IS GOOD ROADS DAY

Friday, May 19, Designated by Governor in Proclamation

SCHOOLS URGED TO GET BUSY

Not a Legal Holiday, but One in Which All Should Work for Better Highway Conditions

Under date of April 25, 1916, Governor Dunne issued the following proclamation to the people of the state of Illinois, one that should be read by everyone:

"Three years ago there was inaugurated in Illinois the custom of dedicating one day in the year to the worthy cause of highway improvement, and so now, again this year, it becomes both my duty and my pleasure to designate such a day.

"Since the enactment of the Tice Road Law, in 1913, public sentiment for better roads has grown so rapidly that today it is not confined to one locality only, but is State-wide in its scope.

"It is no longer necessary to call your attention to the need of improving our public highways. That need you have already realized, and the realization is slowly but surely pulling Illinois out of the mud. Apathy toward road improvement has given way to enthusiasm, and this enthusiasm is resulting in systematic and well-directed efforts toward the culmination of the ideal which we have placed before us—better roads for Illinois.

"Our State Highway Commission, created by the law of 1913, have been steadily working on the construction of the State aid system of roads which the law contemplates. Today they report that 150 miles of this system has been completed and that the plans call for the construction of some 470 miles during this year. Add to these facts, the enthusiasm with which many counties, townships and districts are advocating bond issues for road-building purposes and you can begin to realize to what proportions the good roads movement has grown.

"Now that this movement is so splendidly started, we should not sit by content and think that it will perpetuate itself. We must keep awake if we desire to see it continue to grow in strength and popularity. Nothing will serve better to keep this problem before our eyes than a day set aside for actual constructive work on our highways.

"I respectfully ask that the activities of the day, consisting of grading, draining, dragging, hauling and placing gravel and other materials, be carried out under the direction of the local highway commissioners, county superintendents of highways, good roads associations and automobile clubs, so that the effort expended will be along practical and systematic channels.

"It is also to be recommended that the schools of the State, in harmony with the spirit of the day, arrange for a 'Good Roads' program, which should embrace the reading of this proclamation, together with other appropriate good roads literature, and, if possible, arrange for an address on 'Good Roads' to be delivered by some one who is competent to talk upon the subject.

"Now, therefore, I, Edward F. Dunne, Governor of the State of Illinois, do hereby proclaim Friday, May 19, 1916, as Good Roads Day—not as a holiday, but as a hard work day, and I respectfully urge that on this day the entire commonwealth will cooperate for the improvement of the highways of Illinois."

CHOOSE NEW SOIL ADVISOR

McHenry County Selects Gafke as Agricultural Expert

A. J. Gafke was chosen county farm advisor at a meeting of the McHenry County Soil Improvement association held at the court house last week. He will report to commence work about the middle of this month.

Mr. Gafke came before the committee as a candidate who has been employed as advisor in Wing county, Minnesota, for the past three years. If the letters of recommendation he brought from Minnesota may be taken as an index of the success he enjoyed there, members of the committee feel they have been very fortunate in securing his services for the next three years.

For Better Roads

The Burlington railroad is cooperating with the government and state officials in teaching the people how to make better highways. Special trains will be used in this campaign of education.

DOCTOR GETS $800

Marengo Physician Sues County For $4,700, but Settles at Above Figure

Settlement of the $4,700 claim of Dr. Rozel M. Curtiss of Marengo against McHenry county was among the important items passed on by the board of supervisors at its annual April meeting at Woodstock on Tuesday of last week.

The claim was settled for $800.

Dr. Curtiss was health officer of Marengo during an epidemic of small pox there three years ago and he rendered a bill for $4,700 for his services. The county through its board of supervisors refused to pay what they said was an exorbitant claim. Suit was instituted by Dr. Curtiss and it was tried at Belvidere, the Marengo physician and surgeon obtaining judgment for $1,500. An appeal motion was made by the state, but no further steps were taken.

Had it Coming

Attorney Arthur G. Harris of Dixon, well known here from the fact that four years ago he was a candidate for the legislature and made frequent visits here, has been suspended from the practice of law in the state by the Supreme court. The action was based on suit brought by State's Attorney J. J. Ludens of Ogle county, and State's Attorney Harry Edwards of Lee county. The charges brought against the defendant were that he collected money for clients and fraudulently kept the same. The Republican-Journal and other papers will remember Harris. He failed to pay his newspaper advertising accounts contracted during his political campaign.

Needed in Genoa

Hinsdale, Ill., a city of 3,000 people, is now treating a very hard well water with lime and soda ash at a total cost of 5.9 cents per 1,000 gallons, with the result of almost eliminating the use of bottled water for drinking purposes and of reducing the expense for soap at laundries and for boiler compounds and boiler repair work.

Saturday, April 8, marked the passing of the last livery stable in Mendota. Years ago Mendota supported three large, well equipped stables but with the advent of the automobile the patronage decreased until one by one the owners have disposed of their horses and carriages.

"Chicken Joe" Campbell, sentenced to hang at the Will county jail April 21, for the murder of Mrs. Odette Allen, wife of former Warden Allen of the state prison, was granted a reprieve by Gov. Dunne until June 30, in order that Campbell may appeal his case to the Illinois supreme court.

Work of building a 225 foot chimney on the new power house at the Elgin State hospital was completed last week. The chimney, which is one of the largest in the state, is thirty feet wide at the base and fifteen at the top. An American flag was hung from the top of it and will remain there until torn to pieces by the wind.

Some twenty head of stock were consumed in the fire which destroyed the stock barn of the farm of John Ekander, some ten miles northwest of Rockford last Thursday night. A number of costly farm implements were also burned. The stock included thirteen horses and five cows. Four hundred bushels of corn burned. The origin of the blaze is not known. Mr. Ekander carried about $2,400 insurance.

Ground will be broken June 1 for the erection of a four-story steel constructed building located in the rear of the present Kelley Hotel building in Elgin, which, when completed, will make the Kelley Hotel one of the finest up to date European hotels in Northern Illinois, outside Chicago. The present hotel building will be so altered and reconstructed in connection with the structure as to make a complete unit building when all is completed.

A sad affair occurred on Thursday evening at DeKalb in the suicide of Merton London Ramer, the twenty-one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Ramer of South Ninth street. The young man's body was found about midnight lying in Annie's Woods with two bullet holes in it. The revolver with which he did the act was clenched in his hand when found. He had been dead perhaps for three or four hours.

Louis Gluth, a Marengo man about 22 years of age, met with a fatal accident Sunday afternoon while out hunting. In company with Eddie and Herman Gluth and Walter Krause, he started out for a few hours sport in hunting, and when near the Free Methodist church on the Crystal Lake road, he spied a crow and against the counsel of his companions he alighted from his buggy and took hold of the muzzle of his shot gun. He had barely started to pull it toward him when it discharged its contents into his right shoulder. He died in a short time.

PREACHER SUSPENDED

Former Marengo Minister Engages in Business and Fails

Rev. A. Clark Selby, former pastor of the Congregational church at Carpentersville, has been refused a letter of commendation by the Elgin Association of Congregational churches says the News.

Instead, his name has been stricken from the roll of the Elgin association and he has been asked to surrender all his credentials for the gospel ministry.

His case was placed in the hands of the advisory committee of the Elgin association at its annual meeting held at DeKalb April 25 and 26. Revs. Charles L. Morgan, Jonas S. Brooks and Frank C. Neitz passed upon Selby's case and their recommendation depositing him from membership in the Elgin Association was adopted unanimously.

Rev. Selby was called to Carpentersville three years ago from Marengo. He was very popular with his parishioners at first.

He opened a small order business, establishing offices in Elgin and is said to have borrowed money from many of the members of his church. The business did not come up to expectations and it is said he was unable to pay back the money he owed.

