

COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA THIS YEAR

Over Eighty Guarantors Will Assure Genoa of Fine Program

DATE JULY 4 TO 8 INCLUSIVE

Following is the Program for the First Two Days—Some Excellent Numbers on Platform

The Central Community Chautauqua which pleased large audiences in Genoa last year will be with us again this year on the days of July 4 to 8 inclusive.

In announcing the following excellent program for 1923, the officers of the Community Chautauquas wish to call attention to the fact that instead of one large feature attraction, this program contains three companies of unusual size and importance, and at the same time offers other concert and entertainment companies and lectures of recognized ability and experience. Everyone will readily realize that to build a program of this type entails the expenditure of much greater sums than the programs of the past. This expense has been incurred in the belief that the local Chautauqua Associations will so organize their season ticket selling and advertising campaigns as to greatly increase the attendance over that of previous years and thus make the receipts justify the expense and at the same time secure for their respective communities the maximum benefit from the assembly.

The result of the poll recently taken of the communities served on this circuit was practically unanimous in the decision to eliminate the program of the afternoon of the first day in order that a great feature attraction could be secured for the first night and thus the Assembly could be started off with a larger attendance and more enthusiasm than would be possible at an afternoon session. The Management has accordingly arranged to present Langdon McCormick's romance of the north woods, "The Storm."

This play, which will be presented on the first night (July 4) by a cast of high class professional players from Broadway, has had remarkable runs in New York and other centers. The story of the play is most interesting and teaches strongly the lesson of the triumph of honesty with one's self and his fellows.

The second day (July 5) The Theresa Sheehan Concert Co.—Theresa Sheehan, inimitable Irish reader, Ethel McPhee, soprano and Freda Slaughter, violinist and accompanist—will offer the full afternoon program on this day. In the evening, following the prelude by the Sheehan Co., Geo. Whitefield Ray, F.R.G.S., world renowned South American explorer, will deliver his lecture, "Through Five Republics on Horseback." This remarkable lecture clearly demonstrated the oft repeated statement that truth is stranger than fiction. After fifteen years of exploration and thrilling personal adventures, of which he tells in his lecture, the wealth of educational material which he had gathered, earned for him a Fellowship in the Royal Geographical Society. Through Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Alaska, Mexico and the United States, Mr. Ray is known as the "Livingstone of South America." Mr. Ray, one of the peaks in the mountains of the Republic of Brazil, was named for him by the government in recognition of his valued services. Dr. Ray is at present in South America with commissions from the Lincoln Park Zoo of Chicago and the New York Museum of Natural History. Note: The program for July 6, 7 and 8 will be given in next week's issue.

REBEKAH LODGE TO ENTERTAIN

The Della Rebekah Lodge extends a cordial invitation to all members and their husbands, and to all Odd Fellows and their wives to attend a party at the Odd Fellow Hall on Friday evening, May 4, at nine o'clock, immediately following lodge meeting. A program will be given followed by refreshments.

CITY CLEAN-UP DAY SET

Monday, May 14, Has Been Set Aside By Mayor to Get Rid Rubbish

In keeping with the city's policy that has been promulgated the past few years, Genoa will have her annual clean up day on Monday, May 14. The city will have conveyances out to pick up the rubbish that is piled on the side of the alley or, if no alley is near the house, then on the curb. Under no conditions, however, will the men remove ash piles. Everyone work together and Genoa will have as pretty streets as can be found anywhere.

Supt. of Streets Heed has been cleaning the gutters recently; even now Genoa's streets put forth the appearance of having undergone a thorough housecleaning.

Don't forget the date, May 14, as Clean-Up day. Have everything in readiness for the men when they call and the city can be covered in one day.

LOCALS PLAY BALL SUNDAY

Will Engage in Duel With The Kingston Tigers at Kingston

Resplendent in new suits and with a fighting punch that means for a victory at all costs the Genoa Nationals under the management of O. Overly and captained by J. Byers will invade the lair of the Kingston Tigers Sunday afternoon, May 6, and try to snatch the bones of victory from that group of players.

Our boys will be out in their new suits with which they are very well pleased and Guston will hurl with Crawford catching.

Overly has been putting the men thru some fast workouts on the diamonds and with just a few of the breaks which it is right for every team to have, will no doubt be returned victor. Let every fan go down and boost Sunday. Show the team that the town is back of them and will be back of them from the start until the finish.

LYCEUM TICKETS REDEEMED

Information has been handed the Republican that all Lyceum tickets for the course that was supposed to have been given last winter in Genoa will be redeemed at the Farmers State Bank during the next two weeks. Inasmuch as one number was given, the face value of the ticket will not be given in return, but, after deducting the first number, it leaves $1.10 for each adult ticket and $0.55 for the child's ticket. This will continue for two weeks only from date of issue.

COMMUNITY DANCE A SUCCESS

An Exceptionally Large Crowd Attended Classic Last Friday

What is termed as one of the best dances held in Genoa for a number of years was staged last Friday night in the Auditorium. The weather conditions were ideal, the floor in excellent shape and the music by Beljean's orchestra was delightful. The local men who put the affair over are doubly pleased with the results, first because it was a paying crowd and second because they received many commendations for the excellent time afforded everyone.

The Girls' Club of the Shoe Factory will hold a dance in the same hall on this Friday evening (May 4) to which everyone is cordially invited.

MR. BLOOH IN FINE ADDRESS

Noted Liberian Accorded Great Welcome in M. E. Church Sunday

There was a large crowd in the M. E. Church auditorium Sunday morning to hear Mr. Blooh of Liberia, Africa, deliver a stirring talk on the conditions as they exist in his native country, their manners and customs. He also sang two bass solos which brought out some beautiful bass notes of wonderful quality. The lecture itself was exceptionally interesting and held the congregation spell-bound until the last.

