

INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU

How It Works—Its Functions and the Various Means of Checking Up

ments and method of appeal see Articles 1012 and 1006, Regulations 622. When false and fraudulent returns of income are discovered they are referred to the office of the Solicitor of Internal Revenue and through that office submitted to the Department of Justice for prosecution.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the advice and consent of the Secretary of the Treasury, may compromise any civil or criminal case arising under the internal revenue laws instead of commencing suit thereon, and, with the advice and consent of the Secretary, and upon the recommendation of the Attorney General, may compromise any such case after suit thereon has been commenced by the United States. Accordingly, the power to compromise extends to both civil and criminal cases, cases whether before or after suit; and both taxes and penalties except that taxes legally due from a solvent taxpayer may not be compromised. Refunds cannot be made of accepted offers in compromise in cases where it is subsequently ascertained that no violation of law was involved.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has at its command innumerable sources of information for checking up delinquents. Under the "information at source" provisions of the revenue act returns of information are required of all persons, trustees, guardians, fiduciaries, and by corporations, partnerships, and organizations, and officers and employees of the United States who paid to others during the calendar year 1922, $1,000 or more.

Income to be reported includes interest, rent, premiums, salaries, "and all fixed and determinable income." A separate return of information for each employee whose salary for 1922 was $1,000 or more is required of employers. Special attention is directed to the requirement that partnerships, in addition to filing a regular partnership return on form 1065, shall file an information return showing the salaries paid each member of the partnership.

Payment for overtime fees, commissions, bonuses, shares in the profits of a business, and the fair value of board and lodging furnished as part payment for services should be included in the total salary paid. Banks and similar organizations are required to report interest paid or credited to a depositor if the total during the year equaled or exceeded $1,000.

Information returns are carefully checked with individual returns. If in a taxpayer's individual return a payment reported on an information is omitted, quick action by the Board of Internal Revenue follows. Thousands of delinquents, and additional taxes aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars, have been discovered as the result of this audit.

In accordance with the internal revenue laws now in force, internal revenue taxes are imposed and collected as follows:

Income and Excess Profits—Collected from taxpayer, payable upon rendering return or in four installments as provided by law.

Estate Tax—Collected by assessment on estate within one year from date of decedent's death.

Capital Stock Tax—Collected annually from corporations filing returns.

Special Taxes on Occupations and Use of Boats—Collected annually from persons liable.

Stamp Taxes on Documents, Passage Tickets, Playing Cards, etc.—Collected by stamps affixed thereto or to packages containing same.

Oleomargarine, Adulterated Butter, Renovated Butter—Collected by stamps affixed to packages containing goods.

Mixed Flour, Filled Cheese, White Phosphorous Matches—Collected by stamps affixed to packages containing product.

Tobacco and Snuff, Cigars, Cigarettes, Cigarette Papers and Tubes, etc.—Collected by stamps affixed before removal from factory or custom house.

Admissions and Dues—Collected from persons receiving payment of admissions and dues, upon filing of monthly return.

Excise Taxes on Works of Art and Jewelry; also on Sales by Manufacturers, etc.—Collected from persons liable for tax upon filing of monthly returns.

Telegraph and Telephone Messages—Collected from persons receiving payment for services, upon filing of monthly return.

Beverages and constituent parts thereof—Collected from manufacturer, bottler, producer, or imported, upon filing of monthly return.

Distilled Spirits, Fermented Liquors, Wines—The taxes on these articles or products are still in existence under the prohibition laws.

Narcotics and Opium—Collected by stamp to be affixed thereto.

Why Cardinals Wear Red Hats.

The custom of wearing red robes and red hats by the cardinals and princes of the Catholic church dates back to the early days of catholicism when the ambassador of the pope took precedence over royalty itself, for he was regarded not only as a representative of a temporal ruler but also as a personage whose spiritual power was superior to that of archbishops. Just as purple was the color worn by the emperors of Rome, red was, during the Middle Ages, the distinctive color throughout the Christian world.

Kings and princesses dressed themselves and furnished their palaces in materials of scarlet hue, and as "the father of kings and princes," according to the ritual of his coronation, the pope ranked with the most influential sovereigns, his ambassadors were entitled to wear the same royal color.

Venezuela's Pearls.

The island of Margarita, off the coast of Venezuela, is one of the most celebrated centers of pearl fishery. The Spaniards, in the days of Columbus, found the natives of Margarita and the neighboring mainland decked out with pearls, and the pearl-producing oysters of that locality have never since failed in their productiveness.