A MAN'S JOB

The Following Article From The Farmer's Review Hits True

Some young men have balked at country life because the opportunity was not large enough. Opportunity for what? Happily, the ideal of the average American as yet is not to possess a million dollars and a scandal in the family. Most folks are satisfied with prospects of making a good living, all comforts and some luxuries, good education for the children, some travel, friends good and true, and a contented, independent old age. Every observing young man knows a farm offers all these things. He has seen farm after farm produce these "essentials" and more. What, then, further does he want? He wants that intangible thing, high place, which a noted philosopher observed was laborious and painful in getting, with standing at the top slippery, and "the regress is either a downfall, or at least an eclipse, which is a melancholy thing." High place is a relative criterion. One of the highest places we know is right in a farming community—unselfishly leading, boosting serving—with final reward in universal commendation unsurpassed in any walk of life. In every rural community there is opportunity for a real man to do a real man's work. And still some say opportunity in the country is too small.

Obituary

Horace D. Russell was born in Grundy county, Iowa, April 30, 1852. He was next to the oldest of five children born to Henry A. and Emma S. Russell. His parents moved to Ogle county, Ill., in 1861. His father enlisted in the 92nd regiment, company K, of Illinois, August 9, 1862, and died at Danville, Ky., February 16, 1863.

His mother died at Bloomington, Illinois, in 1879. The deceased was united in marriage to Ruth A. Patrick, October 26, 1874. One son was born to this union. He was engaged in farming until 1887. Later he moved to Byron, Illinois, where he was employed by the Johnson Creamery Co. While in the employ of this company he was stricken with typhoid pneumonia and never fully regained his normal health. Not being able thereafter to follow his regular routine of work he engaged in the tinsorial business which he followed for a number of years.

For a long number of years he has been a member of the Methodist church. At the time of his death he held membership at the Genoa M. E. church. He was also a member of the Modern Woodmen of America, Camp 163, at Genoa, Illinois.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Russell, of Genoa; his son, F. L. Russell, and wife and four grandchildren of Genoa; one brother, Geo. Russell, of Oregon, Ill., and one sister, Mrs. Joseph McDaniels, of Kokomo, Indiana.

Birthday Club

The W. T. W. Birthday Club was pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Lydia Somerville Thursday afternoon, April 27. Mrs. Chas. Naker won first prize, Mrs. Mary Rudolph, second, and Mrs. R. D. Schaffer the booby, after which a two-course luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Naker, Friday afternoon, May 12.

ALFALFA IS KILLED

Many Fields Will be Plowed up and Planted to Corn

ADVERSE WINTER CONDITIONS

New Seeding Fared Better Than Old Stands—Fields That Were Limed Also Stood the Test Better

Concerning the alfalfa and clover conditions in DeKalb county, County Agriculturist W. G. Eckhardt writes as follows:

"Many fields of alfalfa have been winter killed. Fields that were cut late for hay or pastured late eating the alfalfa close to the ground are dead. Fields of new seeding that became well established last year and old fields that went into the winter with a good, heavy growth are in very good condition and will produce a good crop this year.

"Fields that were limed are also very much better than fields that were not limed.

"Where old fields are winter killed and blue grass is getting established the best thing is to plow the land and grow one or two crops of corn, and thoroughly lime the land and reseed to alfalfa. The land will be practically free from weeds and will be the very best of corn land. The soil will also be thoroughly inoculated for future crops of alfalfa.

"Where new seedings are in doubt give plenty of time as frost left the ground very late and growth after a hard winter is slow. If the stand is thin, drill in a few quarts of inoculated alfalfa seed per acre some time the first part of May. The three cuttings for hay will hold back all weeds and the new seedings should make a fine crop for next year. If you do not have a drill, double disc but not too deep, sow seed and harrow in thoroughly. The seed can be seeded first, then disked and harrowed, if not disked too deep."

Clover Winter Killed

"Much clover is also winter killed. Nearly every acre of clover seeded in the spring of 1914 is winter killed. This is to be expected. Clover seeded in 1914 produces hay in 1915 and as a rule its life is ended. These fields should be producing corn in 1916.

"Clover seeded in the spring of 1915, where not pastured, is slow in coming; on poor, sour land is practically a failure; where pastured close or late is winter killed. Farmers will do well to wait before plowing new seedings because April was very cold and the stand may be much better than it seems at the present time."

CLOSE SCORE IN MEET

The Genoa High School Track Team Defeated by the Alumni Saturday

In a meet in which the teams were so evenly matched that the winner was not determined until the final event had been run, the Genoa high athletics bowed in submission to their superiors Saturday. Although the track was not in the best of condition and the boys had very little training, some good marks were made. Following is the score and event:

KILLED BY TRAIN

Body of Wm. Frazee Found on Milwaukee Tracks Tuesday Morning

Wm. Frazee, of this city, a laborer well along in years, was instantly killed by a train on the C. M. & St. Paul tracks Monday night or early Tuesday morning. No one will ever know when the tragedy took place for the man had been dead several hours before the body was discovered.

The engineer on a west bound train noticed the body lying on the east-bound track near the Sycamore street crossing early Tuesday morning. He notified the operator at the Kingston tower and the next east-bound train stopped at Genoa when the body was removed from the tracks. Both legs had been severed, one below the knee and the other close to the body. It is evident that the man had either fallen on the tracks and was unable to get up, or fell asleep on the rails. There were no marks on the body that would indicate that he had been struck while in an upright position. The man was addicted to the drink habit and on the day of his death had made a trip to Burlington. Following these festive hours he many times became practically helpless. Mr. Frazee was a hard working man and as such provided well for his large family.

Funeral services were held this (Thursday) afternoon.

SPRING GRANGE MEETS

Enthusiastic Gathering at Herbert on Thursday Evening Last

(Contributed)

On Thursday evening, April 27, the most interesting and enthusiastic meeting of Spring was held, and the largest attendance was present that the order has ever witnessed. Every member put forth his greatest effort and interest to welcome the forty-five candidates who were introduced as brothers and sisters, and received the first and second degree of the lodge. No doubt the newcomers found their path, at first, difficult and obstructed, but after "riding the goat" and finally conquering him, their faces bore smiles, not only because they had at last reached the end of their rough voyage, and had entered a new land of peace and happiness, but because they had aroused great excitement and amusement for the onlookers of their journey.

Following the initiation, a very attractive program was displayed, consisting of the following:

Opening Ode Lodge
Household Hints Ladies
Farm Hints Men
Tableau—"Wanted a Wife"

..... Four Young Folks
Reading Mrs. Elva Davis
Song Mrs. Elva Davis
Reading Nelva Lobdell
Closing Ode Lodge

Supper was served by Nelva and Luceba Lobdell, Harvey Meyers and Don Wait, following which both young and old enjoyed a delightful hour of dancing, for a friendly cheerful spirit existed in the hearts of all.

At the next meeting, May 11, the third and fourth degrees will be conferred upon the new members, and the banquet will be served under the supervision of Elva Davis and Gladys Lobdell, chairman of the committee of the defeated side of the recent contest for membership. The program will consist of a one act comedy: "Coon Crick Courtship" and a short play, "Betty and Betsy," besides other interesting numbers. It is hoped that this meeting will have even a greater attendance, and the members will enjoy even a more delightful time than the previous one.

Year Without a Summer

This year—A. D. 1916—is the one-hundredth anniversary of a year without a summer. In 1816 there was a very curious even distribution of temperature throughout the year. January was so mild that fires were not necessary. February was not cold. March "came in like a lion, but went out like a lamb." April came in warm but grew colder at the close, and in May there was winter temperature. Ice formed on the ponds one-half an inch thick, the corn was killed, and the fields were planted many times. There was frost in June, and snow and ice in July. August was the coldest month of the entire year, and the autumn was rather mild.—Ex.

THE POLE QUESTION

City Council Again Takes up Matter of Removal from Streets

PIERCE IS SUPT. WATER WORKS

Appointment Made at Last Meeting—Ordinance Passed Raising Water Rates—$1.50 per Quarter

An adjourned regular meeting of the city council was held last Friday night and several questions were settled. The mayor appointed Ed. Pierce as superintendent of waterworks, E. M. Trautman as fire marshal and V. J. Corson as fire secretary. All appointments were approved by unanimous vote of the council.

