G.T.H.S. FOOTBALL TEAM WON 9-12

McHenry Aggregation Downed on Own Field Saturday

RUSSELL PULLED 75 YARD RUN

Scored Touchdown after Thrilling Dash Through Whole Field—Maderer Makes Other Points

Genoa won its first football game Saturday when the pigskin tossers of McHenry were taken in tow by the close margin of 12 to 9. The whole team played well, Russell and Maderer scoring touchdowns. The first on a 75 yard run after picking up the fumbled ball and the second on an intercepted pass.

The boys will go to Rockton Saturday if present plans mature, and hope to annex another win from that school.

Saturday's Game by Plays

Genoa won the toss and chose to receive. McHenry kicked off and Durham carried the ball to the 50 yard line. Genoa fumbled and McHenry recovered to Genoa's 10 yard line. McHenry scored a touchdown between right tackle and end and kicked the bar for an extra point. Genoa kicked to McHenry's 25 yard line and the quarter ended with the ball nearly in the middle. McHenry 7; Genoa 0.

Second Quarter. Both lines held better and the ball was carried by both teams for short gains around ends. Nelson punted to McHenry 20 yard line. McHenry used the air route and Maderer intercepted the pass for Genoa's first touchdown. C. Bartle failed to place kick due to Genoa's weak line. Half ended before the kickoff. McHenry 7; Genoa 0.

Third Quarter. C. Bartle kicked 45 yards and F. Bartle and Hill nailed the receiver in his thacks. Nelson shifted his line to plug the holes and threw McHenry for a 5 yard loss. Maderer and Hill completed passes for several yards but F. Bartle missed on a chance for touchdown on 4th down. McHenry successfully passed and on 4th down punted out. Genoa lost the ball on a second down fumble. McHenry fumbled on Genoa's 25 yd. line and Russel broke through for a 75 yard run across the goal line. Genoa's crowd consisting of Larry Kieran, himself, went wild. End of quarter. Genoa 12; McHenry 7.

Fourth Quarter. McHenry chose to receive and Bartle booted to their 20 yard line. McHenry carried the ball by a series of end runs to Genoa's 20 yard line. Genoa held for three downs and McHenry booted across the line for a touchdown but the ball was carried back to their 15 yardline. McHenry booted but Nelson carried the ball across to the 2 yard line and booted out. Genoa recovered a fumble and C. Bartle gave Nelson perfect interference by picking 3 men off. Genoa booted out and the game ended. Genoa 12; McHenry 9.

Coach Kruse has succeeded in drilling some real football knowledge into the locals and they are putting up a brand of ball that would do credit to a school much larger and where it has been played for a number of years.

25,000 SUIT STARTED

William Atwood Wants Damages for Smashing into Freight Train

A $25,000 damage suit was filed in the circuit court on last Tuesday by William Atwood, a minor of DeKalb, through his father, Henry Atwood, against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. Co. The suit is the result of an accident when an automobile driven by one Ferrell crashed into a freight train of the railroads as it was backing across the cement on the Sycamore-DeKalb road. In the machine at the time of the accident Atwood was seated together with two other friends. Atwood at the time was thrown beneath the train and it was only a miracle that he is alive today. His one arm is badly crippled and it is doubtful if it will ever be possible to make it as useful as before the mishap.

The crossing at which the accident occurred has been a very dangerous one and only recently State's Attorney Poust forced the road to install an automatic wig-wag signal which is now in operation.

The damage suit will be heard some time during the October term of the circuit court.

BURLINGTON PEOPLE INJURED

Mrs. Herman Volkering in Elgin Hospital after Accident

Pinned underneath their overturned automobile, Mrs. Herman Volkering of Burlington was severely cut and bruised about the legs and body and her husband was slightly cut and bruised, Sunday afternoon on the road between Elgin and Burlington, about one mile west of the latter city.

Their baby escaped injury, when it was tossed free of the car. Mrs. Volkering was holding the baby at the time of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Volkering were returning to Burlington when the accident happened. The car hit a rut and one of the wheels broke, overturning the auto.

The victims were taken to St. Joseph's hospital at Elgin. Mr. Volkering left the hospital Monday but his wife will remain there for a week or ten days, according to Dr. Roach of Burlington who attended them.

HUNTING LICENSE?

Yes, We Have None!—$25 and Costs Says Game Warden

If you are going hunting any time within the near future, better look well to your laurels and purchase a hunting license from the city clerk before starting out, or the game warden will get you.

Such was the fate of four fellows Sunday when they went out after game of any kind that chanced across their path, but little did they think the game warden would meet them.

The four fellows were brought to the police station in DeKalb, given a hearing and assessed the minimum $25 and costs, which amounts to about $32 each, rather expensive hunting.

The game warden stated there were several hunters from this vicinity who are not keeping the law in regard to the purchase of a license and before he gets through with them, they will have been able to purchase a license each year for several years.—DeKalb Chronicle.

DUMP FISH IN RIVER

Local Stream Now Houses 25,000 Yearlings

City clerks in this community should apply immediately for 1924 fishing licenses in order to satisfy the demand that will be made this spring. Last Wednesday afternoon 25,000 years and yearlings were put into the Kishwaukee creek in the vicinity of Ohio Grove. Fishing will be the major sport next year, according to members of the Isaak Walton League who made it possible for the fish to be placed in the Kishwaukee.

The fish sent here by the state from the hatcheries at Spring Grove and Lincoln Park, arrived about five-thirty, and were immediately placed in cans and hauled to the creek where they were set free.

FARMERS ENTERTAIN

The farmers in the vicinity of DeKalb entertained the clubs of that city at a banquet on Tuesday evening of this week in the Swedish Lutheran church of that city.

M. A. Traylor, president of the First Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, was the principal speaker of the evening and his talk was very optimistic in regard to the future of the farmers.

The DeKalb high school band furnished the music and this organization came in for much praise.

JAMES HUTCHISON HONORED

James Hutchison of this city was honored at the annual meeting of the grand lodge, A. F. & A. M. in Chicago last week when he was made a deputy grand master of the 23rd Dist. We congratulate Mr. Hutchison on his appointment and know that he will fill the office in a manner that will bring forth only praise and high commendation from all lodges with which he comes in contact.

