

PANAMA CANAL PROFITS A JOKE

Profit Claimed by Officials is Really a Loss of Millions

COST CONSTRUCTION FORGOTTEN

Difference Between Receipts and Operating Costs called Profit by Government

The way Government management does business and keeps books the Panama Canal shows for last year a profit of $233,749 says the New York Sun. But if the United States Government, in behalf of the American people, managed its affairs and figured financial results the way a private corporation, in behalf of its stockholders, has to figure its results and keep its books, the Panama Canal as a business proposition would look like a financial wreck.

As a matter of fact the difference between the operating expenses and the receipts of the Panama Canal—$2,387,599—called by a wild flight of imagination profits, is only a drop in the bucket toward paying the fixed charges on the colossal bonded debt investment of the American people in the Panama Canal.

Including cost of construction, purchase of rights, annual payments to Panama, fortifications, etc., the American people had put into the canal, up to June 30, 1919, more than $459,000,000. With nothing ever earned toward meeting the interest on that debt, not to mention payments into the sinking fund to extinguish the debt, the canal stands the American people in today more than half a billion dollars.

Because of valuable privileges going with the Panama bonds, put out to build and equip the canal, they were issued, some of them, at as low an interest rate as 2 per cent a year and some at 3 per cent. Even on this highly artificial basis of figuring interest the so-called profit on the Panama Canal last year was not half enough to meet the abnormally low interest charge on the Panama Canal bonds and other investment. It was not a quarter enough.

The whole gross receipts of the Panama Canal last year—some $8,935,371—even if not a red copper had been deducted for operating expenses, would not have been enough to pay the interest on the Panama Canal debt and other investment of the American people in the gigantic project.

If we figure that any investment should be worth at least the interest which the Government has to pay on Liberty bonds, and if we figure depreciation at a merely nominal rate, and if we virtually ignore sinking fund charges, the Panama Canal, as a business proposition, ought to earn 6 per cent to cover everything, not less than $30,000 a year. This might be a miracle clean up the debts in the course of generations and keep the balance sheet from being smeared all over with red ink figures. It could not do much more.

Of course, the Panama Canal never was built to make money directly and openly, like a railroad or a factory or a bank or a department store. It was conceived and built by wise, far-seeing statesmanship, and half a billion of the American people's money was poured into it to confer a great water transportation benefit upon the commerce of the whole wide world. But for anybody to talk of an annual profit of more than two and a third millions of dollars coming out of the canal when the actual loss can be measured anywhere from twenty to forty millions of dollars a year is something of a financial joke.

WILL HAVE CHAUTAUQUA

Provided Enough Season Tickets are Pledged Next Week

Genoa will have a chautauqua next year, provided enough season tickets are sold next week.

Anna R. Laughlin, representing the co-operative chautauquas, was in Genoa last Tuesday and received enough encouragement to warrant going ahead with the work. She will be in Genoa next Tuesday to make a systematic canvass of the community, several having offered to assist.

As stated in a previous issue of The Republican, no one makes a guarantee other than, the pledge to purchase a certain number of season tickets.

The Want Adds for Quick Results.

ANOTHER EXECUTIVE

O. M. Allyn Engaged by the County Association

The DeKalb County Agricultural Association has added another executive to its personnel in the person of O. M. Allyn, who at present occupies a position as a kind of assistant manager. The absence of W. G. Eckhardt in pursuit of his duties as head of the grain marketing department of the Illinois Agricultural Association and a member of the Committee of 17 in charge of the national movement along the same line, made it imperative that the association secure a man to take the greater part of the management of the association; work on his shoulders and in the securing of Mr. Allyn the association has been very fortunate.

He has been on the staff of the association since October 1, but has not been in DeKalb, having gone into the north purchasing potatoes for the association and seed wheat.

Mr. Allyn is a remarkably efficient man, familiar with every angle of the farming game. For some years he was connected with the experimental work of the agricultural department of the University of Illinois, having general charge of a number of experimental stations such as the one located just south of this city.

Of late years he has been running a ranch and an elevator in Montana which has given him a rare practical experience.—Daily Chronicle.

The DeKalb County Agricultural Association and The DeKalb County Soil Improvement Association are two distinct organizations. The former was organized primarily for purchasing seed for the farmers, later buying and selling other commodities.

MILK PRICE LOWER

Marketing Company Names $2.60 as December Figure

The wholesale price of December milk as agreed upon by a committee of the Milk Producers Co-operative Marketing company and representatives of the buyers will be $2.60 a hundred pounds.

The new price, the lowest in the history of the marketing company, will be in effect December 1.

"There is more surplus milk on hand right now than there ever has been," said a director of the Marketing company over the telephone from the Chicago officials today to The Elgin Daily News. "Every day more surplus milk is piling up. The situation is very serious."

Condenseries of the marketing company, recently purchased, will continue to make butter and can milk, officials stated.

The price of milk has been $3.05 during November. The lowest previous price was $2.70 during the month of May. Two months ago the price was $3.70, making a decline in the price at the present time $1.10 a hundred pounds.

A LIE NAILED

To Whom it May Concern: It has come to my attention that stories are being circulated that I have had some chickens stolen and that when they were stolen I shot the thief, who happened to be one of my neighbors. There is absolutely nothing to these stories, as I have no chickens stolen, and have shot at no one. Parties circulating these stories hereafter will be prosecuted. Dec. 1, 1920. John A. Evans.

NOT JOKSTERS—JUST FOOLS

Hunters Turn the Hold-up Game as a "Joke"

Friday night Claude Laker, Paul Hubbard and another gentleman were held up about a mile north of Hinckley.

Two men stopped them as they were on their way to Hinckley. The strangers had shot guns and demanded all they had in their possession.

Claude Laker lost $40.00 and his watch and Paul Hubbard gave them what cash he had and his watch and the other man handed over his belongings, to the holdup men.

The boys rushed to Hinckley after the holdup and got deputy sheriff Ramer and started out to find the holdup men.

The holdup took place between Arthur Evans home north of Hinckley.

EARLVILLE MAN DEFENDS PRICES

Says Values of Northern Illinois Lands Are Secure for All Time

GIVES REASONS FOR HIS BELIEF

Takes Publisher to Task for Statement to the Contrary—Liar or Mistaken

The Rosenbaum Review has for some time been telling its readers that northern Illinois land is not the best investment; that those who have been purchasing have lost money, and that the land in this part of the state is on the decline.

