THE SIXTH DAY OR EPOCH

AS the carbon-laden atmosphere became more pure, vegetation became less rank. The animals also changed correspondingly. The heavy-boned Sloth and Mammoth gave place to less bony varieties of animals common today.

The specialization in the case of Man's creation is shown in his vast superiority over the lower animals. The first man, Adam, was an image of his Creator, the highest type of fleshly or animal being. That image of his Creator consisted in his moral and intellectual likeness. It is difficult to judge from present human conditions all that is meant by God's image, because we have no sample of perfect humanity for comparison. "All have sinned and all come short of the glory of God" in which Adam was created. (Psalm 8:5.) There is none in God's image today. Sin and death have reigned and the God-likeness has been lost. All need Restitution, restoring back to that which was lost. It was toward the close of the Sixth Day, or approximately forty-two thousand years from the time of beginning the ordering of Earth, that God Created Man. The image of God would mean a human being thoroughly in tune with the Infinite One, one that would have no unrighteousness or iniquity in him. Adam's transgression was not the result of ignorance, nor of pure wilfulness. It was the result of temptation which his limited knowledge accentuated.

When thinking of man in the image of God, we instinctively look back to "The Man Christ Jesus," who was holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners," and was like the first Adam, whose penalty He came into the world to meet.—1 Cor. 15:22.

Adam's dominion over the lower animals was like God's dominion over the Universe. Angels, although in God's image, do not have Godlike dominion over creatures of a lower order. Man's dominion overthrown by sin is to be restored by Messiah's Kingdom.—Acts 3:19-21.

AWE EASY WINNER

Elected Supervisor by a Majority of 113 Votes Over Gustafson

FOR HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER

M. J. Corson wins by a Majority of 173 Votes—The Temperance Forces win at Kirkland and the Town Goes Dry by 22 Votes

About one-half the voters of Genoa township turned out Tuesday, the total number of votes cast being 299, and this despite the fact that there were contests on, one for supervisor and one for highway commissioner. C. H. Awe and M. J. Corson, who were both up for re-election, had no trouble in pulling away from their opponents, the majority in either case being more than safe.

Following is the vote in detail: For Supervisor—

E. O. Gustafson	37	56
For Highway Commissioner—

After several years of strenuous effort the temperance forces of Kirkland finally placed the township of Franklin, in which the villages of Kirkland and Fairdale are located, in the dry column, winning out Tuesday by a majority of twenty-two votes, Kirkland has been one of the real wet towns of the county for years. It is said that the Fairdale vote made the result of Tuesday's election possible.

Fell into Pool

The little daughter of Mrs. Charles Maderer fell into a pool of water at the foot of Jackson street Tuesday afternoon and but for the timely assistance of people in the neighborhood would have drowned. The little girl, with her brother and other little ones, were playing about the place, there being a deep trench left by the Woodstock & Sycamore Traction Co., which had been filled with water during the recent rains. In some manner the girl slipped and fell into the hole. Her brother bravely plunged in after her, but the depth of water and mud made his efforts futile. The others cried out and help was soon at hand. John Benson, who resides near the place, waded into the muck and brought the children to safety. The sticky mud at the bottom of the trench made it almost impossible for Benson to move about. This is a dangerous spot for children and all parents should warn their little ones to keep away. Mrs. Maderer was calling at the Crawford home at the time and did not know her children were at the pond until after the accident.

Butter Goes to 35 Cents

Higher butter prices in New York, caused by the Indiana and Ohio floods, influenced the Elgin board of trade Monday and caused the market to advance to 35 cents. Last week's market was 34 cents firm. Comparison of prices for the last four years follows:

April 1, 1912, 30 cents.
April 3, 1911, 21 cents.
April 4, 1910, 31 cents.
April 5, 1909, 28 cents.

MILK WAR OVER

Borden Factories Thruout the District are Hardest Hit by Fight

(Elgin News, Monday)

"The milk war, which has raged incessantly since March 15, is over and peace reigns thruout the entire dairy district.

"The only plant that is said to have gone out of business in the district is the bottling works of A. J. Olson at Woodstock. Advances from that city today are that Senator Olson has decided not to open the plant for the present but to combine his Greenwood and Woodstock plants.

"At Dundee farmers met again this morning and after a lively session decided to take surplus milk to Borden's factory.

"The Woodstock Co-operative company is ready for business and the smoke is going out of the big stack today. Milk will be received there tomorrow morning. It is claimed that they have all of the patrons of the vicinity excepting twenty.

"Farmers will devote more attention to raising hogs and cattle," said C. H. Potter this morning. "At the Woodstock Co-operative plant there is an easy profit equal to the price asked for by producers if the skim milk is cared for and not wasted. With butter at 35 cents the sailing will be clear.

"Huntley farmers state that the Jelke company's offer of $1.50 and additions for extra quality of milk is satisfactory. The farmers of that district met this morning for the purpose of deciding where their milk supply will go. Both the Jelke and Borden plants will get sufficient to do business. "At Borden's factory in Elgin this morning it was stated that the usual amount of milk would be received tomorrow."

The Mix Creameries are receiving their full quota of milk.

BOY LOSSES ARM

Hampshire Lad of Ten Years Victim of Shot Gun Accident Sunday

Emil Jenny, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jenny of Hampshire, is in a serious condition at St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, as a result of the accidental discharge of a shot gun in the hands of a friend at Hampshire Sunday afternoon.

Shortly after dinner young Jenny asked to accompany a friend on a hunting trip. Jenny's companion carried a loaded shot gun and had his hand on the trigger. While going over a rough piece of land he stumbled and accidentally pulled the lever. The entire charge entered the right arm of the little fellow.

His older companion carried him to Hampshire where Dr. F. H. Ohlms attended him.

Later he was removed to St. Joseph's hospital where Drs. Pelton and Ohlms amputated the right arm.

HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

Mrs. Kittie Shively of Elgin Takes Possession of Commercial Hotel this Week

Mrs. S. C. Welte, who has been manager of the Commercial Hotel during the past two years, has retired from the business and gone to reside with her mother; the new proprietress being Mrs. Kittie Shively of Elgin.

Mrs. Shively has had considerable experience in the work of feeding people, for two years being in charge of the Y. M. C. A. lunch rooms in Elgin. She took possession of the Commercial on the 1st of this month.

BUCK AND THE DEVIL

Having a Scrap at the M. E. Church all this Week

DANCING, GAMBLING, AND BOOZE

Three Sins that Get Punctures from the Evangelist; Vocabulary of Names—Meetings Close Sunday, April 6

(Contributed)

The meetings in the Methodist church are coming along in good shape. Last Sunday's services were attended by good audiences. At the morning hour the expenses for the entire meetings were raised, and a good interest was shown.

The all day service on Friday was one of exceptional advantage to the church and proved to be one of the best meetings of the series. Those who attended it were greatly profited and helped into a larger spiritual life.

Rev. Buck's sermon, last Sunday night on the "Necessity of Conversion" was an able argument for the necessity of a new birth. It drove home the facts with telling effect. His language was picturesque and forceful. Rev. Buck preaches with unflinching fidelity the Biblical doctrine of sin and salvation through faith in Christ, adhering strictly to the time-honored belief that one must receive the Saviour and give up all his sins. Those who took the opportunity to hear his sermon on "Booze" learned anew that the saloon as a financial proposition to the community is a failure and carries with it untold danger to its social life.

The meetings are expected to close next Sunday. Those who have not taken advantage of the opportunity to hear Buck are urged to be present this week.