In the evening stereopticon slides were shown of war-stricken Europe and the ruins of Chateaux Thierry. The pictures were greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

The Home and Foreign Missionary Society will hold a birthday party at the home of Mrs. Allen Mowers on Wednesday, May 9. The ladies whose birthdays occur in April, May, and June will serve.

NOTES FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Former Justice of Peace of DeKalb Arrested by Sheriff Saturday

HELD FOR CONFIDENCE GAME

Several Divorce Cases Heard and Decrees Granted—Injunction Given Against School Dist. 401

Grace Murphy McKee of the Village of Kirkland on Saturday, April 28, 1923 filed her bill for divorce in the circuit court against Roy I. McKee, her husband. The defendant filed a written consent to an immediate hearing and the same was had before Judge Fulton. According to the testimony of Mrs. McKee, she was married on August 27, 1915 at Harvard, Illinois to the defendant and lived with him until February 25, 1923. One child now of the age of two years was born out of the marriage. The complainant testified her husband for a space of two years had been guilty of habitual drunkenness and on this ground the court entered a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony. The complainant is to have the care and custody of the child.

On Saturday afternoon Judge Slusser continued the session of the circuit court and entered several orders. A hearing was held on an application for an injunction in the case of Elmer E. Embree against the DeKalb Township High School District No. 401 and others to restrain certain payments.

An order was entered at the conclusion of the hearing that the DeKalb Township High School District No. 401, the Board of Education of said Township High School and F. O. Crego, Township Treasurer of DeKalb Township be severally enjoined from making disbursements to any person or persons, other than the complainants from funds or moneys in the hands of them due or to become due Ross P. Beckstrom Company, under the contract of the high school district with Ross P. Beckstrom Co. for the erection of an addition to the building of the high school.

Florence Samuel of Genoa entered a complaint against her husband John M. Samuel, whose residence is unknown. On the hearing of her action for divorce she testified that they were married on July 14, 1919 and lived together until October 1919, when Mrs. Samuel testified her husband left her without any reasonable cause and has not lived with her since. No children were born out of the marriage which was ordered by a decree of the court dissolved. The defendant was defaulted for want of appearance.

Samuel E. Milligan, for a number of years Justice of the peace of the city of DeKalb, was arrested on Saturday, April 21, 1923, by the sheriff of DeKalb county on charges of working a confidence game preferred against him by Paul Kashir also of DeKalb.

It appears from the story told by Kashir that in September 1920, Milligan represented to him that he owned the building occupied by him in the city of DeKalb and solicited him to purchase it. Kashir who is illiterate being in the country since 1906 finally agreed with Milligan to purchase the house on payment of $200 in cash and balance of $800 in monthly payments of $20 and signed a contract in which Milligan represented himself as party of the first part. Kashir thereafter made regular payments to Milligan which total about $600 and also paid taxes and interest. At the time of the execution of the contract the property was and up to the present time is owned by one M. L. Hattiestad of Iowa. Milligan simply having the authority to rent the house.

Milligan according to his own story did not notify the true owner of the sale made by him to Kashir but continued to remit to him the sum of $10 per month as rent. He also collected money from Hattiestad the owner for taxes which had already been paid to him by Kashir.

About a year after the contract was executed Milligan wrote to Hattiestad inquiring for the first time if he would sell the house and for what price. He never paid Hattiestad any of the interest or the money received from Kashir on account of the purchase of the house, except the rent money but used it for his own purpose.

Kashir later became suspicious of Milligan's actions and found that Hattiestad owned the property and that he never received any of the money and that Milligan had no authority to sell the house. After several demands by Kashir on Milligan to pay him back his money or secure him a deed upon payment of the balance with no results Kashir made complaint to the state's attorney and secured the warrant for Milligan's arrest. Kashir is at the head of a family of nine children and is employed by the American Steel and Wire Co. at DeKalb.

Milligan was brought up before Z. J. Mitchell, Police Magistrate at Sycamore for a preliminary hearing which he waived and was bound over to the June grand jury under $1000 bail. In default of which he was committed to the county jail.

On Saturday afternoon, April 21, another warrant for Milligan was sworn out by W. J. Scheaffer, Deputy game warden charging Milligan with embezzlement.

On May 1, 1922 one Jos. Marriot was brought up before Milligan charged with violating the Fish & Game Laws of Illinois. He was fined $25.00 by Milligan as Justice of the Peace and paid his fine. On December 17, 1922 M. Ridulph and Mike Ridulph were also fined $35.00 each on a charge of violating the Fish & Game Laws which fines were paid to Milligan. Although under the statute the Justice of the Peace assessing the fines is directed to remit the fines to the Department of Agriculture within 30 days or be guilty of embezzlement Milligan to date has not sent the money to Springfield but used it for his own purpose.

Several other complaints have been made to the state's attorney in cases where Milligan collected money but failed to account for it. Among these is Sears Roebuck & Co. who engaged Milligan to collect money due them for a stove. Milligan later sold the stove for $40 on payments of $5.00 per week and although he collected the entire amount of $40 he failed to pay the money over.

STATE MOTHERS 4000 CHILDREN

Mother's Day, designated by statute as the second Sunday in May, is set apart for observance along the lines suggested by the name.

On that day the people of Illinois will pause to honor, each in his or her own way, the personage who bears the blessed name of mother, whether she be still in the land of the living or has passed to that great beyond from whence no messenger ever has returned.

All of which brings to mind the pleasing fact that Illinois as commonwealth, is one of the greatest mother states in the world. Illinois is mothering more than 4,000 children, in a literal sense and to the fullest extent that the term implies.

There are in the various institutions maintained by the state the number of little children mentioned. The motherly ministrations are performed through the Division of Children, the Soldiers' Orphan home at Normal and in other places where Fate has cast the hapless little ones into the lap of the state. Mother like, she is guiding their little feet into useful paths and equipping them for the battle of life in a manner that called forth an eloquent commentary by the Governor in his biennial message to the legislature early in January.