NOTES FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Two DeKalb Men Given 60 Days on Booze Charges -- Were "Shelebratin"

TWO DIVORCE CASES ARE HEARD

Young DeKalb Boy Sent to Glenwood School for Boys by Judge Pond

Frank A. McCarthy of the law firm of McCarthy and McCarthy, with offices in Elgin, brought suit in the circuit against Elizabeth Hoover, Richard Hoover and Robert Hoover, for legal services rendered and expenses paid, covering a period of from August 16, 1915 to October 1920. The amount claimed is $1,500.

On Monday, October 15, 1923 Beatrice M. Smith of DeKalb filed suit for divorce against William J. Smith, also of DeKalb, in the circuit court. According to the bill of complaint the parties were married on July 31, 1920 and lived together until October 15, 1923.

The complainant states in her bill that on April 10, 1923 the defendant in anger violently pushed her into a chair and brandished a club over her head; further that on September 24, 1923 the defendant in anger violently slapped her face and that on other occasions he mistreated her. No children were born out of the marriage and according to the complainant her husband and herself are the owners of property of the value of about $600. The defendant is a laborer.

Judge Fulton on Monday on application of the wife entered an order restraining the defendant from incurring, charging or selling or otherwise disposing of his property and from interfering with the person or property of the complainant.

The circuit court was in session on Monday, October 15, 1923 with Judge William J. Fulton, presiding. A number of orders were entered after which the court adjourned for the term. The October term of court begins next Monday at which time the grand jury is scheduled to meet and with the number of cases awaiting trial the October term of court promises to be a very busy one.

The divorce case brought by Anna Y. Cone against Edward F. Cone of DeKalb was heard and a decree of divorce on grounds of cruelty was awarded the complainant.

Jesse Driscoll, James A. Dooley and F. H. Voden, commissioners heretofore appointed by the court to make partition of the property involved in the partition proceedings brought by Belle Marie Mowers of Esmond against Bessie Fern Mowers and others, reported to the court that partition of the land could not be made and appraised the value of the property consisting of a farm, at $16,000. A decree of sale was thereupon entered and the property will be sold at the front door of the court house by Master in Chancery Burt at some time in the near future. The property is described as the North Half of the Northeast quarter of Section 29, Township 41, North Range 3, East of the 3rd P. M.

Leonard Twombly, 22 years of age and Henry "Monk" Ramer, 21 years of age, both of DeKalb, who were arrested on Tuesday, October 9th, by Chief of Police Scott of DeKalb on charges of violating the Prohibition Act, were brought up before Judge Pond, in the county court on Monday by State's Attorney Poust and on their plea of guilty, were each sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail.

The two youths made a trip to Burlington where they secured liquor and transported it to DeKalb. They got as far as 4th street and on account of their intoxicated condition were helpless to proceed further. Twombly was helpless in the automobile and Ramer was reeling around drunk with a bottle in his pocket. Both boys had brushes with the police before this. The court in addition to the sentence delivered a stern lecture to them which they probably will not forget for some time even after their jail sentence expires.

Anton Buscaj, 12 years of age, the son of Anton Buscaj, Sr., of DeKalb an Austrian employed by the Steel Mills at DeKalb, was brought up before Judge Pond on Tuesday charged with being a delinquent on complaint of his father and step-mother and the Chief of Police Scott of DeKalb.

GENOA CUBS WIN 3 TO 0

Providence Giants Handed Shutout by Strandt in 7 Inning Game

Electric Park witnessed a twilight baseball game Sunday when the Genoa Cubs trimmed the Providence Giants. The score was 3 to 0. The colored team should have been at the park by two-thirty, but they lost their way, and did not arrive until five o'clock.

Strandt, pitching for Genoa, allowed but 3 hits and no runs during the seven innings. He also struck out 11 men.

BREAKS LEG AGAIN

Montford Bennett Fell Tuesday Breaking Leg that Was Healing from Injury

Montford Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Bennett, was the victim of another accident Tuesday afternoon when, riding to school with a party of his boy friends he slipped on the sidewalk approaching the building and sustained a broken leg, the fracture occurring in the same place as the last one from which he was convalescent at the time.

The injured lad suffered considerable pain and was taken to the Sycamore hospital on Wednesday morning where, it is said, that he will be confined at least six weeks.

COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION

Will be Held in Sycamore on Friday, October 14

With a possible attendance of 250 young people in addition to principals adults and teachers the third annual conference of the DeKalb County Sunday School association will be held in the Congregational church in Sycamore, Friday, October 19th. The first session will begin at 9:30, and the last session will close at 8:30 in the evening.

Those eligible to attend will be the young people of over 16 and under 25 years of age, pastors, superintendents, county and district officers. The attendance will be limited to 250 young people—125 boys and 125 girls. Each Sunday school in the county may send one boy and one girl, also one adult leader, however small the enrollment. Larger schools may send more, in accordance with the reported enrollment of young people in the school.

Each delegate and each other eligible person attending must register and pay a fee of $1.00. This fee will pay for the banquet and assist in meeting the expenses of the conference. Badges will be presented to all who register and the badge will be the ticket of admission to the sessions and the banquet. No tickets will be sold for the banquet only.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

The Mystic Workers will hold their installation of officers Tuesday evening, October 23, at I. O. O. F. hall. A picnic supper will be served, each member please bring sandwiches and one dish to pass. Each member may invite either their own family or one friend.

The boy got into the habit of staying out late at night and refused to mind his father and even went so far as to threaten him. He also would use foul language toward his father and step-mother. A number of complaints had also been made to the Chief about the boy. Mr. Robinson, principal of the Ellwood School appeared in court and testified that the boy had a fair record in his studies except as to his deportment which was poor. Judge Pond before whom the boy was brought in view of his record in his studies at school decided to give another chance and instead of committing him to St. Charles school for boys, where the boys of his class would ordinarily go, he committed him to Glenwood School for Boys.

FORMER RESIDENT BURIED

Phoebe Elvira Nichols Bracket Died in Aberdeen, S. Dakota, October 9

Phoebe Elvira Nichols was born in Massachusetts June 13, 1839. She came to Illinois with her parents when but a few weeks old growing to womanhood near Aurora, Illinois. She was married to George Goodale to whom eight children were born. Four of these, Melvin W., Chas. E., Geo. E. and Alice May died when but children, and rest in the Genoa cemetery where their mother now lies beside them.

The remaining children are Mrs. Lucy A. Sensor of Aberdeen, S. D., Mrs. George Martin of Salem, Oregon, Clark Goodale of Fertile, Minn., and Sidney Goodale of Clear Lake, Minn.

Out of a family of eleven children, Mrs. Bracket now has but two remaining brothers, Melvin Nichols of Boise, Idaho, and John S. Nichols, of Rockford, Illinois.

