The next morning, with Clem as cicerone, Collingeford went over to The Firs to pay his respects to Alix. They found her under the trees. "How do you do?" said Alix. "The Honorable Percy, isn't it?"

"What a memory you have for trifles," said Collingeford, laughing. "May I sit down?"

"Do," said Alix. She was perched in the middle of a garden seat. On each side of her were piled various stuffs and all the paraphernalia of the sewing circle. Collingeford sat down before her and stared. Clem had gone off in search of game more to her taste. Alix seemed to him very small. He felt the change in her before he could fix in what it lay. She seemed still and restful in spite of her flying fingers. Spiritually still. Her eyes, glancing at him between stitches, were amused and grave at the same time.

"Doll's clothes?" said Collingeford, rwaving at a beribboned morsel. "No," said Alix.

Collingeford stared a little longer and then he broke out with, "Look here, what have you done with her? Over there, the young Mrs. Lansing -spice, deviltry, scintillation and wit -blinding. Over here, Mrs. Gerrydemure and industrious. Don't tell me you have gone in for the Quaker pose, but please tell me which is the poseuse; you now or the other one."

Alix laughed. "I'm just me now, minus the deviltry and all that. Come, I'll show you what I've done with

They threaded the trees and came upon a mighty bower, half sun, half shade, where in the midst of a nurse and Clem and many toys a baby was enthroned on a rug. "There you are," said Alix. "There's my spice, deviltry, scintillation and wit all done into one

"Booby," said Alix, "come away." But Collingeford seemed fascinated. He squatted on the rug and poked the monarch's ribs. Nurse, mother and Clem flew to the rescue, but to their amazement the monarch did not beilow. He appropriated Collingeford's finger. "I wonder if he'd mind if I called him a 'young 'un,' " soliloquized the attacking giant.

"Silly," said Clem, "of course not." "What are you staring at him that way for?" said Alix. "Can a baby make you think? A penny for them." "I was just thinking," said Collingeford gravely, "that a baby is positively

Gerry did not grudge the months of toil in the ditch. As he worked he thought and planned. This ditch was the very real foundation for the attain ment of his vision. Deep and strong and carefully graded it must be be fore he cleared the sand barrier to the river's surge. The ditch was slow of growth but there was something about it which held his faith. It was rugged and elemental. It was the ugly source of a coming resurrection.

When it was all but done he took Margarita and showed her his handiwork. He pointed out the little sluice ways, each with its primitive gate, a heavy log hinged on a thole-pin with a prop to hold it up and a stone to weight it when down. On the Fazends side were innumerable little trenches that stretched down into the valley.

But not until he led her to the cleft in the river gorge and showed her that half an hour's work on the sand bar rier would let the river into the great ditch did she understand. And ther she caught his arm and burst into violent protest and pleading. "No, no, she cried, "you shall not do it. You shall not let in the river. Oh if you must, please, please play with it below the rapids. There it is kinder It lets one bathe. It lets one wash clothes."

Gerry got over his astonishment and laughed. Then he soothed her. Already the simpler phrases of her tongue came easily from his lips. He told her that she was foolish and 8 little coward. She must watch and see how tame the river would be.

The next morning Gerry was up early. He was excited. From this day the ditch, the parched slope, the valley would know thirst no more. With the long dry season even the green bottoms had begun to wilt. He called Bonifacio and they started off to their

A LAND PROBLEM AHEAD

(FROM THE PEORIA JOURNAL.)

The Nebraska State Journal calls atention to the fact that Uncle Sam's opening of a 4,000-acre tract in the North Platte irrigation district for settlement practically winds up the "free land distribution" of the nation. It

"Free or cheap land has been the American safety valve. population straining for self-betterment has had its own remedyto go west and grow up with the country. With the government reduced to advertising an opening of forty-three farms, the safety valve may be considered forever closed. The expansive energy formerly exerted outward, must hereafter work itself out intensively. Increasing land speculation, with rapidly rising prices of land and proportionately increasing dissatisfaction among the landless would seem inevitable. The tone of our politics and the intensity of our social problems cannot but be vitally changed under the strain of dealing internally with a social pressure which hitherto has had the wilderness to vent itself upon.