A. H. Smith, of Earlville answered the attacks in the last issue of the magazine, and as it will be of interest to local farmers, we print Mr. Smith's answer as it appeared in the Earlville Leader:

For a man gifted with some real intellect, brainy, resourceful and with the courage of his own convictions to a point which makes his publication interesting and instructive to a remarkable degree, your repeated "jabs" at the land price situation would tend perhaps to either show your ignorance of the true situation or that you are just a plain ordinary liar. I am loathe to believe either one of these solutions hits the nail on the head but instead, that you are honestly mistaken, or else want to buy land, or felse it's a cinch you do not own any, or if you do you wish to buy more. Anyway, you are mistaken, broadly speaking, I believe, when you insinuate that "Land, excellent land, right here in the state of Illinois, is being sold at sacrifice prices," to quote a statement of October 23. Continuing, you assert, "speaking of speculation, of all the senseless, gooey, gobbling (whatever that is) of unreasonable chances, farmers who borrowed their limit and then bought high-priced land, take first prize." This is not the first slur you have given farmers, I regret to say, 95 per cent of whom could probably buy you out or make you look like a piker, or change your views completely when it came to first-hand information as to their viewpoint compared with yours in its relation to the permanency of agriculture, price of land etc.

The situation in northern Illinois is this: In all probability 95 per cent of the land is in strong hands, a class of people who more or less are gradually expanding after getting 80 or 160 acres paid for and buying more land, content with a modest return on investment and with strong faith that so rapidly increasing a population must, as has always been the case, gradually enhance the value of land.

For 22 years I have sold land in several counties in northern Illinois. Do you know, Mr. Pickell, that a remarkably small percentage of the number of farms that an all-day's drive in any direction could observe, are for sale at all at any price? I doubt if it would average five in one hundred that are for sale and try to buy even five in one hundred and see what the holders think of the future of agriculture, regardless of the absolutely rotten marketing system, which has, up-to-date, made it possible for manipulation to force an issue for final justice to producer and consumer, the distant thunder of which you are well cognizant of, and in my opinion if you don't want to get your feet wet, you had best put up an umbrella or come in out of the rain (storm of protest, if one might call it such.) For Mr. Pickell, the producer and consumer are eventually going to be a stronger factor than the middleman who is making his millions at the expense of both. I think you have a wonderful opportunity to bring about you a loyal following if you get in the right bandwagon.

From my personal knowledge I think the corn belt land owners at least will bear me out in the statement that not even the smallest infinitesimal fraction of one per cent of Illinois land is selling, as you claim, "at sacrifice prices," let alone it being as you would insinuate prices, a general thing. In fact, I do not know of one single farm that has sold "off." True, under present conditions, history may repeat itself. This has always been the case in the past when conditions were unfavorable. Land has advanced enough ley and the town. The boys stopped at Evans for a short visit and then started for Hinckley.

The next morning all the belongings of the three men were found on the porch of Arthur Evans' home, money, watches and all their belongings.

It looks as if it was a joke or a put up job on the young men.—DeKalb Independent.

No doubt the joksters were temptations and could not resist the temptation to have a little fun. Had one of the men in the machine been possessed of a gun and the necessary nerve, the joke would probably ended in the death or injury of at least one fool.

secured, patrons are bound to find that way. The oldest inhabitant can not remember a time when the service has been as near nothing as it is at present.

When the writer and Mayor Hutchinson called on Geo. B. Haynes, general passenger agent, several days ago, he stated that his office was trying to formulate plans to give us relief. The plans matured at once. It is to laugh! Indeed we were almost tickled pink when the announcement was made that the stage coach would leave Genoa earlier (7:51) and arrive in Chicago at 10:15 instead of 10:35. Such a relief! We are still classed with the milk can, the only difference being that the milk arrives in Chicago still sweet, while the passengers arrive decidedly sour.

Mr. Haynes, in explaining the situation, writes as follows: November 27, 1920

Mr. C. D. Schoonmaker, Business Manager, The Republican, Genoa, Ill.

Dear Sir:

I have delayed answering your very courteous letter and answering the petition in regard to the train service on the Illinois Division in order that the situation might be fully investigated.

As to the discontinuance of the stops formerly made by No. 8 at Genoa and Hampshire I have found that that was part of a programme under which all the provisional stops made by this train, Omaha to Chicago, were lifted as an action prerequisite to keeping the train on time. The complete schedule and arrive in fast limited train from Omaha to Chicago but was being operated in the dual character of a local and limited train which was entirely illogical and made it impossible to accomplish the schedule and arrive in Chicago on time. Important business was being seriously interfered with and inconvenienced nearly every day and the primary purpose for which the train was operated was thus being defeated. This resulted in loss of prestige and made it impossible for us to participate in the through travel for which primarily the service was established. These conditions were rapidly bringing about an impossible situation and necessary correction could only be achieved by reducing the work that the train was required to do.

The discontinuance of train No. 30 was necessitated by the discontinuance of train No. 3, which latter train had to be discontinued as a correlative action in connection with the establishment of the Pacific Limited trains between Chicago and San Francisco.

We did everything possible, however, to compensate for these changes by rearranging other service by reason of which it is considered that the Illinois Division, as a whole, has materially benefitted. All the connections at Davis Jct. were preserved, the service to and from Rockford was improved and additional local service was given between Davis Jct. and Savanna, where, for a long time, it had been claimed that our local service was inadequate.

Since the above changes were made, effective November 14, we have changed the time of No. 36 so that the passengers can now leave Genoa at 7:52 A. M. and arrive in Chicago at 10:15 a. m., twenty minutes earlier.

We want to give Genoa, and the towns in the vicinity of Genoa, the best service that it is possible to give with the trains available but I cannot see any way in which to improve the present situation, inasmuch as I am advised that for the reasons stated the stops made by No. 3 cannot be reinstated, and the question of putting on additional trains is something that cannot be given favorable consideration at the present time.

Yours very truly,
Geo. B. Haynes.

