The Northern Illinois Old Settlers and DeKalb County Farmers annual picnic was held in the township park last week Thursday, August 20. It was a lovely day and a large crowd was present, it being the largest crowd that has attended the picnic for several years. The Kirkland Military band furnished the music.

A good program was prepared which interested the older people while Hanson & Johnson's merry-go-around and dancing platform attracted the young folks. Several different kinds of stands were on the grounds and the flowing well was surrounded by people most of the time. During the evening there still remained a large number at the park. There was also a dance in H.A. Lanan's hall during the evening. When the day was over all seemed to report a very good time.

SAVED BY HIS WIT.

One Warrior Who Was Too Much For Frederick the Great.

Frederick the Great was very fond of hearing what the common soldiers thought of him and often frequented in disguise the taverns where his soldiers caroused. One day he went into a tavern and sat down at a table with an old soldier. The latter insisted on paying for everything, and the king noticed that the fellow had money, although it was not pay day.

"How is it, comrade," said the king, "that you can make your money last so long?"

"That's easy enough if you know the Prussian dodge," was the answer—"sell or pawn everything that you don't need. Today, for instance, I sold my sword and made myself a wooden one; that's good enough in times of peace," and the soldier drew his sword and showed the king a wooden one.

A few days later the king was reviewing his troops, and he recognized his old acquaintance with the wooden sword. He immediately dismounted, walked up to the man and said to him, "Draw your sword and cut off my head!"

"Your majesty," said the trembling soldier, "how can I commit such a crime?"

"Your first duty is obedience to your king!" shouted Frederick with an angry voice. "Draw your sword!"

Then the old fellow lifted his eyes to heaven and with a trembling voice exclaimed: "I obey! But may heaven change my steel sword into a wooden one when I draw it to strike my king." Thereupon he drew his sword, and it was a wooden one. With a hearty laugh the king mounted and rode on.—National Monthly.

Penal Servitude For Life.

It is a popular error in England that penal servitude "for life" means in reality "for twenty years." Of course it is no such thing. Penal servitude for life means precisely what it says, neither more nor less. True, all life sentences are reconsidered at the end of twenty years, and if the convict's conduct has been all that it ought to be during the whole of that long period he may be tentatively released on a ticket of leave. But obviously that is a very different thing from letting him go free altogether. He is still a convict and will remain one to the end of his days. He has to report himself every month until death frees him, and if he swerves from the narrow path ever so little—and is found out—he goes straight back to jail without even the formality of a trial, to be released, as a general rule, never again.—London Answers.

Preparing For the Worst.

Mme. Tetraxini says that one of the most amusing experiences of her younger days occurred when she and her sister were touring together and were leaving some lodgings where they had been very comfortable.

"After thanking the landlady," Mme. Tetraxini says, "she surprised us both by looking at us in the most kindly and condescending way."

"That's all right, my dears," she said. "I'm always good to theatricals, for I always say to myself that I never know but what my own children may come to it!"

Parsing the Word "That."

"Speaking of grammar," said a schoolteacher, "it is possible, you know, to form a sentence which contains five consecutive 'thats.' For instance, 'He said that that that that man referred to is an adjective.' It takes some pretty clear thinking on the part of my youngsters to solve the problem and parse each word, but usually some of them do it. The first that is a conjunction, the second is an adjective, the third is a noun, the fourth a conjunction and the fifth an adjective. Is it perfectly plain to you?"

The Feast of Dolls.

The feast of the dolls is the quaintest of all the little Japanese girls' festivals. In the storehouse, where are kept all the family treasures, there are boxes filled with dolls which have come down from the grandmothers and great-grandmothers. Each new bride takes her dolls when she goes to her father-in-law's house, and she keeps the feast each year till her eldest daughter is old enough to take it up.

Of Boston Coinage.

At a church fair recently a solemn looking elderly gentleman remarked to a young man, "I never attend a church fair like this without thinking of the money changers in the temple."

"I don't see the resemblance, sir," replied the young man. "There's no money changing here. Whatever you give 'em they keep."—Boston Transcript.

Caustic Whistler.

Whistler was once taken by a friend to the home of a newly rich millionaire who had been gathering a collection of dubious paintings supposedly by old masters. After Whistler viewed the collection his friend said:

"Now, Whistler, Mr. Blank wants to make provision in his will to bequeath these paintings, and he would like a suggestion from you as to which institution to give them."

Promptly came the answer, "The East End Institution For the Blind."

Queer Idea of the Oil in the Earth.

