JOURNEY TO BONESTEEL

Story of Trip to Reservation by Rev. C. S. Clay

Springview, Neb., July 11, 1904. Endeavoring as best I can I shall attempt to fulfill my promise to you in giving you a description of my trip to the Dakotas. I regret to say that it has been out of the question for me to write you sooner for two reasons mainly, first because I have been constantly on the go with scarcely a moments rest, and secondly owing to the fact that I have been thirty miles from the railroad and no mail advantages.

In company with my mother we left Clinton, Iowa, via the C. & N. W. R'y at 9:30 p. m. July 5. By good fortune I had previously made arrangements for berths, for upon boarding the train we found it packed, with no seats anywhere to be found. It was stated that there were on board over 1000 citizens of United States, who were bound for Bonesteel, S. D., with the express purpose of registering for the Rosebud Reservation. This great trainload of people stayed by us until we reached Norfolk, Neb., where we changed cars, the vast throng going north into Dakota, we going to Bassill, Neb.

I cannot attempt to give you every detail while enroute for my lengthy letter would tire your many readers.

My impression of northern Nebraska from Norfolk west is not the most favorable, for looking in all directions as far as your vision may carry you there is beheld sand hills, sand fields—everywhere sand is to be found. Nebraska is a peculiar country in that it is fertile in spots. One may find poor sallow soil and perhaps within a few feet very rich loamy soil capable of producing the best of crops.

My brother owns one of the best quarter sections in the state, which is located on a narrow strip of very fertile land known as Iowa soil, this strip consisting of an area of about fifteen or twenty square miles. Upon our arrival here I discovered that my brother lived seventy miles from Bonesteel and to take the drive required four days of driving by wagon which afforded me a very good opportunity of securing general information regarding the values of land, etc., my brother living in this portion of the country for twenty years has made him an adept in the art of recognizing good farms.

We entered the Rosebud at Range 71 W., driving over the Indian trails diagonally in a northeast direction. I have learned considerable in knowing good from poor land. I found the much heard of Ponca river to be a very small creek scarcely more than twelve feet wide and not more than the same number of inches in depth. The land on either side of this river has been chosen by the Indians in allotments made them. They have very few farms of first class lands for the country on either side of this stream is very broken and rough for two miles and would not be desirable property for the average farmer.

Passing two miles beyond the Ponca we came on top of the table lands. We saw some of the finest land ever beheld between this point and Bonesteel. We got to Bonesteel yesterday at 4 p. m. and was registered in less than fifteen minutes time. There was an increasing, almost continuous procession of teams going out to view the land. Those who drive their own conveyances do so in that they can stop over night on the prairie. This is done, not because Bonesteel has not provided sufficient quarters for the entertainment of the thousands who are there, but to save time as the Reservation is a large country, the extreme corner being over thirty miles from Bonesteel. You can buy victuals as cheap at Bonesteel as anywhere, good meals you can get at twenty-five cents, and beds perhaps that would not suit the fastidious, but splendidly located in tents proved comfort to the weary land seeker. Yours, C. S. CLAY.

HUGHES PROMOTED

Will be Night Ticket Agent at the Wells Street Station at Chicago

Willis Hughes, ticket agent and telegraph operator at the C. & N. W. railway office here for nearly two years, has been assigned to the Wells street passenger depot in Chicago, and will be the night ticket agent at the office there.

Fred McElroy, who has been the night operator here, will succeed Agent Hughes temporarily on day service and Clarence Rogers will be the night operator.

The traveling public will very much regret to know that Mr. Hughes is to leave the city. His uniform courtesy and attentiveness to the wants of all having business to transact at the passenger station have made him extremely popular, and his many friends among the railroad men and in social circles will entertain sentiments of the same nature, while congratulating him upon his promotion.—Belvidere-Republican-Northwestern.

Hughes was formerly agent at Henrietta, residing here about six years ago.

The Colorado Special

Brutally Tortured

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick of Colusa, Calif., writes, "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for liver and kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Hunt's Pharmacy.

Northwestern Line

Excursion tickets to races at Aurora, Ill., via the North-Western Line. Excursion tickets will be sold July 19 to 22, inclusive, limited to return July 23, inclusive. Apply to Agents Chicago & North-Western R'y.

Night Was Her Terror

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep.