A LETTER FOR WOMEN

From a Woman Whose Serious Illness Was Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Garnett, Kas.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a complete nervous breakdown following the birth of my oldest child. I got up too soon which caused serious female trouble. I was so weak that I was not able to be on my feet but very little and could not do my housework at all. I had a bad pain in my left side and it would pain terribly if I stepped off a curb-stone. One day one of your booklets was thrown in the yard and I read every word in it. There were so many who had been helped by your medicine that I wanted to try it and my husband went to town and got me a bottle. It seemed as though I felt relief after the second dose, so I kept on until I had taken five bottles and by that time I was as well as I could wish. About a year later I gave birth to a ten-pound boy and have had two more children since and my health has been fine. If I ever have trouble of any kind I am going to take your medicine for I give it all the praise for my good health. I always recommend your medicine whenever I can."—Mrs. EVA E. SEAY, Garnett, Kansas.

Useful and Decorative Articles Nice for Christmas Presents

For Holiday Time

An unusually pretty breakfast cup is here offered as a suggestion for a gift. It is a spirited model made of taffeta silk and almost covered with crisp, plaited frills of taffeta ribbon. Such a cup requires a crinoline support and a lining of thin silk.

What Women Love

There is a world of pretty neckwear that every woman will love to receive and almost any woman can make. A favorite piece consists of a collar with vestee to match, like that shown above.

Holiday Red and Green

This Christmas candle shade is made of red and green crepe paper and decorated at the top with a spray of holly and holly berries. The paper is cut in petals, the under ones in red and the outside ones in green.

Pretty Powder Bowls

Pretty powder bowls and baskets are sure of a great vogue for Christmas gifts. The four pictured include a little basket covered with plaited silk, at the upper left, and just below it the puff attached to its cover and ribbon-covered handle. A similar basket, at the right, is surmounted by a little ribbon-dressed doll—a disguised powder puff. At the lower left a glass bowl supports a puff holding a doll's head and at the right a net-covered jar enthrones a Jap baby.

For Holding Pins

The baby will be served and his mother delighted at Christmas time with little gifts convenient for holding safety pins. A doll and a basket are shown in the picture each suspended by ribbons for hanging them. Little rings attached to the feet, hands and belt of the doll accommodate pins of several sizes. There are assorted pins in the basket.

Lace and Satin Piece

Wide satin ribbon and Val lace give a good account of themselves in the attractive neckpiece shown above. It is a vestee and collar combined, with a small "V"-shaped chemisette of lace, set in the vestee. The collar and chemisette are edged with narrow lace.

To Welcome the Baby

Two lovely gifts, with which to welcome the stork, are suggested. They are a little cap of georgette crepe and a silk-lined and ribbon-frilled basket containing everything the baby needs for his toilette.

Charm to Ribbon

A morning jacket, a boudoir cap, a powder puff and little hand mirror, all owing their charm to lovely ribbons, are gift suggestions appearing above. The jacket and cap are made by setting together strips of narrow satin ribbon and Val lace.

Aspirin
Then it is Genuine

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on tablets, you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for 21 years and proved safe by millions. Accept only an "unbroken package" of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," which contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Pain, Toothache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago.

in a Bad Way.
"I'm telling you the truth when I say that I was much happier when I was poor."
"Then why don't you let your millions go and be poor again?"
"That would be of no use. I'd still feel miserable thinking of those poor fellows cursed with money."

USE "DIAMOND DYES"
Dye right! Don't risk your material in a poor dye. Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can diamond-dye a new, rich, fadeless color into old garments, draperies, coverings, everything, whether wool, silk, linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect results are guaranteed. Druggist has "Diamond Dyes Color Card"—16 rich colors. Adv.

Its Nature.
"This bacon is neither very good nor very bad."
"How could you expect it to be either when it is just middling?"

Stop the Pain.
The hurt of a burn or a cut stops when Cole's Carbolsative is applied. It heals quickly without scars. 25c and 50c by all druggists. For free sample write The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Adv.

In Any Trade.
"A dress designer," says a Camomille street dressmaker in the London News, "must be born." We always think this is an advantage.—Punch.

How's This?
HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will do what we claim for it—cure Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh. We do not claim to cure any other disease. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a liquid, taken internally, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions. All Druggists. Circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Never judge the fidelity of a friend by his eagerness to point out your faults.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion.
Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, scaly clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Adv.

Mental exertion is as distasteful to some as physical.

Kill That Cold With HILL'S CASCARA QUININE FOR Colds, Coughs AND La Grippe

Neglected Colds are Dangerous. Take no chances. Keep this standard remedy handy for the first sneeze. Breaks up a cold in 24 hours—Relieves Grippe in 3 days—Excellent for Headache. Quinine in this form does not affect the head—Cascara is best Tonic Laxative—No Opium in Hill's. ALL DRUGGISTS SELL IT

When Children are Sickly are Constipated, Feverish, Cry out in their sleep, Take cold easily, Have Headaches, Stomach or Bowel trouble, Try MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN

They are pleasant to take and a certain relief. They act on the Stomach, Liver and Bowels and tend to correct intestinal disorders. 10,000 testimonials from mothers and friends of little ones telling of relief. No mother should be without a box of Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for use when needed. Ask to-day. At Druggists. The need of them often comes at inconvenient hours. Used by Mothers for over thirty years. Do Not Accept Any Substitute for MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS.

since the Armistice was signed,—perhaps in the case of a very small per cent of buyers, too much. But in my opinion, this is merely incidental. True also, that one must buy accordingly to their means and be careful and not overbuy.

Since 1898 my land sales have averaged yearly up in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, touching a million at different times and I have yet to find one customer who has failed to settle or carry his obligation and

I believe this will be true this year, as usual, notwithstanding temporary trend of prices, brought about by propagandists for the purpose of manipulating the markets. My customers are not alone farmers, strong enough to finance their deals, but bankers and others closely associated with the financial world, who believe that not only present land values will stand, but gradually the land will work higher.

Personally, I am actually trying hard to get out of the land business, without quitting entirely and announced in the local papers that I would only handle one-half the deals heretofore handled, needing the time in my own affairs, but, the the deals seem to keep coming. In fact, just to show an open-minded man like yourself that he might be dead wrong (which you often admit you are) I have taken occasion to frankly write you and even as I do so our local paper announces a quarter million dollar sale of land by Smith's Agency, clipping enclosed, to which I have also added two other clippings from the same issue of this week's paper, mentioning two $500 sales of land just made—one in Lee county and the other in DeKalb county—and the quarter of a million dollar sale being on land in LaSalle and McHenry counties.

A. H. SMITH,

M. E. CHURCH NOTES

We feel very much encouraged with the splendid interest shown in the work of our church and especially the increased attendance at our services.