So, when, on May 13, you pay tribute to Mother, Illinois will share the honor 4,000 fold.

G. T. H. S. NOTES

The sophomore English class has been studying the short-story. Some of the original stories submitted were so good that it was decided to hold an after-school session that these might be read. Monday after classes were over, the English room was decorated for the party, the desks having been arranged in a circle and each desk placed with dolly and place card, sweethearts and cake. Those reading stories were Lois Cooper, Harold Durham, Ralph Atlee Ray Maderer, Dorothy Adler, Elmer Siebens, Irving Peterson and Oliver Patterson. Oliver and Harold Corson were joint-chairmen.

Although many of the stories were thrilling adventure stories, some few were written from personal experience. The story by Irving Peterson is an interesting account of his grandfather's life and will be published in the next issue of the Republican.

MORE ABOUT BIRDS

As the years go by the song birds which are insect eaters become fewer. To encourage them to stay with us let's build nests, etc.

Build houses in the tree tops and some little shelves for them to perch on, and also in shrubbery for birds that will not build in a house—such as robins, orioles, catbirds, scarlet tanagers, thrushes, cardinals and gross beaks.

Birds like to bathe and pans should be kept full of water in the winter as well as the summer time; and building material should also be put in the crochets of trees.

A pan of mud is helpful to the birds in aiding them in making their nests. A "dinner table" is a simple feeding device that is very popular with little birds—a platform nailed to the top of a branch with a frame to support and a shady branch laid over it. To prevent your nice angora cat from harming the birds, a row of projecting tin or wire fencing may be put around a tree. Thus our little birds are safe from cats and other climbing enemies.

GET RIGH OF WAY FOR ROUTE 23

McHenry Co. Sure of All North and South Road—Time for Us to Get In

The officials and everybody in the county adjoining us on the north have been for nearly a year smoothing out all wrinkles in the way of the state beginning work on paving bond issue route 23, which runs from Harvard through Marengo, Genoa, Sycamore, DeKalb and on south.

In McHenry county there has been considerable right of way to secure, owing to the fact that in maintaining the state's policy to straighten these highways and thus shorten the distance between the principal cities and villages as much as possible, it has been necessary to buy where damages have been easily apparent and to secure donations of right of way in many other cases. This has been done by donations and appropriations by the McHenry county supervisors.

In DeKalb county it is said, only a few small pieces of farm property will be taken in order to run the route of the official survey, and these have been donated. Although little work along that line is necessary here, it is important that the organizations in the various communities show their interest and impress the state with the necessity for this north-south route which will connect up all the paved routes in northern Illinois. Sycamore True Republican.

Tribune Says Lowden and Shurtleff Gubernatorial Possibilities

Judge E. D. Shurtleff of Marengo and former Gov. Lowden of Oregon were given a gubernatorial boom by the Chicago Tribune in a recent issue. Frank Butzow, writes the article from a view of "inside talk" in Springfield political circles.

These include Governor Small, present incumbent of the office, former Gov. Lowden, Judge Shurtleff, Frank L. Smith, John H. Harrison of Danville, S. S. Tanner, Modern Woodman director whose home is at Minier, Ill., and Atty. Gen. Brundage.

"HONOR THE DEAD HELP THE LIVING"

American Legion, Dept. of Illinois, to Sell Poppies May 29 and 30

PROCEEDS TO HELP WOUNDED

Great Organizations Are Behind the Drive—All Poppies Will Bear Legion Signature on Back

With this slogan, The American Legion, Department of Illinois is to hold "Poppy Days" on May 29 and 30, throughout Illinois.

That the memory of those who fell in France may be cherished fittingly, the people of a state that sent 350,000 sons and daughters to the colors, are asked by Charles W. Schick, Commander of the Department of Illinois, to wear the emblem suggestive of the fields where heroes sleep. The American Legion has selected this blossom, symbolical of those that blow in Flanders Fields, "between the crosses row on row," to pay tribute to Comrades who gave their lives.

Use of the Poppy of France as a memorial flower, and the spirit of remembrance created thereby, in the campaign of the American Legion for funds for service work has touched the sentiment of many of Illinois' greatest organizations. Fraternal societies, and organizations for social service, religious, and patriotic, have communicated their willingness to cooperate with the Legion in the sale of poppies, May 29 and 30, and of their determination to imbue their membership with such a spirit that will result in wearing of the poppy on the breast of every Illinoisan on Memorial Day.

Department Commander Charles W. Schick is receiving assurances of cooperation from various organizations daily.

Among the great organizations which have indicated an intent to assist in the sale of poppies in this state are the Modern Woodmen of America, The Fraternal Order of Eagles, Association of Commerce The Salvation Army, and promises of cooperation have been received from the Federation of Labor through the office of the President, Samuel Gompers.

Members of the Young Men's Christian Association, the "Y" of war days will urge that members of their organization wear the scarlet poppy on Memorial Day in accord with the campaign, and a score of other equally well-known associations have signified their intentions of doing all in their power to assure the success of Poppy Days, May 29 and 30.

All Poppies sold by the American Legion in Illinois, will have "The American Legion, Department of Illinois," stamped on the back.

ELLWOOD & NELSON'S HOLSTEIN

Purebred Holstein Produces 14,206lb Butter Fat in 7 Days—2 Years Old

Ellwood & Nelson of DeKalb are owners of a purebred Holstein, which has made a very good record of milk and butterfat production.

The official announcement made by the advanced registry office of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America, states that Lady Piebe Segis Hengerveld produced 335.3 lbs. of milk and 14,206 lbs. of butterfat in seven days at the age of two years and two months. In terms of butter this production equals 17.7 pounds.