Late in life Mrs. Goodale was married to U. S. Carver of Byron, Illinois. Several years following his death she married again, this husband being Myron Brackett of Sugar Grove, Illinois. Following his death eight years ago, Mrs. Brackett went to live with her daughter, Mrs. L. A. Sensor, at Aberdeen, and remained there until her death October 11, 1923, at the age of 84 years, 3 months and 28 days. She was in good health so that she was able to be about and care for herself until two days before her passing, being taken seriously ill on October 9th.

Funeral services were held at Aberdeen, S. D., October 12th, and the body was accompanied to Genoa by Mrs. Sensor and her two daughters, Nina and Mabel Sensor, and her son, Sidney Goodale. Others present at the grave were her brother, John, her nephew, Jean Nichols, and wife of Chicago, Illinois; her niece, Mrs. Eva Davis, and her husband also of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Silas Brackett and son, Chas. Brackett, Mrs. Alice Seavy, Mr. and Mrs. Myers and son, all of Sugar Grove, these being children and grandchildren of Mrs. Brackett.

The body arrived at nine p. m. Sunday and was taken to the chapel of S. S. Slater and Son. Burial took place Monday afternoon, October 15, at two p. m., Rev. Robeson officiating at the grave.

SOME GOOD; SOME BAD

Roads in this Vicinity in Good Shape with but Few Exceptions

The roads in Genoa and vicinity, generally speaking, have undergone a real transformation this summer and we don't exaggerate when we say that they are among the best dirt roads in northern Illinois.

Of course there are a few instances where a good lot of hard work would not hurt the highway any and one of these is the stretch of Sycamore-Genoa road just south of Chamberlain's corner to the base line, and that piece is really rotten, or was at least the last time the writer went over it, which happened last Sunday. We do not know whose business it is to keep this end of the passage up, but we do know that it can't be fixed too soon to hurt anyone's feelings.

ARRESTED FOR SPEEDING

Joe Kayser, of Rockford, famed throughout the northern part of the state for having a very good orchestra, early this week paid a fine in Sycamore for exceeding the speed limit. Motorcycle Officer Fred Housewert arrested the Rockford orchestra leader early in the week for speeding, telling Kayser to appear on a later date.

Kayser in some manner forgot appointment, necessitating the sheriff calling him on the phone. A trip was made to Sycamore and the fine of $5 and costs paid. Ralph Nippert, of St. Charles, was also returned to Sycamore by Sheriff E. E. Crawford for failure to report on a speeding charge. He was also assessed the fine of $5 and costs. He appeared Tuesday to pay his fine.

H. S. GIRLS TENNIS CLUB

Some time ago the girls of the high school organized, under the direction of Miss Ely, a tennis club with an enrollment of nine members. A good deal of interest has been shown in the game and the members expect to have a team next spring that will show surprising results. The girls have had a great deal of practice and are capable of playing out of town teams. Several unsuccessful attempts have been made to schedule a game with Sycamore. The tennis season is practically closed now, on account of the weather, but will start again in the spring.

SUFFERS BROKEN ARM

Arthur Swanson, farmer living near the Ellwood farm, had the misfortune to fall forty feet from a haymow Monday and suffered a broken arm. His condition for a time was serious and he was rushed to the Sycamore hospital where the wounds were dressed, and relief given from pain. Mr. Swanson was able to return home Tuesday. Mrs. Swanson was formerly Edith Sodeburg of Genoa.

DON'T FORGET THE DANCE

If you want to have a real time and dance to the best music northern Illinois, attend the hop to be given in Slater's hall to row night (Friday). Dancing from 8 to 1 and music furnished by Belle's famous orchestra.

A good time is in store for you, brave the weather and roads, no matter how stormy and join the crowd that will be there.

THE METROPOLITAN GLEE CLUB

Will Give Entertainment At High School Friday Evening, October 26

$.50 FOR ADULTS; CHILDREN $.35

The Above Attraction Has Given More than 3,000 Programs—Under Auspices of G. T. H. S.

On Friday, October 26, the Metropolitan Glee Club will appear at the High School auditorium under High School auspices. The Metropolitan musicians offer a combination of classic, popular and humorous programs in an entertainment made up of vocal and instrumental selections, monologues and impersonations, featuring trombone solos, male quartet and Swiss bells. Their program has been given in every state of the union with marked success.

Of more than seven hundred Lyceum attractions listed in the United States, the Metropolitan Glee Club heads the list in the number of engagements filled, a very large number being return engagements. In the ten years since their organization they have given more than three thousand programs. Such a record is sufficient to indicate the pleasure in store for the people of Genoa on October 26th.

F. M. Gages, the director of the company, is supported by three artists of unusual ability, who furnish a well-rounded program of unique character that cannot fail to please. Their Woodstock appearance received the following:

With a repertoire of songs which are general favorites of music lovers, the Metropolitan Glee Club won the hearty applause of the audience last Sunday night.

All four members of the quartet are accomplished musicians and in addition to possessing beautiful voices, all play the bells and other musical instruments.

Tickets will be on sale this week at Baldwin's and Browne's; 50c for adults and 35c for children.

JUDGE FULLER PAYS VISIT

Representative of 12th Illinois Congressional District in Genoa Friday

Congressman Charles E. Fuller of Belvidere called at the Republican office Friday and made a little visit. He was on his way through town to visit some friends elsewhere in the county.

So far Judge Fuller has made no statement about his future but from the unanimous sentiment expressed throughout the district it seems probable that he will have no opposition in his next campaign, providing he chooses to run.

Judge Fuller stands for his constituents, first, last and all the time and the people in this vicinity will be sure to give him the same big vote that has always been his if he wants the office.

KIRKLAND MAN DIED TUESDAY

Drummond MacQueen, 51 years old prominent Kirkland citizen, and well known in Genoa, died at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Rockford hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. MacQueen had been ill two weeks. He was foreman of the Kirkland sheep feeding yards, owned and operated by his brother, John MacQueen.

Mr. MacQueen is survived by his widow, his brother, one daughter, Jean, his father James MacQueen and a sister, Mrs. Jane Edward, London, England.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock today at the home of Boyd D. [unclear] in [unclear].