Metal scoops are dragged over the oyster beds, and the interest of the search culminates when the shells thus secured are opened. A black pearl is a rarely commanding a high price. Fine white pearls, if of good luster, are also very valuable. A company of Frenchmen enjoys a concession from the Venezuelan government to fish for pearls with diving apparatus.

Opportunity Passed.

Dorothy was heard impatiently calling her sister, Jane, but received no answer. When Jane finally did answer her, Dorothy was crying heart-brokenly. When asked what the trouble was she replied, "Well, I called Jane so long I forgot what I wanted to call her for."

Again the Malady of Youth.

Our recent note on James Russell Lowell's confession of "incurable childhood" has led a correspondent to send us the following quotation from the letters of Franklin K. Lane: "Although an 'aged man,' as I was once described in my hearing, I am the youngest thing inside that I know, in my curiosity and my truthfulness and my imagination and my desire to help and my belief in goodness and justice."—Boston Transcript.

Buy Your Tires from a Firestone DEALER

At the Latest Prices—The Lowest in History

You will find the Firestone Dealer one of the stable business men of your community. He offers a clean, fresh stock, backed by a well organized service. He wants you as a permanent customer.

That is the reason he sells Firestone tires. He knows and has plenty of proof that they are the best tires on the market. He can give you the greatest value and thereby retain your trade for years.

Every day you find new proof of this unequalled value. On the 15th of this month, Firestone Tires set two new dirt track records at Syracuse when Tommy Milton slid around four turns at every mile and covered the 100 miles in 75 minutes, 33 hundredths seconds. He also established a new world's record for one mile by covering it in 42 and 28 hundredths seconds. The next four cars to finish were also equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords. Each one of them went the entire race without a stop. This and every other important race this year was won on Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes. Such performance gives you conclusive proof of their strength and durability.

Not only do race drivers use Firestone Tires as protection to their lives and the surest way to victory, but the largest tire buyers in the world insist on and buy Firestone Tires for economy and service. These buyers include the leading car manufacturers, the biggest commercial car operators and the taxicab and motorbus operators. 57,639,714 tires were sold to taxicab and motorbus operators in the month of August.

Think this over. You cannot afford to accept anything less than Firestone service and economy. You can buy this service and economy from any of the dealers listed below.

Illinois Central System Third Largest Railroad in Freight Traffic

The productivity of the territory served by the Illinois Central System is strikingly reflected in the increased traffic handled by the road. Although the Illinois Central System (independently of the Central of Georgia, which is operated separately) ranks fourteenth among the railway systems of the country in mileage, last year it ranked third in volume of freight traffic handled. The freight traffic record of the Illinois Central System in 1922 was surpassed by the freight traffic records of only the Pennsylvania and New York Central, the railway systems ranking respectively first and second in mileage.

The Illinois Central System showed increases in both freight and passenger business for 1922. Passenger traffic (measured by the number of passengers carried one mile) actually decreased nearly 6 per cent for all of the Class I railroads in 1922 as compared with 1921, but the Illinois Central System registered an increase of two-tenths of 1 per cent. Freight traffic (measured by the number of tons of freight carried one mile) increased only 9/4 per cent for all of the Class I railroads in 1922 as compared with 1921, but the Illinois Central System registered an increase of 2 1/2 per cent.

These increases in both passenger and freight business made possible the Illinois Central System's unusually favorable showing in total operating revenues for 1922 in the face of the fact that on the average both passenger and freight rates were lower than in 1921.

Since the first of this year the traffic of the Illinois Central System, both passenger and freight, has increased substantially over that handled in the corresponding period of last year. The number of passengers carried one mile by the Illinois Central System in the seven months ended July 31, 1923, was greater by 12 1/2 per cent than the passenger traffic handled in the first seven months of 1922. The number of tons of freight carried one mile by the Illinois Central System in the seven months ended July 31, 1923, was greater by 32 per cent than the freight traffic handled in the first seven months of 1922. Despite the growth of passenger and freight traffic in its territory, the Illinois Central System has kept abreast of the situation so well, through additions and improvements to its plant and through the splendid co-operation of its employees and patrons, that this year's unprecedented business has been handled with marked efficiency. Moreover, the Illinois Central System enters the fall and winter better prepared than ever before to discharge its obligations to the public.