"'Land hunger' will soon become a reality in this rapidly growing country and the constant pressure of population, increasingly higher than the ratio of production, is bound to bring us face to face with economic problems that we have heretofore considered remote. The far-sighted statesman and The women of Capitol Hill are to publicist must devote his thought earnestly to the consideration of these questions if we are to escape the ex-I were you," he said, "I would prob- confident army of the untested. The land that today can be had in Western Canada at the low prices quoted will in a less time than that taken for the Iowa lands to increase, have a proportionate increase. In Nebraska the lands that sold for sixteen to twenty dollars per acre seven years ago, find a market at one hundred and seventy-five dollars the increase in Iowa lands. Values in these two States, as well as in others that might be mentioned, show that Western Canada lands are going at a song at their present prices. In many cases in Western Canada today. there are American settlers who realize this, and are placing a value of sixty and seventy dollars an acre on their improved farms, but would sell only because they can purchase unimproved land at such a low price that in another few years they would have equally as good farms as they left or such as their friends have in the United States.

The worth of the crops grown in Western Canada is of higher value than those of the States named, so why should the land not be worth fully as much. Any Canadian Government Agent will be glad to give you information as to homestead lands or where you can buy.--Advertisement.

Underwear Comfort For The Boy Youth And Man

THE SWISSAM

"Swissam" stands for everything in underwear comfort and durability. For years it has been the standard, winning its reputation thru honest merit. The Swissam underwear is made of the best material and is manufactured in a variety of styles that make it possible for the boy, youth or man of any age to select easily a garment that will meet the requirements. Your special attention is called to the Swissam union suits in the athletic styles or the more conservative. There is one feature in this garment that makes it superior to any other on the market and that is the closed crotch. For years the crotch of the union suit, thru discomfort, prevented its becoming popular. The Swissam manufacturers overcame this difficulty and today we have to thank them for real underwear comfort. Call and look at the fine line we have ready for your inspection. Ask for the Swissam and you will have no regrets when the hot days of sum-

IF YOU BUY A CASH-IN-ADVANCE CARD

There are several little boys and girls in Genoa and vicinity who are trying to win the pony we will soon give away. Here is a proposition for you which will give you an opportunity to make one of the youngsters happy. We are selling cash-in-advance trade cards at one and five dollars. Pay a dollar for a ticket which entitles you to one dollar in trade and we give you 1,000 votes. Pay $5.00 for a ticket and you will receive 5,000 votes. You will find these trade tickets more convenient to handle in trading than money, and in buying one or more you have really done the same as putting money in the bank for future use. Call and let us explain the system to you.

There is a Vast Difference

In Soaps

There are many people who, when they make a purchase of toilet soap, simply ask for SOAP. This is a mistake. There is a vast difference in toilet soaps. The cheaper and injurious kinds are made from rancid grease and other ingredients-no one but the manufacturers know what. This is the quality we try to avoid. When you ask for toilet soap here you may rest assured of getting purity. Every bar we sell is good, no matter what price you pay, but for different purposes and different conditions of the skin we advise a different article. In buying soap for the face one should be just as careful as in buying lotions. Our experience and knowledge of soaps will assist you in making the proper selection from our large assortment.

Make Our Immense Buying Power

Here Is Honest Furniture, Built For Service, at Right Prices

An earnest effort to serve the public rightly; a determined desire to give the people what they want at a price they want to pay; a strict adherence to all principles of fairness and squareness; these are factors that make the furnishing of a home an easy and pleasant task—these are the reasons for the remarkable growth of this business.

Tremendous buying power enables us to sell you comfortable, durable furnishings at unusually low prices. Our stock is so complete that you can buy everything just as you have planned it. No matter what style of furniture you have set your heart on, no matter what finish you desire, no matter what price you wish to pay, we have it. Why accept something that some one thinks will satisfy you just as well when you can buy what you know will please you for the same money? Come whether you are ready to buy or not, because you will find that we are pleased to show you Don't fail, when you are in, to see Simmons Metal Beds. We are showing them in the new finish. Something entirely new! You would never even suspect they were metal unless someone told you. Yet they have all the durability and sanitary advantages of tempered steel. Ask to see them. These are the beds you have seen advertised in The Ladies' Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post.

This week we are making a special showing of Lace Curtains and Curtain Materials with some very attractive prices for this week. EXTRA SPECIAL—we will make up free of charge to your order all curtains you buy from our immense line of curtain material.

The Standard of Quality In Things To Eat

This store has always maintained a certain standard of quality in making purchases for the trade. An interview with the traveling salesmen who make Genoa will reveal the fact that the buyer for the Tischler store asks regarding the quality first and the price next. We expect to remain in business in Genoa for many years and know that only by giving a standard quality of merchandise can we hope to hold your confidence. Our delivery service is prompt and efficient. If you have never given us an order it is not too late to let us demonstrate our service now. Call phone No. 74.