Last year 18,000 cows were officially and semi-officially tested for production. It takes over forty employees in the advanced registry office in the little town of Delavan, Wis., to keep the records. There are over 150 employees in the office where Holsteins are registered and transferred in Brattleboro, Vermont.

PENZIE'S PHILOSOPHY

"Happiness is a thing that bubbles up naturally before you've had much experience, but cheerfulness is a thing you've reasoned out and stand by 'cause you believe it's right. . . . I had to make a home again—and for somebody that didn't have one. Way it is, when you lose them that's dear to you, it kind of opens your heart wider, and you got more love for more folks—stead of less. When I had children of my own, I thought 'bout them; but when I—I lost 'em, I began to think 'bout all the children, every-where—specially those that was handicapped and forlorn and didn't have a chance to grow up true to the souls that the Lord gave 'em."

Well, that's Penzie's philosophy of life—Mrs. Penfield, a widow, who takes in washing and lives in a barn with three adopted children. Florence Bingham Livingston has written "The Custard Cup" around Penzie and has thus won for herself a place in the front rank of American woman writers—with her first novel. There is something of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and something of "Miss Lulu Bett" in "The Custard Cup"—that is, the same kind of work, not imitation. And that's high praise, indeed.

Mrs. Livingston was born in Burlington, Vt., has lived in New York and now lives in California. She's got a college degree tucked away, but she can get into a gingham uniform and be as efficiently useful as Penzie herself.

CHAPTER I

Mrs. Penfield, Manager.

Mrs. Penfield's house had originally been a barn; but it had chanced to come up in the world as Mrs. Penfield went down, and they had met and joined forces to make a home where none had been intended. The only feature which had not suffered change was the main door, a huge sliding affair that precluded front windows and was like no other door for blocks around, belonging to the type that had gone out with the practical passing of the horse.

If fortune led you that way, you performed an operation on a small crank similar to grinding the morning coffee, a bell jangled, and in no time at all the big door creaked aside, and there was the plump figure of Mrs. Penfield. Her brown eyes had a look of youth that belied the iron-gray of her hair; and the cheerful curve of her lips gave you a welcome that preceded the words—because always she asked you to "come right in." Your name, your business, were secondary matters; you were first of all a human being and therefore interesting.

It was Monday afternoon. Mrs. Penfield had started the second washing of the day, when Crink returned from school and bounded into the lean-to kitchen.

"Goodness me!" she exclaimed in dismay. "Look what you've done, and those are the last stockings you got to your name!"

Crink twisted his spine obediently and looked down with every appearance of surprise. "Gee!" he said. "I must ha' been when I clumb that fence."

"I could 'most have guessed it," agreed Mrs. Penfield mildly. "Folks make lots of trouble for other folks, leaving their fences so careless." She examined the stocking with critical eyes. It was full of crisscross runs, each representing a previous mishap and materially lessening the total capacity. "I can't never mend it again, Crink. It'd strain right out."

The boy glanced up in alarm. "Say, Penzie, you don't mean I gotta stay in—"

She laughed. "Land, no! Ain't no matter of stockings going to stand 'tween you and society, Crink. You just wash those clo'es, that they don't boll over, and I'll make you another pair in two shakes."

From an apple box in her bedroom, Mrs. Penfield produced a pair of long black hose which had once been the property of a maid employed by a certain Mrs. Horatius Weatherstone but which had been handed down from its original stratum until it had found a further level of usefulness in the household of Mrs. Penfield.

With practical skill she sliced off the Weatherstone garments at the ankle, saving the mended feet for polishing the stove, and divided the legs into unequal portions, the narrower cut for Thad, the wider for Crink. Staying the severed edges of the latter with stout thread, she hemmed them to receive the rubber cord which would hold the stockings below the tops of Crink's worn shoes.

Nominally, Mrs. Penfield was manager of the six buildings designated by the first owner as Cluster Court. There were two small flats in each house, and they were grouped around a horseshoe driveway which inclosed an oval devoted to a single pepper tree. Space had been too limited to allow front yards, and all six buildings fairly dipped their shabby noses into the driveway, like little animals peering out of a winding trough.

On one of the crumbling stucco posts that flanked the entrance, might still be deciphered the words "Cluster Court," although the black paint which had formed them had been well-nigh obliterated by the beating rains of many seasons. It might as well have been totally effaced, because no one ever used the name. By one of the earliest tenants it had been corrupted into "The Custard Cup," and the term had clung.

As for Number 47, where Mrs. Penfield lived, it had no frontage whatever, being approached by a cramped alley at the curve of the horseshoe. It had nothing in common with the buildings that composed the Court. It had been rendered habitable when the Custard Cup had changed owners, a year before, and had been offered to Mrs. Penfield, rent free, in return for the most general supervision, including the collection of rents, the assignment of unreasonable demands, and the responsibility of reporting any calamities that might descend.

The landlord had left Mrs. Penfield's life easily livable, but the tenants contrived to make it difficult. Wasn't she the manager? Well, what did that mean if not to manage? Therefore they summoned her as promptly for the baby's croup as for a fire in the roof, as inevitably for a scalded hand as for a leak in the kitchen. By common consent she was regarded as first-aid to trouble.

And she never thought of refusing, although the increasing demands encroached sadly upon the washing and ironing by which the household was supported. Mrs. Penfield was an excellent laundress; and greatly to the dismay of an architect who would have planned it otherwise, she had the largest back yard in The Custard Cup. In consequence, she was able to keep desirable patrons, who appreciated the clothes she returned to them, eloquent of care and decent soap, and full of the freshness that comes from the beating of sun and air in open places.