BUCK SHOT FROM BUCK

A man said to me, "I don't believe God will put a man in this world and then damn him." I said, "I don't either." But, I said, "If a man is a big enough fool to damn himself, he can go to hell and God will not stop him."

If you can't stand the grin of some impudent, unsaved man now, what will you do when you stand before the devils in hell?

The card-playing crowd is the hardest bunch in the world to win to Jesus Christ.

It is an undisputed fact that ninety per cent of our gamblers come from card-playing homes.

Young man, listen to me, if ever under God you hold on to anything, hold on to your mother's apron strings.

God pity your social life when it has gotten down to the place where it does nothing but fan up gambling impulses.

No soul will ever see the inside of heaven that don't want to live a life with Jesus Christ.

Say, fellows, if God had intended you to smoke, he would have put your nose on the other end up and made a smokestack out of it.

The saloon will grip a noble character and make a dirty, drunken brute out of him.

Where does the saloon belong? "Why," you say, "anybody knows, Buck, it belongs to the devil."

Women, there is enough hell in the average man without you thru the dance whirling him out into the field of passion full of beastly impulses.

Whenever I see a married woman hang around the dance, I say, "God pity her husband."

When anything stands between you and Jesus Christ, it has got to get out of the way or it will damn you.

You say, "I don't like to give up the bunch." Very well, stick to that bunch and they will take you straight to hell.

SEEDING OF OATS

Oats is not as a rule considered a paying crop. If more attention was given to the treatment of seed and preparation of seed bed it can be made much more profitable.

CLEAN SEED

Before seeding oats should be cleaned with a good fanning mill. This will blow out light seed as well as separate out weed seed and small oats. Small oats will not produce strong, vigorous plants.

Oats should never be seeded that comes from a field on which there is quack grass. Quack grass ripens with the oats. The writer took samples of quack harvest 1912 in Squaw Grove township. The seed was tested for germination and grows perfectly.

TEST OATS FOR GERMINATION

The first consideration is, will the oats grow.

Oats thrashed when not perfectly dry may be bin burned. Take a handful of oats from near the center of the bin as deep down as you can reach and test for germination. An easy way to germinate seed is to saturate two pieces of blotting paper. Place one blotter in the bottom of a plate, sprinkle seed on this, then place the other blotter on top, pressing down firmly. Drain any water that may be in the plate, then cover this plate with another plate of like size turned bottom up. Place near the stove and moisten occasionally.

PREPARATION OF SEED BED

Oat and other small grains require a compact seed bed. Thoroughly discing the ground and harrowing on good land is the most effective way of preparing a seed bed.

AMOUNT OF SEED TO SOW PER ACRE

From seven pecks to two and one-half bushels of good seed per acre is an abundance. Seven pecks of seed per acre on the Rockford Experiment Field yielded as an average of three tests 95.6 bushels per acre. This seed was drilled. In seeding with a broad cast seeder about two and one-half bushels per acre should be seeded as a maximum. Small oats such as Kherson does not require as much seed as a large variety such as the Swedish Select or Big Four.

Poor stands result from seed that does not grow or from poor seed.

GIVE THE CLOVER A CHANCE

Oats require about 500 pounds of water for every pound of oats produced. Heavy seedings use a larger amount of water, part of which is seeded by the clover crop. Again, it is common to hear folks say that they seed oats heavy to smother out weeds. Surely if oats are seeded so heavy that weeds are smothered there is little chance for clover to survive.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Grain of Farmers by Making Firm Stand for Better Milk Prices

Say, friend, if you had said the same things to your wife the week before you married her that you said last week, would you have gotten her?

There are young men in this town who are standing on their mother's heart with both feet.

Let that man give himself to Jesus Christ and his wife will say, "I have a new kind of a husband."

Some people go around and pick up a hypocrite and say, "There is a specimen of Christianity!" I beg your pardon, friend, that is a specimen of "Devil-anit."

You take a pig of a man and put a church-membership-fleece on him, and the first thing you know he will be getting your fleece dirty wallowing in the mud.

Thank God for some of our leading colleges which have made decrees against the dance.

God will damn me if I am not honest with you folks.

Some have gotten so miserably silly and low they can't have any fun if they don't gamble or hug each other to music. God pity their poor souls!

Christian people don't lose on the Board of Trade. They don't get on.

You can't do a lot of onery things and not be onery; you can't do a lot of "crooked" things and not be "crooked."

It makes no difference whether you are playing cards for a roll of bills or a cut glass pitcher, it is gambling just the same.

Every Supreme Court of every state that has ever tested a case has declared that playing any card game for any prize is gambling, and that those engaged in it can be "pulled" for open gambling.

If in need of cement blocks it will pay you to see J. E. Stott, 263

Elgin News: One million dollars have been added to the milk checks of farmers of the Elgin dairy district by the fight of organized producers, according to estimates today by leaders in the fight for $1.50 milk. The district immediately tributary to Elgin will receive two-thirds of the benefit.

"The fight has proven that the producer can get his rights if he demands them and remains firm" said President Fellows today.

"Borden's company is managed under a new policy now. The company had been the bell weather of the milk business for so many years that all distributors and producers looked to it for guidance as to price. The farmers were the last to realize the change. That explains why producers have not made the present demand before."

Gets Thirty Days

DeKalb Chronicle: Deloss Eddy, who was arrested yesterday for getting liquor to a man on the city's black list, was given a term of 30 days in the county jail this morning which will not only keep him from getting booze to others but will also give him a chance to organize quite a little thirst on his own account.

A Success.

"Was your chafing dish party a success?" "Great! We spoiled all the food early in the evening, and then went to a regular restaurant."

MANY HORSES SOLD

Cooper & Patterson Pulled off Successful Horse Sale Monday Afternoon

Just a little advertising and having the goods to sell when the prospective customer arrives is a sure way to get people coming to Genoa. Cooper & Patterson have demonstrated this fact several times this spring and as a result of their efforts many farmers have come to town and left money. Their horse sales have been decidedly successful, many animals having changed hands thru them. The sale on Monday of this week was one of the best of the series. If the merchants of Genoa would take a little interest and advertise some special attractions for the day there would be some real doings in the old town. There is only one way in which to make the farmers or any others believe that Genoa is the place to trade and that is by having the goods and telling the customers about them.

HOLROYD HOLDS A RECORD

The Minnesota Farmer has Ten Ewes Which Present Him with Twenty-three Lambs

The editor has just received a note from A. L. Holroyd of Monticello, Minn., in which he gives statistics regarding the sheep raising department of his farm. Ten of his Shopshire ewes have just presented him with 23 lambs, there being seven pairs of twins and three sets of triplets. If there are any records in this neck o' woods to beat this Mr. Holroyd is anxious to hear of them.

MRS. BEAUPRE DEAD

Passes away at the Home of Her Daughter on the Geo. Beers Farm

Mrs. Beaupre passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, on the George Beers farm in Kingston, Monday morning, March 31, at the age of sixty-five years. The funeral services and burial took place at DeKalb Wednesday.

Mrs. Beaupre was one of the best known women in the county. During her life she has seen this county change from a pioneer country to the present day conditions. Her father was Aaron Klock, keeper of the old Eagle Hotel, famous hostelry in the old days at DeKalb. He was known far and wide.

The Hamilton family came to the Beers farm from DeKalb this spring.

JAMES I. BLAKSLEE

James I. Blakslee, the new fourth assistant postmaster general, is from Pennsylvania and is forty-three years old. He has been connected for years with the Lehigh Valley and the Pennsylvania railroads.