This exceptional showing speaks for itself. It should be a source of gratification to the patrons as well as to employees of the Illinois Central System. It represents joint effort and joint success. It is not alone a gain for our railroad; it is a splendid record for the territory our railroad serves.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

By comparing the number of automobiles registered in a state with the population of the state, the number of persons per automobile is determined. According to statistics issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce for 1923, California leads the country with 3.8 persons per motor car, while Alabama has only one car to every 26.1 persons.

The eleven states which follow Alabama up the column are Mississippi (20.2); Arkansas (20.4); Georgia (20.2); South Carolina (17.7); Louisiana 17.6; Tennessee (17.2); Kentucky (15.7); New Mexico (14.1); North Carolina (14); Virginia (13.8); and West Virginia (12.9).

The South is a prosperous section. It has money. It likes luxury as well as the North. It needs transportation. There is only one reason why the South doesn't have as many motor cars as the West, the Northwest or the North. It hasn't the roads.

A road is of no value without a vehicle, and a vehicle is of no value without a road. The two are a whole, a unit. True, there are vehicles running over poor roads, shaking themselves to pieces and costing more money to their owners in the long run than a good road would cost. But, as a rule, highways and cars go together; where the one is, the other comes.

The automobile cuts the cost of hauling, increases education, adds to the joy of living, makes for health, saves time, and promotes happiness. But as the automobile cannot work its wonders without roads over which to run, it is so obvious that the step forward which will put the states in this country who have but one car to five, six and seven families, into the column where are states with a car to every one or two families, is the step which leads to better roads and more of them.

BACK TO THE CONSTITUTION

Gov. Walton of Oklahoma Pulled a Serious "Boner" in Speech

When Governor Walton of Oklahoma tried to stop an election on Tuesday because he thought it would go counter to his wishes, due of course to his czar-like manner of ruling his constituents in the past few months, he pulled a "boner" so big, in fact, was his mistake that a school child would have known better than to have attempted it. He tried to stop a just and regular election that was called for Tuesday, Oct. 2. He tried only by word of mouth however, even tho his threats were such as would cause bloodshed if the election was held. The election was held and no one was hurt, except himself, all because he attempted to destroy and cast aside the Republican form of government which is written in the constitution of the United States and guaranteed to every citizen within the several states. He saw his error in time to avoid a heap more trouble and did not molest the election but such sublime ignorance of the laws of the land by one who is supposed to know, should not be dealt with lightly.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Campbell and daughter of Kingston, Mrs. Chas. Wolter and daughters, Lydia and Alma, attended the Kilberg reunion at Belvidere Sunday.

Champion Primers.

Women, cats and birds, says a French satirist, are the creatures which spend the greatest amount of time at their toilets.

PIG SHOW OCTOBER 19

Cash prizes amounting to something like $175.00 will inspire the boys of the county Pig Club to adjure their pet piggies to "do their best" at the annual show of the club to be held at the Ellwood-Nelson farm west and south of Genoa on Friday, October 19.

With the incentive of drawing down good sized bunches of coin of the realm as well as honor the club boys are already grooming their porcine pals for the contest, feeding them all the delicacies that go to make them fatter and smoother and watching over them with all of the solicitude of an old maid for her sick cat.

Already pigs to the number of 150 and over have been entered for the annual contest and it is expected that this number will be greatly swelled when the lists are closed at the time of the contest.

In addition to the cash prizes there will be lot of honors for the pigs to win. The prizes are well divided. In the Poland China class there are six prizes for boars and a corresponding number of gilts. In the Duroc classes there are five prizes, each for boars and gilts and in the Chester White and Hampshire class there are four for each sex.

In addition there is a prize for a ribbon to the best barrow in each class.

After the prizes have all been awarded the winners will be gathered in a competition for a prize of $10 the winner to be styled the grand champion of the show. This honor will be the one that will be fought for the hardest between the advocates of the various breeds.

In addition to the big contest, an added attraction will be the championship battle for the title of horseshoe pitching champion which will be contested for at the courts in Annie's Woods.—Hinkley Review.

UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST

Brings the knowledge of a Great Medical Organization and Their Experience in the Successful Treatment of

Thousands of Chronic Disease Cases Offer Services Free of Charge

Licensed by the State of Illinois

The United Doctor is an organization of reputable, licensed, physicians for the treatment of certain diseases. They are all specialists. The United Doctors treat, without Surgical Operations or hypodermic injections, diseases of the blood, skin, and all internal organs, rheumatism, sciatica, tapeworm, leg ulcers, weak lungs and all long standing, deep seated diseases.

Thirty-five years' experience and the complete records of thousands of cases successfully treated prove that the methods of the United Doctors are right. They were among the first to be called "Bloodless Surgeons."