Employment of oil as fuel for the navy would have met with the wholehearted disapproval of an American who figures in Sir John Robinson's reminiscences. This farseeing person petitioned congress that "a stop might be put to the irreverent and irregular proceedings of various citizens in drawing petroleum from the earth, thus checking the designs of the Almighty, who stored it there for the future destruction of the world."

The Word "Charlatan."

"Charlatan," says a writer in the London Chronicle, "is companion to 'quack' in our vocabulary, and of this word the origin is certainly Italian. It is 'ciarlatano,' merely a chattering, and describes the traveling doctor in his cart who used to offer in an overwhelming torrent of talk his pills to villagers in the market place. He was a dentist as well as a physician and wrenched out the tooth in public."

Our Query and Reply Department

When was it that Russell Sage's office in New York was dynamited in an attempt to rob him? Was anybody killed?

It occurred Dec. 4, 1891. A lunatic entered the office with a hand bag, demanded $1,250,000 and, on being refused, dropped the bag, causing an explosion which wrecked the building, and killed the lunatic and one other man.

What was the Cherokee strip, and what became of it?

It was a large tract of valuable land, sometimes also called the Cherokee outlet, lying between Kansas and Oklahoma, which was owned by the Cherokee Indians and which retarded the settlement of that portion of the country. It contained over 6,000,000 acres, and finally, in May, 1893, was bought by the government for $8,596,731 and added to Oklahoma. It was opened to settlement in August, 1893, and about 100,000 persons made a rush for claims.

Did the constitution of the southern Confederacy establish free trade?

It contained a prohibition against buying any duties on imports "to promote or foster any branch of industry;" but, of course, that permitted the levying of duties for revenue.

Why is Oliver Goldsmith sometimes referred to as Dr. Goldsmith? Was he a doctor of medicine or of law? Did he ever visit America?

He was a doctor of medicine, but practiced very little and made no mark in the profession. He never visited America, but came near doing so. After quitting college and "knocking about" for awhile, playing the flute and participating in village sports, an uncle provided him with a horse and a purse of money with which to go to Cork to fill a place as tutor. He went to Cork, but sold the horse to pay for a passage to America, then missed his ship and abandoned the scheme.

Please give the number and kinds of vessels used in our navy at present.

As reported by the secretary of the navy, Dec. 1, 1912, there were in active service 33 battleships, 9 armored cruisers, 22 cruisers, 31 gunboats, 20 colliers, 32 destroyers, 19 submarines; total, 106.

That's How Some of 'Em Are Chosen. "Booby is the most ignorant, conceited, incompetent, overbearing, tiresome person I ever met!" "That's so! Let's send him to the legislature."

STANDARD TIME.

Different Now From 1873, When There Were Seventy-one Divisions.

Years ago, instead of four or five standards of railroad time, there were seventy-one! That was in 1873. In 1883 they had cut out some deadwood, as various railroads had begun to consolidate. At that enlightened period there were still remaining fifty-three different standard times. In railroad centers, where the competing roads didn't like one another and refused to unionize in depots, it was not an uncommon thing to find one end of town setting its watches so many minutes ahead or so many minutes behind the other end of town. The lot of the traveler was hard because trunk line service was not developed then as now, and it frequently carried one into the realms of higher mathematics to connect between trains of different systems. The confusion at length became so bad with the extension and ramification of railroads that the officials got together and began holding "time conventions" in an effort to lighten the burden of the clock. After meetings in St. Louis and New York in 1883 the railroads of this country and Canada drew five lines through the continental map along the meridians fifteen degrees apart, beginning at sixty degrees west of Greenwich, England. The meridians were to drop an hour each step west. Thus when it was noon on the sixtieth meridian it was 11 o'clock in the morning of the seventy-fifth, and so on.

There were drawbacks to this plan, however. It would not be possible for railroads to use an imaginary line, so it was decided to make the change in the hour at the principal stations nearest to this imaginary line. Detroit, Wheeling, Pittsburgh, Parkersburg, Va., and Augusta, Ga., though not situated on an air line, are points of change between eastern and central time. Frequently in the west the change is made at the end of long divisions.

It is interesting to follow the standard time line on a map. One's first impression is of amazement at the zigzag line that jumps hither and yon and not infrequently even turns back on itself, though all the time following its general direction north and south, on one side or the other, of its own special meridian. The map is plotted off into distinctive colors by these zigzag lines, and any particular division is known as red, blue, green or yellow, according to whether it is intercolonial, eastern, central, mountain or Pacific time. The eastern colonies of Canada recently adopted eastern time, thereby cutting the standard divisions down to four.