SON SUCCEEDS J. P. MORGAN; WILL MANAGE INTERESTS

Is Already Known as a Financier—Is Director in Many Big Institutions.

New York, April 1.—J. P. Morgan, Jr., only son of the American financier who died in Rome, will succeed to the management of the immense Morgan interests. The title, J. P. Morgan & Co., will be retained.

The son is by no means a novice at directing financial enterprises, nor is he so young as to cause anxiety as to possible rashness. Mr. Morgan, Jr., is forty-six years old. He is a large man physically and mentally. He weighs 200 pounds, and is an athlete. And, what is probably most essential, he has had his father's careful training.

Already the future had of the greatest financial interests controlled by any American firm is director in many corporations. When H. H. Rogers died in 1909 the younger Morgan was elected his successor in the United States Steel corporation.

The same year he became a member of the directorate of the National City bank of New York, filling the vacancy caused by the death of E. H. Harriman. This bank, controlled by Standard Oil interests, is one of the largest in the country.

Young Morgan was born in 1867. He graduated from Harvard in 1889 and married in 1900. As soon as his school days were over he began his apprenticeship under his father's direction in the New York office. He has no bad habits or frivolities.

He was always very methodical. Among the clerks he was always popular, because of his democratic ways. He will be in control of a fortune estimated at between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000.

"Jack" Morgan strongly resembles his father. Wall street is in the habit of remarking that he is the image of the older Morgan of 20 years ago. Many of the mannerisms of the father are strikingly repeated in the son.

He began his business career in his father's Boston office and there he remained two years. He then came to New York, and after working as hard as any clerk in his father's office for a year, he was admitted to membership in the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.

It has long been known that the elder Morgan was anxiously looking forward to the day when he could unload his manifold responsibilities upon a younger and broader pair of Morgan shoulders. So Jack was sent west to become more proficient in industrial matters.

He was placed under the protecting wing of James J. Hill, and under his tutelage he was graduated into the directorate of the Northern Pacific.

Asked one day by an intimate friend as to the progress young Morgan was making, Mr. Hill chuckled and remarked: "A chip of the old block."

Mr. Hill struck the nail fairly on the head, for not only has the younger Morgan inherited his father's talents for finance, but he strongly resembles him in appearance.

WALTER H. PAGE TO LONDON

Member of Publishing House of Doubleday, Page & Co., Is to Be Ambassador to Great Britain.

Washington, April 1.—Walter H. Page of Garden City, L. I., editor of World's Work, and a member of the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co., publishers, has accepted President Wilson's offer to be ambassador to Great Britain.

Mr. Page was born in Cary, a small town in North Carolina, in 1856. He was first educated at Randolph-Macon college, a Methodist institution at Ashland, Va., and later was a fellow at Johns Hopkins university, following much the same course there as that made famous by Woodrow Wilson.

MORGAN BODY TO U.S.

REMAINS OF LATE FINANCIER WHO DIED AT ROME TO BE SHIPPED HOME.

MONEY PROBE CAUSED DEATH

Dr. M. Allen Starr Attributes the Magnate's Breakdown to Emotion Caused by the Inquiry Carried On by Pujo Committee.

Rome, Italy, April 1.—J. Pierpont Morgan, the American financier, died at the Grand hotel at 12:05 p. m. He had been confined to his bed there since Easter Sunday.

The body is to be embalmed and sent to the United States on board ship from Naples. A funeral service will be held here before its departure.

When death was seen to be approaching rapidly Prof. Giuseppe Bastianelli, Dr. G. A. Dixon and Dr. M. Allen Starr, the noted New York specialist, forced Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, his son-in-law and daughter, and Miss Helen Hamilton, who had been in constant attendance, to leave the room.

Mr. Morgan toward the end showed that he was suffering internally only by a movement of his right hand. Otherwise he displayed no sign of vitality except by continuous heavy breathing.

Long in a State of Coma. Frequent bulletins were issued during the morning showing that his condition was gradually becoming worse, and by eleven o'clock the physicians had given up all hope.

Mr. Morgan was unable to assimilate the artificial nourishment administered during the morning and his physical weakness was extreme. Heart tonics were injected, but these had no effect, and for several hours before his death he was in a state of coma, unable to respond to any questions or to recognize any of those at his bedside.

One of his relatives, Mrs. Fitz Simon, wife of the Rev. William Fitz Simon, arrived from Cannes and was shown into the death chamber, but her presence remained unknown to the dying man.

Besides the four trained nurses in attendance, Miss Helen Hamilton was of great assistance to the three physicians.

American Secretary Calls. During the morning George Post Wheeler, secretary of the American embassy, called to make inquiries on behalf of the American ambassador, Thomas J. O'Brien, and was told that Mr. Morgan had collapsed and that his condition had been rendered worse by increasing deafness.

From his arrival in Rome Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee feared a mistake had been made in bringing Mr. Morgan here instead of taking him directly to London, where he would have been in his own house instead of in a noisy hotel, and they thought, too, that the climate of Rome was too mild and enervating for a man in his condition of ill health.

Inquiries From All Parts of the World. Cable dispatches from America, Great Britain and other parts of the world poured in all day, making anxious inquiries and expressing the affection in which Mr. Morgan was held everywhere. The financier's secretary found it impossible to reply to all the inquiries and Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee expressed the desire to inform the inquirers how touched they were at the manifestations of sympathy they had received.

Dr. Starr attributed the financier's breakdown to emotion caused by the investigation carried on by the Pujo committee at Washington into the operations of the "money trust."

Market Not Affected. New York, April 1.—The stock market bore up well under the news of Mr. Morgan's death. Opening prices showed declines which in almost no case exceeded a point. Supporting orders rallied the market quickly. Trading showed no evidence of nervousness.

Firm's New York Offices Close. New York, April 1.—J. Pierpont Morgan is dead. He succumbed at 12:05 p. m. (Rome time). This announcement was made by the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. The Morgan offices at the corner of Broad and Wall streets are closed. On the front doors is this notice:

"J. P. Morgan died at Rome, Italy, 12:05."

Henry P. Davison, a member of the house, made the announcement of death. He said merely that he had received a cable that the financier had passed away shortly after noon. Mr. Davison had planned to go abroad some time this week, but it is thought probable that this trip will be postponed.

J. P. Morgan, Jr., Says Little. "Please don't speak to me now," was the request of J. Pierpont Morgan, of the small army of newspaper men who greeted him when he left his home in Madison avenue. Mr. Morgan was bound for the home of his mother, a few doors away.

Coincident with Mr. Morgan's death it became known that he had sustained a serious attack before his departure for Europe, but rallied so rapidly that it was not considered a forerunner to fatal illness and was known only to his most intimate friends.

For many years Mr. Morgan spent a considerable portion of his time abroad, but on this trip for the first time he severed connection with business affairs and permitted his partners to shoulder all responsibility for their conduct. It was the first instance of his taking such a complete rest since he entered the banking business in this city before the Civil war.

Frequently Savior of "Street." "The old doctor of Wall street" was

J. Pierpont Morgan—not its "wizard" nor its "frenzied financier." He saved the "street" from what seemed impending ruin on a number of occasions. Even the pulse of the national government quickened under the ministering care of the great banker on whom the term "doctor" nestles gracefully.

The most critical "case" ever attended by Mr. Morgan was the financial slump of the fall of 1907, when the frenzy of "frenzied finance" became a degenerate, stock-tumbling affliction.