MRS. HINCKLEY NERVOUS WRECK

Tells Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting. I could not do my work except a little at a time, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw your little book on to my porch, and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I went right out and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles, and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all of my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—Mrs. O. J. HINCKLEY, 316 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

CHAPTER XX

Lettie on the Firing Line. Lettie's plan was definite, but only a child would have formed it. Her suspicions were red-hot, but only a child of ten-second impulsiveness would have acted upon them. There was a great deal of inflammable material in her nature, and no one could tell what chance spark might set it off. The evidence that had recurred to her, under the stress of Mrs. Penfield's suffering, was slight, even unreliable, but her imagination had invested it with integrity.

From Mrs. Sanders' living-room window she had caught the merest glimpse of a man with a child in his arms, hurrying out of The Custard Cup. Looking from a lighted room into the deepening twilight, she had seen neither clearly and had not thought of recognizing the man or the child. But when she had found that Thad was missing, she had jumped to the congenial conclusion that she had seen Frank Bosley carrying Thad away. Why Frank Bosley? Chiefly because Lettie disliked him, distrusted him, and because in build he was not unlike the man she had seen. The fact that Frank Bosley could have no possible interest in kidnaping a Custard Cup child, did not occur to disturb her conviction. True to the impulsiveness which was the keynote of her nature, she had jumped to a conclusion.

It was several blocks to the Everidge street house, but Lettie covered them rapidly. There was no light in any window, but she rang the bell. "I'll begin decent," she thought to herself. She was sure that queer people came here, and somehow she didn't expect them to do anything so mild as to respond to a bell. Giving them the chance was her way of discharging her formal duty.

There was no answer. Lettie set her teeth and proceeded to business. "Thad's in there," she thought steadily, "and I'm going to have him." Quietly she circled the two-story house. It had a high basement. There was a basement window toward the vacant lot, but it was fastened. Immediately she reflected that if she got into the basement, she would probably want to get upstairs and might find herself locked away from the main floor. She knew that the key was not likely to be on the basement side. The windows on the first floor were all closed—except one on the other side from the vacant lot, probably the bathroom window. That was raised a few inches. It was very narrow, but so was Lettie. Mentally she pounced on that window.

She called upon her wide experience in prowling to help her. In the back yard she found an old box; in other back yards she found other boxes. She borrowed four of different sizes, and with every intention of returning them. No one knew better than Lettie how important a piece of personal property an old wooden box may be; and in spite of her acquisitive tendencies, she had a rigid respect for prior claims.

She placed the boxes on end, by way of making them reach. Then through acquired agility and with the help of nails that had once fastened a vine to the wall, she climbed within range of the ledge, pushed up the window softly, squeezed her thin body through, swung downward with her wiry hands grasping the sill, and touched her feet to the floor.

She was inside. With the exuberance of ignorance, she felt that her quest was nearly accomplished. She stretched out her hands till she discovered the door; then went through—into inky blackness. She groped along the wall, tried a door, found it locked; tried another, found it also locked; tried a third. The knob yielded. She turned it carefully and looked into a room in which a gas jet burned. A woman was sitting by a rich woman. She was counting money and putting the green bills into different piles. There was a crumpled paper on the table, a ball of red, a stick of red wax.

There was no child in the room. Lettie glanced around to make sure, then tried to withdraw quietly, but the doorknob slipped in her hand. It leaked sharply. The woman turned with a violent start, sprang up. "What are you doing here?" she demanded.

Lettie shivered at the sound of her voice. It was low but harsh, cold, as different as possible from Penzie's. The voice she had been accustomed to in those lean years before she came into The Custard Cup. With a jerk into the woman had covered her money with one of the papers. She turned on Lettie with eyes that glittered, threatened. Her face had a shut look. "I want to see Mr. Bosley," Lettie blundered.

The woman gazed at her coldly. "Ain't nobody here by that name."

"He comes here."

"He don't, neither."

"Yes, he does," insisted Lettie desperately. "I've seen him."

"You hadn't, neither," retorted the woman with vehemence. She came forward. "You get out—!" She broke off in the midst of her intensity and glanced back at the table, as if considering how much the unwelcome visitor had seen. "How'd you get in?"

"Through the window. I wouldn't have done it if you'd answered the bell."

"What did you come for?"

"My little brother. Please let me have him—quick."

The woman's brows drew together in a horrible scowl. "There ain't nobody here but me. I'm alone—and I been alone all the time, too. What do you mean, you little devil?" She made a dive at Lettie; then paused. It was evident that she could not make up her mind what to do with the intruder. Finally she gripped the child's shoulder, whirled her about, and forced her into a chair. "You sit there," she hissed. "Don't you move. You're a lunatic. We'll have you put in a 'sylum.'"

Lettie glared steadily back at her. The grip on her thin shoulder had convinced her that physical resistance was inadvisable, but she was serene in the knowledge that she was not a lunatic.

"I want my little brother," she repeated, with diplomatic calm. A tide of color surged into the woman's face. She looked as if she were strangling. "Ain't nobody here," she snapped.

A terrible fear clutched Lettie's heart. What if Thad really were not here? She had been so blindly certain of his presence that she had not faced the opposite possibility.

"Please—"

"Shut up."

The woman sat down across from Lettie. They glared savagely at each other. The shades were drawn down below the window-sills, so that not a ray of light could penetrate outside.

No one would dream that a little girl was a prisoner in this house, dark, deserted, for all that a passer-by could tell. The room was closed and fearfully silent. The gas sputtered up now and then with an angry sizzling. Lettie's frightened glance traveled around the bare room, seeking for some means of outwitting the woman before her. Nothing occurred to her.

Suddenly she heard a sound that was like a faint moan. It seemed to come from a distance. She heard it again. It might be in the basement. Again! She was sure it was below her somewhere.

"Oh!" Lettie started to her feet. "I hear him. It's Thad. Let me—"

The woman pushed her back into Thad, Lettie, the woman.

"Stop, there!" shouted a voice. It was a man's voice, from the yard. "Stop, or I'll shoot. Stop! I'll shoot!"

It was the climax of terror for Lettie. The command to stop was the signal to run. She snatched Thad into her arms with a strength that had never before been hers, and struck through the broken fence, into the vacant lot. The woman ran, too—in a flight of her own, although Lettie did not suspect it.

A shot rang out. Another! A third! Lettie bounded through the air, spurred on by the very things which should have stopped her. A hot tingling ran across her arm. . . . Many voices behind her! Thad slipped out of her grasp. She pulled him by one hand. . . . She must reach the ravine in the back of the lot. They could hide under the live-oak trees.