Mean local time of course does not correspond to standard time except on the meridians themselves. Thus Savannah is thirty-six minutes behind the sun, while Detroit is thirty-two minutes ahead of it.—Philadelphia Press.

Two Kinds of Sweetness.

There is a sweetness of the child and a sweetness of the old. The sweetness of the child is largely independent of his personality. It is in his ways and in his looks, and the same thing is true, though not quite so much, of the young woman. But when sweetness comes at sixty it is the expression of the very nature of the soul. Mr. Barrie somewhere we believe has said that no woman is really beautiful until she is fifty-three. The beauty that is worth most is the beauty that is connected with the character itself.—Norman Hapgood in Harper's Weekly.

Not Qualified.

"I have tried to make a fashionable gentleman of you," said the reproachful father.

"I know it," replied the remorseful young man. "But the smell of a chrysanthemum disagrees with me, I look funny in a silk hat, and I always get a cane twisted up between my ankles. If it's all the same to you, I'd rather go to work."—Washington Star.

What Man Escapes.

Women may have a sense of humor. But if a man wore a section of elevator cable around his neck, and fastened onto it a can-opener, a young monkey-wrench, an ice-pick, a whisker-dress, a screw-driver and a sardine-can, he wouldn't have nerve enough to call the mess his vanity outfit.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Fixed for Life.

"It's lucky I should meet you, Smith. There's a little bill you owe Timkins, the tailor. He's commissioned me to collect it." "Has he, old man? Well I'm glad you've got a permanent job at last."—London Tatler.

In the Same Boat.

CHARGED BY AN ELEPHANT.

A Plunge Through a Tree and a Rifle Shot Just in Time.

Captain C. H. Stigand tells in his book, "Hunting the Elephant in Africa," of a narrow escape he had from a young bull elephant. The animal had charged the hunting party, with the usual result that the natives fled at their best speed. He dodged sharply from the path of the enemy and tripped over a fallen tree, dropping his rifle and just managing to seize it by the muzzle as the elephant was about to tread on it. He then dived headforemost into the branches of the fallen tree.

"I made frantic efforts to crawl through, but a stout branch resisted my progress, and at the same moment the galongwa pushed in after me and pushed me through the branches on the other side. Two drops of blood from his forehead fell on my shorts, one on the thigh and one on the knee. Instead of pushing me straight through in front of him, though, he kicked me sideways. The impetus he gave me bent aside the stubborn branch, and the next moment I found myself crawling out on hands and knees on one side of the tree, with a rifle still grasped by the muzzle, while the elephant was executing a dance and stamping up the ground the other side, five yards from me, evidently thinking that I was under his feet.

"I quickly changed my rifle round and discharged it into his stern. It was the last cartridge in the rifle. Having fired, the rifle was taken out of my hands, and I found Matola, who had counted the shots, standing beside me, serving me the second rifle as a waiter might offer a dish. By some oversight it had not been loaded, for I had given strict orders that none of my men were ever to load or unload my rifles. Being a good soldier, Matola had not disobeyed this order, even under these extreme circumstances, but had gone the nearest to loading it he could.

"The breech was open, and he was holding the clip in position with his thumb just over the magazine. All I had to do was to press it down as I took hold of the rifle close to the bolt and I was ready to fire. The elephant was turning round and I shot him in the brain, dropping him dead."

Deaf Wit.

Thomas A. Edison said apropos of deafness:

"Deafness has its advantages. My own deafness enables me to concentrate my thoughts as I'd never be able to do if distracted by noise and conversation. It helps me to sleep too.

"Some men through deafness actually get a reputation for wit.

"I know a stupid old fellow, deaf as a post, to whom a lady said, nodding toward a rich banker's daughter:

"Is Miss Bond a pretty girl?"

"The deaf mute, misunderstanding the question, answered calmly:

"No, she isn't, but she will be when her father dies."—Detroit Free Press.

The Abecedarians.

The Abecedarians were a sect of German Anabaptists who arose in the sixteenth century. They despised all learning, regarding it as a hindrance to religion and looking even upon the "A B C" with contempt. Their design was the bringing of the world to the rule of righteousness by the gradual destruction of all then existent governments.

Unconcerned.

An incident illustrating the placidity, if so it may be called, of the Duke of Wellington has reference to a naval officer, a near connection of the duke. The ship which this officer commanded was lost, and he himself was drowned. When the news was communicated to the duke he merely exclaimed, "That's the second ship he has lost!"

Diamonds in a Vacuum.