"Dr." Morgan was called in after a long period of inconspicuousness and left to battle with the situation. He organized a pool and put $25,000,000 into instant circulation. This enormous sum was not sufficient, however. More money was needed and needed at once if panic was to be avoided.

Morgan and his pool placed $15,000,000 more where it was needed. The feat was one of raising $40,000,000 in forty hours—$1,000,000 an hour.

There was no log cabin beginning to the career of the head of the great banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. His life was not the conventional story of great achievements founded on small beginnings. Morgan was "handicapped" by being born to riches.

John Pierpont Morgan was born at Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1837. His schooling opportunities were excellent. He graduated at the English high school of Boston and then became a student in the University of Gottingen, Germany. In 1857 he entered the bank of Duncan, Sherman & Co. of London. His father was a partner in the firm and it was not difficult for young Morgan to get his start.

From 1864 to 1871 he was a member of the firm of Dabney, Morgan & Co., dealers in investment securities.

In 1871 he became a member of the banking firm of Drexel, Morgan & Co., converted, after the death of Mr. Drexel, to J. P. Morgan & Co., the largest private financial institution in the world. In thirty years the history of this house has been that of the finances of the nation. Mr. Morgan was also head of the firm of J. S. Morgan & Co. of London; Morgan, Hedges & Co. of Paris, and Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia.

Big Chapters in Magnetic Career. A few chapters in the career of the financial giant are indicated as follows:

In 1871 he created a market in Europe for $25,000,000 worth of New York Central stock.

In 1877 he handled an issue of $260,000,000 of government bonds in preparation for placing the national currency on a gold basis.

In 1880 he provided $40,000,000 for the extension of the Northern Pacific railroad to the Pacific coast. In the same year he led in the reorganization of the Reading railroad and of the Baltimore & Ohio, involving syndicate work and the loan of $10,000,000.

In 1893 the Southern railroad was created out of the Richmond Terminal and allied lines.

In 1895 the Erie railroad was rehabilitated.

In 1897 the Lehigh Valley was put on its feet, the soft coal combination formed and the Central Railroad of New Jersey leased by the Reading.

In 1901 he secured American subscriptions to the amount of $50,000,000 to the British war loan.

Other achievements of the "doctor of Wall street" were the floating of the securities of the United States Steel corporation, the fathering of the agreement between the anthracite coal operators and the federating of soft coal interests in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Member of Many Clubs. Mr. Morgan was a member of the Metropolitan, Union, Knickerbocker, Union League, Century, Lawyers' Tuxedo, Racquet, Riding and Players' clubs of New York city. He was a warden of St. George's Episcopal church in New York.

In 1861 Mr. Morgan married Miss Amelia Sturges, who died the following year. In 1865 he married Frances Louis Tracy and they have one son, three daughters and eight grandchildren. The son, J. P. Morgan, Jr., is of middle age and is the active head of the house in New York.

Rail Employees Decision April 23. New York, April 23.—The arbitration board which has been hearing the grievances of the 35,000 railroad firemen against the 34 eastern railroads, announced it will hand down its decision April 23.

CINCINNATI FLOODED

LOWER SECTION OF CITY IS INUNDED BY OHIO RIVER—MANY REFUGEES ARRIVE.

LATEST OHIO FLOOD SUMMARY.

Table showing estimated known home dead and less for various cities including Columbus, Dayton, Zanesville, Hamilton, Troy, Piqua, Marietta, Middletown, Delaware, Chillicothe, Wooster, Tiffin, Fremont, Harrison, Valley Junction, Massillon, Near Omega, Coshocton, South of Chillicothe, and Scattering.

Totals. 580 348 128,500 Cincinnati, March 31.—With the Ohio river covering the entire lower section of this city and with refugees from the stricken upstate towns coming in by hundreds, Cincinnati faces a situation that will require the combined efforts of all of its relief and civic organizations to cope with. Every hotel in this city is crowded to its capacity, while every moving van, auto truck and freight street car has been pressed into service removing families from the flood area.

The river reached the stage of 65.9 feet at daybreak and was rising at a rate of one and a half tenths of a foot an hour. More than 60 city blocks are under water, whose depth ranges from half a foot to ten feet.

Suffering, however, has been at a minimum, owing to warning sent out early that a stage of 70 feet would be reached before the waters began to recede.

Cut Off From Kentucky. The city was practically cut off from traffic communication with Covington, Ky., when the approach to the suspension bridge became covered with water at a depth that prevents car or foot service.

A rise of another foot will put the South Covington & Cincinnati Street Car company's lines, which operates all street cars entering from Kentucky, out of commission, owing to the fact that the power house will become swamped at this stage. The central bridge leading into Newport was abandoned early last evening.

Water Up to Second Stories. The water reached the second floors of a number of business houses along Front street and was half way up on the first floor of several blocks of houses on Second street. Several lines of the Cincinnati Traction company, operating in the lower district, have been abandoned.

Reassuring word from the packers, commission men and general produce merchants came early in the day, when it was estimated by experts that Cincinnati had enough food supplies to last at least ten days without inconveniencing any one.

Sixty city blocks in Newport and Covington are under water, and as almost all of the manufacturing plants on that side of the Ohio are located in the lowlands, thousands have been thrown out of employment.

Secretary of War Garrison, accompanied by Major General Leonard Wood, arrived here en route to Dayton, O., upon his advent into this city he answered the first telegram that he has received from Governor Cox at Columbus. It was relayed from Washington before it reached the secretary, and said:

"I would suggest that you go to Dayton first. Greatly pleased that you are with us. Have been sending messages all along your route, but apparently the bad condition of the wires has prevented them from reaching you."

Practically every city and town along the West Virginia shore of the Ohio river is flooded from many points along the river numerous deaths have been recorded and the situation in many towns is critical. Wheeling, in the northern part of the state, is experiencing the worst flood in the history of the city, during which ten persons have been drowned. All of the lower portion of the city is inundated and thousands have been rendered homeless.

Pennsylvania Inundated. Serious flood conditions prevail in the Wyoming valley in Pennsylvania, the greater part of which is under water. Many towns are isolated and the full extent of the damage cannot be estimated as yet. The Susquehanna river has attained a height of 28 feet, but late reports show that it is slowly receding and the outlook becomes more hopeful. Hundreds of families throughout the valleys have been forced to flee from their homes. The militia is on patrol duty in several districts. Considerable damage is reported from Wilkesbarre. In the western section of the state conditions are decidedly alarming. The Ohio and Allegheny have flooded the low lands around Pittsburg, Oil City is threat-

R. B. Beckwith, 603 S. Meridian, Portland, Ind., says: "My back ached terribly, my hands and feet were badly swollen. I had to get out of bed on my hands and knees. I had to be doctored without success until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I improved steadily and before long was entirely cured."

SAD PREDICAMENT.

"I have come to ask your daughter's wing."

"Alas! Mr. Drake, I'm afraid you will have to wait until some new ones grow in. The farmer clipped our wings this morning."

No Little Girl for Him. The six-year-old son of a well-known Indianapolis family attends a dancing school. He is a chubby little fellow who has not begun to stretch out yet, and he keenly feels his "shortage."

He demands that he be recognized as a little "grownup." Several days ago the teacher planned to instruct her pupils in dancing "the Butterfly." A five-year-old girl who is small for her age, but is a trifle stouter than our hero, but an adept at dancing, was assigned as his partner. He gazed at her in silence. Then he took hold of her hand and, with his mouth set firmly, walked straight up to the teacher.

"Don't you think you'd better give me a bigger girl?" he asked.—Indianapolis News.