Each member of the United Doctors staff has at his command the knowledge of the whole organization. Many people go on suffering from diseases that can be alleviated just because they cannot afford to go to high priced specialists at a distance from home.

No community has a sufficient number of sufferers from the diseases mentioned to support special hospitals for their treatment and cure.

The United Doctors have solved the problem. Their highly trained specialists travel from place to place. They diagnose and prescribe a course of treatment for the sufferers in each community and teach them how to take care of themselves at home.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment may be, no matter what you have been told, or the experience you have had with other physicians. If your case is curable they will tell you so, consult him upon this visit. It costs nothing.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

RUSCO-Tractor Belts

Transmit maximum horse-power

RUSCO Tractor Belts are solidly woven and guaranteed to contain no plies whatever.

"Built-up" beltings, which are two or more plies of leather or canvas, cemented or stitched together, do not last long and will not pull evenly—they come apart at the "ply".

Rusco is solid woven, making it ply-less—and scientifically treated, which makes it heat-water-steam-and-oil-proof. It is then stretched, tested and cured at the factory under actual operating conditions.

Driving any kind of a machine—ensilage cutter, thresher, silo filler, wood saw, hay baler or feed grinder, as well as small fixed position work, Rusco grips the pulley immediately, transmits maximum horse-power, lasts longer and gives the satisfaction you can figure in dollars. No "breaking in" necessary.

Rusco is made by the oldest and largest solid woven belting manufacturers in America—The Russell Manufacturing Company, Middletown, Conn. (93 years of knowing how).

SEEK TOO GREAT ACCURACY

Even Celebrated Engineers Have Been Known to Waste Time on Unnecessary Measurements.

There can be too great accuracy, according to Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering, which says:

"We recall one instance where a celebrated engineer was preparing a set of tables for publication and was using a set of 12-place logarithms. We asked why he used 12-place tables and he replied that he had heard there were 20-place tables but he had been unable to locate them. The interesting thing about this anecdote is that practically all the data which the celebrated engineer was tabulating had an accuracy which was seldom better than 1 per cent, and an ordinary 12-inch slide rule would have been amply accurate for the work.

"Again, when a young engineer is about to make a mathematical calculation, say for example the surface of heating coils necessary to obtain certain results, he will almost invariably sit down and calculate it to an accuracy of a tenth or even a hundredth of 1 per cent, and this in spite of the fact that the constant factor in the equation (the rate of heat transfer) may not be known within 50 per cent. "Herein lies one excellent reason why many a practical man with good common sense and a wide experience has been able to compete with engineers in many fields."

SPELLS THAT ARE POTENT

Evidently There is Something in the "Medicine" Devised by East African Witch Doctors.

Quite recently a Kikuyu (East African) had a spell put on him by a witch doctor, whereby he was compelled to kill the first man he met. The Kikuyu went to another witch doctor and had the spell removed. But No. 1 was cute. He placed a medicine on the Kikuyu's doorstep so that when the latter stepped over it the spell would be repealed.

The Kikuyu came out of his hut shortly afterward, immediately ran amuck, went down the street and killed the first man he met—another old Kikuyu. The witch doctor and the murderer both stood their trial and the witch doctor got the longer sentence.

At a place called Elkos there once lived an old gentleman who carried around a monkey's paw strapped to his finger. Whoever he pointed this at immediately fell down stone dead. He caused so many deaths that he ultimately had to be removed from the district by the government.—London Express.

Apples Breathe.

Every living organism, whether animal or vegetable, breathes; that is, it absorbs oxygen and gives off carbonic acid.

Any organism which does not breathe may be considered dead. Now, ripe apples plucked from apple trees are not dead. They are not so vigorously alive as while the sap ran through them, but still they are alive, and so they breathe and absorb oxygen. It is found, too, that apples stored in an atmosphere of oxygen and carbonic acid keep twice as long as apples stored in common air.

No doubt the oxygen stimulates their respiration and increases their vitality, while the carbonic acid serves as food, provided sufficient light reaches the chlorophyll in the skin of the apple.

Watchman Helps Men on Careers.

"I've helped make more big men than most old fellows have, despite my mental job, and of course I haven't done it through giving young upstarts financial backing," boasts the venerable night watchman for a large downtown corporation.

"You see, people who come and go here after seven o'clock are supposed to sign in and out. Well, a lot of young fellows are in a hurry to get out and oftentimes don't want to sign out. I make them, though, and in that way the big bosses, scanning the time sheets and personal reports, learn that young So and So is an industrious lad, who often works overtime. Christmas presents from them net me a big penny annually, attesting appreciation for what I've done."—New York Sun.