A Step Forward in Civilization Genoa's Mausoleum

EDUCATION IS NEW ALWAYS -

WISDOM IS AS OLD AS THE HILLS

The Genoa Mausoleum is to be erected only for those who subscribe to its construction.

When a tomb is purchased the owner is given a deed to it the same as to a

MAUSOLEUM AT BUFFALO, N. Y.

The hardest ordeal we are called upon to go through in this world is to stand by the open grave and see one we have known and loved lowered into it. Anything we can do to soften the sorrow which death brings is desirable, and how much more comforting and humane it seems to hold the last services in a beautiful marble palace, sheltered from all the elements and away from the world and at the close of the services to see the casket placed in a snow white room.

We are a people of homes; our loves, our hopes, our associations, our family ties, are created under a roof. The whole idea of love and protection is intimately linked with the thoughts of being away from the world, surrounded by protecting walls and covered by a sheltering roof.

For centuries the question has arisen in the minds of thoughtful men and women as they stood at the open grave, whether there might not be some better way. The practice of burying human bodies in the ground and the certain knowledge of what becomes of them there, is responsible for much of the horror that death brings.

The Mausoleum makes it softer and easier for those who are left behind. It is more humane, and more in keeping with their lives and the age in which they live.

Until very recently only the rich could afford the cost of private mausoleums but with the advent of the palatial structure to be erected in Genoa which will give a select number of our best people an opportunity to secure space that is way ahead of any private mausoleum at a cost that does not exceed ordinary grave burial, that most reasonable excuse of too great expense has been removed.

This is one of the few grand good things we can only have when needed most by providing for it when needed least.

In the centuries of the past, only the royal dead have been given above ground burial. Today it is no longer the distinction of the classes. It is simply a question of the depths of refinement of man and woman.

How many of you who have stood by the Lincoln, Garfield Grant or Mc-Kinley Tomb and realized that within those crypts there sleeps the remains of their family as when last seen, protected from all that pollutes and destroys have turned away with the one great question appealing to you: 'Why should not all our dead be so cared for?"

Who has not, when the first fierce storm has followed a funeral, thought with shuddering, of the new made grave, its dripping walls, and the swift beginning of nature's ruthless changes? How much better to know that only a few inches away from a bright and sunlit corridor, in an apartment which shall never feel the devastation of the elements or the wrath of the storm, our dead may sleep until the final awakening.

If you appreciate the difference it is going to make in the feelings of the members of your family who are left, to see your loved ones placed in this marble palace instead of buried in the damp, cold ground, select your space before it is too late.

Is it not a manifestation of good business judgement to consider this from a business standpoint? But look at it as you may-from the sanitary, sentimental, or business point of view-is it not more your business than ours to weigh this subject well, and decide to arrange for entombment while the final opportunity is before you.

that passes all understanding. Right here we might quote the following from an unknown author: "When the Creator had made all the good things, there was still, some dirty work to do, so He made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous in-sects, and when He had Anished, He had some scraps that were too bad to put into the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion and the skunk, so He put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jeal-ousy, marked it with a yellow streak, and called it a KNOCKER.

"This product was so fearful to con-template that He had to make something to counteract it, so He took a sunbeam and put in it the heart of a child, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet and a grasp of steel and called it a BOOSTER; made him a lover of fields and flowers and manly sports, a believer in equality and justice, and ever since these two were, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates."

GREATNESS

Roosevelt has made the statement that Root is the "greatest living American." Now most anyone realizes that "the greatest living Ameri can" should be president of the Unit-ed States, but will Teddy concede this There is no doubt about Root being the best posted on state and international affairs, but this does not make the greatest living American by any means. There are other things that enter into greatness, among them being conservatism, a willingness to acknowledge one's own faults and a willingness to see something good in the action of others. For the man to fill this qualification we do not look either to Root or Roosevelt. Auto Drivers, Notice!

There have been several com plaints regarding speeding automobiles within the city limits. There is a state law and city ordinance governing the speed of autos in the city and they should be rigidly observed by everyone who drives a car. Prac-tically all drivers know what these laws demand and should govern themselves accordingly, not only for the safety of the general public but for their own welfare. The law regarding the speed in the business district, residence districts and in turning corners will be rigidly enforced in Genoa hereafter. If you have been in the habit of exceeding the speed limit please take due warning and avoid unpleasantness hereafter, to to say nothing of the fine that will be imposed if you are caught in the act of defying the law and ordinances. Test For a Field Glass.