FLY TO PIECES. The Effect of Coffee on Highly Organized People.

"I have been a coffee user for years, and about two years ago got into a very serious condition of dyspepsia and indigestion. It seemed to me I would fly to pieces. I was so nervous that at the least noise I was distressed, and many times could not straighten myself up because of the pain."

Tea is just as injurious, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.

"My physician told me I must not eat any heavy or strong food, and ordered a diet, giving me some medicine. I followed directions carefully, but kept on using coffee and did not get any better."

"Last winter my husband, who was away on business, had Postum served to him in the family where he boarded. He liked it so well that when he came home he brought some with him. We began using it and I found it most excellent."

"While I drank it my stomach never bothered me in the least, and I got over my nervous troubles. When the Postum was gone we returned to coffee, then my stomach began to hurt me as before, and the nervous conditions came on again."

"That showed me exactly what was the cause of the whole trouble, so I quit drinking coffee altogether and kept on using Postum. The old troubles left again and have never returned."

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Well-being," in pkgs.

Scattering includes death at Mansfield, Warren, Middletown, Wayne county, Van Wert, Cleves, New Bethlehem, Youngstown and Barberton, O., and Logansport and Lafayette, Ind., all previously reported.

Cincinnati, March 31.—Final recession of the flood waters in the northern part of Indiana and Ohio Sunday brought the belief that the total number of dead in the two states may be under 1,000. With the figures reported from cities mere guesses and with many others still to be heard from the dead as listed totaled 736.

There is little hope that the total loss of life will fall below this figure, and it is more apt to be swelled until it nears the 1,000 mark when all parts of the territory flooded are heard from. Many bodies are buried under the debris and mud which covers all parts of the two states affected by the flood. Some of these are accounted for in the estimates at hand and others are not.

Bodies Swept Downstream.
Other bodies, including those of many of the Dayton victims, have been swept down the main channels of the rivers that flooded cities and it will be days before they are recovered.

While the northern parts of Indiana and Ohio are recovering from the effects of the flood the southern parts of the two states bordering on the Ohio river are in terror. Thousands of persons in these parts of the two states have fled from their homes to safety. Hundreds of homes are under water and many of them have been swept away. There has been no great loss of life, due largely to the warning which the floods in the north gave to the south.

Kentucky and West Virginia are almost equal sufferers with their sister states to the north. Illinois and Missouri also are feeling the effects of the flood, but the conditions in neither of these states compare with those in the four others.

All of the energies of the officials and citizens of Indiana and Ohio are being devoted to relief work, and that of enumerating the dead is merely incidental. Feeding the refugees, who number between 250,000 and 300,000; preventing the breaking out of epidemics among them, restoring electric light, transportation and wire service and such duties are considered more important than listing the dead.

Buried in Debris.
Moreover this work is made difficult in the cities visited by the flood because the streets still are covered with a sea of mud and strewn with debris. The mud is several inches high everywhere and several feet high in some places. Some bodies are buried under the mud, while others are caught under the wreckage of houses and it will be days before they are recovered. Many others were swept away down the channels of the rivers which flooded the cities of the two states.

The collapsing of buildings, weakened by the flood but whose walls stood up as long as the water remained high, is a new danger in the stricken regions. It has been necessary to tear down a further loss of life from the falling walls.

Garrison Reaches Dayton.
Relief work is progressing satisfactorily throughout the districts affected by the flood. The arrival of Secretary of War Garrison and his party in Dayton Saturday gave impetus to the work in that city. There seems to be sufficient food on hand to feed at least all the flood sufferers congregated in the centers toward which attention has been directed.

Of Some Importance.

At Zanesville the present conditions are worse than they are at Dayton. A long distance telephone message from the city Sunday declared that over half of it still was under water too deep to be traversed except in boats. The water was gradually receding, having fallen nine feet from its high mark.

Here, as in Dayton, the collapsing of buildings which had been weakened by the flood marked the recession of the waters.

Only five bodies have been recovered so far, but the dead in the city will be far more numerous. A morgue has been established at the army and when the waters fall a little farther a search for bodies will be made.

Report Diphtheria Epidemic.
An epidemic of diphtheria was reported to have broken out in the city and this is a source of great worry to the officials.

Food stations have been established in the city and provisions are being distributed to flood sufferers. Ohio National Guardsmen still protect the city, which is under martial law.

At Hamilton the estimate of the dead in the flood is placed at 150. As the water recedes the evidence of the property destruction is more appalling. Piled high upon the east side of the courthouse are caskets awaiting the flood victims, whose bodies are being gathered as rapidly as possible. National Guards are protecting the city everywhere, and, though there have been reports of looting, there is no evidence that any ghoul has operated successfully.

Relieve Columbus Marooned.
At Columbus the water is subsiding rapidly and the work of rescue was thus made easier.

Scores of big transfer wagons traversed the inundated streets of the flooded districts carrying relief to the hundreds marooned in the upper stories of houses. Many of those marooned refused to leave their homes, declaring that the worst was over and that they wished to stay with their property. The military authorities allowed hundreds to return to their homes in the flooded area to make repairs and clean up their houses. The health authorities took charge of the cleaning up process.

Parties of searchers were organized to penetrate the great drifts of debris extending along the flooded river, as fast as the water goes down, in the search for bodies.

A looter was shot and killed early Saturday on the West side. The shot is said to have been fired by a private of the Marysville company. The looter's body dropped into the water and was not recovered. Many shots have been fired at looters by state troops on guard.

High Flood at Cincinnati.
With nearly fifteen thousand persons in the towns on the Kentucky side of the Ohio river driven from their homes by the rising water sweeping down the Ohio valley, and with more than three thousand five hundred homes submerged, the flood situation in this vicinity is assuming graver proportions hourly.

In Cincinnati the water front buildings are partly under water and much damage has been done.

An increase in the river stage here will mean the complete isolation of the city from the Kentucky side and the stoppage of train service in this direction.

So far only one life has been lost as a direct result of the high waters there. Miss Anna Smith, the first victim drowned, lost her life in an attempt to reach Newport in a skiff that capsized in midstream. Her three men companions were rescued.

Newport and Covington Suffer.
Newport and Covington, in Kentucky, opposite Cincinnati, virtually are surrounded by water. Conditions there are worse than elsewhere, and nearly ten thousand persons have been driven from their homes. Relief measures, however, are adequate.

In these two cities the only fear is that health conditions would be seriously affected because of the clogging of the sewage system and the stagnation of backwater. The electric light plants already have had to cease, but gas plants are not interrupted.

In the Kentucky towns of Dayton, Ludlow, Bellevue, and Browley identical conditions exist. In these towns there are a total of 2,000 persons being cared for by relief committees and more than five hundred homes have been flooded.

Second Flood in Short Time.
Property Damage will be immense, especially as this is the second time within three months that the Ohio valley has suffered from high water.

Street car officials here announced that when the river reaches sixty-eight feet the power plants which operate the car lines to the Kentucky shore will be out of commission and communication with Cincinnati will be cut off.

Believes in Dreams.
Bill—Don't you believe dreams go by contraries?
Jill—I certainly do. Why, the other night I dreamed my alarm clock was gone and when I woke up it wasn't even going.

Quid Pro Quo.

WOMEN SEEK DEATH

INDIANA LIFE SAVER TELLS A GRAPHIC STORY OF THE FLOOD AT PERU.

HE FERRIED MANY TO SAFETY

Thrown Into Water Several Times by Despairing and Frenzied Passengers—Paddled Three Miles Through the Tree Tops.