Owing to the fact that the city water works has not been paying out during the past few years, an ordinance was passed raising the rates to a figure that will insure a balance next spring instead of a deficit. The small consumer will pay the biggest part of the raise, however, as is the case everywhere. The minimum charge per quarter in the past has been $1.00, or $4.00 per year. The new ordinance (which appears elsewhere in this issue) makes the minimum $1.50 per quarter. In other words, the first 5,000 gallons will cost $1.50 and it will cost that amount whether you use the water or not. The second 5,000 gallons will cost only 17½ cents.

An ordinance creating the new board of local improvements was passed. The membership consists of the mayor, John Canavan and Will Duval.

W. H. Heed's bill was again presented to the council, but it met the same fate as at previous meetings. No definite action was taken on the bill, but it was referred to the finance committee with instructions to report at the next regular meeting.

Mr. Stueben of DeKalb, who has been in Genoa several weeks, auditing the books of the several officials, was instructed to install a new system with the city clerk, in connection with that already in use.

The matter of removing the DeKalb County Telephone Company's poles from Main street again came to the attention of the board, and by motion of the city attorney was instructed to confer with Attorney McCarthy of Elgin. There is at the present time an injunction which holds the city powerless to do other than dance to Mr. Joslyn's music. An effort will now be made to have this injunction dissolved. Where the money is coming from to pay for litigation is a point that did not come out at the council meeting.

We Bought Some Ink

The Republican-Journal ordered some news ink the other day, the common black ink that is used in printing this paper. Before making shipment and mailing invoices, the ink house let us down easy by first writing as follows: "Beg to advise, however, that there will be an advance on this ink for the reason of the terrific advance in materials entering into the making of the same. Carbon black has advanced over 600 per cent and we do not know whether news ink will take on a greater advance than the present quotation or not." We assure our readers that ink will be used in the printing of The Republican-Journal as long as the price remains where it is at the present time. If it goes higher, however, we may have to make a solution of soft coal soot and rain water, with enough glue added to make it stick.

Moses in Jail

The bondsmen of Moses Brown surrendered him last week to the sheriff at Sycamore and the DeKalb man has commenced the service of his 170 day sentence in the county jail according to the mandate of the supreme court which affirmed the sentence given him in the circuit court of this county. There is another case against the defendant pending in the DeKalb city court and it is likely that if convicted there he will be given a stiff sentence also as this will constitute a third offense. Mr. Brown's experience is likely to act as a deterrent to others of this vicinity from selling liquor in dry territory.

Supervisor N. Brotzman, the sage of Riley, was re-elected chairman of the board of supervisors of McHenry county at the April meeting held last Tuesday, when the board organized for the work of the coming year. Only one new face appears among the members of the board this year, that of Charles H. Ackman, of Union, who succeeds Dr. P. A. Remie as supervisor from the town of Coral.

Former Postmaster Harry Hemmens of Elgin has been chosen chairman of a committee to raise a $25,000 building fund for Sherman hospital.

Your Head, Neck and Feet

See here fellows, we have been talking quite persistently to you about the quality and make of clothing you should wear this summer, advocating that the well dressed man is the man who gets on in the world. But listen, men, the fact that you have followed our advice and put on a new suit of clothes which we have made to fit you like a glove, does not make you a well-dressed man. You are merely well clothed. To be really dressed one should give his head, his neck and feet careful attention. As a matter of fact, if one has on a stylish hat, a good pair of shoes and nifty neck-wear he is nearer dressed than the man who has simply given his suit careful attention. We are better prepared than ever this spring to supply your wants in hats, neckwear and shoes. Come in and let us show you.

Mrs. D. S. Brown, Mrs. Jerry Brown, Mrs. Henry Burroughs and J. A. Patterson were in DeKalb Tuesday to see the mausoleum which has recently been erected there. They were very favorably impressed, it being a beautiful marble building.
The lesson topic for the M. E. Epworth League is "Cheating on the Playground and in the Schoolroom." This is a very important topic and a special invitation is extended to all the young people to attend next Sunday evening at 6:30.

A Cause of Unrest.
Undoubtedly for everything there is an ample cause. Far be it from the likes of me to knock on nature's laws. But why do modern architects assume that U is V and carve in stone that palpable and bold absurdity? The language used to be so poor, so terribly in debt, that it could not afford a U to grace the alphabet.
But now that we possess the U with soft and graceful curve, of unexcelled docility and willingness to serve, why do they carve United States and public school and such and make the English language look as funny as the Dutch, with restaurant and Pullman car and university and other marks of educational perversity?
That V impresses some of us as cheap and gaudy bluff, which parvenus may pill in place of more substantial stuff, but people who are fashioned out of unpretentious dust view all such affection with an unassumed disgust. Such exhibitions always make me very grim and blue. Now, honest In-jun, don't they have the same effect on you?—Printer's Ink.
Watch your door knob.

Seeing Around Corners.
There are many insects which have a very much larger field of vision than we have. This is due to the greater concavity of their eyes, enabling them to see around the corner, so to speak, behind and at the sides. This development in man would have its objectionable points, but also its good ones, not the least of which might be the detection of pickpockets.—Chambers' Journal.
Freezing Water.
Water contracts until it is reduced to 40 degrees and then expands till it freezes. The expansion of frozen water is because the ice crystals fit less closely than the particles of water did. Nine cubic inches of water will become, when frozen, ten cubic inches of ice.
An Apology.
"Your customs are reprehensible beyond the possibility of expression. The idea of killing your fellow-man for dinner." "Yes," replied the cannibal who had been reading about civilized warfare. "But at least we have the excuse of being hungry."

Lumber At Wholesale

Owing to the high price of Lumber caused by the recent sharp advances all along the line, we have concluded (in order to serve our patrons in the best possible manner) to add a wholesale department to our lumber business.
We have made business connections with the best mills manufacturing lumber and shingles in the North, South and on the Pacific Coast, and can and will give you better prices on quantity shipments in carloads or more, than you can get elsewhere.
Consult your own interest and let us quote you, you need no further evidence.
Yours for service.

HERE IT IS

TO BE GIVEN AWAY

Any boy or girl in Genoa has an opportunity to own this beautiful little pony, buggy and harness. All that is required to win the outfit is an honest effort, lots of ginger and a firm determination to stick to it. The boy or girl who sell the greatest amount of a certain brand of soap during the next three months gets this prize. There will also be a special prize offered every Saturday for the most soap sold on that day. On Saturday of this week we give away a fine base ball glove to the boy who sells the most. If it is a girl who wins she will receive something to please of equal value. Come in and ask about it.

Shifts of Politics.
No one objects to going into office on political account, but when a man is asked to step out for the same reason, he gets cross.—Philadelphia Press.

Disinfect Your Pets.
Many children and adults acquire skin diseases from the household pets. Such diseases as ringworm and barber's itch are transmitted by the cats and dogs. An epidemic may be started by germs being carried into the home. Every member of the household may develop disease acquired from carelessly petting a stray cat or dog on the street. Dogs are fond of filth. They delight in groveling in heaps of manure or refuse of any kind and for this reason should be regarded with suspicion.
The stray pets should be treated to an antiseptic bath before being fondled. Your own pet dog after a run out of doors should have a disinfectant bath before it is again permitted to sleep on the lounge or sit upon your lap.—Philadelphia Record.

Painting Hooks and Eyes.
There are many methods of mechanical painting, and some of the most extraordinary are described by Arthur Seymour Jennings in his book, "Painting by Immersion and by Compressed Air." One method, for such articles as hooks and eyes, eyelets and very small iron parts generally which cannot be successfully dipped or sprayed, is known as "tumbling." The articles are placed in a machine something like a churn, together with a number of steel balls, usually of very small diameter, and a given quantity of japan. The churn is then closed down and given a dozen or so rapid turns, during which the steel balls carry the japan to every part of the articles. The contents of the churn are then dumped out on to wire trays. These being agitated, the steel balls fall through the meshes, leaving the painted iron parts behind.