Her most important patron was Mrs. Horatius Weatherstone, who had become a factor at Number 47 and was referred to with flattering frequency, although the Penfields had never seen her. Negotiations were conducted through an efficient housekeeper. Indeed, Mrs. Weatherstone would not have known that Mrs. Penfield existed except that the name was entered in her list of attaches and therefore came to her notice upon those occasions when the unselfish impulses in her nature had accumulated and found outlet in an acute attack of philanthropy. When Mrs. Weatherstone felt one of these spasms coming on, she ordered the housekeeper to assemble all superfluous articles and half-worn clothing; then she herself descended upon this heterogeneous, divided it rapidly into fairly equal parts, and dispatched these in different directions.

Mrs. Penfield, as "laundress," always received a bundle—usually cast-off garments of Miss Geraldine and Miss Bonnie Weatherstone, since their mother knew that all poor people have large families, and that all large families are composed of both girls and boys. Mrs. Weatherstone would have suffered a fastidious shock if she could have seen Crink and Thad transformed by Mrs. Penfield's patient ingenuity into innocent caricatures of Geraldine and Bonnie; but the slight was spared her, and the Penfields were too sincerely grateful to criticize. Their small income was hardly elastic enough to cover the fundamental items of food and fuel, school books for Crink, shoes for two active youngsters, and various articles of apparel which Mrs. Penfield could not counterfeit at home.

Just at present the Penfields were riding on a wave of prosperity, due to Crink's securing two hours of work each day at the combined grocery and meat market which served the neighborhood. So far he had been paid in merchandise—stale vegetables, shop-worn fruit, groceries which had suffered accident, shafts of bone and the more muscular cuts of meat, shunned by patrons who possessed the where-withal of choice. Housekeepers of the vicinity were flading the supply of free "cat meat" materially cut down lately, but had not yet located the cause of the disaster.

Neither Thad nor Crink had any claim on Mrs. Penfield; but she had taken them in because they were forlorn, and had loved and scolded and humored them with a wide sympathy and infallible understanding that had established the strongest of bonds between them. The children called her "Penzie" instead of "mother," but otherwise no one would have suspected that the relationship was a fortuitous one.

"Penzie," said Thad, rubbing the soap into a deep lather in his fat palm, "ere was a man."

"Where was a man?" inquired Mrs. Penfield, with cleverly forced interest.

"On the walk. He was looking for a lady."

Mrs. Penfield took down three brown bowls. "That ought to be easy to enter the United States, under a decision made by President Harding at Washington."

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale.

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Illinois Central System and the Great Port of New Orleans

Every citizen of the Mississippi Valley should be familiar with the natural port of this incomparable territory—the great and rapidly growing port of New Orleans.

The dedication May 5 of the magnificent $20,000,000 Industrial Canal and Inner Harbor recently completed at New Orleans focuses attention upon the advantages enjoyed by this port. The Industrial Canal connects the Mississippi River and Lake Pontchartrain and furnishes the final link in almost completely encircling the city with a deep-water harbor. Through itself and laterals that can be extended into property now undeveloped, the new canal adds about eleven miles to the deep-water frontage of the port.

On the basis of Government figures covering ports of the United States for the calendar year 1921, the latest official statistics available, the port of New Orleans is second only to that of New York in the total tonnage and the total value of exports and imports and the total net tonnage of shipping engaged in foreign trade. The following commercial statistics are illustrative of the growth of the port of New Orleans:

	Tonnage	Value
Exports: 1914	3,580,737	$180,832,746
1922	5,187,715	353,457,924
Imports: 1914	1,472,323	79,876,065
1922	4,912,358	129,349,449
Total: 1914	5,053,060	260,708,811
1922	10,100,073	482,798,373

The superior advantages of its location, coupled with its excellent facilities, make it certain that the port of New Orleans will continue to grow in keeping with the industrial and agricultural development of the Mississippi Valley. It is the nearest large American port to Latin America; it is best located for access to the Orient through the Panama Canal, and, considering joint rail and water distances, it is the port of closest contact between the Mississippi Valley and foreign ports of both hemispheres.

Ten miles of docks along the waterfront afford ample facilities for handling cargo at shipside. The port is supplied with warehouses, grain elevators, coal tipples and other mechanical freight-handling facilities. Ninety-four steamship lines operate between New Orleans and the foreign ports of the world, and eleven trunk line railroads connect the port with the interior.

The people of New Orleans have planned with vision and are building with care, to the end that the now rapidly developing north and south movement of commerce may find there the most efficient and adequate facilities for its handling.

The Mississippi Valley, of which New Orleans is the natural port, includes in its watershed twenty-seven states, containing 55 per cent of the country's population and producing 70 per cent of the country's exportable products. The Illinois Central System has a network of more than 6,000 miles of lines radiating from New Orleans throughout the heart of this fertile territory. The port of New Orleans is a great asset to the region served by the Illinois Central System.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

EDWARD M. BURST
APPOINTED MASTER

Edward M. Burst was appointed master in Chancery of DeKalb county by Judge Fulton last Friday.

Several names were given to Judge Fulton for consideration but as the name of Ned Burst came with nearly all the names of the DeKalb county bar attached to a petition asking for the appointed Judge Fulton felt that he would be following the wishes of the lawyers in making the appointment and he did and this appointment will not only please all members of the bar but the people of the county as well.

The office of master is judicial in its nature and some of the most intricate cases on the docket are referred to him for consideration. He must hear the evidence, render his decision in his report and that goes before for approval. The office is a very responsible one indeed. Mr. Burst has been made special master in many suits of transcendent importance and anyway he is thoroughly well qualified to administer its duties.

Edward M. Burst was born in Sycamore fifty-one years ago and has been engaged in the practice of law in DeKalb county for the past twenty-eight years. He is a son of the late Major John W. Burst and a grandson of former Judge E. L. Mayo who were prominent in county and state affairs for many years.