Plymouth, Ind.—Graphic description of the horrors of the flood at Peru, Ind., was given by Gilbert Kessler, one of the heroes of the calamity. Weary, tired eyed and almost unnerved from the loss of sleep and the sights he had witnessed, young Kessler, a muscular product of a northern Indiana farm, staggered from a relief train from the stricken city at Plymouth. Here he recounted the terrors of the inky nights when the Wabash river drowned the piercing cries of the frantic and the groans of the perishing. To board the relief train Kessler had paddled three miles in a boat through the protruding tree-tops and debris that momentarily threatened to wreck him.

Crazed Woman Leaps to Death.
Kessler's most vivid picture was the suicide of several fear crazed women, who leaped from the rescue boats. The roaring current and the terrible sights, he declared, had maddened them.

"It was too awful ever to forget," said Kessler with a shudder. "It was cold and damp and misty, and the sight of that black water rushing on pitilessly just seemed to take the heart out of most of us, especially the women.

"Night and day you could hear the shrieks of the women. And the conduct of some of them! I was piloting one of the rescue boats to our landing the court house, and the boat was pretty well filled. One of our passengers was a woman.

"We were moving rather shakily through one of the main streets when all of a sudden I saw this woman rise from her seat and begin to wall: 'Oh, what is the use! We'll all be drowned anyway,' and she plunged from her seat into the torrent.

Tossed Overboard; Regains Boat.
"The next moment I found myself in the water. I saw a little arm stick up for a moment. I made a grab for it, but it went down. There was no chance to swim in that Niagara. I struck the stern of our rowboat and seized it with one hand. Then I gradually drew myself aboard.

"I picked up one of our oarsmen a little later. He was still alive. "But the circumstances considered, you could scarcely blame the woman. A great many of them, though, suffered with a stoicism that had to be admired.

"Then again, I had a similar occurrence. We were bringing another boatload to the court house when a woman lunged out despairingly and all of us went over. Again it was a fight and I managed to save myself. Four times, altogether, I was thrown out into that muddy stream and I am still wondering how I managed to escape.

"The current swept around street corners with tremendous force and only the most experienced oarsmen could propel those craft with any degree of safety. One of the life savers from Michigan City took too wide a turn and they all landed in the tree-tops."

"Were as many lives lost in the capsizing of boats as in the flood itself?" he was asked.

"Yes, but the boats were not to blame, because it required great experience to handle a boat in that current," he answered. "We had 200 boats, but there was so much loss of life that finally the women refused absolutely to enter the boats. They preferred to stick to roofs and second floors."

Bursting of Dam Described.
Kessler then gave a description of the flood on the first night.

"It was 7:30 p. m. when the water burst upon the city," he said. "A temporary dam had been constructed by the lighting company and because of the threatened condition of the Wabash plans were made to break a hole in the dam and let the water out gradually. Instead the dam gave out and the water came with a roar.

"Families had just finished supper when the fire whistle sounded. Simultaneously all lights went out. People ran out to see what had happened and soon cries of anguish were heard. In the rain and darkness you could not see the water until it was almost upon you. I felt it swishing about my ankles and ran for my girl cousin. When I got to her house I was waist deep in water. Cries, shrieks and the reports of revolvers rent the air. Swifter, swifter ran the water. My cousin and I were almost swept off our feet. Above the din I could hear: 'To the courthouse! To the courthouse!' Half swimming, half floundering, we reached there.

Free Lunch Habit Story.
Australia's organized effort to abolish the free lunch in hotels has failed. The big popular hotels in Sydney and Melbourne have returned to the system of giving away sandwiches, sausages and a variety of other "eatables" to everybody who spends threepence upon a drink. They allege that they have "lost an enormous amount of business" since the withdrawal of the free counter lunch. Their old clients have migrated in hundreds to the regular restaurants. For years one big

"We found thousands of men, women and children. Families were separated. Women were crying for their children, men for their wives and wives for their husbands.

Roar of Circus Beasts Terrible.
"Then came the roaring of lions and the neighing of horses. We realized in a moment that the Wallace circus, which has winter quarters at Peru, had been engulfed.

"The lions and other animals were in cages and died in the trap, roaring until the water swallowed them. "But not so the elephants. These huge beasts tore and lashed their stakes until some of them got away. Several boats saw them trudging and swimming, roaring and lashing their trumpets in the stream. That was the last we saw of them.

"While the work of rescue was going on a great glare lit the sky. We saw that the Miami County Lumber company was ablaze. The reflection in the sky and on the water gave new terror to the refugees in the courthouse, but it aided the relief parties in their work.

"The next day I saw bodies in the water. One sight wrung my heart. I saw a couple floating by—a husband and his wife—locked in each other's arms. For fear they might be separated they had bound themselves together with cord.

Babe Torn From Mother.
"Another time a woman in our boat was carrying her baby when the boat was brushed through the tree tops and the branches tore the baby from her arms. It disappeared in the water.

"A towerman on one of the railroads that overlooked the Wabash river said he had counted more than 200 bodies as they were swept into the river and toward the south. If that is true, the death list will be larger because nobody has heard from the lowest or south side of the city, where 1,000 people lived."

Flight of Youngstown.
Chicago—J. M. Goodnight, a resident of Youngstown, O., arrived in Chicago over the Lake Shore.

"Youngstown is under eight feet of water," he declared. "The Mahoning river has risen ten feet higher than it ever attained. Its two wagon bridges have been washed away and the railroad bridges are abandoned. The last train over them threatened to collapse the structure. The water-works and electric lighting plants have given out. Youngstown supplies natural gas to the surrounding territory. This plant was feeble when I left and probably has cut off light from the territory by this time.

"Most of the inhabitants succeeded in reaching high ground out of the reach of the water. Youngstown is built on a series of ridges. Between these dozens of people swam to safety. Others were lost in the swift current. Near Ashtabula, looking out of the car window, I saw a family attempting to get into a boat from the attic window of their home. The boat overturned as the train rolled away."

Die in Last Embrace.
When the residence of W. D. Axline at Tiffin, O., was picked up by the flood and started careening down the river, watchers saw Axline and his wife standing in the window of the second story. Her head was pillowed on his shoulder. The cries of the wife could be heard above the rushing water.

Axline patted his wife on the back and kissed her. A moment later the house crashed into the Baltimore & Ohio bridge. It was splintered like a bundle of sticks. With their arms about each other, husband and wife disappeared beneath the raging waters.

When the home of Jacob Kenecht was swept away Mrs. Kenecht and her five children were in the dwelling. Kenecht was outside. When he was picked up by the current he grabbed the limb of a tree. He held on for fifteen minutes. Rescuers attempted to throw him a line. Each time the wildly running water held the rope within a few inches of his outstretched arms.

Finally, exhausted and numbed by the cold, Kenecht gave up the fight against death. "Thanks, good-by, boys, I'm—" his last words were swallowed by the water that engulfed him.

"Sailor Jack" is a Hero.
Until Monday morning, "Sailor Jack" Willis was an inconspicuous character in Columbus. Today he is the city's hero. He took charge of the rescue work. The life-saving baskets and cables were made and operated under his orders. By stretching cables to a water-surrounded house, the occupants, one by one, were brought to places of safety. "Sailor Jack" personally saved ten people. And after sixty hours of work, with no rest, he dropped exhausted. A movement has already been started to obtain for him a Carnegie medal.

Four women, two of whom were Mrs. A. W. Knott and daughter, were rescued from the roof of a barn on Water street by telephone linemen, who clung to the tops of the poles and swung lines to the women. The four were hauled to safety, hand over hand.