At a meeting of our official board Monday evening it was the unanimous opinion that we should begin a forward movement which calls for the support and cooperation of every member and will mean an increased efficiency in every department of work.

The State is formulating plans to round up the "slackers." We cannot adopt such drastic measures as the state will use to arrest the negligent and guilty, but we feel that we ought to have a round-up or Rally Day for our membership. Why is it so many of the members do not attend service?

It has been said that there are three kinds of people in our churches today. The rowboat people who always need to be pushed and pulled and urged along. The sailboat people who go only when there is a favorable wind; and the steamboat people who go along bravely and steadily whatever the wind or weather. Join the steam boat crowd; we need your help. We extend a cordial welcome to one and all to worship with us. We know the good people of Genoa believe in the church. No self respecting man or woman would live in a town where there is no church. You believe that it stands as an advocate of righteousness and is a safeguard to the morals of the community. It is the duty as well as the privilege of every resident to support an institution that does these things.

Throw away your excuses—some of them so old they are rusty—bury your hatchet; you can't saw wood or boost your town with a hammer. Attend some one of the churches in your town. If you have no other church home, join us in our Sunday services.

Sunday school 10:00 a. m. Class for you.

Morning service 11:00 a. m. Subject: "Satisfied."

Epworth League 6:30 p. m. Evening service 7:30 p. m. Subject: "The Man from Missouri—show me."

DEKALB COUNTY FIRST

Leads All Others in Care of Tuberculosis Patients

DeKalb County has the distinction of being among the first in the state to establish a Tuberculosis Sanitarium for the free use of its people without discrimination. The building is located about a half a mile from the city of DeKalb on the road leading to Sycamore. A fine residence located on a plot of twenty-one acres, most woodland, was purchased at sixteen thousand dollars. The building has been readjusted by the installation of a new heating plant, water system, lighting system; the construction of fresh air rooms, refurbished and refitted, so as to make it as thoroughly up-to-date for use as it is possible to make it.

The infirmary is just now nearing completion. It has been constructed after the most approved plan obtainable and provides for every type of care and every necessity which a tubercular patient might need. Outdoor sleeping tents for the accommodation of a small number of patients have been constructed; a room for the sterilization of clothing has been constructed. Within the next ten days there will be completed the laying of a four inch water main almost one-half mile in length so as to supply an abundance of fresh, pure water for the use of the sanitarium. Provisions have been made also on the grounds for supplying throughout the year poultry and fresh eggs, and during the summer and early fall fresh vegetables for the use of patients. The institution is now ready to care for forty patients in any stage of tuberculosis.

All of the equipment, buildings, changes, improvements, and so on, which have been made during the past two years at a time when all such things cost more than twice as much as normally, have been justified on the ground that the men and women who had the "dread disease" ought to be cared for by the people of this county just as soon as provision could be made for doing so. There are at present eight patients in the sanitarium from various sections of the county. Three or four of these patients will doubtless be ready to be sent home with no temperature and with an increase in flesh of fifteen or twenty pounds, and with every appearance of recovery. The survey made for DeKalb County, a copy of which is with the Chairman of the Sanitarium Board, shows that there are about four hundred cases of tuberculosis in various stages in this county.

An invitation is extended to the public of DeKalb County to visit the sanitarium and secure first-hand information about it. It belongs to DeKalb County; its support must come from DeKalb County. It is the plan of the Auxiliary Organization to give as much publicity as is consistent with the facts through the sale of Christmas Seals from which we shall secure funds to aid in the employment of more nurses and in the continuation of the development of the sanitarium. There are now employed by the Sanitarium Board, Mr. and Mrs. Bair, one specially trained nurse, a cook, an orderly, and one man on the grounds. Another trained nurse, who will visit the various cases throughout the County and make reports to the attending physicians, will be employed just as soon as possible.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the issue of the Republican, Nov. 26, a notice of the regular meeting of the Della Rebeckah lodge Friday evening, Dec. 3, read that refreshments will be served. It is true refreshments will be served, but each member is requested to bring his own sandwiches, and several members to club together and bring a dish to pass.

DESTROY TOMB STONES

The police of DeKalb are looking for the men or boys who have been tearing down some of the tomb stones in the St. Mary cemetery and if they are found they are sure to get in bad.

It is reported that as many as 12 of the tombstones have been turned over. It is hard to realize that any one would be ghoulish enough to delight in tearing down slabs erected to the memory of the dead.

A thorough search is being made and at present the police have several parties under suspicion.

Foreign Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Unless President Wilson, in his coming message to congress, suggests a change in the war tax system there will be little use in the Republican legislators in attempting any revision, for past records have proven that the president has no scruples in using his veto power.

The law of supply and demand will always to a certain degree determine the value of natural products, farm products, labor and money. The law of supply and demand enters into economics as naturally as water seeks its level. It will be a happy day for the agriculturist when he can see the element of chance eliminated from his business; when he can sow and plant in the spring and be assured that he will reap a profitable harvest in the fall. It may be that the committee of seventeen, of which Mr. Eckhardt is a member, can solve the problem. We sincerely hope so but it cannot be done by trying to overlook natural laws. It is better now to recognize those laws and work out a scheme in spite of them that will assure the farmer a profit.

COLTON VS. COLTON

The case of Colton vs. Colton was disposed of by Judge Irwin in Circuit Court on Wednesday, the divorce being granted on the grounds of desertion. The allegations and charges of cruelty in the original bill were all withdrawn. It is understood that the decree entered was satisfactory to all parties concerned and was by way of compromise of the original suit.

GET MORE BUTTER

Mrs. Hattie Meece of Glenn, Missouri, says: "I was not making enough butter from my cow's milk production for a family of two. After using Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders a short time, she gave a half gallon more milk a day, and a pound of butter a day."

Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders give to milk cows just what is needed to keep the digestive organs in proper condition, so that they get the most possible good from their feed. Give equally wonderful results when used for horses, hogs, and sheep, because they are a tonic, appetizer and worm expeller.

It matters not what ailment you may have among your stock or poultry, it will pay you to get the proper Dr. LeGear's Remedy from your dealer. They are the Doctor's personal prescriptions, compounded during his 28 years of Veterinary Practice and Expert Poultry Breeding. They must satisfy you, or your dealer will refund your money.

