SWAMP LANDS IN ILLINOIS

Legislature has Made an Appropriation to Survey and Reclaim 4,000 Acres

The annual picnic of the pioneers of Fox river valley will take place at Lord's park, Elgin, on Saturday, June 22

A Kansas man declares he saw an angel fly over the state. And it evidently was a wise angel, too, for it did not stop in Kansas.

Henry Tittle, around eighty years of age, died at the county farm the other day. He went there from Kingston six years ago.

Judge W. L. Pond has appointed George McDonald of Sandwich and James Finnegan of Sycamore as members of the board of review. The third member will be the chairman of the board of Supervisors.

Miss Ella Daniels of Crystal Lake; near Elgin has found her father, Josiah Daniels in Norfolk, Neb., from whom she had been separated for forty-two years. They had lost all trace of each other during that time.

Mayor Price of Elgin has issued orders forbidding the sale of dynamite canes. Other cities and villages would do well to follow Elgin's example. The deadly canes should have no place in a stock of fireworks.

The state of Maine holds the records for the number of home owners, having thirty-five per cent more owners, than renters. You will remember that the Pine Tree state has had a prohibition law in operation for over fifty years, which is a significant fact in this connection.

While his mother was out of the room, about 8:30 o'clock one morning last week, says the Elgin News, Clarkson Eaton, the ten months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Eaton, 373 Jay street, slipped through the opening of his high chair, and when found had almost strangled to death. Before medical assistance could arrive the little boy was dead.

A Kansas editor, who contracts the habit of going to church, has this to say: "Ladies should take off their hats in church. No preacher can inspire a man who is looking into a lop-sided aggregation of dead birds, stuffed weasels, chamelion skins, ribbons, beads, sticks straws, corn tassels and thistle down. It makes a sinner feel lost in a wilderness."

It is said that the new two-cent passenger rate will involve the state in a loss of $50,000 a year from reduced taxes of the Illinois Central railroad and an additional expense of $25,000 in transporting the militia to the annual state encampment at Springfield, as the railroads have decided that they would not give the state the one-cent rate after the new rate law goes into effect.

There are 4,000 square miles of swamp land in the state of Illinois. The last legislature made an appropriation of $30,000 for the survey and reclamation of swamp lands along the various rivers in Illinois. We are just waking to the realization of the fact that these lands are the most fertile of any in the state, and when ordinary farm land is selling as high as $200 an acre it behooves us to look after the swamps, see that they are properly drained and devoted to agriculture rather than raising bull frogs.

ASHER TAYLOR KILLED

Boiler Explosion Near Selby, S. D., Results Fatally

Asher Taylor, son of Mrs. Mary Thomas of this place, was instantly killed by the explosion of a boiler near Selby, S. D. last Friday evening.

The details of the accident are not known at this time, but it is certified that the boiler of a traction engine used in pulling a plow exploded.

Asher left Genoa several weeks ago for the North-west and secured employment with a gang working on the new extension of the C. M. & St. Paul road which is pushing a line to the coast. The steam plow was probably used in making cuts thru the elevations.

First news of the accident was received by Mrs. Thomas Saturday evening, a telegram being received from a brother of the Nelson boys of this place with whom Asher was working.

The deceased was born in Genoa on the 14th of August, 1884, and during his entire life until the past several weeks, had made his home either in Genoa or Sycamore. He was a young man generally liked by his acquaintances, having no vicious habits, and being always neat and courteous. The grief stricken mother has the sympathy of all in her sorrow.

The body was shipped from Selby Monday afternoon, arriving in Genoa Wednesday morning.

CIGARETS BEFORE DEATH

Boys Blamed for Death of Girls at Belvidere

Two coroner's juries, holding inquests on the bodies of Minnie Haag and Adelpia Koerting, who were drowned at Belvidere Sunday before last, returned identical verdicts, finding the two boys who were in company with the girls guilty of gross carelessness and holding to the grand jury the elder of the boys, Ray Trambie, of Rockford. Claude Wheeler, of Rockford, was released on his promise to appear whenever wanted.

The evidence revealed the fact that the party had been warned to keep away from the dam and Trambie and one of the girls replied insultingly. It was brought out that Trambie, who is 20 years old, was rolling cigars for the Koerting girl, who was only 13 years old, and she was smoking them as the boat was swept over the dam.

Trambie manifested stolid indifference over the fate of the girls and because of his conduct was threatened with a cow hiding by County Clerk Bowley, who was foreman of the jury.

The testimony disclosed an amazing state of morals among boys and girls of Belvidere, Elgin and Rockford, who meet at the Interurban station. The jury recommended that a stringent curfew law be passed.