MANY TOTS SAVED

How Orphans in Fort Wayne's Asylum Were Rescued.

Five Boat Loads Carried Across the Flood by Captain Carland and Crew From Chicago—Many Thrilling Incidents.

Chicago.—Half-frozen and without food, fifty-eight children and their attendants were rescued from the Fort Wayne Orphan Asylum by Captain Charles Carland and his crew from the Chicago life saving station. Captain Carland and six life savers returned to Chicago from Fort Wayne with their surf boat, but immediately departed for Terre Haute to continue their rescue work.

Captain Carland's story was graphic. He told how he and his men arrived at the asylum just after four children had met death when an attempt was made to rescue them. Five trips to the asylum were made by Captain Carland and each time a boatload was taken safely across half a mile of swiftly flowing water. Besides the children four matrons and six men were rescued from the building.

Carland Tells Story.
"We arrived at Fort Wayne when the water was highest," said Captain Carland. "No sooner had we arrived when a report reached us that the children were marooned in the Orphan Asylum. One attempt had been made to rescue them which ended disastrously for four of the children and two brave men. The small rowboat in which the would-be rescuers had reached the building overturned after four of the children had been taken from a second-story window. All were drowned.

"Conditions in the asylum were awful when six men and myself finally reached the building. In one small room, huddled together half frozen and hungry, were the little girls and boys with their attendants. "Many were crying, a few were asleep from exhaustion. One of the women had fainted.

Afraid to Trust Boats.
"At first they refused to trust their lives to our boats. They had witnessed the fate of the first boat and were afraid. We finally carried twelve of the little ones out of the second-story window and then our fight back started. It needed the combined strength of every man on the boat to fight the current and prevent the boat from overturning. Then we were hampered by the cries of the children and at times the one matron we took with us would become panic stricken. After getting to shore the children were placed in the care of merchants of the town, and we went back for another load.

"We received a different reception on our second arrival at the asylum. A shout of joy went up when they heard that the first load had been landed safely. A little confusion resulted from the natural anxiety of the tots to get into the boat. No one was hurt, however, and after five trips we succeeded in removing all the children and their attendants to safety.

"The merchants thanked us for what we had done. One of the matrons told us the children had not had a full meal for 48 hours. They had run out of coal and were breaking up the furniture in the place for fire wood. The fire they kindled in the middle of the room, braving the danger of the entire building burning up."

Brings 200 Peru Children.
Charles H. Thacher and his wife, who live at 3260 Groveland avenue, arrived here from Peru, Ind., with 200 Peru children, many of them now orphans.

A man in Peru, having a boat, demanded $50 from Thacher to take the two away. There was another woman in the marooned house, and the boatman refused to take her.

"A shot was fired and the man fell out of the boat, dead," said Mr. Thacher. Mr. Thacher escaped with his wife and the other woman in the boat. A second man, Dr. Hump, offered a boatman $100 to take his wife to a hospital, there being imminent a visit from the stork. The man refused and the doctor knocked him out of the boat with a brick. A Winona college student rowed the doctor's wife to the hospital, where a baby was born, mother and child being saved.

Trio in Stolen Boat Drowned.
Three unknown men were drowned at Peru when a leaky boat, which they had stolen, sank. The boat was owned by Oliver Wilson, a farmer who lives near the water line of the interurban tracks. Wilson discovered the theft when the three men were 100 yards from shore. When they had gone a half mile, they appeared in distress. The Wilson family watched the men struggle in the water and disappear. No effort has been made to recover the bodies.

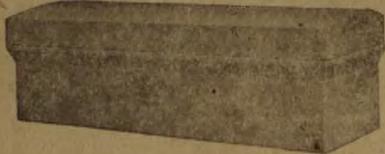

At Logansport heroic work was done by the crew sent from Lake Bluff and by the cadets from Culver Military academy in saving lives.

Many pathetic incidents marked the work of rescue.

In all more than 5,000 persons were rescued from marooned homes and taken to safety in rowboats. Many lost everything they possessed. Horses, cattle and other animals were killed by the hundreds.

Married in Sycamore

At the German Lutheran parsonage in Sycamore last Saturday afternoon, March 29, occurred the marriage of Will Wolters and Miss Sarah Houtz, both of this city. The bride is a daughter of Charles Houtz and has resided in Genoa for some time. The groom is a son of Fred Wolters of this city and has been a resident of Genoa since boyhood. They will commence housekeeping in the Teyler flats on Sycamore street.

For sale, quantity of extra large oak fence posts, at 10 to 15c each. Inquire of John Pratt, Genoa, 22-t

The best musical act ever put on in Genoa at the opera house on Thursday evening, April 10. The Imperial English Hand Bell Ringers. Eight men in the company.

It's time for tonics, especially for that watch. It is money in your pocket to be on time in the spring of the year. Do not let that watch fool you again; take it to Martin for repairs.

A fine souvenir spoon would make the best kind of a birthday greeting. Try it on your friends the next time and see how it is appreciated. Martin has a full line of the latest designs.

Right now, before the heavy spring rains, see about your roofing, gutters and spouting. Perkins & Rosenfeld are in position to take care of your wants promptly now. Do not wait until the spring rush.

The Illinois legislature selected two brainy men for the United States senate, but let us hope that Illinois will be judged by their brains alone. We would not want the folks at Washington to think that everyone in Illinois is like J. Hamilton in regard to creased trousers and split whiskers, nor would we have them think that L. Y. Sherman was a true representative of the Illinois dresser. But both men will make good despite their clothes.

It takes just such terrible calamities as those of the past week to show the true generosity and kindness of the American people. Before the waters had subsided in Indiana and Ohio hundreds of thousands of dollars had been subscribed for the relief fund, coming from rich and poor alike. The heart which appears to be of stone in cold business transactions is softened when others are in distress.

One out of every forty-seven of the democrats who voted for Wilson are looking for a public job, while the other forty-six are plugging for a friend. Too bad that all cannot be accommodated, they have waited long enough for the mere opportunity to camp at the white house door. It seems, however, that Mr. Wilson is taking his time about the matter.

It is pleasing to note that the Democrats are not quite so hasty about tariff revision as they were sixteen years ago. They can see if they look that these United States look quite healthy right now without much tampering with that which is the foundation of the prosperity of the American people.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH COUGHS OR COLDS.

Many Have Filled Consumptive Graves Because They Neglected a Cough or Cold.

You never know how soon a cold will become a serious malady. It may be in the head to-day; in the lungs to-morrow and the next day you may be fighting deadly pneumonia for your life. It's much the same with a cough. Inflamed and cough-worn throat and lungs offer the best chance to consumption germs to begin their murderous work. There's only one way to prevent these deadly diseases getting a hold on you. As soon as a cough or cold attacks you, take Dr. King's New Discovery until you are entirely cured. Sometimes a dose or two will do the business, saving you suffering and a doctor's bill. Thousands of cures like these below prove its wonderful power to cure coughs and colds.