The Philathea Class greatly enjoyed a Juvenile party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Edgar Baldwin. Each member was requested to dress in childish costumes and to bring a picture of herself in childhood. Interesting happenings of by-gone days were related by the members. At a former meeting the class decided to dress dolls for the Meth. Deaconess Orphanage at Lake Bluff for Christmas and this time they were distributed among the members. Very appropriate refreshments were served by the November committee. All enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

There will be a dance at the Genoa opera house after the show, Dec. 4. The management wishes to announce that nothing but clean and respectable dancing will be tolerated and that goes. The dances will be given right along if the public so desires, but respectable dancing is the only form that will be allowed. Tickets 55c, war tax included. Kusper's orchestra.

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

The Greatest Record Idea

AFTER long preparation we announce Brunswick Records. With the Brunswick history of musical achievement before you, it is assured that they do not follow the ordinary.

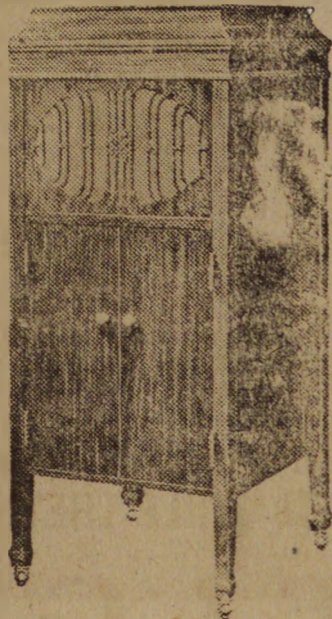

Noted directors interpret the musical theme of each record. Thus we unite the talent of the artist with the genius of the composer. We bring a new guiding hand into record making.

The application of this fundamental necessity has made each Brunswick selection a beautiful musical picture. Each is developed as it would be directed by its creator. And the individuality of the artist is skillfully emphasized.

No one who enjoys beautiful music and wishes to hear eminent artists deliver the composer's version can fail to become enthusiastic over this newest Brunswick accomplishment.

Remember Brunswick Records will play on any phonograph with steel or fibre needle.

Praise is instant when one hears The Brunswick. Come in and hear the new Brunswick and Brunswick Records.

The students should co-operate with the teachers. A teacher cannot do everything that is necessary in the student's education. The student must also try to learn. If a teacher tells a student to learn a certain assignment and he will not do it, the teacher cannot learn it for him. This will only make it hard for the pupil. He may be sent from class, which delays him in his studies, or he may get a low grade which will place him at the bottom of the class.

If the teacher tells a student, to do a certain thing, the student should obey. The teacher is superior to the student. If the student tries to do his best, the teacher will also. There is no excuse for students in the seventh grade and above, not obeying the instructors—they should know better. Fun is alright in its place in school, but the study hour should be quiet as there are several classes who desire to study.

We, as the students of the G. T. H. S. should obey our teachers to our greatest ability. If the students try to do their best, the teachers will also do their best. A good school can exist only when the students and teachers co-operate.

PURDUE TEAM WINS

Paul Mitchell, former Genoa School Teacher in the Team

Purdue's live stock judging team came in for honors Saturday night at the stock show in Chicago, when it was announced that the Indiana quintette had won first in the collegiate judging contest, scoring 3,796 points. Nebraska came under the wire for a close second, scoring only 97 points less than the winners.

Twenty-one colleges and universities, including three from Canada that were forced into a bunch in the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth places, competed. It took the judges a full day to tabulate the results. New Mexico appeared for the first time in the student judging contest this year.

Paul Mitchell, former teacher in the Genoa high school, was a member of the Purdue team.

Winsome Dance Frocks

YOU cannot think of anything much prettier to dance in than this flower-like frock, which might be made accent on "taffeta." For there is of either satin or taffeta—with the something joyous in the crispness of this particular silk that endows every frock made of it with a certain buoyancy and the looms turn it out in exquisite shades of every color under the sun. No other silk is so tractable when bouffant and spirited draperies are needed. But smooth, lustrous satins have advantages when supple silks are required to carry out the idea in the mind of the designer.

The lovely party frock, shown in the picture, reveals a new interpretation of the petal dress and looks like a great blossom. Four overlapping panels, scalloped at the bottom, and faced back with satin, resemble long petals. The deep facing weights the panels in a way that insures good lines in the skirt, which is gathered in, all around at the waist line. It almost goes without saying that the bodice is plain and it is worth noting that it is not very low and has a band of georgette at the top with satin straps over the shoulders. Bodices are growing higher and short sleeves gaining favor in every fashion center, and at this rate we shall arrive at the square neck and elbow sleeve mode before long. There never was anything prettier or more becoming.

Short draperies at each side lead up to high loops of satin at the back of this frock and they are reminders of the bustle mode. The moderately wide girdle is ornamented with a lovely cluster of roses made of satin ribbon, and mounted at the left side. Some dance frocks have no girdles, their plain quaint bodices are extended a little below the waistline, overlapping the top of the skirt and are "crushed," that is slightly wrinkled about the waist. Garlands of satin flowers or of vividly-colored satin fruits, as grapes, little apples, cherries, make the prettiest girdles that ever were to encircle the waist in place of a sash. Where so colorful and important a decoration as this is used, the skirts are without drapery but are very full and have wide hems.

OH, DEAR! MY BACK!

Merciful Heavens, how my back hurts in the morning! It's all due to an over-abundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid). This can be obtained at almost any drug store, in tablet form.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, get Dr. Pierce's Anuric, it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Send Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for trial package.

ELKHART, IND.—"When I started to take Anuric the kidney excretion was thick and cloudy, sometimes I was disturbed fifteen times in one night. I am advanced in years and quite timid about taking advertised remedies, but I felt perfectly safe in taking Anuric because I had been so greatly helped by Dr. Pierce's other remedies. I took one package and my rest at night is unbroken, and consequently my general health is greatly improved."—Mrs. S. J. ANDERSON, No. 700 Marion Street.

"So," said I, "De Lissac is his name, and not De Lapp. Well, colonel or no, it is as well for him that he got away from here before Jim laid hands upon him. And time enough too," I added, peeping out at the kitchen window, "for there is the man himself coming through the garden."

I ran to the door to meet him, feeling that I would have given a deal to have him back in Edinburgh again. He came running, waving a paper over his head, and I thought that maybe he had had a note from Edie, and that it was all known to him. But, as he came up, I saw that it was a big, stiff, yellow paper, which cracked as he yawned it, and that his eyes were dancing with happiness.