After attending the public schools in Sycamore he entered the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and, after graduating from the law department there, he was admitted to the Michigan bar in June, 1892. In 1893 he was admitted to the bar in Illinois and practiced in Chicago for one year, then for a short time in DeKalb and in December, 1894, he returned to Sycamore, and was elected

City Attorney in 1895, in which office he served four years. In 1904 he was elected state's attorney for DeKalb county, was re-elected in 1908 and served until 1912.

During his term as state's attorney he was a forceful prosecutor and one of the most popular officers DeKalb county has ever had.

As state's attorney he was engaged in many important trials and had a fine record in the Appellet and Supreme courts.

It was during his term that the Maki murder case was tried, resulting in conviction.

He was not a candidate for a third term and since leaving that office he has devoted himself exclusively to the general practice of his profession. He has had wide and successful experience as a lawyer in both civil and criminal cases, has a large practice and has charge of many important financial affairs. Sycamore Tribune—Advertisement.

LET'S GET RID OF THE FLY

There is a belief among some people that flies are useful because they feed on wastes. No greater mistake could be made because they carry the germs from the refuse to the table where the germs are gotten rid of. It is unsafe to have flies about any person who is sick with an infectious disease, for there is always danger that by lighting on his hands or face or any article in the room, they will take up germs and spread them to some other person.

By far the most effective way of dealing with flies is to remove their breeding places. The eggs of the house fly are laid in manure about stables and to some extent in garbage and decaying vegetable matter. Within nine days from date the eggs are laid an adult fly appears.

It is estimated that three hundred flies may hatch in a cubic inch of manure, and if the breeding places are left undisturbed they will hatch faster than it is possible to kill them. The following are the most efficient means to prevent the breeding places:

1. Horse manure and other filth can be removed, screened, or chemically treated with borax by sprinkling the powdered borax over the manure. Then sprinkle water over the powder which dissolves it. This solution kills the fly but does not take the elements out of the manure.
2. Garbage cans can be covered.
3. Food, especially stores and bakeries can be protected.
5. The fly trap and wholesale poisons are helpful.

It is a simple matter to decrease the number of flies by removing all matters in which they breed, burning it, or spreading it on the field where it will dry and the egg and young of the fly will be killed.

The Misses Hazel Hyde and Meredith Taylor of Marengo attended the Community Club dance in Genoa last Friday evening.

The Children's Home and Foreign Missionary Society will be glad to receive aid with their Christmas barrel which will be sent to Rev. Clarence Olmstead's field in June. ANNOUNCEMENT

E. R. LANGWORTHY
PALMER CHIROPRACTOR

I am pleased to announce that I have opened an office in Genoa over the Genoa Mercantile store, in the former law office of Mr. G. E. Stott, for the practice of Chiropractic. I will be in that office to give you my undivided attention on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week.

If you or any member of your family are suffering with any form of illness or pain, you should give CHIROPRACTIC very careful consideration. CHIROPRACTIC is a drugless health science of the cause of so-called disease and the art of adjusting the human spine when its segments are out of natural alignment, so that mental impulses from the brain can transmit naturally through the nerves to provide normal health function to every organ and part of the body.

I use no knife, no medicine! I simply REMOVE THE CAUSE of your trouble by adjusting the movable segments of your spine to relieve the pressure on the nerves which lead to the affected organs or source of pain. Thousands of sick people, pronounced incurable, have not only obtained great relief, but have been completely restored to health by having the CAUSE of their illness removed through Chiropractic spinal adjustments.

Consultation and spinal analysis is free and I will be glad to answer any and all questions concerning Chiropractic and will endeavor to do so in language you can understand.

Don't forget the days—TUESDAY—THURSDAY—SATURDAY.

Has Congress Helped The Farmer Through Legislation?

The farmer now needs "higher prices" and not "more credit." But the old debts must be taken care of. And Congress HAS helped.

The Federal Farm Loan Act was passed in 1916. Joint Stock Land Banks and Federal Land Bank have been organized to make long-time mortgage loans to farmers. Over one billion dollars has been loaned on this plan.

These loans run from 5 to 34 1-2 years without renewal charges and at a present 5 1-2% interest rate.

NO COMMISSION—LIBERAL PREPAYMENT

The principal is reduced a little each year by equal regular payments. There is no need of renewals.

THINKING FARMERS Have Thought Out the Facts

Thinking farmers agree, and market prices prove, that grain turned thru hogs and fat steers and sold "on the hoof" brings practically double the price received when sold in bulk. The same is true of grain turned thru dairy cattle in form of dairy products.

Government Reports prove that on the average it takes the produce of five acres to keep a horse one year. How many hogs, steers or dairy cattle would five acres maintain for one year?

GOT TRADE SECRET CHEAP

Dying Drunkard Sold for Fifty Dollars the Only Method of Making Dolls' Eyes.

Dolls' eyes have a romantic history, says a writer in Pearson's.

A Birmingham toy manufacturer years ago was approached by one of the largest dealers in dolls, who asked him to undertake the manufacture of eyes.

The toy manufacturer, thinking there was nothing in the business, turned down the proposition.

But the business was a big one, and when an order to the value of $500 was mentioned the manufacturer undertook the work.

The real difficulties of the task then became apparent. The first eyes were hopeless failures, and a great deal of money was spent on experiments. The cleverest glass-toy-workers in the kingdom were engaged, but all to no purpose. Finally the attempt was given up.

About eighteen months later the toy manufacturer, by a strange chance, met a man utterly impoverished by drink and in the last stages of consumption, who held the secret of the process for making dolls' eyes. He was willing to sell this secret for $10.

Eagerly the manufacturer paid the price, but so incoherent was the dying man's directions that it was impossible to follow them.

In desperation the Birmingham manufacturer went to the inventor's garret and saw the process in actual operation. Before half a dozen of the eyes had been made the secret was grasped and the manufacturer of dolls' eyes was firmly established.

The Wicked Judas.