A four or five carat diamond, if placed in a vacuum, emits as much light as a candle. And the color of the light varies with its facets. A ruby in a vacuum looks as if it was on fire. An emerald shines with a crimson glow.

In His Spare Time.

Two negroes were discussing their young sons, and the first declared he intended to make his hopeful an astronomer. "At a fine job," he concluded. "Yes," drawled the other. "Yuh done tol' me dat afore, but whut's he gwine to do in de day-time?"

COOPER'S FURNITURE STORE

(FORMERLY OWNED BY AUGUST TEYLER)

SPECIAL BARGAINS

In cleaning up the stock we have found many articles which should be closed out to make room for new goods. Among other things are odds and ends of dishes. These will be placed on one counter Saturday and closed out at five and ten cents.

Many of the Items Formerly Sold at Fifty Cents and One Dollar

We do not intend to handle dishes of any nature and desire to close out these odd pieces at once. There may be items there that will just fit in some place in your home.

There are also several pieces of furniture, etc., which should be moved and to get them out of the way the prices will be made attractive. Do not get the impression that the entire stock is to be closed out at a sacrifice, for that is far from the intention. The Teyler stock was as a whole clean and new and will compare with the best in the country. It is just the accumulations, found at invoicing, which will be priced low.

Remember the Opening Date is Saturday, August 29. We Want to See Our Friends and make many new ones. In our other line of business during the past several years, a reputation for fair and square dealing has been established beyond dispute. The same treatment of customers and friends will be accorded here. Don't fail to come in Saturday and make a friendly call whether you wish to buy or not. We'll be glad to see you.

LOWDEN THE ROAD BUILDER
Owner of Mississippi Builds Hard Road Four Miles Long Past his Big Farm Estate

Frank O. Lowden, having well organized his big farm near Oregon by the creation of a model village for employes and managers, by getting well under way the reforesting of sand hills and fields with white pine, by creating vast modern barns and dairy quarters and a poultry plant, now is turning his attention to strictly external improvements in which the whole neighborhood, the county and the state, will participate in the benefits. He is building a road four miles long extending in front of his whole estate to the city of Oregon. What's more, it's a road built on new lines, a combination of old material. The road bed is eighteen feet wide and after excavating for the material the builders are putting in a twelve-inch layer of hard stone—the hardest that could be procured—crushed to egg size and screened perfectly clean of dirt and chips. When this is laid to grade and properly crowned pure asphalt heated to 160 degrees will be forced into the interstices under high pressure until all the voids are filled. A top dressing of fine crushed rock will then be spread over the base and more asphalt applied. Then another top dressing and more asphalt. Doubtless Mr. Lowden's engineers know what they are about when they recommended the construction to him of his own pet public highway connecting his great estate with the nearest railway town.—Sycamore True Republican.

GREATEST DAIRY DISTRICT
Fox River Valley Greatest Dairy Country in the World

The Fox River Valley of Northern Illinois, comprising the counties of Lake, McHenry, Kane and parts of Boone, DeKalb, DuPage and Cook, with an area of about 3,500 square miles, is said to be the greatest dairy district of its size in the world, both in methods of production and amount produced. In all countries where dairying is carried on "The Elgin Dairy District," as it is called, is known and referred to as a model to be patterned after for all that is best in the line of making market milk.

Many years ago this was the banner butter and cheese district, but the condenseries and the rapidly increasing demand of the great city of Chicago for a fluid milk and cream have driven the cheese factories and creameries farther up the valley into Wisconsin, and it would seem now only a question of a short time until the condenseries will have to seek new fields, being unable to compete in matter of prices with the great consumers' trade of the city.

This is an ideal dairy country, with an abundance of spring water, wooded streams and rolling prairies, particularly adapted to the growing of clover, alfalfa and corn; it is a paradise for man who would earn his bread by the sweat of his brow on a dairy farm.

McHenry is the largest producing county, with Kane a close second. The milk produced in these two counties goes largely to the bottling plants and condenseries, while Lake county, the third in point of production, is largely a can shipping district, the milk being used mostly by the smaller distributors.

What country having full suffrage has the largest number of eligible woman voters?
Federated Australia has about 1,100,000 women eligible to vote.