The Philosophy of a Smile.

Of all appearances of the human countenance methinks a smile is the most extraordinary. It plays with a surprising agreeableness in the eye, breaks out with the brightest distinction, and sits like a glory upon the countenance. What sun is there within us that shoots its beams with so sudden a vigor? To see the soul flash in the face at this rate one would think would comfort an atheist; by the way observe that smiles are more becoming than frowns. This seems an actual encouragement to good humor, as much as to say: If people have a mind to be handsome they must not do it through giving young upstarts financial backing."—Jeremy Collier.

LOST SLEEP OVER NOTHING

Explorer's Story of a Bad Night He Spent in Venezuela Makes Amusing Reading.

William J. La Varre, Jr., who discovered diamonds in South America, tells as follows of an exciting adventure he had in Venezuela, says the World's Work.

The nearest I have ever come to catching up with adventure was just over the boundary in Venezuela when I sought the hospitality of a night at the cabin of a Spanish ranchero in the mountains. He provided me with food and shelter and I tried to convince him that I was conferring as much distinction on him as he was conferring kindness on me by showing him a letter of recommendation from the President of his country. I then discovered that my host was a revolutionist and one of the President's bitterest enemies. He did not withdraw his hospitality, however, so I swung my hammock on his porch and was about to drop off to sleep when I overheard him and a companion talking in low tones. Their concluding remark in Spanish was: "We won't kill him till morning." I spent an almost sleepless night with my revolver thrust in the breast of my shirt and with one eye always half open for trouble. In the gray of the dawn I saw a figure emerge from the house carrying in its hand a glittering rifle barrel. I carefully got my pistol ready for action and kept it trained on the figure without shifting my position in the hammock. The figure advanced to the edge of the porch, turned its back to me, took firing position and blazed away. Instantly loud squeals from the brush resounded and to my immense relief I learned that the discussion of the night before referred to the pig which was to be slaughtered for my breakfast.

COULD REBUKE WITH EFFECT

Kindly Cardinal Manning Had Caustic Wit, Which He Only Occasionally Employed.

Cardinal Manning had a caustic wit and he loved to "take down" those who exhibited pomposity. In "Pages From the Past," John Ayscough (Rt. Rev. Mgr. Count Beckerstaffe Drew) tells how the cardinal snubbed an ostentatious prelate.

Once he brought a very magnificent bishop, who by no means despised ornament, to see St. Thomas' seminary.

"It is very plain," remarked his lordship, scanning the rather austere facade.

"You are right," rejoined the cardinal most sweetly. "Quite. There is nothing vulgar about it."

On another occasion the same prelate was a fellow guest, with the cardinal, of royalty. The bishop came in purple; the cardinal presently arrived in his ordinary black coat, breeches, garters, and apron; to whom the bishop rushed up, much perturbed at thus eclipsing in splendor a portion of the church.

"Never mind, my dear lord," said the cardinal. "It does not matter. I dare say no one will notice you."

Reciprocity Desired.

"Will you marry me?" asked a swain of the Fiddle Creek region in the Ozarks, addressing the daughter of the proprietor of the crossroads store.

"No!" replied the lass. "Aw, I think you might! I do all my trading with your paw."—Kansas City Star.

It was already time to start for the theater. But Kathleen took her best hat down from the crowded closet shelf and frantically began to clip at the lining.

"But, my dear," her friend reminded, "there isn't time to make over your hat tonight. What are you doing?"

By this time Kathleen had got her hand in under the lining and had extracted—a $5 bill, relates the New York Sun and Globe.

"What an amazing hat," remarked her friend. "It seems to be like the miraculous pitcher in which there was always sustenance."

But the girl who has lived two years in a New York apartment and whose salary is given her in a little sealed envelope on the 1st and 15th of each month, explained: "You see, I can't possibly afford a bank account. There isn't any burglar-proof place in this apartment. I always lose my pocketbook. And I'm always running out of change in the most heartless places. So there came the idea of making my hats depositories. I keep $5 or $10 in each chapeau. In this way I always have money with me. And what robber would think of looking there for loot? And, best of all, I often forget how much I have and think it is all gone—when, lo, I find $10 in the far edge of some lining."

"The only objection is once I gave a hat away without examining the crown. And ever since I have been about $10 short."

RICE IS JAVA'S MAIN CROP

Cultivation of the Staple a Slow Process, All the Work Being Done by Hand.

