miss Corson says, "Double wear in our hose, they have double heels and toes." Miss Geithman says, "Underwear that does not stick like a brother." Miss Olmsted says, "Speculation in our stocks is safe and sure." Miss Patterson says, "Don't knock; the heavier the hammer you swing the crueler the thump when it comes down on our own toes."

Miss Browne says, "Bodily content is wrapped up in each of our shirts." Miss Kiernan says, "The B. & O. leads, others follow." While these little placards advertise the goods for the store there are many other samples which will please you to see them.

ILLINOIS AT WORLD'S FAIR

Third Brilliant Military Reception at the State Building

MINING AND AGRICULTURE

By Far the Largest and Most Significant Part of the Exhibits Is the Collection of Corn, Planted and Cultivated

The third of a series of brilliant military receptions was given last Tuesday night at the Illinois building on the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis. The second regiment, with Gen. Scott at its head, acted as host, and the receiving line included, in addition to the officers of the regiment and their wives, the two hostesses Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Coleman, wives of two of the commissioners, who are detailed to preside over the building during the first two weeks in July.

The reception was tendered to Governor and Mrs. Yates, and it afforded an opportunity for the personnel of the exposition and the social leaders of St. Louis to meet the Governor of Illinois. In the course of the evening elaborate refreshments were served.

The World's Fair has something more of Illinois than social attractions to offer to the visiting public. The advantage of nearness to the seat of the World's Fair, which made possible the great displays of Missouri, was enjoyed and made use of almost as fully by the sister state of Illinois. In every department of the exposition, the great resources of Illinois are shown.

The state home is, with possibly two exceptions, the most pretentious of all the state buildings, and certainly its location is the most commanding. The building is designed along the lines of the French Renaissance, but it is entirely modern in treatment.

The two great statutes that greet the visitor are those of Lincoln and Douglas. Opening from the great hall are reading rooms, rest rooms and the office of the Commission. Aside from the state home the most remarkable exhibits of the state are those in the Palace of Mines and Metallurgy and the Palace of Agriculture.

The most striking feature of the great corn pavilion is an enormous broom that is typical both of the production of broom corn and of the state's broom industry. In the corners are small ornamental booths made entirely of native woods. In the matter of corn raising, the exhibits should encourage the boys of Illinois in the worthy enterprise.

Death of William Fenton

William Fenton, brother-in-law of W. R. White, died at his home in Hartland last Friday, the funeral services being held Monday at the Catholic church at that place at 11 o'clock. AN INQUISITIVE CAT.

This Feline Paul Pry Has a Mania For Investigation.

"Speaking of cats, I have one at my house that is simply a marvel when it comes to prying into things," said a man who is fond of animal study, "and it is really interesting to watch him. If there is anything around the place he does not understand, it is because it is new and hasn't been there long enough for him to inquire into it. Generally when anything new is brought into the house he immediately attempts to look into it. If the thing is wrapped up so he can't get to it, he will do his best to find out what it is, and if he fails to reach any satisfactory conclusion at the time he will wait until some more auspicious time.

"The other day Tom discovered for the first time that a couple of pictures of dogs were hanging up in one of the rooms. Since that time we have not been able to see any peace around the house. He is simply crazy to get to the pictures. He no doubt recognizes the fact that his old enemy is bodied forth in the pictures, and it may be that he thinks they are alive and want to make a rough house, if I may use a slang saying. At any rate, he is always clawing at the walls and whining and jumping up on chairs and doing other things to indicate that he is simply dying to find out something about the dog pictures. I suppose we shall have to take the pictures down and allow Tom to satisfy himself as to the nature of them.

"Tom has manifested another evidence of the curious part of his nature. If the members of the family are scattered in different parts of the house and happen to be talking, he simply runs from one group to another. He seems to be afraid he'll not hear all that's being said, and he nearly runs himself to death going from one group to the other. I cannot say how much of the conversation he understands, for I do not know definitely the extent of Tom's vocabulary, but I know he takes an immense interest in all that is said. Let the conversation turn on a humorous point and produce a hearty laugh, and he will enter into the spirit of the thing and will apparently laugh with the family. But this is all beside the question. I was merely speaking of the fact that Tom is inordinately curious, and I may add in conclusion that I have seen but few human beings who were so keenly curious as this little family pet."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Two Ways of Looking at It.