During a visit he paid to Oberammergau several years ago the late Mr. Andrew D. White, the American diplomat, made the acquaintance of the Judas, whom he described as by far the best actor in the whole performance. Mr. White remarked to him that he ought to have a double salary, as the Judas had in the miracle plays of the Middle Ages, when this was thought due to him as compensation for the injury done to his character by his taking that part. At this the Oberammergau Judas smiled pleasantly, and replied: "No; I am content to share equally with the others. But the same feeling toward the Judas still exists." He then told Mr. White the following story. A few weeks before, while he was working at his carving bench, the door of his workshop opened and a peasant woman from the mountains came in, stood still, and gazed at him intently. On his asking her what she wanted she said: "I saw you in the play yesterday. I wished to look at you again. You look so like my husband. He is dead. He, too, was a very bad man!" —Manchester Guardian.

Advising a Writer.

I have no means of knowing whether you are patient in the pursuit of this art; but I am inclined to think that you are not, and that you do not discipline yourself enough. When one is impelled to write this or that, one has still to consider: "How much of this will tell for what I mean? How much of it is my own wild emotion and superfluous energy—how much remains that is truly belonging to this ideal character and these ideal circumstances?" It is in this laborious struggle to make this distinction, and in the determination to try it, that the road to the correction of faults lies. Perhaps I may remark, in support of the sincerity with which I write this, that I am an impatient and impulsive person myself, but that it has been for many years the constant effort of my life to practice at my desk what I preach to you.—Dickens.

On a Small Scale.

The baby had been through a siege of chicken pox and when the minister's wife met the baby's sister, Jane, she inquired as to his health.

"He's some better," replied Jane non-committally.

"Very much better, I hope," said the minister's wife cheerfully.

"Well," answered Jane, "he couldn't be such an awful lot better. There isn't very much to him, you know." —American Legion Weekly.

OUT OF THE COOKY JAR

Cookies of various kinds will keep indefinitely (when carefully concealed) and may be made from the foundation mixture of varieties, shapes and kinds. A good standard recipe which may be enlarged upon to suit various tastes is the following:

Plain Cookies.—Take one-half cupful of fat, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of milk, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, flavor as liked and two cupfuls of flour. For most families the bother of making cookies will encourage us to double this recipe. Mix and let stand on ice to chill and season. This not only helps greatly in rolling out but takes less flour and the cookies are better flavored.

Nuts, raisins, dates, figs, spices and seeds of various kinds may be added to give variety. A spoonful of cocoa or chocolate or a frosting of maple, caramel or chocolate adds variety. The shape the cookies are cut will make them more alluring even to the grownups.

Delightful little cakes decorated with the cracker animals dipped in fondant or chocolate will please the little people—and who ever grows too old to enjoy a ginger-bread man?

Russian Rocks.—Cream two-thirds of a cupful of butter, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and three well-beaten eggs. Sift three cupfuls of flour with one-half teaspoonful each of soda, clove, cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoonful of nutmeg; add one-half pound of raisins and the same of English walnuts cut fine, to the flour mixture; alternate with one-half cupful of milk. Beat well and drop by spoonfuls on buttered baking sheet. These cookies are better after being kept one week.

Poached Eggs, Mustard Sauce.—Poach eggs and drain carefully, then roll on the waffles. Serve with a mustard sauce poured over them; garnish with parsley.

EARLY SPRING SALADS

Watercress when obtainable is one of the most wholesome and appetizing of salads. Served with lamb chops as a garnish for the platter, it may be eaten without dressing. Served with French dressing it is one of the best of salads.

Celery and Pepper Salad.—Mix together two cupfuls of finely cut crisp celery, one shredded green pepper and one pimento cut in narrow strips; mix with one teaspoonful of minced chives. Beat one-third of a cupful of salad oil with three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of sugar and a few dashes of red pepper. Mix with the celery and serve on lettuce.

Chicken With Rice.—Select a well-fattened hen of a year old or more, clean, wash and cut at the joints. Rub each piece well with salt and pepper and soft butter. Pick over and wash one and one-half cupfuls of rice. Mix with a teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of curry powder and a little pepper. Lay the fowl in a kettle, add one tablespoonful of butter, two cupfuls of broth in which the giblets have been cooked for an hour, one cupful of sweet milk, bring to a boil and simmer for three hours on the back of the stove.

Apple Salad.—Apples at this season are losing their flavor, but served as salad they are still very palatable. Select six large red apples, slice a piece from the stem end and remove the pulp with a spoon. Drop the apple shells into a bowl of cold water to which salt and lemon juice are added to prevent the apples from discoloring. Cut up the apple pulp in small dice, add one banana finely sliced, one-half cupful of chopped cabbage, the same of diced pineapple; add one-half cupful of blanched reddened almonds and mix with a French dressing. Drain the apple shells, fill with the mixture and serve on lettuce or in a nest of watercress.

Grapefruit and Cabbage Salad.—Peel and remove all connecting fiber from two firm grapefruit. Break the sections carefully, to conserve the juice. Shred fine some firm white cabbage to make three cupfuls, soak in cold water for half an hour, drain and mix with one-third of a cupful of chopped nuts. Drain the grapefruit and mix the juice with olive oil, salt and cayenne to make a French dressing. Serve the grapefruit on a nest of lettuce, covered with the dressing.

Why She became Man-Hater.

He was twelve and I was eleven. He invited me to a party and was going to take me home. He had on a new "palm beach" suit and I my Sunday organdie. Just as we were about to start for home it started to rain. Our hostess gave us an umbrella. He had not gone far when he ran away from me, with the umbrella. He was afraid he would get his new suit wet. Now I am a man-hater. Blame me? —Chicago Journal.

Health pays dividends.

It's up to some egoists to consult a "T" doctor.

Hot Weather Desserts.