Naturally So.
"Did you see where a ship was held up in our ports because it had a cargo of false teeth for Germany?" "Now, mustn't that have made the consignor look down in the mouth?"

Character.
Character is a mosaic which takes a lifetime for its completion; and trifles, the little things of life, are the instruments most used in preparing each precious stone for its place.

Drills Tiny Holes.
Making an adding machine required the drilling of ten holes in a steel plate a thirty-second of an inch thick each hole to be accurate to a thousandth of an inch, yet no bigger than a pin in diameter. Such a problem stopped the manufacture of the machine on a commercial basis until the inventor of the calculator could invent a means of solving it.

The machine devised stands but twelve inches high. The drill which was built carries ten spindles, each holding a drill of No. 6 Morse gauge, which is about the size of a pin of ordinary use. Each little sliver of steel that does the work is driven by a belt operating through a cam head and therefore works at the same speed as that of its neighbors.

The actual drilling requires ten seconds.—Illustrated World.

Two Coyotes.
"We watched two coyotes in captivity the other day," said a man interested in humane work. "They were of the same age, of the same parentage on both sides. They have been nearly a year confined in the cage. One of them, the male, is as restless a creature as one might ever see, almost never quiet, hurrying back and forth with rapid steps from one end of the cage to the other, apparently never free from fear, the eye restless and wild. The other, the female, is as gentle as a dog, likes to lean against the bars and is petted, is without fear, a restful, and one might imagine, a contented animal. Here is the old question of heredity. Families of humans present the same problem."

Religion of India.
The religious beliefs of India are numerous and range from Buddhists in the east, pagans in the north and Mohammedans in the northwest, through the great bulk of Hindus in the center, to Buddhists and Christians in the extreme south.

Tree Bark Glue Brush.
An excellent glue brush for the cabinetmaker or carpenter can be made from a piece of elm tree bark, which may usually be found in the yard of a furniture factory, wagon shop or any hardwood lumber yard. With a sharp knife whittle away the brittle outer bark down to the white fiber or inner side of the bark of which the brush is to be made. Cut a piece of this to the length and width required for the brush. Soak one end of this piece in hot water for a few minutes. Lay the water soaked end on a hard substance, such as a piece of iron or hard wood, and beat it out with a hammer, dipping it in the water occasionally to keep it thoroughly wet. The beating will cause the tough fibers of the bark to separate at the end, these forming an excellent and inexpensive brush which never sheds hairs and lasts longer than the cheap brush commonly sold at the stores.—Popular Science.

Chinese Architecture.
The monuments of China are among the most conspicuous in the world. Interpreted broadly they range from a coin or an oracle bone to the Great Wall. China has more than 2,000 important specimens of the pagoda, an original form of tower architecture unsurpassed for beauty by any similar kind of structure. The Porcelain tower at Nanking deserved to be ranged with the wonders of the world, and for reasons which made it the superior of the so called seven wonders. Chinese sculpture has never been surpassed, and there is no evidence in mundane art to show that it ever will be. There is a single fragment in the Metropolitan museum in New York—a stone head of the Tang period—whose grandeur of plastic mastery since its appearance has conferred distinction upon the sculpture of the world.—Journal of the American Asiatic Association.

His Collage Handicap.
"I remember when it was really a disadvantage to have had a technical mining education," said John Hays Hammond. "I remember going to one of the large mining magnates of the day in California, who had got his information and experience by hard knocks, and asking for a job. He said: 'There is one serious objection to you. You have been at Freiberg, and you know you have to unlearn a good deal when you get into active practice.' I am sorry to say there is a great deal of truth in that too. 'Well,' I said, 'I will tell you in confidence, but do not repeat this to my poor father, who has made every sacrifice to send me abroad for a mining education—I did not learn a confounded thing at Freiberg.' Then he said, 'I will take you.' And that was the first job I ever got."

The Inns of Chancery.
Most of the old inns of chancery are no more. Clement's Inn, where Falstaff and Shallow "heard the chimes at midnight"; New Inn, of which Sir Thomas More was a member; Lyon's Inn, where Cobe once taught the students; Furnival's Inn, where Charles Dickens lived; Thavies Inn, which was one of the earliest of all the legal settlements in London; Barnard's Inn, where Lord Chief Justice Holt was among the "principals"—all these historic places have "in the change and chance of time" disappeared from view. Staple Inn remains in its ancient state by the good will of the insurance company that purchased it a number of years ago.—London Law Journal.

Makes His Own Opportunities.
Let a man have but an aim, a purpose, and opportunities to attain his end shall start forth like buds at the kiss of spring.—Bishop Spalding.

Folk Songs of Servia.
The folk songs of Servia are less known outside the borders of that country than the songs of any other nation, but some day a great musician is expected to arise and make the Servian music known throughout the world. Just as the composers of Austria, Vienna and Russia have made their folk songs known.

It is in these folk songs that the Servians express chiefly their devotion to their country and their intense patriotism. There are, of course, love songs, death songs and harvest songs, but it is in these wild patriotic outbursts that the Servian spirit is best shown.

For the Servian is intensely patriotic. As a nation it is home loving. The principal industry is agriculture, and the natives, on account of the mountainous regions, have much of the spirit of the Swiss patriots.—Exchange.

Sumptuary Laws of Cape Town.
Cape Town once lived under so severe a code of sumptuary laws that anything like display was restricted to the governor and his immediate circle. Thus runs article 6 of the Dutch laws against luxury and ostentation: "No one less in rank than a junior merchant and those among the citizens of equal rank and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas." In practice this restricted the possession and use of umbrellas to about fifty persons in Cape Town.

Some Improvement.
"Mrs. Dubwaite doesn't seem to mind how much Mr. Dubwaite operates the phonograph."
"In the language of a well known advertiser, 'There's a reason.'"
"Yes?"
"As a choice between two evils, Mrs. Dubwaite much prefers the phonograph. Mr. Dubwaite's favorite diversion in the evening used to be picking out a tune on the piano with one finger."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Unicorn.
Chinese annals of great antiquity contain numerous detailed accounts of the supposedly fabulous unicorn, in which the descriptions are identical with those handed down from the earliest times in the mythology of occidental countries. From this it is inferred that at some time in the remote past there actually did exist a single horned equine or cervine animal of some sort.

A Problem.

"Ah, do tell me something about the play last night. They say that climax at the close of the third act was simply grand," she said.
"Yes, I am inclined to think it was very good," he replied without any marked degree of enthusiasm.
"Can't you describe it to me?" she continued, beaming radiantly.
"Why," explained he, "the heroine came stealthily on the stage and knelt, dagger in hand, behind a clump of blue ribbons. The hero emerged from a large bunch of lilacs, and as soon as she perceived him she fell upon, stabbed him twice and sank, half-conscious, into a very handsome algeat. This may sound a trifle queer, but the lady in front of me came in late for the performance and became so intensely interested that she forgot to remove her hat, and that's how it looked to me."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

MANY people in this section think that Ivory is a laundry soap. So it is, but that is not all. It is equally fine for the toilet and for the same reasons that it is fine in the laundry.

Because it is pure, because it is mild, because it lathers freely and rinses easily, Ivory Soap is unequalled for all laundry work.

Are not these the qualities you desire in toilet soap? The fact is, you cannot get a better soap for the toilet than Ivory. Do not let its low price make you think otherwise.

Weight 2565 Lbs.

No hill too steep. No sand too deep.

Jackson Light "Eight" has One Horsepower for Every 57 lbs.

Here is a Jackson extraordinary. It is an "Eight." It is light in weight (weighs but 2565 pounds complete); it is light in price, and it is built on four full elliptic springs.

That brief paragraph, analyzed, reveals why Model "348" Jackson is making such a sensation. It explains why hundreds of buyers in every center have waited for this car, why dealers have so eagerly looked for it.