"Hurrah! Jock," he shouted. "Where is Edie? Where is Edie?"
"What is it, man?" I asked.
"It's my diploma, Jock. I can practice when I like. It's all right. I want to show it to Edie."
"The best you can do is to forget all about Edie," said I.

"Never have I seen a man's face change as his did when I said these words."

"What! What d'ye mean, Jock Calder?" he stammered. He let go his hold of the precious diploma as he spoke, and away it went over the hedge and across the moor, where it stuck flapping on a whin-bush, but he never so much as glanced at it. His eyes were bent upon me, and I saw the devil's spark glimmer up in the depths of them.

"She is not worthy of you," said I. He gripped me by the shoulder. "What have you done?" he whispered. "This is some of your hanky-panky. Where is she?"

"She's off with that Frenchman who looked here." I had been casting about in my mind how I could break it gently to him; but I was always backward in speech, and I could think of nothing better than this.

"Oh!" said he; and stood nodding his head and looking at me, though I knew very well that he could neither see me, nor the steading, nor anything else. Then he gave a gulp in his throat, and spoke in a queer, dry, rasping voice.

"When was this?" said he.
"This morning."
"Were they married?"
"Yes."

He put his hand against the door-post to steady himself.
"Any message for me?"
"She said that you would forgive her."

"May God blast my soul on the day I do. Where have they gone to?"
"To France, I should judge."
"His name was De Lapp, I think?"
"His real name is De Lissac, and he is no less than a colonel in Boney's Guards."
"Ah, he would be in Paris likely! That is well. That is well!"
"Hold up!" I shouted. "Father! father! Bring the brandy!"

His knees had given way for an instant, but he was himself again before the old man came running with the bottle.

"Take it away!" said Jim, his face still convulsed with rage.
"Have a sop, Mister Horscroft," cried my father, pressing the liquor upon him. "It will give you fresh heart!"

Jim caught hold of the bottle, and sent it flying over the garden hedge.
"It's very good for those who wish to forget," said he; "I am going to remember."

"May God forgive you for sinfu' waste," cried my father aloud.

"And for well-nigh branding an officer of His Majesty's Infantry," said old Major Elliott, putting his head over the hedge. "I could have done with a nip after a morning's walk, but it is something new to have a whole bottle whizz past my ear. But what is amiss, that you all stand round like mutes at a burying?"

In a few words I told him our trouble, while Jim, with a gray face and his brows drawn down, stood leaning against the door-post. The major was as glum as we by the time I had finished, for he was fond both of Jim and Edie.

"Tut, tut!" said he. "I feared something of the kind ever since that business of the peel-tower. It's the way with the French. They can't leave the women alone. But at least De Lissac has married her, and that's a comfort. But it's no time now to think of our little troubles, with all Europe in a roar again, and another twenty years' war before us, as like as not."

"What d'ye mean?" I asked.
"Why man, Napoleon's back from Elba, his troops have flocked to him, and Louis has run for his life. The news was in Berwick this morning."

"Great Lord!" cried my father. "Then the weary business is all to do over again."

"Aye, we thought we were out from the shadow, but it's still there. Wellington is ordered from Vienna to the Low Countries, and it is thought that the emperor will break out first on that side. Well, it's a bad wind that blows nobody any good. I've just had news that I'm to join the Seventy-first as senior major. I am to join my regiment as soon as I can, and we shall be over yonder in a month, and in Paris, maybe, before another one is over."

"By the Lord, then, I'm with you, major!" cried Jim Horscroft. "I'm not too proud to carry a musket, if you will put me in front of this Frenchman."

"My lad, I'd be proud to have you serve under me," said the major. "And as to De Lissac, where the emperor is he will be."
"You know the man," said I; "what can you tell us of him?"

"There is no better officer in the French army, and that is a big word to say. They say that he would have been a marshal, but he preferred to stay at the emperor's elbow. I met him two days before Corunna, when I was sent with a flag to speak about our wounded. He was with Soult then. I knew him again when I saw him."

"And I will know him again when I see him," said Horscroft, with the old dour look on his face.

And then at that instant, as I stood there, it was suddenly driven home to me how poor and purposeless a life I should lead while this crippled friend of ours and the companion of my boyhood were away in the forefront of the storm. Quick as a flash my resolution was taken.

"I'll come with you, too, major," I cried.

"Jock! Jock!" said my father, wringing his hands.

Jim said nothing, but he put his arm half round me and hugged me. The major's eyes shone and he flourished his cane in the air.

"My word! but I shall have two good recruits at my heels," said he. "Well, there's no time to be lost, so you must both be ready for the evening coach."

And this was what a single day brought about, and yet years pass away so often without a change. Just think of the alteration in that four-and-twenty hours. De Lissac was gone. Edie was gone. Napoleon had escaped. War had broken out. Jim Horscroft had lost everything, and he and I were setting out to fight against the French. It was all like a dream, until I tramped off to the coach that evening, and looked back at the gray farmstead and at the two little dark figures—my mother, with her face sunk in her Shetland shawl, and my father, waving his drover's stick to hearten me upon my way.

CHAPTER XI.

The Gathering of the Nations.
And now I come to a bit of my story that clean makes me wish that I had never taken the job of telling it in hand. But you can find the cause and reason of everything in the books about history, and so I shall just leave that alone and talk about what I saw with my own eyes and heard with my own ears.

The regiment to which our friend had been appointed was the Seventy-first Highland Light Infantry, which wore the red coat and the trews, and had its depot in Glasgow town. There we went, all three, by coach, the major in great spirits and full of stories about the Duke and the Peninsula, while Jim sat in the corner, with his lips set and his arms folded, and I knew that he killed De Lissac three times an hour in his heart. I could tell it by the sudden glint of his eyes and grip of his hand.

We were in Glasgow next day, and the major took us down to the depot, where a soldier with three stripes on his arm and a fistful of ribbons from his cap showed every tooth he had in his head at the sight of Jim, and walked three times round him, to have the view of him as if he had been Carlisle castle. Then he came over to me and felt my muscled, and was well nigh as pleased as with Jim.

"These are the sort, major; these are the sort," he kept saying. "With a thousand of these we could stand up to Boney's best."
"How do they run?" asked the major.

"A poor show," said he, "but they may lick into shape. The best men have been drafted to America, and we are full of milltimen and recruits."