Booze Again

Beloit Free Press: While his long suffering and much abused wife was ushering a baby daughter into the world, Eling Ellingson sat on the front stoop of his home on Second street one night last week in a drunken stupor. He not only refused to look to the comfort and relief of his helpmate but by his presence and long established record for brutality kept the neighbors away. The police are now trying to determine under what charge he can be prosecuted.

THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

High Class Vaudeville on the Street both Afternoon and Evening---Free

$400.00 TO BE EXPENDED FOR ATTRACTIONS

Two Ball Games---Merry-go-round---Parade of Industrial Floats and Fantastics, with Valuable Prizes Speaking, Dancing and Music

With the exception of arranging details of program the Genoa Fourth of July celebration committee has everything well in hand. Considering everything it will be the biggest and best effort ever made by the citizens of Genoa. There will not be a dull moment from sunrise 'till late at night.

The committee on amusements was in Chicago last Friday and engaged three of the best vaudeville acts in the business. One troupe consists of three platform acrobats who are peers in their line of work, performing as they do some seemingly impossible feats of skill and daring.

The two performers on the triple horizontal bars have a national reputation for skillful and highly entertaining work. They appear in comedy, as the "Rube and the Dude," doing some wonderful stunts on the bars.

Perhaps the most interesting feature will be the slack wire act. This performer does unheard of tricks on the slack wire, one of which is to dress completely while on the wire. There are many who can disrobe on a wire, but this is the only one who actually reverses the order and puts on his clothing while on the treacherous thread of wire.

All these acts will take place in the afternoon and evening in the most conspicuous place on Main street. A platform will be erected and built high enough for all to see.

The vaudeville acts will be interspersed with music by the Genoa band. The band will reserve its best overtures for the evening entertainment when a high class concert will be given in connection with the acrobatic stunts.

From present indications there will be no end of other amusements during the day. Several merry-go-round owners have already been in communication with the privilege committee. There is plenty of room for cane and doll racks, shooting gallery, etc. But any person who attempts to start a gambling game will find room only in the village bastille. No "skun" games will be tolerated inside the corporation.

Merchants are taking a lively interest in the industrial parade and there will no doubt be many beautiful floats. The young fellows are also becoming interested in the fantastic part of the parade.

Those who intend to enter industrial floats in the parade are requested to notify the chairman of the committee, Geo. Evans, sometime this week. If grocery-men do no more than put in their delivery wagon, well cleaned up, it will make a good showing.

WONDERFUL GROWTH

Certain Rural Delivery Carriers Will Have Duties Lightened

Rural delivery carriers will not be required to count the number of pieces of mail delivered and collected by them after July 1, on routes where the records show that 5,000 or more pieces of mail a month were handled during each of the three months included in the quarter ending June 30.

Heretofore all rural carriers have been required to render daily reports of mail delivered and collected by them, so the department might be in possession of information from which a reasonable estimate could be made as to the extent to which patrons appreciated the service.

These reports for the quarter ended Dec. 31 show that 5,000 or more pieces of mail a month were being handled on 14,226 routes, considerably more than one-third of the whole number of routes in operation. The states in which more than 1,000 routes are handling 5,000 or more pieces a month are: Iowa, 1,379; Ohio, 1,322; Michigan, 1,101; New York, 1,087 and Illinois, 1,054.

Rural delivery schedules are arranged so that carriers can start on the service of their routes shortly after the arrival of the principal morning mail. Where the amount of mail to be counted by the carriers is large, their departure is necessarily delayed. To eliminate such delays as far as practicable and secure more expeditious delivery of mail to rural patrons is the purpose sought to be accomplished by discontinuance of the count.

Birthday Surprise

About forty people surprised Mrs. Art Shattuck at her home last Saturday evening, it being her birthday anniversary. It was a pleasant event for all. Several gifts were left with the hostess. Light refreshments were served.

FIRE ALARM TUESDAY

Rear End of F. O. Holtgren's Building Is Scorched

The fire companies were called out Tuesday at the noon hour, the Holtgren building on Main street being threatened with destruction. The fire was extinguished, however, before the water was turned on.

In the morning Mr. Holtgren had placed his gasoline stove, for heating goose irons, in a small cupboard at the rear of the tailor shop. Everything went well until shortly after noon when the stove in some manner exploded. In a remarkably short time the rear of the building was a mass of flames. All the water available was thrown onto the fire without effect. H. A. Perkins appeared on the scene in a few seconds after the alarm and soon had the blaze under control with a fire extinguisher.

The building was badly charred over a space of several square feet.