There is magic in Eight-Cylinders; practical magic that reveals itself in a new type of flexibility; a new conception of power—power continuous, even, flowing in an uninterrupted stream with entire absence of vibration.

These advantages are intensified to an almost incredible degree by the use of four full elliptic springs.

Full elliptic springs absorb the shocks before they get to the car. They add amazingly to the tire life, to car life. They make it possible to take country roads at a speed above the ordinary in comfort.

This sort of magic wins you at once. Makes you unwilling to temporize with any other type of motor. Makes you eager to run a Jackson "Eight."

You can't believe what a difference four full elliptic springs do make until you've ridden in a Jackson.

No matter what you've been thinking on the car question you owe it to yourself to see the Jackson "Eight" before making a decision.

Come and see this car. Note its exceedingly attractive body lines, its very complete equipment, its many valuable features.

Genoa to have a Beautiful Mausoleum

Like the DeKalb and Rockford Buildings

The size of the Mausoleum will be determined by the number of tombs subscribed for

MAUSOLEUM AT BUFFALO, N. Y.

The cemetery is to have a receiving vault and chapel in this beautiful marble palace

WHAT A COMMUNITY MAUSOLEUM IS

A Mausoleum is a mansion house for the dead—a memorial expressing not only our esteem for the departed loved ones, but also our loyalty to high ideals. It is the product of modern scientific and inventive genius and makes possible entombment above ground at an expense about the same as that of earth burial, while at the same time it safeguards the air and water from contamination, detriment to the health of a community. A community Mausoleum contains many seamless stone tombs or crypts each large enough for one body. After the casket has been placed in its final resting place the concrete end is set in place, the marble slab is put on and the crypt is sealed air tight, and safety from grave robbers and vermin infested earth is assured for all time to come.

A sanitary community Mausoleum is a beautiful, substantial structure built of stone, marble, reinforced concrete and bronze, Cathedral art glass being used exclusively for the windows. It provides for an escape from earth burial and all of the attendant dread and dangers connected therewith. As the name suggests, a sanitary community Mausoleum is an edifice equipped with approved devices which eliminate factors which cause the spread of contagious diseases. It is built to accommodate a large number of families or even an entire community.

The building itself is a fitting monument to all who are entombed in it and as it is adequately endowed, its future care is guaranteed.

When a tomb is purchased the owner is given a deed to it the same as to a house. The endowment fund insures perpetual care. Mr. Gladstone, the great English statesman, once said, "Show me the manner in which a nation or a community cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people, their respect for the law of the land and their loyalty to high ideals."

We all must be earnest enough, serious enough and honest enough with ourselves to admit that some day, somewhere, we must have a resting place, and it is for you to decide today, whether you will provide for you and yours, the best there is to be had—or leave it to chance.

CHARLES T. BISCH & SON
(Undertakers, 110 N. 6th St.)

Springfield, Ill.
Dec. 7, 1912

Gentlemen:

We most heartily endorse and recommend the Mausoleum mode of burial. We believe in it so much that we have procured space for our families in the Abbey. If the people generally possessed the knowledge of the true conditions incident to earth burial they would not hesitate a moment between Clean, White, Dry, Sanitary, Crypts and the ground.

Yours truly,
CHARLES T. BISCH.

There is no more important investment to be made in Life than provision for Death—the inevitable. You would not fail to provide a suitable home for your loved ones in life. Can you neglect to secure for them a permanent abiding place for their everlasting rest? It is the urgent duty of every man to make that most important of all provisions—security and protection for those who remain behind when Death beckons. Provide now when you are in good health. Today this opportunity is within your grasp. Tomorrow it may be beyond your reach.

The Genoa Mausoleum is to be erected only for those who subscribe to its construction, and when the subscription is closed there is no way in which you can secure space in it.

This is one of the few grand, good things we can only have when needed most, by providing for it, when needed least.

If you appreciate the difference it is going to make in the feelings of the members of your family who are left, to see your loved ones placed in a marble palace instead of buried in the damp, cold ground, select your space before it is too late. The expense is about the same as grave burial. But why compare it with grave burial, there is no comparison. It will not cost you anything, however, to find out all about this great enterprise, and we shall be pleased to have you call at the Commercial Hotel or go to your home and explain it in detail, and show you photographs of our several buildings, and then if interested will take you to DeKalb and show you a real building.

Copy of a Letter From Judge Kenney in Regard to The Mausoleum At De Kalb, Illinois

August 6, 1914.

Johnson and O'Brien
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Sirs:—

As you know, I am a resident of De Kalb, and purchased some of the crypts in the community mausoleum now being erected by your company at De Kalb, Ill.

I have, from time to time, inspected the construction of the building as it has been under construction and am satisfied that the building throughout is of the most substantial and permanent character.

I am more than pleased with the way the work has been done, and the appearance of the building as it approaches completion.

I cheerfully recommend your company, having formed my opinion from their conduct here, and the manner in which this building is constructed.

Yours respectfully,
Signed, A. G. KENNEDY.

POINTS TO CONSIDER

Three-fourths of our lives is sentiment and the other fourth habit. You take the sentiment out of life and you have a Nonentity.

History tells us that Abraham Lincoln had a tender heart. After the death of Ann Rutledge every time it would rain, blow or snow, he would walk the floor and say: "I can't bear to think of Ann out there in this storm and rain without shelter, her grave filled with water."

The little tombs are two feet high, thirty inches wide and seven feet six inches long, finished in pure white. Our Sanitary arrangements comply in every particular with the strict Sanitary laws of the various States.

Burials as we have seen them in the past are one of the things that have not advanced as everything else has. In fifty years from now people will look back upon the method of grave burial as a relic of barbarism. Mausoleum entombment robs death of its horror, you feel that your loved ones is in an adjoining room and that no King or Queen has a more fitting resting place.

Mausoleum entombment is the only protection to the departed one from every sort of despoilers, and heretofore has only been for the Nobility, Nations' Heroes and very wealthy people, but with the advent of this great building people of ordinary circumstances can provide space for their loved ones at an expense that does not exceed the average cost of ground burial.

Springfield, Ill.
Dec. 10, 1912.

From a scientific standpoint I think your mode of entombment is ideal. Personally, I believe it removes the sting of death, as most every one has a horror of being buried in the cold, wet ground.

Yours truly,
JOHN C. WALTERS, M. D.

In order to correct the prevailing opinion that these great buildings are open to the public, we desire to make it plain that the great doors and gates are always locked, and owners of space are given keys so that they may come and go as they please. We never accept orders for space from any but desirable people, making it the most private, humane, sanitary and highly desirable way to care for our loved ones who have passed away.

Try and be one of the first to make this enterprise possible.
You will be proud of it.

Too Hard on the Gossips.
A New York inventor has found a way of keeping everybody on a party telephone line, except the party called, from hearing a word of the conversation. But he needn't expect the company to utilize his invention. It would ruin its business.

For Success on the Stage.
"To succeed on the stage," says a woman who knows, "there are four requisites. First, the temper of an angel, second, the face of a Greek goddess, third, the figure of a Gaby Deslys, and, fourth, the skin of a rhinoceros."

The Specter of Pauperism.
Do you know that in the United States sixty-six out of every hundred people that die leave no estate whatever? Do you know that out of the remaining thirty-four only nine leave estates larger than $5,000 and that the average of the balance of twenty-five is a little less than $1,300? Do you know that at the age of sixty-five ninety-seven out of every hundred in America are partly or wholly dependent upon relatives, friends or the public for their daily bread, for their clothing and a roof under which to sleep? We all know that the one safeguard against pauperism by the countries of Europe has been thrift. France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland have been the leaders in thrift. Do you realize that according to government statistics 98 per cent of the American people are living from day to day on their wages and that a loss of employment would mean pauperism for all but 2 per cent of us?—S. W. Straus in Leslie's.

Curious Shadow Casting.