"Tut, tut!" said the major. "We'll have old soldiers and good ones against us. Come to me if you need any help, you two." And so, with a nod, he left us, and we began to understand that a major who is your officer is a very different person from a major who happens to be your neighbor in the country.

Soon came the news that the folk at Vienna, who had been cutting up Europe as if it had been a fidget of nutron, had frown back, each to his own country, and that every man and horse in their armies had their faces toward France.

We heard of great reviews and musters in Paris too, and then that Wellington was in the Low Countries, and that on and on the Prussians would fall the first blow. The government was shipping men to him as fast as they could, and every port along the east coast was choked with guns and horses and stores. On the third of June we had our marching orders also, and on the same day we took ship from Leth, reaching Ostend the night after. From there we went on to a place called Bruges, and from there to Ghent, where we picked up the Fifty-second and the Ninety-fifth, which were the two regiments that were being brigaded with it. It's a wonderful place for churches and stonework, is Ghent; and, indeed, of all the towns we were in there was scarce one but had a finer kirk than any in Glasgow.

From there we pushed on to Ath, which is a little village on a river, or a burn rather, called the Dender. There we were quartered—in tents mostly, for it was fine, sunny weather—and the whole brigade set to work at its drill from morning till evening. General Adams was our chief and Reynell was our colonel, and they were both fine old soldiers; but what put heart into us most was to think that we were under the Duke, for his name was like a bugle call. He was at Brussels with the bulk of the army, but we knew that he should see him quick enough if he were needed.

I had never seen so many English together, and indeed I had a kind of contempt for them, as folk always have if they live near a border. But the two regiments that were with us now were as good comrades as could be wished. The Fifty-second had a thousand men in the ranks, and there were many old soldiers of the Peninsula among them. They came from Oxfordshire for the most part. The Ninety-fifth were a rifle regiment, and had dark-green coats instead of red. It was strange to see them loading, for they would put the ball in a greasy rag, and then hammer it down with a mallet, but they could fire both farther and straighter than we. All that part of Belgium was covered with British troops at that time, for the Guards were over near Enghien, and there were cavalry regiments on the farther side of us. You see, it was very necessary that Wellington should spread out all his force, for Boney was behind the screen of his fortresses, and of course we had no means of saying on what side he might pop out, except that he was pretty sure to come the way that we least expected him. On the one side he might get between us and the sea, and so cut us off from England; and on the other he might shove in between the Prussians and ourselves. But the Duke was as clever as he, for he had his horse and his light troops all around him, like a great spider's web, so that the moment a French foot stepped across the border he could close up all his men at the right place.

For myself, I was very happy at Ath, and I found the folk very kindly and homely. There was a farmer of the name of Bois, in whose fields we were quartered, who was a real good friend to many of us. We built him a wooden barn among us in our spare time, and many a time I and Jib Seaton, my rear-rank man, have hung out his washing, for the smell of the wet linen seemed to take us both straight home as nothing else could do. I have often wondered whether that good man and his wife are still living, though I think it hardly likely, for they were of a hale middle age at the time. Jim would come with us too sometimes, and would sit with us smoking in the big Flemish kitchen, but he was a different Jim now to the old one. He had always had a hard touch in him, but now his trouble seemed to have turned him to flint, and I never saw a smile upon his face, and seldom heard a word from his lips. His whole mind was set on revenge, taken Edie from him, and he would sit for hours, with his chin upon his hands, glaring and frowning, and wrapped up in the one idea. This made him a bit of a butt among the men at first, and they laughed at him for it; but when they came to know him better they found that he was not a good man to laugh at, and they dropped it.

Japanese Masks of Shame.
One of the most unusual features of a Japanese court to a stranger is the fact that each prisoner has his head covered by a wicker mask, more like an inverted waste-basket than anything else, the object of which is to prevent recognition of the prisoner, to permit him to hide his shame under the disguise and, very possibly, to prevent him from making a bolt for liberty.
The sight of a prisoner so arrayed is ghastly, the mask bringing up the suggestion of the hangman's cap.
Once in the prisoners' box, however, the masks are removed, while the prisoners sit with deeply bowed heads in an attitude of the utmost humility.—Boston Post.

U. S. GUNMEN WITH REBELS

Commons Told of Big Torch Plot by Sinn Fein—London Attack is Blocked—Premier and Police in Conference.

Macroom, County Cork, Ireland, Dec. 1.—Fifteen auxiliary police cadets were killed and one cadet mortally wounded as the result of an ambush near Kilmichael, southwest of here, last night. Another cadet is missing. The cadets, under District Inspector Clarke, were patrolling in two lorries when they were ambushed. London, Dec. 1.—American "gunmen" are said to have made their appearance in Londonderry, Ireland, according to messages received here. The presence of these mercenaries in Dublin and other Irish cities has previously been reported. The military authorities of Londonderry are taking all precautions in the event of attempted assassinations. The police of Liverpool, discharges from that city say, also believe American "gunmen" have invaded Liverpool. The police claim to have established connection between Sinn Fein headquarters and numerous strangers who are idling about the streets in groups.

Edward Shortt, the home secretary, declared in the house of commons in reply to questions regarding Saturday night's incendiary dock fires in Liverpool, that there seemed no doubt that the fires were the result of an organized conspiracy in which members of the Sinn Fein party were engaged.

The public galleries of the house of commons were closed in the afternoon and the approaches to the houses of parliament guarded by extra police as a precaution against possible unwarlike incidents, following the disclosure of an alleged Sinn Fein conspiracy for operations in England.

Speaker Lowther stated in the commons, in answer to a question, that he had ordered the galleries closed as a result of information he had received from the chief commissioner.

As an additional precaution a police motorboat, armed with a machine gun, was placed on patrol along the river front of the houses of parliament.

The latest Sinn Fein developments were discussed at an important conference at 10 Downing street, the official residence of Premier Lloyd George, between members of the government and the heads of the police organizations.

The conferees included the premier, Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for war; Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland; Speaker Lowther of the house of commons, and the heads of the metropolitan police and Scotland Yard.

The closing of the public galleries of the house of commons followed this meeting.