Who was the first poet laureate of England, and how many have there been? What is the salary of the office?
Ben Jonson (1573-1637) has been called the first, but that is hardly accurate. He was a sort of court poet and drew a small stipend and a butt of wine annually, but the office and title of poet laureate were first regularly conferred on Dryden in 1670. He was succeeded by Thomas Shadwell (1640-1692), whom Dryden had satirized by saying:

The rest to some faint meaning make pretense,
But Shadwell never deviates into sense.
The list of poets laureate during the next 200 years included Nehum Tate, Nicholas Rowe, Laurence Eusden, William Whitehead, Thomas Warton and other literary obscurities. Later came some names known to fame—Southey, who was appointed poet laureate in 1813; Wordsworth, in 1843; Tennyson, in 1850. Dryden was the first poet laureate to receive a fixed salary of $1,500, together with a butt of wine, and since then the money compensation has varied. Tennyson drew £72 as salary and £27 in lieu of the wine.

Yale university, New Haven, Conn., was chartered as a collegiate school in 1701 and in 1718 took the name of Yale college in compliment to Elihu Yale, its principal benefactor at that time. Its official designation was changed from college to university in 1887. Its president is Arthur T. Hadley.

What is the highest eastern point in the United States?
The highest point in the United States east of the Mississippi river is Mount Mitchell, in North Carolina, 6,711 feet.

Can you state approximately the total value of all farm crops in 1912?
Including farm crops of all kinds, animal products, dairy products, etc., the secretary of agriculture placed the total value at $9,532,000,000. "This unthinkable amount of wealth," says the secretary, "was contributed to the nation in one year by the soil and by the farmers' live stock."

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished a constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Is this the bookkeeper?"
"Yes, sir."
"I'm the head of the firm. I came in to ask you if you would accept an increase in your salary."
"No, sir! I'm getting too much as it is. You could get any number of men to fill my place for half the money."
"But our profits are so great we don't know what to do with them."
"Sorry; but to encourage me in that sort of thing would only result in disaster. Besides, if I got more money my family of nine children might get enough to eat. And if the practice should spread, the whole civic fabric would be upset."
"But I really feel—"
"Go away, sir! I won't listen to you! Discharge me if you must, but raise my salary—never!"—Life.

Uncertain.
The secretary of one of the college classes at Princeton, in sending out each year a list of questions to be answered by members of the class, in order that the results may be duly tabulated and set forth in the university annual, is said always to include in his list this question: "Are you engaged?"

It would seem that one of the members was cursed with doubt in this respect, for in the blank space given over to the query mentioned he made his return as follows:
"Do not know. Am waiting letter."

ALLIES RETREAT BEFORE ADVANCE OF GERMAN HOST

Strong Fortress of Namur Falls Into Hands of the Invaders.

FIRST GREAT VICTORY

Paris Admits Troops Were Compelled to Fall Back Within Their Own Borders—Russians Vigorously Pushing Forward—Japs Begin Kiauchau Bombardment.

A London cable to the New York Herald, received Tuesday, says that the British official press bureau announces that Namur has fallen.

Paris Reports German Victory.
The Germans have beaten back the attack of the French and British, launched on the 120-mile battle line between Mons and Luxembourg, and the allies have abandoned their offensive movement at least for the present.

This is admitted in a statement issued by the French war office, which says:

"The French and English, the plan of attack having failed, owing to unforeseen difficulties, have retired on the covered positions."

British Are Praised.
"West of the Meuse the English army on our left was attacked by the Germans, but behaved admirably, holding its ground with traditional steadiness."

The French assumed the offensive with two army corps. An African brigade in the front line, carried away by its eagerness, was received by a murderous fire. The soldiers did not gave an inch, but, counter-attacked by the Prussian guard, they were obliged to retire, only, however, after inflicting enormous losses. The Prussian guard especially suffered heavily.

"East of the Meuse our troops advanced across an extremely difficult country and made a vigorous attack when they emerged from the woods, but were obliged to fall back after a stiff fight south of the River Semois."

Joffre Sounds Retreat.
"On order of General Joffre our troops, and the British troops withdrawing to the covering positions. Our troops are intact; our cavalry has in no way suffered, and our artillery has affirmed its superiority. Our officers and soldiers are in the best of condition, morally and physically."

England's Man of the Hour
Lord Kitchener Essentially a Man of Action—Described by Famous War Correspondent.

The work of Lord Kitchener received but little recognition in England before he made his record at Khartoum. Then the thorough administrative work on his part gained universal admiration for him. He was raised to the peerage as Baron Kitchener of Khartoum and received the

"As a result of the orders which have been issued the aspect of the struggle will change for a few days. The French army will remain for a time on the defensive, but at the right moment, to be decided upon by the commander-in-chief, it will resume a vigorous offensive."

Both Lose Heavily.
"Our losses are heavy; it would be premature to enumerate them. It would be equally so to enumerate those of the Germans, who suffered so heavily that they were obliged to abandon their counter attacks and establish themselves in fresh positions in Lorraine."