"Did you ever see a waterfall cast a shadow?" asked Stephen T. Mather of the group around the club table. Mr. Mather, who is assistant to Secretary Lane in charge of the new development work which the department of the interior is doing in the national parks, had just returned from a strenuous summer among the mountain tops.
"Well, Yosemite falls cast my shadow very distinctly one night last August. I was half a mile or more away, gazing, beauty bound, at the effect of the full moon upon these giant falls, which are, by the way, as high as sixteen Niagaras piled one on top of the other.
"The moon was behind me, of course. The double falls, shining like silver, lit brilliantly by reflected light the dense shadows of the trees which hid me from the moon. Turning, I saw my shadow outlined vividly upon the grass."—Our National Parks.

Ring Life Preservers.

"The worst trouble about a life preserver," said an old sailor, "is that few people know what to do with one when it's thrown to them. Many a man would drown in trying to get a life preserver over his head. The average person struggling about in the water would try to lift up the big life ring and put it over his head. That only causes the man to sink deeper and take more water into his lungs.
"The proper way to approach a life preserver in the water is to take hold of the side nearest you and press upon it with all your weight. That causes the other side to fly up in the air and down over your head, 'ringing' you as neatly as a man ringing a cane at a country fair. After that the drowning man can be rescued."

Fulton's Demologas.

On March 14, 1814, the congress of the United States appropriated the sum of $320,000 for the construction of a war vessel in the shape of a "floating battery," designed by Robert Fulton. This battery was intended to be a deadly affair, for it was planned to shoot scalding water and red-hot cannon balls at the enemy. This was the first steam war vessel built by the American government. She was christened the Demologas, but after the designer's death her name was changed to the Fulton in his honor. She was launched Oct. 29, 1814, but her engine was not put in until the following May. By that time the war of 1812 was over, and the terrible battleship never got a chance to squirt hot water at the British navy.—Argonaut.

Sherlock.

The great detective, laying aside professional cares for the evening, is attending a dance. Introduced to a beautiful woman, he asks her to dance with him, and she graciously consents.
"You have been married several years," he murmurs after a couple rounds of the floor.
"How could you guess that?" she asks. "I am not wearing my wedding ring. Do I look like a married woman?"
"Not at all," he replies gallantly. "But I knew you were married the moment we started to dance. You at once began doing the leading."—Judge.

Somewhat Different.

"This question whether a word should have its adverbial or its adjective form seems to me to have little to do with the sense. Now, what is the difference between talking loud and talking loudly?"
"No difference," replied the pedagogical friend. "But look here. For a large fee you give legal advice freely, but you don't give it free. I think that will retain you for awhile."

Sticking to His Post.

With but three minutes to catch his train the traveling salesman inquired of the street car conductor, "Can't you go faster than this?"
"Yes," the bell ringer replied, "but I have to stay with my car."—Harper's Magazine.

An interesting program will be rendered by the grades of the Genoa school on Friday evening of next week. A complete program of the evening will be published in the next issue of The Republican-Journal.

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Denmark of Chicago was held here on Wednesday afternoon. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bentley who were at one time residents of this city. She is survived by her husband and two children.

The people of Genoa are beginning to realize that the Commercial Hotel is really being run for the accommodation of the local business as well as the transient. Just try a meal during the week, or better still, take the family there for a Sunday dinner. Special prices for regular boarders.

The German Lutheran school opened again Monday morning after a vacation of two weeks. The children will now settle down to another six or seven weeks of work. The German school does not close for the summer vacation until after the middle of June.

H. E. O'Brien of the firm of Johnson & O'Brien of Chicago is here in the interest of the Genoa Mausoleum Co.

Mr. O'Brien expects to erect a mausoleum here in the near future. He said that the cemetery here was one of the very few cemeteries kept by the county that was kept up so well.

Mrs. Martin Anderson writes from St. Paul that her son, Robert, who has been seriously ill for some time, is somewhat better. During his sickness Robert has received many tokens of friendship from his old Genoa friends. He desires to thank those who so kindly remembered him with Easter cards.

The Ney Club gave a reception on Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Corson, at the home of Kenneth Furr. They were delightfully entertained with games and music and the guests of honor were presented with a set of silver knives and forks. Light refreshments were served.

Judge Irwin will hear the case of John Seymour versus the Woodstock and Sycamore Traction Co. on Monday, May 8, at the court house in Sycamore. Attorneys Cliffe & Cliffe and Hopkins will represent Mr. Seymour and Attorneys Brown, Rogers, and Zaines the Woodstock & Sycamore Traction Co.

The Flora DeVoss Company finished a week's engagement in Genoa on Saturday evening at the opera house. The business during the week was not the best, but on the last night the house was filled to capacity. Miss DeVoss is without doubt one of the best playing the country circuit today and really should have been greeted with a full house every evening of her appearance in Genoa. If you missed the Flora DeVoss productions you have passed up the best theatrical troupe that has appeared in this city for years. Miss DeVoss seldom shows in towns of less than 4000.

We would like to have everyone in Genoa who has an auto go over to DeKalb next Sunday and take some friends with them, especially those whom they think might like to see the mausoleum at Fairview Cemetery. The building will be open from ten a. m. until 4:30 p. m. for inspection by Genoa people. A mausoleum is something new to the smaller cities and those who can do so, should avail themselves of this opportunity to view the DeKalb structure. One will be built in Genoa soon and people should become familiar with all that it means. The roads to DeKalb are good all the way and it will make a fine trip. Inspect the mausoleum and you will know how to talk about the proposition.

Genoa Friends were royally entertained on Tuesday evening, May 2, at the auditorium by a company of young people, all home talent. The hostess to this evening of music and story were Mrs. Samuel Slater and Mrs. Frank Kepner. The hall was beautifully decorated in national colors and potted plants. The friends of the young people were pleasantly surprised at the capable manner in which they delivered their various parts. The program was of such a character as to please the most fastidious and the guests felt as if they were not only entertained but benefitted as well. Mrs. Frank Kepner through the means of the editorial columns would like to apologize for an over sight on her part, in not having the name of Clarence Altenberg (who took the part of the delegate so splendidly in the recital) mentioned in the program.

Human Sacrifices.

In battle the Aztecs strove to save life so that they could use their prisoners as human sacrifices to the gods. They had the art of ambush reduced to such a science that it was nothing unusual for them to bring home 25,000 prisoners after a campaign. Their battles were not fought for the sake of any principle, nor yet to gain territory. They fought in order to capture prisoners, and the hot headed young soldiers were given wooden swords, for fear they might in the heat of battle unwittingly slay a foe. A dead enemy was already dead, and hence of no value for sacrificial purposes. Were the Aztecs humans? Well, not so that you could notice. But their destruction of prisoners on the altars of their beautiful temples was done in the name of religion and hence not reprehensible.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Hard for a Man to Believe.

Mrs. Cutler of Vancouver proved by the registration of a pedometer that she had covered 400 miles in a month in walking about her kitchen and living rooms while performing her household duties.

Formosa's Umbrella Snake.

Venomous snakes take the place of wild beasts in Formosa, and their attacks are formidable, says a Japanese traveler, who has just returned from a trip in the southern island. There is a venomous snake on that island by the name of amagasahabi, so called from its umbrella-like head. This snake is generally found in watery places, often in a ditch flowing out of a kitchen. A maid working in a kitchen is not infrequently startled at the ugly appearance of the snake. The animal makes a peculiar noise by the nimble movement of its tongue. A slight touch of its fangs is fatal. A native of the island was bitten by the snake in the thumb. A doctor who treated the wound made a simple application. The man returned home, thinking the wound would soon be cured, but to his consternation his arm had swollen up. He soon lost sight and hearing. Next morning he was dead.—East and West News.

Animal and Plant Life in Brine.

Just west of Promontory Point station, Utah, is a pond cut off from the Great Salt lake by the railroad embankment. At times of high water in the lake this reservoir fills by percolation through the embankment, but during the summer this water is concentrated to a brine by evaporation. The deep pink color of the brine is a phenomenon that appears in salt ponds generally when a certain concentration is reached. In the salt ponds of San Francisco bay this color is due to a certain bacillus which lives in saturated brines and also in the heaps of salt as it is piled for drainage and shipment. Prohibitive to life as such an environment might be considered, strong natural brines are, in fact, inhabited by a number of minute organisms, animals as well as plants. The pink color disappears in winter or when fresh water is introduced into the pond.—United States Geological Survey.