At last they got there. Lettie listened. No one was following—not even the woman. The first danger was over. There were houses near. She drew Thad close to her behind a tree. She must rest a minute. Her arm felt hot; it hurt. The sleeve was wet.

They started on again, but it was a hard journey home. Lettie wavered along the sidewalk; that wonderful strength had left her. She tried to carry Thad, but she could scarcely lift him, to say nothing of carrying him in her arms. He dragged along beside her, tired from his storm of sobbing, but growing nervously excited over his experience now that he had the assurance of safety.

Lettie brought him at last to The Custard Cup. The big door was closed, so she went around the house and opened the kitchen door, pushing Thad in ahead of her.

"I got him, Penzie," she mumbled. "I got him for you. L—!" Her eyelids fluttered; her body swayed dizzily. She threw up her arm—and plunged forward to the floor at Mrs. Penfield's feet.

FRITTEEN TALKS TO COOLIDGE

Tells President He Went to Russia Believing U. S. Should Recognize Reds, His Trip Through Country Changed His Mind.

Washington.—The breach in congress over the question of establishing trade relations with Russia as regarded here is widened by the announcement in New York by three members of congress of their conviction that such a treaty should be established, and the statement made here almost simultaneously by Representative Fred A. Britten (Rep., Ill.), that he was unalterably opposed to any negotiations with the present Russian government.

The members who gave their views in New York were Senator Ladd (Rep., N. D.), Senator King (Utah), and Representative Frear (Rep., Wis.), who returned Monday from Europe.

The Russian tour of the three was facilitated by the Soviet government, they said, and they covered about 3,000 miles.

Representative Britten, who returned from Europe recently, told President Coolidge that although he had gone to Russia with the conviction that the United States should recognize the Soviet government, his views had been changed by his visit and that he now opposes any official dealings between the two countries.

"I traveled unofficially in Russia," Representative Britten said, "selected my own guides, sought no favors, and really tried to see the good side of that tremendous political theory which is now holding a hundred and fifty million people in subjection."

"I have completely changed my opinion and am quite convinced that any recognition of Bolshevick Russia is only lending strength to a cause which sooner or later must fail."

ASTOUNDING FACTS DISCLOSED

90 Per Cent of Children of Gary, Ind., Examined Found to be Undernourished

The following article appeared in the Chicago Sunday Examiner:

Washington, Oct. 6, 1923.—Astounding percentages of undernourishment and physical defects were found in a group of 6,015 young children of Gary, Ind., studied by the United States Department of Labor through the Children's Bureau.

Less than 10 per cent were receiving adequate diets.

Only 18.9 per cent were getting a pint of milk a day and 57.2 per cent had no milk. Two-thirds were found to drink coffee habitually and 40 per cent more than once a day. Vegetables, fruits, cereals and eggs were conspicuously lacking.

Half of the children were examined physically; 64.7 per cent had decayed teeth; 14.9 per cent bone defects from deficient diet. Only 4.8 per cent had no defects. More than a third had more than five defects.

If this be true, and we can see no reason why it should not be, something is radically wrong with the system of diet of the American children; for we take it that the Gary incident is just as like as not to be found most anywhere in the cities above 10,000 population and to a lesser extent in the smaller communities.

There is a way to eliminate this. If the farmers' marketing companies and their farm bureaus spent some of the money they have for advertising the nutrition to be found in milk and other farm products and creating a demand for their produce instead of curtailing production because of falling prices and glutted market, everyone would be better off and their half starved children would become better citizens of the U. S., something which is not too rapidly taking place these days.

VALUATION OF RAILROADS

Huge Task of Ascertaining Railroad Value, Incomplete after 10 years

The tremendous task involved in ascertaining the valuation of the railroads is outlined in an article by C. J. Corliss, chief clerk in the valuation department of the Illinois Central System, in the October number of the Illinois Central Magazine.

American railroads represent approximately one-ninth of the total wealth of the country, and their 264,373 miles of line are more than one-third of the total railway mileage in the world. When the act providing for a valuation of railway property by the Interstate Commerce Commission was passed by Congress at the instance of Senator LaFollette in February, 1913, LaFollette declared that the valuation work could be completed in two years at a cost of not to exceed $2,400,000. Ten years have elapsed, and the government has spent about $25,000,000 and the railroads about $65,000,000 on the work—around $90,000,000 in all—and the task is not yet completed. It is thought that another five years will be required to finish the job. Up to May 15 this year tentative valuations had been served upon only 465 of approximately 1,500 properties coming under the act. These 465 roads have only about 31 per cent of the total mileage, and these valuations are tentative, not final.

Whatever may be the final outcome of the valuation work, it appears to have established one thing—that railway financing in this country is fundamentally sound. Values so far found generally exceed the outstanding capitalization.

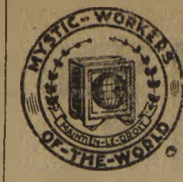

"Comparisons Are Odious."
We often hear this remark, which is just as pregnant with common sense today as it was when John Fortescue embodied it in his "Praise of English Laws" in the Fourteenth century.—Chicago American.

In its editorial column the Industrial Index notes that "road building has developed into a great—a really tremendous—industry in America. It is an industry with many ramifications—the mining or manufacturing of road-bridge building materials, the transportation of these bulky commodities; the distribution of these materials by agents and jobbers; the professional energy of the many engineers who have made a special study of this branch of construction; the activities of thousands upon thousands of road and bridge contractors; the armies of workmen who are out on the firing line of these innumerable projects. The investment in road building, when considered in its various aspects, is enormous. And it will grow heavier with each passing year."

It will, indeed, grow heavier. Road building is shortly to be the premier industry (not considering farming) of the United States. It will be as much greater than is automobile making, in the men and money required, as that industry, now the first in this country, is greater than railroading, which for so many years held premier place.

And as yet we have scarce begun to build roads! In all our years of national existence we have succeeded in building less than three hundred thousand miles of improved roads, although we have almost three million miles to improve! Of course, the need of roads was not felt until the automobile demonstrated the economy of a new transportation, but the automobile is already old; men and women now in college do not remember when there were no automobiles.

It is not enough that this country build roads; it must build roads which connect with each other, thus securing the maximum use of each mile, and it must build roads which last. As the several States have found that only a central State Highway Commission can lay out and construct a State highway system to which counties and towns can build their feeder roads, so must the nation come to realize that only a central National Highways Commission can lay out and build and forever maintain a national system of roads, to which States can build, as a part of their own systems, those roads which will make the national system serve all the people.