"We delivered four attacks from our positions north of Nancy, inflicting very heavy loss on the enemy."

"In regard to the general situation, we have the full use of our railroads and retain command of the seas. Our operations have enabled the Russians to come into action and penetrate the heart of West Prussia."

Defenses Are Intact.
"It is to be regretted that the offensive operations planned failed to achieve their purpose as a result of difficulties impossible to foresee. It would have shortened the war, but our defenses remain intact in the presence of an already weakened enemy."

"Every Frenchman will deplore the temporary abandonment of portions of Alsace and Lorraine, which we had occupied, and certain parts of the national territory will suffer from events of which they will be the theater."

Battle Being Fought.
A new battle between the Germans and the French and their English allies is raging in the valley of the Meuse, according to advices received at London Wednesday.

"On this engagement hangs the fate of France," says a statement issued by the war office in Paris.

To meet the German army the French commander ordered the abandonment of much occupied territory and massed his troops at the critical point. Alsace is evacuated and the conflict on which so much depends is being fought on French soil, the line extending from Maubeuge on the north to Donon on the south, a distance of 200 miles.

Fighting in Lorraine.
Another battle, which is believed to be of secondary importance, is going on in Lorraine, in which two armies of French soldiers are taking part.

A third engagement is going on at Malines, in Belgium, 13 miles southwest of Antwerp, where 30,000 Germans attacked the town. There also is fighting in the outskirts of Ostend.

Canada to Send More Troops.
A second Canadian force for foreign service is being gathered, although the work of mobilizing the first expeditionary army division of 21,000 men has not been completed.

Russian Invasion Goes On.
It is officially announced that the Russian forces are advancing on a broad front in Prussia and Galicia. The Germans, it is reported, are retreating toward Koensigberg. In eastern Galicia Russians have apparently advanced to a distance about twenty-five miles beyond the frontier.

Kitchener Is Pesimistic.
Lord Kitchener made his first speech as minister of war in the house of lords Wednesday.

He told his hearers that this war undoubtedly would strain the forces of the empire and entail big sacrifices. He laid emphasis on the fact that his position in the cabinet involved adherence to neither party.

Austria Wars on the Mikado.
A dispatch from Vienna to the Reuter Telegram company at London by way of Amsterdam gives the official announcement that the Austrian government handed his passports to the Japanese ambassador. The Austrian ambassador at Tokyo, it is also announced, has been recalled.

Russians Advance Fifty Miles.
The following official announcement was made in Paris:
"The Russians occupy territory fifty miles wide on the German frontier."

The Russian line on the German frontier extends from Tilsit to Inverburg and Arys. The German population is evacuating Willenberg, 91 miles southeast of Koensigberg, because of the arrival of Russian forces from Poland, which already have penetrated a considerable distance toward Soldau."

Japanese Begin Warfare.
The bombardment of Tsing Tao, the fortified seaport of Kiauchau the German possession in China which Japan has demanded Germany give up, has begun.

The battleship Setau fired the first shot.
In addition to the Japanese war vessels, British, French, and Russian ships are taking part in the blockade of the port.

The bombardment of the port is confirmed in an extra edition of the Tokyo Yamato. The message published was passed by the censor of the navy department.

No details of damage done to the German fort are obtainable.
A London Times dispatch from St. Petersburg says that military observers there have made a careful compilation of the distribution of the German forces on both frontiers from which they gain the belief that it is not possible for the Germans to overcome the allied forces on the western frontier at vital points. The Russians believe there are no Austrian corps in the west.

The Tokyo Yamato in an extra edition says that the bombardment of Tsing Tao by the Japanese fleet has commenced. This message was passed by the censor of the navy department.

Communication between Japan and China has been severed. Except for the very meager news that has reached Tokyo from New York, the entire country is kept in the dark regarding the progress of the war in Europe.

Austria has avoided war with Japan by agreeing to dismantle the cruiser Kaiserin Elizabeth, now at Tsing Tao.
Japan Satisfies Washington.

"Japan has officially notified the United States that she will confine her activities in the war situation in the far East," said Secretary of State Bryan.

Mr. Bryan's statement served to clear up a wrong impression caused by a previous remark made by the president to the effect that such a pledge had not been made as far as he knew. It was explained later that the

GERMAN OBSERVATION TOWER

Portable and collapsible tower used by the German army.

president's remark was merely a "slip of the mind."