Correct Definition.

The everlastingly busy man who never got anywhere and stayed went rushing by. "There goes Banger," said Old Man Smiles; "he's always at it to get to it and when he gets to it he ain't at it."—Judge.

Declaration of War.

If one country declares war on another country there is, of course, immediately a "state of war" between them, even though a shot has not been fired. The declaration is equivalent to war and the logical beginning of hostilities.

Hospitality in Greece.

Hospitality as understood in the west is not characteristic of the Greeks, who in their own country rarely invite friends to their tables. In her "Greece of the Hellenes" Miss Lucy Garnets relates how on one occasion she and a friend were invited into the suburbs of Greece by a Grecian lady who was giving a birthday tea to her young son and his playmates. "My share of the entertainment," says Miss Garnets, "consisted in watching the little lions feed, for neither a cup of tea nor a slice of the birthday cake came my way or the way of my companion, whose hospitality the hostess herself frequently enjoyed." This apparent niggardliness is, of course, entirely due to the custom of the country. The writer adds that the same hostess on coming to England entertained like the average Briton.—London Chronicle.

The First Bomb.

The bomb came into being during the troublous times in France toward the close of the eighteenth century. Its inventor was a French fanatic named Chevallier, who had conceived such an intense hatred of Napoleon that he determined to kill him.

Being employed at a government small arms factory, he had gained some knowledge of explosives, and with this knowledge he managed to construct a bomb out of a barrel, which he filled with a mixture of powder, bullets, broken glass and white arsenic.

Chevallier's idea was for the bomb to explode under Napoleon's carriage as it passed through the streets of Paris. A miscalculation, however, caused it to go off a few seconds too soon.

Had Chevallier succeeded in his object the whole history of Europe would of course have been changed.—Pearson's Weekly.

Getting Into a Scrape.

Many years ago the wild deer that roamed through the forests of England used to dig holes in the earth with their forefeet. They pawed it out sometimes to the depth of several inches, sometimes a foot or more. These holes were called "scrapes," and travelers at dusk or night or those who were careless about their footing often tumbled into them. They were laughed at for their heedlessness when they came home covered with mud, and as this frequently occurred after they had been imbibing a bit they were said to have "got into a scrape." Some Cambridge students took up this expression, and thus it came to be applied to people who had got into difficulties of various sorts.

The Best is None Too Good For You

At least it is on that basis that we lay in our stock of Groceries. Never in the history of this store have we gone over the market looking for leaders, that is, goods of an inferior quality that might be sold at so called "special prices." You will always find the quality here that stands the most rigid test of the pure food laws. We consider that our customers are entitled to the best and are intelligent enough to know that when the price is cut too deep the quality must be sacrificed.

At this time of the year especially it is a question with the housewife as to what to give her family at breakfast, dinner and supper. Let us help you make preparations for every meal. In staples we know that we can please you for you will positively get nothing but the very best.

But, right at this season of the year you may want fresh vegetables. That is where we come in with the goods. We are watching the green goods market carefully and you may be assured that all the delicacies of the season are here for you every morning. Call us up at any time and we will keep you posted on the vegetable and fruit market.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from any store that handles drugs which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

Nearly a million and a half men are now employed in the munition factories of Germany.

SPEAKS UP FOR CANADA

And No Wonder—Renting His Land He Made $8.50 Per Acre.

So many Americans now have personal knowledge of Canada that false reports concerning this country are being continually corrected by Americans themselves who know the facts, and who are too fair-minded to let a false statement go unchallenged. A case in point arises out of a statement supposed to be made by a resident of Alberta, and published recently in the Spokesman-Review, of Spokane, in which the condition of settlers in this country was painted in a very bad way indeed. The writer of this attack on Canada refused to let his name be known, so it can be taken for what it is worth, but Mr. S. L. Wallace, of N 4723 Crestline, Spokane, who lived for some years in Western Canada, came to the defense of the country in the following letter which was published in the Spokesman-Review of February 11, 1916:—

"To the Editor of the Spokesman-Review:—
"In Sunday's Spokesman-Review was a letter from a man in Alberta to the chamber of commerce, asking that something be done to keep Americans from going to Canada, and saying that that government was run by the railroads, banks and manufacturers; that once a man got there he never could get away. Had this man published that letter over his own signature there is no doubt but he could get out of Canada.

No country will do as much to help a man to get on his feet, if he tries to help himself, as Canada. I know of the government helping people to provision, feed, seed grain and fuel, and charging only cost of delivery to the nearest town and 6 per cent. What more could a man ask?
I lived five years in Southern Saskatchewan and earned a patent to 320 acres of as good land as I ever saw. I have raised over 50 bushels of oats on sod, 40 bushels of wheat, and 20 of flax to the acre. Until I lost my health I never was better satisfied anywhere. I had my land rented this last year for one-third. It brought me almost $8.50 per acre, or $1,143.91 for 125 acres.

This man says he loves the land his fathers died for. So do I, and I love the land that gave me my home.

FEARED SHE WOULD BE BURIED ALIVE

Strange Provision Made in Will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White, who died in Pittsburgh nearly a year ago, has been received by Public Administrator Bryson, in view of the distribution of the estate in Los Angeles county. The city of Los Angeles desires to purchase property belonging to the estate, at 3721 Downey avenue, now North Broadway, for school purposes.

Before the deal could be closed it was necessary to have the will, because a clause bequeaths the property to Mrs. Apollonia P. Melber for life. After Mrs. Melber's death the property is to go to Mrs. Katherine L. Hahn, a niece of Mrs. Melber, and daughter of Victor Hahn.

Must Be Kept Until Signs of Decomposition Appear.

Because of her fear of a premature burial Mrs. White provided unusual means to determine that the spark of life had left her body before it was cremated. In her will she declared: "Having been all my life subject to bondage through fear of premature burial I will my body be kept until evident signs of decomposition declare themselves—at least a week—that it be visited and carefully inspected three times daily, for which the person performing this office shall, upon making affidavit that it has been faithfully performed, receive the sum of $50. Just before cremation it shall be stabbed three times through the heart by a duly accredited physician, who shall receive therefor the sum of $20."

A trust provision prohibits distribution of the estate for ten years. Among the holdings are a Bakersfield ranch, lots in San Diego and lots at Sunset Beach and La Canada Park.

THIEF RETURNS BABY'S BANK

Robs House, Conscience Troubles Him and He Brings Back Child's Hoard.

Sierra Vista, Cal.—A thief with a conscience entered the home of Clark Rubido here the other day, and, after decamping with valuables amounting to $100, returned to the burglarized house and deposited a child's bank containing two dollars in pennies, which had been part of the loot, on the front porch.

The Rubido family visited friends in Los Angeles that day and about noon a neighbor, Mrs. Caroline Martin, saw a well-dressed young man carrying a suit case walk up to the front door of the Rubido home, fumble with the lock a moment and walk in.

Mrs. Martin thought the stranger was probably a friend of the Rubidos, and, when the young man reappeared some time after, still carrying the suit case, she told him that the Rubido family was passing the day in the city. The young man thanked her and hurried on.

Half an hour later Mrs. Martin saw the young man come back and deposit something on the front porch of the house.

When the Rubidos returned they found that the pleasant-faced young man had carried away all their silver, several articles of jewelry and $30. The baby's penny bank, which had been returned, was about the only movable valuable not taken.

MAN DIES THRICE IN DAY

Comes to Life in Hospital and Struggles With Shroud That Swathed Him.

Denver, Colo.—Death came but once to the ordinary man, but to Charles Gallagher I came three times before it decided to remain. Three times in one day in the County hospital nurses and physicians pronounced Charles Gallagher dead—only to learn in two of the instances that the evidences of death had been false. Twice Gallagher came to life to struggle with the shroud which swathed him, and it was not until rigor mortis stiffened the body following the third death that the authorities felt safe in turning the body over to the coroner. Gallagher, a farm hand, weighing nearly 300 pounds, fell from a hay wagon and broke his back.