Ten years ago any sort of Federal participation in road building was looked upon as a chimerical idea. Since 1916 we have spent hundreds of millions of dollars of Federal money for Federal aid roads. In another ten or twenty years we will spend hundreds of millions, but a billion or more, for national highways system which will, indeed, lift America from the mud.

The Women's Auxiliary will meet at the Legion Rooms Saturday, October 20, at 2:30 p. m. Every one is urged to be present as there is important business to be discussed.

Sheriff Crawford of Sycamore was calling on Genoa friends last Friday. He states that he now has about 66 prisoners in the county jail and that there is always room for one more.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wylde entertained a party of friends at cards Monday. After several hours at "500" a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

Yes, we notice that the state sold another $15,000,000 worth of bonds and the soldier's bonus will slowly but surely be paid up by the next election.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Maderer, Miss Emma Maderer, Mrs. Sarah Shefner and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wallace motored to Freeport Sunday and were guests at the home of Miss Kathryn Maurer.

Genoa's Radio Fans are on the job now days and are catching every report that flies through the air. There are, conservatively speaking, about thirty-five sets in town.

Floyd Mansfield, who scalded his foot while melting metal at the Republican office about a week ago is confined to his home with an infection which is causing quite a bit of pain.

Will Allen of Chicago visited at the home of the H. S. Burroughs home Sunday. Mrs. L. F. Scott who had been spending the past week at the Allen home in Chicago returned to her home with him.

There will be a dance in Slater's hall on Friday night of this week when the well known Beljeans' orchestra plays its melodious syncopations and waltzes. It will be one of the best dances of the season so don't miss it. Everybody invited.

We understand that Mgr. Hartman of the Hampshire ball team has accepted Schattuck's challenge to play a game some time in the near future. The game will probably be played on the local diamond.

The Genoa Transfer & Storage Co. sent a truckload of furniture to Henry, Illinois, Monday and the boys who piloted the old "bus" do sure say there were some hills. In one space the incline was so steep that the rear end lifted the front trucks off the ground and this little hill was only about eighty rods long.

A card received by the Republican office from J. A. Patterson and wife tells of their safe arrival in St. Augustine, Florida. Joe says the city is beautiful and the climate wonderful, but the streets are worse than our alleys. They expect to leave for Daytona, Florida, next week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Perkins spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Perkins.

The H. B. Club held an old time dress party at the home of Ruth Patterson, Tuesday evening, October 16. Refreshments were served at 8 p. m. The evening was pleasantly spent playing cards.

ZUPPKE'S GRID TEAM

Whole State Watches Illinois' Warriors—To Open New Stadium Nov. 3

The whole state of Illinois is keeping an eagle eye on the performances of the Illinois football team these days and reports from Iowa City, where Zuppke's men open their Big Ten season next Saturday, October 20, will be eagerly awaited.

More and more the people of the state, regardless of whether they went to college or not, take a proprietary interest in the state university team. They regard it as "our team" and rightfully, for Illinois is "our university." The victory over Nebraska is a thrill of pride all over the state.

The opening of the new Stadium on November 3 will intensify this feeling. The great memorial, the joint gift of alumni and students (not a cent of tax money is in it) gives the general public an opportunity to see football. And the public is taking advantage of it.

There are still plenty of seats for the Chicago-Illinois game, the first in the stadium, but nearly 40,000 tickets have been sold. This leaves 15,000. But these tickets are going rapidly and it is urged that prospective visitors on November 3 order their seats soon if they do not want to risk disappointment.

The Wisconsin-Illinois battle on November 10, a week later, is also attracting interest. This is Dads' day and fathers of 3,000 students will come. The Wisconsin seats are selling well but not, of course at the rate that the Chicago reservations are going.

One of the new stadium posters is on display in the local post office.

A RAILROAD RECORD

Advertising Pays, says Officer of I. C. Railroad

What advertising, morale and public service will do for a railroad corporation is illustrated in a recent circular from the office of the president of the Illinois Central. Passenger traffic on Class "T" railroads in 1922 was less than in 1921 by six per cent, and freight traffic increased by only nine and three-fourths per cent. Yet the Illinois Central in 1922 showed an increase in passengers of two-tenths of one per cent, and in freight traffic of twenty-one and four-fifths per cent. Only the Pennsylvania and New York Central systems, both very much greater in mileage, exceeded the Illinois Central in freight traffic. During the first seven months of this year, the Illinois Central has increased its passenger traffic by twelve and two-thirds per cent and its freight traffic by thirty-two per cent over the corresponding period in 1922.

Of course, this showing is not the product of chance. The Illinois Central has gone and got it by all officials and employes pulling together, by giving the public the service it wants, by a liberal and intelligent use of printers' ink. No American railroad does such effective advertising.

DIXON'S OLD HOTEL

One of the historic landmarks of Illinois is the old Nachusa Tavern at Dixon described in an article in the Illinois Central Magazine for October. This ancient hostelry was erected in 1838 and is still used as a hotel. It has housed many persons who were noted figures in their day, including Abraham Lincoln, General Grant, Stephen A. Douglas, Horace Greeley, Bayard Taylor, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Adeline Patti and the Marquis of Queensbury. The hotel lobby is a museum of historical curios. Nachusa Tavern was named in honor of John Dixon, founder of the town, who was called "Nachusa" by the Indians who were numerous in that locality in the early days. The name is said to signify "White Hair." Dixon in his later life possessed thick gray hair.

RED CROSS ON JOB

After Five Years this Organization still Cares for 27,000 Veterans

The fifth anniversary of the Armistice, November eleventh, finds almost as many men in government hospitals under treatment as would make up a whole Army Division. According to Brigadier General, Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Veteran's Bureau, this presents a task which would be almost impossible of solution except for the cooperation of the American Red Cross.

More than 2,600 Red Cross chapters throughout the United States of which 800 are in the Central Division are at present time engaged in service to the disabled veterans of the World War. The Red Cross annual report states that $5,866,255 was spent last year in serving 200,000 veterans and their families. More than 100,000 disabled men in 130 government hospitals were given definite and constructive service by Red Cross workers.

Practically every one in this country is familiar with the kind of service which is being given these men because every county in the United States has done extensive work along these lines. The present is a particularly critical time in the lives of these disabled men who five years after armistice day are still suffering the effects of their service. It is the understanding and patience of the Red Cross which has aided thousands of these boys over this critical time.