Inquiry has it that the absolute and infallible test of a field glass by the purchaser is to see what size letters can be read across the street from the

It isn't. The real test is to climb up a long and bushy hill until the breath comes a hundred to the minute, then snatch for the glass, reposing in a shirt pocket, to see whether the buck is the one you want before you fire. If it won't go in your shirt pocket it is not the glass you want; others are made that will. If it shakes in your agitated hands it is not the glass you want. You cannot see enough more with a high power glass to pay for the times when it is unusable, because you cannot hold it steady.-Outing.

A Literary Coincidence.
"My father, W. Clark Russell," said Herbert Russell in telling of a literary coincidence. "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me, 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from W. S. Gilbert, the well known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman.'

Eternal Lamps.

A common superstition that the ancients possessed the art of making lamps which would burn forever for a long time obtained, and it was claimed that one such lamp was discovered in the tomb of Rosicrucius. Science, however, has long set this, together with other superstitions, forever at rest, since it has been demonstrated that fire will not burn in a chamber from which the air has been exhausted.

A curious incident of this nature developed not long ago when a native decided to build in Tokyo on the ground formerly occupied by the Ichigaya jail. The carpenters would not begin work until the priest had been called in and purified the spot. He brought with him bamboo rods and shimmel and rice and with weird incantations turned north, south, east and west, uttering his formula four times and scattering bits of paper and rice at each delivery. The spirits of jail inmates long dead thus propitiated, the carpenters went contentedly to

At least it is on that basis that we lay in our stock of Groceries. Never in the history of this store have we gone over the market looking for leaders, that is, goods of an inferior quality that might be sold at so called "special prices." You will always find the quality here that stands the most rigid test of the pure food laws. We consider that our customers are entitled to the best and are intelligent enough to know that when the price is cut too deep the quality must be sacrificed.

At this time of the year especially it is a question with the housewife as to what to give her family at breakfast, dinner and supper. Let us help you make preparations for every meal. In staples we know that we can please you for you will positively get nothing but the bery best.

But, right at this season of the year you may want fresh vegetables. That is where we come in with the goods. We are watching the green goods market carefully and you may be assured that all the delicacies of the season are here for you every morning. Call us up at any time and we will keep you posted on the vegetable and fruit market.

There's a Difference in

Chicken FEED D

Of course for the chicken or other fowl wheat is wheat and corn is corn, but the laying hen and the growing chick no not know there is a difference in feed that bears on their value to their owner. This is up to you. If you have a flock of hens that are not producing the number of eggs that you think they should, or if you have a flock of young chicks that are not growing as you think they should, we are here to adivse and help you. Most any kind of chicken food on the market is good, but one must know how and when to feed it.

We have barley, wheat, oats, corn and ground feed and also a full supply of the

PURINA PRODUCTS

The Purina goods have proven to be all that the manufacturers claim for them. The Chicken Chowder especially has produced marvelous results. Call and talk over the chicken feed proposition with us.

Schoonmaker of Genoa is Champion Individual Point Winner

DeKalb Chrnicle:-The dual track meet between the track teams of the DeKalb Township High schools and the track team of the Genoa High chool which was held in DeKalb last Saturday revived the interest in track events which has been lacking here for some time. DeKalb won the meet with a total of 78 points as against the 41 points made by Genoa. Schoonmaker of the Genoa team was the champion individual point winner, taking down 29 points himself. The nearest competitor on the DeKalb team was Carrol Herrington with 10 points and John Clyne with 9 points. No record was destroyed at this meet although some good time was made in the dashes and distance runs. and the half mile in 2:28. In the long runs the DeKalb team took one, two and three places. On the 20th of his month the teams from all of the High schools in the county will meet in a county meet and the local boys are putting in some hard licks getting will be engaged for the high school,

Owing to the high price of Lumber caused by the recent sharp advances all along the line, we have concluded (in order to serve our patrons in the best possible manner) to add a wholesale department to our lumber business.

We have made business connections with the best mills manufacturing lumber and shingles in the North, South and on the Pacific Coast, and can and will give you better prices on quantity shipments in carloads or more, than you can get elsewhere.

Consult your own interest and let us quote you, you need no further evidence. Yours for service.

that there is not a store in the city that handles a greater variety of fruits and vegetables than this one? Those who are our regular customers have discovered long since that the Douglass Grocery Department is always filled with all the good things to eat that the market affords. The arrangement of the store makes it impossible to display the wares on the street and perhaps this is just as well for the customer for they are not exposed to the dust. A phone call in the morning will keep you posted on the vegetable and fruit market. Bear in mind always that the Douglass grocery department is in the front ranks of the progressives.