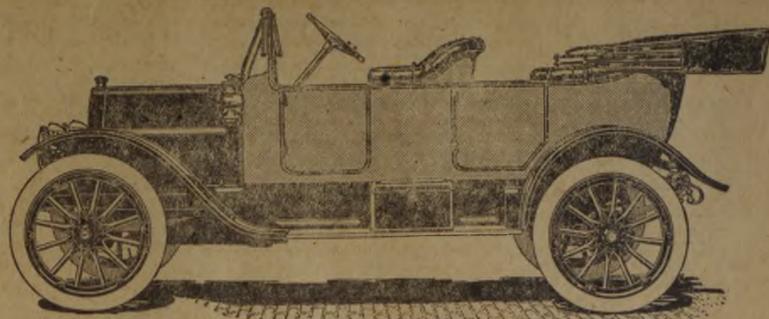

"I feel sure it's a Godsend to humanity," writes Mrs. Effie Morton, Columbia, Mo., "for I believe I would have consumption to-day, if I had not used this great remedy."

"I take great pleasure in recommending your Dr. King's New Discovery for the benefit of suffering humanity. It's a thoroughly reliable remedy for all coughs, croup and lung troubles. We have used it in our family for fourteen years with the best results. It saved my mother when two doctors gave her up. She had a very severe case of pneumonia and was in bed seven weeks and part of the time 'out of her mind' so that she did not know me. I told father to get me two 50c bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery, which he did, and on taking it she soon began to improve, and four bottles cured her entirely. You may publish this if you wish and I will answer all inquiries, with postage enclosed for reply.

"Yours respectfully,

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

Look at Your Label Today and Note Whether You are in Arrears

Again we wish to call the attention of some of our readers to the label which appears on this paper or on the wrapper in which it is mailed. If you are in arrears you are cordially invited to call and make settlement or remit by mail. As stated many times in the past the postal laws do not allow us to give more than one year's credit and by doing so the publisher takes chances of a mix-up with the government. If we have been accommodating enough to give you that year's credit it would be no more than courtesy or right that a remittance be very prompt at the end of the allotted time.

Owing to the fact that it requires more time than we have to dispose of in trying to collect these small accounts, all accounts of more than a year's standing on the first of May next will be left in the hands of a collector who makes it a business to collect just such accounts. Now the publisher has no desire to do this, it being much more congenial and more like business to pay directly to the office. The warning is given in plenty of time so that none may have occasion to feel miffed over the matter if the attorneys for the agency get after them. It is invariably the case that the matter is overlooked, the amount being small as far as each individual is concerned. However, when the publisher has from 500 to 1000 of these $1.25 accounts standing out it means some money, and money that is needed in our business.

As an inducement for a payment at once the following offers are made. These offers will all be withdrawn on the first of May:

The Republican-Journal and Chicago Weekly Inter Ocean, both one year for $1.50.

The Republican-Journal and Prairie Farmer with a good parcel post zone map for $1.50.

The Republican-Journal, Weekly Inter Ocean, Prairie Farmer and parcel post zone map for $1.75.

With every two years paid on subscription for The Republican-Journal we will give a "pan safety lifter" one of the most useful articles that can be imagined for use in the kitchen for lifting hot pans, removing hot covers, etc.

The safety lifter will be given with any of the above combinations for an additional sum of 25 cents. It is worth 50 cents of any one's money and can not be purchased at the stores.

But here is the banner proposition: Hand us $5.00 and we will send The Republican-Journal five years, the Inter Ocean and Prairie Farmer one year, throw in the zone map and the pan safety lifter.

Anxious.

A mere man wishes the widow lady, with a horse, who is so kind and gentle in single or double harness, would send further particulars.

Comfort in the Thought.

Patricia possesses the four-year-old's usual aversion to water for cleansing purposes and is most sparing of its application to her small face. The other evening before going to bed she gave her reflection in the mirror a careful scrutiny and remarked: "Well, my face is pretty clean. I believe it'll do for tomorrow."

Easy Explanation.

"Why, Giorgio, there is ten minutes difference between my watch and the hall clock since Sunday! Which is wrong of the two? Is my watch ten minutes too slow or the clock ten minutes too fast?" "Your watch is all right, sir," said he grimly, "because he very warm in your pocket; click stand out in cold hall, he go faster to warm himself."—The Later Letters of Edward Lear.

"What Happened To Jones"

The High school is having this play put on and hope to realize enough money to buy, at least, one good picture for the school room. The cast will consist of members of the alumni, of the faculty and of the senior class. The list of individual characters will be published later.

FOR A TRACK TEAM

High School Boys will Drop Base Ball and Take up Field Sports

Owing to the fact that there is little base ball timber in the high school this season, and also considering the past financial losses of the base ball proposition, the Genoa high school boys have decided to take up field sports for recreation and physical development.

This is a good idea and will develop more enthusiasm and real good physically than base ball can possibly do.

The best feature of the field sport idea lies in the fact that every boy who has the least bit of gumption or spirit may enter into the sports. Not every boy is cut out for base ball, some never being able to play the game despite faithful training. However, in the field sports there surely must be some stunt that the boy might take up with advantage to himself and school. If he can not make much of a showing at jumping he might be a wonder at discus or hammer throwing. If he can not throw the hammer or put the shot with any effect at all he might be a record breaker at pole vaulting or jumping the hurdles. If he can walk a mile in an hour he may possibly be able to cover a hundred yards in ten seconds in the sprinting game. If he can not spring any faster than a fat duck, he may possibly develop into the best long distance runner in the school.

There are a dozen different ways for the boy to try his athletic qualities, and we believe that every boy in the high school will be trying to make good at one of them. After they have been in training for some time they can give a public demonstration of their agility and draw out a bigger crowd than they would for an indifferent game of base ball. Every school in the county should take up the field sport idea and then at the end of the school year have a county meet, having a suitable reward for the school taking the most points. This has been taking place in McHenry county for several years and the enthusiasm at the annual meet runs high.

World's Most Efficient Plow

The only plow that does away with air spaces. Saving thousands of dollars for farmers. Insures maximum crops wherever used. All due to auger-like twist of C. T. X. Moldboard.

Here's a plow that puts the ground in such a condition that every seed planted COUNTS. It insures maximum crops; at the same time is the easiest running and most durable plow manufactured.

Seeds that get no moisture won't come up. Moisture can't soak from the sub-soil up to the seeds in the top soil when there are AIR SPACES between.

These air spaces are costing farmers thousands of dollars in short crops—UPPER POLLY because the Rock Island C. T. X. Universal entirely does away with them. And it's the ONLY plow bottom for which this claim may truthfully be made.

Auger-Like Twist of C. T. X.

It is the peculiar corkscrew, auger-like twist of the C. T. X. Moldboard that does the business. Instead of carrying the dirt up high and "scattering" or "throwing" it, thus making air spaces, the C. T. X. buries the full slice completely over and does it better and easier than any other plow bottom ever made.

Note in the cut above how smoothly it lays the slice down.

Note the absence of these air spaces. Then note how these air spaces are formed by the ordinary plow bottoms.

Pays for Itself

You ought to come in and let us explain this wonderful plow in detail.

If you took off, per acre, but 4 bushels extra as a result of using it, this increase alone would quickly pay for the plow. Yet hundreds of tests have proved that this plow will do even better than that.

Guaranteed to do perfect work in tame sod, stubble or corn ground. So simple that a boy can operate it.

Let us show it to you first time you come to town.

J. H. UPLINGER, Kingston

Snake Story

Elgin had a most unwelcome visitor Saturday afternoon. The discovery of his presence created consternation for a few moments. It was at the warehouse of the Elgin Fruit & Produce company, 160 Milwaukee street. Half a dozen men were unloading a car of bananas from Central America. One man shouldered a large bunch of the fruit and as he passed in the door heard a strange hissing sound. When he hung the bananas on the wall he saw that they were being moved by some object concealed near the stem. Shouting an alarm he struck the bananas with a stick and a large snake dropped to the floor.