The fire companies appeared on the scene in short order, but it was fortunate there was no necessity in turning a stream on to the building, for the water would have caused great damage to the stock of furnishings.

Must Pay More

That Genoa residents who have been accustomed to take advantage of the commutation rates between Elgin and Chicago on the C. M. & St. P. road will have to pay more after July 1 is evident. At a meeting of the Western and Central Passenger associations Wednesday in Chicago it was decided that, after the first of next month, no reductions in rates shall be made for conveniences of any kind at any place in the United States, and that no excursion rates shall be made for less than 2 cents per mile, except those already filed with the interstate commerce commission. These are filed for this year only.

WIND DESTROYS BARN

Severe Storm Passes Over Country West of Genoa Tuesday

A hay barn, 30 x 50 feet, on the Andrew Olmsted farm west of Genoa, worked by Jas. Nicholson, was razed to the ground Tuesday afternoon by the wind. A hog house, 24 x 36 feet was also completely demolished.

As in other cases the tornado acted in a freakish manner. The main barn stands about fifty feet east of the barn destroyed and 25 feet north of the hog house yet the wind did not so much as take a shingle from the roof. Boards from the hog house were driven thru the end of the large barn and sections were scattered over an area of 100 feet. Shingles and small boards from the hay barn were carried a distance of 300 feet. The roof and sides of the barn were laid flat upon the ground, large timbers being broken into kindling wood. The wheel of the windmill which stood north of the hog barn was twisted beyond repair, but the tower was not injured. A large patch of tar roofing was torn from the caw barn which stands east of the horse barn.

Nearly all of Mrs. Nicholson's little chickens were destroyed but the hogs all escaped injury.

Altho this took place less than one mile west of town, there was no suspicion of a wind storm here.

Mr. Ricketts who works the Dyer farm was blown from his cultivator and the machine thrown into the fence. Other than flattening some hay and twisting branches from trees the damage was all confined to the Olmsted farm.

JARED PRESTON

Passes Away Thursday, June 13, After Long Illness

Jared Preston died at his farm home on Thursday of last week after a long illness. The funeral services were held at the home on Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Interment took place in the Genoa cemetery. Rev. T. E. Ream officiated at the services and spoke from the scripture text in Isaiah 64: 6: "We all do fade as a leaf." The funeral was quite largely attended, many from Sycamore, Genoa and Hampshire being present.

The following obituary was read by Rev. Ream:

The deceased, Jared Preston, well known in DeKalb county as one of the earliest settlers was born at Atwater, Portage county, Ohio, on August 20, 1824 and passed away at his home June 13, 1907, having lived to the ripe old age of 82 years, 9 months and 23 days.

Mr. Preston came from Atwater, Ohio, when a boy still in his teens and settled in Genoa township where he has resided continuously since 1837 or for about 70 years and for many years passed he has been counted among the oldest settlers of DeKalb county. He has resided for 50 years on his home farm where he reared his family of children, and where his wife died a little less than a year ago, and where at last he passed away himself.

He was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Bates February 12, 1857, and into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston three daughters were born, two of whom survive their father, one, Mrs. Jennie L. Brown, passed away about ten years ago. The daughters who are left to mourn the death of their father are Miss Addie of Elgin, and Miss Anna who has been at home to care for her aged father during his long sickness. He also leaves one grandson, Guy Brown, of Genoa, the son of his deceased daughter. Of his father's family he leaves to mourn three brothers and one sister. His brothers are George and Norman, both residing at Sycamore, and Augustus residing at Oak Park. His sister is Mrs. Elizabeth Green of Batavia. But besides the immediate relatives he leaves many more distant relatives and many friends and neighbors who sorrow as they realize one more of their number has been called into the Great Beyond.

Mr. Preston's life work was farming, and as a farmer he was especially successful and energetic, and perhaps in his younger days more so than the average when he was able to manage all the details that pertain to successful farming. He had the reputation of being a hard worker and a good manager.

Mr. Preston is spoken of by all who have been his neighbors and friends, as a kind and sympathetic neighbor, ready to offer a helping hand to any about him in trouble. He was a man of his word and one who could be counted upon in dark as well as bright days.

It was about two and a half years ago that Mr. Preston took to his bed and from that time to the day of his death as old age gradually come more and more upon him he grew weaker and weaker until at last the messenger of death called him to his last long sleep.