Rice is the most important of all crops in Java. The most productive method of cultivating it is by means of "sawahs" or wet fields. The sawahs consist of plots of ground surrounded by little dykes which allow water either to be run in or off. Where the land is sloping the fields are formed into a succession of terraces, causing the water to trickle from one to the other.

Rice is sown by the natives by hand. After sowing, the fields are flooded by day and drained by night for eight or ten days, says the Detroit News. In about six weeks the spikes are replanted in groups of two or three stems together, each group being stuck into the muddy soil at a distance of about one inch apart. The soil is then flooded and drained every two or three days, and at the end of the fourth or fifth month, after replanting, the crop is ready to be gathered.

The harvest is gathered stem by stem, the natives standing and cutting them at a height of two feet eight inches from the ground.

The rice, after being stacked in bunches and dried, is put into a trough and a stamp or pestle is used to separate the grain from the straw. The grain is husked by means of a large mortar in which disks of stone, iron, or wood are kept moving either by buffalo traction or water power.

urated as a regular part of the work of every fire department.

Special inspection should be made of schools, churches, theaters, public halls, hospitals, hotels and other places of a public or semi-public nature, to see that all fire hazards are removed and that exit facilities are adequate.

Fire drills should be held in all schools and practical fire prevention instruction given the pupils.

Citizens individually should see that rubbish is cleaned up and that heating and lighting equipment is safe in their homes and places of business.

Community exercises or parades are suggested as an educational feature to help citizens visualize the meaning of our fire waste and the necessity of individual cooperation in reducing it.

I appeal for the cooperation of local civic organizations and the public in carrying out the purpose of Fire Prevention Week, and especially invite the assistance of the pulpit and press in spreading the doctrine of carefulness.

HEALTHGRAMS

Curing a person who is sick with a preventable disease is like reconstructing a building that burned down because of defective wiring. Both are expensive ways of demonstrating the value of periodic inspections.

Baby conferences throughout the state uniformly disclose the fact that malnutrition is the most common ailment among the small children of Illinois. This condition say state health officials, results not so much from poverty as from a bad choice of diet.

Immunizing hogs against cholera is a valued procedure practiced by virtually every farmer in the state. These and other good people permit hundreds of babies to die and thousands to be sick annually from diphtheria when immunizing doses of toxin-anti-

Fear and Anger.

Fear and anger are differently developed in different animals. A frog or a rabbit has only fear, while tigers and weasels usually show only anger. Some men are built the same way. Fear and anger are, therefore, opposite moods, the first the impeller of flight, the second of fight.

AUCTION

Having rented my farm, I will sell at public auction, on the W. J. Henderson farm 5 miles north-west of Genoa and 5 miles north east of Kingston on Tuesday, October 9, 1923 commencing at one o'clock sharp, the following property:

56 HEAD OF LIVE STOCK 56
4 Horses; 4 Head Cows; 8 Sows, 40
Shots, and Pigs; 150 Spring Chick-toxin would prevent both, according to the state health commissioner.

The public in Illinois spends $5.00 per capita per year for patent medicine and about 5 cents per capita per year for state public health services. If this situation were completely reversed so many people wouldn't "enjoy poor health" says health commissioner Rawlings.

National war debts are said to incur a financial burden of fifty odd dollars upon every baby born in England and some one asks if this isn't why babies cry so much. Doubtless it is in those cases where the breadwinner pays so much tax that sufficient food and comfortable clothing for the baby must be foregone.

Seed lime and harvest apply to the world of diseases no less than to the world of public health. Folks who sow germs help other people to reap coffins.

"Wild oats" bring forth a remarkably varied harvest, according to authorities of the medical profession. Insane asylums house a multitude of miserable humanity whose conditions are the outcome of loathsome, preventable disease while many other people must contribute toward the enormous expenses of maintaining these institutions.

Changes featured in the new Ford Sedan make it a better looking, roomier car.

A higher radiator with a trim apron at its base lends dignity befitting a closed car. The higher hood and enlarged cowl curving gracefully to the dash give a stylish sweep to its body lines, and afford additional leg room for occupants of the front seat.

All body fittings—window regulators, door grips, door latch levers, door lock, dome light—are finished in nickel. The upholstery carries a fine dark line on a soft brown background that does not easily show dust or dirt. Silk window curtains to harmonize for the three rear windows enhance the style of the car and add to the comfort of its passengers. See the new Sedan and other new Ford body styles at our showroom.

These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.