A famous English minister once visited a wretched, tumble down cottage, or cabin, in Ireland, where he found a poor man lying ill on a mean, uncomfortable bed. There was little to cheer him during the long, weary day as he lay fevered and helpless—no pretty pictures to rest his eyes upon, no sweet scented nosegays of flowers by his bedside and but few friends to come and sit and talk to him. And the minister noticed that above the sick man's head there were great holes in the roof.

"Dear, dear!" said the minister. "You must find those holes very awkward in bad weather?"
"Ah, sure and I like them," said the old man, "for I can count the stars through them as they go shining over the roof."

Proof Against Irony.

Lord Bowen, an English judge of renown, was trying a case of burglary with a Welsh jury, and it was argued by the defense that the prisoner was in the habit of walking on the housetops at midnight and had merely taken off his boots and dropped into the house out of curiosity. In summing up Bowen said to the jury, "If you believe that the prisoner considers the housetops the proper place for an evening stroll, that the desire to inspect the inside of the house was but a natural and excusable curiosity, you will acquit him and will approve his conduct in showing so much consideration as to take off his boots for fear of disturbing the sleepers." The irony was lost on the jury. They took him seriously and acquitted the prisoner.

Courtroom Wit.

Frank Lockwood, an English counsel of whom many stories are told, was once defending a man at York who was accused of stealing cattle—"beasts," they call them there. "Now, my man," said Lockwood, "you say that you saw thus and so. How far can you see a beast to know it?" "Just as far off as I am from you," promptly returned the witness. In another case a thief showed both wit and some logic. He had been convicted of stealing a horse. "Yours is a very serious offense," said the judge sternly. "Fifty years ago it was a hanging matter." "Well," replied the prisoner, "and fifty years hence it mayn't be a crime at all."

Last Saturday the Boone county historical society met at the home of Alonzo McDougal near Belvidere. An interesting program was given, among the speakers being Mrs. George Sands, a daughter of one of the first settlers of Boone county. The affair was given on the anniversary of the settlement of Lorenzo McDougal on the farm he now owns, sixty-eight years ago.

Do You Know It?

I am not Made by the Trust

I HAVE A CAR LOAD of fresh, clean and bright MINNEAPOLIS BINDERS ready for the 1904 harvest. It is the best Binder made, and I have been agent for them for 22 years and never failed in making the sale of the MINNIE STEEL BINDER when tried. The MINNIE will do all kinds of cutting and binding where any Binder will, and will cut and bind where some makes of Binders fail. The Minnie has never been misrepresented.

Come in and Have a Look

A MATTER OF FACT is that the MINNIE will cut the tallest grain, the shortest grain and down grain in all conditions. The MINNIE will bind a bundle with less twine than any competing machine. All my competitors hate me. All they can say when they find a prospect sale against the MINNIE is, where can you get repairs when wanted? I have furnished repairs for about 200 MINNIE BINDERS, and not one man owning a Minnie Binder will say he failed to get what repairs he wanted when calling for them. The MINNIE is not made by the trust and is sold at prices that are right. If you are contemplating buying a Binder drop me a postal card and get prices. I also have some of the best makes of twine and prices are right. Now, if you buy a MINNIE Binder you won't make any mistake. Come in and examine them carefully.

Manufactured by firm having an unlimited amount of capital.

A Unique Auto-Car

The average college graduate is nothing if not original.

Now a number of medical college graduates have planned something entirely new for Chicago's business center, which they intend to present to the Iroquois Memorial association commemorative of the terrible theatre fire which claimed so many lives last winter.

The alumni of the Harvey evening medical college have incorporated their association, and are building an auto-hospital. According to the designs now under consideration, it will present an odd appearance in the streets of Chicago. It promises to be a handsome vehicle, however, large and of novel design. It will contain an operating room, which will fill the front and middle of the car, while a supply dispensary will occupy the rear end. In width it will be some nine feet, in length about fifteen miles. The car will swing a foot from the ground between the wheels with steps and opening on the side wide enough to allow a patient on a stretcher to be carried in without trouble.
While a patient is being operated on, which will be done on the spot of the accident, the sides of the operating room will be closed, light being admitted from the top.
Motor power, heat and artificial light will be furnished by electricity. Every facility will be furnished that can be found in any of the large hospitals.

The auto-hospital will be constantly in readiness for a call,
with a surgeon and trained nurse in attendance. Until the Iroquois Memorial hospital is erected it will be used by the Harvey Medical college.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge of Mar-tinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by G. H. Hunt.

No Pity Shown

"For years fate was after me continuously," writes F. A. Gul-ledge, Verbena, Ala. "I had a terrible case of piles causing 24 tumors. When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me.
Equally good for burns and all aches and pains. Only 25c at Hunt's Pharmacy.