London, Dec. 1.—Half a dozen men who were preparing to set fire to a large lumber yard in the district of Finchbury, an important section of the city of London, less than a mile north of London bridge, were surprised by a policeman. This attempt was almost coincident with the breaking out of incendiary fires in Liverpool. The policeman challenged the loiterer, who immediately attacked the officer and shouted for help. Five men, with revolvers, answered his call, emerging from behind some empty wagons and rushing the policeman, who was compelled to liberate the man he had seized. All the men escaped. Searching behind the wagons, the policeman found cotton waste soaked with gasoline of a lumber yard, and he also discovered two revolvers and 100 cartridges. One of the supposed incendiaries was later arrested.

Grand Rapids (Mich.) Cashier Confesses Thefts for Ten Years—Would Rival Morgans.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 1.—Fredrick W. French, assistant cashier of the City Trust & Savings bank, confessed that he had embezzled between $300,000 and $500,000 of the bank's funds.

The confession marks the end of a dream of financial conquest through which he hoped to establish a fortune comparable to that of the Morgans, the DuPonts or the Kockefellers.
It marks the culmination of an effort extending over ten years to pay back the first $400 he stole while still a teller.

Muffins
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon shortening
Sift together, flour, baking powder, sugar and salt; add milk, well-beaten eggs and melted shortening; mix well. Grease muffin tins and put two tablespoons of batter into each. Bake in hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Coffee Cake
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup milk
Mix and sift dry ingredients; add melted shortening and enough milk to make very stiff batter. Spread 1/2-inch thick in greased pan; add top mixture. Bake about 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Top Mixture
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
Mix dry ingredients; rub in shortening and spread thickly over top of dough before baking.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.
It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.
Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.
However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

The Remedy With a Record of Fifty-four Years of Surpassing Excellence.

Those who suffer from nervous dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of fermentation and indigestion will find Green's August Flower a most effective and efficient assistant in the restoration of nature's functions and a return to health and happiness. There could be no better testimony of the value of this remedy for these troubles than the fact that its use for the last fifty-four years has extended into many thousands of households all over the civilized world and no indication of any failure has been obtained in all that time where medicine could effect relief. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

A New Log Saw

Cuts Faster, Costs Less, Makes More Money for Users and Works While You Rest.
A new improved power log saw, now being offered, outdoes all other log saws in cutting wood quickly and at little cost. A new 4-cycle, high power motor equipped with Oscillating Magnet—no batteries to fall you—makes the saw bite through logs faster than other log saws. It finishes its cut and is ready for another before the ordinary saw is well started. This log saw—the Ottawa—has a specially designed friction clutch, controlled by a lever, which starts and stops the saw without stopping the engine. Others have imitated, but no other power log saw has this improvement just like the Ottawa. The Ottawa Log Saw sells for less money than any power saw of anything like its size.

The Improved Model, 4-H.P. Ottawa Log Saw.
One man wheels this outfit from cut to cut and log to log like a barrow. Separate attachments cut down trees and cut up branches. Extra power lets the engine do heavy work of all kinds. Owners of the Ottawa Log Saw laugh at coal shortages and are making big money with ease, the machine doing the work. 35 to 60 cords cut any day, rainy or dry, by one man, are normal figures. And wood is approaching $20 a cord! The Ottawa is compact, simple and durable. It sells for cash or easy payments and is guaranteed. If you have wood to cut the Ottawa Log Saw will be the most satisfactory machine you've ever owned. We suggest that you write the Ottawa Mfg. Co., 2724 Wood St., Ottawa, Kas., for their complete new illustrated book and prices, sent free to all readers of this paper.

MEDICS IN PARTNERSHIP

Doctors J. W. Ovitz and E. C. Burton Join Forces

Dr. J. W. Ovitz of Genoa and Sycamore and Dr. E. C. Burton of Kingston, both young and successful physicians and surgeons, have formed a co-partnership. Offices will be maintained as at present in Genoa, Sycamore and Kingston. The definite arrangement for office hours has not yet been made known. The reporter has been informed, however that Dr. Burton will be in the Genoa office part of the time, altho he will retain his residence in Kingston.

WORK NEARLY COMPLETED

Work on the Sycamore road of building a gravel shoulder on the road is about completed and if the motorists keep off for just a short time longer it will be completed. In the meantime those who travel on the Sycamore-DeKalb concrete road will do so at their own risk. They are requested by Highway commissioner Fuller of DeKalb to keep off the gravel road until the work of placing a gravel shoulder each side the concrete in DeKalb township is completed.

Time and time again barriers have been erected, and some reckless driver has crashed through them says the DeKalb Chronicle.

Most travel between the two cities has now been diverted to the cement road between DeKalb and Cortland and from the latter place on fair road to Sycamore. Many go to Colville and take that route.

Illinois Central Presents Comparative Costs of Passenger Fares

Americans pay more for nearly everything they buy than do Europeans. They are able to pay more because their wages are relatively higher. There is one notable exception, however—passenger transportation charges in this country are substantially lower.

Although there has been a recent increase in American passenger fares, Americans still pay less for travelling accomodation than Europeans. The following is a comparison between passenger fares charged in the United States, the points being on the Illinois Central System, and fares paid by Europeans traveling similar distances:

FROM	TO	Distance (Miles)	Railroad Fare First Class	Sleeping Car Fare	Total R. R. Fare and Berth
Jackson, Miss.	New Orleans, La.	183.1	$ 7.13	$ 3.65	$ 10.78

Paris, France	Prague, Czech Slov.	786	93.13	24.96	118.09

All American fares given in the table include a war tax of 8 per cent. The American sleeping-car fares are for lower berths.

The American custom of handling, free of charge, as much baggage as the ordinary passenger carries is unknown abroad. In addition, baggage rates in Europe are much higher than in the United States. This condition should be considered in comparing passenger fares in the various countries.

In the United States the railroads collect a surcharge on sleeping-car fares which is included in the above table. This surcharge helps to meet the cost of hauling the heavier care required, in which fewer passengers are carried.

During 1919 the Illinois Central hauled 1 1/2 gross tons of weight for each coach passenger carried, and 4 4-10 gross tons of weight for each sleeping-car passenger carried. Not to collect the surcharge, therefore, would obviously be a discrimination against the coach passenger, and an injustice to the railroad.

The costs of facilities for rendering passenger service have increased greatly. The average passenger coach cost $12,400 in 1914; it now costs $30,300, an increase of 144 per cent. The average passenger locomotive cost $20,000 in 1914; it now costs $65,000, and increase of 225 per cent. There have been heavy increases in the costs of wages, fuel and other material.

These are some of the reasons why passenger fares are necessarily higher now than they were in former years.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.