THE TWO CENT RATE

The Supreme Court May Declare Law Unconstitutional

The two cent a mile railroad fare bill passed by the Illinois legislature has been approved by Governor Dencen. It applies to all railroads in the state. It will be attacked in the courts. That the legislature can fix the rate for railway fares has been affirmed by the highest courts, but always with this saving provision, that they must be "reasonable," and no court has ever held that the legislature has power to fix railway fares that would be "unreasonable," that is, below the cost, for that would be confiscation of railway property. When the bill was pending in the legislature we said that the railways of Illinois would be classified, and a two cent rate made where that would be a "reasonable" charge, and a higher rate made for roads that could not carry passengers at two cents per mile without losing money. That ought to have been done, but the lazy members of the legislature did not do it, but made the law to apply to all roads, and the Supreme court may declare the law unconstitutional. There is a suspicion that the foxy members of the legislature, in the pay of the railroads, purposely made the law so that the Supreme court would have to declare it unconstitutional. That has been done before now, and that may account for the passage of the law in its blanket form covering all railroads in Illinois.—Freeport Journal.

Fire Notice

For public information and to assist the fire department in responding to calls residents should observe the following.

In case a fire is discovered do not loose your head, but call central on the phone and tell them where the fire is. They will get the fire department out quicker than you can.

When you hear the fire bell listen for the ward number. The wards are, 1—east of Stott street and south of railroad; 2—between Stott and Genoa streets and south of railroad; 3—west of Genoa street and south of railroad; 4—east of Adams street and north of railroad; 5—west of Adams street and north of railroad. A general alarm first and then the number of the ward when fire is located.

Unknown Friends

There are many people who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hesitated about giving a testimonial of their experience for publication. These people, however, are none the less friends of this remedy. They have done much toward making it a household word by their personal recommendations to friends and neighbors. It is a good medicine to have in the home and is widely known for its cures of diarrhoea and all forms of bowel trouble. For sale by G. H. Hunt.

An English earl has won the heart and hand of Mrs. Potter Palmer, and incidentally he will have a finger in that $350,000 income. The earl of Munster is only 45 years old, but he is evidently a wise peer for one of such tender years. He is not burdened with wordly goods at present.

For scratches, burns, cuts, insect bites and the many little hurts common to every family, use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Hunt's pharmacy.

WHY COST HAS INCREASED

Some Reasons are Given for the High Price of Building

Many people attribute the high cost of home building to the increased price of material and to the upward climbing wages paid for skilled labor, but to one who has investigated, this seems to be a secondary factor, says the Harvard Herald.

While these two items really go to make up the greater part of the cost of the building, and while it costs about twice as much to construct a seven room modern cottage as it did six or eight years ago, it is now contented that the advance in public ideas and in taste accounts for the greater additional cost.

Whereas formerly the builder was satisfied with merely a substantial structure, he now demands a completeness in the house that was not known eight or ten years ago.

Today he wants much in his home. When he plans his investment he seeks the best there is in the market. He wants more of the modern improvements; greater conveniences; a finer finish than he could possibly get or the contractor could give him half a dozen years ago.

He has been educated to better things. He wants fine mantels, electric light and gas, fine chandeliers, built-in sideboards, book cases and refrigerators, hardwood floors, natural finish woodwork, art window glass, tiled bathroom, laundry cellar, cement walks, stationery laundry tubs, steel cooking range and other things. It is the cost of these modern features that has increased the price of the modern cottage. All these conveniences are as essential now in the minds of the home maker as the furnishings of the house with the necessary things, along with draperies, oriental rugs, silverware, china and the piano.

The Geneva business Men's association met last week at the city hall and transacted some special business. They will petition the city council to direct the police officers to require a licence of every peddler or coffee wagon which comes to Geneva. ## Worn out Preachers

Dr. John Lee, pastor of the St. Charles Methodist church, is fostering a movement to raise a fund to provide for superannuated Methodist ministers. The church now has such a fund, but it is not sufficient to pay each one of the retired preachers a large gratuity.

Dr. Lee is corresponding with such prominent Methodists as Senator Dolliver of Iowa, Governor Bliss of Michigan, former Governor Yates of Illinois, former Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania, and many others, all of whom, he says, express great interest in the movement. Former Governor Atkinson of West Virginia says that not less than $10,000,000 should be raised for the purpose, and Judge Baume of Galena places the amount needed at $15,000,000.

A very cordial invitation is extended to all mothers and all others who are interested in the children to meet with us at 2:30 p. m.

The Genoa post office received six sacks of Sears, Roebuck catalogs which were distributed among the citizens of this vicinity. There is not an actual boni fide bargain in the entire catalog, when quality of goods is considered. It is persistent advertising that has made the mail order house a menace to the local merchant. The latter can only hold his own by retaliating with the same weapon—printer's ink.

