land Amendment Which Defeated Measure at Last Session Is Lost.

Washington, May 2.—Senator Borah achieved a marked victory when the resolution providing for a constitutional amendment for the election of United States senators by popular election was reported to the senate. The resolution now takes its place at the head of the calendar and an informal poll shows that more than the necessary two-thirds vote can be mustered

How the Members Lined Up.

Roll call of the committee on the motion to report out revealed this. Voting "aye" were Senators Chilton, Overman Culberson and Bacon-all Democrats. And with them were aligned Senators Borah, Cummins and Brown-all progressives. The negative votes were cast by Clark of Wyoming, Dillingham, Sutherland, Brandegee and Root.

Practically the same division took place when the Sutherland amendment was up. This proposition provided for "federal supervision of elections when deemed advisable." The direct threat here made on the political rights of the individual states alienated so many Democrats that it was recognized as too heavy a weight

IDEAL CEMENT BURIAL VAULT

For centuries the ordinary wooden rough box has been used as a receptacle for the casket containing our dear departed. The rapid disintegration of the rough box and casket has created a desire for a morè lasting receptacle.

In recent years we have seen erected receiving vaults of slate, stone and masonry, to keep the earth from caving in on the casket and crushing it; and in the hope that water might be kept out, all of which have failed to satisfy the thoughtful kinship.

These vaults are like cisterns holding water, and are horrible places for the burial of a friend.

The rapidly increasing demands for a receptacle to take place of the wooden rough box has induced us to place upon the market an invention of high merit, and one which complies in every respect with that demand. Our new mode of burial consists of an absolutely air tight, water and vermin proof cement burial vault.

Our Ideal Cement Burial Vault is lighter in weight and less costly to manufacture than those now upon the market, and at the same time combining as good, if not better points. Our vault has no competitors; it weighs about 1000 pounds. Every inch of our vault is reinforced with expanded steel metal centered in Portland cement. The cement is water-proofed, making the vault absolutely dry.

NEW WAY OF BURIAL

It comprises in its construction but two parts, a body and a top or cover, which cover is adapted to fit into a recess in the top of the body. After the casket with its contents is lowered in the vault the top is then placed and sealed with waterproof cement, which hermetically seals the vault. The vault will then be absolutely proof against the entrance of air or moisture.

Our vault has been given the most thorough tests possible, and with highly satisfactory and most perfect results. We have aimed at perfection and attained it. It is the only receptacle on the market that unquestionably meets every requirement, and there is absolutely no comparison between it and the old wooden rough box.

The thought is repulsive of placing the dear departed in a wooden box, which in a short time, decays and crumbles, leaving the remains unprotected from vermin and water. Isn't it preferable to lay the loved ones to rest in a cement vault where we know they will have the best method of burial that can be provided, in a house that cannot decay and crumble, which is the most desirable place in which the remains of friends and relatives can be laid at rest?

There can be no sunken grave, which is sure to follow the use of a wooden box. The Ideal Cement Burial Vault should appeal to everybody, as its price is such that it is within reach of all, costing no more than an oak box. Remember if you want the best, the Ideal Vault is the Escaped His Notice.

In the early days of the Hayes administration, when Mr. Evarts was secretary of state, the members of the cabinet were discussing matters in an informal way one morning when the president mentioned that he had made a few appointments without consulting his official family, the appointees being personal friends. All the places filled happened to fall within the state department. Secretary Evarts turned to John Sherman and said, with a twinkle in his eye, "I have often heard and read about the western reserve of Ohio, but I must confess that I have never seen any of it."

A Common Color.

The elder Dumas once was wearing the ribbon of a certain order, having recently been made a commandant, and an envious friend remarked upon it. "My dear fellow," he said, "that cordon is a wretched color! One would think it was your woolen vest that was showing!"

"Oh, no, my dear D'E.," replied Dumas with a smile. "You're mistaken. It's not a bad color; it is exactly the shade of the sour grapes in the fable."

SYNOPSIS.