The figures quoted above prove conclusively that there is still an important work to be done by chapters in caring for the ex-service men. There is small wonder that these men are banded together as one in the support of the "Greatest Mother" who has often helped them out of an emergency. On Armistice and continuing through until Thanksgiving the Red Cross will give American citizens an opportunity to renew their memberships in this organization which made a record for itself in its care of the ex-service men. It you are interested, enroll at the nearest chapter headquarters.

Was Late With Her Gossip.

Mrs. Doherty was the gossip of the suburb of Wimblesyead, and whenever any of her neighbors met her they always prepared to receive a nice little bit of scandal about some of their friends.

Mrs. Gadabout loved gossip nearly as much as did Mrs. Doherty, and so she was extremely pleased when she saw the latter lady coming along in her direction one morning when she was out shopping.

"Did you tell Mrs. Newife that you saw her husband in town with a strange woman?" Mrs. Gadabout asked when they had exchanged greetings.

"Yes," was the reply, "and I wish I hadn't now. She just smiled at me in her wise way and said: 'Yes, I knew all about that. My husband saw you and knew you'd come straight back to tell me, so he telephoned the news to me himself.'"

PICKLIN' TIME
A most tasty pickle which is not very common is prepared with green cucumbers. Fill a jar with the small cucumbers, well washed and soaked in ice water to have them crisp; add a slice or two of onion and four stalks of celery to each can; now fill the jar with boiling hot vinegar, using a half-cupful of sugar to each quart jar. Seal and set away to season.

Chili Sauce.—Take fifty medium-sized ripe tomatoes, half as many onions, four red peppers, seeds and fiber removed; one small bunch of celery, one quart of vinegar, one tablespoonful each of whole allspice, whole cloves, with the heads removed, whole cinnamon, three cupfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of salt and one grated nutmeg. Scald and peel and chop the tomatoes and put them to drain in a colander. Chop all the vegetables, tie the spices in a small cheesecloth bag and cook all together for two and one-half hours. Fill in bottles while hot and seal airtight.

Uncooked Tomato Relish.—Take a peck of ripe tomatoes, peel and chop and drain in a colander. When drained add two cupfuls each of chopped celery and onions, four red peppers, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of mustard seed, one-half cupful of salt, one teaspoonful of black pepper, one teaspoonful of paprika. Mix well and fill jars to overflowing. Seal and keep in a cool place. Ready to be used in six weeks.

Green Tomato Mince-meat.—There are any number of people who are very fond of this kind of mince-meat. Chop a peck of green tomatoes, add a few apples, five pounds of sugar, two pounds of raisins and currants, one and one-half pounds of suet, one cupful of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls each of salt, allspice and cinnamon, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of grated nutmeg. Mix the salt with the tomatoes and let stand overnight. In the morning drain off the juice and mix with the other ingredients; boil for a half-hour and seal while hot. This makes seven quarts.

It's the set of the sails and not the gales
That bid them where to go.

As we journey along through life,
It's the set of the soul that decides the goal,
And not the storms or the strife.

SEASONABLE FOODS

As the wild fowl and other game are to be had at this season it is well to consider a few ways of preparing and serving it.
Wild duck, rice hens and birds that eat both grains and fish are often rather gamey in flavor.

To remove some of the strong flavor, parboil them in water to which has been added a sliced carrot, an onion or two sliced, and a half bunch of celery. When tender remove and fry brown in deep fat, using butter and lard; season well and serve with sliced oranges and French dressing for a salad, or with finely shredded cabbage dressed with sugar, vinegar and rich cream. Drop the cabbage after shredding in cold water to become crisp, then drain, add the seasoning of salt, sugar and vinegar and enough cream to make a good dressing.

A young fowl after parboiling may be roasted until brown in a hot oven. Brush with butter and roast with an onion or a piece of celery in the cavity of each, which is removed before serving.
Apple, Onion Salad.—Take a slice or two of Spanish onion, chop fine and add to half a dozen finely diced apples and a cupful of minced dates. Season with salt and dress with any good boiled dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves or garnish with a bit of parsley.

Los Angeles Dressing.—Beat four egg yolks, add one-fourth of a cupful of olive oil, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one teaspoonful each of mustard and salt, a dash of cayenne. Cook in a double boiler, stirring well until the mixture thickens. Chill and add a cupful of heavy cream beaten stiff and one and one-half tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish.
Peach Dumping.—Roll out a rich pastry and cut into squares large enough to hold a peeled peach. Wrap and pinch the edges, place in a baking dish and bake until the crust is brown. Serve with a hot sauce of peaches crushed and cooked in sugar until a thick sauce is made. Pour over the hot sauce or serve with cream and sugar.

Essential to Profitable Farming

The Utility Express Truck $550 Chassis Only f. o. b. Flint, Mich.
Fits any Standard Truck Body

No business can succeed unless its product is profitably sold. Most farms have a fine production department but no sales department. They grow crops and stock bought by buyers who set the price.
One of the chief reasons for this unprofitable situation is the average farmer's poor facilities for moving his crops or stock to the place where he can sell or ship to the best advantage. Because of the time and expense of horse delivery millions of dollars worth of produce spoils annually on American farms. The saving of this waste would, in many cases, change a losing farm to a money-maker.
This low-priced, high-grade, reliable truck was designed as a money-saver and money-maker for farmers and business houses needing fast low-cost haulage of heavy or bulky goods. It fits any standard type of ton truck body. Ask any Chevrolet dealer for price of the style of body you require.

TANGLED UP BY PHONE CALL
Colonel Gives Remarkable Denouement to His Story That Was Interrupted by the Chief.

The colonel had only two types of stories, one concerning his amorous adventures, the other his adventures while tiger shooting. It was night in the mess and the colonel, as was his wont, began to tell an exciting story of an encounter with a wounded tigress which sprang at him before he could reload and bore him to the ground. At the critical moment an orderly entered to report that the G. O. C. wished to speak to the colonel on the telephone, and the colonel was compelled to break off abruptly.
He was absent for ten minutes and on his return had forgotten which of his favorite stories he had been telling.
"What happened, colonel?" asked one of the guests. "You were telling us of your dangerous situation."
"Oh, I kissed her," responded the colonel airily. "She simply couldn't resist me and we dined together that evening."—London Sporting and Dramatic News.

SEDATE OLD WOMAN SHOCKED
Article Hung on Clothesline Brings Many Laughs From Persons Passing Yard.