Shanghai Cable Cut.
It is believed that the cable between Shanghai and Nagasaki has been cut. The officers of the army and navy are absolutely sphinx-like regarding the passage of events in the China sea. Everything is quiet at Tokyo, the attitude of the public appearing almost indifferent.

Unanimous approval of the war, which is calmly and dispassionately discussed, summarizes public opinion. The newspapers express regret over the necessity of hostilities with Germany and urge the public to refrain from exhibiting resentment toward the Germans in Japan.

Austria on the Defensive.
According to the London Times' Venice correspondent the official telegraph agency in Vienna publishes the following official notice on the Austro-Serbian situation:
"On account of the Russian intervention in the Serbians war Austria is forced to gather all its forces for the principal struggle in the northeast. Consequently the attack on Serbia is henceforth looked upon as a punitive expedition and not as definite war."

The decision, therefore, has been reached to retire from the offensive and take up a waiting attitude, making a fresh attack when opportunity presents itself."

Germany to Keep Belgium?
The London newspapers quote the German newspaper Tagliche Rundschau as declaring that Belgium bitterly will rue the day she dared to oppose her mighty neighbor. The pan-Germanic organs declare that the portions of Belgium now overrun by the German army will be permanently incorporated in the German empire.

Want to Retain Liege.
A dispatch received at Paris from The Hague says the German press is beginning a campaign for the retention of Liege by Germany after the conclusion of peace.

Want.
"Steady, passionless eyes, shaded by decisive brows; brick-red, rather full cheeks; a long mustache, beneath which you divine an immovable mouth; his face is harsh, and neither appeals for affection nor stirs dislike. All this is irrelevant, too; neither age, nor figure, nor face, nor any accident of person, has any bearing on the essential Sirdar."

You could imagine the character just the same as if all the externals were different.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS

ITEMS OF GENERAL STATE INTEREST FRESH FROM THE TELEGRAPH.

TEACHER SELECT AT DUQUOIN

Rev. J. H. Buehner of Nashville is Chosen President of the Evangelical Sunday School Instructors.

Duquoin.—The annual convention of the German Evangelical Sunday School Teachers' association of the Nashville district elected these new officers for the coming year: President, Rev. J. H. Buehner of Nashville; vice-president, Rev. M. A. Wintermeyer of Farina; secretary, Miss Bertha Touve of Centralia; treasurer, Miss Lizzie Rixman of Hoyleton.

Anna.—The board of directors of Union academy, a Presbyterian institution, have selected Rev. W. M. Maxton of Duquoin and Rev. James R. E. Craighead of Carbondale as field representatives of that school. They will solicit funds to meet the conditions of a bequest made by Hugh Lauder, formerly of Carbondale, who made a handsome endowment to the academy. Rev. O. W. Shewmaker of Hartford, Conn., has been chosen principal of the school, to succeed Rev. F. D. McCloskey, who resigned to become a member of the Blackburn college faculty at Carlinville. Prof. E. G. Smith has been elected head of the department of science; Miss Edith J. Anderson of Dayton, O., head of the department of mathematics, and Miss Lois Browne of Carbondale, instructor of English.

Rockford.—Ralph Emerson, pioneer manufacturer of Illinois, noted for many gifts to religious, educational and philanthropic societies, died at his home here. He was eighty-three years old. He was one of the founders of the Emerson-Brantingham company and a resident of Rockford since 1852. He was a cousin of Ralph Waldo Emerson. The Emerson institute, a training school for negroes at Mobile, Ala., was founded by him, his benefactions to this school and other similar projects totaling several hundred thousand dollars.

Mount Carmel.—The eighth annual state convention of the Illinois Farmers' Education and Co-operative union was ended with the election of the following officers: Austin Hill, McLeansboro, president; J. T. Riggs, Elizabethtown, vice-president; John P. Doyle, Mount Vernon, secretary; J. E. Proudfit, Enfield, chaplain; J. D. Burnett, Salem, conductor, and W. Stroup, doorkeeper.

Fana.—Thomas C. Coleman, twenty-two years old, a son of Rev. M. C. Coleman, Methodist minister of Taylorville, who disappeared from a military school in Cincinnati, O., two years ago and was not heard from since his disappearance, returned home as mysteriously as he disappeared. Rev. Mr. Coleman and his son refused to state where the latter has been.

Dixon.—All efforts to dislodge the thousands of blackbirds that roost in a small island in the Rock river, close to the city, have been unavailing. The birds during the daytime have been ravaging fields and at night returning to their rendezvous. They have caused great damage. It is estimated that there are at least 20,000 in the flock.