Four "Israelites" held a meeting on Main street Monday evening creating no little curiosity. It is a peculiar sect in that all the women wear their hair loose while the men never patronize a barber shop. One of the men of the party stated when here last year that a razor had never touched his face. Their sermons are badly disconnected and one in the audience can scarcely gain any idea of the real motto of the Israelite, unless it is "Down with the Barbers."

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how obstinate, that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. Kodol goes directly to the seat of trouble, strengthens the digestive organs, digests what you eat. Sold by Hunt's pharmacy.

Richard H. Bentley In loving remembrance of our dear father and grandfather, Richard H. Bentley who departed this life one year ago today, June 15, 1906.

Father dear has left us! From earthly care he's gone, Another link is missing, In a family circle long.

He's gone to meet the loved ones, More dear to him than we, He's gone to meet his Savior, Whom we all expect to see.

As a father and a friend He was ever kind and true Always standing for the right And the good that he could do.

Although we loved him dearly He was kindly called away, That he might reign in Heaven Under God's immortal ray.

There's a vacant place in church That he had often filled For the love of his dear Savior, Whose sacred blood was spilled.

There's a vacant place at home Around the burning fire, That reminds us of the truth, That he has gone up higher.

No more we'll see that face, That smiled in tender years, 'Till him we hope to meet Beyond the vale of tears.

Four Widows.

The chronicles of births and deaths kept by the minister of a New England parish in the eighteenth century afford much interesting and some amusing reading even at this late day. In the records of deaths in one Massachusetts town is chronicled the departure from life of three widows three successive years. Their names are so odd as to bring an involuntary smile to the face of any reader who may chance upon them. They are recorded in the following order:

1742. The Widow Duty.
1743. The Widow Yell.
1744. The Widow Lull.

A few years later in the same town the "Widow Silence Dumm" went to her rest.

A Janitorial Squealer.

"Our janitor has broken his own rule of not allowing children in the house," said the flat dweller. "He has six. I don't know whether they were born before he became janitor or what, but there they are, six, all ages from three years to nineteen. I don't know but what he has a right too. Janitor children come in mighty handy. One sweeps off the steps, another cleans the windows, another takes down the debris, and when the elevator man goes off on a tear two grown sons take turn about running the elevator and distributing the letters."—New York Press.

LETTER FROM R. H. LORD

Tells of Shriners Annual Meeting Held at Los Angeles, Calif.

Los Angeles, Cal.
 June 10, 1907.
 Mr. C. D. Schoonmaker,
 Genoa, Ill.

Dear Sir:

It has been so long since I have written to you that I expect you think I have forgotten all about Genoa and my friends there, but such however is not the case, and as long as the Republican-Journal makes its regular weekly appearance with its load of news I shall not be apt to either. We certainly enjoy the paper very much and its weekly visits are always looked forward to with pleasure.

We out here in California have been congratulating ourselves this spring, whenever we read about the awful weather you have been experiencing. Although California weather has not been up to standard this spring we have nothing to kick about and at the present time are enjoying fine weather and only last week had a very refreshing shower, which was quite an unusual occurrence for this time of the year, rain having fallen in June only five times within the history of the Los Angeles weather bureau.

I suppose most all eastern papers had something to say in regard to our Fiesta, which the Shriners attended at their annual meeting. Although you may have read very glowing accounts of the affair I can assure you that no matter how extravagant the article was it could not do justice to the magnificence of the occasion. The most beautiful thing I ever saw or ever expect to see was the grand flower parade. There were hundreds of vehicles of all descriptions, which were decorated with flowers, some of them in such profusion that it was impossible to tell what sort of a vehicle it was. There were tally-hos, tandems, four-in-hands, sixes and eights, automobiles of all descriptions, bicycles, horse-back riders and the entire fire department of the city. Beside all this there were the magnificently uniformed bands and patrols of the Mystic Shriners. In the evening there was the other great sight of a life time and that was the wonderful electrical parade. This consisted of beside the bands and patrols mentioned before, the entire visiting delegation of Shriners, which numbered thousands, and thirteen floats which were in reality trolley cars made to represent different jewels. These cars were trimmed with a great mass of colored electric lights, arranged in such a manner as to suggest the jewel they represented, and each one carried from six to a dozen of Los Angeles' handsome young ladies. It was a most wonderful sight and well worth coming hundreds of miles to see. Only one thing marred the occasion, and that was the terrible wreck of which you have heard. All flags in this city were immediately dropped to half mast and remained that way for some time as a sign of Los Angeles' sorrow and sympathy.

Give my regards to all my friends and tell them that if they ever strike Los Angeles would be pleased to have them look me up. Yours truly
 ROBERT H. LORD
 311 N. Los Angeles St.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.
 Mr. S. E. Ball of Ravenswood, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."