Thousands Tell It

Why daily along with headache and kidney or bladder troubles? Thousands tell you how to find relief. Here's a case to guide you. And it's only one of thousands. Forty thousand American people are publicly praising Doan's Kidney Pills. Surely it is worth the while of any one who has a bad back, who feels tired, nervous and run-down, who endures distressing urinary disorders, to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial.

An Illinois Case

Mrs. Harvey Rowe, 1620 Moultrie Ave., Mattoon, Ill., says: "Overworked by my occupation on kidney complaint and my health was wrecked. I had dizzy spells and sharp pains darted through my back and head. I got weak and nervous and lost over twenty pounds in weight. My appetite was poor and I was in bad shape when I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me strong and well again and I have had little trouble with my kidneys since."

The Cause.
A Philadelphia woman has long purchased fish from a certain market dealer of that city. One day, when the prices seemed much too high, the housewife complained, and her complaint was met by the following rejoinder: "Yessum, fish is high—yessum! Ain't no doubt 'bout that! Fish is awful high! Yo' see, mum, fish is gettin' scarce on account of all these heah aquariums!"—Youth's Companion.

Sarcasm.

"Hadn't you better let me clip a little from the ends of your hair?" queried the tontorial artist.
"Why from the ends?" queried the victim in the chair. "Can't you clip a little from the middle?"

SLEUTHS NABBED AS BUNCO MEN

New York Inspector and Assistant Arrested While on Vacation.

BROUGHT BEFORE CHIEF

Produce Credentials and Chief, Pop-Eyed, Apologizes and Leads to Nearest Swinging Doors—Captors Take to Woods.

Jacksonville, Fla.—"There's too many confidence men about our fair city," quoth Chief of Police F. C. Roach to his detective force. "I don't care as long as they confine their infernal machinations to the Yankees who invest us, but some of our best families have been beguiled. They must be arrested."

Having delivered his ukase, he nodded to his detective force, which immediately went out and arrested Inspector Joseph A. Faurot and Sergeant William Haley of the New York detective bureau. Setting a cop to catch a cop cost Chief Roach unnumbered apologies and countless bottles of wine.

"There's some mistake," Faurot gasped when his collar was grasped in accepted movie style. "I am Inspector Faurot of the New York police. This gentleman—" Looked Real Desperate.

"Is Napoleon Bonaparte," the wily southern sleuth interrupted. "You all are confidence men. We've been trailing you. You're that fellow Wallingford. I've seen his picture in our Rogues' gallery. This guy is your compeon. It ain't a bit of use to argue—you can tell your troubles to the chief."

Neither of the New York men tried further, but suffered themselves to be led ignominiously to where Chief Roach sat in state.

"We spotted these fellers as soon as they stepped off the New York boat," their captors chorused proudly. "They've been hangin' around the exclusive hotels, looking for gullible southerners. Lock 'em up, chief. They're real desprit."

Roach surveyed the culprits. He frowned upon Faurot's heavy black mustache and his faultless attire. He snarled at Haley's expression of simple innocence.

"A bunco-steerer and his compeon," he pronounced. "Lock them up. Our homes must be protected."
Then the Chief bought.

Then the bunco steerer produced from his vest a gold police badge and laid it on the desk before the chief. His compeon fished out a similar but less ornate trinket, which he also displayed before Roach, who suddenly became pop-eyed.

The chief collared his captives and led them sadly toward the nearest pair of swinging doors.

"I have other credentials, chief," the Inspector explained suavely. "If they are not sufficient, wire New York."
Before Chief Roach had recovered sufficiently to be articulate both detectives had passed out into the night. Shortly thereafter they tripped over Mason-Dixon's line, heading in the general direction of Toronto.

Inspector Faurot recently obtained fifteen days' leave, without pay, on account of ill health. He started South immediately, taking with him Sergeant Haley, a finger print expert on his staff.

Mistook Girl's Leg for Umbrella.
New York.—Frederick Hess was arrested upon complaint of Miss Beatrice Dienebhaus, who declared the young man entered a street car in which she was seated, edged his way through the crowd of passengers and pulled her leg twice. "It was only once, your honor," Hess protested. "It looked like an umbrella with a silk covering and I reached down to pick it up." The magistrate found Hess guilty.

Pallbearer Dropped Dead.
Evansville, Ind.—While acting as pallbearer at a funeral the other day Peter Raben, aged fifty-five years dropped dead as he was helping to carry the coffin to the hearse.

Standardizing Gas Safety.
The work begun some months ago in connection with a national gas safety code has made good progress, and the United States bureau of standards is now receiving the co-operation of several engineering societies which have appointed representatives for the purpose. This gas safety code will relate to both the life and fire hazard and hence will cover the ground which, in the case of corresponding work in the electrical field, is covered by two codes—the underwriters' fire code and the national electrical safety code, which is being prepared by the bureau.

Elephant on His Hands.
An overly ambitious Hindu, who had acquired the proverbial elephant that "ate all night and ate all day," sought to rid himself of the voracious beast by unloading him on a fellow native. The prospective buyer was willing to do business on the basis of eight rupees less than the asking price; the would-be seller would knock off only 20 per cent. There remained a difference of seven rupees between their terms, and the pachyderm failed to change owners.

Can you tell how much the native was offered for his animal?—Exchange.

A New Remedy for Kidney, Bladder and all Uric Acid Troubles

Dear Readers:
I appeal to those of you who are bothered with kidney and bladder trouble, that you give up the use of harsh salts or alcoholic medicines and in their place take a short treatment of "Anuric." I have taken many of Dr. Pierce's medicines for the past twenty-five years with good results. I suffered with kidney trouble for some years. I recently heard of the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, namely, his "Anuric" Tablets. After using same I am completely cured of my kidney trouble. A doctor pronounced me a well preserved woman for my age, all due, I believe, to Dr. Pierce's aid. MRS. MELINDA E. MILLER.

If you suffer from backache, lumbago, rheumatism, get "Anuric" now.

Small Returns.
"I get a nickel every time I take a dose of medicine," said Tommy Twobble.

"Ain't you got a lot o' money?" asked little Sammy Dubwaite, a delicate child.
"Now! It's just my luck. I ain't hardly ever sick."

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

Druggist Quits Alcohol
E. A. Sayre, proprietor of the Economical Drug store, was the only druggist in Elgin who did not take out a permit for the sale of alcohol and liquor for medicinal purposes. Ten permits were issued by commissioners. "I am going to quit the sale of liquor," Mr. Sayre explained. "That includes alcohol. I have eliminated it entirely from my business, which is entirely divorced from John Barley-corn."

Bread May be Higher
Caraway seed, which are used extensively by bakers, have advanced 700 per cent since the war began. Sugar, lard and other products entering into the manufacture of bread also have advanced greatly. None of the bakers have raised their prices to the public but they are wondering how much longer they can stand the increased cost of production.

No Danger for George.
Married Friend—"My husband says stock speculation is very dangerous if you get on the wrong side of the market." The Fiancee—"But George has promised to be very careful not to get on the wrong side."

April 24, 1911—32 cents.

Sale of the present city hall in Elgin and erection of a new one just on the fringe of the business district is being discussed seriously by members of the city commission. Mayor Fehrman says that he would be in favor of selling the present property in short order, if a fair offer were made to the city, providing certain property under consideration, comprising an entire block could be purchased at a reasonable figure.

TIME TO OIL UP

In the spring there are dozens of uses, and urgent ones, for oils. It is time that the farm machinery is gone over and thoroughly oiled; a supply put in for the spring work. No matter whether you want oil for lubricators, ordinary use on farm machinery or for gasoline engines, we have the grade which will answer the purpose and give satisfaction. We have a fine grade of harness oil. It makes the harness look like new and preserves the leather.