Quincy.—Col. E. J. Ingersoll, adjutant of the Southern Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion association, has been named as one of a committee of three to gather data for the Illinois Historical society. Colonel Ingersoll is a former member of the Illinois legislature and has been prominent in public life in southern Illinois 40 years.

Doquoin.—Lyman Aiken was killed in the Majestic mine by being run over by several loaded cars. Aiken was nineteen years old and had been working at the mine only a few days. He was first baseman for the Elkville baseball team. This is the third fatal accident in the Majestic since operations were resumed July 1.

Springfield.—Governor Dunne issued a requisition on the governor of Florida for the return to Metropolitan, Mass. county, of Redding C. Selvidge, former cashier of the Jappa Banking company, who is charged with having embezzled $1,000. Selvidge is under arrest in Hillsboro county, Florida.

Peoria.—Peoria's laboring people are to have a co-operative store soon. A plan was held at Bartonville, when John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, spoke on the subject.

Harrisburg.—Wilburn Griffin, Douglas Tucker and Claude Geer, all under age, were arrested, charged with robbing the post office at Wassou, north of this city, August 8.

Mount Olive.—Frank Borg, a wealthy resident of this city, shot and killed William Meier, wounded his own wife and killed himself.

Stonington.—Taylor Mansfield of Stonington is trying to locate Andrew Darter of Glasgow, Ky., who has been missing for 18 years and who is supposed to be in central Illinois. Darter is heir to an estate of $100,000.

Springfield.—State Fire Marshal Walter Bennett's department is inquiring into circumstances surrounding three fires August 8 in the home of Mrs. Harriet Woolum, in Taylorville. The fires were discovered respectively at 10, 11 and 12 o'clock at night and the last resulted in the destruction of the dwelling. Incendiarism is suspected.

FACE FULL OF PIMPLES

4240 So. California Ave., Chicago, Ill.
"About a year ago my face was full of pimples and red spots. To sleep one night without itching was almost impossible. Some of the pimples would get big and red and if I touched them they would pain, while others would get white heads on them and when they broke open some matter came out. They would burn and itch and I scratched them so that sometimes they would break and bleed. That always caused them to be worse. I bought all kinds of salves and creams and I found out that they did me no good. I noticed the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and I sent for a free sample. I went to the drug store and bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment and I found the pimples were drying out. In two months I was well." (Signed) Chas. J. Peck, May 7, 1914.

A Good Shot.
A San Franciscan, who has been hunting in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe without bagging any game, came upon a mountaineer who was feeding a caged wildcat he had caught the day before.

"How much will you take for that beast?" he asked.
The captor said $5 and the money was paid over.

"Now," said the Nimrod, "tie one end of a strong cord to that tree and another to the cat's neck, and then open the door of the cage."
This was finally accomplished and the fierce animal stood straining at its tether.

The sportsman, who was watching the exercises from the interior of the cabin, leveled his rifle across the window sill, took careful aim and blazed away. The wildcat gave a joyful yell and disappeared in the forest. The bullet had cut the rope.

Forgetful Vacationist.
The family had gone off for their holiday in a taxi. Twenty minutes later the taxi snorted back up the road.

"Forgotten the tickets?" cried a neighbor.
"No," said the irate householder, "but my wife's just remembered that she's left a kettle boiling on the gas stove."

He dived into the house, and came back the next moment with a ghostly calm on his face.
"All right now?" said the neighbor cheerily.

"Right! I'd forgotten that I'd turned the gas off at the meter—and now we've two hours and a half to wait for the next train."

All Right With Him.
An applicant for appointment to the position of deputy marshal for one of the counties of Southwest Virginia asked a citizen of that county to indorse his recommendation. The man took the paper, glanced over it, then wrote something and handed it back. The applicant read:

"Waiving the language of the indorsement above, I will say that if the appointive board sees fit to appoint Mr. Blank as deputy marshal for this county it will be perfectly agreeable with me—I'm going to locate in Kentucky."—National Food Magazine.

One Too Many.
The bus was rolling up Fifth avenue in a heavy groundswell, on a murky night. Perhaps it was only that the chauffeur and conductor were both sleepy, or maybe it was only the mugginess that deceived them.

On the corner at Thirty-fifth street stood, waiting to cross, a belated delivery boy, holding erect by the waist a dressmaker's dress form. The chauffeur thought he detected a fare, and slowed his craft in to the curb. The conductor looked out through the fog, shook his head, and rang the bell to go ahead.

"Room for one only," he said, and the bus rolled on.—New York Evening Post.