The Humorous Side of Things

Mr. Borem—I believe I am to have the pleasure of the next waltz.
Miss Witter—I know you are.

"What have you there, Jocko—bowling balls?"
"Nope; pills for the elephant."—San Francisco Examiner.

"There is no doubt," said the estimable citizen, "that intoxication injures the system."
"My dear sir," answered Colonel Still of Kentucky, "just think of the harm water has done to our financial system."

"I will give you my answer in a month, Pat."
"That's right, my darling. Take plenty of time to think it over. But tell me one thing now—will it be yes or no?"

"Buy a monkey on a stick, sir!"
—New York Evening Journal.

Mrs. Miggs—Oh, George, dear, I feel so faint! Leave me, leave me! I shall feel better alone.

Her Beau—Say, Bobby, can't you get me a lock of your sister's hair?
Bobby—Sure! But not jest now. She's wearin' it.—New York Evening Journal.

Miss Tabby—How is your husband getting along, Mrs. Thomas?
Mrs. Thomas Cat—Not very well. He lost his seventh life yesterday, and I am getting worried about him.—New York Times.

Boy—Think it'll bear me, mister?

WHAT IS LOVE?

Some More or Less Clever Attempts at a Definition.

"What is love?" was the burning question asked by the company of immortals.

"Love," said the landlady, "is that power so subtle as to defy analysis, which draws two people together who cannot afford it and enables me to fill my third story front."

"Love," said the society woman, "is the alliance of two families in such a manner as to produce the fewest offspring and then cut the greatest swath."

Said the psychologist: "Love is that set of sensations which, finding their way through the afferent nerves, stimulate certain ganglionic centers of the occipital portion of the brain and extend up through the higher areas of cerebral consciousness. It is purely subjective in its action, and, while it has no regular synthesis, being extremely diverse in all of its aspects, it seems to be subject to some higher definitive law as yet undetermined."

Said the college graduate, "Love is the supreme folly."

Said the octogenarian, "Love is eternal."

Said the theologian, "Love is that divine force, co-existent with Jehovah, that has dwelt in the hearts of men since the shepherds have watched their flocks and which enables us to force every one to believe in our own particular views, even if we have to do it with the edge of the sword."

Said the actress, "Love is an angel—with plenty of money."

Said the bachelor, "Love is an amusement."

Said the married man: "Love is the dearest thing in the world. It's the only thing that prevents me from living within my income."

Said the widow, "Love is constant in its change."

Said the dressmaker: "Without love I should go out of business. Love pays all my bills."—Tom Mason in Life.

Where the Bank President Caught Him.

The bank president was talking to an applicant for a position in the bank.

"Our employees must be absolutely honest of course," he said.

"I am honest," replied the applicant.

"Do you pay your debts?" asked the president.

"Yes, sir."

"Would you pay even a poker debt?"

"Yes, sir."

"I'm sorry," said the president, "but we have no place for you."

When the applicant had left, a friend of the president ventured to ask:

"Why didn't you employ him? He's apparently honest enough."

"Well," replied the president, "he probably wouldn't steal, but he tells lies. No man ever pays poker debts."—Kansas City Times.

Had to Treat Back.

There was a sensation in a Glasgow street one evening when one man was seen pursuing another at a breakneck pace. The pursued, much the smaller man of the two, leaped on to a passing car. The pursuer leaped on almost at his heels, and, seizing the runaway by the collar, the two rolled off the car together on to the street. Deeming it was a thief who had been caught, a crowd collected. "What was he doing?" asked a man as the two struggled to their feet, the larger tightly grabbing the smaller. "Ach, the mean hound," he gasped. "I stood him a glass o' beer along there, an' he was boltin' without standin' me yin. But I'll watch him." And he marched off his man.

London Relics.

In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries when a London street was newly formed its name and date were frequently recorded on a tablet built into the wall of a corner house. The houses themselves were also sometimes distinguished by initials, names or dates, either placed like the street tablets or on a rain pipe or inside the building. Some of these relics still survive, but there is constant danger of their destruction, for every year many old houses are leveled with the ground, and streets once important cease to exist, are merged into other streets or lose their importance by being renamed.—London Truth.

A Hint.

Mother—I can't have that young man staying here so late at night. You must give him a hint of some kind.

Daughter (in the evening)—I am very much afraid something will happen to you on the streets at night. You must be more careful of yourself and not be out so late. If anything should happen to you, I'd—I'd die!