She is a nice, dignified old lady, living in Suburbia, with an unquestioned reputation for righteousness, and is renowned for her stand on prohibition and her antipathy for anything saving the service of a maid from "the old country."
The maid, a fine, strapping girl, was anxious to give satisfaction, and when instructed to put the attic in order she more than did the job well, for not only did she tidy it, but old rugs, blankets and the like that she came across she put out on the clothesline to air. The line was in full view of passers-by.
It was with an alarmed suddenness that the dignified old lady noticed that those going by her house after gazing surprisedly at her backyard should burst out laughing. Finally she ventured out to see. On the clothesline was hanging among other things a roulette table cloth, the property of a sporty brother of hers, long since gathered to his fathers.—New York Sun and Globe.

Why the Doctor asks: "Do you drink coffee?"

IF you are troubled with headaches, insomnia, indigestion, or sluggishness of the liver or bowels, probably one of the first questions your doctor asks is, "Do you drink coffee?"
He knows, better than anyone else, that the drug, caffeine, present in coffee, tends to irritate the nervous system and is a frequent cause of disturbance to health.
If coffee causes trouble, and you value health, stop coffee and drink Postum.
Postum is a pure cereal beverage—absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug. It has a delicious flavor, that many people refer to coffee.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

EDUCATION WEEK IN SCHOOLS
American Legion Will Have Generous Aid in Conducting Program Beginning November 18.

The observance of American Education week, a movement sponsored last year by the American Legion, which received whole-hearted co-operation from school, church and civic authorities, has again been designated, and will begin Sunday, November 18. At the time set, Legion posts throughout the country will unite in an effort from which practically every school child in the United States may profit.

The slogan for the 1923 observance is, "Visit the Schools Today," and is aimed to enlist more interest in the institutions of learning on the part of the parents. Garland W. Powell, director of the National Americanism commission of the American Legion, has outlined a definite program for the movement, which is receiving endorsement of school authorities in every section of the country.

Each day of the week has been set aside for some particular consideration, according to the program offered by Mr. Powell. Beginning with Sunday, when pastors of all denominations will deliver sermons on the relationship of the church and the school, all phases and influences of school life will be touched. Monday, according to the program, is to be known as American Constitution day, when it is hoped that a concise idea of citizenship may be obtained by consideration of the instrument which made it possible. The observance of this day is especially calculated to reach parents of the students. Patriotic customs and methods will form the basis of the next day's observance. This is to include flag etiquette and similar practices of a patriotic nature which the Legion has played an important part in formulating. The fourth day is to be of particular significance to schools and to the teachers. It is to be known as "School and Teacher day," and topics of training of instructors, adequate pay for teachers and bettered facilities for schools. "End-illiteracy day" is the title suggested for Thursday. Formulation of plans to bring about study of reading and writing for both children and adults will be the aim for this day. One of the most vital features of the entire school program will be considered on Friday, when community development and its relationship to schools of the nation will be topics. On Saturday efforts will be given over to outlining a program for education of American youth along physical lines. Adequate playground facilities and general physical education will be urged.

Through efforts of the Legion and school authorities, who co-operated in the movement last year, many thousands visited the schools daily. The response to the observance was general, and the more ambitious program of 1923 is expected to bring about even a wider recognition of the possibilities of the Legion's program.
Support of the National Education association, state school authorities, and other educational leaders promise to make the Legion's education week of nation-wide import and benefit.

POST WILL CONDUCT SCHOOL
West Palm Beach (Fla.) Organization Is Financing Kindergarten; Extend Program in 1924.

The American Legion is performing a distinct public service in West Palm Beach, Fla., where the local post is financing and standing sponsor for a kindergarten. Seventy-five children will attend the Legion's school during the winter months.
The kindergarten is under supervision of the city school authorities, but could not have been opened except for the participation of some outside agency to furnish necessary funds. Realizing the necessity for the early training of the little folk, the Legion has taken steps to supply the need, and has employed two teachers.
It is anticipated that a waiting list will be maintained in order to care for the demands of parents. If the term is successful, the Legion may extend its program in 1924.

MOTHER! GIVE SICK CHILD "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"
Harmless Laxative for a Bilious, Constipated Baby or Child.

Constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels acting without gripping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits! Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.—Advertisement.

It Pleased the Girl.
Love—Every time I kiss her I'm a better man.
Slick—Oh, you little angel, you.

Easy Way to Make Home Improvements.
Almost every man likes to do little jobs of building, particularly when by doing them he can make permanent, labor-saving improvements around his home.
If you have been wishing for a sidewalk that will keep the house clean and the feet dry—non-slip steps and porch floors, ornamental gateposts—any one of dozens of improvements, you will be interested to know that you can now obtain complete directions free of cost.
The best concrete construction experience has been drawn upon to provide these directions. You will find everything you need to know about small jobs—how much cement to use, how to mix the concrete, what tools to use, and all the rest.
A request to the Portland Cement Association, 111 West Washington Street, Chicago, will bring this free booklet, "Concrete Around the Home," by return mail.—Advertisement.

So Have We All.
"I see that a nine-year-old girl is a successful writer of popular songs."
"I think I have heard a good many written by her."
Cuticura Soothes Itching Scalp.
On retiring gently rub spots of dandruff and itching with Cuticura Ointment. Next morning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Make them your everyday toilet preparations and have a clear skin and soft, white hands.—Advertisement.

Apportioning the Time.
"Do you believe in an eight-hour day?"
"No," declared Cactus Joe. "Eight hours' work don't leave a man only sixteen hours to play poker."

Poetic Interpretation.
"I wonder why some people are always interpreting in two ways: It interprets by expressing with magical felicity the physiognomy and movement of the outer world, and it interprets by expressing, with inspired conviction, the ideas and laws of the inward world of man's moral and spiritual nature. In other words, poetry is interpretive both by having natural magic in it, and by having moral profundity."—Matthew Arnold.

Misery.
"Misery loves company."
"What's in your mind now?"
"I just saw two dub golfers telling their woes to each other."

"We are where the salt water of the Pacific Ocean backs into Puget Sound, horrible taste but clear and pretty to look at. The scenery is most beautiful. The grand pine trees of the original forest; very few of other kinds. A mountain covered with pines is a very beautiful sight. 600 of the 2240 miles our train was pulled by an electric engine weighing 233 tons, and upgrade to the summit was pushed by another. It took 3 days and 3 nights with only a few 10 or 15 minute stops. Winter is setting in here which means fog and rain, have not had sunshine for a week. Anyone out there, who lacks appetite and comes here is liable to want to eat everything in sight."