When hot weather comes, the cold desserts taste better and are much easier to make than hot pies or puddings that must be cooked. A box of Plymouth Rock Gelatine will make many different cold desserts in a few minutes and please everybody.—Ad vertisement.

Find What CANADA has to offer YOU!

If your dream of success seems like a hopeless ambition, if you are discouraged trying to get ahead on high priced land, if your present location fails to give you opportunity, there is a new deal for you, a new chance in the fertile, virgin farms of Western Canada, where wheat produces 20 to 40 bushels to the acre, where the 1922 crop was biggest in history, where oats, barley and hay and fodder crops are the basis of a great dairy industry, and a man's work brings him success and prosperity.

Low Priced Land—the Last Great West

In Western Canada you still can buy virgin prairie land at $15 to $20 per acre, on long terms if desired, near to town, railroads, etc.—land such as has for many years produced the world's prize winning wheat, oats, barley, flax, rye, alfalfa. Canada had no "war time" land boom; prices are not inflated—you get in on the ground floor.

Taxes Favor the Farmer as Values Increase

The tax laws of Western Canada encourage the producing farmer. The tax on land is reduced when it is brought under cultivation—while on your buildings, machinery, improvements, personal property, automobile, there is no tax at all. A single crop is often worth more, acre for acre, than the cost of the land.

Buy on Exceptional Terms—32 Years to Pay

For the benefit of those wishing to buy land a national non-profit sharing organization—the Canada Colonization Association—has been established with head office at Winnipeg, and United States office at St. Paul. This Association offers selected land convenient to railroads—much of it at $15 to $20 per acre—on very small cash payment; no further payment until third year; balance extended over thirty years, but purchaser may pay up and obtain title at any time desired. Interest six percent per annum on deferred payments.

Special Excursion Rates to Western Canada

In order that you may inspect the land—see for yourself—judge of its value and fertility—special excursion trips of inspection will leave United States points on the first and third Tuesday of each month. Single fare plus $2 for the round trip, available from all principal centers. Take advantage of these low railroad rates to inspect for yourself the opportunities which Western Canada has to offer you. Seeing is believing. The nearest Canadian Government Agency will give you all information. The men in charge are Government officials, interested only in the service of the prospective settler. We help you find your opportunity. Let us know something of your position and receive free book with maps, and information on how special railway rates can be arranged for a trip of inspection. Mail the coupon.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

Why don't you live a cheerful life And make the best of things? For discontent means constant strife And other ills it brings.

It is hard tramping on life's pike, I know that this is true, But if you can't do what you like, Try liking what you do. —Luke McLuke.

OUT OF THE COOKY JAR

Cookies of various kinds will keep indefinitely (when carefully concealed) and may be made from the foundation mixture of varieties, shapes and kinds. A good standard recipe which may be enlarged upon to suit various tastes is the following:

Plain Cookies.—Take one-half cupful of fat, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of milk, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, flavor as liked and two cupfuls of flour. For most families the bother of making cookies will encourage us to double this recipe. Mix and let stand on ice to chill and season. This not only helps greatly in rolling out but takes less flour and the cookies are better flavored.

Nuts, raisins, dates, figs, spices and seeds of various kinds may be added to give variety. A spoonful of cocoa or chocolate or a frosting of maple, caramel or chocolate adds variety. The shape the cookies are cut will make them more alluring even to the grownups.

Delightful little cakes decorated with the cracker animals dipped in fondant or chocolate will please the little people—and who ever grows too old to enjoy a ginger-bread man?

Russian Rocks.—Cream two-thirds of a cupful of butter, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar and three well-beaten eggs. Sift three cupfuls of flour with one-half teaspoonful each of soda, clove, cinnamon and one-fourth teaspoonful of nutmeg; add one-half pound of raisins and the same of English walnuts cut fine, to the flour mixture; alternate with one-half cupful of milk. Beat well and drop by spoonfuls on buttered baking sheet. These cookies are better after being kept one week.

Poached Eggs, Mustard Sauce.—Poach eggs and drain carefully, then roll on the waffles. Serve with a mustard sauce poured over them; garnish with parsley.

EARLY SPRING SALADS

Watercress when obtainable is one of the most wholesome and appetizing of salads. Served with lamb chops as a garnish for the platter, it may be eaten without dressing. Served with French dressing it is one of the best of salads.

WOULD TAKE DOWN SIGNS

Supt. of Highways Russell Suggests Confiscation—It Can't Be Done

As everyone knows, County Superintendent of Roads Arthur Russell has been conducting a vigorous campaign against billboards along the patrolled roads.

He says that he has a new idea to suggest, although he don't just see how it can be worked.

He says if he had his way he would take the billboards down, convert the lumber in them for building comfort stations and other useful buildings along the right of way as well as building boards for the convenience of travelers.

Russell's idea is rather revolutionary and likely to get the department into a lot of trouble if it were put into effect but his general plan of cutting down signboards and putting them to some use instead of letting them deface the scenery and serve as general nuisances along the right of way of the country roads is a sensible one.—DeKalb Chronicle.

The Republican is heartily in accord with Mr. Russell's views and is living in hopes that he can find some way of doing away with these scenery destroyers.

SHABBONA RAILROAD ACCIDENT

Mrs. Ella A. Quilhot and Mrs. Homer Quilhot Were Killed Instantly

A horrible tragedy befell the village of Shabbona last Wednesday morning at 7:18 o'clock when Mrs. Ella A. Quilhot and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Homer Quilhot were struck by a passenger train and the C. B. & Q. railroad, both ladies dying instantly.

It is not known why the ladies failed to see the train as they had an open view of the track from a distance of 100 yards. The train was late and traveling at an exceptionally fast rate to make up for lost time. The engineer stated at the coroner's inquest that he did not see the auto boxcars on the track near the crossing and then it was too late.

Stray Bit of Wisdom. He knew the precise psychological moment when to say nothing.—Oscar Wilde.