Senator John Calhoun is invited to become secretary of state in Tyler's cabinet. He declares that if he accepts Texas and Oregon must be added to the Union. He sends his secretary, Nicholas Trist, to ask the Baroness von Ritz, spy of the British ambassador, Pakenham, to call at his apartments. While searching for the baroness' home, a carriage drives up and Micholas is invited to enter. The occupant is the baroness, and she asks Nicholas to assist in evading pursuers. Nicholas notes that the baroness has lost a slipper. She gives him the remaining slipper as a pledge that she will tell Calhoun what he wants to know regarding England's intentions toward Mexico. As security Nicholas gives her a trinket he intended for his sweetheart, Elizabeth Churchill. Calhoun becomes secretary of state. He orders Nicholas to Montreal on state business, and the latter plans to be married that night. The baroness says she will try to prevent the marriage. A drunken congressman whom Nicholas asks to assist in the wedding arrangements sends the baroness' slipper to Elizabeth, by mistake, and the wedding is declared off. Nicholas finds the baroness in Montreal, she having succeeded, where he failed, in discovering England's intentions regarding Oregon. She tells him that the slipper he had in his possession contained a note from the attache of Texas to the British ambassador, saying that if the United States did not annex Texas within 30 days, she would lose both Texas and Oregon. Nicholas meets a naturalist, Von Rittenhofen, who gives him information about Oregon. The baroness and a British warship disappear from Montreal simultaneously. Calhoun orders Nicholas to head a party of settlers bound for Oregon. Calhoun excites the jealousy of Senora Yturrio and thereby secures the signature of the Texas attache to a treaty of annexation. Nicholas starts for Oregon. He wins the race over the British party. A British warship arrives with the baroness as a passenger. She tells Nicholas that she placed a note in the slipper which caused th it was the sign of the cross. She rose now, tall, white-clad, shimmering, a vision of beauty such as that part of the world certainly could not then offer. Her hair was loosened now in its masses and drooped more widely over her temples, above her brow. Her eyes were very large and dark, and I saw the faint blue shadows coming again beneath them. Her ies! hands were clasped, her chin raised just a trifle, and her gaze was rapt as that of some longing soul. I could not guess of these things, being but a man, and, I fear, clumsy alike of body and wit.

"There is one thing, madam, which we have omitted," said I at last. She swayed a little on her feet, as though she were weak. "I want," said she, "I wish—I wish—"

The old childlike look of pathos came again. I have never seen so sad a face. She was a lady, white and delicately clad; I, a rude frontiersman in camp-grimed leather. But I stepped to her now and took her in my arms, and held her close, and pushed back the damp waves of her hair. And because a man's tears were in my eyes, I have no doubt of absolution when I say I had been a cad and a coward had I not kissed her own tears away. I no longer made pretense of ignorance, but ah! how I wished that I were ignorant of what it was not my right to know.

I led her to the edge of the little bed of husks and found her kerchief. Ah, she was of breeding and courage! Presently, her voice rose steady and clear as ever. "Threlka!" she called.

"Please! When Threlka came, she looked closely at her lady's face, and what she read seemed, after all, to content

There slid across the floor with the silent feet of the savage the tiny figure of a little child, perhaps four years of age, with coal-black hair and beady eyes, clad in all the bequilled finery that a trading post could furnish—a little orphan child, as I learned later, whose parents had both Dalles. It may be supposed that I myself now hurried in my plans. I was able to make up a small party of four men, about half the number Meek took with him; and I threw together such equipment as I could find remaining, not wholly to my liking, but good enough, I fancied, to overtake a party headed by a woman. But one thing after another cost us time, and we did not average 20 miles a day. I felt half desperate, as I reflected on what that might mean. As early fall was approaching, I could expect, in view of my own lost time, to encounter the annual wagon train 200 or 300 miles farther westward than the object of my pursuit naturally would have done. As a matter of fact, my party met the wagons at a point well to the west

It was early in the morning we met them coming west-that long, weary, dust-covered, creeping caravan, a mile long, slow serpent, crawling westward across the desert. In time I came up to the head of the tremendous wagon train of 1845, and its leader and myself thew up our hands in the salutation of the wilderness.

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care forherly every woman now-adays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right dren, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial. It isn't as though the experience are unon them unawares. They have came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong. Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

"When my boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his 'arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he took fainting spells as if he were dying. Weak Heart Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, their heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alterative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which contains no dangerous narcoties

The ingredients, as attested under eath, are Stone root (Collinguals Canadensis), Bloodroot (Sangularia Canadensis), Golden Seel root (Hydrastic Canadensis), Queen's root (Sillingia Sylvathas), Black Cherryback (Pranus Virginians), Mandrake root (Podophyllum Politatus), with triple refined glycarine, prepared in a scientific laboratory in a way that ne drugglet could imitate.
